Foes In Hand-To-Hand Combat In Suchow

SHANGHAI, May 19 (AP)—Flags of the Rising Sun were reported flying from government buildings tonight in Suchow as Japanese troops fought hand to hand with "dare to die" remnants of Chinese forces to complete occupation of the city.

Japanese military quarters, however, declined to say that the city, long regarded as the nerve center of Chinese central front resistance, had been captured.

Correspondents of Domei, Japanese news agency, reported from Suchow that it was "virtually captured."

Large sections of the city were in flames.

(At Hankow a Chinese military spokesman belittled the Japanese reports, asserting that the Hankow headquarters had been informed by telephone from Suchow that the city was still in Chinese hands.)

The Japanese reported a fierce engagement with Chinese forces near Tsaochow, 130 miles northwest of Suchow, in which 700 Chinese were killed. The survivors fled south toward the Lunghai railway, the strategic communications line which runs west through Suchow into Central China.

Japanese aviators said Suchow, viewed from the air, was a blob of smoke creased by jagged flames.

HIGHWAY BOOSTERS MAKE A STOP HERE

Headed by T. E. Colford of Ellice, Ariz., eight cars of Broadway of America boosters stopped here briefly Wednesday afternoon.

The U.S. highway No. 80 embanlars were half an hour ahead of schedule here and did not wait until the planned reception could materialize. An overnight stop was observed at Abilene before the trip to Roanoke, Va., at the national convention was resumed.

Although Big Spring did not have a car in the caravan, J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager, said that the association would be invited to hold its next meeting in this city.

Big Distributors Of Bogus Bills Are Nabbed

NEWARK, N. J., May 19 (AP)—Treasury agents announced today the arrest of three men in what Supervising Agent James J. Maloney of the New Jersey-Delaware district called "the most important roundup of counterfeiters by the secret service in the past 10 years."

Maloney said the trio, charged with possession and sale of $4,000 of counterfeit $10 notes Tuesday night, were "the outstanding distributors in the country" of spurious bills. He estimated $500,000 had been passed in recent months, and said between 250 and 300 sub-passers had been arrested throughout the country.

The three, held in the city jail for arraignment before United States Commissioner Joseph F. Holland, were named by Maloney as David Krakauer, 34, of Palisades, N. Y.; Charles Blum, 30, of the Bronx, N. Y., and Irving Nitzberg, 28, also of the Bronx.

Showers Brighten Farm Outlook As Planting Begins

Fall Varying From Light Showers To Two Inches Is Fairly General Over Howard County

The outlook had improved for Howard county farmers Thursday as they hurried to take advantage of brisk showers falling in this area Wednesday afternoon and night.

Rainfall was gauged at .84 of an inch at the U.S. Experiment Farm just north of Big Spring, but the amount varied from a light shower to more than two inches in other localities in the county.

Heaviest precipitation was reported in the southwest quarter of the county, until Wednesday the "dry spot." The downpours, reported at more than two inches in the territory surrounding Lomax and toward Elbow, was accompanied by a raking hail.

Big Spring experienced a peppering hail, some of the stones being comparatively large. They were nothing to compare, however, with the stones—some as large as baseballs—that fell south of the city. Considerable damage was done to roofs and car tops at farm places. Edward Lowe, living at Elbow, brought in a sack of hailstones gathered Wednesday evening. They were still as large as hen eggs Thursday morning.

Enough To Plant There were comparatively few areas in the county which reported insufficient moisture on which to plant following the rains. The territory just south of Coahoma was still hit by drouth and despite three-quarters of an inch of moisture at Vincent, some were doubtful that it was enough to insure a stand.

At Highway community north of Big Spring, the rain approximated three-fourths of an inch but slackened to an inch as a quarter two miles further north, then picked up again to reach an inch at Knott. Thus Knott, already in the best shape of any farming section of the county, had its prospects materially improved. Cotton crops in that section are generally up to a good stand.

The rain south and west of Big Spring continued into Glasscock county in amounts ranging from an inch and a half to two inches. It was enough to give the ranges needed relief until other normal spring rains come.

BRITAIN SILENT ON WAR DEBT POLICY

LONDON, May 19 (AP)—The government today refused to make a declaration of policy in Britain's war debts to the United States, remaining obtuse in the face of questions in the house of commons. "I have no statement to make at the present time," Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, replied stiffly when Robert Gibson, laborite, asked if he had anything to say about the debts.

(Britain's war debts to the United States on June 30, 1937, amounted to $4,368,000,000.) Herbert Morrison, laborite, asked sarcastically:

"Has the chancellor received any demand for payment from the demand made by the British to the Mexican government?" Simon refused to reply. But when asked by Sir William Davison, conservative, if Britain had not "granted to other powers remissions far in excess of the amount due the United States," the chancellor answered, "that's quite true."

'MERELY A POCKET'

LENOX, Mass., May 19 (AP)—Economist Roger Babson today called the present recession "merely a pocket in the general forward movement." He spoke at the northeastern district meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

Prospect Dim For Accord In Europe

France, Italy Can't Get Together On Friendship Pact

By The Associated Press Rain mired the Spanish civil war today, and the war in turn, with its ramifications, threatened to bog down efforts at appeasement among the great powers in Europe.

Ready for Defense France and Italy, on opposite sides of the barricades in Spain, to quote Premier Mussolini, seemed on the verge of a breakdown in their negotiations for a new friendship pact.

Premier Edouard Daladier made a surprising, biting declaration of France's determination to defend her frontiers against "all attempts at violence" as Italian efforts to rupture France's ties with Soviet Russia raised new obstacles to an accord.

Moreover British hopes for a new four-power security pact in Europe were endangered by the same train of circumstances. Through Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, "realistic" Prime Minister Chamberlain specifically made appeasement of Germany a primary objective of British foreign policy.

The Chamberlain government would "like to see removed all causes of mistrust and suspicion that may be held to stand in the way of complete understanding between ourselves and Germany."

The direct cause of the present deadlock in French-Italian friendship talks was reported to be the continued shipment of arms through France to the Spanish republican forces and an Italian demand that France abrogate her Russian ties.

The officer bailed out of his P-12 pursuit plane when it went into an uncontrollable spin late Wednesday near Nine-Mile hill, off the Fredericksburg road. The ship was demolished. He landed with his parachute in a mesquite tree and was uninjured except for a bump on the side of his head.

Measure Sent Back To The Committee

Roads Slashing Pay Might Be Denied Government Aid

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—Chairman Wagner (D-NY) said today that several members of the senate banking committee had suggested amending the administration bill liberalizing RFC loans to railroads so as to prohibit loans to roads which force wage cuts.

Legislation Delayed On Wagner's motion the bill earlier was taken off the senate calendar and sent back to the banking committee. Wagner said additional hearings would be held at which representatives of the workers and the railroads would testify.

These persons depleted administration officials as determined not to give financial support to the roads unless they backed down on their proposal to cut wages 15 per cent.

Public Expressions of Administration Supporters Reflected This Situation

Chairman Wagner (D-NY) said the senate banking committee might recall legislation it already has approved if the carriers insisted on going through with a general wage cut.

Further Study

The committee approved a bill authorizing equipment, maintenance and work loans by the Reconstruction Finance corporation under more liberal terms than heretofore, but administration leaders held it up last week pending a study of railroad objections to certain financial provisions.

Soden Throws No-Hitter At Clovis To Win, 2-1

LEADERS SUFFER TWIN REVERSALS

By the Associated Press A double defeat at the hands of Marshall took some of the self-satisfaction from the faces of the Texarkana liners last night but it didn't hurt them much in the East Texas league standing because Longview declined to do anything about it.

Texarkana still held the lead today and Longview trailed along in second place while Marshall and Tyler, which was the villain in the scene with Longview, were tied for third, four and a half games out of first.

Long-distance hitting put Marshall over with its 7-6, 6-5 double victory, Hal Simpson breaking up the bases loaded in the second frame, and Fred Knoll blasting a triple that drove in Crawford to break a 5-5 tie in the nightcap.

Felix Martignetti and Charley Smith homered for Longview but the Trojans won the game 7-2 with 10 hits.

The collar-dwelling Palestine Pale pasted the Jacksonville Jax with a 6-1 defeat.

Kilgore took Henderson to a 9-7 cleaning. he's leveling down now and his batting average is on the upswing. He's hit safely in every game of the last home stand.

Barney confidently expects to do far better on this road trip than on the last one when the Barons won only one game.

The Hobbs-Lubbock encounter in Hobbs Tuesday was ruled a forfeit to Hobbs when Manager Hack Miller of the Lubbock club protested too violently on a decision of Umpire Andrews.

Probably the score of that Tuesday game had something to do with Miller throwing such an argument. The Lubbock outfit was trailing, 15-5.

Kashimir Kallaki, who succeeded in licking the locals Tuesday in the only game Clovis has won thus far, joined the Pioneers when released by Lubbock last week.

Hobson Clouts Homer With Decker On

Game Called At End Of Sixth Due To Rain

A pair of west coast youngsters, Johnny Soden and Dick Hobson, collaborated to give the Big Spring Barons the edge in their series with the Clovis Pioneers here Wednesday afternoon. Johnny contributed a no-hit performance to chalk up his third victory of the current campaign while Hobby walloped his third home run of the year in the third frame with Bobby Decker on second for the hit that won the duel, 2-1.

The game was called at the end of the sixth frame due to rain, hurting Soden's chances for rightful recognition of his feat, but the brilliant righthander was going stronger when rain forced the teams to cover and, except for a sudden streak of wildness in the sixth frame, would have shut the visitors out without a tally.

Long Home Run Hobson's payoff blow cleared the right field wall by 30 feet and staked Soden to all the lead he needed. Dick looked over one of Henry Gior's pitches while "Double Decker" stole second base and then snapped at the next one, connecting perfectly.

Glor also twirled masterfully, giving up but five hits. He was saved from possible trouble at one stage, however, when, in the second, Siegbert's sure-fire single through second base banded into Base Runner Hank Hanger and the Baron was automatically ruled out on the play.

"I can't find time to go to bed," says the 6-foot-2-inch track team, who weighs 150 pounds and doesn't know yet what marks he can make in a wide variety of track events.

Each high school he pole vaulted over 13 feet, ran the 100-yard dash in 10 seconds, high jumped 6 feet 2 inches and ran the 120-yard high hurdles in 15 seconds, among other things. Since he had no competition as a freshman and hadn't yet warmed up, Scott didn't know how much help his two years of added strength and stamina would be.

Bob Grove In Top Form Of Career

CHICAGO, May 19 (AP)—Robert Moses Grove, with his lean left arm, is writing another brilliant chapter in a story which already ranks as one of the greatest in baseball's 100 year old collection of diamond romances.

Grove won his 263rd triumph in 14 years in the majors the other day and should he never win another game he'll go down as one of the greatest left handed pitchers in the sport's history.

The total amount of light given by a full moon is believed to be less than one three-hundred thousandth that of the sun.

Scott, One-Man Track Team, Good Fullback

Joe Scott Pole Vaults Over 13 Feet . . .

CLEVELAND (AP)—A tall, soft-spoken Western Reserve university sophomore named Joe Scott complains he can't find time to sleep.

The "one-man track team" from Elyria, O., won six first places and a third against Carnegie Tech, and the next week won all seven of the events he entered against the University of Cincinnati.

As a center and forward, Scott won his basketball team. He dashes away from Reserve's track team to shoot in the higher 70's for Reserve's golf team.

He is developing fast in the discus, shot put and javelin and, in addition to running both hurdles, tries the broad jump for better than 20 feet. The 1,500-meter run will worry him most in the deathly, he says, but he thinks he can learn to run this event.

Two Joes Begin Annual Show Of Bat Power

DiMag, Hitting .431, Leads Yankees To 11-7 Victory

By SID FEDER Associated Press Sports Writer Now's as good a time as any for big league pitchers to start pulling in their ears and heading for the storm cellars.

It gets somewhat tiresome to point out every so often that here you have the two greatest outfielders, if not the two greatest players in this business of balls and strikes today. But it's one of those things that has to be done, like going to the dentist or putting gas in your car. You just can't overlook it.

Each is a complete dose of pitcher's poison all wrapped up and ready to go. From the looks of things, they've picked up right where they left off last year.

Take yesterday, for instance. The Yankees were having a tough time of it with the St. Louis Browns. Then along came DiMaggio in the fifth frame, knocked one of Buck Newson's pet pitches out of the lot, and the Yanks were away in front.

Pool Clouts In Pinch To Aid Dallas Victory

Steers Defeat Houston, 4-1; Leaders Are Beaten

By the Associated Press They said it of Harlan Pool, the pudgy Dallas outfielder, that he could wield a wicked willow but not in the clinches—when the chips were down and runners were on base.

Pool was just as potent with the mace last night as ever and he showed his critics by delivering when needed. He slammed out two hits to take over again the Texas league batting leadership and one of the blows drove in Grey Clarke with the winning run as the Herd scurried toward fifth place in the standing by downing Houston 4-1.

Both San Antonio, the current leader, and Tulsa, runner-up, tasted defeat, the Missions falling before Oklahoma City, 7-6, and Tulsa dropping before Beaumont, 2-1.

Ernie Holman, who has been around the baseball circle and is starting out again, and who is making himself felt in the batting race with a .333 average, blasted a homer in the third that looked like it would put Tulsa over, but Beaumont drove in two tallies in the eighth on McCoskey's double.

Clay Touchstone went to the aid of a despairing Oklahoma City team in the ninth to halt a San Antonio rally. He fanned Sig Sryzka and Ralph Rhein with the tying and winning runs on base.

The Indians had gained their lead with a six-run spurge in the eighth. Fort Worth made mince meat out of the hapless Shreveport Sports with a 20-hit attack that left the Cats exhausted from running around the bases. Fort Worth won the game 14-5 to drop the Sports into the cellar. Shreveport got 11 hits off Jackie Reid.

City Budget Left Open On Several Important Items Likely To Come Up For Action During The Year

Although the $187,187 budget of the city for the 1938 fiscal year is down an aggregate of $42,557, there is an interesting fluctuation in the departments with nine of them showing gains over disbursements for the past year.

None of these increases, however, are sharp gains, while one of the four curtailed departmental appropriations—the street—dropped $25,000.

It also is of interest to note further that two items were omitted from the budget estimates in the hope that they might come in for consideration in 1939. One of these is collection of residential garbage. Commenting on this, City Manager E. V. Spence had this to say:

"The writer considered submitting for approval the free collection of garbage for homes, but the city's finances would not permit this service to be added at this time. It is hoped that this needed service to homes will be approved in the 1939-40 budget."

Parking Meters

Other projected item was that of parking meters. The contemplated meter is to offer 12 minutes for one cent, 24 minutes for two cents, one hour for five cents and two hours for 10 cents. The meters would be alternated with free parking spaces.

A $3,400 increase in police department appropriations is due largely to addition of two new policemen during the year, the increasing of the police radio service to 24 hours and the anticipated granting of a power increase from 50 to 250 watts. Another notable proposal for the department under the budget terms is the placing of police on a six day basis instead of the seven day-11 hour arrangement now in use. The change, it was believed, would increase efficiency.

In raising the fire department estimates some $3,000, the grounds were given as the need for two additional firemen to meet state fire insurance department requirements, the installation of 10 new fire plugs at a cost of $1,000 and provision of $1,200 in new fire hose. Work of present firemen in doing inspection work on their days off was praised as well as the public for cooperation in erasing a 6-cent penalty and achievement of a 25-cent credit on the key rate in the space of seven years.

Paving Limited

Although the cost of street sweeping is switched from the street to the health and welfare department, that division shows a $1,200 drop in appropriations because of $2,000 less in the welfare divisions due to completion of the main city park project.

Necessity of additional pavement was stressed in the budget letter accompanying estimates although only eight blocks were set up for work during the fiscal year. The city maintains 80 miles of dirt streets, most of them of a composition making maintenance difficult. It was noted that 51 blocks were paved last fiscal year, that $19,000 is still owing the city from property owners on the project—an item that is holding up further extensive operations. Should the Gregg street project come up this year, the budget would be amended to care for it, it was indicated.

Water Survey

Likewise, the way was left open to amend the water department estimates should the U. S. Geologic Survey resume its underground water survey here and call for additional city support. The appropriation was increased $5,000 to care for extensions and laying of new lines on Gregg street in anticipation of the rerouting of highway No. 9 south, and sewer department estimates were upped $9,000 to care for extensions occasioned by a growing building program. A sidelight on the water department figures is that 60 per cent of the water consumers are not on the city tax rolls.

The city park expenditures were sliced $5,200 due to completion of the principal projects on the WPA-city work there. The airport department was increased by $7,000 because the $119,000 WPA improvement project there requires more expenditures by the city.

There was a slight increase in building department allowances amounting to $300. It was noted that during the past year the auditorium was used 57 times with only 30 of those occasions bringing in any revenue, the rest being community enterprises in the public interest.

Transfer of $2,000 to the cemetery fund from the general fund was set up in the budget to provide for laying of a four-inch water main to the burial grounds. The money could be refunded to the general fund eventually out of cemetery revenues.

The increase in swimming pool estimates was due to the fact that $1,000 bond requirements are hanging over from last year, but are now ready to be paid. Only revenues to the pool and golf course can retire this and it is believed extension of the golf course will do it.

GOLFER'S DREAM—playing on famous St. Andrew's course in Scotland—will materialize for Edgar Kennedy, movie comedian now en route to England where he'll make a picture for Gaumont. He took out the old iron at Albuquerque.

I saw a man eating an order of salad yesterday for lunch—cottage cheese at that—and I thought, "Now, there's a sissy for you!" but about that time he took a whole slice of tomato at one gulp—I quit thinking.

Along this time every year adults are reminded of high school graduating days and they long for a return of that period in their lives when education was a goal already attained. They think if they could be just as satisfied with themselves and the world as they were on the day a diploma was tucked under their arm—they would never be bothered over their lack of skill or become disgusted with the worldly world.

But somehow time hasn't improved the graduate's knowledge, in fact, it's had quite the opposite effect—the longer they live, the less they know. Possibly this quotation from Mark Twain has been used in this column before but it is none the less applicable and illustrates the point. He said that when he was 14 his father was so ignorant he could hardly stand to have his father around but when he got to be 21 he was astonished at how much the old man had learned in seven years.

For a number of years the preacher's congregation has preferred the twittering of birds on a creek bank to his teachings in the pulpit because the yen to fish on Sunday is stronger than the ties of home or religion. Boys and men are never too young nor too old to feel the urge to cast a line into a pool, be it ever so stagnant, and particularly is this true on the Sabbath. A minister in Vermont recently deserted his pulpit for a day of fishing and received no rebuke, which is a sane attitude for his members to assume.

It's No Surprise That You're Constipated!

If constipation has you bogged down so you feel tired, sunk, all played out—its time you asked yourself some questions!

What have you had to eat lately? Just meat, bread, eggs, potatoes? It's no surprise you're constipated! The chances are you don't get enough "bulk" and "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is what you lack, your ticket is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and take a new lease on life! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Immigration Laws Discussed Before The Lions Club

Immigration laws, their enforcement and effect on the average citizen were outlined before the Lions club Wednesday noon by Harold P. Steck, one of two U.S. Border Patrol members stationed here.

Steck explained the laws governing immigration, restrictions on certain classes and those held to quotas. This, however, he said did not hold for Mexican and Canadians so long as they satisfied moral and other such qualifications.

Because of political unrest in other quarters of the world, foreigners are anxious more than ever before to enter the U.S. as a haven from strife and persecution, the speaker pointed out. He urged the general public to cooperate with the patrolmen by informing them of those who enter the country illegally. To do so, he said, was merely to protect one's own interests.

Also on the program was Wanda McQuinn, vocalist, accompanied by Mary Vance Keneaster. Cecil C. Collings presided in the absence of the president.

A special guest for the day's airmail observance here was Benton Maxwell, chief clerk of the railway mail division at Fort Worth. Airmail dispensations in this area are handled under that unit.

Groups At Airport

Large numbers of people were at the airport to witness return of planes from surrounding cities where they collected airmail for the day. Flying the pick-up ships were Ray Baumgardner, Sweetwater and formerly of Big Spring, J. D. Phillips, Glenn Golden, Dr. P. W. Malone, Bob Schermerhorn and Frank Hines of Kermit.

Climax to the celebrations surrounding the promotion of airmail lines was to be the "hangar hop" at the airport Thursday evening with Ned Bradley's band furnishing music and Robert Riegel adding to it with a floor show.

Although the big day definitely was Thursday, J. H. Greene, who was in charge of stamp sales, and Postmaster Nat Shick urged continued use of airmail through Saturday when the national observance is to terminate.

READING AND WRITING

"FURTHER," by Amelia Posse-Brazdova; (Dutton; $3.50).

Those who experienced the harumscarum but shrewdly prepared charm of Amelia Posse-Brazdova's "Sardinian Sideshow" and "Roman Roundabout" will at once line up for her new book of reminiscences. This she calls "Further."

For this Swedish wife of a Czech painter has one of the most useful gifts that can be allotted a writer, which is the gift of observation. She never fails (why is another matter) to remember the precise fact which brings to life the story she is telling. Perhaps this is unconscious; if so all the better.

In addition Mme Brazdova is the sort of person you'd walk a good deal more than a mile to meet, a person of broad sympathies and of such genuine good breeding that she cannot be suspected of stuffing her ballot boxes, as it were. And finally she writes rhythmically and clearly...the present book snaps back and forth through time with dazzling speed, but there is no confusion because the material is chosen to illustrate a way of life and the milieu to which the way of life was fitted, and time does not at all matter.

Perhaps one further thing might be mentioned. Mme. Brazdova is so sure of herself that she never pumps up her distinguished acquaintanceships. She is not one of those discouraging gentry who see the tail of a dictator's coat as his train leaves the station, and at once read his mind for you.

"Further" deals mostly with the years following the war. The scene is chiefly Italy, centering in Rome, although it ranges as far north as Sweden at times. We see Masaryk one Chapl, relaxed and charming. Toscani arrives at a party, and with the late Ottorino Respighi and Pick-Mangiagalli sits at a piano and burlesques the great masters extemporaneously. Slavo, Mme. Brazdova's oldest boy by her painter husband, swings from a rotten gutter pipe four stories up and his mother frantically spreads her skirts to catch him. A cardinal, Achille Ratti, is made pope amid his own tears. Gordon Craig arrives to renew his artistic inspiration in the garden, and catches Mme. Brazdova wandering about in her nightgown.

POINTS TO NEED FOR LABOR PEACE

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers union, C.I.O. affiliate with 250,000 members, believes the defeat of democratic candidates with C.I.O. backing in the Pennsylvania primary proves the need for peace between the Committee for Industrial Organization and the American Federation of Labor.

"I have no doubt that a great many A.F.L. members who would have otherwise voted for Thomas Kennedy because of his labor record abstained from voting or voted for his opponent. The result Tuesday in Pennsylvania amplifies the imperative need for labor unity," Dubinsky and John L. Lewis, C.I.O. chief, have been at odds over C.I.O.'s attitude toward the A.F.L.

OIL INDUSTRY SETTLES

TULSA, Okla., May 19 (AP)—Distinctly relieved after last week's crisis in crude prices and production, the oil industry appeared settled down today for a long pull out of the business slump.

It still was too early to gauge the full effect of the severe crude production curtailments made in big producing areas last week when a price reduction by one Mid-Continent company put leaders in a dither. The psychological effect, it was agreed, was excellent.

Work Projects Are Discussed By City Officials

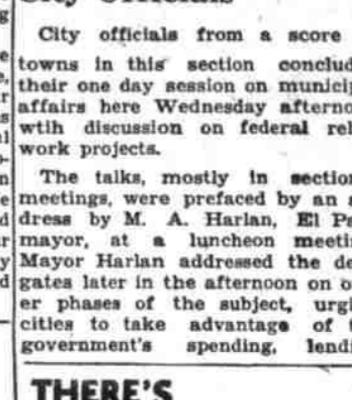

City officials from a score of towns in this section concluded their one day session on municipal affairs here Wednesday afternoon with discussion on federal relief work projects.

The talks, mostly in sectional meetings, were prefaced by an address by M. A. Harlan, El Paso mayor, at a luncheon meeting. Mayor Harlan addressed the delegates later in the afternoon on other phases of the subject, urging cities to take advantage of the government's spending, lending in the corporate court room.

Program He Said That Projects Would Be Available Under WPA, Co-Operative Government and Sponsor Projects, FWA, Direct Grants to Supplement City Appropriations, and through cheap loans carrying perhaps no more than two per cent interest.

The meeting was one of a series of regional sessions being conducted by the League of Texas Municipalities. E. E. McAdams, Austin, executive secretary of the organization, was here for the parley held in the corporate court room.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF OIL INDUSTRY

Chief objection to federal control of the oil industry for two or three years to prevent overproduction, suggested at Austin this week, is that once the federal government obtains control it will never relinquish it. If Washington gets its hands on oil, the states can kiss their share in it goodbye.
Federal control never would have been heard of had the oil states acted intelligently and promptly in handling the grave problem of overproduction. Under the compact plan, some states have not been cooperating fully in preventing overproduction, and in consequence other states— notably Texas—have had to declare oil holidays to keep from glutting the market and bringing about collapse of the steadily-reviving industry.
The compact between the states never can function 100 per cent for always there will be chiselers and non-cooperators who will actually deprive the states of their say-so. Unless the states are willing to forego all future control for themselves they had better mend their fences and prepare to make a better showing in managing this ticklish problem; for unless the states do achieve some measure of success under the existing plan, the federal government inevitably will step in with complete control of every phase of the industry.
Texas does not want that. The way to head it off is to take suitable action—whatever it may be—before it's too late.

THE NON-RECOGNITION POLICY

In the face of Mr. Chamberlain's decision to recognize the Italian conquest of Ethiopia, Mr. Hull announced last week that the United States would continue to refuse to recognize the conquest of Ethiopia or of Manchuria.
The effect of Mr. Hull's statement is to dispel the impression that the United States is supporting the Chamberlain policy and that it has given its blessing to Mr. Chamberlain's efforts to strike a bargain with Mussolini and Hitler.

So the policy of parallel action by Great Britain and the United States has in principle been abandoned. For British policy is now based on the idea that an accomplished fact is an accomplished fact whereas American policy is based on the theory that what has been done may somehow someday be undone. The parallel lines of policy have become divergent. For the time being at any rate there can be less effective collaboration between Britain and America in world politics than has been generally anticipated.

The American policy of withholding diplomatic recognition antedates the World War. It originated in the special problem of revolution in the Latin-American countries around the Caribbean sea, and only since the Armistice has been extended to Europe and Asia. We shall best understand its difficulties when applied in Europe and in Asia by remembering the original reasons for this policy in Latin-America.

The policy then was based on the fact, on the unquestionable fact, that no government in the Caribbean states can long survive unless it is recognized by the United States, that to withhold recognition is equivalent to condemning a Caribbean government to be overthrown, to refuse recognition to a new revolutionary government is to condemn the revolution to failure. Because recognition was felt to have such decisive consequences, the decision of the United States not to recognize illegal governments has been a most powerful deterrent against revolution.

Thus it is clear that non-recognition was originally something more than moral disapproval. It was a positive act designed to uphold legal governments and the status quo and to assist counter-revolution and resistance against illegal governments and aggressors. In all the Caribbean region the policy has all these practical implications and consequences because of the overriding influence of the United States.
The policy was first extended beyond this hemisphere when from 1918 to 1933 the United States refused to recognize the Soviets. But the effect was quite different from what it had been when the policy was confined to the Caribbean region. For while the refusal to recognize the Soviets always meant that the United States hoped the Soviets would be overthrown and a government created that we could recognize, the Soviets did not fall because we refused to recognize them. For a while the Whites Russians got some encouragement, even some indirect practical help. But non-recognition did not destroy the Soviets and in the end the United States recognized them.

This goes to show that non-recognition is an intelligent policy only as long as there is ground for believing that the illegal government is the result of a conquest by a legal government. The difference between Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Hull is that the prime minister believes that further resistance to Italy in Ethiopia is undesirable whereas Mr. Hull still holds to the official view that the conquest is not conclusive and that further resistance should not be discouraged.
This amounts to saying that the United States still hopes to see the Emperor Haile Selassie recover his country. The British policy, on the other hand, makes it impossible for the negus to resist and much easier for Mussolini to complete the conquest. That is why Mussolini likes it so much. The American policy in effect invites the negus to go on hoping and thus increases Mussolini's difficulties. That is why Mussolini dislikes it so much.
Through this is the implication and the effect of American non-recognition of the Ethiopian conquest, the chances are that the United States does not seriously believe that the conquest can be undone.

A more substantial reason exists, however, for refusing recognition at this time. And that reason is in Manchuria and the Far East where the non-recognition policy is still a very real and important fact. If we recognized the Italian conquest now, we should find it somewhat awkward to refuse to recognize the Japanese conquest. And we do not wish to recognize the Japanese conquest because we do not have it. The Chinese resistance is still a reality.
For while we adhere to the letter of neutrality in the Far East, our sympathies and our interests are on the side of China, and with-

Man About Manhattan

by GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—It is a pity that so little effort for second grade actors and actresses will accrue from the wholesale production of plays during the annual summer theatrical season, now under way. All along the Atlantic seaboard from Ogunquit, Me., to Olney, Md., playhouses are being renovated, fresh madras placed in marquees, and preparations made to welcome the stars and "name" players of the theatre who will come for a week, as "guests," to be featured and feted.
But the minor players, the "second" men and bit players of the theatre, with rare exceptions, will remain in New York—just hoping, and looking ahead to September.
For the summer season provides little beyond (A), a chance for a star to spend a few exhilarating days at a pleasant resort. (B), an opportunity for playwrights to try out new dramas, and (C), a come-on for people who like week-end drives or over-night trips throughout the eastern states.
It works like this: A Hollywood star, anxious for a little "audience reaction," will agree to come east for one-tenth her film salary to star for a week in a new show. All right, you say, but what about the eight or ten other people in the cast? Actors are required for these. In a measure that is true, but they are not enlisted from the rank and file in Broadway casting offices. They are filled by pretty debutantes who are eager to work for the "experience," or at most a nominal fee. The supporting cast invariably is replete with semi-pros.
One undeniable advantage of the summer "stock" season, as it is called, is the chance for playwrights to place their new dramas under the audience microscope. A summer production enables the author and his advisers to sit back and criticize it from a seat in the audience. The piece then can be edited, even entirely rewritten in time for a premiere on Broadway in the fall. This "laboratory" test has saved some inherently fine plays.
And so things are happening along the greenspainted trail which leads from Skowhegan to Providence to Westport to Suffern to Olney and points east, west, and south.
Suffern, New York, is a famous summer theatrical spot, for Helen Hayes generally makes a guest appearance there. Erin O'Brien Moore, beginning at Providence, will make practically a tour of the summer circuit, from Nashvilles, Tenn., to official in the south-wide student program of the Baptist denomination, will give the commencement address to 145 seniors on Wednesday, June 1.

ARRANGING FOR DUEL FOR FRENCHMEN

PARIS, May 19 (AP)—Seconds for the prospective duel between Playwright Henry Bernstein and Edouard Bourdet, director of the Comedie Francaise, decided to meet again today for further discussion of the argument between the principals.
Discussions yesterday failed to settle the dispute, which grew out of differences over production of Bernstein's new play "Judith."
Friends of Bourdet and Bernstein said that if the duel is fought it probably will be tomorrow morning.
Herra Bennit of the French Academy and Paul Morand, novelist are seconds for Bourdet, while Charles More, president of the Society of French Authors, and Rene Frejolan, swordsman, represent Bernstein.

Hollywood

Sights And Sounds

by ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Star glamour versus box office draw is no new headache in movie producer offices. It has been with them years.

When a New York group of "independent" movie exhibitors recently charged in a paid trade paper advertisement that several top-flight salary stars had lost draw, Hollywood retorts, official and otherwise, could be summed up as follows:

Advertising group did not represent mass exhibitor opinion—but localized "beat."
Blasé may have been attempted to forestall any increase in exhibitor costs for films as the new selling season opened.
High salaries result from competitive demand for star names, but all studios are trying to develop new names constantly.
A star who has proved box office worth can do it again.

From The Record
In the records Hollywood has ample instances to justify the latter claim. It could cite:

Barbara Stanwyck, whose choice for "Stella Dallas" was deemed foolhardy even in Hollywood where she was regarded poor draw. "Stella Dallas" and Stanwyck clicked.
Jeanette MacDonald, currently thirteenth on Motion Picture Herald's independent exhibitor poll of 1937 stars, whose popular appeal had dropped until "Naughty Marietta" and subsequent hits zoomed it again.

William Powell, now sixth on same poll, who was considered all washed up when he left Warner after series of poor pictures but clicked big in "The Thin Man" and other hits at Metro.
Clark Gable, whose popularity seemed temporarily checkmated until he made "It Happened One Night," has risen steadily until now second only to Shirley Temple in draw.

Wallace Beery, another "all-washed-up" star who came back to make the Big Ten, still holds place among top 15.
Marie Dressler, flop in first picture, kept on to become a leading box office star at death.
A Few Prospects

Here is the speculative outlook for some others named by the advertisement:

Katherine Hepburn, solid hit in "Little Women," fell off through later films, some unfortunate, some fine, but no big grossers, has broken with RKO over story disagreement. Has excellent chance in forthcoming Columbia film, "Holiday," recalled as the same picture that made Ann Harding a top name in 1930.
Marlene Dietrich, hit in the foreign-made "The Blue Angel" and "Morocco," "Shanghai Express" and others, has had a series of flops but has signed with Columbia to be directed by starmaking, star-saving Frank Capra.
Joan Crawford, in the Big Ten 1934-35-36, rated 16 in the 1937 poll, considered good draw by studio despite several unemancipated films. She has signed new five-year contract and may be put forth as singing star with secretly developed voice.

Kay Francis, reported planning retirement with marriage in fall, but for others old rule may hold—no hit picture can make anybody an exhibitor's darling.
Evening parade of one man and four pets around a certain residential block is well seeing.... This march single file, in this order: the colts named Jock, called named Dorrit, Kerry-blue, terrier named Mr. Dooley, and Persian cat named Nickels.... The young man is George Murphy of pictures.

Timothy, "then it's the most reasonable femicide I ever saw. Even to that little squiggle under her name. What'd you think?"
"What'll we do now?" Mrs. Carr asked.
"You might've well go 'long back to Octagon House," Assey said, "an' get some sleep. If Hanson asks, say you tried and tried but you can't move me, I just don't seem to care about the case. But tell Aaron Frye that she's all right, and I'll do what I can, as long as he'll see Assey started thoughtfully up the road as the little coupe whizzed off.
He wanted to like those two. They honestly seemed desirous of helping Pam Frye out of this business. They were candid, they were human, they were pleasant. They liked their cat, and their cat liked them. And Assey had a certain respect for people whom cats liked. This great red beast did not belong to the Carrs; they belonged to her.
On the other hand, their very candidness was against them. Had they come to pump him, to find out where Pam was, to find out what the quadratic surd business was and his story about Marina—there was a certain glib quality about that yam, about the key-maker and the rest of it, that made one wonder. Assey shook his head. He wished that he knew the answers.

Man About Manhattan

by GEORGE TUCKER

There wasn't one place where he had purposely not hunted while Pam was in the house. There was a room around, and he strolled there now, along the path to the landing. Pam didn't know the first thing about automobiles, but she did know about boats.
Why should she have gone? There wasn't an earthly reason, unless she had some quizzical notion that her presence in his house was dangerous to Assey. That was the only explanation he could think of, if she had been whisked away—but she couldn't have. People couldn't be whisked as quietly as all that. Pam was a strong, healthy girl. She wouldn't have allowed anyone to touch her, not without raising a rumpus first.
Unless—the simplicity of the solution brought him to a standstill. Unless someone whom she knew and trusted had come. And what was it Pam had said, something about intending to tell her male boarder about the ambergris before she set out to Boston, because he seemed such a decent sort?
"It Ain't Human"
She'd had no chance to tell him, of course. But just supposing that Timothy had climbed up on the roof and talked to her through the window, while Assey was downstairs in the kitchen. He might have lured her away by some yarn about the ambergris incident, and Pam's taking it from the garage, with the sister dead, well, you just won't think about that part, Cummings sighed. "It's a mess, wouldn't know where to start."
"Are you sure about that leaf handedness," Assey asked, "or were you impressed Hanson?"
"I'm quite certain that whoever killed Marina thrust that knife with his left hand, and is a reasonably husky sort. Of course, I won't say it isn't possible that someone didn't stand on his head and stal with the right hand—Assey, I'm a tired I can't think. Call me when you want me, and when you've figured out some plan or other, I think you'll do well to continue letting Hanson think you won't help him. Otherwise the police'll be around your neck, and they'll curtail you considerably. I'll fume at you, to make it seem genuine. I'll also pass along anything that happens. And—see if you can't get that Turkish tobacco he had smelled earlier, by the landing."
"Okay," Assey said. "I'll see if something can't get started."
He noticed, as he returned to the house, that the fog was going out and that the wind had shifted again. If it hadn't, he might possibly have caught another whiff of that Turkish tobacco he had smelled earlier, by the landing.

Penn Election Cheers GOP

Intra-Party Wounds Apparently Are Slow To Heal
 PHILADELPHIA, May 19 (AP)—Wounds of Pennsylvania's democratic primary campaign fight were slow to heal today in the face of a united front quickly mustered by republicans for the November general election.
 Labor Leader John L. Lewis and Senator Joseph F. Guffey, whose candidacies were repulsed by a slate of the democratic state committee, refrained from announcing their position in the fall inter-party struggle.
 Thomas Kennedy, the defeated Lewis-Guffey gubernatorial candidate, and other state C.I.O. leaders issued statements denouncing the vote constituted repudiation of their program, but they made no comments on the November lineup.
 Republicans, overcoming their own factional difficulties, were jubilant. In Washington, national chairman of the two parties exchanged caustic comment.
 Chairman John Hamilton of the republican national committee said in a statement the results showed the "handwriting on the wall" for the New Deal and indicated "certain victory" for his party in Pennsylvania's general election.
 Postmaster General James A. Farley, setting out to restore New Deal harmony in the state, took time to make this remark: "The republican national chairman is, I suppose, within his political rights in making an idiotic prophecy." Farley recalled Hamilton's 1936 election night statement that Alf Landon had been elected.

BLONDE ARRESTED AS KARPIS AIDE

LOS ANGELES, May 19 (AP)—A 32-year-old blonde described by federal agents as the sweetheart of kidnaper Alvin Karpis languished in jail here today under charges she harbored the former public enemy No. 1 in Hot Springs, Ark.
 The woman, Jewell Laverna Grayson, alias Grace Goldstein, was arrested at a Los Angeles hotel last night after she had booked passage on a ship sailing for Honolulu tomorrow.

$15,000 DAMAGE IN VERNON FIRE

VERNON, May 19 (AP)—Damage to the three-story Hotel Vernon, one of Texas' oldest hostilities which was swept by fire of unknown origin yesterday, was being checked today with Miss Ada Pierce, the owner, estimating the loss at $15,000.
 All guests escaped injury but firemen rescued Alton Kellberg from the third floor.
 The hotel was erected in 1840 and is the hub of this city's early social life. It was regarded as the finest hotel between Fort Worth and Denver when it was built.

 PHILADELPHIA, May 19 (AP)—The navy's new cruiser Philadelphia, which recently carried President Roosevelt on a Caribbean fishing trip, is in the navy yard for repairs.

The senior duty officer at the yard added that the cruiser, which cost $15,000,000 and was commissioned last September, had been scheduled to return to the yard before she took the president on the trip.
