

Knapp Will Speak At Aggie Meeting

Four members of the Texas Tech faculty will appear on the program of the Texas Agriculture Workers association meeting in San Antonio, Friday and Saturday. Those who will attend the meeting are Dr. Knapp, C. Luker, W. L. Stangel and C. E. Russell, head professor of plant industry.

Dr. Knapp will speak on "Some Thoughts on a Planned Agriculture," the second day.

Luker, associate professor of vocational agriculture and agricultural education, will talk on "The Vocational Agriculture Graduate."

Stangel, head professor of the animal husbandry department, who is director of the association, will speak on "A Livestock Program for Texas."

Tech Dairy Club Names New Officers For Year

Tech Dairy club elected new officers for next semester at its first meeting of the year Monday night. They are Guy Bratcher, president; Curtis Scharnberg, vice-president; J. E. Adams, secretary-treasurer; John Crawford, reporter; and Bert Riegler, marshal.

Outgoing officers are Walter Labaj, Claude Brown and Vern Roberts. Sponsors of the club are K. M. Renner, Arthur Pritchard and Mart G. Pederson, faculty members in the department of dairy manufacturing.

TO ELECT OFFICERS

There will be an election of 1935 officers of the Aggie club Tuesday night. A notice calling the attention of all Aggie club members to the meeting has been posted in the entrance to the Aggie building by Bert Riegler, secretary of the club.

Benton Lectures

(Continued from page one) whose dramatic incident is the stabbing of a mountain girl by her lover, "Cotton Town," the other, is a portrayal of indolent melancholy in negro characters. Benton got the idea in his tour of Georgia in 1932.

"My burlesque queens, stevedores, negroes, preachers and college professors are actual personalities," says Benton in "Time". This is in answer to critics who have complained that his murals are loud and disturbing.

Mr. Benton is on a tour of Texas and has appeared at Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio.

Until human nature evolves a few centuries more, lotteries will continue to exploit the instinct in us all.

Files Reveal

Early in March work began on the new dormitories. Dr. W. C. Holden and his party started on their sensational trip into the remote Yaqui county. Emily Davis was elected president of AWS.

The Tech basketball team shattered all basketball records in the athletic history of the school by winning 18 contests out of 23 starts. They captured the border conference championship for the second time.

Caldwell Crowned Queen Ann Caldwell was crowned at the Junior prom, and Dinaween Eridgeman led Penrhyn Stangle's selection of La Ventana beauties.

April was a convention month for Tech, with three associations holding meets on the campus, the Texas Intercollegiate Dramatic tourney, the Southwestern Journalism congress and the Science meet.

Spring grid practice began, and D. O. Wiley was selected new director of the band. The Engineers' show broke all previous attendance records. Four AWS representative attended the AWS meet at Tucson.

The campus was saddened by the pneumonia deaths of Matt Hitchcock and Harold Spaulding within 12 hours.

Highlights for May were the elections of student officers by the ballot system and the second annual cotton carnival. The third annual Recognition Service honored 91 women. Final exams closed the spring semester.

At commencement, June 5, degrees were conferred on 191 students. Summer registration set new records. The summer

Aggie Professor Attends Dairy Meeting At Austin

K. M. Renner, of the Tech dairy manufacturing department, has returned from College Station where he attended a committee meeting of representatives of the dairy interests of the state. The committee discussed dairy legislation.

Professor Renner also attended the meeting in Austin of the state-wide cream grading committee.

coaching school was a bigger success than ever before. Work continued on the dormitories.

Registration for the fall semester in October set a new high. The Matadors downed the Baylor Bears but lost a hard-fought game to Loyola university at Los Angeles.

Janet Hanbright was crowned queen of the fifth annual Aggie rodeo, and the senior livestock judges took second place at the American Royal in Kansas City October 20.

Homecoming was the big event for November. Football games resulted in a victory over DePaul and a tie with North Dakota.

December brought fame to Tech when the livestock judges took the national championship at Chicago. The Chemical Engineers' society was organized. Diversion included the Double T dance and ten days vacation.

Chemical Engineers Will Be In Charge Of Program

Tech Engineering society will hold its regular meeting Monday evening with the chemical engineers in charge of the program. Howard Hurnence is chairman.

The Engineering Society plans to start a new series of short programs that will last throughout the remainder of the school year. Each department of the engineering school is to have charge of the program for one night and give demonstrations typical of the work carried on in that department.
