

US, Britain Hit At Soviet Remarks On Peace Policies

Czechoslovakia Answers Attack By Hungary

PARIS, Aug. 15 (AP) — The United States and Britain struck back today with blunt and unvarnished statements at Soviet "reflections" on their peace conference policies.

IDENTIFIES 'JOHN DOE'—Benjamin F. Fields, (left), Washington public relations counsel and war surplus broker, talks with Joseph C. Lewis, assistant counsel for the house surplus property committee, during a recess in the hearing in Washington at which Fields identified a profit-sharing man whom he previously had called "John Doe" as a former associate, John Brunner. Finland, last of the five former enemy states to be heard, presented a keynote of collaboration "with her great neighbor to the east, the Soviet Union."

Czechoslovakia bitterly replied to Hungarian attacks on Czech treatment of Hungarian minorities.

US Secretary of State Byrnes, taking exception to Russian allegations during the debate on Italy that certain nations had enriched themselves during the war, said the war had cost the United States $400,000,000,000 and "I hope he (the Soviet spokesman) was not referring to the United States."

Striking at economic clauses in the peace treaties "which tend to restrict and divert trade or distort international economic relations," Byrnes said the United States "has no apology to make for the principles of justice, equality and freedom which we have striven to the best of our ability" to write into the peace.

A. V. Alexander, Britain's First Lord of the Admiralty, complaining that the debate had tended to endanger agreement, said "the words of the first delegate of the United States (Byrnes) are in full accord with the sentiments of Great Britain."

He called Bulgaria's demands on Greece for western Thrace "intolerable."

Finland's Foreign Minister Carl Enckpiil praised Russia as a "generous victor," but entered a plea for a reduction by $100,000,000 in Finland's reparations payments.

Byrnes spoke after Foreign Minister Jan Masaryk of Czechoslovakia had told the conference that Hungarian Foreign Minister Janos Gyongyos had tried to "gloss over" his nation's record as an axis satellite by castigating Czechoslovakia in an address before the parley yesterday.

Byrnes said the United States "has no apology to make for the principles of justice, equality and freedom which we have striven to the best of our ability" to write into the peace.

Fields Called Back On Contempt Issue

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The house surplus property committee today cited contractor Benjamin F. Fields for contempt.

The committee said in an order filed in its records that Fields was "wilful and contemptuous" in refusing to produce records of his dealings in surplus war goods.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The House Surplus Property Committee called contract broker Benjamin F. Fields back today for a showdown on whether he should be cited for contempt.

At issue are records which committee members insist should show more details about how Fields split profits he made by buying and selling excess war goods.

Chairman Slaughter (D-Mo) announced that unless the portly witness comes up with what the committee wants he will be cited for contempt of the House.

Earlier Slaughter had threatened to take such action by 4 p. m. yesterday, but he said it was agreed to give Fields an overnight chance to "purge" himself.

Fields testified he does not have the data the committee wants. He said a four by six inch notebook sheet with some figures jotted on it and reference to two "John Does" contains all the pertinent information in his possession.

Slaughter commented, however, that "it would be ridiculous to accept the statement that a man who dealt in millions of dollars has only a four-by-six ledger memo pad to show how he split up his profits."

Fields agreed there might be some other records of his transactions, but added that if so an auditor checking his books has them.

The auditor, Ted R. Storm, testified that he has been working on a ledger, check stubs, cancelled checks and bank statements for Fields. He said, however, they have been in Fields' office right along.

Milk Supply Hit By Drouth; Shortage Seen

Local Dairymen Say Seasonal Reduction 30 Days Early

Big Spring's milk supply has been hit severely by the drouth, and major distributors in this area are predicting a shorter winter supply than was available last season.

A reduction in supplies in September and early fall is a normal trend, the distributors point out, but the decrease is being felt at least 30 days earlier than usual this year.

At the peak of the season, Howard county was producing but slightly more than half its milk requirements, with large amounts imported from other areas to round out the supply.

Now, however, other points in the state are faced with drouth conditions, which, although not as serious as those locally, are having a decided effect on milk production.

One major distributor here said shipments from Brown county, which previously had accounted for a large percentage of his supply, have dropped more than 50 percent during the past month.

No relief is foreseen unless feed crops in other sections of the country can build up stocks sufficient to effect a reduction in prices.

Most all feeds have increased substantially in price, which has discouraged expansion in dairy production.

Good rains in the spring provided grass and excellent sudan crops for dairy grazing in Brown county, but a summer drouth has brought an early termination of these benefits.

Other milk producing areas to the northwest have fared little better than local dairymen, which has shortened that source of supply considerably throughout the season.

Sino-Reds Reject Chiang's Terms; Blast Marshall

NANKING, April 15 (AP)—Chinese communists, rejecting Chiang Kai-shek's peace program, today stepped up their assaults in the north and turned their verbal fire upon General Marshall, US peace envoy.

Government dispatches reported that authorities in Changchun, the Manchurian capital, and in Tientsin were taking special precautions against riots after receiving intelligence reports that the communist underground was planning large scale disturbances.

Precautions in Changchun included an 11 p. m. until dawn curfew, increased guards and strict searches of theaters, dance halls and other amusement places.

Official dispatches said government planes dropped leaflets over Harbin, Taitshai and other important communist-held cities, but did not report the contents.

The communists' emancipation daily, published at their Yenan headquarters, declared flatly that Marshall was "not above blame for the failure to cease hostilities in China."

Past communist criticism of US "aid" to Chiang's government had been combined with personal praise for the American mediator.

US troops in Japan become healthier

YOKOHAMA, Aug. 15 (AP)—US troops in Japan become healthier as the occupation progresses. Eighth Army hospital commanders and surgeons reported today that there has been a general decrease in disease and hospitalizations.

Her secretary, Miss Malvina Thompson, said last night at the apartment that except for a "couple of bumps on the head," Mrs. Roosevelt was none the worse for the experience.

Police gave this account of the accident: Mrs. Roosevelt's automobile first struck a machine operated by Albert Brooks, 51, of Brooklyn and Hopewell Junction, N. Y. The impact turned the Roosevelt car into the path of an automobile driven by Robert S. Rose, 26, of Ossining, N. Y.

Mighty New Carrier FDR Joins US Naval Units To Tour Tension Spots

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The mighty new aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt is due at Lisbon tomorrow, bound for a Mediterranean training cruise that coincides with developing tension in the Near East.

American diplomatic officials reportedly are taking a serious view of Russian demands on Turkey for a direct part in the control and defense of the Dardanelles.

While it seems certain that the United States will back Turkey in rejecting the Russian demand, it is an open question how far this country will go in that respect.

Thus the appearance of the aircraft carrier and possibly other American naval units in the Mediterranean a few days after the arrival in Portugal appears likely to be widely interpreted as an American show of force even though all official statements insist that the only purpose is a training cruise.

Naval plans call for the big carrier to be joined at Lisbon by the cruisers Houston and Little Rock and possibly one or more destroyers, all from Adm. Henry K. Hewitt's naval forces in northern European waters.

Already in the Mediterranean under Vice Adm. Bernhard H. Bieri are the cruisers Fargo and Huntington and two destroyers.

Bieri's vessels recently have been used more or less for police duties in connection with maintaining order at Trieste, involved in the peace conference controversy between Italy and Yugoslavia.

Presumably when the carrier FDR and whatever vessels accompany her move into the Mediterranean they will pass under the British supreme command there for joint training exercises involving fleet units of both nations.

YONKERS, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt was shaken-up and four other persons were injured late yesterday afternoon in a three-car collision near here.

An official police report made by the Patrolman William Segnit to the Westchester County Parkway Police Headquarters said the widow of President Roosevelt told him "she dozed off at the wheel" of her Lincoln sedan, crossing over the white line between north and southbound traffic lanes, and crashing head-on into another automobile.

Her secretary, Miss Malvina Thompson, said last night at the apartment that except for a "couple of bumps on the head," Mrs. Roosevelt was none the worse for the experience.

Police gave this account of the accident: Mrs. Roosevelt's automobile first struck a machine operated by Albert Brooks, 51, of Brooklyn and Hopewell Junction, N. Y. The impact turned the Roosevelt car into the path of an automobile driven by Robert S. Rose, 26, of Ossining, N. Y.

No charges were filed against any of the drivers. Both the Roosevelt and Brooks cars were so badly damaged they could not proceed under their own power.

Britain Left To Deal With Jews As She Sees Wise, Truman Advises

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Authoritative sources in the British government said today that the United States has refused to participate in the plan for dividing Palestine as recommended by a British-American cabinet committee of experts, leaving Britain to cope with the problem by herself.

President Truman made the United States decision known in a letter saying he could neither accept nor reject the plan at this time without "the support of the American people," these sources said.

British officials, who had made it plain that the plan for dividing Palestine into four zones in a federal state depended upon support of the United States, say they now feel that they have to seek a new solution.

Informants said Mr. Truman had advised Britain, as the mandatory power, to go ahead with any action she deemed wise under the circumstances.

The government decided, however, not to make public the text or details of President Truman's letter to Prime Minister Attlee.

The president's decision apparently meant that the admission of 100,000 Jews to Palestine, recommended by a British-American committee of inquiry which spent months in investigating the situation both in Europe and Palestine, would be postponed beyond the end of the year.

British and American committees headed by Herbert Morrison, lord president of the council, and Henry F. Grady of the US state department then spent several weeks in London discussing the committee's report. They agreed on the division plan, with the immigration of 100,000 refugees to be dependent upon the working out of the long-range scheme.

Both Arabs and Jews have declared the scheme, at least in many of its phases, was unacceptable.

Both Parties Woo Support Of LaFollette

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Both major parties obviously hoped today for Senator Robert M. LaFollette's support in November amid conflicting forecasts on the political portents of his defeat.

Beaten for Wisconsin's GOP senatorial nomination by Joseph R. McCarthy, 37-year-old war veteran, LaFollette himself kept mum on his future plans. He reiterated that he will not run as an independent.

As a former progressive who voted consistently with the Roosevelt new deal on domestic legislation, the veteran lawmaker had an open invitation from Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) to come back into the administration fold.

In a statement reportedly inspired by party leaders, Taylor said LaFollette's defeat in the GOP primary proved "there is no room in the republican ranks for men with the interests of the people at heart."

When Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannagan commented that LaFollette's loss meant certain victory in November for Hiram McMurray, the democratic nominee, GOP publicity man William C. Murphy retorted that if Hannagan meant "he can get a hundred bucks of my money awfully easy."

Henry A. Clark, manager of the US Employment Service office here, is in Abilene attending a conference on worker-analysis.

This is a new service of the USES, designed to test workers for various jobs for which they apply. Other training details are to be considered at the meeting of all office managers. Mrs. Nancy Johnson, Lamesa, formerly assigned here, also is attending.

Arabs Arrested

BEYROUTH, Lebanon, Aug. 15 (AP)—Police announced today the arrest of two Lebanese Arabs who, they said, had confessed to bombing the American legation and the British consulate here last week.

The top unanswered question in advance of today's session was whether the labor organization would launch a new wave of wage demands.

Three big CIO unions already are talking along this line. They are the packing house workers, now in wage negotiations with Swift and Company; the executive board of Ford local 600 of the CIO auto workers; and the executive board of the CIO oil workers, meeting at Fort Worth.

Official Figures Show Barnes Leading Blount

The lead in the 91st legislative district race swung back to Cecil H. Barnes, San Angelo, incumbent, on official figures announced Wednesday in Dallas by W. H. Kittrell, chairman of the state democratic committee.

Kittrell's figures showed Barnes 6,158 votes, R. E. Blount, Jr., Big Spring, 5,966; R. E. Taylor, San Angelo, 1,893. On complete unofficial returns, Blount had shown a 63-vote lead over Barnes, that tabulation having been 5,927 for Taylor, 1,876 for Barnes, and 5,864 for Blount.

On the totals released by the state committee head, Blount picked up 39 votes, Taylor 17 and Barnes 294. The additions give Barnes a 192-vote lead.

Thus, Barnes and Blount are contesting for the 1,501 votes short of majority on the first primary totals.

Kittrell's announcement did not show a county-by-county breakdown in the district. Presumably, the change was outside of Howard county for official figures of 4,348 for Blount, 238 for Taylor and 877 for Barnes were identical for the unofficial figures in the county.

Barnes In Town

Cecil H. Barnes, San Angelo, seeking election to his second term as representative from the 91st legislative district, was in Big Spring Thursday in interest of his candidacy. He planned to spend the day here and at Garden City before returning to San Angelo, and will be back in Big Spring before the Aug. 24 run-off, he said.

ended up paying $1 per stump for the privilege because they grossed him $50 each for gun stocks.

Mr. McKay drifted to Lampasas county as a gunsmith and learned to make a superior powder for buffalo hunters. In 1879 he watched buffalo hunters herd in several thousand head of bison at Buffalo Gap and himself shot one "just for the name of the thing."

He entered employ of the T&P on May 31, 1880, with a bridge subcontractor, but transferred to the water department before Christmas the same year. His arrival in Big Spring on Jan. 3, 1881, was for the purpose of pumping and piping water from the big spring to the tentative location of the roadbed for the projected railroad.

The huge boulder which flanks the spring site today caved in while he and his crew were working there, burying his six shooter, clothes and a side of bacon. In 1883 he became a trainman and soon was assigned as an engineer and once had to bluff a bison bull (See McKay, Page 3, Column 1)

No Relief Seen In Heat Wave

By The Associated Press Texas' extended siege of hot and dry weather continued today with no relief in sight.

The US weather bureau reported that the current summer is outstanding on record because of the unusual number of days with maximum temperatures of more than 100 degrees.

Hot spot of the state this year is Seymour with a record of 46 days of 100-plus temperatures. Haskell was second with 45 days and Henrietta third with 43 days.

In Dallas yesterday's 100 degrees was the 21st day of that season with temperatures over the century mark.

Henrietta was high with 110 degrees. Childress and Seymour reported 108; Memphis and Quanah, 107; Graham and Snyder, 106; Bridgeport, Carrizo Springs, Spur and Dublin, 105; Lamesa, Eastland, Encinal, Mission, and Uvalde, 104.

Plainview reported a 1.45-inch rain falling within the past 24 hours. Other rainfall included Clarendon, 52; Memphis, 47; Dalhart, 48; Amarillo, 41 Miami, 44.

Rain showers are predicted for the upper coastal area of East Texas tonight. Thundershowers are scheduled in the section west of the Pecos river.

Weather Forecast

Dept. of Commerce Weather Bureau

BIG SPRING AND VICINITY: Partly cloudy today, tonight and tomorrow. Not much change in temperature. High today 100, low tonight 75; high tomorrow 100.

EAST TEXAS: Partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and Friday; scattered afternoon thundershowers near upper coast; gentle to moderate southerly winds on coast.

L. F. McKay Dies; Early Pioneer Of Big Spring, Vet T & P Engineer

Lemuel Forbes McKay, 86, who had resided in Big Spring longer than any other individual, died at 5:15 p. m. here Wednesday.

He had been bedfast at the Big Spring Hospital for 16 months and prior to that time had been seriously ill for three months.

Mr. McKay had been a resident of Big Spring for 65 years, coming here before there was any settlement. Forty-five years of his time here was spent as a T&P locomotive engineer before he retired in 1928.

Born at Charlotetown, Prince Edward Island, Canada, on Sept. 18, 1859, into a sea-faring family, he moved with his family to Chicago while embers were still hot from the historic fire. He passed an examination as a marine engineer but was rejected because of his extreme youth. Mr. McKay became interested in chemistry and at 17 years of age was hired by a Philadelphia water softening concern.

In 1877 he came to Texas, working on a farm near Waco at $17.50 per month. A pamphlet on grub walnut stumps from Teahuacana creek bottomland and Plans of J. W. Overton for making further improvement in sheep breeding on his place were set back considerably Tuesday when a prize buck, valued at $250 died. Overton purchased the buck at the San Angelo sheep show on July 31. Definite cause of its death has not been determined, since it died before a veterinarian could examine it, but Overton believes it was due to a kidney ailment. The animal was sheared, and although it had not been weighed Wednesday, County agent Durward Lewter thinks it probably carried 28 pounds of wool.

Howard county 4-H club workers were working the first part of this week, getting as many lambs as possible on feed. Lewter hopes to have all club lambs distributed before Sept. 1. Usually the club feeders start their lamb projects in October, but the drought is making it extremely difficult for them to be carried through on the range, and if the club members are to get a normal start with their feeding programs they probably will have to pamper the lambs, especially during the first six weeks, Lewter said.

Harve Dunagan has a cotton field west of town which has been hit by the "red spider." Believed to be strictly a dry weather menace, these insects are seldom seen in this section of the state, but at times are prevalent in the Rio Grande Valley. They draw moisture from the cotton, which usually is fatal to the plant. Dunagan's field, which is west of the Big Spring airport, is the second area to be attacked by the spider in Howard county this year.

Leafworms have been reported in virtually all of Texas' cotton from Arkansas and Louisiana to the New Mexico line. Howard county has some leafworms, but no weevils and few flea hoppers have been noted. Dry weather throughout the state has played an important part in reducing weevil damage, except in a few localized sections which have received recent showers sufficient to provide rank growth.

The winter legume program is benefitting greatly cotton farmers in the Texas coastal areas, reports F. C. Elliott, cotton work specialist for the extension service. Evidence is shown in Lavaca county, Elliott says, where the legumes were planted on 255 farms last fall. Lavaca county Agricultural Agent G. C. King made a recent random check of the cotton in the area, and found that cotton following the legumes had an average of two more bolls per stalk than cotton planted on soil that did not have the benefit of the legumes.

SOLDIER'S EYE WOULDN'T STAY IN; DOCTORS MADE HIM FLOATING ORB

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

Science is up with some pretty surprising things these days. Take the case of the soldier at Brooke Army Medical Center at San Antonio. He lost an eye in combat, and was fitted with an artificial eye.

It was a good eye. But the soldier was an active young man who liked to dive and swim. The eye often came out during such strenuous exercise. Particularly when he bounced off diving boards.

The plastic eye laboratory of the medical center couldn't make an eye guaranteed to stay in place at such times, but it did the next best thing—it perfected one that floats!

The soldier is satisfied. At least he can find the artificial eye easily now.

Doctors don't just dream up things like that. They have to work hard at them.

A well-known Dallas surgeon who loves children was to perform a delicate heart operation known as the "Blue Baby Operation." He had a well-earned vacation coming—and he spent it studying at John Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore where the operation was perfected.

Stanley G. Chadwell of Myra, lost use of both legs in 1936 in an oil rig accident. But he gets around all right in his room now, after being bedridden ten years.

He asked the Army Air Forces for a parachute harness. It was given him and suspended from the ceiling of his room. Parachute Foreman Ben Nelson at Perrin Field built a frame on a wheel that operates on a rail. It permits Chadwell to move about his room on his feet.

Today he stands as he works and follows his hobbies, hopes the exercise may redevelop the use of his lame legs.

Chiang Lays Down Six Points To End Strife In China

NANKING, Aug. 15 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, laying down his government's six-point program for strife-torn China told the nation today "our important demand is that the communist party change its policy of seizing power by military force and transform into a peaceful party. We want them to help us with peace . . ."

Meantime increased heavy fighting was reported in North China. Pledging a prompt end to his one-party rule and institution of a constitutional government "without delay," he also warned armed dissenters that the government "must put down rebellions . . ."

The Six Points:
1—End the present government without delay. "The national assembly will be held on schedule, Nov. 12."

2—Abide by agreements reached by the political consultative council—which set up the framework for constitutional rule.

3—Include members of all parties and other groups in the new government.

4—Abide by the Jan. 10 truce agreement. "Our only demand is that the communists withdraw from the areas where they threaten peace and obstruct communications."

5—Continue to use political ends.

6—Enable the people to live in peace, giving them protection and security.

Cloths For Polishing

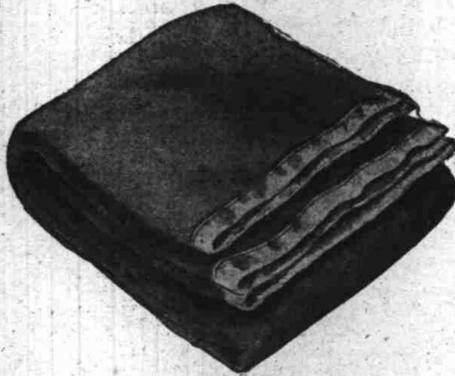

A dustless duster is something to help the homemaker with her daily cleaning chores. Pour into a glass jar two tablespoons of furniture polish or liquid wax. Swish it around until the entire inside of the jar is coated. Then pour out any excess liquid. Put a piece of soft cloth or chamois in the jar and let it stand there a day or two. The cloth will soak up the polish evenly. When the cloth becomes soiled from using, wash it out and repeat the process.

Roby And Rotan Seek To Join Water Project

Representatives from Roby and Rotan, cities suffering from inadequate water supplies, Wednesday conferred with M. H. Ulmer, Midland, president of the Colorado River Municipal Water association in hopes of obtaining water from a proposed lake on the upper Colorado.

Ulmer heads an association composed of Snyder, Colorado City, Big Spring, Midland and Odessa and which has applied for water rights to impound a reservoir capable of supplying 26,000,000 gallons daily for the five cities.

He pointed out to Roby and Rotan men that the project was purely in the tentative stage, would require considerable study and approximately three years to complete if it is undertaken.

Roby estimated it would need four million gallons a month and Rotan nine million per month. An additional 35-mile pipeline would be required to serve the two cities. Representatives promised to submit data on present water production facilities for study by the CRMWA committee.

Charles C. Powell represented Rotan and W. W. Morton, L. E. Narrell, Farrest Teteliler, W. O. Neves and R. B. Tanner represented Roby.

Two More Weapons Revealed By Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Army inched back the curtain today on two weapons calculated to be useful defensively in the event of a future war.

1. The air forces disclosed that actual tests have started with a hitherto secret guided missile designed as potential protection against high speed, high flying aircraft.

2. The War Department revealed that a new coat of armor for soldiers capable of repelling "missiles up to and including a .45 calibre revolver bullet," will soon get a practical test in South American jungles.

The air forces' guided missile is the "Gapa," a slim, ten feet long, rocket powered projectile.

Without disclosing whether the missile is guided by radio, makes use of a proximity fuse, or other details, the air forces announcement said that when perfected it is "expected to be capable of seeking out and destroying possible enemy weapons before they can reach their target."

The new bullet-repelling armor, identified as "Doron," will be worn by members of a party of American scientists and drill crewmen prospecting for oil in Colombia.

Mrs. Jack Odle Dies In Child Birth

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Jack Odle, a former resident, who passed away at an Amarillo hospital at 10 a. m. Monday shortly after the birth of a son.

Odle, a former Texas Christian university football star, worked at the Big Spring Bombardier school for a time some three years ago and helped John Dibrrell coach the Big Spring high school football team at one time.

He was discharged from the US Navy last November and since has been with the American Airlines in Amarillo.

Mrs. Odle will be buried in Fort Worth.

Gay Hill Improves School Building

Doors of the school at Gay Hill are ready to open after completion of work on the interior of the building. Approximately $200 was spent on the re-touching job, which was authorized by the school trustees of that district.

Most of the other rural schools in the county are ready for the new school year. Repairs are to be made shortly to the gymnasium roof at Lomax, which was damaged by a heavy hail in that area last May.

Work on the Knott school building is being held up pending the arrival of brick. Foundation for the $90,000 structure was completed several weeks ago.

Students at Elbow will ride in style this year.

A new school bus was purchased from a local motor concern Wednesday and will be put in operation in September.

Here'n There

Marjorie Locke has returned from a month's visit with relatives in Springfield, Ill. Things are as green there as they are parched here, she reports. While in Springfield she clipped a story about a city ordinance against "wolves" ogling. On the books for many years, the law makes it a fine from $3 to $100 for males to "address offensive remarks to, make ogles or winks or attempts to make acquaintance of or force company upon any female person." Women are not subject to provisions of the old law.

Mary Watson Jones is spending two weeks in San Diego and other points in California. She made the trip from here by air.

Chester O'Brien starts a week's vacation tonight and will probably visit Abilene during his recess from work. He also intends to go fishing.

Finland Woodpulp Exports Increase

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Civilian Production Administration said today that imports of woodpulp from Finland will almost double during the last half of this year.

The agency said also that it expects that next year Finland will be able to increase its newsprint exports to this country.

US Troops Ordered To Chinese Quarters

SHANGHAI, China, Aug. 15 (AP)—United States troops and naval personnel were ordered to their quarters from 6 p. m. to dawn tomorrow after nationalist authorities charged the communists were planning an uprising in Shanghai either tonight or within a few days.

No communist troops are stationed in this city of 4,000,000, but there is a communist underground. Several American warships are in Shanghai but only a handful of American troops are here and they serve in the China service command.

Markets

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Stocks generally beat a moderate retreat in today's market without being subjected to any real pressure.

Dealings from the start were among the slowest of the past two months.

Steels, soft in the forenoon, steadied eventually along with some others, and a few gainers appeared. Losses of fractions to 2 or more points, however, were widely distributed among liquors, rails and industrials near the close. Transfers tapered to around 600,000 shares.

Stories Numerous As To Cause Of Sugar Shortage

By JOHN H. MURPHY
SUGAR LAND, (Sp)—
What about the sugar shortage? Over the counters of ration-weary grocers, in cafes where you frequently drink your coffee without sugar and in the dining rooms of homes all over America, it's a timely question.

Some folks say there's plenty of sugar, but the government is throwing it away or—and this is the best of all—some say that the refineries have warehouses stored full of sugar, waiting—say the wags—"for the prices to go sky high".

In the plainest, most careful language they know how to use, the sugar refiners say it isn't so.

Sugar is a world commodity, needed in greater supplies now than ever before to help build up starving peoples all over a war-torn world. To handle the world's total supply in an equitable manner the major nations of the world—with the exception of a few South and Central American countries—formed a single pool from which allocations are made to each member nation.

The Imperial refinery at Sugar Land alone has supplied 28,099,800 pounds of sugar to the United Nations rehabilitation relief administration.

The present shortage is caused by a great many factors too numerous and too complex to list here, but mainly it is a result of three things:

1. An extreme shortage of the world sugar supply. This is due directly to war damage in the important cane-producing areas of the Philippines, Netherlands East Indies and other Pacific areas and to the devastated beet sugar production areas of continental Europe.

The chief sources of America's supply—namely the Caribbean, Hawaiian and United States cane and beet crops—were relatively unaffected by the war, but are being used to assist in the relief of the famine-ridden areas of the world. This means a sizeable reduction in the amount of sugar available for United States domestic consumption. (In 1941 the average amount of sugar used by Americans was 103 pounds per person).

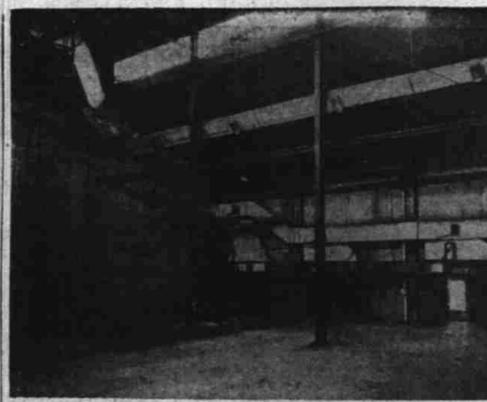

2. The dislocation of supplies inside the United States.

Texas is one of four areas designated by the department of agriculture as sugar deficit areas. The government has attempted to create a balance of supply and demand in the United States. However, this balance is extremely difficult to work out and admitted, through no one's fault, especially, there has been a failure to equitably distribute the nation's sugar supplies.

At the present time there is a surplus of sugar in certain beet-producing areas of the West coast, while the Atlantic seaboard and the Gulf coast are unable to take care of their demand. Steps are now being taken by refiners and government to ship additional sugar from the surplus areas into the deficit states. Thus Texas housewives may expect better supplies in the near future.

3. Panic buying by holders of ration evidence.

Stamp No. 9 was validated Mar. 11, good until Oct. 31, but it appears that nearly all of the No. 9 stamps have long since been cashed. Stamp No. 49, good from May 1 to Aug. 31, has nearly disappeared. Stamp No. 10, validated July 1 and good until Oct. 31, is being spent in a flood. Holders of industrial sugar evidence are asking for their entire third quarter allowance in July. Refiners receive their allotment of raw sugars in shipments spaced over the entire ration period and cannot take care of the sudden demand for all sugar at once.

SUGAR WAREHOUSE, 1946—In ordinary times this warehouse of the Imperial sugar refinery at Sugar Land was packed with 20,000,000 pounds of refined sugar. Thursday it was completely bare, but offered full denial of rumors that the refinery has been "hoarding sugar for a price rise." The warehouse is one of three at the refinery, two of which are empty and have been for months, while the third houses paper bags, corn syrup stocks and some 50,000 pounds of refined sugar—a very small amount in terms of sugar demands.

The critical shortage, is due to last until mid-1947. By that time the combined production of the Cuban and Puerto Rican cane crops and the United States beet crop are expected to reach such proportions as to meet the critical needs of the nation, with 1948 bringing a full, normal supply.

Braising Meat

To braise meat the first step is to brown it in an open pan on the top of the range. A heavy frying-pan or any pan which has a tight cover may be used. Once the meat is browned, the rest of the cooking may be done either in the oven or on the top of the range. In either case, a low temperature should be maintained, and the meat allowed to cook slowly in a covered pan.

Drunkenness Heads List Of Arrests

Drunkenness again headed the list of offenses causing arrest by Big Spring police during the month of July, according to the regular report submitted by Chief A. G. Mitchell.

Fines ranging from $15 to $100 were assessed in 103 drunkenness cases, while one was turned over to the Texas Highway patrol and 13 were released.

Seventeen were arrested during the month for unlawful train riding and seven for gaming. Other cases ranged from assault with attempted murder to burglary and investigation.

The police department radio made 1208 calls to local units in July, and at the same time received 278 calls from other stations and transmitted 65 messages to other stations.

Sixty-one traffic tickets were issued, with 25 paying fines, 16 excused and 20 pending.

IT DOESN'T TAKE PERFECT SPECIMENS TO TURN OUT SUCCESSFUL RELISHES

If you want to be a pickling prodigy, try relishes. They are easily made and sure-fire successes. Many home garden vegetables are suitable: tomatoes, peppers, celery, cabbage, cucumbers, carrots, beets, corn, onions.

You needn't have perfect specimens either; seconds, and the picked over leavings of your victory garden will do if you take the time to trim, snip, and peel. The bugaboos that bother other kinds of pickling don't matter here; floaters, flabbiness, shrivelling, darkening and scum can't happen.

Basically, relishes are a medley of vegetables, cleaned, trimmed, chopped and ground; drained to free cells of excess moisture; cooked, open-kettle fashion, in a spiced vinegar solution; then poured immediately into sterilized jars and sealed. Here's a starter:

India Relish
 Wash and remove stem ends from: 1 peck (13 1/4 lbs.) green tomatoes. Skin: 3 medium onions. Wash and remove tops from, then chop:

1 1/2 cups (1 small stalk) coarsely chopped celery.
 Clean and remove seeds and cores from:

4 sweet red peppers.
 Put all vegetables through medium grind of food chopper. Drain off excess liquid.

Combine and heat to boiling:
Corn Relish
 1 1/4 cups sugar
 1 cup light corn syrup
 1/2 cup light molasses
 3 1/2 cups distilled white vinegar
 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
 1 teaspoon ground cloves
 1 teaspoon ground allspice
 1 teaspoon turmeric
 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
 1 tablespoon celery seed
 1/2 cup salt

Cook vegetables in spiced vinegar solution, boiling gently, covered, for 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Quickly pack one hot sterilized jar at a time. Fill to 1/4 inch from top. Be sure vinegar solution covers the vegetables. Seal each jar at once. Yield: 8 pints.

Boll for 5 minutes, then dip in cold water:
 10 to 12 ears (2 1/2 qts.) cut corn. Cut from cob and measure. Combine and boll gently for 20 minutes:

1 cup (2 medium) chopped green peppers
 1 cup (2 medium) chopped sweet red peppers
 1 1/4 cups (4 medium) chopped onions
 1 cup (1/2 medium stalk) chopped celery
 1 1/2 cups sugar
 2 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
 1 1/2 tablespoons mustard seed
 1 tablespoon salt
 1 tablespoon celery seed
 1 qt. distilled white vinegar
 3/4 cup water
 1/2 teaspoon turmeric

Pack while boiling into sterilized jars. Be sure vinegar solution covers all vegetables. Fill jars to not more than 1 inch from top. Seal as directed for boiling

County Library To Abandon Shift For Old Hours

The Howard County Free Library will shortly abandon its "split shift" and return to its regular eight-hour operating schedule, Mrs. Inez Ragsdale announced this month.

For the past ten days, the facility has been functioning from 9 to 12 a. m., reopening at 5 p. m. and closing at 9 p. m. The change was made due to the afternoon heat.

However, the hour shift has not proved popular with some subscribers and the regular 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. shift will be readopted, Mrs. Ragsdale said.

Circulation at the library fell off last week but the lull in business was probably due to the interest in the rodeo. At any rate, business showed a sharp upsurge this week. A total of 246 books were checked out during the first two days of the week.

Mrs. Elsie Willis recently donated three new volumes to the library, all of which have been added to the shelves.

The donations are "My Three Years With Eisenhower," by Capt. Harry C. Butcher; Sinclair Lewis' "Cass Timberlane," and "Saints and Strangers" by George F. Wilson.

More than 300 books will shortly be given to the negro school, where they will be made available to the students.

FSA Supervisors To Convene Here

Supervisors from four West Texas Farm Security Administration districts will gather here for a business conference for 28 days beginning Monday, Sept. 26.

Among the visitors expected to attend and appear on the program are C. T. Watson, state FSA director and former manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, and E. Lee Osburn of Dallas, regional FSA director.

County supervisors of Districts 11, 12, 13 and 14 will be invited to sit in on the four-day conclave, which will be conducted at the Settles hotel.

District officers from San Angelo, Haskell, Amarillo and Lubbock can also be expected to attend.

Representing the home office will be E. A. Miller, Howard county supervisor, Mary Watson Jones and Frances Tucker.

Twelve Months Bring Vast Change In Defeated Japan; Mac Popular

Japan is still ruled by military authority. It is, however, of a her own defunct militarism.

Troops of the allied powers are everywhere in the Japanese islands. It is largely an American occupation but there are many soldiers of the United Kingdom and some from China.

The relationship between the occupation forces and the Japanese is about as friendly as could be imagined so soon after the war. There has been no need for a policy which is tough or bristling with rifles or bayonets.

Japan still pays respect to a symbol of the right and power to rule. But the symbol no longer is the emperor. Now it is General Douglas MacArthur. His authority is unquestioned. The figure of Emperor Hirohito has been dwarfed by the stature of the military chieftain.

MacArthur's attitude toward the Japanese is that of father to ward child. His guiding hand is firm.

Ira Will Applied
Classic examples of MacArthur's iron will in the direction of Japanese thru democratic channels are his orders giving the ordinary Japanese freedom of expression, breaking up the industrial zaibatsu, banning state Shintoism, barring known militarists and ultra-nationalists from public office, and discouraging public demonstrations of an extremist nature.

His efforts to provide Japan with sufficient food and his support of the emperor system have won him many friends among the Japanese.

Japan is a country struggling to regain its national character. Lacking in sufficient intelligent leaders, its internal politics is marked by bungling, inertia and works.

Japan is a land still battered and broken. Its big cities bear the pockmarks of devastating air raids. There are vast rubble fields in the heart of every big population center.

Much repair work is being done but it will be many years before the scars of war can be erased. Japan is a nation of more than 70,000,000 people who are wondering how they are going to get enough to eat.

Economy Shattered
What will next winter bring? Japan cannot grow enough rice to feed her people plentifully, for instance. There must be imports or more starvation.

Japan's economy has been shattered. Her ability to produce was blasted by the war and has recovered only slightly. Japanese industry still is beset with lack of raw materials and the difficulty of repair, the inability to find

Jester At Rodeo, Rainey Stumps In Sellers Land

By The Associated Press

Beauford H. Jester took time out from political campaigning last night to attend a Waco rodeo, while his opponent in the gubernatorial run-off, Homer P. Rainey, began his Northeast Texas drive to seek support among backers of Atty. Gen. Grover Sellers, defeated candidate in the first primary.

While the two stars of the run-off battle were in the field, former Gov. James V. Allred, in a radio broadcast from Austin in support of Rainey, said the campaign is a race of the "little 'uns" versus the big 'uns."

"The big 'uns have got the money, but us little 'uns have got the votes," Allred said. "It's up to us to use those votes."

Rainey said at Paris last night that "the good people of Texas will not permit Homer P. Rainey to be crucified on a cross of slander."

At Waco, Jester, after speaking at Comanche and Gatesville during the day, climaxed a busy V-J day of campaigning by riding a white horse down Waco's main street.

Astride a Corsicana horse named Smoky, he led a parade composed of two bands, scores of rodeo cowboys, a Jester campaign jeep, 14 automobiles from his home town of Corsicana, and a chuck wagon drawn by midget mules.

Later he appeared briefly at the Bear Club rodeo and invited the audience to attend the Corsicana rodeo next month.

MOTHER SPANKS DAUGHTER; JUDGE THREATENS BOTH

DALLAS, Aug. 15 (AP)—Justice of the Peace Bill Richburg took no action when a 29-year old Dallas woman asked him to place her 48-year old mother under a peace bond.

The daughter said her mother spanked her for going out nights.

Richburg told the mother and daughter that he would put both of them under bond "if I hear of either of you creating a disturbance again."

Roy Davis To Judge Montana Horse Show

Roy C. Davis, widely known West Texas Palomino breeder and horse fancier, leaves by Continental Air Lines Friday morning to judge an all-Palomino show at Livingston, Montana, Aug. 19.

This will be the first time that Davis, who has served for several years as a show judge, has judged the Livingston competition.

He was in Abilene during the past week to help Jay plans for the Palomino show in connection with the West Texas Fair at Abilene. Dates were set for Sept. 30, Oct. 1-2. Gelding sire and color divisions were added to the half-class, boosting the number to 19 classes. There will be 16 divisions in the performance classes.

July Fires Cause Over $6,000 Loss

A total of 30 fires inflicted insured loss of $6,728.14 to buildings and contents in Big Spring during the month of July, a report from F. W. Bettie, fire marshal, shows.

Five of the July fires were in frame out houses, and the fire department also answered five alarms to the Morris Salvage Yard on East First street, where a coal fire smoldered for several days. There were four grass and trash fires and eight automobile fires.

Smoking was blamed as cause for seven fires, while five were traced to spontaneous ignition. Inspections were made in 70 business buildings and five public buildings during the month, with only two fire hazards recorded, both of which were removed immediately.

Moody For Jester In Runoff Election

AUSTIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Former Governor Dan Moody will vote for Beauford H. Jester in the runoff race for governor.

He said here yesterday he had voted for Jester in the first primary, and will repeat his vote. Moody said he did not plan to campaign actively.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat, right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Euceminate (formerly called Barcol Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.

conducted by Rev. C. M. Jones of Trent with the Rev. Dewitt Van-Pelt, Vincent delivering the afternoon message.

Rev. Arthur Deloach, pastor of the First Baptist church, Odessa was to review activities of the Palsano Encampment held recently in the Davis Mountains, and Jerry Grant of Prairie View was to give the devotional. Cattle Prices Steady At Livestock Sale

Volume at the Big Spring Livestock Commission company sale Wednesday held steady with a lively 1,400-head figure.

Although cattle are showing a noticeable decline in flesh, prices were steady. A few hogs through the ring were topped by a 22.80 offer.

Fat bulls brought up to 12.50, fat cows to 12.75. Butcher cows ran from 8.00 to 10.50, canners and cutters from 7.00-8.50.

Butcher yearlings ranged from 13.00-15.00, and fat butcher yearlings, reflecting the toll of the drought, were conspicuous by their absence. Stocker demand, however, was strong with cows and calves going from $100 to $120. Stocker heifers drew 12.00-13.50, and stocker steers 13.00-15.00.

Storing Cherries

Use cherries as soon as possible after purchase. Meanwhile, keep them in a cool dry place. Moisture and heat lead to rapid spoilage. If you wash them before they are ready to use, drain and dry them thoroughly, then spread in shallow pan and keep in the refrigerator.

Let Dolly Preside at Little Girls' Home Made Ice Cream Party Treat

LITTLE girls love a festive party table just as much as grown-ups do and it's good inspiration to let them have a bit of hostess training as often as you can. An easy way to dress up a supper table for small fry is to install Sister's beloved new Kewpie doll as a centerpiece and then carry out the theme by making doll cut-outs to decorate the ice cream which, of course, is the one and only must when juvenile party menus are under consideration.

You can work some real magic by using sweetened condensed milk to turn dry bread into a cake-like treat that's easily made into cute doll shapes with a cookie cutter. Just spread the bread with sweetened condensed milk, cover with coconut and toast.

Magic Vanilla Ice Cream (Automatic Refrigerator Method) 1/2 cup sweetened condensed milk 1/2 cup water 1/2 teaspoon vanilla 1 cup chilled cream or evaporated milk

GALLANT BESS

MGM presents a tender story with Marshall Thompson, George Tobias, Chill Wills, Don Curtis, Jim Davis and Silversnip.

Marshall, an orphan, has given all his love to Bess, a horse in the ranch. One day he's talked into joining the "Seabees" by Chill Wills.

He leaves the ranch and the horse in care of Bevans. While in training he learns that Bess has died and becomes very morose about it.

While in the Pacific, rescues a horse that has been wounded, nurses him back to health with the aid of Tobias, and becomes their mascot.

Name after being wounded, Marshall is given the horse by the Navy and with Tobias, who has lost an arm, and Bevans their ranch comes true.

Let's Take a Look

UNTIMELY END . . .

This is the story of the unsinkable Muriel Olmstead. Muriel had been with Universal Studios for some twenty years. She had been blonde, brunette, and red-headed by turns, whichever way fashion dictated or screen role demanded. She was versatile; she had experience; she had been thrown from cliffs and speeding cars; she had been shot, stabbed and lynched.

But her part in "Canyon Passage" was different. She had to drown in the Walter Wanger Technicolor production. At first that seemed easy, for she could not swim. But her buoyant spirits were her undoing. She would not sink. She remained floating on the surface of Oregon's Rogue River no matter how many times Ward Bond emptied his revolver into her helpless body.

So, they cut her stomach open and filled her with sand. Then they tied rocks to her feet, and when she still didn't sink, they fastened a rope to her midriff, threaded it through an underwater pulley, and dragged her under. That did it!

At the finish of rehearsals she was so waterlogged that she practically fell apart. She was given a decent burial under a tall sugar pine, and the whole company mourned her passing.

She was one of the best dummies Universal Studio ever had.

HOLLYWOOD WOMEN ON THE AIR . . .

THIS WEEK we have some helpful advice for women of all ages on the important problem of bleaching or dyeing the hair. Natural hair—no matter how gray—is the most becoming of all to mature women—and some really young ones, too. Such is the opinion of the distinguished Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer hair stylist, Sydney Guilaroff, who for several years has been creating coiffures for Greer Garson, Lana Turner, Katharine Hepburn and many other glamorous stars, and for the more conservative, equally lovely actresses like Glayds Cooper, Spring Byington and Fay Holden.

There are far too many women today, asserts this expert, who think they look younger if they change the color of their hair. This is a fallacy, in his opinion, since darker or lighter hair than one's own immediately gives any but the youngest skin a colorless look, which in turn adds extra years to a woman's appearance. The worst injustice she can do herself is to bleach or dye it, Guilaroff states. If a mature woman is lucky enough to have retained blonde hair through the years, she will naturally look younger. But if her hair has faded, and she has it bleached, she will immediately add ten years to her looks, he declares.

Guilaroff believes that gray hair is definitely attractive for the middle-aged woman—and even for some younger women, and it is a great mistake to tinker with it, he states with emphasis.

As for hair styles, these should be adapted to individual requirements, but must always be neat and never extreme. An upset hair-do very often gives a "lifted" look to the whole face, therefore a younger one. If a woman's neck needs covering up, however, she can wear her hair a little long, especially in the back, but it must never hit the shoulder in the front.

Guilaroff concludes with the most important advice—that the essential thing is good grooming. No matter what the color of your hair, providing it is natural, it should never be caught in need of a trimming, a shampoo or a setting.

MICKEY ROONEY PUTS ON WEIGHT . . .

Mickey Rooney, who is currently starred in another of the Hardy family series, "Uncle Andy Hardy," seems to have put on some extra pounds since he left the army. It must agree with him. The other day he proved to his friends how strong he was by parading around the lot with gorgeous Dorothy Ford, who is 6 feet 3 inches and has more square inches of flesh than any girl that has ever been displayed before the screen.

Helen Ford, who is currently starred in another of the Hardy family series, "Uncle Andy Hardy," seems to have put on some extra pounds since he left the army.

HOT STUFF . . .

A love scene between Tyrone Power and Gene Tierney burst into flames—literally.

Just as Ty kissed Gene for one of the major romantic scenes in Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Razor's Edge," the ceiling of the set caught on fire. Ty and Gene helped the workers tear out the blazing section and by the time 20th Century Fox's fire department arrived, they had isolated the flames. The cause of the fire was undetermined. Director Edmund Goulding changed camera angles and continued with the scene.

BINGO LOVER . . .

Bing Crosby, the singer, and Bing Crosby, the actor, have long been familiar favorites with the movie-going public of the world. But now, up comes Crosby, the lover!

"The Emperor Waltz" marks Der Bingle's first real love story. Cast as an American phonograph salesman in the Vienna of 1901, Bing indulges in a romance with a countess that shocks the entire Austrian capital. Incidentally, that countess is none other than the very lovely Academy Award winner, Joan Fontaine.

Don't think that the more familiar Crosby will be lost in the guise of Crosby, the lover, during Paramount's new Technicolor film—for such is not the case. "The Emperor Waltz" will feature the same Bing of "Going My Way"—"Road to Utopia" and other film hits. The popular crooner continues his vocal chores in his current celluloid venture, rendering no less than six songs and even trying his talents at yodeling. He takes a verbal beating, too, in some of the dialogue scheduled to be spoken by gossipy females of the Viennese court. For instance, when Crosby makes his first entrance at a grand ball being given in Emperor Franz Josef's palace, one of the ladies asks: "Who is that odd-looking creature?"

And that's not all. Later, Bing is described as having "ears like a bat and the rest of him like a plucked duck." The Crosby voice is not neglected either. In one sequence, it is described as nothing more than "A cheap bathroom yowl."

However, no complaints are anticipated about this type of kidding, for the Groaner's habit of kidding himself is well-known and this type of comment did not prevent him from recently being named "the favorite actor of American women."

SOFT HERO . . .

Here's one for the book! Clark Gable, rugged hero of a dozen action films, was awarded second prize in a recent flower contest. It's reported that while "the King" was out of town, the Encino Chamber of Commerce discovered the roses growing over his fence and promptly gifted the actor with a shiny prize ribbon.

STREET SCENE . . .

To the collection of world famous streets Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has authentically reproduced on one of its huge outdoor lots will be added one of the noted street names in the world—Hollywood Boulevard.

For Red Skelton's next comedy, "Merton of the Movies," the studio is building a replica of movieland's main street—as it was in 1918. The one-story buildings of that time, the many stretches of old ranchos, the nickelodeons—all will be reconstructed for the picture.

M-G-M's Hollywood Boulevard will differ from the original only in that it is located one block north of New York's Fifth Avenue and one block south of Paris' Champs Elysees!

SLIGHT MISTAKE . . .

Just after the Warner Brothers had introduced "Talking Pictures" to a palpitating public twenty years ago next August 6th, the late George M. Cohan, a famous show-business personality of the era, scoffed the innovation, dubbed the whole idea a mere "fad" and offered to live on $5.00, board, room and everything, until the newfangled things were playing to empty houses!

On the Sets

With LUIS ROSADO

"It's going to be a warm day today," said the voice on the telephone. "I think you ought to come over and join us at the best equipped drug store in town which boast of the most complete soda fountain this side of nowhere."

Now, I don't go around writing stories about what happens in a drug store, where undoubtedly many human-interest stories could be found every day or perhaps bump into a future Lana Turner. However, the party extending the invitation tried to tempt me by enumerating the many cool and refreshing summer drinks and ice cream dishes served at a counter. Trying to argue was out of the question. This time he mentioned that at the drug store were Dana Andrews, Fredric March, Teresa Wright and Charles Russell. That was his trump card. Since I'm writing about Hollywood personalities, I accepted the invitation. (Somewhere along the line he mentioned something about banana splits, not that it mattered, but it added to the interest.) I asked my mysterious caller where the drug store was located.

"Where do you think?" (Now we are playing guessing games.) "On stage five at Samuel Goldwyn Studios."

Upon entering the sound stage, our eyes beheld a modernistic drug store complete in every detail. Apparently Samuel Goldwyn had told the set designer to lay off the usual Hollywood exaggeration for this set. The counters were neatly arranged and the soda fountain looked like the one at the drug store around any corner in the country.

So exact was this set built for "The Best Years of Our Lives," that I forgot all about the actors until someone asked, "And what will you have, bub?" Turning around I came face to face with Dana Andrews who stood behind the soda fountain dressed in the accepted style of a soda jerk. (In two seconds I pictured myself having a banana split served to me by the highest paid soda jerk in the country.) But before I had a chance to convey my wish, Director William Wyler called everyone to be ready for the scene they were shooting.

Fredric March and Harold Russell took their place at the counter, while I walked away feeling the heat more after getting gyped of what might have been a delicious banana split.

The thought soon disappeared when Director Wyler called for "Action!" and action it was. March made some nasty crack about soda jerkers as he walked away from the counter. His remarks annoyed Russell to no end which resulted in an argument between them. March tried to shake him. Like a flash Dana jumped over the counter, grabbed March by his tie, gave him the one two and sent him sprawling to the floor.

After the scene was taken a couple of times, we met Harold Russell, described by Dana and March as the most natural actor they have ever seen in their years of acting. When established actors like these praise the work of a newcomer, who had never had any dramatic training, it's something for a reporter to sit up and take notice. After talking with young Russell we could understand why he is being praised for his work.

The strapping youth has an easy-going manner about him, that according to Wyler, the camera is catching to perfection. But Harold doesn't intend making motion pictures acting his career. As soon as he finishes his role in this picture he will be heading for school where he will study advertising.

You might have read about Harold Russell in several national magazines. He is the young man who went through the dangers of war without a scratch. Back in the United States and while at a camp he picked up a box of explosives which exploded severing both his hands two inches above the wrists, all because of a faulty fuse in the box. His case sounds like a Ripley story. Harold was wearing a wrist watch at the time of accident, whose only damage was a cracked crystal.

DICK POWELL VERY LUCKY MAN

Had a very pleasant chat with Dick Powell's better half, June Allyson, who I can justly say is one of the sweetest personalities both on and off the screen. . . . she took time out from shooting in M-G-M's super spectacle, "HIGH BARBAREE," which stars Van (Swoon) Johnson, June Allyson and Marilyn Maxwell a well chosen group. . . . as soon as I mentioned that I was formerly from New York, June Allyson immediately started reminiscing. . . . she is also a New Yorker. . . . Westchester to be exact, one of New York's beauty suburb spots. . . . I mentioned that there were many an evening that I spent at the exclusive Westchester Country Club, and she immediately responded, "of course when I lived there we could hardly visit such places as that, you see," she said, "in those days we were very poor people." I explained that actually I wasn't a member of the exclusive Westchester Club, I was usually a guest whenever I spent any time there, and I don't want to use the word spent too loosely.

JUNE ALLYSON AND VAN JOHNSON HAVE ONE THING IN COMMON

It seemed to be that June Allyson was in some sort of accident a while back, so I thought it would be a good opportunity to find out a little more about it. In asking her I found out much to my embarrassment that it must have been six other people, but she did say a tree fell on her head at the tender age of seven, and from all appearances I would say it has neither faltered her beauty or intelligence, so she said, "Van Johnson and I both have one thing in common. I've had a head injury and so has he." "But," she went on, "you could hardly compare my head hurt with his, you see," she went on, and from here she described Van Johnson's accident in detail and me with my weak tummy, anyway June Allyson's charm kept me from passing out. . . .

From here on I thought the subject of shooting for the day would be an enlightening bit of information, and in so doing I readily understood June Allyson's meticulous description of things bloody, she plays the part of a nurse in the picture, "HIGH BARBAREE" opposite Van Johnson, who does the part of a doctor. June was especially anxious to do this part because she thought it was going to be in technicolor but at the last minute it was changed to a black and white. I know the fans as well as myself will thoroughly regret it since I am sure she would photograph beautifully in color, however the part June plays will give her the opportunity to match her ability as an actress against any flattering photographic niches that technicolor might afford her. . . . In explaining the scene they were about to shoot, June Allyson was telling me that a tornado had just hit the town they were in, and many casualties were being brought in to the hospital, the set is an interior of a kitchen, in this hospital, and Van Johnson is busy scrubbing his hands in preparation for an emergency operation on one of the victims of the tornado, "and I," June Allyson said, "am standing in the doorway waiting for him, and Van Johnson says, 'How can I do it? I don't know enough—I can't take the responsibility.' He is almost crying with fury," June was telling me, and Mrs. Brooke, an attendant at the hospital, is trying desperately to give Van encouragement, says, 'Ah, you can. You're a doctor—a real doctor! Van, furious, says, 'I'm not a doctor! Will you lay off!' Then," June continues, "I enter the room and say, 'They're here, the other doctors. You'll have help. And then Van Johnson with terrific relief says, 'Thank God,' and that ends that scene."

I thanked June for her swell description of the scene, and before I had a chance to say much more Director Jack Conway, who is doing his first picture after a four-year sick leave, was calling for June to do her part in this scene, and thus brought to a close a most enjoyable interview with one of the screen's sweetest personalities, June Allyson. . . .

AIRPLANE ENTHUSIAST . . . ENJOYS EATING . . .

I found out later that June Allyson is the proud possessor of three airplanes, enjoys milk and cookies, can eat most anytime, as a matter of fact the more food she eats the better she feels, but don't worry, fans, she manages to keep her weight down to normal. . . .

Beauty and the beach make for a happy combination, especially with Jane Greer launching her new 80-20 swim suit—80 per cent. Jans, 20 per cent. suit. Miss Greer also displays her charms to advantage in RKO Radio's mystery, "The Falcon's Alibi," with Tom Conway as The Falcon, Michael Arlen's adventuresome detective.

Removing Service Obstacles

City commissioners Tuesday granted a five-year extension to the city bus franchise held by J. M. Bucher and gave permission for the raising of fares from five to eight cents.

On both counts the commission acted with good reason. For one thing, the operator came into Big Spring in the face of a condemnation of the territory by a larger concern after a brief trial. By going through a long, difficult period, the service caught on and rewarded the operator well during the war years. Several buses have been added to extend the service. In addition, a five-cent fare has been maintained in the face of rising costs and contrary to a general practice. Hence, on both scores, there is much to be said for the double action.

The increase in rates was granted on the basis that operations would have to be profitable in order to permit reserves for new equipment and on the grounds that an unprofitable service would be an inadequate service.

It is to be hoped, therefore, that the adjustment of rates will make possible better equipment. This would be a step toward better service. Some other things which would help are: More paved streets on bus routes (prolong equipment and make riding more comfortable), and reversing routes on alternate schedules. This would give patrons in the southeast part of town an opportunity to come directly to the business district instead of having to take a mile or two or extra ride. This, which does not entail expense, would accomplish as much as anything could immediately toward the improvement of service.

Remember, Silence Gives Consent

Not so long ago we called attention of the public to the fact that budget hearings will be coming up soon.

Tentatively the independent school district has set Aug. 21 as the date for its public hearing; the county has fixed Aug. 26. The city, still wrestling with its first budget in years, may be ready in two or three weeks.

We reiterate that the time for citizens to be concerned about appropriations, about services and improvements, is at the time of the hearings. Indeed, it is not too early to make inquiry and suggestions, but certainly if anyone wishes to offer counsel to the governing boards, it should not be delayed beyond the hearing dates.

After these hearings are held, the boards will give further study to the matter, taking into consideration the ideas advanced by their constituents. Then a final draft of the budget will be adopted irrevocably. While this does not fix the matter irrevocably, it does require a condition of emergency to undo it.

In the past there has been practically no interest in budget hearings. Officials are obliged to conclude, in this atmosphere, that silence gives consent.

Employer "Subsidy" For Hiring Vets

(Editor's Note:—This is the second of three articles describing the On-The-Job training program for veterans.)

By ROWLAND EVANS, Jr. (Substituting for James Marlow) WASHINGTON, (AP)—Bill Smith left a $150 a month job to go into the army. After his discharge three years later he returned to his old job.

Meanwhile his employer got himself approved to give On-The-Job training under the GI Bill of Rights. He persuaded Bill to sign up for four years of job training.

Bill soon discovered his employer was paying him only $60 a month. His employer told him the GI Bill subsistence allowance of $90 a month (Bill had a wife) plus $60 a month wages would total $150 a month, which was what Bill was making when he went to the war. Most employers no doubt are using the program honestly, but what Bill's employer did is what hundreds are doing. Such employers are using the veterans as cheap labor. In effect, GI Bill Job-Training program is subsidizing these employers.

But in other cases some veterans are making unscrupulous use of the program. Not concerned with long-range, comprehensive training, they sign up just for the added income.

Why does the Veterans Administration (VA) tolerate this situation? It has to, the way the law is written. The GI Bill states that "no department, agency or officer of the United States... shall exercise any supervision or control over any state educational agency, or state apprenticeship agency, or any educational or training institution" in carrying out the provisions of the job-training program. It's a case of divided authority. States approve and (supposedly) supervise training outfits while VA pays the subsistence allowance. States complain they haven't the funds to exercise needed supervision. VA complains the law prohibits its doing any supervising, although it does have the authority to investigate training programs.

Just before going home Congress sent legislation to the president which may go far toward solving the difficulty. The president put his signature on the bill last Thursday. The law allots enough funds to VA to reimburse state and local agencies for expenses incurred in the supervision.

The same law will prohibit any veteran job-trainee from making more than $175 a month (if single) or $200 a month (if he has dependents), over his subsistence allowance.

PRO Loves Big Trees

By HAL BOYLE
BAMBERG, Germany (AP) Major Cecil Hay is a forest lover. "It gives me a good feeling every time I see a fine big tree," he observed during a lull in his duties as a public relations officer for the constabulary force.

His interest in things woodland began after a quick rise to fame as a member of the Bangor high school apple judging team, which won the Michigan state championship in 1925.

"A tree surgeon's work is really as much dental as surgical in nature," he said. "Except for trimming branches it consists largely of filling cavities. Most of the customers are wealthy people with big estates."

"You first have to inspire them with a feeling of confidence—the owners, not the trees—so you always wear boots. People have more confidence in a tree surgeon when he wears boots."

"You have to remember to park your truck in the driveway instead of rolling right over the lawn to the tree. You are paid by the hour, so you don't run to the tree. You walk erectly with short military strides that give an onlooker the impression you are getting down to business fast."

Oil Workers Adopt Eight-Point Program

FORT WORTH, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Oil Workers' International Union Convention here yesterday adopted recommendations made by its executive council on an eight-point program that included a demand for higher wages.

A special resolution on the wage question was expected to receive floor action today. The adopted program calls for defeat of inflation, readjustment of earnings, improvement of collective bargaining contracts, improvement of international services, building the union, financing the union, continued political activities and support of the CIO and its program.

Army Wives Inspire European GI's

PARIS—(By Wireless)—The best thing that has happened to the American army in Europe is the arrival of the wives. U. S. troops—which, by the way, have been doing a magnificent job wherever given a new lease on life by the arrival of their wives.

It's a great sight to see army husbands waiting for their better halves to arrive at a railroad station. It's amusing, inspiring, pathetic all at once. But most of all, it's inspiring.

Men who have faced all sorts of danger in battle stand on the station platform, nervous, perspiring and anxious. They carry little bouquets of flowers. The train is late. The flowers wilt. It doesn't make any difference. They haven't seen their families for two, three, perhaps even four, years and they are not quite sure what is going to happen. Then, finally the train arrives. The band plays "Kiss me once and kiss me twice and kiss me once again." The reunited couples need no encouragement.

When the first trainload of wives arrived at Bremerhaven and took the long, slow trip down through Germany, army bands were out to meet them at every station. The train was late and sometimes the ladies didn't arrive at their different destinations until after midnight but the serenaders stayed up just the same and the wives woke up and came out, cold cream and all, to receive the musical salutes and flowers.

Moral Improvement Noted
The arrival of American army wives in Europe has straightened up troop morals more than any other factor. Profanity at army sports contests vanished overnight. Fewer frauds are now living in army quarters. Chaplains say that if the American wives don't make any missteps they can have a great effect upon the entire American army in Europe.

Note—American wives have one gripe—the official designation given them by the army: "dependent wives" or "D.W.S." Leland Stowe observes this is better than being called "displaced wives" or "damned women." (That's a joke, ladies.)

We Want Portuguese Bases
It has been widely publicized in the press that the giant airplane carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt with accompanying ships is making a good-will visit to Portugal. However, another matter coincident with the visit has not been publicized.

The Portuguese government has recently turned down cold the American request that we lease the Azores air base which we built during the war. For some time negotiations for a permanent base have been under way, but after considerable hesitation the Portuguese finally gave us a flat no.

Diplomats consider it more than significant that the giant carrier FDR should now parade a little muscle in Lisbon.

Note—the British, who have long-term treaty relations with Portugal, could let us have the air bases if they chose.

Attlee Trusts Byrnes
Prime Minister Attlee had a tough time in Paris while Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin was sick. He never could quite tell what Bevin had agreed to in the previous secret conversations of the Big Four.

One day while Secretary of State Byrnes was conferring with a group of Americans at the Hotel Maurice, he was called to the phone three times in one hour. Finally Byrnes apologized.

"That was Prime Minister Attlee," he explained. "He is conferring with our people and the British and French and they keep referring to agreements we made at the Big Four meetings with Ernest Bevin."

"Attlee keeps calling me to find out if Bevin really made the deals they refer to."

Decoding the Diplomatic Pouch
Paris isn't the only place where diplomatic sparks are flying. U. S. Ambassador George Messersmith had a hot tiff with Argentine Dictator Peron the other day over Bolivia.

Messersmith had called on President Peron to tell him the U. S. favored immediate recognition of the new Bolivian government now that it has thrown out its former Nazi rulers. However, the Argentine dictator said no. He described the new Bolivian government as communistic and admitted he was trying to persuade Brazil, Uruguay and other Latin American nations to stick together in opposing recognition. Of course he didn't say so, because Messersmith already knew it, but the deposed Bolivian government was a Peron stooge. In the end the US Ambassador told Peron that the state department would regard his delaying tactics with great disfavor and walked out in a huff.

NOTE—While calling the new Bolivian government communistic, Peron simultaneously is welcoming Soviet cooperation. He is the first Argentine president since the Bolshevik revolution in 1917 to recognize Russia.

Senate Is Headache to Byrnes
Most people would agree that Jimmie Byrnes had enough to worry about in Paris without the necessity of checking up on the U. S. senate but one night before congress adjourned he made a special trans-Atlantic phone call to urge the senate to pass the Morse resolution permitting the world court to arbitrate disputes affecting the United States.

Byrnes' phone call illustrates one factor few people realize—that he has nearly always had a veto hung round his neck in the U. S. senate. At most conferences this veto has been right at his elbow in the persons of Tom Connally, bushy-haired senator from Texas and Arthur Vandenberg, the republican statesman from Michigan. During the start of this Paris conference, however, Vandenberg and Connally stayed at home where they caused Byrnes almost greater worry. For, Byrnes unless the United States will take the simple step of submitting its disputes to the world court it can't very well criticize Russia for wielding the veto. Nevertheless, shortly before Byrnes left for Paris he found that Connally and Vandenberg—both powerful members of the senate foreign relations committee—had blocked the resolution by Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon authorizing world court jurisdiction over disputes involving the United States. Byrnes also discovered that John Foster Dulles, foreign affairs adviser to Governor Dewey and former attorney for the German and Spanish governments, had handed Vandenberg a memo opposing full American participation in the world court. On learning this, the usually good natured secretary of state hit the ceiling.

"How can Vandenberg and Dulles complain about the Russians having the veto power," he exploded to his aides, "when, in the very next breath they refuse to join the world court for fear the court will rule against us? If that isn't asking to retain the veto, I don't know what it is."

Byrnes described the Dulles memo as worthy of Henry Cabot Lodge, who torpedoed the League of Nations. Finally, just before his departure for Paris, Byrnes went to Capitol Hill and lunched in the office of Senate Secretary Leslie Biffle with the entire membership of the foreign relations committee where he thought he won their O. M. on passing the Morse resolution. Once he got to Paris, however, Byrnes discovered his old senate friends had gone back on him and had attached a hamstringing amendment to the resolution, practically cutting its heart out. The amendment specifies that the senate shall decide whether certain disputes are domestic which, in effect, means that the senate always retains the veto power over the world court. It was to head off this amendment that Byrnes phoned Washington while tied up with his duties here. However, he failed to win his point. The senate passed the crippling amendment just the same.

ABC Noses Out Mechanics In Muny Debate At Park

D. R. Gartman won his own ball game for the ABC Club in Muny softball league competition Wednesday evening at the city park when he dashed home on a long double by Howard Schwarzenbach in the sixth inning.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART Bobby Decker, who as a member of the Borger Gassers of the WT-NM baseball league is enjoying his greatest year in the national pastime, takes time to write this department and wish his many friends here well.

The little New York boy was one of the most popular figures on the local nine around 1939 and '40. He came to Big Spring from the Los Angeles baseball school along with such operatives as Joe Saporito, Al Berndt, Richard Hobson and Johnny Soden.

He's a better hitter now than he ever was before. (Currently is rolling along with a .350 average). He will probably get the chance to go up next spring but would rather land a managerial job somewhere. Jokingly, he suggests he should be well qualified for such a responsibility since he's been second guessing his straw bosses long enough.

This department would like nothing better than to see Decker skipping a Big Spring club in the WT-NM circuit in '47. ("I've played baseball in lots of towns," writes he, "but Big Spring is still the best. Too bad they aren't in the league.")

Decker was one of the first professional ball players to get into uniform in the last great world crisis. He volunteered in 1941, trained for 18 months in the states, then shovelled off for duty in the Southwest Pacific, where he spent 32 long and grueling months. He was finally discharged with 106 discharge points.

At Fort Bliss, Texas, he managed a strong post baseball team. Overseas, he played some of the time but concentrated on the job of hunting down Japs as an infantryman and later with the Engineers.

He's married now and has two children—a boy and a girl. He maintains the lad will be a baseball player in 20 years and Robin's fondest dream sees him in the uniform of the New York Giants, since that has always been Bob's favorite team.

He boasts more WT-NM league seniority than anyone else active at the present time.

His boyish look may handicap him in his bid for a pilot's post but he is an astute baseball student and should be able to make his mark.

The Gassers finally caught up with the Abilene Blue Sox Tuesday night, defeating the league leaders, 26-6. In that one, Decker banged out four safeties, including a long home run. He keeps improving because he regards the game as a science and studies it.

came as a sort of anti-climax to a long home run hit by Lloyd "Pat" Patterson in the fifth round. Patterson's blow came with Durwood McCright up front.

Despite five-hit pitching by Gartman, the charges of Vernon Whittington trailed the hustling Mechanics until that time.

Windmill Brown tolled on the rubber for the Stanolind troupe while Tommy Elliott was the Vet hurrier.

Tonight's game between Coahoma and ABC, scheduled to be played at Forsan, has been postponed until next week.

The Gassers return to Lamesa for the last time this season Sunday and Monday, Sept. 2 and 3.

After the campaign and the playoffs, he'll return to his home at Tarrytown, N. Y.

If all the Big Spring high school footballers have grown like Larry Hall, the Steers are going to have one of the biggest teams in District 3AA circles this fall.

Larry, a letterman end who was moved to center in spring training, added 17 pounds during the summer, now tips the scales at 152 pounds.

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP)—College football is bustling towards its greatest attendance season in history with advance ticket sales ranging from 25 to an astronomical 800 percent ahead of last year, an Associated Press survey indicated today.

From every corner of the country flow reports of record pre-season ticket distribution which later will blossom into a golden harvest of more sell-out throngs than the game has ever known.

At least a half-dozen schools—Michigan, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Southern California, UCLA, and University of California—will play before a half-million or more fans, while other institutions will be restricted to smaller crowds only because their playing bowls are made of concrete instead of rubber.

Southwest—Texas U-Texas Aggie Thanksgiving Day game a 45,000 sell-out at Austin. Other Texas U. general sales running from 700 to 800 per cent ahead of 1945. Southern Methodist may shatter all previous records, topped by 46,000 expected against Oklahoma Aggies at Dallas, Oct. 11. Texas and Oklahoma also may draw 46,000 at Dallas. Texas-Rice game sure sell-out of 30,000 at Rice stadium. Arkansas, with Navy's Clyde Scott expected to add 2,000 at each game, predicts sell-outs at all four home games.

Two Angloans Win In TAAF Ring Matches

SIX fighters from Fort Worth and six from Dallas will enter the semi-finals of the TAAF state boxing tournament here tonight.

Of five Dallas boxers, four won by knockouts and the fifth won on points. A sixth Dallas boy, Welter Billy Reed, drew a bye in the first round.

Fort Worth had eight entries last night, but two were eliminated in an opening card included seven knockouts out of 22 bouts.

JACK KEITH OUSTS SAMMY SAIN IN CITY CONSOLATION MATCH

Activity in the City golf tournament being played at the Muny course was confined to the championship consolation and lowlights Wednesday as Jack Keith turned up with a neat 73 to defeat Sammy Sain, 3 and 2, in the feature match.

The Forsan linksman moved all the way into the championship consolation. Play in the other bracket isn't as well advanced, unusual circumstances having prevented one quarterfinal match from being played.

That would be the slugfest between John Malaise and Novis Womack. Malaise could not play during the early part of the week due to the fact that he was attending the Corpus Christi coaching school. Womack is temporarily out of the city on business.

That duel is expected to be unseated in a day or two, however, and the winner takes on Sam McComb in a semifinal bout. In third flight consolations, C. M. Shaw edged Lawrence Wells, 4 and 3, while Bill Horne was taking care of Joe Williamson by the same score in the fourth flight. Complete pairings: Championship Flight Jimmy Moon vs. Obie Bristow; Jake Morgan vs. Dub Prescott.

Brook Firemen, Led By Hugh Casey, Keep Team In Front

Dodgers Increase Lead By Licking Ottmen In Pair

By The Associated Press There is no mystery about what's keeping the Brooklyn Dodgers at the head of the National league—it is their bullpen hurlers.

This becomes more apparent day by day. Of the club's 110 games this season, the relief corps has come to the starting pitchers' rescue 74 times and has emerged with 25 victories against only 10 defeats besides "saving" 13 other games.

The brilliant work done by the Dodger relief corps is best illustrated by the won and lost record of Hugh Casey, whose 10 victories, all gained in relief roles, is second only to starter Vic Lombardi's 11 triumphs.

Brooklyn starting pitchers, who have completed only 36 games, or less than one-third of their starts, needed help only once in yesterday's 8-4 and 2-1 victories over the New York Giants. The two triumphs increased the league leaders' margin over the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals to one and a half games. The Cards won their game from the Cubs 6-4 in Chicago.

The Boston Red Sox continued their postwar parade with a 3-1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics, their 13th victory in 15 games with the American league cellar-dwellers.

Floyd Bevens, giant New York righthander, also notched his 13th victory when he pitched the Yankees to a 4-1 triumph over the Washington Senators under the lights at the Yankee stadium.

Manager Lou Boudreau rapped out four hits including two doubles, his second two-bagger, helping the metropolitan contingent has a superior club, despite the fact that the Dallasites plastered the Big Springers with a 13-3 defeat here last Sunday.

It was one of those days, Womack reasons, when the opposition did everything right and his own club could do nothing but juggle the nut.

At that, losing to Railroaders was no disgrace. They've won 22 of 34 games to date and most of them against the toughest kind of opposition. They copped the top spot in the Dixie League in Dallas, beating out Dixie Sunshine Bus by a full game. They trail Dallas Railway by half a game in the Western league, closed the gap prior to coming here by slugging the league leaders into submission in a 5-4 bout.

Foresters Flatten Tyler Team Twice By The Associated Press Lufkin's Foresters, cellar team of the East Texas League, last night gave an assist to the league leading Henderson Oilers by handing the threatening Tyler Trojans a double defeat, 6-2 and 9-3.

The Oilers, who were winning over Jacksonville, 6-3, increased their lead over the Trojans to two full games. The track meet of the evening, however, took place at Paris where the Sherman Twins, themselves using four hurlers, defeated Paris, 28-11. The Twins took 25 hits off two Paris pitchers.

Greenville's Majors defeated Texarkana, 7-5.

Ramsdell Wins 15th For Cats

By The Associated Press It was either early or late in the Texas League last night. Two games were won in the ninth inning, one was settled in the first and another determined in the fourth.

At San Antonio, the Missions scored three runs in the first inning, including a homer by Ken Wood with one man aboard, to shutout the Tulsa Oilers, 3-0.

Beaumont took a 2-1 lead over Dallas in the first inning, allowed the Rebels to tie things up with a single tally in the third, and then came back to push two more of their own across in the fourth to defeat the North Texas club, 4-2.

At Houston, the Oklahoma City Indians, as Pat Ankenman's double followed a single by Elmer Sidel, pushed across a ninth inning score to edge the Buffs, 3-2.

Going into the final inning with a one-run advantage, the Fort Worth Cats added an unearned run that proved to be the winning tally. Shreveport's Bob Finley hit a home in the last half of the inning to make the final count, 3-2, Fort Worth.

Pete Kraus of San Antonio had a perfect night at the plate with two triples and a single in three times at bat to lead the Missions in a nine-hit assault against Les McCrab, the Tulsa hurler. San Antonio's King Cole scattered six Tulsa hits.

The winning Beaumont wallop in the fourth was supplied by Jack Devincenzi, Shipper left fielder, who plowed into his tenth homer of the season after Hugh Shelley had walked. Jackie Robinson went the route for the Exporters to gain his twelfth win.

Art Nelson of Houston was the victim of the last inning Oklahoma City scoring surge. Preacher Dorsett, who had replaced Leo Hatley on the slab in the eighth, received credit for the win. Manager LeRoy Schalk was responsible for the first two Indian runs, with a double with two on base in the third.

Willard Ramsdell took his fifteenth game for the league leading Fort Worth club as he let out six hits to Shreveport. Three of the sports' came in the fourth but failed to produce a run.

Thoroughly Cancelled MINOT, N. D. — Postmistress Nell Doherty reports someone tried to send ammunition for a cap pistol through the mails. Everything went fine until the envelope hit the cancelling machine.

Lamesa To Face Lubbock Tonight

LAMESA, Aug. 15.—Lamesa's Lobos, who finished a disastrous road trip by losing a double header to Pampa last night, returned home this evening to do battle with the Lubbock Hubbers in the first of a three game series.

The Lobos will also face Amarillo's Gold Sox in a three-game set beginning Sunday afternoon. Pampa swept their series with the Lamesans last night by winning the second game, 8-1, after copping the opener, 16-3.

The double reversal left the Lamesans 50 games off Abilene's pace. They are 30 1-2 games behind fourth-place Borger.

Governors Of Texas

"The Cambells Are Coming" Swept Tom Campbell Into Austin Mansion

THOMAS M. CAMPBELL

(This is the 22nd in a series of articles based on the lives of the governors of Texas.)
By PAUL BOLTON

AUSTIN — Thomas Mitchell Campbell gained the nomination for Governor to the tempo of the famous marching song, "The Cambells Are Coming."

He was the twenty-second Governor of Texas and the ninth straight to be elected to a second term.

He was also the first and only Texas Governor to make the Governor's office his first political job until W. Lee O'Daniel came along. And Governor Campbell was the second Texas Governor to be a native of the state when he took office in 1907.

Governor Jim Hogg was the only other Governor born in Texas before Campbell's time. Hogg and Campbell were life-long friends. The two men grew up together in the East Texas "piney woods" and they both vowed that they would be Governors of Texas.

Campbell made that vow come true in 1907, 12 years after Hogg left office at the end of his second term. Hogg didn't live to see his friend make the second part of their bargain come true. He died one month before Campbell announced for Governor.

Campbell was born in 1856 near Rusk in Cherokee county, only a few miles from where Hogg was born five years earlier. From the time he was old enough to take an interest in such things, Campbell turned to law. As a small child, he would be found at the courthouse listening to the lawyers speak when he should have been at home on the farm.

In 1875, Tom Campbell worked in the County Clerk's office in Longview. He read law and was admitted to the bar three years later. For ten years, Campbell practiced law in Longview.

He got into politics at the right time. When Joe Sayers and Sam Lanham sat in the Governor's mansion, Texans were glad to have men who weren't of a mind to crusade so vigorously against monopolies and trusts as Hogg and Culberson had done. But they

University Park Girl Chosen "Miss Texas"

PORT ARTHUR, Aug. 15 (AP)—Blue-eyed, blonde Ann Wisener, Miss University Park from Dallas, was crowned Miss Texas here last night in the Junior Chamber of Commerce bathing beauty contest.

The judges' first decision was a tie between Miss Wisener and Miss Betty Morgan, 19-year old brunette from Orange.

Miss Wisener, will represent Texas at the Miss America contest at Atlantic City.

Three other contestants entered the finals with the University Park and Orange representatives. They were Joann Chapman (Miss Dallas), an 18-year old brunette; Carletta Crowley (Miss Highland Park, Dallas), a 19-year old brunette, and Miss Dorothy Carmack, a 19-year old brunette from Lubbock.

Murder Indictments Returned On Flowers

WACO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Two murder indictments against Ike Flowers, Waco night club operator, were returned yesterday by a McLennan county grand jury.

Flowers is charged with murder in connection with the deaths of Misses Elizabeth Phillips and Ruby Redden, who received fatal injuries when struck by an automobile while walking to church Aug. 4. A district Judge D. D. Bartlett set trial for Aug. 28.

Soldiers Awarded

BERIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Sixteen officers and enlisted men from the US Army's Berlin district forces were awarded the Army Commendation Ribbon today by Maj. Gen. Frank A. Keating, Berlin commandant, for outstanding services since VE-Day.

The sun takes about 25 days to turn all the way round once.

US Leadership, British Socialism Must Not Fail To Foil Communism

By JOSEPH ALSOP

LONDON. — There are many excellent reasons why the British experiment in democratic socialism may fail. Mankind is fallible for one thing. The men who compose the machinery of the British government are tired after seven years of war. The enormous task of carrying out a complex socialist program and directing a planned peace-time economy may simply be too much for them.

Then, too, some isolated cog in the machine may fall to mesh with its fellows. For example, the accumulation of working capital for the socialist experiment depends upon exports. In the first three months of 1945, exports were 32 percent by volume of the base figure in 1938. In the same period of 1946, while imports had declined slightly, exports had risen to 84 percent by volume of the 1938 total. To come close to tripling the export total in one year is an astonishing achievement, but the socialist planners require immense further increases before austerity can be relaxed.

Again Britain faces a coal crisis this winter. Cold houses, slowdown in factory production and a recurrence in unemployment may prove to be the added misery which breaks the endurance of the British people. If the need for austerity ceases to be accepted by the people, it will be a grievous temptation to the British conservatives to abandon their present policy of unhappy collaboration with the government.

Finally, it is always necessary to remember the British are trying to do four things at once. They are rebuilding their country after a devastating war. They are carrying on normal business. They are constructing the new socialist economy. And they are carrying greater defense burdens than ever before in their peace-time history. Merely from the standpoint of man power, the demands are a little greater than they can quite meet.

In short, the adverse factors bulk large, even if one ignores the possibility of a grave international crisis in the next five years. Nevertheless, it is this correspondent's opinion — or hunch might be a better word — that the British experiment will be made to work somehow or other. From the standpoint of the United States, facing the grim world left by the second world war, it is vitally important that success should crown the efforts of the British. The reason was simply put by a shrewd English leader, who said:

"What we are doing is the only bearable escape from the choice which faces most nations in the world nowadays, which is the choice between the knives and the Communists."

This truth is worth asserting again as the conclusion of the present necessarily superficial examination of the British experiment. It is a hard truth for Americans to understand, since America today is a fortunate island of wealth where plenty is still the rule. Elsewhere, however, over almost the whole surface of the earth, the rule is poverty, not plenty.

In these poor countries, there is no question of the kind of free-which is advocated, for example, by Senator Robert A. Taft.

There is only one real question in these countries: whether government planning is going to be done democratically, in accordance with the will of the people, or is going to be done in a totalitarian manner. And in many countries, the strongest voices today are those of the Communists and of the knives, the extreme rightists who would like to ward off Communism by getting in first with some sort of totalitarian system of their own.

The British experiment offers an escape from this dilemma. It may not be attractive to us in America but it should be supremely attractive to other peoples who have no further choice except the totalitarianism of extreme Left or Right. The British experiment is socialist. It is based on government planning and control to provide the most economical use of existing resources. But it is emphatically not totalitarian. In fact, it will break down very rapidly if it ceases to command majority support in Britain.

If American leadership does not falter, and the British experiment

THIEF WAS QUICK, POLICE QUICKER

DALLAS, Aug. 15 (P)—A quick thief who was an even faster salesman was in the city jail here today because his speed was not quite fast enough to outdistance three city policemen.

A 54-year-old man hurriedly made off with a pushcart loaded with Irish potatoes from a Dallas food store. Within a few minutes he had sold the potatoes and was negotiating for the sale of the pushcart when the three officers nabbed him.

Negro Discovered Fatally Beaten

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 15 (P)—The fatal beating of a 28-year-old negro near Minden, La., was revealed yesterday with the filing of a coroner's report attributing death to "multiple bruises and abrasions sustained at the hands of a person or persons unknown."

Sheriff O. H. Haynes of Webster Parish said that the dead negro, John C. Jones, and a companion had been held in the Parish jail after being identified by a Cotton Valley, La., woman as the two men she saw attempting to enter her house through a window.

The sheriff said the negroes were released Thursday after they had denied the charges and the woman's family had made no formal charges against them. He said the body of the dead negro was found less than 24 hours later on the bank of Dorcheat Bayou, seven miles from Minden.

Deputy Coroner T. A. Richardson, who conducted the inquest, said that it was not possible to fix the time of death but that a watch found on the negro had stopped at 10 o'clock.

Ex-Prisoners Needed For Tokyo Trials

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (P)—The Army set out today to track down 2,661 former American prisoners of the Japanese in order to amass more evidence for war crimes prosecutors in Tokyo.

Civilians as well as military personnel will be sought out for statements bearing on any atrocities.

Eight officers from the legal section of Gen Douglas MacArthur's headquarters have returned to the United States to supervise the task. They will be assisted by both the Veterans Administration and the US Attorney General's Department.

Letters are being sent to each former prisoner from whom depositions are desired. They will be requested to visit either a federal district attorney's office or the Veterans Administration.
