Goldwater Arrives . . .

Proceeds Into Lubbock . . .

Makes Speech At Coliseum . . .

Before Enthusiastic Crowd . . .

By BRONSON HAVARD
Editor

Charging President Lyndon B. Johnson with being a "radical liberal" and with refusal to debate the issues, Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater addressed more than 11,000 persons here Thursday.

Goldwater lashed out at Johnson's position on medicare, Viet Nam and national defense.

"... my opponent still refuses to come to grips with the real major issues of this campaign. Not only does he refuse to debate them, he refuses even to discuss them," Goldwater charged.

He added, "How will he justify his war against Congress, his war against the state, his war against individual responsibility?"

Asks About Humphrey

"How will he explain a running mate whose political roots are deep in socialist-radicalism?"

"Will he candidly admit that our course is toward socialism—or if he rejects socialism, will he tell how he will oppose it and its spokesmen?"

"... my opponent's plan for medicare under social security would seriously cripple the system and—as it has in France—bring the system to bankruptcy."

Goldwater then added, "My opponent charged that under a Republican administration farm supports would be suddenly ended. He knows that this is false."

'Dodging Truth'

"He knows that he is dodging both the truth and the issue. The truth is that Republicans are pledged to return farmers to a free market but that they are also pledged to do it without working any hardships on farmers who must now, mainly because of past government failures, depend on support payments."

Speaking of a recent television appearance by Johnson, Goldwater commented "... he ran through a virtual shopping list of disproved charges, fear-images and fantastic interpretations of history."

Defense Spending

"He took credit for all that is good in the world. Then, by innuendo, and, without any honest regard for the facts of the world as they are today, he blamed all who oppose him for everything that possibly could be bad."

"He does not seek to enlighten, but only to frighten," Goldwater added.

Goldwater implied that President Johnson may be seeking the admission of Red China to the United Nations.

'Blames Opponents'

In other charges, Goldwater asked, "Does he (Johnson) want to cut defense spending because he wants to appease Nikita Khrushchev?"

Goldwater said the Democratic Party was abandoning the principles of Jefferson, Jackson and Wilson.

He invited the Democrats who were disillusioned to join the Republican cause.

Introduced By Bush

Republican senatorial candidate George Bush introduced Goldwater after giving a political speech of his own in which he charged Gov. John Connally with planning to raise taxes and having an unsound budget.

Several thousand Techsians were on hand for Goldwater's thirty-minute speech in the Coliseum which had an air of a political convention.

Several Thousand Present

Bill Dennis, president of the Texas Tech Young Republicans, was among the two dozen Republican Party leaders and candidates occupying a seat on the speaker platform.

The Tech Young Republicans gave round after round of applause to Sen. Goldwater's charges of Johnson flirtation with socialism.

Slight Disturbance

Prior to Goldwater's appearance

on the podium, several students seated in the northwest section of the coliseum raised a six-foot banner with the words 'In your mind you know he's wrong.'

Two men who saw the banner from the podium area went into the section and destroyed it, chasing the students from the section in the process.

LBJ Says Issues Becoming Known

WITH JOHNSON IN THE MIDWEST (AP) — President Johnson staged a get-out-the-vote drive across Indiana and Ohio Thursday that pictured Republican rival Barry Goldwater as a sort of phantom candidate who wants to go backward instead of forward.

"I'm not sure," Johnson said, "whether there is a real Republican candidate to vote for this time."

The President pounded the campaign circuit in states Goldwater considers vital, from Chicago to Gary, East Chicago and Indianapolis in Indiana, and on to Cleveland before heading for Louisville to spend the night.

Summing things up a bit differently in the text of his Cleveland speech, Johnson said the campaign issues are emerging clearly now.

"The issue of our foreign affairs, of war and peace, is one issue—and it has to be bluntly stated—of responsibility versus irresponsibility."

"The issue of our domestic affairs is whether the whole course of American development up to this time is right or is wrong."

"The argument to go back—to repeat the present and to veto the future—has been spelled out plainly by the opposition."

He courted steelworkers in the racial melting pot area of northwestern Indiana which segregationist Gov. George A. Wallace of Alabama carried in the Indiana May primary.

He promised there to do something about the immigration laws, to abolish what he called "those discriminatory quotas" gradually and raise the limit by 9,000 or one-eighth of one per cent of the work force. It was at Indianapolis that Johnson questioned whether there is a real GOP candidate this year.

This was in a state that hasn't gone Democratic since the Roosevelt sweep in 1936. Johnson said the choice then was between the past and the future and it is much the same today—with one great difference.

"We looked to the future in 1936 from what was still a deep valley of depression. We look to the future today from the hilltop of confidence."

Johnson, who stands by all his prepared texts, eliminated this part in order to save time when he was delivering the talk.

Smith Will Address Tech Profs Today

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith will address the Tech chapter of the Texas Assn. of College Teachers (TACT) today at 4 p.m. in the Tech Union Ballroom.

His talk, "Prospects for a Higher Education in Texas, 1965," is open to the Tech faculty and administrators. He will discuss financial prospects for higher education, as well as the report of the governor's committee on education beyond the high school level.

Smith received his bachelor's degree in business from Tech in 1934 and is running unopposed for re-election as Texas' lieutenant governor.

State Sen. H. J. Blanchard, State Reps. Reed Quillam and Bill Parsley, and Rep.-Elect Delwin Jones will be introduced at the meeting.

According to Dr. Kenneth Davis, Tech's TACT president, this meeting will unofficially begin the fall TACT membership drive.

Tech AAUP Is Officially Against 'Texas Tech U.'

Tech's chapter of the American Assn. of University Professors unanimously passed a resolution declaring the organization "unalterably opposed to the name Texas Tech University and favoring Texas State University or any other appropriate and dignified name for Tech," at a meeting of 60 members Wednesday.

The action followed Tuesday's meeting of the Joint Name-Change Committee at which ways and means were discussed to thwart efforts by Tech's Board of Directors to change the name to Texas Tech University.

Dr. Hugh Pendexter III, president of the AAUP, said the resolution was the result of the first in a series of polls to be conducted among campus groups by the Name-Change Committee in an effort to show the amount of opposition to the Board of Directors' name choice.

For School Trip...

Ticket Sales End, 30 Passes Remain

Ticket sales for the school trip Saturday on the TCU band practice field.

Mrs. Mildred Wright, director of ticket sales said Thursday that out of 3100 tickets on sale for the Tech vs. TCU game, only 30 were left.

Mrs. Wright said that the tickets cost $1 for Tech students with ID cards, which must be presented at the gate for admission.

There will be no reception held at TCU, but the Tech cheerleaders will lead a pep rally at 6:15 PM

This is the official school trip, although Dr. W. M. Pearce, academic vice-president, has reported that no classes will be dismissed and that the student council will not provide transportation because of lack of student interest in the past.

The trip, originally scheduled for Houston, was changed when it was discovered that train fares had been raised.

dock, Sandy Hill, Lynn Steigerwald, Patty Lynn Saunders; standing, Carolyn Case, Sherry Barton, Kathy Currin, Carol McCormack, Carol Shanklin, Molly Shipp, Martha Eason, Barb Stewart, and Jackie Pope.

GIFTING SOMEONE? Then find your choice selection here. Butterfield 8 Cologne, Sheffield Clocks, Sealing Wax, Tensor Lamps, Cigarette Cases, Billfolds, Pewter Drinking Mugs. Such ideas! For very little money!

Lost And Found Sale Boosts APO Fund

By DAVID SNYDER
Staff Writer

The item: a Post slide rule. "How much do you want for this slide rule?"

"Oh, about fifty cents." "Is that all? I'll take it!"

And so it went Thursday in the Coronado Room of the Tech Union, where Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity, had its annual "lost and found" sale.

APO's lost and found department is far from a one-day, once-a-year affair, however. It is but one of the fraternity's year-long projects contributing to the betterment of Tech.

Alpha Phi Omega maintains its lost-and-found service Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to noon and 1-3 p.m. in room 204 of the Tech Union.

Items in this year's sale ranged from oil field hard-hats to completed English themes and assorted class notes. Also included were gloves, locks, clothing, sunglasses and a multitude of other miscellaneous items.

And then there were the "different" items which are found every year. For instance, a fringed "flapper" from the 'roaring 20's' was sold by the fraternity Thursday morning. Profits from the sale, which average about $40 a year, are used to finance a scholarship. Preference is given to handicapped persons.

The lost-and-found service, under the direction of Art Schaerdel and Don Parks, functions through the Tech Maintenance Department.

Daily, custodians gather all articles which are left in academic buildings, and they are picked up by Alpha Phi Omega each Thursday. Each item is catalogued by the fraternity so that it can be easily located. Last year, about 1000 lost items were listed by APO.

The fraternity tries to locate owners if their names are on lost articles.

'Twilight Music Hour' Opens Season Sunday

"Twilight Music Hour" begins its 1964-65 season Sunday. "Musicorama in the Folk Idiom" will be presented at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in the West Texas Museum Auditorium. The program will feature local and foreign students in the area.

The program is co-sponsored by the West Texas Museum, the Allegro, Lubbock Music Clubs, and South Plains Music Teachers Assn.

A program will be sponsored every second Sunday of the month until April 11.

LUBBOCK MUNICIPAL COLISEUM — ON THE TECH CAMPUS

Sunday Morning Subject: God's Way For Christian Worship

Your Opportunity to Worship with Thousands of Lubbock Citizens and College Students

THE DAILY TOREADOR—An all-student newspaper edited by students for 40 years.

Editorial Page

A Deplorable Incident..

A DEPLORABLE INCIDENT occurred at the rally for Sen. Barry Goldwater Thursday in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

Three or more students brought into the Republican rally an anti-Goldwater banner and displayed it prominently from the coliseum section near the speaker's platform.

The six-foot banner read "In your mind you know he is wrong."

According to the results of our investigation we have learned that at first a Lubbock policeman asked the students to remove the banner.

One of the students is reported to have asked the policeman if he was giving an official order. The policeman replied that he was not.

Then a member of the Goldwater honor guard told the students they would have to remove the banner. A nearby person shouted to the students, "Your kind can't sit up here."

Then the member of the honor guard and another man charged up to where the students were seated, grabbed the banner, destroyed it and then chased the students from the section.

The three students holding the banner made no effort to prevent it from being destroyed.

The Daily Toreador would normally not comment on minor incidents at political rallies, but this case is an example of an all too common occurrence in politics today that we strongly oppose.

First we would like to say we believe that the students who brought the banner into the rally used poor judgement and otherwise acted immaturity.

However, they were breaking no law.

What shocked us and many others was the goon-squad tactics used by the middle-aged men who destroyed the banner.

We believe the two brave men who were able to squelch all opposition broke a very fundamental law of freedom—the right of anyone to express his views in a peaceful manner.

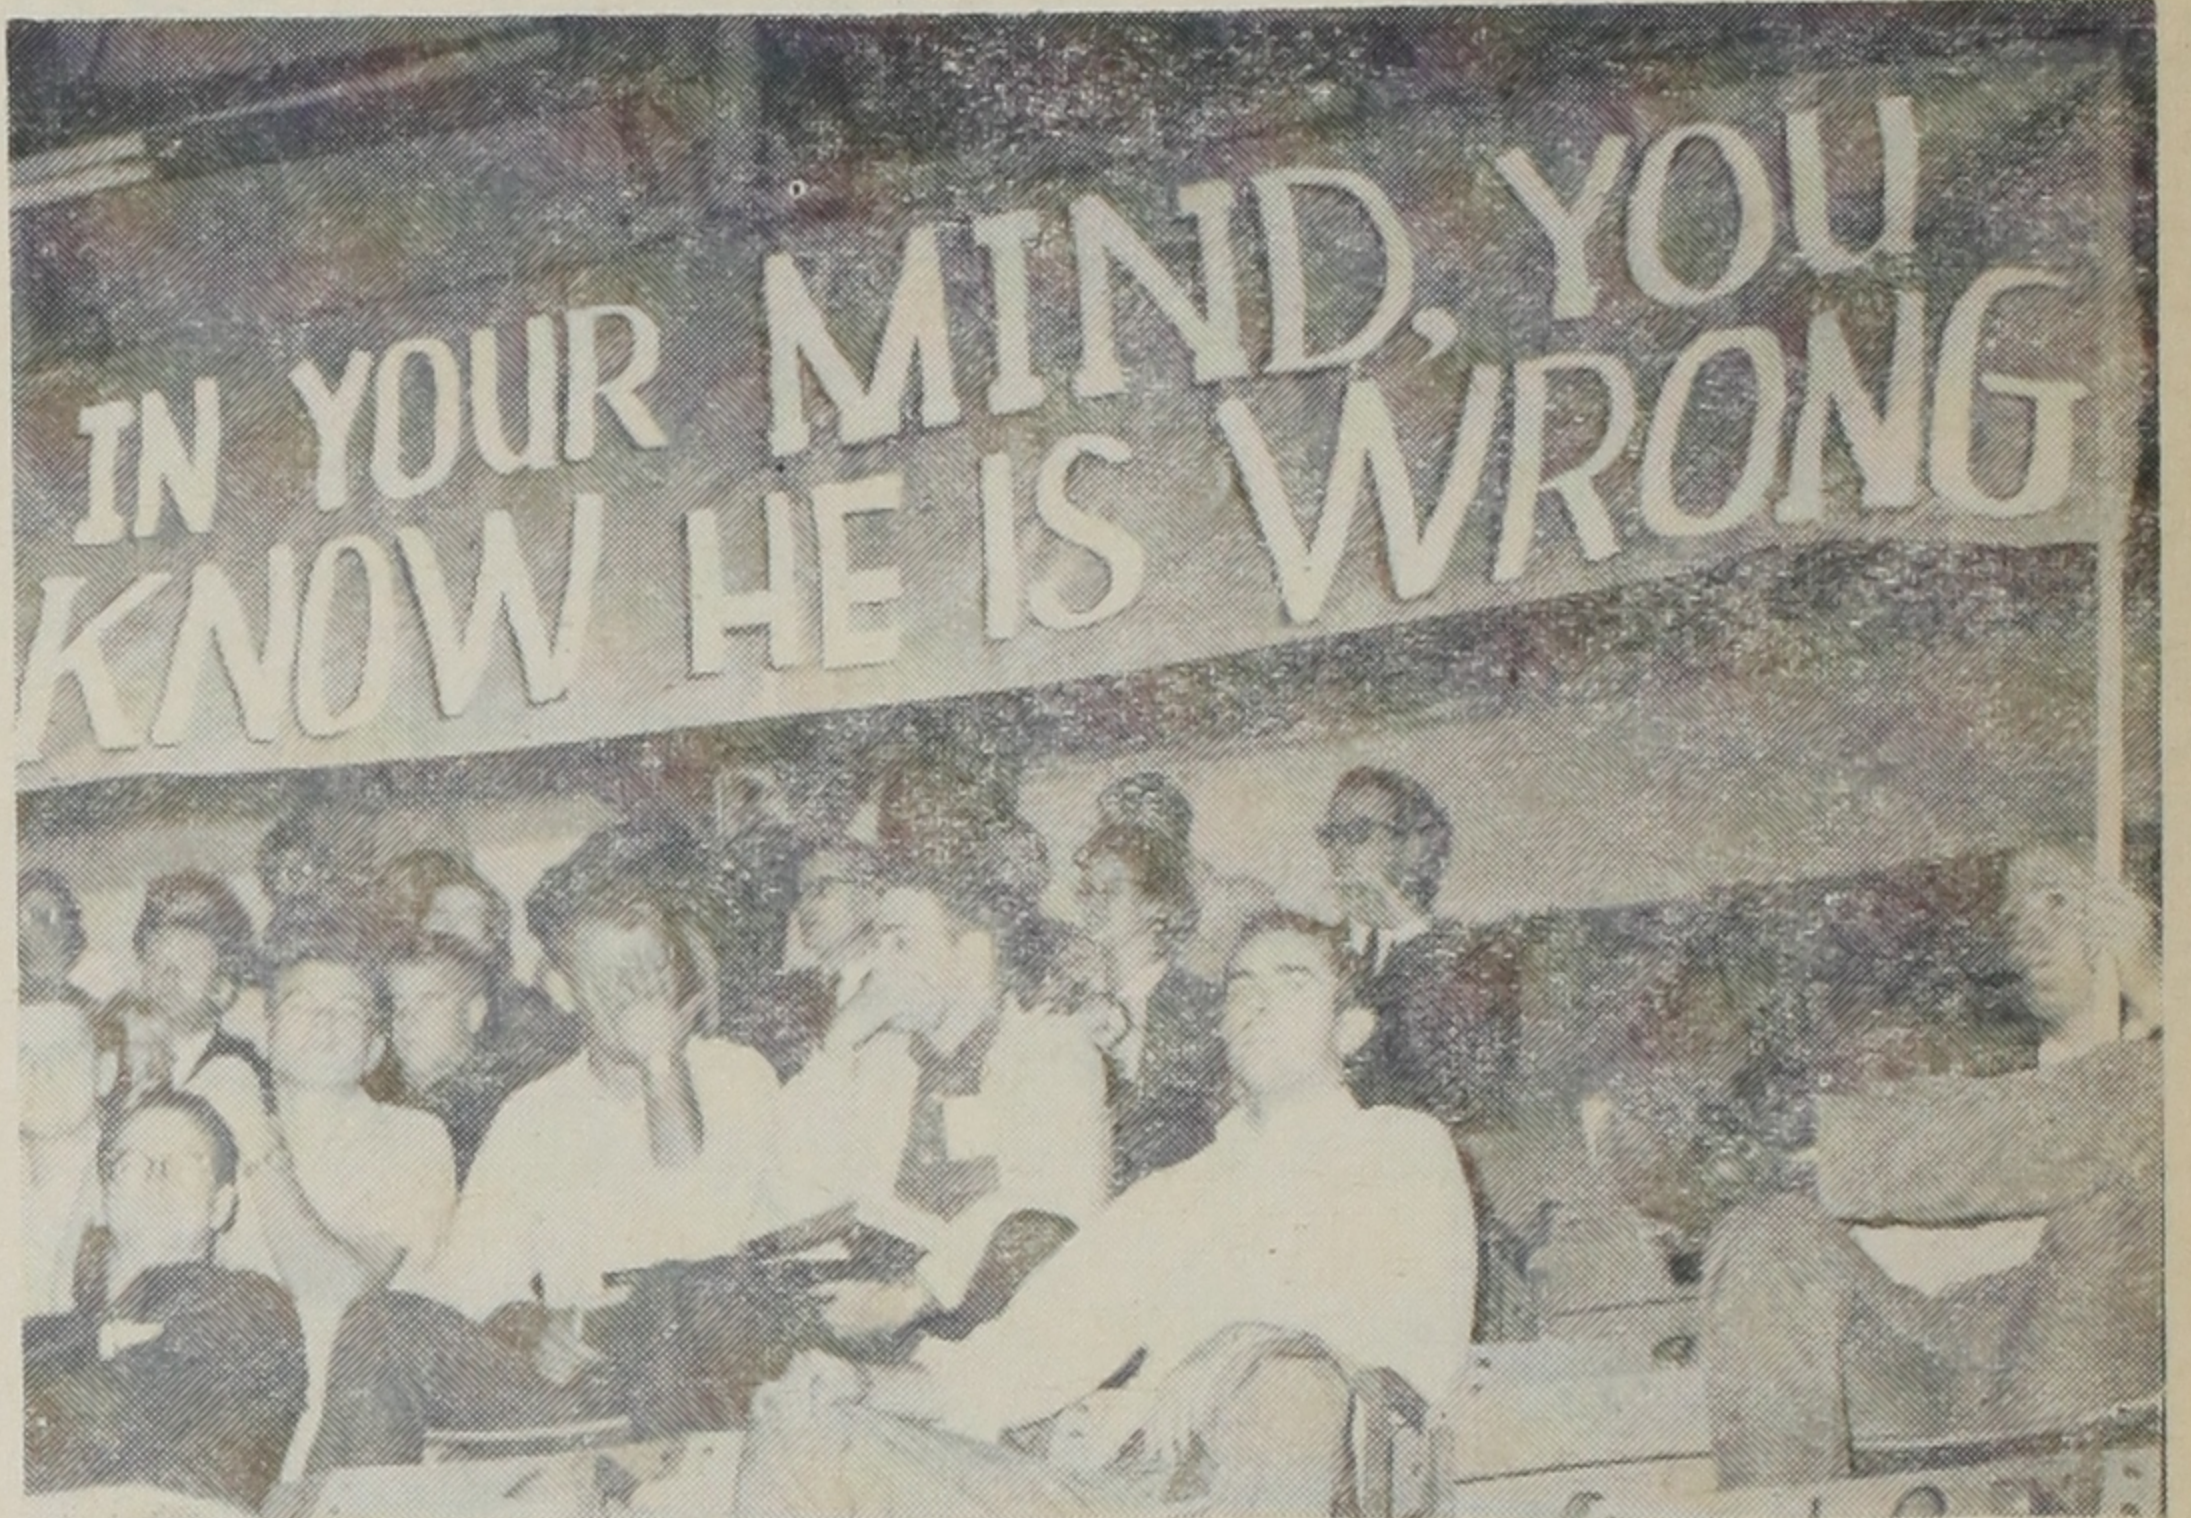

This law protects the individual even when he uses poor judgement or when and where he should express himself.

Too often we have seen this right infringed upon by men who profess to believe in libertarian principles but who do not understand them at all.

It is a shame that these two men should mar Sen. Goldwater's visit. We know that Sen. Goldwater and all other persons who believe in the basic freedoms join with us in denouncing the neo-Nazi tactics of the two men.

We must guard against persons who are willing to destroy freedom while pretending to defend it.

ANTI-GOLDWATER BANNER — Several students brought this banner into the Republican rally for Sen. Barry Goldwater in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum Thursday. The banner was destroyed in a controversial incident. See editorial on this page.

Denison Deplores Rally Incident

Editor:

Although Senator Barry Goldwater made an admirable showing Thursday morning, I am afraid the same can not be said for some of his supporters.

In my opinion, it is a deplorable situation when two American citizens can not sit peaceably in an inconspicuous place in the Coliseum with a sign reading, "IN YOUR MIND YOU KNOW HE'S WRONG", without fear of someone tearing the sign from their hands. This is exactly what was done.

However, the two men avoided any trouble by remaining seated and apparently unangered when the middle-aged vandal destroyed their sign to the applause of thousands of Goldwater's "preserve our God-given rights" fans (How about the First Amendment?).

Sincerely
Russell Denison

Light Installations Beautify, Protect

This year 75 new light installations will be placed on campus to beautify the grounds at night and to insure protection of coeds.

Nine of these installations are being promptly installed on the south end of the campus around the library and the Tech Union, and according to Richard C. Carmon, technician, most of them should be in service by this weekend with the remaining nine installed by the middle of the week.

Last summer, the campus planning committee approved the operation, and the Tech maintenance crew has agreed to install them to save the school some money. Since the crew must work in its spare time to get the lights installed, Carmon was not at liberty to say when all 75 would be in. Carmon did say that the crew hoped to have most of the lights installed by the end of this semester.

Kappa Sigma

On May 16, 1953, The College Club, a social club at Texas Tech, was initiated as Epsilon Phi Chapter of Kappa Sigma Fraternity. The members joined many other young college men over the United States and Canada in a similar bond and for identical purposes as a group of five students at the University of Virginia did in 1869.

As at the University of Virginia initiation into Kappa Sigma at Tech in 1964 means acceptance as a brother in a union of brotherhood and common goals. It means more than friendship or social activities. Brotherhood is a word used for the undefinable bond between all Kappa Sigs.

Pledging a fraternity such as Kappa Sig means training in the traditions which bind us and the ideals that make men. It means pride and enjoyment in such activities as the Pajama Dance, the Luau, the Black and White, Senior Farewell, and the Big Brother-Little Brother Breakfast. Above all becoming a member of a fraternity means that wherever you travel in this country, it is possible to find a 'Brother' and strike up a close friendship.

Swimmers Begin Workouts

Approximately 40 men reported for the first workout of the year according to James McNally, Tech swimming coach. The swimmers will open their season on Dec. 3 with a varsity-freshman meet and then the following weekend they will begin intercollegiate competition with Eastern New Mexico University at Portales and the University of New Mexico at Albuquerque.

The Tech tankmen will be without the services of SWC diving champion, Jesse March, during the early part of the season. March is ineligible until the beginning of the spring semester due to grade difficulties.

McNally has planned a series of conditioning workouts before full-scale work begins to prepare the teams for competition. The teams have been divided into water polo teams and play each other every other day of the week. Also included are weight lifting and some isometric exercises.

Nine of the men on the varsity are up from the freshman team of a year ago and they join such lettermen as Phil Simpkins and Ron Grim, both from Houston.

Others who reported for varsity workouts include Norman Abbott, Bill Bailey, Tom Fuller, Fred Volcansek and Ron Williams; all from Dallas, Tom Cox and Tom Coward, Wichita Falls; Don Davis and Frank Shotwell, Lubbock; Glynn Day, Odessa.

Also included are Gere Gaige, Don Goodson and Gene Naukum of Midland, Robert Graham and David Johnson, Tyler; Kurt Lemon and David Van DeVen, Fort Worth, POWERFUL RUNNER — Leo Lowery, a 202-pound junior is ready for play to begin as the Red Raiders go after their second conference win when they face the TCU Horned Frogs in Fort Worth Saturday. The Lovington, N.M., product is a fullback.

Yanks Even Series, Slap Cards, 8-3

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — Rookie Mel Stottlemyre, a name Yogi Berra still has trouble spelling, confused the St. Louis Cardinals with seventh-hit pitching Thursday and the New York Yankees squared the World Series with an 8-3 victory in the second game.

The Yanks rolled out the heavy artillery and bombed Bob Gibson and two successors for 12 hits that included a homer by Phil Linz and four doubles.

Another standing room crowd of 30,805 huddled in the chill breezes and 58-degree temperature at Busch Stadium while the Yanks broke open a tight game with a four-run blast in the ninth.

Manager Johnny Keane paraded Barney Schultz, Gordon Richardson and finally Roger Craig to the hill as the score mounted.

Yanks Break Tie

Boos rattled through the stands in the sixth when the Yanks broke a 1-1 tie with the help of a controversial hit batsman call by plate umpire Bill McKinley.

Mickey Mantle had walked and Elston Howard had lined out when it happened. Joe Pepitone, half checking a swing at an inside pitch, was nicked on the left thigh.

Catcher Tim McCarver, pitcher Gibson, manager Keane and Dick Groat protested with fire, but to no avail. Tom Tresh then scored Mantle with the go-ahead run 2-1 amidst a chorus of boos.

Two more Yankee runs in the seventh and the bundle of four in the ninth left the home crowd in a sombre mood as they filed out.

The teams left for New York immediately after the game. Friday is an off day for travel.

Bouton Will Pitch

When they resume Saturday at Yankee Stadium it will be Jim Bouton, 18-13, a 25-year-old righthander, pitching for the Yanks and 35-year-old Curt Simmons 18-9, a lefty, working for the Cards.

They will play three in New York and then will come back to St. Louis for the rest of the best-of-seven series if more are needed.

Stottlemyre, recalled from the Richmond farm club of the International League Aug. 11, had the Cardinals hitting the ball into the dirt all through the cloudy afternoon.

The slim 22-year-old righthander from Mabton, Wash., banks on a sinker ball and he had tight control of the situation until he appeared to tire in the eighth and ninth.

Berra, the Yankee manager, came out to the mound twice, once to see if his pitcher had been hurt by a line smash off the bat of Lou Brock in the sixth. Yogi made one more trip in the ninth after a leadoff triple by Groat and a single by McCarver produced a run with nobody out.

Mike Shannon, the hero of Wednesday's Cardinal uprising, slashed into a fast double play and Stottlemyre struck out pinch batter Charley James to end it.

It was quite a performance for a young man who was pitching in the minors most of the season. In fact, Stottlemyre's 13-3 record in Richmond earned him the most valuable pitcher award in that league despite his month's absence. More than any other pitcher, the youngster was responsible for the late Yankee pennant surge with his 9-3 victory record.

Win Halts Slump

The victory halted a five-game series losing slump of the Yanks who hadn't won since they took the seventh game from the San Francisco Giants in 1962. They went out in four straight to Los Angeles last year and dropped the opener to the Cards 9-5.

Gibson, humming his fast ball with wild abandon, struck out eight men in the first four innings.

Cards Score First

The Cardinals scored first, pushing home a run in the third on singles by Shannon and Dal Maxwell and an infield out by Curt Flood.

New York tied it in the fourth on doubles by Elston Howard and Pepitone and a sacrifice fly by Cleve Boyer.

Then came the hit batsman inci-

Play Depicts Frontiers Of Heaven, Hell

By MARGARET EASTMAN
Asst. Fine Arts Editor

Director Vera Simpson will follow the tradition she set in last spring's production of "Electra" by presenting "Don Juan in Hell" as a concert reading.

Cast members of "Don Juan" will sit during the performance and use reader's stands. There will be no scenery; costumes will be formal evening wear to suit the characters they portray. For instance, the devil will wear a tuxedo with red tie and cummerbund.

"Don Juan in Hell" is the third act of the play "Man and Superman" by Bernard Shaw. Shaw uses the legend of Don Juan as a means to expound his own philosophies. He conceives Don Juan as a philosophical man rather than a lover, and presents the act as a dream.

The dream is set on the frontiers between heaven and hell. Each of the four characters in the act takes on a secondary character derived from an episode in the legend of Don Juan.

The legend says that Don Juan tried to seduce a young girl named Dona Ana. She screamed and her father came to her rescue. Don Juan was not a fencer, but the father slipped and Don Juan killed him. Later, Dona Ana married, had 12 children, and died at the age of 77.

In "Don Juan in Hell" Don Juan meets Dona Ana in Limbo. Her father is also there in the form of a statue, and the fourth character is the devil. The act is a debate about life and death, heaven and hell.

"Man and Superman" was Shaw's first complete statement of his philosophy. The third act, "Don Juan in Hell," is extraneous but appropriate to the plot. It contributes to his philosophy more than any of the other acts.

Shaw believes that woman is the pursuer and man the pursued. The characters in "Don Juan" are trying to make a decision between going to heaven or hell. Dona Ana doesn't care where she goes just as long as she can pursue Don Juan.

Don Juan has been in hell, but decides that he wants to go to heaven. He speaks of heaven, "My dear Ana, you are silly. Do you suppose heaven is like earth, where people persuade themselves that what is done can be undone by repentance; that what is spoken can be unspoken by withdrawing it; that what is true can be annihilated by a general agreement to give it the lie? No: heaven is the home of the masters of reality: that is why I am going thither."

Ana answers, "Thank you: I am going to heaven for happiness. I have had quite enough of reality on earth."

"Then you must stay here," says Don Juan, "for hell is the home of the unreal and of the seekers for happiness. It is the only refuge from heaven . . ."

Mrs. Simpson said cutting the play was the only real problem she had with the production. "The cast members objected strenuously to cutting and of Shaw's lines," she said. "They are all so well written, and each says so much."

"Don Juan in Hell" is three hours long. Mrs. Simpson cut the act to one and a half hours. "We had to cut because of the incredible length of the act," she said. "It's so difficult because the people involved in the production cannot bear to let go of one single word."

The cast includes Mike Niemczyk, English instructor, as Don Juan; Dr. Hugh Pendexter III., associate professor of English, as the statue; Bill Bingham, graduate student in psychology, as the devil; and Dorris Maxey, speech instructor, as Dona Ana.

The Tau cast of Alpha Psi Omega is sponsoring the production. Benefits from the reading will go towards furniture for the Ruth Pirtle Green Room of the University Theatre.

"Don Juan in Hell" will be presented Sunday at 3 p.m. in the University Theatre. Tickets may be purchased at the theatre box office at 50 cents for students and $1 for the public.
