

Student Assn. Investigates Kansas Trip

A bus trip for Texas Tech students to Lawrence, Kansas, for the NCAA basketball playoffs may be in the offing.

The Student Council is examining possibilities for the trip, Bill Dean, Student Assn. president, reported Monday.

Although Dean said possibilities for the trip are not too good, he urged interested students to contact the Student Council as soon as possible.

Dean said the Council could make no further plans until indication is given as to the number of students interested in making the trip.

Round-trip tickets for the trip would be about $20. Each student will be responsible for his own lodging and must stay in Kansas City.

The bus would leave Thursday afternoon, March 16, and return to Tech Sunday. It would be available to take students back and forth between Kansas City and Lawrence.

71 Texans File In Senate Race

Campaigning in the big, free-for-all special U.S. Senate race warmed up Monday as candidates sparred with each other throughout the state.

The field, which multiplied rabbit-like as the Saturday filing deadline approached last week, solidified at 71 candidates.

Secretary of State Frank Lake's office hustled to get the certified roll call of would-be senators completed and mailed to county election officials. Lake said the list would be in the mail either late Monday or early Tuesday.

A run-off likely will be necessary after the April 4 election. No one candidate is expected to receive a clear majority over the votes cast for all other candidates.

Former state Rep. Maury Maverick Jr. of San Antonio opened his Dallas campaign headquarters Monday night with a speech favoring President Kennedy's proposal to link medical assistance for the aged to social security.

State Sen. Henry Gonzalez made appearances Monday in his hometown, San Antonio, after the Senate adjourned for the day.

Speaking in Lubbock, Congressman Jim Wright of Fort Word said other candidates are starting to fling barbs at him.

"When another candidate considers your campaign significant enough to make it the object of his public statements three days in a row, then you must be doing pretty well."

Late Rush Occurs For Election Race

By JULIAN RODRIGUEZ
Toreador Staff Writer

Names continued to pour in late Monday afternoon as the period for taking out petitions in the coming campus election neared the 5 p.m. deadline.

The petitions are due by 5 p.m. Wednesday.

The all-college balloting will start at 8 a.m. and continue through 5 p.m. March 15 for executive officers and cheerleaders. The election for Student Council representatives will be March 20.

The Student Council reported that all applicants should attend one of the orientation sessions in order to qualify. One of the sessions was conducted Monday night and the second is at 7 p.m. today at Chem. 101. Automatic disqualification will result for candidates who do not attend either of the two sessions.

Mike Lundy and Bobby Switzer joined Carlyle Smith in the race for Student Assn. president Monday. Others submitting names for executive officers were Woodie Wood and Wayne Underwood, vice president; Peggy Maloy, Sissy Fuller and Joyce Hervey, secretary; and Gerald Hodges, business manager.

Judy Pettit was added to the names entered for cheerleader positions. Others seeking one of the six places are Ken Bailey, Johnny Clemmons, Ginger Graham, Bobby Muller, Jim Isham, Melinda Harrison, Tom Link, Beth O'Quinn, Jan Payne, Sandra Seemann and Kay Woody.

Following are the candidates who had taken out petitions by 3 p.m. Monday. A number of students took out petitions after 3 p.m. but the names were not available at press time.

More names had been filed for representative jobs in Arts and Sciences than any other race. Added to the already long list were Carolyn Buxton, Linda Kester, Nancy Ezell, Bryan Adams, Sandra Adams, Norma Battles, Frankie Claunts, Karen Anderson, Bill Boyd, Gail Pfluger, Amon Burton, John Compere and George Hunt. Those filing last week were Mary Ellen Cross, Betsy Baker, Joe Barnhart, Joe Barlow, Jane Crockett, Roy Custer, Joan Dorris, Norman Kinzy, Jimmy Lee, Nancy McCall, Judy McKinnon and Susan Ziegler.

Myles Sadler and John Ward added petitions to the group running for the post in Engineering. John Wehrle, Kenny Abraham, Jerry Avery, Bill Nevius, Dick Perkins, David Wright and Jimmy Sandlin had filed earlier.

Candidates from Business Administration are Charlie Aycock, Robert Tinney, Johnny Grist, Lee Pfluger, Jim Deen, David Woltz, Tim Ritter, Cliff Roberts, Virgil Wilson, Ann Adkinson.

Seeking office from Home Economics are Jane Field, Judy Rutledge, Wilma Waggoner and Jan Barton. Added to the list were Christie Brown, Jane Sessums, Linda Kinard, Ann Wilson and Glenna Adams.

Robert Hejl joined the race for Agriculture representative along with Richard Sharpe and Jerry Casobell.

Expense forms and petitions from the candidates are due at 5 p.m. Wednesday. The Council emphasized that the petitions picked up by the candidates were due by 5 p.m. Wednesday.

Ballot boxes will be available to voters in the Tech Union, Home Ec Bldg., East Eng. Bldg., C&O Bldg., Arch. Bldg., and in the first floor foyers of the Ad. Bldg.

Ralph W. Carpenter, Toreador editor, said that a special issue will be printed to aid the voters in the election. The edition will be distributed at the regular time Wednesday morning, March 15.

Only campus politics will appear in the issue and there will be no commercial advertisements. The edition will carry a number of political advertisements from the students seeking election positions.

Information on candidates and coverage of the pre-election rally in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium will also be featured in the publication.

Late Monday

Doctors Describe Liz As 'Grave'

LONDON (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor's doctors reported late Monday night that her condition is "still grave." She has been found to be suffering from anemia as well as pneumonia.

The late night medical bulletin issued at 11:30 p.m., told of a "slight improvement" in the ailing star's condition earlier last evening.

At that time, Miss Taylor was undergoing blood transfusions for a developing anemic condition and one of her team of doctors, Dr. Carl Heinz Goldman, said: "We are very worried."

Six doctors conferred throughout the evening at Miss Taylor's bedside and concern for her life deepened after the expected night bulletin was progressively delayed.

When it was 2½ hours overdue, a press spokesman came out of the exclusive London Clinic and read the authorized statement.

"Mrs. Fisher's condition is still grave," it said.

Saturday Night

Dance Honors Tech 'Royalty'

The Norman Petty Trio of Houston and the Bowman Brothers will provide the music at the annual Coronation Dance Saturday night at which the names of Mr. and Miss Texas Tech and the class favorites will be revealed.

The dance will begin at 8 p.m. at the Lubbock Fair Park Coliseum. The coronation ceremonies will be between 9:30 and 10 p.m.

Johnny Grist, president of the junior class, will emcee the semi-formal dance and present the members of the Tech royalty, who were chosen in an all-college election last Wednesday.

The freshman class is in charge of decorations for the dance and will use a springtime theme. Tickets will go on sale Thursday in the Tech Union and will be sold at the door Saturday night.

Tom Link is in charge of arrangements, assisted by Wes Coggins and Bryan Adams.

THE SCANDINAVIAN SEMINAR

Coed Studies Abroad

Lynn Buckingham, Tech sophomore from Farmington, N.M., has been notified of her acceptance by the American-Scandinavian Foundation for a junior-year-abroad study program in Sweden.

The program, called the Scandinavian Seminar, sends approximately 100 students annually to Sweden, Finland, Norway and Denmark. Participants are college juniors, graduate students and qualified professional persons.

Miss Buckingham mailed her application to the Seminar in early December and was notified of her acceptance last week. The application consisted of five personal themes, a health certificate, two photographs and six letters of reference.

In regard to the program she said, "As long as I can remember I have dreamed—and planned on studying abroad; this program is exactly what I was looking for, because I don't feel that I could really know Europe from just a grand tour. Now I can really get to know the people."

She will report to New York City on Aug. 1 where she will board a plane for Copenhagen, Denmark. She will live with two Swedish families for one month apiece, and the remaining months will be spent in Swedish boarding schools, one in an urban area and one in a rural area.

The program will be climaxed with an evaluation session on May 2, 1962. Following the session, Miss Buckingham will travel independently in Europe, visiting Germany, France, Italy, Spain and England. She will return to the United States sometime in June, 1962.

The coed, who is a history and foreign languages major, minoring in journalism, will return to Tech for her senior year.

When asked how she thinks she will fare in classrooms and homes where all Swedish is spoken, she explained that she is studying the language now from books, records and tapes. She also added that the first month in Sweden will include concentrated language study programs.

Miss Buckingham speaks French and has also studied German.

At Tech she is a member of Delta Delta Delta and is society editor of the Toreador. She was a member of the Freshman Council, a freshman cheerleader and is co-editor of Junior View magazine in the 1961 La Ventana.

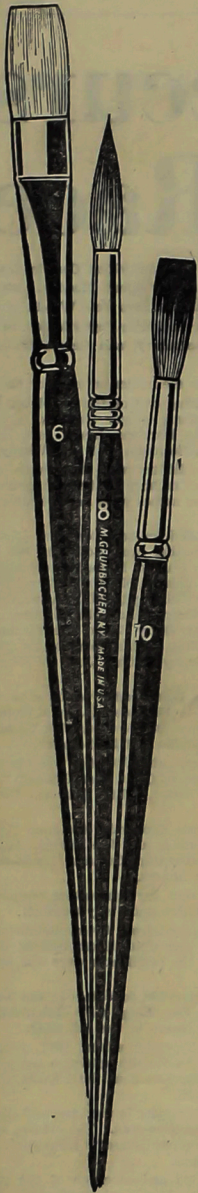

Team Captures Volleyball Win

Tech's women's volleyball team won first place honors in the district volleyball-badminton sports-day Saturday at South Plains College in Levelland.

They defeated South Plains in the first round 15-12, 3-15, 15-11. In the second round they downed Frank Phillips Junior College 15-11, 15-10.

Bringing home blue ribbons for the team were Peggy Isaacks, Zoy Corornis, Bootsie Higgins, Zoy Vanderburg, Linda Herral, Mary Williams and Christie Cowan.

Norma Harter took second place in the badminton singles and Sharon Boatman and Margaret Thornton captured second place in the badminton doubles.

PHI PSI'S GREET CELEBRITY

Phi Psi's Honor E. E. Horton, Silent Screen Actor, Saturday

Edward Everett Horton, famous for his parts in silent movies, was honored at a reception given by his Phi Kappa Psi fraternity brothers Saturday afternoon.

Approximately 45 Phi Psi members, pledges, and alumnus engaged in informal discussions with Horton.

When asked what he thought the Toreador should print about the occasion, Horton wittily said, "Horton talked leisurely with those present at the Phi Psi reception about his favorite subject—himself."

Horton and a cast including Imogene Coca presented the musical comedy, "Once Upon a Mattress," in the Lubbock Auditorium Saturday night with 2300 persons in attendance.

Horton was initiated into Phi Kappa Psi at the University of Brooklyn in 1907. He completed his work at Columbia.

Student Council Beat

March 2 was more than just Texas Independence Day for Texas Tech. It was the day Tech "came of age"—Southwest Conference-wise, that is. To be on top is a great feeling. And so, to Polk and Gene and the "thin-ten", congratulations and thank you. Thank you for proving once again that grim courage, determination and spirit will pay off in the long run. Thanks for providing us with such thrilling never-to-be-forgotten moments. Thanks for giving us so much of which to be proud. And as Polk said after the game, "You just can't beat the spirit of Texas Tech!" Let's not forget that!

Considering the number of times I have asked for comments and suggestions from students it isn't often that I get many replies. But in yesterday's mail was a letter from Jay Mullin who lives in Carpenter Hall. Mr. Mullin writes, "Once again the long spring semester stretches ahead of us unbroken as ever by a single major social event students can look forward to as eagerly as they look forward to Homecoming in the fall. I submit that Texas Tech, Spanish by long tradition, should break up this spring fiesta with a spring fiesta, a full-scale fiesta in the best Spanish style.

"Possibilities are innumerable: costume contests, mock bull-fights, Spanish dancing, the coronation of a king and queen at an all-school outdoor dance. A fiesta would have a place for the efforts of every campus organization. We have made a start with the spring festival; why not expand it to combine the several smaller events of the spring into one big celebration?

"A Spring Roundup and a Frontier Day are traditional at two Texas schools. A fiesta would be distinctively Techsan, one more feature of the unique Tech personality.

"Many students have already received with enthusiasm the idea of a fiesta. If enough interest is shown, we can get plans under way before the semester ends. How About It, Techsians?"

Thank you Jay for these thoughts. To briefly bring you up to date let me review the history and background of the Spring Festival. The Festival was originated in the school year 1957-58 to "break" the spring semester. The Festival lasted three days (Thursday, Friday and Saturday). It consisted of various activities, such as the German Show, the Dolphin Show, the Senior Carnival, Frantic Fun Fair at the Union, the Engineering Show, the Home Economics Open House, the Red Raider Relays, the Coronation Dance, a Bar-B-Que on Friday night, a western dance, and the Bicycle Race. This type of project was carried on for two years with minor adjustments. Then, when we received the news about a spring vacation the idea was to make the Spring Festival just a weekend affair with the Senior Carnival, Frantic Fun Fair and the Bicycle Race highlighting the program.

All these other activities then became spread out throughout the spring. This is the same pattern that will generally be followed this year. However, we are always open to ideas and suggestions. The idea of a Fiesta has never occurred to me. It could possibly be just the thing needed to make the Spring Festival a real significant occasion. So, Jay, I will turn this over to the council for their consideration and at the same time would like to hear some reaction from the student body. Do you think this idea has possibilities. If so (or if not) let me hear from you.

Cagers Deserve Your Support

"When they started out, they were fiddlers, but they wound up as concert violinists." These were the words used by a proud Polk Robison, to describe a basketball season and a Red Raider basketball team which fought and worked from a slow season start to the Southwest Conference championship.

The championship, which culminated an uphill eleven won and three lost conference record, also gave Texas Tech a berth in the National Collegiate Athletic Association regional playoffs in Lawrence, Kan.

It won't be the first time that the Raiders have been in the playoffs, which determines the national basketball champion, but it will be their first time as a representative of the Southwest Conference.

Robison's hotshots can rest on their laurels until March 17 when they meet in the first round of the playoffs, an old hand at competing with the best basketball teams in the country. This will be the Cincinnati Bearcats, champions of the Missouri Valley Conference.

The Bearcats have been in the national spotlight for the past several seasons. The school has produced many stars, including Oscar Robinson, who won All American honors there.

Tech has no claim to national fame, other than being the champions of their respective conference, but they do have two of the finest competitors in the business in Harold Hudgens and Del Ray Mounts.

Both boys made the Dallas Morning News All Southwest Conference team and no doubt will make other first teams picked by sportswriters and coaches. They were given plenty of support by their teammates Tom Patty, Mac Percival, Roger Hennig, and Bobby Gindorf; with bench strength coming from Milton Mickey, Gilbert Varnell, Don Perkins and John Lemmons.

Since the Raiders will be in for a rough night against the always tough Bearcats, they will also need the backing of as many Tech fans as possible.

The Raiders are given little chance to win, but with a few fans in the audience to make a little noise in their favor, the odds will be a lot slimmer.

No team coached by Polk Robison is going to be a pushover, no matter whom they play. Those who are able should make every effort to go to Lawrence and back this fighting team. They deserve your support.

RALPH W. CARPENTER
Toreador Editor

The Toreador Mail Call . . .

Dear Editor,

The other day I stepped into the Program Council Office of the Student Union to make a suggestion that I felt would help all of us that use the Union's facilities. The idea was sounding a buzzer over the PA (or something similar) at five until the hour to remind everyone that it was approaching class time, just as they do in many buildings on the campus.

However, I was informed by a young woman on the Program Council that this had no place in the Union since it was a "crutch" that the students didn't need. She further expressed the opinion that the students should not be given help in "growing up" and in fact that my idea would only contribute to the immaturity of the student body.

Besides being slightly irritated at their reaction to my suggestion, it bothered me even more about her general attitude towards the student body. After all, here was one of the people who decides what will be the type of thing the Student Union has for us. If the Program Council isn't for the students and isn't trying to help the students, what does it exist for. Perhaps we should hire three or four full-time employees to schedule our programs and to dictate what is best for us.

In the past it has been difficult for an "outsider" to make a suggestion to the Program Council that would get any consideration whatsoever. The students have no control really over these people and a messy situation developed of "take it or leave it". However, Jane Gentry and the present program council seems to have done a lot to correct this situation. I hope they shall continue to do so and that any ambitious people with a strong will to dictate will never dominate the Union again.

We have been having some real fine programs and better facilities in the Union, I think, due to people on the Program Council that are alert to the needs of the students. They are keeping the idea of helping the students uppermost in their minds. I hope it shall continue to be this way despite some thinking to the contrary.

Yours truly,
Don Zimmerman

(EDITOR'S NOTE: I called this matter to the attention of Dan Webster, Tech Union president, and he said he would check it out.)

Gentlemen:

On this bright Saturday morning I eagerly sought a copy of the "Toreador" to read all about the new SWC basketball champions. Frankly, gentlemen, your March 4, 1961, edition is one of the biggest failures of journalistic effort I have ever seen on the campus of any college or university.

Sure I saw the game on Thursday, sure the "Avalanche-Journal" carried the full story, sure I appreciate the fact that the "Toreador" must have ads to support it, sure the name change is important, sure the Weeks parking lots need more light, but when my Alma Mater brings home their first major sport championship, I WANT TO READ ABOUT IT IN THE SCHOOL PAPER and I think a lot of other Techsians do too. In short, your coverage of the biggest sports event in the history of Texas Technological College is MISERABLE.

Two pictures and ten short paragraphs—is this recognition for such a tremendous feat? I think that an apology from the whole editorial staff of the "Toreador" to Coach Robison and his "thin ten" is quite properly in order.

ROTC Announces Promotions For Spring Semester Drills

Spring promotions for Army and Air Force ROTC officer positions have been released.

Clarence J. Bryant was promoted to cadet commander of the Air Force 820th Wing. He succeeds Cadet Col. Bruce R. Haas who was named special assistant to Lt. Col. W. W. Wilson, associate professor of air science and commandant of AFROTC cadets.

Cadet Col. George B. Gibson, Brigade Commanding Officer, will be highest in command for Army ROTC. William L. Smith ranks second as a Cadet Lt. Col. executive officer of the Brigade.

Other Army promotions include John P. Black, First Battle Group

Commander; Terry R. Lines, Second Battle Group Commander; Dwayne H. Lowe, Third Battle Group Commander; and Harold L. Conway, Fourth Battle Group Commander.

Air Force promotions and duty assignments are Donald Edward Bryant, wing controller and material officer; Jerry Ray McMahan, flight commander; Robert N. Alexander, 820th group commander; Milton Smith, flight commander; Leroy Plumlee, band commander; Jerold Clifford Lyons, flight commander; and Kent Korbel, 820th Wing drill team commander.

15 Coeds Compete For Fashion Title

Texas Tech's best-dressed woman will be selected at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Rec Hall.

Modeling an on-campus outfit, an off-campus sports outfit, and a cocktail dress will be candidates Sally Stuart, sponsored by Knapp Hall; Dorothy Dodsworth, Phi Mu; Geraldine Lokey, Sigma Kappa; Suzanne Alderson, Kappa Alpha Theta.

Other candidates are Janis Newson, Alpha Phi; Lynda Jones, Home Ec; Diane Davis, Alpha Chi Omega; Betsy Kaiser, Pi Beta Phi; Alyce Anne Martin, Gamma Phi Beta; Sandy Allison, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Carolyn Horschler, Zeta Tau Alpha; Barbara Cullingburg, Weeks Hall; Lynda Elmore, Delta Delta Delta; Judy Jackson, Angel Flight; and Ann Jeroszewski, Delta Gamma.

The 12 women who are entering the local contest are to meet at 5 p.m. today in the Reading Room of the Journalism Bldg.

Three judges will select a winner, a first alternate, and a second alternate. The winner will be entered in the national contest sponsored by Glamour magazine. She will also be featured in a full-page spread in the La Ventana.

Angels Attend Academy Ball

Angel Flight will journey to the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., April 7-9. Cadets from the Academy, West Point and Annapolis will escort the girls to a Military Ball planned in their honor.

The girls will travel by commercial chartered bus to Colorado Springs.

Selective Service Gives Tests For Deferment

Applications for the College Qualification Tests are available in Rm. 201 of the V.A. Building on 19th Street. The test should be taken by all students wishing armed service deferment.

Floyd Boze, Tech Registrar, says that he feels that "it is certainly to a boy's advantage to take the test." He said that the test would help a student "regardless of his grades in college especially if he falls below his rank in class."

In order to be exempt from military service, freshmen students are ordinarily supposed to rank within the upper one-half of their class. Sophomores should rank within the upper two-thirds, juniors should rank within the upper three-fourths, and seniors within the upper three-fourths. Although a student may take the test only once, if he passes the test and makes a fairly good score on it, it will help him considerably towards deferment, no matter how he ranks in his class.

The test is a general IQ test, similar to Civil Service tests, only on a college level.

Military Society Initiates Pledges

The National Society of Scabbard and Blade, military honor society, initiated seven pledges recently.

They are Calvin E. Boyles, Don C. Cox, Robert B. Kennard, George H. Leonberger, John P. Schacht, and Virgil Wilson.

New officers were elected. They are Kennard, president; Alan Lewis, vice president; Boyles, treasurer; and Leonberger, secretary.

Necessary information should be sent to the Selective Service Examining Section, Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 586, Princeton, New Jersey, after the necessary application has been picked up at the Selective Service Board here in Lubbock.

"LOVE IN REVERSE"

They met. His heart leapt. "I love you," he cried.

"Me, too, hey," she cried.

"Tell me," he cried, "are you a girl of expensive tastes?"

"No, hey," she cried, "I am a girl of simple tastes."

"Good," he cried, "for my cruel father sends me an allowance barely large enough to support life."

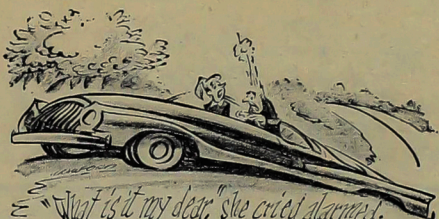

"Money does not matter to me," she cried. "My tastes are simple, my wants are few. Just take me riding in a long, new, yellow convertible and I am content."

"Goodbye," he cried, and ran away as fast as his chubby little legs could carry him, for he had no convertible, nor the money to buy one, nor the means to get the money, short of picking up his stingy father by the ankles and shaking him till his wallet fell out.

He knew he must forget this girl but, lying on his pallet at the dormitory, whimpering and moaning, he knew he could not.

At last an idea came to him: though he did not have the money to buy a convertible, perhaps he had enough to rent one!

Hope reborn, he rushed at once to an automobile rental company and rented a yellow convertible for $10 down plus 10¢ a mile, and with many a laugh and cheer drove away to pick up the girl.

"Oh, goody," she said when she saw the car. "This suits my simple tastes to a 'T'. Come, let us speed over rolling highways and through bosky dells."

And away they drove. All that day and night they drove and finally, tired but happy, they parked high on a windswept hill.

"Marlboro?" he said.

"Yum yum," she said.

They lit up. They puffed with deep contentment. "You know," he said, "you are like a Marlboro—mild and fresh and relaxing."

"But there is a big difference between Marlboro and me," she said, "because I do not have a Selectrate filter nor do I come in soft pack or flip-top box."

They laughed. They kissed. He screamed.

"What is it, my dear," she cried, alarmed.

"Look at the speedometer," he said. "We have driven 200 miles and this car costs 10¢ a mile and I have only $20 left."

"But that's exactly enough," she said.

"Yes," he said, "but we still have to drive home."

They fell into a profound gloom. He started the motor and backed out of the parking place.

"Hey, look!" she said. "The speedometer doesn't move when you're backing up."

He looked. It was true. "Eureka!" he cried. "That solves my problem. I will drive home in reverse. Then no more miles will register on the speedometer and I will have enough money to pay!"

"I think that's a marvelous idea," she said, and she was right. Because today our hero is in the county jail where food, clothes and lodging are provided free of charge and his allowance is piling up so fast that he will have enough money to take his girl riding again as soon as he is released.

Recruiting Program Proving Success

By JEANNIE BOOKOUT
Toreador Staff Writer

What kind of athletes Texas Tech will have in the future rests to a large extent on the shoulders of Tech students.

This is due to a new athletic recruiting program set up by J. T. King when he took over the coaching duties at Tech. Prospective athletes are given a day and a half of royal treatment on the campus by members of the newly organized Athletic Recruiting Committee, headed by Wayne Underwood.

students, gives football hopefuls a chance to see what the campus is really like. Now, because of a request from head basketball coach, Polk Robison, the committee will continue their efforts by introducing basketball players to Texas Tech.

In December Coach King appeared before the student governing body and presented his idea for recruiting the finest athletes for Tech. With little time left and much work to be done the Recruiting Committee was formed.

Only three days after Christmas vacation they were given their first big assignment. The assignment involved showing 25 boys the inside and outside of Tech, and the committee did just this with a type program never before witnessed in the Southwest Conference.

The visiting footballers were welcomed a few days before their arrival with a letter from the student body. Upon coming to Tech they met and talked to the coaches and then heard a speech by a Student Council officer citing what Tech had to offer.

After this introduction a Tech senior majoring in the athlete's chosen field escorted the boy to an instructor for a talk on the academic side of college life.

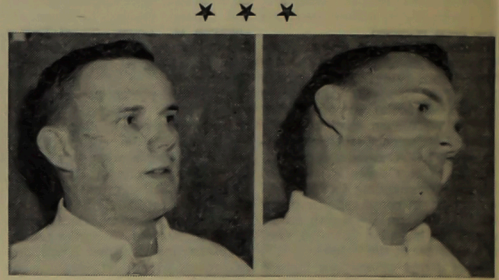

Before eating lunch at West Hall with varsity athletes, Saddle Tramps and AWS members, the new recruits were shown the Tech campus in a private car.

During the afternoon the guests were given dates, free passes to the basketball games, invitations to all weekend fraternity parties and an offer to go for a swim in Tech's heated pool. After a stay in West Hall the boys were invited to the church of their choice on Sunday morning.

According to Chairman Underwood, a junior marketing major from Fort Worth, the committee faced only two problems of any importance. One difficulty was the fact that many of the visitors were reluctant to go to church. The other catch came in the dating department. Sometimes one date or the other got stood up.

Underwood explained the situation in this manner.

"The girls involved in the dating

... he heads program to aid Tech recruiting

don't seem to realize the importance of the recruiting program to Tech and the boys are sometimes afraid of college girls."

However, both Coach King and Coach Robison had high praise for the committee's work. Robison expressed his satisfaction when he said, "We are proud of the work that the committee has performed in assisting our recruiting program. We're most happy that the student body is cooperating so nicely in our efforts toward getting the finer students and athletes on our campus." He continued by saying that the athletic program "is an integral part of this fine institution."

Coach King said, "They deserve a great deal of credit. We have received many nice letters from our visitors who say that the treatment at Tech far exceeds anything that they have come across at other schools."

Besides helping recruit athletes Underwood believes that the committee has accomplished many other things. Noting one example he said, "The work of the committee has started to merge the break between the athletic student body and the campus student body, because they are both working for one cause."

Attitudes have been changed by many who worked on the committee, Underwood said.

"Students are trying to find positive things, to say about their college instead of the usual negative and, most of the time, unfounded statements that students make."

Groundwork is now being laid for an expansion of the committee to include recruiting not only athletes but scholars, musicians and any other type student as well. Underwood feels that this will "truly make the committee function for a better Texas Tech."

According to Underwood the present committee is "just a start." He hopes that the departments can bring in top high school students in all fields and "that through student government we can give these visitors a true picture of all phases of Texas Tech."

Members of the committee who make it their business to "sell Tech" besides Underwood are Charlie Aycock, Ann Fursman, Judy Harris, Dick Toll, Carlyle Smith, Ken Talkington and Rowena Williams.

Ingemar Wants Good Punch

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — No matter how you slice it, the main reason for a third Floyd Patterson-Ingemar Johansson fight is the right hand punch the Swede landed in the second round last June.

Patterson appeared to have been shaken up. He blinked his eyes and retreated. Instead of rushing wildly to the attack as he had done the year before when he floored Paterson seven times and won the title, this time Ingemar waited. He never got another chance.

Raider Swimmers Readying For Meet

By LEW BULLION
Toreador Sports Writer

Texas Tech's varsity swimmers travel Thursday to Texas A&M for the Southwest Conference championship tourney.

Coach James McNally's Raiders fell Saturday to A&M here, 48-47, in a near miss for an upset.

"We will probably finish fourth in the meet," said Coach McNally. "All the teams with the exception of A&M and SMU will be facing the disadvantage of the extra pool length at College Station," he continued.

"SMU and A&M have 30 meter pools while the other conference members have 25 yard pools," he said, "the meters total out to about 33 1/2 yards, which is a distance to which most of our boys aren't accustomed."

According to McNally, the meet's outstanding swimmers will probably be Aubrey Brewer, the Olympic tankman from SMU, Doug Dewey of Texas, and Bill Baker of A&M. "Our Jim Tom Davis is about equal to Baker in ability but I think the A&M showing will merit Baker's election to the honored spot," the swim coach added.

Swimming for the Raiders will be Jim Tom Davis, who has swum his best times at A&M, in the 50 and 100 yard freestyle; Jack Shipley, all distance races; Glenn Shoup, 220, 440, 100, 50 yard races; and Bo Grimshaw, Individual Medley and relay.

Also Gary Welch, 200 yard backstroke and 100 yard freestyle and freestyle relay; Glenn Anderson, 200 and 100 yard butterfly and medley relay; John Stokes, 200 and 100 yard backstroke; and Jim Climer, freestyle sprints and relay. "Each first place time," McNally added, "will be a record for the meet at A&M since this is the first Southwest Conference championship held here."

Results of the Saturday meet with Texas A&M are as follows:

400-yd medley relay—1. Texas Tech (John Stokes, Bo Grimshaw, Glen Anderson, Jim Climer), 4:45. A&M finished first, disqualified.
220-yd freestyle—1. Bill Baker, A&M, 2:11.4; 2. Jim Tom Davis, Tech, 2:14.5; 3. Jack Shipley, Tech 2:22.6; 4. Reg Watts, A&M, 2:26.5.
50-yd freestyle—1. Tom Kennerly, A&M, 23.5; 2. Gary Welch, Tech, 25.0; 3. John McKinney, A&M, 25.7; 4. Climer, Tech, 26.6.
200-yd individual medley—1. John Harrington, A&M, 2:18.7; 2. Davis, Tech, 2:21.5; 3. Doug Simp-

'Mural Sports Deadlines Near

Etsel Buchanan, director of men's intramurals at Texas Tech, stated Monday that deadlines in seven intramural sports will elapse this week.

Entries in basketball free throws, softball, table tennis, and volleyball must be completed by 5 p.m. today, with blanks for badminton, tennis, handball and golf being due March 9.

The intramural office is located in the new intramural building, formerly the women's gym.

IN TRACK MEET SATURDAY

Raiders Finish High

By TOM DREW
Toreador Sports Writer

Texas Tech's varsity and freshman cindermen placed fifth and fourth respectively in the Southwestern Recreational track meet in Fort Worth Saturday.

The meet was the second Fort Worth meet entered by Coach Don Sparks' Red Raiders this year. The team also entered the indoor Will Rogers track competition Feb. 9.

Ahlene Christian edged Baylor by three points to take top laurels in the university division, and Southern Methodist's freshmen captured the junior college-freshman division.

"The men did as well as expected considering bad weather conditions prior to the meet," Coach Sparks said Monday.

"Fort Worth humidity also hurt us," Sparks said. He was referring mainly to the temperature, which soared into the high 80's during the competition Saturday.

Bob Swafford and Delbert Shirrey led Raider point-getters in the meet, as each gained second and third place finishes.

Swafford collected his ribbons in the hurdles, where he finished runnerup in the lows and third in the highs.

Shirrey took a second place in the pole vault, tying for fourth place.

Charlie Draper and Guy Golden both won points in the half mile. Draper took second and Golden fifth.

The Raiders' mile relay team finished fourth to complete the scoring for the day. That foursome was composed of Curtis Hart, Franklin Wood, Golden and Draper.

Ronny Biffle led the freshmen to their finish, taking second and fourth in the high and low hurdles respectively.

Other individuals gaining recognition for the Picador track men were Don Mason and Walter Cunningham, as they placed in their specialties. Mason was runnerup in the 440 yard dash and Cunningham took fifth in the 100 yard dash.

In addition, both the mile and sprint relay teams placed third in the competition.

"We hope to come out close to the top," said Sparks in evaluating Tech's finish in Southwest Conference track competition this spring.

"Some of the boys have been hampered by injuries and others haven't developed fast, but if everyone comes around, we could look good," Sparks concluded.

The Raiders have their next meet Saturday when they journey to Albuquerque to contest New Mexico Western and the University of New Mexico in a triangular track meet.

Diamond Crew Begins Action

Texas Tech's baseballers launch their 1961 schedule against Highlands University here Friday and Saturday afternoons.

Doubleheaders, starting at 1:30 p.m., will be played each day. Remainder of the Red Raider schedule will be ready soon, according to Bert Huffman, Texas Tech's new baseball coach.

Six lettermen from the team that posted an 8-7 record last season form the nucleus of the current squad. They are outfielders Bill Dean of Lubbock and George Gibson of Dallas, catchers Sam Gipson of Galveston and Elton Howard of Midland, shortstop Tom Prichard of Snyder, and pitcher Roger Mac Evans of Abilene.

Huffman is without the services of the Raiders' leading pitcher of last season, Del Ray Mounts of Perryton. The lefthander is an all-Southwest Conference guard with the Raider basketballers, who have qualified for the National Collegiate playoffs.
