The indictments, returned a Newark, N. J., charged Carl Emil Ludwig Krepper, of Newark, with violating the sabotage, censorship and foreign agents statutes.

The justice department said the indictments were returned Dec. 15, but were impounded until today upon orders of the court.

The action climaxes more than two years of investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation originating, the announcement stated, from a clue supplied by one of the eight German saboteurs who landed on the Atlantic coast from submarines in June, 1942.

One indictment alleges that Krepper conspired with Walter Kappe, identified by the FBI as a director of the Nazi sabotage school in Berlin, and with his wife. Bertha Krepper, "to injure, interfere with and obstruct the national defense of the United States," and "to use a code and other devices" to circumvent censorship. The announcement said the conspiracy was to be carried out as

Scobie Declares Determination

ATHENS, Dec. 20 (AP)-Lt. Gen. R. M. Scobie, British commander in Greece, announced his determination tonight to carry the fight to ELAS forces and warned civilians in Athens that leftist guns firing upon the city after 9 a. m. tomorrow would be attack ed "with all arms at my disposal.

(A BBC broadcast quoted Scobie as saying the ELAS would be attacked wita aircraft, naval guns and rocket weapons as well as other forces).

Scobie's proclamation followed the fall of British RAF headquarters after a gun-dynamite assault by ELAS forces.

The pro-Nazi ex-premier, Jean Ballis, who fled Averoff prison two days ago after 12 hours of a heavy ELAS siege remained at large in spite of a widespread search for him.

But the communist paper Rizopastis said two others of the escaped prisoners, Gen. George Bacos, former minister of national defense and George Pirounakis. minister of supplies during the German occupation, had been captured and executed.

Heavy battles apparently still raged today around Stavelot, 20 miles inside Belgium, St. Vith, 11 miles to the southeast and Malmedy five miles northeast of Stavelot - the three biggest road hubs in Belgium's eastern bulge. The front dispatch said Monschau, 16 miles southeast of Aachen, was retaken after German units which entered the town were surrounded. Monschau was a focal point of one of four German drives. Stavelot and St. Vith, where some American troops were pocketed, at last reports still were in U. S. hands. While the German assault had lost its first speed, there was no reason to suppose the enemy may not have made still further gains beyond his four initial penetrations of five to 20 miles into Belgium and Luxembourg. But by now Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' armor and infantry had been thrown into the breach and the Germans were running into a stiffer battle every hour. (A CBS frontline broadcast reported "The first straight indication that at some points the tide of battle is beginning to change in our favor." The broadcast said that "at several points the Germans made no progress today, and yards by one of our veteran di-mained generally stalemated. The U. S. Third army seize 40 more pillboxes and tortified houses in the Saarlautern area, for a two-day total of 176, and had cleaned up Dillingen save for the factory area. American Seventh army troops repulsed two strong counterattacks north west of Wissembourg. Farther down the front French and U. S. troops made small gains north west of Colmar and in the high Vosges. Despite foul weather, German armor and truck convoys moving into the Belgian and Luxembourg wedges were hammered by fight-

More Dignity In Court

The need for more dignity in state courts is cited, and we can readily agree with the need.

This is not a commentary upon the judiciary in any way, for despite the surplus of informality in our courtrooms, our judges function with a becoming dignity and consciousness of their position. Perhaps it is just as well that we do not have the complete reverse such as is true in federal and in the English courts, for power of the judge to rule his court is nothing short of absolute in many instances. While this has filled hearts with proper respect for these courts, the awesome power of the

Between the extreme of the federal court and the gross informality of the state courts today should like a happy compromise for our state judiclary. The institution of certain practices the refraining from others would add much to the dignity of and respect for the courts.

judge sometimes could frighten timid spirits out of a proper defense of their positions.

This is not a job alone for the courts. The bar has certain responsibilities, for it is the sensationalism of some barristers playing to the gallery that constitutes one of the worst problems for the court. There should be little disposition to compel an attorney to pitch his questions or remarks within a prescribed channel; rather the bar itself should strongly influence its members to take the lead in avoiding shallow tricks which rob the court of its proper dignity.

The people also have a responsibility. While it is wise to have ample seats so that any and all may come to see justice meted out, the courtroom was never conceived as a place of amusement, or cheap sensationalism, or a place where the ear could hear naughty talk under the colak of justice. In the same connection, the press and other agencies which come in contact with the courts could deal more understandingly with the courts, doing a better job of interpreting its actions.

It is not an easy task to bring about this reform, for under a system of elective judiciary it is only human for the magistrates to put up with a lot of nonsense in their courts which otherwise they would not allow.

The War Today

by Dewitt Mackenzie Associated Press War Analyst

Fighting continues along the seventy-mile front of the mighty German counteroffensive which thundered out of the Rhineland so suddenly,

Unofficial reports say that the American First army, along whose front the Germans have flung the bulk of their weight, appears to be holding the flanks of the enemy offensive. If that's confirmed it is indeed good news, for it will mean that thus far we have avoided the danger of a complete breakthrough and the turning of our own flanks.

The greatest threat to the Allied front seems to be in the Aachen sector.

Aachen, which we captured after a blistering siege, is the funnel through which we have been pouring our weight against the Roer river and Dueren-anchor of the German line there. Dueren is the gateway to the Cologne plain, which in turn gives access to the Rhenish city of Cologne and Germany's great industrial area of the Ruhr.

One of Nazi Field Marshal von Rundstedt's chief objectives is to cut the American First army front southeast of Aachen and turn our General Hodges' flank so that he will have to swing back northward and abandon Aachen. This also would be calculated to give the German possession of the Belgian fortified city of Liege-main distributional center for Allied supplies and reinforcements intended for the front from above Aachen-clear down to Luxembourg.

Should we lose Aachen and Liege, the Germans might even have dreams of capturing Antwerp, upon which General Eisenhower is so heavily dependent for his supplies from over-
