

Mr. And Miss Texas Tech, Class Favorites Crowned

Honors Go To Eight Favorites

Three class favorites gave repeat performances at last night's Coronation Dance.

Shirley Stephens and Pete Baker, juniors, and Kay Woody, sophomore, walked down a long aisle formed by Techsians, receiving the class honors for the second time in their college careers.

Senior honors went to Bill Dean, marketing major from Lubbock, and Mary Ann Lindley, secondary education major from Waco.

DEAN IS listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, a member of Student Council and has been sports editor of the Treador. Past president of Phi Delta Theta, he is a member of Delta Sigma Pi business fraternity.

Miss Lindley, a Kappa Alpha Theta, has been on Student Council for two years and is treasurer of Mortar Board. Other honors include Who's Who and membership in Phi Kappa Phi and Sigma Tau Delta honoraries.

JUNIOR FAVORITE Baker is a pre-law major from Anson and a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity. He was sophomore class vice president and has been president of the Saddle Tramps.

Miss Stephens has been secretary of her class for two years and a ROTC sweetheart. A member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, she is a music education major from Denton.

Joining Miss Woody as sophomore favorite is Wayne Isom, pre-med major from Idalou. Isom is president of the sophomore class and had the same position as a freshman. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

MISS WOODY is an elementary education major from Lubbock and a member of Pi Beta Phi. She was on freshman council.

Freshman favorites are Mary Thompson, Dallas, and Bryan Adams, Dawson.

Adams is a government major and is currently vice president of the freshman class.

Miss Thompson, a child development major, is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Her honors for the year include ROTC sweetheart, horticulture princess and Miss Pledge of Kappa Sigma.

Former President Receives Surgery

Dr. E. N. Jones, former president of Texas Tech, is reported to be recovering satisfactorily from minor surgery which he underwent Friday morning.

The operation was performed in Wichita General Hospital at Wichita Falls. Dr. Jones is staying in Room 338 of the hospital.

Talkington, Hendrix Get Honors

Sandra Hendrix and Ken Talkington entered Texas Tech's limelight last night as they were crowned Mr. and Miss Texas Tech for 1960 at the annual Coronation Dance in the Lubbock Coliseum.

Gene Price of radio station KDUB presented Mr. and Miss Tech and the favorites during the intermission at the dance.

MISS HENDRIX, an education major from Lubbock, was 1959 Homecoming Queen, a Tech beauty for two years, is a cheerleader and a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Talkington, a pre-med major from Tyler, is president of the Double T Association, captain of the varsity football team, member of the Student Council, Phi Delta Theta, and was sophomore favorite and president of his sophomore class. He is also listed in Who's Who among American Colleges and Universities.

MR. AND MISS Texas Tech and the class favorites were chosen Wednesday in an all-campus election.

Other candidates for the Mr. and Miss Texas Tech honor were Gail Peterson, Dub Heffington and Bob Dyer. The winners were picked for their service to the school, unselfish leadership and friendliness.

Last year's Mr. and Miss Texas Tech, Sharla Pepper and Donnell Echols, were married during the summer. Echols was president of the Student Council, and Miss Pepper was head cheerleader.

Gypsy Music, Dances Herald Greco's Tour

The Lubbock Municipal Auditorium will ring with the sound of clicking heels at 3 p.m. tomorrow as Jose Greco, world-famous Spanish dancer, presents his company of dancers, singers and musicians.

Tickets are on sale in the Tech Union lobby and will be on sale at the door for 50 cents for students, faculty and their wives, 75 cents for Lubbock high school students and $2 for others. No reserve seats will be sold.

Thirty artists from the coffeehouses, cantinas and gathering places in Spain where dancing troupes perform will provide a program with a wide range of mood, tempo, pattern and character.

Greco will include dances of sadness, tragedy, humor, satire and pantomime as he attempts to show the true representation of the Spanish dance, including the gypsy Flamenco dances.

Since organizing his troupe in 1948, Greco has continually added to his company of performers. Making their American debut this season are Francisco Espinosa, solo guitarist; Pepita Arcos, "the Spanish answer to nuclear fission," and Maria Del

Roco, acclaimed as a new dancing star.

While living in Seville, Spain, Greco spent most of his time around the inns and cafes studying the Flamenco dances. Soon, he was dancing the exciting steps.

The professional dancers found the boy amusing and began to help him acquire the skill and polish necessary for the execution of the intricate steps. The famous dancer's first professional appearance was in "Carmen."

The turning part in his career came when he became the dancing partner of La Argentina. After her death in 1945, Greco danced in Spain for three years where critics wrote that he put authority back into Spanish dancing.

Greco organized a small troupe of dancers to perform a scene in "Manolete," a movie that he was invited to choreograph. The success of the film led Greco to organize a company of professional dancers. Since opening in Barcelona, Spain, the Greco Ballet has been acclaimed in Europe, several South American countries and the United States.

Greco was seen in "Around the World in 80 Days" and the entire company may be seen in Walt Disney's "Dances of Spain."

Election Is Replanned

Friday's run-off election for vacancies in class offices and freshman council has been declared void by the Student Council.

Run-offs have been rescheduled for Tuesday as a result of a mistake in the location of some of the ballot boxes which might have slanted the election.

Boxes will be only in academic buildings Tuesday. Locations for the boxes are the Tech Union, Ad Bldg., Classroom and Office, Home Economics, East Engineering and Agriculture buildings.

Offices to be filled in the election are sophomore vice president, freshman AWS representative and one spot on the freshman council.

Candidates for sophomore vice president are Bill Skeeters and Woodie Wood. Sharon Cucey and Marilyn Galloway will vie for the freshman AWS position.

Betsy Baker faces Jackie Curry for the ninth spot on freshman council.

Ann Fursman Gets Top AWS Position

Ann Fursman, Dallas junior, was chosen president of Association of Women Students in a campus-wide election Wednesday.

Kay Sharp was elected first vice president; Donna Sue Christopher, second vice president; Judy Harris, third vice president; Mary Wallace, secretary; Ouida Daugherty, intercollegiate AWS representative; Sue Mims, reporter.

New officers will be installed on April 28, Women's Day.

AWS president acts as a co-ordinator of all the activities.

The Big-Little Sister and the freshman programs, Tech Tips and studies of AWS activities in other schools are included in the officers' duties.

MEMOS . . .

CHANNING CLUB

Capital punishment will be discussed by the Channing Club at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at 3306 37th.

PRE-LAW

Law school admission test will be given at Tech on April 9. Interested students may pick up applications from the government department secretary in Ad 319. Deadline for applications is March 22.

THE SEARCH FOR BRIDEY SIGAFOOS

It was a dullish evening at the Theta house. The pledges were down in the catacombs; the actives were sacked out upstairs, not doing much of anything. Mary Ellen Krumbald was sticking pins in an effigy of the housemother; Evelyn Zinmaster was welding a manhole cover to her charm bracelet; Algelica McKeesport was writing a letter to Fabian in blood. Like I say, it was a dullish evening.

Suddenly Dolores Vladnay stood up and stamped her foot. "Chaps," she said to her sorors, "this is too yawn-making! Let's do something gay and mad and gasp-making. Anybody got an idea?"

"No," said the sorors, shaking their little sausage curls. "Think, chaps, think!" said Dolores and passed Marlboro cigarettes to everybody, for if there ever was a smoke to start you thinking, it is mild and flavorful Marlboro! Things come clear when you puff that good, clean smoke through that fine filter—knots untie, dilemmas dissolve, problems evaporate, cobwebs vanish, fog disperses, and the benevolent sun pours radiance on a new and dewy world. Oh, happy world! Oh, Marlboro! Oh, soft pack! Oh, flip-top box! Oh, get some already!

"I have brown eyes and I weigh 3200 pounds"

Now Geraldine Quidnunc, her drooping brain cells revived by a good Marlboro, leapt up and cried, "Oh, I have a perfect gasser of an idea! Let's hypnotize somebody!"

"Oh, capital!" cried the sorors. "Oh, tingle-making!"

At this point, in walked a young pledge named Alice Blue-gown. "Excuse me, mistresses," said she, tugging her forelock, "I have finished making your beds, doing your homework, and ironing your pleats. Will there be anything else?"

"Yes," snapped Dolores Vladnay. "When I count to three, you will be hypnotized."

"Yes, excellency," said Alice, bobbing a curtsy.

"One, two, three," said Dolores. Alice promptly went into a trance.

"Go back," said Dolores, "back into your childhood. Go back to your fifth birthday, back to your birth, to before your birth, to your last incarnation . . . Now, who are you?"

"My name is Bridey Sigafos," said Alice. "The year is 1818, and I am in County Cork."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"How old are you?" asked Dolores.

"I am seven," said Alice.

"Where is your mother?" asked Dolores.

"I don't know," said Alice. "She got sold at the fair last year."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Tell us about yourself," said Dolores.

"I am five feet tall," said Alice. "I have brown eyes, and I weigh 3200 pounds."

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Isn't that rather heavy for a girl?" said Dolores.

"Who's a girl?" said Alice. "I'm a black and white guernsey."

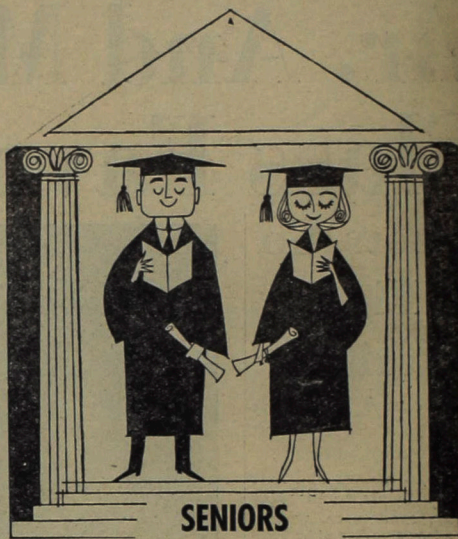

"Coo!" said the sorors.

"Moo!" said Bridey Sigafos.

We, the makers of Marlboro, have our doubts about this story. About cigarettes, however, we hold these truths to be self-evident: Marlboro for filter smokers, Philip Morris for non-filter smokers. Try some.

BSO Delegates Hear Top College Official At Retreat

JOHN BROWN, ASSISTANT TO TEMPLE UNIVERSITY'S PRESIDENT ... speaks at annual BSO Retreat in New Mexico

Approximately 80 Board of Student Organization delegates aboard two buses will return at 8 p.m. Sunday from Cloudfcroft, New-Mexico, and the group's annual retreat.

THE PURPOSE of the retreat is to compare leadership problems of different campus organizations and to coordinate student-faculty relations.

John A. Brown, assistant to the president of Temple University in Pennsylvania, is the featured speaker. He is to present case studies and solutions on various campus problems. Brown is a member of the American Management Institute, the American Political Science Assn. and American College Public Relations Assn.

ALONG WITH membership in numerous honorary societies and national fraternities, Brown has taught at Temple University, lectured in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University and the Cheltenham Adult Education School, Cheltenham, Pa., and was associate director of Rittenhouse College.

James G. Allen, dean of student life, and Robert Hilliard, assistant to the dean of men, are also attending the retreat.

Students May Petition For Council Positions

Petitions for election of officers for the Student Association will be available Tuesday, March 8, at the Student Council Office in the Ad Bldg. from 8 a.m. until 12 p.m.

EXECUTIVE student body offices to be filled are president, vice president, secretary and business manager. Others include cheerleaders and also student council representatives.

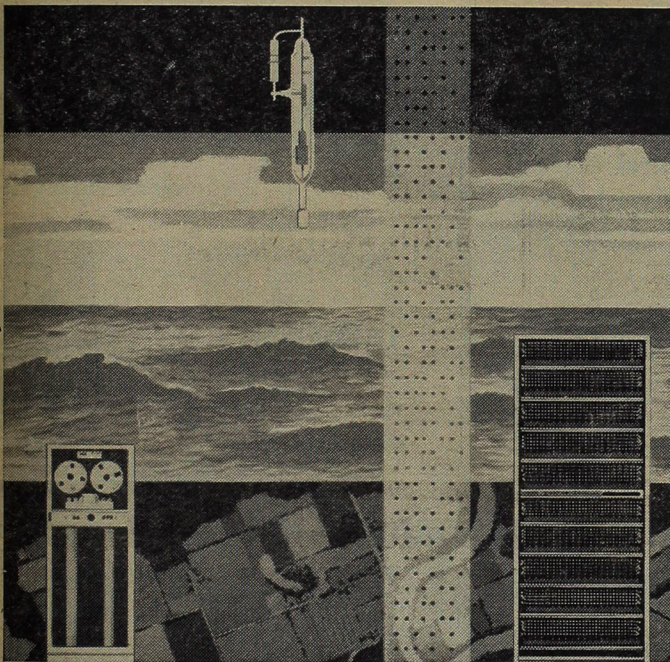

The number of representatives of each school is based on the entire enrollment at Texas Tech.

THREE SCHOOLS—Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, and Engineering — boast an increase in the number of representatives this year.

Arts and Sciences was raised from nine to eleven. Business Administration was hiked from five to six, and the School of Engineering was increased from last year's seven to eight this year.

THE SCHOOL of Home Economics, which has two representatives, and the School of Agriculture which has three, have the same number of representatives as last year.

Petitions and expense accounts will be due in the Student Council office by 5 p.m. March 14. The election for officers and cheerleaders will be March 23 and the election for representatives will be March 30.

COMPUTERS, CAREERS and YOU... after you join Western Electric

Interested in computers, computer technology and applications? Then you should investigate Western Electric as a place to build your career. Telephony today is built around computers. The telephone cross-bar switch is basically a computer. Electronic switching gear uses computer principles.

At its new engineering research center and at most of its 25 manufacturing locations, Western is relying more and more on computers in doing its main job as manufacturing and supply unit for the Bell Telephone System. In its other major field—Defense Communications and Missile systems—the use of computers and computer technology is widespread.

You'll discover quickly that opportunities with Western Electric are promising indeed. Here company growth stands on a solid base, and your own growth, too. We estimate that engineers will find 8,000 supervisory jobs open to them in the next ten years. There will be corresponding opportunities for career building within research and engineering. Progress is as rapid as your own individual skills permit. And Western Electric maintains both full-time all-expenses-paid graduate engineering training and tuition refund plans to help you move ahead in your chosen field.

Opportunities exist for electrical, mechanical, industrial, civil and chemical engineers, as well as in the physical sciences. For more information get your copy of Consider a Career at Western Electric from your Placement Officer. Or write College Relations, Room 200E, Western Electric Company, 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y. Be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when the Bell System team visits your campus.

Thrills, Chills Spotlight Cage Season

by JOHN PETTY
Associate Sports Editor

Del Ray Mounts—who less than four months ago was an unknown and virtually untried basketball player—capped a remarkable first year varsity season by winning the Southwest Conference individual scoring championship with a total of 265 points in 14 conference games.

MOUNTS LED the Raiders to a 73-72 victory over the Rice Owls Thursday night with 16 points to give him a seven point edge over Clyde Rhoden of Arkansas, who finished the season with 258 points.

Although the Techsian cagers ended the 1959-60 season on a winning note—copping the last four games in a row—the sophomore-heavy team found the going rough and weary through the 24 game schedule.

FOLK ROBISON presented his current edition of the Raiders for the first time on Dec. 1 when they took on New Mexico University in Lubbock. The local cagers won this one 84-62.

Taking to the road, the Raiders ran into two teams from the Big Eight Conference, Colorado and Kansas, and dropped decisions to both of them. Colorado took a 79-66 win while Kansas came out on top 85-71.

THE SOONERS from Oklahoma were next on the Raider list. The Big Red beat the Red Raiders in a low-scoring contest 56-42. Iowa then trounced the Techsians 75-66.

Traveling to the Pelican State, the Raiders jumped back on the winning track by beating Louisiana State 72-63 but lost to Georgia Tech 63-60 four days later to end their non-conference play.

GOING INTO the pre-season tournament in Houston, the Raiders had a 2-7 record for non-conference games.

Tourney play proved almost disastrous for the Robison-led crew as they lost two games—to Southern Methodist 85-65 and to Baylor 78-58. The Owls from Rice proved to be Raider pickings in the last tournament game as the Lubbock boys came out on top 79-67.

ROASTING OWLS was a favorite Raider pastime, for in their first conference game, they took the Ricemen again 71-64.

Tournament play was repeated in the next two conference games as the Raiders met their old Houston foes, SMU and Baylor. The Ponies squeaked by the Raiders 49-44 while Baylor took the Techsians for the second time 71-60.

COMING back to Municipal Coliseum, the Raider cagers proved they could win two in a row by beating Texas Christian 75-66 and favored Arkansas 82-79.

But then the ole' conference got mighty rugged.

TECH DROPPED the next five games in a row—to Texas A&M 89-59, to Texas University 75-66, to Baylor 87-72, to Arkansas 78-55 and again to Texas 74-61.

Finally out of contention for the title and with the pressure off, the Raiders got tough and eventually proved to be a big factor in deciding which team would get the conference crown.

THEY BEAT TCU in Fort Worth 68-61 and then came back to Lubbock to upset the mighty Aggies by an identical score, 68-61. The loss dropped the Farmers from title contention. Next came the Ponies from Dallas. Playing their hearts out, the Raiders came up with a 71-69 cliffhanger and virtually opened the door to the conference throne room for the Texas Longhorns.

Beating Rice Thursday gave the Raiders three wins over the hapless Owls over the season.

The Raiders finished with a 10-14 mark for the season and a 7-7 conference slate. They came out with a tie for fourth place with Arkansas.

In retrospect, the season was one that gave loyal Raider fans many a thrill and chill. Remember:

Del Ray Mounts' sizzling 35 points against the Razorbacks from Arkansas that pushed him into scoring title contention?

Dale McKeehan coming off the bench against Texas A&M and playing one of his best games in Municipal Coliseum?

Don Perkins pushing 29 points past SMU in the tournament Houston?

Gene Arrington leaping up for 15 rebounds in the first game of the season against New Mexico?

Roger Hennig playing ball like defensive demon against the league studs, SMU and Texas A&M?

The victory against SMU that wasn't decided until the very last second?

As the post season honors can in, Tech wasn't forgotten. Moun was listed on the UPI All-Conference second team with Gene Arrington getting honorable mention

Big Ten Nixes Bowl Contests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Big Ten voted Friday to end post-season competition in all sports, climaxing a chain reaction that stormed from rejecting resumption of a Rose Bowl football contract.

In the biggest athletic upheaval in the conference's history explosions were fired in this order:

1. By a vote of 5-5, continuation of a Rose Bowl contract netting some $300,000 annually was killed. Wisconsin, Ohio State, Northwestern, Illinois, and Minnesota were against it, and a majority vote was needed for approval.

2. Voted 6-4 to not permit a school to go to the Pasadena New Year's classic on an individual basis. Indiana's vote was the decisive one.

Weatherman Hits 'Mural Softball

Edsel Buchanan, intramural director, has announced that intramural softball play will start one week later than originally scheduled.

Action will begin on March 13th with the first week's games being rescheduled to the bottom of the schedule. Recent inclement weather has left the fields in poor condition.

All interested independent softball teams are urged to take advantage of the extra week to enter a league. Anyone interested in officiating at ball games may also contact Mr. Buchanan.
