Reports indicate Anderson may soon see freedom

by EILEEN ALT POWELL
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

DAMASCUS, Syria — The Lebanon kidnapping ordeal seemed headed for an end with the release of another American on Tuesday, and reports said Terry Anderson, the last American captive, could be freed Wednesday.

The freeing of American Alann Steen was the latest in a series of dramatic releases since August that has been orchestrated by the United Nations. Only three Westerners still are held captive by Shiite Muslim radicals.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar said in New York after meeting with Iranian Ambassador Kamal Kharrazi that he expected yet another release within two days.

"I know it will be very soon but I cannot say when," he added.

Kharrazi said it was his understanding that Anderson would be freed by Wednesday, and sources in Damascus who are close to the hostage negotiations made the same prediction. There were indications that the United Nations was working on a separate deal to gain the Germans' freedom.

Steen, a Boston native, spent nearly five years in captivity.

"It's great to be out," the 52-year-old journalism teacher told reporters at a news conference at the Syrian Foreign Ministry.

Steen wept as he was turned over to U.S. Ambassador Christopher Ross.

"I don't think I can find the words right now to express how I feel, except that it's wonderful," said Steen, who was kidnapped on Jan. 24, 1987 at the U.S.-supported Beirut University College by extremists posing as Lebanese police. "Five years is no fun."

The pro-Iranian organization of Islamic Jihad for Liberation of Palestine said it freed Steen in Beirut under a U.N.-brokered agreement. Syrian army officers drove Steen across the border to Damascus.

Steen was flown Tuesday night to Germany, where he will be debriefed by intelligence officials.

Nearly 100 people turned out in subfreezing temperatures to greet Steen as he arrived the U.S. Air Force hospital in Wiesbaden.

Steen punched his fist in the air in jubilation as confetti showered down around him and the crowd cheered wildly. A banner hung outside the hospital said "Dear Santa, Please Bring Us One More," referring to Anderson.

Steen was to join American Joseph Cicippio, who was freed Monday. A U.S. physician said Cicippio was knocked unconscious when he was abducted in 1986. He suffered frostbite in captivity, the doctor said, but is generally healthy.

Steen said in Damascus that he exercised for two hours every day while in captivity but had had lots of colds.

His face and neck were covered with what appeared to be abrasions and Steen said he caused them himself when he shaved for the first time in three years.

Asked if he had a message for his wife, Steen said: "I love her, I miss her."

Virginia Steen later spoke to her husband by telephone from her home in Clark Lake, Mich. "I told him I loved him. ... I told him he's a grandfather, he didn't know that," she said.

The United States welcomed the release, but White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the ordeal would not be over until all Westerners were freed.

Besides Anderson, chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press, two Germans — Thomas Kemptner and Heinrich Struebig — are still held.

Anderson, kidnapped on March 16, 1985, is the longest held.

Combest says United States in a recession

by JULIE COLLINS
THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

Congressman Larry Combest, R-Lubbock, said at a press conference at the Lubbock Federal Building Tuesday that there is no doubt that the United States is in a recession.

After returning from the holiday break, Combest said that Congress will have to scrutinize the current economic recession plaguing the United States and adopt measures that would stimulate economic growth in business.

He said that if the U.S. government continues to regulate businesses throughout the country, the economic downturn will continue.

In addition, if businesses cannot work within the rules established by the government concerning mandatory wage increases and other government mandated policies, he said many businesses will end in bankruptcy.

While the recent passage of the unemployment bill brings relief to certain sectors of the United States hit hard by the recession, he said more must be done to combat unemployment for Americans.

"We are giving a transfusion (concerning the unemployment bill) before closing the wound," Combest said.

Congress must initiate and pass various legislation that would encourage a positive economic climate and reduce current capital gains as well as encourage a tax decrease so that the American people will begin to invest, he said.

Combest said some congressmen want to initiate tax reductions, slash the Department of Defense fund and then channel the money to various domestic programs. He said the money would better serve the American people if it was channeled to taxpayers through tax rebates.

Combest also said President Bush has agreed to the 1991-92 Agricultural Disaster Program which would allocate approximately $1.75 billion in disaster aid for farmers on the South Plains and nationwide due to severe weather conditions during the crop season.

The program will also be available for the 1992 crop season, he said.

Combest said he shares the frustration of his constituents in the 19th district concerning Congress' current stagnation in the midst of a nationwide recession.

He said congressional philosophy will have to change to meet the needs of the nation.

"At present, people are ticked-off at a do-nothing Congress," he said.

Forced committee rotations so that other congressmen will have the opportunity to participate in congressional committees could be one solution to the problem, Combest said.

Lawless addresses funding reduction

by CATHERINE DUNN
THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

Texas Tech President Robert Lawless addressed the Minority Faculty/Staff Association Tuesday during the association's annual luncheon on the possibility of a 5.5 to 6 percent reduction in state funding for the second fiscal year of the biennium.

"This will be coming on the heels of a 3.2 percent reduction that came Sept. 1," said Don E. Cosby, Tech vice president for fiscal affairs. "It's obviously not good news."

Reductions in Tech's operating costs and staffing levels may be a possible method of offsetting the increased reduction in state funding, he said.

Because postage and travel fares continue to rise, Tech's maintenance and travel expenses would have to be reduced even if state funding increased.

"Public higher education is really in tough straits in this country. Twenty-nine states reduced funding this year for public higher education," Lawless said.

"Sixty-four percent of all public institutions of higher education received a reduction in funding. And it's not over yet. In reality things are going to be tight for a long time," he said.

During the last amendments election, voters approved a proposal for the issuance of $1.1 billion in general obligation bonds to build approximately 25,000 prison beds, Lawless said.

Because of the interest on the bonds, it will cost $105 million a year over a 20-year period in order to retire the bonds if they are issued all at once, he said.

The state will have to provide more than $1 billion a year in prison operation costs because approximately $38,000 a year per bed is needed to operate a prison, Lawless said.

"We're looking at a billion to a billion and one annually required by the state with no new revenues coming in," he said.

After the legislature meets its fixed obligations, the amount of money left over can be allocated for higher education. However, Lawless said the only way the legislature will be able to meet its fixed obligations without making a revenue increase is to reduce higher education again.

Lawless expressed his fear of what he calls the "possible privatization of public education."

"What I mean is because there is not any additional revenues, the legislatures in some states raise the tuition to such an extent that there is very little difference between the tuition at a private institution and the tuition at a public institution," he said.

He said he is afraid that higher education will become a place where only the people who can afford to attend will attend.

Minority Faculty/Staff Association honors Ewalt

by CATHERINE DUNN
THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

Texas Tech's Minority Faculty/Staff Association honored Robert H. Ewalt, vice president for student affairs, Tuesday for his support of multicultural issues at Tech during the association's annual luncheon.

"I am very much appreciative because of the people it comes from," Ewalt said. "It means a lot to get this recognition."

He said he has an interest in all students and their concerns and needs, but minorities represent an area that needs all the attention that can be given to it.

"Minority needs have not been attended to in a satisfactory manner," he said. "Some things have worked, but there's a long way to go."

A surprise presentation was given by Robert Williams, a graduate student, to express the association's gratitude for Ewalt's long history of help to minority students, said Julio Llanas, president of the association.

"If we can go through college and find one person that can actually touch our lives in a meaningful way, we're lucky," Williams said.

He said he has found several people at Tech who have touched his life, but Ewalt stands out as someone who has understood him and helped him in a positive way that will affect the rest of his life. It was Ewalt's dedication that fueled interest in the administrative end for a Black Students Association, Williams said.

"During the formative years of the Black Students Association, many things were uncertain. The support, assurance and assistance of Dr. Ewalt was not one of them," he said.

Williams said that the true and only test of a good administrator is the overall impact that the administrator can have upon a student's life. Good administrators help students understand that they have a rightful place of their own choosing in the world.

"They help us understand that there is more to life than ourselves, our wants and our own selfish pride. They help us understand that we and the important things we do, matter," he said.

"Once I heard it said that every word uttered stirs the cosmos. And I thought of Dr. Ewalt," Williams said.

The Minority Faculty/Staff Association was founded in 1988 by a group of black and Hispanic faculty and staff, said Frank Silvas, the association's first president.

"The principle reason (for the association) is to contribute towards the retention of the minority faculty and staff that we employ," said Llanas. "Because there are so few black employees on campus, it is so hard for them to feel a part of the community."

Gorbachev warns of Soviet Union breakup

by BRIAN FRIEDMAN
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MOSCOW — President Mikhail S. Gorbachev warned Tuesday that the disintegration of the Soviet Union will lead to catastrophe, catastrophe and war, but Russia hastened the breakup by recognizing Ukraine's new statehood.

Saying the country was experiencing a destructive "crisis of statehood," Gorbachev urged lawmakers across the Soviet Union to approve his proposed Union Treaty.

"The breakup of such a multiethnic community will bring misfortunes upon millions of our people, which will outbalance all possible temporary benefits from secession," Gorbachev said in a statement distributed to lawmakers in all 12 republics, not just those seven who have said they will sign the treaty.

"A breakup is fraught with interethnic, interpublic clashes, even wars," he said. "That would be a catastrophe for the entire global community."

Coming one day after Ukrainian officials announced that voters in the republic had overwhelmingly approved a referendum on independence, Gorbachev's comments amounted to a desperate plea to save some form of union as well as what little remains of his dwindling authority.

The proposed treaty would limit the Kremlin's role to foreign affairs, strategic nuclear arms and coordination of economic policy. It also would establish a five-year, directly elected national presidency and an independent judiciary, and allow the republics to introduce their own currencies.

Good Morning!

News

Texas Tech and the Lubbock community will officially ring in the Christmas season Friday with the lighting of the 33rd annual Carol of Lights at 7:30 p.m. at Memorial Circle. The theme for this year's festivities is "A Light of New Beginning."

Weather

Today's unbelievable forecast calls for sunny and uncharacteristically warmer skies (at least a little bit warmer) with a pleasant high in the lower 60s. Lubbock's usual winds will be out of the south-southwest at 10-20 miles per hour. Tonight's chilly forecast calls for fair skies with a low in the lower 30s. Much of the same is forecast for Thursday, calling for mostly sunny skies with a high in the mid 60s, so get out those bathing suits.

'Brooklyn Bridge' provides warm nostalgia as well as family appeal

by STEPHEN ARMOUR
THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

Nostalgia seems to be the so-called "in" thing when it comes to the new television programs for the 1991-1992 season. Look at the options TV viewers have. Each of the three networks has one show that takes us back in time.

There is the ABC primetime soap opera (although they do not call it that), "Homefront," which is about the lives of people after World War II and the readjustments they have to make. We also have NBC's "I'll Fly Away" about a lawyer in the South in the 1950s, who must deal with the increasing tension between blacks and whites.

And then there is CBS's new dramatic comedy "Brooklyn Bridge," a show that deals with the life of an extended Jewish family living in New York City in 1956. The show could be called "Grandma Knows Best" because that basically sums up the goings-on in the show.

Created by Gary David Goldberg, who is known to loyal television viewers for creating the hit NBC show (and Ronald Reagan's favorite show during his stay at 1600 Pennsylvania Ave.), "Family Ties." Going just on this basis, the show should be a sure-fire hit. Unfortunately, this has not been the case lately, as the show was originally airing on Friday nights opposite ABC's perennial ratings blockbuster lineup.

However, the show was recently taken off Friday nights and moved to Wednesdays where it has a better chance of reaching the audience it so richly deserves.

Starring former "Happy Days" star Marion Ross and actor Louis Zorich (husband of Oscar-winner Olympia Dukakis) as Sophie and Jules Berger, "Brooklyn Bridge" is a warm show that is full of love. And the humor is not lost, even with the ethnicity that runs rampant throughout the show. Although many people may not get some of the obvious Jewish humor, I truly believe that anyone who watches the show will not be disappointed.

The basic premise of the show is that the Bergers live in the same apartment house as their daughter, son-in-law and two grandsons. The show also stars up-and-coming young actor Danny Gerard (who appeared recently on stage in Neil Simon's "Lost in Yonkers") as the Bergers' 14-year-old grandson Alan Silver, Matthew Louis Siegel as Alan's nine-year-old brother Nathaniel and Amy Aquino and Peter Friedman as their parents Phyllis and George.

In the debut episode on Sept. 20, Alan is talking to a young Catholic girl

(not something Grandma Berger is very happy about) named Katie Monahan (played with sweet innocence by Jenny Lewis). When he asks her what Catholics do when they do something wrong, Katie replied that they say Hail Marys. Alan then replied that Jewish people have guilt, which never goes away.

My family busted laughing when we heard this. But, as I've said, this humor may be rather obscure to people who are not Jewish or who do not know anyone who is. One reason may be that we all thoroughly enjoyed watching movies such as "Brighton Beach Memoirs" and "Crossing Delancey," both of which deal with basically the same thing (although "Crossing Delancey" does it on a more recent level).

Viewers can expect a lot of references to baseball and other "period" items that give viewers a feel for the Brooklyn of the 1950s. The neighborhood in which the show takes place is a wonderful backdrop to the already wonderful show. It is a unique mixture of many different cultures and people that add an extra flavor to the atmosphere.

Viewers can also expect numerous recollections on Goldberg's part of his Jewish childhood. With all of these elements working together, "Brooklyn Bridge" should receive a warm welcome by anyone who loves Neil Simon's plays. And CBS has a lot riding on "Brooklyn Bridge." The CBS Entertainment chief loved the pilot so much that he bought the series on the basis of one script, without ever making a pilot. And Goldberg has a lot riding on the series as well.

It is a great experience and one I recommend to everyone.

Raiders demolish Roadrunners 100-79

by CHARLES POLLET
THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

The New Mexico State Lady Roadrunners were roadkill for the steamrolling Texas Tech women's basketball team Tuesday night as the Red Raiders flattened NMSU 100-79 in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

Junior forward Sheryl Swoopes controlled Tech's scoring machine, stealing four balls from the Lady Roadrunners and adding 22 points. She also contributed four assists.

"I thought Sheryl Swoopes got us going (in the first half) by getting some big steals and turning them into buckets on the other end," coach Marsha Sharp said.

The Raiders shifted into high gear with 5:28 left in the first half, outscoring NMSU 29-10. In that stretch, senior post Jennifer Buck scored 10 points and Swoopes chipped in seven. Buck finished the game with 26 points, tying her career high. Tech entered halftime with a 59-35 lead.

The Roadrunners pressed the Raiders almost the entire first half, but Tech responded with six steals to shut down NMSU, who had averaged 101 points in its first two games.

"We kind of fell apart when they first started pressing us, but we got regrouped and played well against their press," Swoopes said.

The Raiders upped their 32.6 percent shooting average per game to 45.5 percent, and they shot 53.3 percent in the first half.

Tech began the game with a three-inch starters' height advantage over the Roadrunners, and Buck's strong offense reflected that, Sharp said.

"I think it was pretty obvious that they didn't have anybody who could cover Jennifer Buck down low," the coach said.

Sharp said she was pleased that her team passed the ball to Buck, which is something the players had not done in the Raiders' first two games.

"I'm glad our kids looked to Buck down in the block (post) because it will help us in the long run if she can score inside, and we won't have to shoot as many three-pointers," Sharp said.

Junior guard Krista Kirkland and senior forward Tami Wilson also put in 13 points each. Kirkland hit three of eight from three-point range.

Senior post Hazel Tull made both ends of a 1-1 situation with 55 seconds remaining to put the Raiders at 100.

The 100 points marked the first time in six years Tech reached the century mark at home. The Raiders downed Oral Roberts 101-66 on Jan. 5, 1985. They beat Hawaii Pacific in 1985-86 and Baylor in 1989-90 by more than 100, both on the road.

Texas looking for passing coach

by JACK KEEVER
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

AUSTIN — With the resignation of cracker-barrel coach David McWilliams, Texas began a search Tuesday for possibly a more high-tech football mentor — one who favors pro-style passing, would trim the deadwood and could recruit in the inner city and out of state.

The names of numerous well-known coaches popped up as soon as McWilliams, 49, announced Monday he was resigning following his third losing season in five years and had asked to be reassigned as associate athletic director.

Possible successors mentioned in Texas newspapers included Stanford coach Dennis Green; Dennis Erickson of Miami; Bobby Ross of Georgia Tech; Dick Sheridan of North Carolina State; Steve Spurrier of Florida; and Howard Schnellenberger of Louisville.

Texas Athletic Director DeLoss Dodds said he doesn't have a frontrunner in mind. Of Green and Erickson, he told The Dallas Morning News: "I think they are more interested in the pros right now."

Others mentioned were: Bruce Snyder of California; Bill Snyder of Kansas State; Terry Donahue of UCLA; John Mackovic of Illinois; Bill Mallory of Indiana; former Texas quarterback Alan Lowry, now an assistant at Tampa Bay in the NFL; former Pittsburgh coach Mike Gottfried; and former Alabama and NFL coach Ray Perkins.

The list is lengthy, sources said, because there is no obvious choice.

Dallas to rely on Beuerlein against Saints

by DENNE FREEMAN
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

IRVING—Jimmy Johnson wishes last year was this year.

"A year ago eight victories would have put you into the playoffs," Johnson said on Tuesday.

"Obviously, it's going to take more this year. We have a difficult schedule the last three games but we knew how that was going to be before the season started."

The Cowboys were 7-9 in 1990, losing a playoff berth on the final weekend.

Dallas is 8-5 now with home games remaining Sunday against New Orleans and Dec. 21 against Atlanta, with a road game at Philadelphia Dec. 14.

Now, Johnson is worried a 10-6 might not make it. The Cowboys can clinch a wild-card spot by winning their last three games.

"Well, we've got two out of three games at home and that helps," Johnson said.

"We've got to keep things going."

Our players are feeling good about themselves."

The Cowboys will have to beat New Orleans on Sunday in Texas Stadium without Troy Aikman, who's nursing a torn right knee ligament.

"Troy will be out for the game although he's trying to work," Johnson said. "He's done some throwing. We'll see if he could take a few snaps and be available in an emergency role."

Aikman has recovered rapidly from a partial tear in a lateral collateral knee ligament. Aikman has targeted the Philadelphia game in two weeks as his possible comeback game.

Steve Beuerlein, who has led Dallas to two victories since Aikman was injured, will start against the Saints, who have lost three consecutive games and are 2-point underdogs.

Beuerlein was hampered by a sprained ankle in a 20-10 victory over Pittsburgh on Thanksgiving Day. "Steve's fine now," Johnson said.

Johnson said he's glad the Cowboys are catching an off-form New Orleans.

"I'd rather play a team that's struggling than one that's on a roll, playing extremely well," Johnson said.

EXERCISE A LITTLE CHARITY CANNED FOOD DRIVE

The Student Recreation Center will be collecting canned goods all week to be given to the South Plains Food Bank. Goods can be dropped off in the Fitness/Wellness Center throughout the week. On Saturday, Dec. 7, there will only be one Aerobics class on Court 5 from 10:30-11:30 a.m. The class will be structured so that participants of all abilities will be able to attend. Everyone is encouraged to bring two cans of food to be used as hand weights and then donated to the food bank. Exercise a little charity — help the needy during the holiday season.

INJURY CLINIC TONIGHT

The final injury clinic of the semester is scheduled for tonight at 7 p.m. in room 2012 of the Student Recreation Center. The clinic, which has run each Wednesday evening, allows students and staff to be examined for athletic type injuries by Dr. Robert Yost and his orthopedic resident doctors.

The clinic will resume again spring semester on Wednesday, Feb. 12. For further information contact the Recreational Sports office at 742-3351.

RENTAL SKIS AVAILABLE

If you are planning a winter ski trip and need skis, come to the Outdoor Shop located in the SRC room 206. We rent skis, boots and poles for only $9 a day. Get your skis early so you can hit the slopes as soon as you get to your destination. The Outdoor Program is also having a Christmas special! You may rent skis over the Christmas break for only $45. That is 10 days of rental with 2 travel days included!

The Outdoor Program also has Salomon certified ski technicians to help you with your ski maintenance! We can adjust you bindings, file, petex, and wax your skis for only $15. The Outdoor Shop is open Monday and Friday, from Noon-6 p.m. and Tuesday and Thursday from 1-5 p.m. For more information call 742-2949.

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT SATURDAY

Entries are due Thursday for this Saturday's 5-on-5 Basketball Tournament scheduled for the Rec Center Saturday morning. There will be no officials with the tournament winner receiving a Recreational Sports squeeze bottle.

Entries must be turned in at the Rec Sports office, room 202 of the Rec Center. For additional information please call 742-3351.

BLAZERS — KSA Take Volleyball Honors

Men's and women's volleyball came to a conclusion this past Thursday crowning KSA as the Women's All-University Champions while the Blazers captured the Men's title.

In the Women's tournament play, KSA defeated Off the Wall in the most even match played all season, 11-15, 15-8, 15-9. Leah Kreig was Off the Wall's leading scorer with ten points, four of those being aces. Trailing right on her heels was Mary Boyd with nine points.

Kreig was also credited with seven kills, but all this was to no avail as KSA pulled together a strong rally after losing the first game to take the match. Even though Honor Blevins lead KSA's scoring attack with 12 points and three kills, KSA's offensive scoring was more evenly distributed among their players. Robin Rutz was the second-highest scorer with eight points, two of which were kills. Off the Wall advanced to the finals after downing the Net Setters 14-10, 15-13, while KSA handed Action their semifinal loss 15-4, 8-15, 11-9 to advance.

The Men's action saw the Blazers handed a fairly quick loss in their first game as Whiplash won 15-3. The Blazers regrouped and came back to take the next two games, 15-10 and 15-8. Whiplash jumped out front early with James Troups scoring the first four points to make the score 4-0. Troups was credited with seven of Whiplash's points in the first game. Whiplash had a 4-3 lead half-way through the rotation of the second game when the Blazers began their offensive attack allowing Milt Brownfield to score seven straight points to take the lead 10-4 and eventually the game. Jaime Roquebert of the Blazers was the leading scorer in the third game with the final seven straight points to take the game and match. Whiplash advanced to the finals after squeaking by Above the Net 15-12, 15-5 in semifinal play while the Blazers downed Supreme Court 15-8, 14-9 to advance. Congratulations to KSA and the Blazers.

ALL-UNIVERSITY SOCCER BEGINS TONIGHT

The final four in men's intramural soccer have been determined and play begins this evening in the All-University Championship Tournament. The top two open teams, AELA and the Rosebuds, played last night to determine the Open champion, who will play the loser of the Greek Red/Black game at 6 p.m. tonight on R1. At 7 p.m. on R1, the Red/Black winner will battle the Open runner-up.

The Greek Red/Black game featured the Lambda Chi Chops, Red Division winners, challenging the Phi Delt Blue squad, Black Division winners. Phi Delt Blue advanced to the All-U tourney by virtue of victories over Pike Garnet (2-1), Sigma Chi Blue (3-0), Delta Chi "A" (5-0) and TKE Gray (1-0). The Chops downed Fiji (1-0) and Phi Psi (2-1) to gain a berth in the All-U bracket.

In the Open Division, AELA came in as the top seed and proved themselves worthy of the ranking as they outscored their opponents 701 going into last night's Open final. AELA topped both FA and Grass Stains 2-0 before giving up a second-half goal to Zoomba Warriors in a 3-1 victory. The Rosebuds advanced by way of a forfeit win over Totalitarian, a 2-1 defeat of the Lucid Lords, a 1-0 shutout of the Hooters, and a 4-1 win over second-seeded Chug.

Tonight's winners will advance to tomorrow night's men's final at 8 p.m. on R1. Also playing for All-U titles tomorrow evening will be the Co-Rec and Women's finalists at 6 and 7 p.m. respectively.

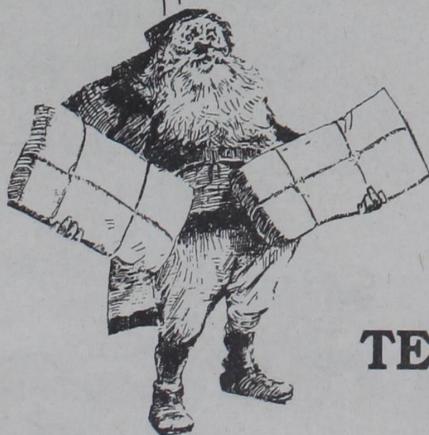

The Co-Rec final will feature the Zoomba Warriors and the Expos. Zoomba has advanced with the Expos over Black Magic (2-1) the HPERD Kickers (2-1), while the Expos topped the Blue Knights (2-1) and the Tequila Shooter (by forfeit).

Tomorrow's Women's final will match last night's Chi Omega/Gamma Phi Beta winner against the Kappa Delta/Alpha Delta Pi winner. Chi Omega and Kappa Delta received first round byes while Gamma Phi Beta and Alpha Delta Pi defeated Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Phi, respectively, in first round action.

WATER POLO BEGINS TOURNAMENT PLAY

The sports of Innertube Water Polo is in its second year of play as an intramural sport played at the Recreational Aquatic Center. Four co-rec teams began playoff action last Sunday. Top-seeded Sharks swam past the BGSS team 29-7 paced by the fine goalie play of Oyvind Zahl. The finest contest of the night saw the Barracudas squeak past Contagious, 17-16 in overtime. The Barracudas outscored Contagious 2-1 in the overtime stanza and the four men's teams involved in the playoffs will square off Dec. 8 along with the co-rec final.
