

Herbert Hoover Passes Away

NEW YORK (AP)—Herbert Clark Hoover, the 31st president of the United States, died Tuesday at the age of 90, his magnificent old heart finally overwhelmed by the demands of a body enfeebled by long illness.

The end came quietly at 11:35 a.m. in Hoover's Waldorf Towers suite high above Manhattan, on a bleak, gray autumn day. He was in a deep coma—a merciful sleep that shielded him from any final agony. A massive internal hemorrhage occurring last Saturday began his final illness.

With his passing, a nation mourned a man who won its respect and admiration anew after having been turned out of the White House in 1932 by an electorate that blamed him for America's great depression.

Only one other president in this century was refused reelection by the voters. He was William Howard Taft, a Republican like Hoover, who was defeated in 1912 after a single term in office.

President Lyndon Johnson proclaimed a 30-day period of mourning, ordering flags on all government buildings flown at half staff.

From the White House the Democratic chief executive said of Hoover, "We have lost a wise American, and the world has lost a humanitarian citizen of all mankind. His steadfast leadership served us undaunted through the good times and bad—as businessman, provider for the poor and hungry, president and elder statesman.

"He lived a full and useful life, and we are all deeply in his debt.

"We shall miss his thoughtful counsel and kindly spirit. But his unquenchable sense of public responsibility for both our nation and a troubled world stands as an example that will endure."

Barry Goldwater, Republican candidate for president, also in Washington, said: "Herbert Hoover was a great human being. He was a whole man."

Hoover's body will lie in state for two days at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal church on Park Avenue. Then it will be taken to Washington for a service in the rotunda of the Capitol, where another president, the assassinated John F. Kennedy, received funeral honors only 11 months ago.

Burial will be in a national park on the site of a small cottage where Hoover was born in West Branch, Iowa, in 1874 — destined to become the first American president from west of the Mississippi River.

Hoover's wife, Lou Henry, died 20 years ago in their Waldorf suite and she was buried in California. However, with the death of her husband, her body will be brought to West Branch to rest beside his.

With Hoover when he died were his two sons, Herbert Jr. and Allan Henry.

His life had spanned 90 years and two months. Only one other president lived longer. He was John Adams, the nation's second chief executive, who was 90 years and eight months old when he died.

Drill Teams Give Salute

Members of the Air Force ROTC Sabre Flight and the Army ROTC Tyrian Rifles drill teams will participate in an honor guard in memory of former President Herbert Hoover today.

Beginning at 7:30 a.m. the Army team will fire a round from the Tech howitzer every thirty minutes until 5 p.m.

On the day of President Hoover's funeral, a 21-gun salute will be fired to memorialize his passing.

Five Leaders Will Speak Here During Coming Year

Five leading figures in literature, government and news coverage will speak at Tech during 1964-65.

The five are Stephen Spender, Walter Judd, Tran Van Dinh, John MacVane and Robert Loper.

Spender, poet, literary critic and editor of a small British literary magazine, speaks 7:30 p.m. Oct. 28 in Tech Union's Coronado Room.

His talk will be on what is modern in modern art.

Nov. 9, Robert Loper will deliver an address on "Twelfth Night-That Way Madness Lies."

A graduate of the University of Birmingham in England, he is currently teaching Shakespeare at Stanford. He is also production director of the Stanford Summer Festival featuring Shakespeare's works.

Dec. 9, Tran will speak on the war in Viet Nam. He is the Washington bureau chief for the Saigon Post and has worked in many phases of Vietnamese news gathering.

MacVane, ABC's United Nations correspondent, talks Feb. 26 on "Is the UN Doing Its Job?". He was a correspondent in Europe and Africa during World War II.

Rounding out the quintet of speakers on March 16, Judd will speak on "Neither Red Nor Dead." Having lived in China as a medical missionary, he knows about Communism from experience and is considered an authority on foreign affairs by his fellow Congressmen.

Screening Board Defeated

By CECIL GREEN
Managing Editor

A controversial proposal was eliminated in a storm of "nays" Tuesday night as the Student Council soundly defeated the Cheerleader Screening Board by a 24-10 vote.

The matter had been before the Council for several years and was passed last year, but later declared unconstitutional by the Tech Supreme Court.

Council members again picked up the topic this year and debated the pros and cons for several meetings before giving it the ax last night.

Roland Anderson, Arts and Sciences representative, made the proposal that the Council completely eliminate the board after members debated the topic for almost an hour.

The proposed board would have organized a group of students and faculty "judges" to screen, evaluate, and determine persons who could go on the ballot as cheerleader candidates.

After the final vote, SC President Ronnie Botkin, reminded Council members that the screening board for cheerleaders as such could not be brought before the Council again.

In other action, Anderson reported on the work of the Self-Evaluation Committee, and discussed possible revisions in the Student Assn. Constitution and by-laws.

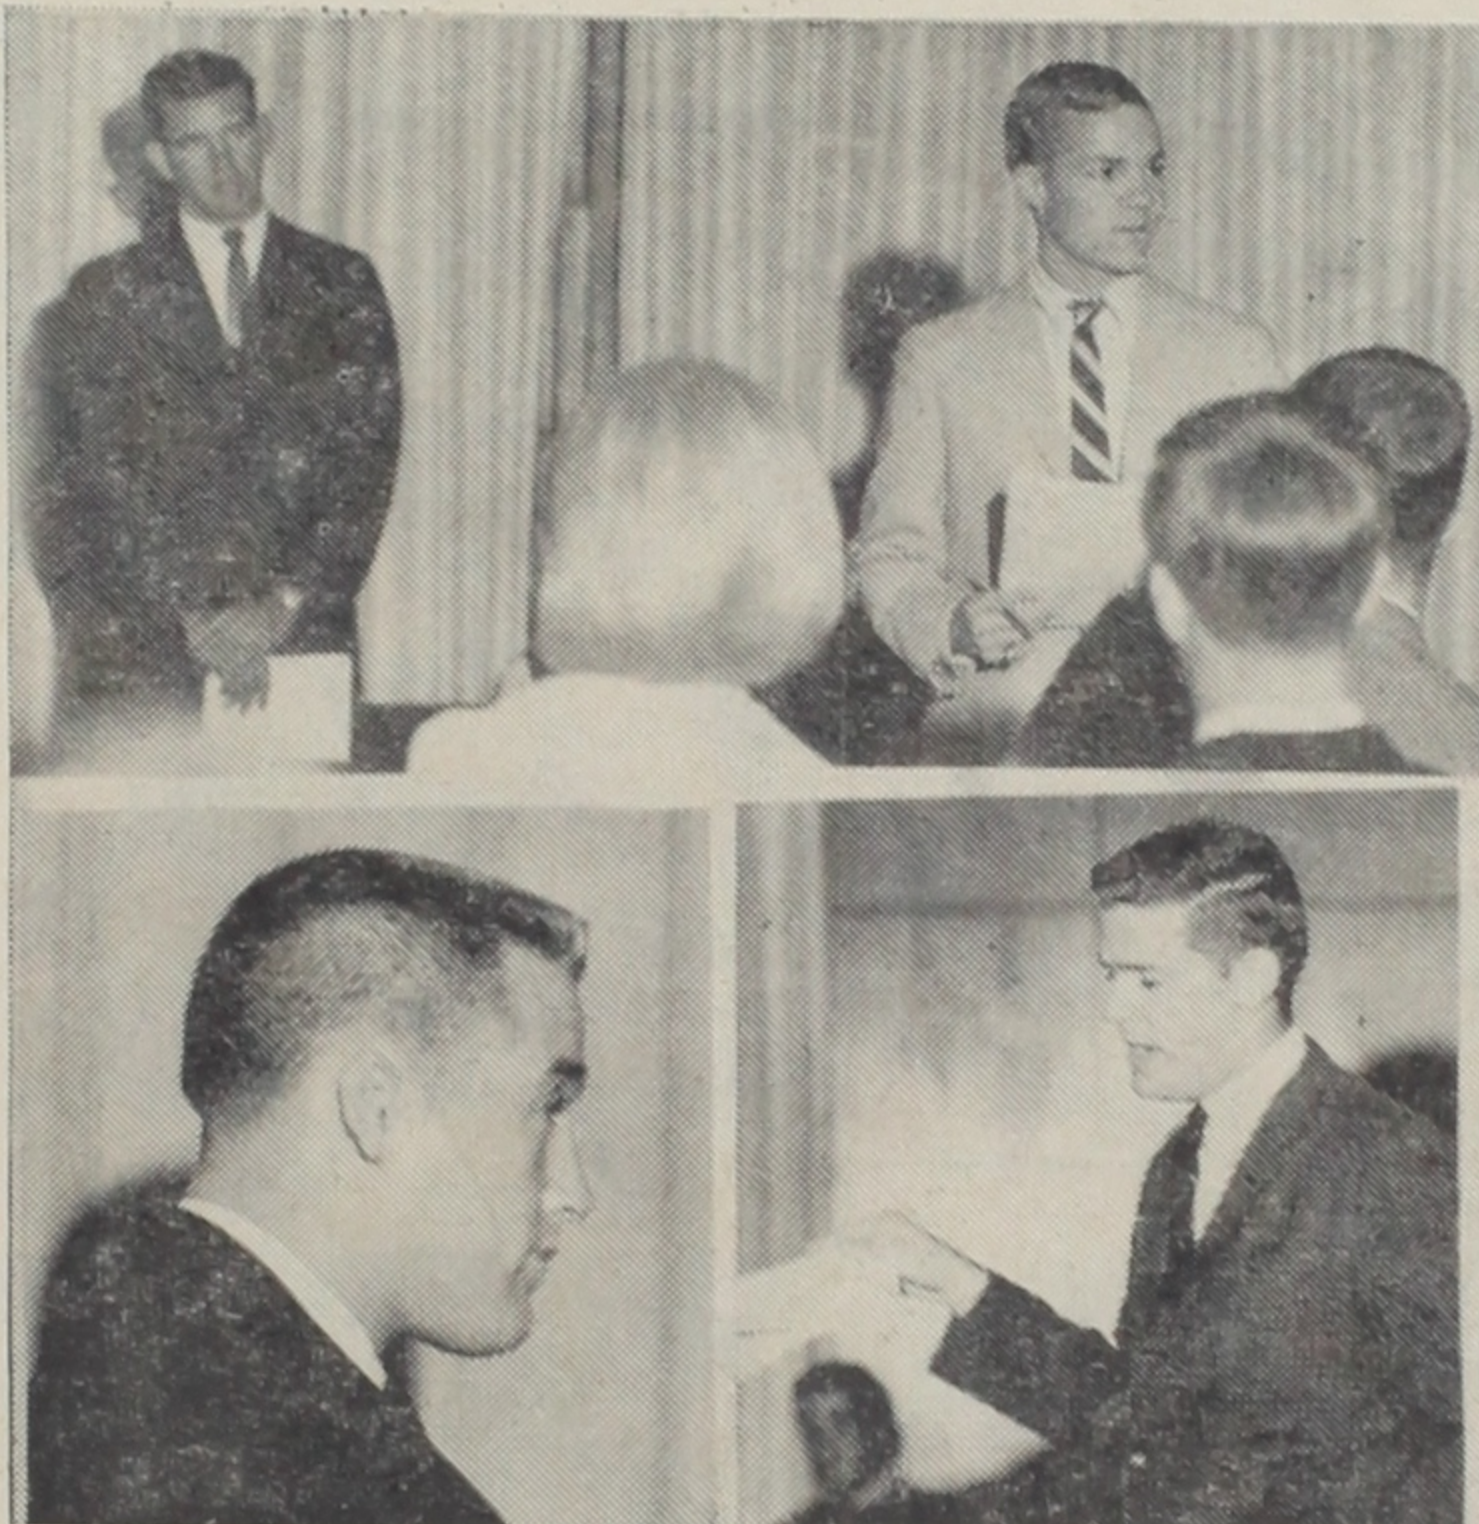

Chief among the committee's recommendations were the problems of changing the apportionment representation on the Council, revising freshman election procedures and changing the election code.

"Currently, each Council member represents 300 students," said Anderson, "and at the rate Tech is growing the Council may soon have too many persons to work effectively."

Also at the meeting, Steve George, president of Tech Union, presented a plan drawn up by the executive councils of the Tech Union and Student Council for a possible speakers board.

The purpose of the board, as explained by George, would be to have a centralized organization tentatively approve and aid in bringing speakers for campus organizations.

The proposal will be submitted to Tech President R. C. Goodwin before any definite action can be taken. Council members voiced their approval of the plan by a strong majority. There was only one dissenting vote.

Name-Change Group Maps Out New Plans

By MIKE WALL
Assistant Managing Editor

Tech's Joint Name-Change Committee continued its battle against Texas Tech University as a new name for the college Tuesday when it met to discuss methods of combatting the Board of Directors' choice.

Included in the proposals were plans to issue windshield stickers with the name Texas State University printed on them, a continuance of a card signing campaign, a full-force letter writing campaign, and a remote possibility of going along with an alternate name which would please both the board and the committee.

Trans-Texas University was one of the names suggested as an alternate allowing retention of the Double T while still being a suitable name for the college, although committee members felt the suggested compromise name would not receive as much support as Texas State had been receiving.

The committee also reported more than 3000 persons had signed cards stating that the signee was "In favor of Texas State University or any other suitable name," and was "opposed to the name Texas Tech University."

Breaking down the figures, Tom Burtis, committee secretary, said more than 1000 ex-students, more than 1000 current students, 347 Tech faculty members and 444 Tech parents had signed the cards.

"The 347 figure for faculty members is more than half the Tech faculty," Burtis said, "and this number includes more than half Tech's department heads."

Referring to the 1000 ex-student figure, Burtis mentioned a remark made during the Board meeting last spring in which sides for and against Texas Tech University were allowed to plead their cases. He said one person said he was speaking for more than 22,000 ex-students when he came out in favor of Texas Tech University.

"But," Burtis continued, "nearly all the ex-students we have talked to have been in favor of Texas State University. We know of no large group of ex-students that have come out in favor of Texas Tech University."

Dr. Jack Collins, assistant history professor and another committee member answered a statement by State Senator H. J. "Doc" Blanchard two weeks ago that Tech would never get the name Texas State University because that particular name went to the land grant college and Tech was not a land grant college.

He said of 69 land grant colleges in the United States, 17 were "state universities," while 55 were not so designated.

He also said three universities that were not land grant colleges were "state universities" in their particular states.

In discussing the windshield stickers, committee members said a design incorporating the Double T and the name Texas State University could be designed, perhaps along the order of a group of stickers printed last year, but never widely distributed.

The group's next meeting will be Nov. 3 and the committee hopes to have the stickers ready for distribution by that date.

"We hope by election day, people will begin removing political stickers and begin putting on the TSU stickers," said Burtis.

Distinguished British Poet Will Lecture Here Oct. 28

British poet Stephen Spender will appear here next week as visiting lecturer.

Spender, renowned literary critic and editor as well as major poet, offers three lecture topics. His discussion of the decade of the 1930's deals with the poetry of W. H. Auden, politics of anti-Fascism, Communism and the Spanish Civil War.

His lecture dealing with modern aspects of modern art explores comparisons between Shaw, Wells, Lewis and Dreiser as contemporary writers and Faulkner, Joyce and Eliot as modern writers.

His third lecture topic is an interpretive discussion of the younger English playwrights and poets, including John Arden, Osborne and other writers conspicuous in the New English theatre.

Spender frequently has visited the U.S. as a guest lecturer. Since 1963, he has been visiting lecturer in a course in modern poetry at Northwestern University.

He has been the close friend of writers W. H. Auden and Cecil Day Lewis since his college days at Oxford. The three men adopted strongly anti-Fascist attitudes in the 1930's, and their names and

Sex Talk Is More Than Bird Or Bees

(ACP)—“Sex education does not consist of a single birds-and-bees talk,” the Rev. Francis L. Filas, chairman of the Loyola University Theology Department, said in a speech before students at the University of Kansas, Lawrence.

“If the children are old enough to ask a question, they are old enough to get a suitable answer,” he said. “Refined, technical language should be used as soon as the first baby talk references can be out-grown.”

The clergyman, who has addressed more than 175,000 people on the topic of sex education, commented on criticisms he has received for his frankness on the subject. “So much ridicule of the body and of sex has already been spread through public channels,” he said. “Should we not use the same media to counteract what we consider poison?”

He added: “The essentials of sex should be imparted before puberty—birth, different temperaments, the ways in which the husband and wife help each other in family life.

“This physical information, of course, is always to be presented against the background of God’s love for and plan for us.

“The reverence for the body that is part of all true sex education should be strengthened by the knowledge that true love should exist between the husband and wife who symbolize their love by means of sex.

“Love means the forgetting of oneself for the sake of the beloved, whoever that person may be. True love is therefore independent of sex, and superior to it.”

Inside The Teenagers

(ACP)—A team of human nutrition specialists at the University of Connecticut, Storrs, has set out to discover how effectively teenagers utilize the proteins they take in as food.

Connecticut Daily Campus says the three-year study will attempt to establish a more scientific basis for estimating the protein requirements of adolescents. There will be three groups, with one receiving foods overrich in protein, one receiving foods inadequate in protein and one receiving just the right amount.

The Trimester Plan

(ACP)—Nearly 80 per cent of a large sampling of students at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, reacted positively to the proposed accelerated university program expected to go into operation in the fall of 1965.

In all, 5,000 students were questioned, with more than 3,300 selected for information on attitudes regarding the proposed trimester or split-third-term plan.

Under the trimester plan, the first term would run roughly from mid-September until Christmas vacation, the second term from early January into April, the first half of the “split” term from April until early in June and the second half from June through August.

Sixty-four per cent of the students selected indicated a desire to attend at least 2½ terms a year under the accelerated program. Nine of ten students said they would attend the spring half of the split term and 17 per cent said they would expect to attend the summer term, too.

Of those who would not attend a fourth term, 22 per cent indicated the lack of money would be the primary reason. Nearly one of every three students polled said they work all year while going to school, and 46 per cent earn as much as half of the money needed for school.

Voice Of The People

Nolan Cites ADA Policy Positions

Dear Editor,

Lyndon Johnson, in 1955, spoke of the ADA as one “of the other extreme groups.”

During 15 years in the Senate, Humphrey has voted the ADA position on 191 occasions and against it only three.

The ADA has urged a hands off policy toward Cuba, and it has urged a change in the American treaty rights to the Guantanamo naval base.

The ADA urges that the U.S. recognize Red China and support its admission to the United Nations.

ADA wants to continue “massive” foreign aid to other countries, including communist countries, without regard to the use of our money to support government ownership, socialism or communism.

ADA demands an end to restrictions on passports, the elimination of loyalty oaths and the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the repeal of the Internal Security Act and the Communist Control Act, and the abolition of the Attorney-General’s list of subversive organizations.

That is what you want in the White House as the vice president?

Stop Haggling, Horn Requests

Dear Editor,

The whole business of who would do what at whose rally is becoming rather childish.

The haggling in this column seems to be de-generating into pots calling kettles black. The “Sign Incident” and others like it, such as wearing Goldwater buttons at a Democratic rally, are bound to happen as long as there are those types of people in our society. This particular incident cannot be attributed to either party as a whole, the sign itself or the manner in which it was removed. It is, rather, merely the expression of single individuals.

Guilt lies on both sides as does innocence. The incident was unfortunate all the way around. Let’s leave it at that.

Sincerely,
RONALD HORN

Traffic Problems Are Pointed Out

Dear Editor,

An Open Letter to the Students and Faculty at Texas Tech:

The present traffic situation at Texas Tech is a problem, the solution of which must necessarily be the concern of everyone on campus. It should be obvious to any interested person if the present situation exists, someone is going to be seriously injured.

Also, unless an active effort is made to alleviate this situation, the ultimate solution to this problem will be that all cars will be restricted from the campus proper. I believe no one would like to see this happen. This is a plea to drivers and pedestrians alike to observe the rights of others. Obviously, this has not been done.

The traffic pattern on campus leaves a lot to be desired, but this cannot easily or economically be altered, but congestion can be lessened to a great extent if pedestrians would observe the proper manner for crossing streets.

The proper manner is being at the prescribed pedestrian crossings when the light is in their favor, and if motorists would wait until they have the green light.

I can promise you as one fellow Techsan to another that if these two considerations are not taken, the aforementioned end-solution will certainly occur. This is a problem you and I individually and

Birdsong Urges Proper Parking

Dear Editor,

The banning of freshmen’s cars from the Tech campus may answer next year’s parking problem. Our current parking problem is more a lack of discipline and courtesy.

Parking lots adjacent to the new men’s dorms cannot be striped until the gravel surface settles. For lack of strips, discipline and courtesy, many parking spaces are wasted by improper parking.

Granted, we are short on parking spaces. Since the problem will last all year, would it not be better to park “straight-in,” giving consideration to others, so that the size of our problem might be lessened?

Sincerely,
JIM BIRDSONG

Dad’s Day Is Top Event

MEMBERS OF THE Texas Tech Dad’s Day Assn. will celebrate the organization’s eighth anniversary Saturday.

At the SMU-Tech game, the youngest and oldest dad present and the one who traveled the farthest distance to attend will receive plaques and recognition.

Dad’s Day was established in 1957 to recognize the efforts fathers make to send their children to college and to organize support for Texas Tech.

The Dad’s Assn. gives four scholarships each year to Tech students.

The Assn. of Women Students has the responsibility each year to organize and plan the Dad’s Day program. This year they are doing a very good job.

Every student should support the program and invite his father to participate in the activities.

If They Only Knew...

IN CONTRAST TO the kings of Europe, whose power if not status, has declined in recent history, the presidency of the United States has been increasing in importance since its inception. And it has had a long way to go.

In 1787, at the Constitutional Convention, the hottest question of the day was not who should be president, but whether there should be a president at all. Consensus finally held for the presidency, because all were convinced that George Washington would do a good job.

If the Founding Fathers could see what tremendous responsibility the office now carries, they would be amazed at what they started.

Letters To The Editor Going Via The Wrong Way

Some letters sent to The Daily Toreador are going via the wrong way.

That is, a large number of letters mailed to us on campus without postage and marked as campus mail are going through the Lubbock Post Office instead of the campus mail system.

This causes the letters to have postage due by the time they reach us.

We inquired into this and discovered that many of our readers are not depositing their letters in the campus mail box located in the Ad Bldg., room 172.

We are told that if campus mail is placed in dormitory mail boxes it goes through the U.S. postal system.

Because we are limited in funds and because we know our readers are eager to express their views and do not want their letters delayed, we ask all students and faculty members to use the campus mail box in the Ad Bldg. to mail letters to us.

Persons desiring to get a letter to us as quickly as possible may also deposit letters in our mail box located on the main floor hall of the Journalism Bldg.

If these things are done, then the mail can reach us faster and without postage due.

Thanks.

Pre-Med Day tentatively plans "Pursuit of a Medical Education" as its topic this year when it will again be sponsored by Alpha Epsilon Delta, Tech's national pre-medical honorary society.

The program, scheduled for March 13, will entertain approximately 100 high school pre-med clubs in this area. Visiting students will meet doctors and students from Baylor, Southwestern, and Galveston medical schools. Alumni are invited to the banquet that night.

During the year, Alpha Epsilon Delta plans field trips to places of medical interest. Hospitals, research labs, and doctors' practices when possible. They are doing this in conjunction with their program for expansion of interest and influence.

Outstanding speakers this year include heads of the national Alpha Epsilon Delta fraternity, Dr. Witt from Colorado and Dr. Moore from New York.

Pre-med students with 45 hours or more and a 3.0 grade point average are eligible for membership.

Your life at Du Pont | one of a series for technical graduates

Would you make a good catalyst?

With us, creative technical employees are natural catalysts. They cause reactions. Good ones.

For example, they helped us double our sales to $2.4 billion in the past 12 years. In the past 28 years alone, their research efforts helped us develop new products that created 40,000 new career positions. At this writing they're ironing the wrinkles out of 200 completely new products, with more on the way.

Technical men and women are happy at Du Pont, too. They get a chance to move around—to actually change jobs without changing companies and without losing their accrued benefits. Their future bursts with promise, because they know we fill important positions from within.

Would you make a good catalyst at Du Pont? Learn all the facts by letting us send you more information. Write us a letter now (or clip and mail our coupon).

Honor System Termed, 'Bombshell', 'Dirty Trick'

(ACP) — Someone is playing a dirty trick on us, says The Scholastic, Notre Dame, Ind.

This honor system isn't the happily-ever-after it looks like — it's more of a bombshell. The funny part of this trick is in the way the system forces one to lay his character right on the table for inspection. There is no way out of showing everyone what Notre Dame students are like.

Really, the situation is more than a little frightening. You see, you aren't supposed to cheat, not even when you're flunking a course or when you need good grades. It even seems that the more idealistic parts of Goldwaterism are being tried via the new honor system. Total initiative for the individual is allowed by the program, possibly with the purpose of emphasizing the virtues of pre-Fall man.

It seems to be necessary for the success of the honor system that everyone follow it, but we find it a little disconcerting that the number voting to accept the load was far from unanimous. But there is something for everyone, and the untrusting "realists" are told that, in case of emergency, they are merely to "squeal" on their plagued buddy or on the friendly football player next to them.

Yet we have come this far and, like other decisions, this one can't be reversed. The burden has been accepted and the only thing to do is to perform the task wholeheartedly. The only obvious alternative is to get out of Notre Dame.

But the wholehearted acceptance necessary for success will have the administration displaying a patience they have thus far kept hidden in condemned parts of the Main building, and we will have to see the Notre Dame student use a courage he does not know he has.

We have to go at this thing with what will probably be a somewhat panicky zeal. The success of the program will be difficult to achieve and will require the approach of a zealot. But the cost of failure would be so great that the situation should almost automatically produce some small mental panic.

This honor system could be destroyed by only a few clumsy fools, students caught in organized cheating. And would our critics ever enjoy that! Notre Dame would never hear the end of talk about the simple failure of the system. It would not be looked at as the success of a normal, opportunistic human nature but would be spotlighted and underlined as a typical example of 'Notre Dame's lack of Christian spirit.

So even though it is a dirty trick, the system must work. And it will require more than the momentary effort of a Saturday football game. Our characters are to be on display for the whole of the time that we are here. The administration wants to see the results of our training, what we are really like, and so we will show them.

Catholics Debate Modern Problems

VATICAN CITY (P)—The Roman Catholic Church, through its Ecumenical Council, came to grips Tuesday with man's everyday problems in the modern world—from birth control and labor disputes to racial struggles and nuclear war.

The long-awaited document—an outline titled "The Church in the Modern World"—was presented to the 2,500 council fathers in St. Peter's. It is expected to draw the most fierce and extended debate of any topic before the two-year-old assembly.

Even before the council began discussion of specific issues, the lines of expected conservative-progressive conflicts were indicated.

Revision Demanded

Italian Cardinal Ernest Ruffini launched an attack on the wording and emphasis in the document. He demanded a complete revision.

Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, however, declared the outline "gives rise to a new impulse, a new dialogue, a real guiding light to our thoughts and hopes."

"Don't weaken the text," he continued. "We want to listen and to be listened to. We want to help the whole of humanity to face up to its problem."

Albert Gregory Cardinal Meyer of Chicago, while supporting discussion of modern day problems, said the plan gave "the impression the Church fears contagion from the world. We must rid the plan of this."

Never in history has a Catholic general council taken on the complex task of seeking solutions for man's day-to-day world problems.

Council Appeal

Prelates speaking in support of the document appealed to the council to give it the fullest possible discussion.

Bishop J. Wright of Pittsburgh, Pa., one of the prelates who helped draw up the plan, told reporters: "We hope the document will be long and fiercely debated."

Three Raiders Hold SWC Rushing Slots

Texas Tech holds one distinction no other Southwest Conference school can claim. Donny Anderson, Johnny Agan and Jim Zanios are all among the top nine in SWC rushing yardage as of the games concluded Saturday.

Anderson remains the conference leader with 476 yards and an average of 5.0, while Agan places fifth at 257 yards and an average of 4.5, followed closely by fullback Jim Zanios with 247 yards and a 4.8 average.

Tom Wilson, Raider quarterback, with 313 yards, is pitching passes at an average completion rate of 48.2 for a firm hold on fifth place. But the leader in the passing category, Baylor's Terry Southall, has netted 660 yards through the air. Southall also leads the conference in total offense with 670 yards.

Tech's swift-footed safety Teddy Roberts leads the league in interceptions with 5 for 62 yards, and places fourth in punt returns with 94 yards, behind Ken Hatfield of Arkansas who has a big lead with 242 yards in ten returns.

Tech's next foe, SMU, supports the top punter in the league with Danny Thomas doing the chores at a 44.2 yard average.

Texas University's Ernie Koy leads the loop in scoring with seven touchdowns for a total of 42 points.

In the pass receiving category Sonny Campbell of TCU leads with 21 catches for 290 yards. The leader in yards gained on pass receptions is Baylor's Lawrence Elkins with a total 413 yards.

On the team statistics ledger, Baylor leads the total offense with an average of 308.5 followed by the Texas Longhorns with an average of 288.2. The University of Texas leads in defensive averages with a stingy 168.0 yards allowed their foes.

Arkansas is now atop the Southwest Conference with a 5-0 season mark and a 3-0 conference record. Texas Tech is now 2-2 in league action and is situated in a tie for third place with Baylor and Texas, who ring in at 1-1.

This week's conference action sees Texas A&M at Baylor; Wichita at Arkansas; Texas at Rice; SMU at Texas Tech and Clemson at TCU.

Doug Young Injured, Disabled For Season

Doug Young, defensive starter for Tech, underwent knee surgery Tuesday, and will be unable to assist the Raiders for the remainder of the season.

Young, a 185-pound All-America from Brownwood, was injured Saturday night in Tech's 28-10 loss to Baylor.

DOUG YOUNG

Raider coach J T King commented, "This certainly leaves a hole in our defense. Doug is one of the quickest and most competitive players I've ever coached, and he would have been especially valuable in the games coming up."

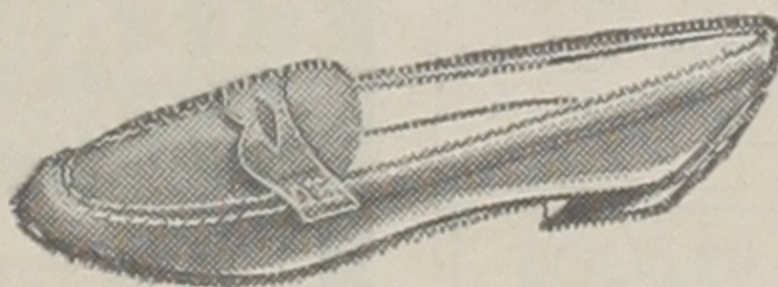

Young will be replaced in the lineup by Marc Bryant, 5-11, 215-pounder from Waco.

Also on the injured list and doubtful starters for this week's game are defensive ends Sam Cornelius of Spearman and Joe Hurley from Midland. Both were injured in the TCU game but were able to play Saturday. Cornelius is suffering from a bruised hip and Hurley has a bruised shoulder. Should they both be held out of the SMU game, they will be replaced by Tommy Doyle and Terry McWhorter.

Herbert Hoover Revered As Great U. S. Statesman

NEW YORK (AP) — Herbert Hoover, son of a small-town blacksmith, first gained public acclaim as organizer of mass relief for starving Europe during World War I and entered politics as secretary of commerce under Republican Presidents Warren G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge.

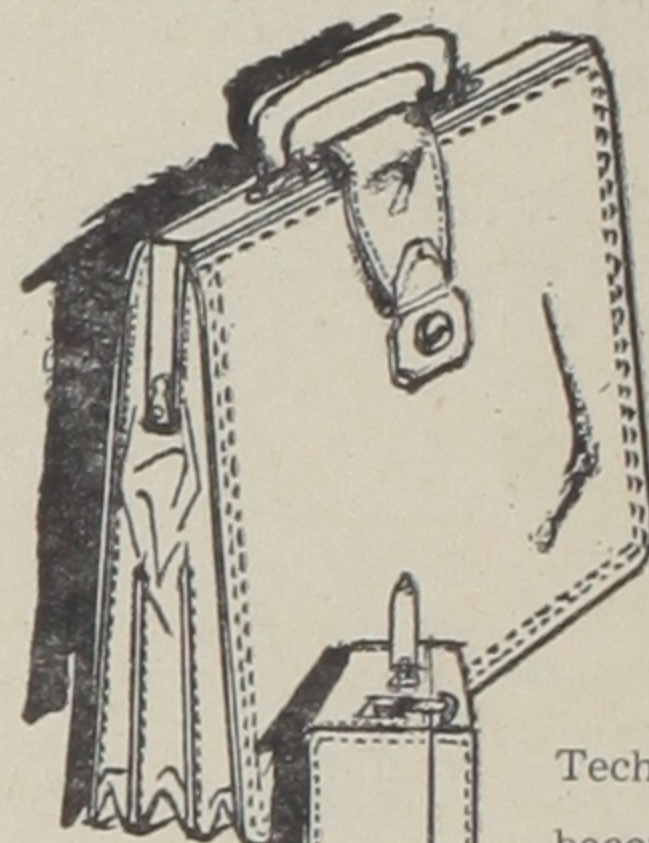

Seven months after his inauguration, Hoover watched the nation plunge into the great depression. His critics blamed him for the catastrophe and called him a "do-nothing" president.

In the ensuing 32 years of his life, Hoover willingly fulfilled any obligation requested of him from the White House, serving one president after another with fidelity, regardless of party politics.

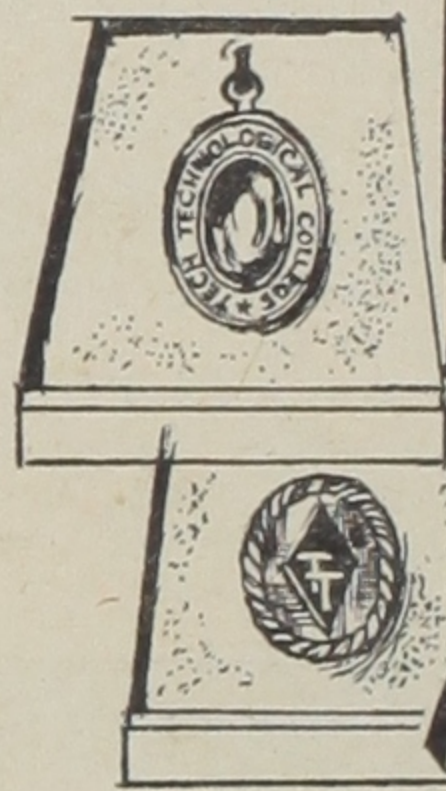

Thus, year upon year, Hoover regained the affection of the nation. Long before his death, Tuesday, a new generation of Americans looked upon him as an elder statesman, and even his bitterest enemies conceded his renewed stature.
