

Eleven Ex-Red Leaders In Czechoslovakia Are Given Death In 'Purge'

Slansky, Clementis To Die; 3 Get Life

VIENNA, Nov. 27 (U.P.—) A Czech Communist court sentenced 11 former leaders of Czechoslovakia's Red government to death today and imposed life sentences on the other three defendants in the Prague purge trial.

The eleven who were named to die included Rudolf Slansky, former secretary general of the Czech Communist Party and once believed to be his country's Red boss, and former Foreign Minister Valdomir Clementis.

Those who received life sentences were Arthur London and Navro Hadju, former deputy foreign ministers, and Evzen Loebl, former deputy minister of foreign trade.

Slansky and the 10 other defendants were sentenced to the gallows, convicted of being traitors, saboteurs and spies in a plot, the prosecution charged, to overthrow the government of President Klement Gottwald.

The sentences were announced by Radio Prague, which said all of the defendants accepted them.

Explaining the life terms, the broadcast said London, Loebl and Hadju "did not play a leading role" in the alleged conspiracy.

Their confessions came after long months in jail, for some more than two years, and were the well-rehearsed, admit-everything recitals characteristic of Communist trials.

IT'S GOTTA BE TURKEY TODAY FOR AMERICANS

PARIS, Nov. 27 (U.P.—) The chef of the fancy, expensive Tour d'Argent (Silver Tower) Restaurant threatened to quit today in a disagreement over American Thanksgiving Day turkey.

The specialty of the house is pressed duck. The restaurant has been serving this dish since 1882 in a sauce made of the duck's own blood and bones.

Manager Claude Terrall put turkey on the menu for today. The outraged chef said what was good in 1882 was good today—American holiday or no. He said he would quit.

After much voluble discussion a compromise was reached. Turkey remained on the menu and the chef stayed home for the day while the second chef cooked the traditional bird for the American trade—at about $10 per plate.

16 Persons Die As Winter Belts Midwest Hardest

By The Associated Press

The nation's Midlands, hammered by a destructive snow and wind lashing, got belted with a second wintry punch of icy blasts today.

Temperatures plummeted during the night as skies cleared over much of the snow-covered mid-continent, which counted 16 deaths in the late November storm. Hundreds of others were injured and property damage was extensive.

The snow and cold prompted thousands to put planned Thanksgiving Day travel plans into the deep freeze along with the cold turkey. It looked like a chilly holiday for the eastern two-thirds of the nation, with the most severe cold in the Plains and Rocky Mountain region.

Winds diminished from the near gale-like force which swept the region Tuesday and Wednesday. The wind-swept snow dealt a knockout blow to traffic from Colorado eastward to Minnesota.

Hundreds of travelers were marooned and power and communication lines were ripped down in many parts of the storm belt. Hardest hit areas were from the mountain regions of Wyoming and Colorado through Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota.

But strong winds whipped across other parts of the mid-continent—Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and the Dakotas.

The cold air from the Rocky Mountains spread westward across the prairie lands and dipped into the South. It was subzero early today in sections of five states—Wyoming, Colorado, Montana, Kansas and Nebraska.

Temperatures were subfreezing in other mid-continent areas. The cold blasts hit Northern Texas. A low of 13 was reported early today in Amarillo, the same reading as in Rapid City, S. D. The chilly air touched into the Southeast as far as Northern Florida.

U. S. Weather Bureau forecasters said temperatures will drop gradually during the day and tonight over most of the Eastern states. Subfreezing readings were in prospect for most of the mid-continent.

Today was no holiday for the highway crews and thousands of snow shovelers who continued to dig out from the Midwest's heaviest snowfall of the season. The falls measured more than a foot in some places, but the strong winds caused much drifting. Most trains kept moving but were running behind schedules.

Snow continued early today in Eastern Minnesota and parts of Michigan. There were furies in other sections of the North-Central region.

Much of Iowa and Nebraska remained snowbound as the fresh mass of cold air moved in and to the discomfort. Six deaths were attributed to the storm in Nebraska. There were four in Iowa, four in Kansas, one in Oklahoma and one in Texas.

FOOTBALL GAME NOTED

Quiet Thanksgiving Is Observed Here

Big Spring and area residents were observing a quiet "normal" Thanksgiving today.

Business activity in the city was reduced to a minimum, schools were closed for a holiday week end, and even the weather was seasonal, with a heavy frost for the second morning in a row.

Most all business firms downtown were closed for the day. Exceptions were a few drug stores, restaurants, filling stations, etc., along with law enforcement agencies and the city fire stations.

The city-wide Thanksgiving service this morning was the highlight of community activity for the day. This afternoon, area sports fans were due to flock to Steer stadium to witness the traditional football game matching the Sweetwater Mustangs and the Big Spring Steers who were to meet at 2 p.m. in a District 1-AAA conference game.

All public schools in the city and county, and the Howard County Junior College, had suspended operations until next Monday morning.

For local merchants the holiday marked a day of rest before they are plunged into the Christmas shopping season. All business firms are due to open again tomorrow.

Meanwhile, families were to get together for Thanksgiving dinners, college students were home for the holidays, and some local men serving in military service were home for the occasion.

Forecast called for freezing temperatures today almost to the Gulf Coast.

Hundreds of Texas school children had a lengthened Thanksgiving holiday because of high snow drifts and ice-covered roads, but at Amarillo and Borger the pupils were expected back at school yesterday. Most of them made it. Meanwhile, Texas had the word of the U. S. Department of Agriculture that last week end's rains, although beneficial, were not drought busters.

Rain Is Possible After Panhandle Has Snow Again

By The Associated Press

Snow fell again today in the Texas Panhandle as most of Texas had a cold, dry Thanksgiving.

At the same time snow fell at Dalhart, gathering clouds in South Central Texas presaged more rain in that area of the drought-parched state which received its first real relief less than a week ago.

Showers in the southeastern and south central portions of the state today, the Weather Bureau said, probably would turn into state-wide general rains by tomorrow.

Motorists found rough going early today in the snow-covered Panhandle and temperatures again were low. Dalhart had 12 degrees at 5:30 a.m. and Amarillo reported 3 cold 17.

Zero temperatures for the second straight morning were forecast for the ice-and-snow-covered Panhandle area, but a general warm-up—because of the rains—was due tonight and tomorrow.

Forecast called for freezing temperatures today almost to the Gulf Coast.

Hundreds of Texas school children had a lengthened Thanksgiving holiday because of high snow drifts and ice-covered roads, but at Amarillo and Borger the pupils were expected back at school yesterday. Most of them made it. Meanwhile, Texas had the word of the U. S. Department of Agriculture that last week end's rains, although beneficial, were not drought busters.

The department said the rains had given the eastern half of the state "effective relief for current needs." But for the rest of the state, the department added, the "rainfall (was) too light for effective relief."

No rain was reported in Texas Wednesday.

And some cities—like Dallas—needed it almost as badly as ever.

The Dallas City Council, despite criticism from citizens of Dallas, went ahead with plans to use water from sewage-laden West Fork of the Trinity River for drinking purpose.

Dallas, with 16 to 20 days supply added by the week-end rains, had a six-month supply.

Ice Closes Highway

A 27-mile stretch of Highway 80, between Kent and Plateau in far West Texas, was closed because of ice and sleet this morning, local police reported. Road was iced over and sleet still was falling at 10 a. m.

Large Crowd Attends Joint Services Here

Total thankfulness should express itself in concern for others, the Rev. Clyde Nichols, First Christian Church minister, told a large crowd attending the traditional community Thanksgiving services here Thursday morning.

Approximately 750 had gathered in the new sanctuary of the First Methodist Church for the special services, possibly a record for this service which has continued for nearly a score of years. The lower floor of the sanctuary was filled comfortably and there were others in the balcony.

Noting that the congregation had been gathered to raise voices in thanksgiving to God for His blessings, the Rev. Nichols raised the question: "Just how thankful are we?"

"It is so much easier to see what we want than it is to see what we have received that often we can find nothing for which to be thankful," he declared. "Thanksgiving and thought-giving go hand in hand. If we would stop and think we could not help but be thankful."

The sermon was built around the degrees of thankfulness found in lives of four men Jesus met on His final trip to Jerusalem. Four levels of thankfulness were suggested—the feeling of indebtedness to God, the expression of gratitude to God through sharing and service to those about us.

"When it comes to returning to Him a part of it which he has given us (in a material sense), how thankful are we?" he asked. "If we are really thankful, we will hunger as long as those about us are without food; we will feel homeless as long as they have no homes; and we will share with them that which we have."

The Rev. Nichols reminded his listeners that not all blessings are material, indeed the greatest are spiritual. Again he asked "how thankful are we for our Christian faith? Christ died for all men; and when he commands 'Go, make disciples of all nations,' he is speaking to men and women so thankful for what Christ has meant and is meaning to their lives that they must share Him.

"God has blessed our nation above all other nations. When you stop to think of all the things which are ours, you realize that Thanksgiving for us should be 365 days a year. And we are thankful. But just how thankful?"

Texans Give Thanks For Week-End Rains

By The Associated Press

The annual Southwest Conference football grudge battle between Texas and Texas A&M, numerous church services around the state, and turkey and all the trimmings' meant Thanksgiving Day to 'Texans' millions today.

But hardly a Texan that sat down to eat forgot to be thankful for last week end's beneficial rains, the finest for crops and grass in 30 months of damaging drought.

It was a holiday for nearly everybody—except doctors, policemen, firemen, and, yep, newspapermen. Little hinged on the "big game" at Austin where the Longhorns and Texas Aggies met. But to the sell-out crowd of partisan fans it was still one of the high points of the year.

The annual community Thanksgiving Day celebration at Dallas is expected to attract more than 2,000 Protestants, Jews and Catholics.

Inmates of the State Prison System and most city jails will eat just about what you do—turkey and all the trimmings.

Jokes In E. Berlin Whispered, Not Red

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Newswriter

BERLIN — The grapevine gossamers are at it again in the Soviet zone of Germany. A new crop of jokes deriding the Russians, the Communists and all things Bolshevik has been harvested in recent weeks.

Refugees sliding past grim guards bring the gags with them to West Berlin where it is considerably safer to indulge in them. They say, however, that the anti-state jokes are part of the nightly routine in many a beer hall, told with one eye out for the nearest Communist cop.

The Russian zone threat to rearm is selected to the latest wisecracks. An example concerns the conversation between Schmidt and his friend Mueller who is foreman of a heavy industry plant. Schmidt asks what they make then. Mueller replies: "Perambulators."

"Fine," Schmidt says. "I need one for my baby. Can you slip me the parts?"

Mueller agrees and some time later they meet again, and he asks how the baby carriage works.

"Well, I really thought I knew something about mechanics," Schmidt says, "but I have fitted the parts together three times now and the result is always a cannon. Are you sure you are making baby carriages?"

East zone production comes in for a rib, aside from the war-peace political arguments. A plant manager comments to a visitor his assembly line produced only 5,000 items in its first year, raised that to 50,000 and now has a goal of a half million.

"Really," marvels the visitor, "just what are you manufacturing?" The manager lifts a small plate from a conveyor belt. It bears the stamp: "Elevator out of order."

The communist hierarchy in the East draws a good share of barbs. The propaganda chief is informed by his aide that "the demonstration against the western warmongers and for the creation of a national army must be cancelled because it is raining cats and dogs."

"Those dam yankees are capable of anything," the chief shouts in rage.

President Wilhelm Pieck receives an aged caller, then learns it is his old school teacher.

"Do me a favor, Willy," the old man crackles, "don't tell anybody I once taught you."

Some of the barbs have a Czech or Polish flavor. The tale spreads of a Czech soldier in a Prague prison who blames his own laziness for his trouble. Asked how come, he says:

"Yesterday I met an acquaintance and we discussed the political situation. I thought I had enough time until today to inform the police against him, but he denounced me last night."

In the Polish part of Stettin, a Soviet officer turns a ship over to the Poles with a long speech extolling Russian generosity. He finishes, removes his Russian cap, dons a Polish cap, and thanks the great Stalin for the gift in the name of the Polish people.

Communist "definitions" that float among the clandestine clovis include:

ANGLO-AMERICAN — A Soviet oath.

BLOCKADE — a philanthropic Soviet experiment to make city dwellers immune to hunger and cold. Sabotaged by airlift.

AIRLIFT — provocative supplying of Berlin with food and fuel, a bluff which was discontinued after the end of the blockade.

PEACE COMMITTEE — a Bolshevik fighting unit for bombarding the peace, equipped to issue fifty protest resolutions a day.

WARMONGER — person unwilling to be swallowed up by Bolshevism.

PROGRESSIVE — anything in line with Moscow's policy.

ACTIVIST — an obedient pioneer of the progressive idea of more work at less pay.

PEOPLE'S DEMOCRACY — a dictatorship wrapped up in a sheep's hide.

RECONSTRUCTION — removal of untidy railroad tracks from German rail lines.

INVENTIONS — what happens in the Soviet Union.

HUMOR — A strange, foreign word.

A survey indicates that 22 per cent of the men and 14 per cent of the women graduates of four New York City municipal colleges in the classes of 1941 to 1947 work for a federal, state or city government.

Farm Wastes Used To Battle Disease

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—Corn cobs and oat hulls supply raw material for a promising new family of drugs against human and animal diseases.

These drugs are nitrofurans, made from fural, a farm waste product. Fural also helps make nylon stockings and other products.

One nitrofuran looks promising against kidney and bladder infections not touched by antibiotics. Another, put into chewing gum used after meals, is credited in early tests with reducing tooth decay.

Still other forms are helpful against infected wounds, burns, ulcers of the skin, eye and ear infections, and some fungus diseases. The fural drug also is becoming a weapon against a serious poultry disease, coccidiosis.

The drugs can be made in many different forms, by slight alterations in molecular makeup, and some 270 have been created to date. They show ability to hit many different kinds of germs.

One of the newest in the family (furaldantol) is tailored for internal use. It kills the majority of types of germs in kidney and bladder infections.

Dr. Charles E. Friedgood and Dr. Anthony Danza of Maimonides Hospital in Brooklyn tried it on 22 patients with urinary infections caused by a germ, bacillus proteus, that resists antibiotics and other drugs.

They said it cured six people with acute infection and eight with chronic infection and relieved symptoms in the rest although laboratory tests showed some germs still present.

Dr. Samuel Dreizen of Chicago and Dr. Tom D. Spies of Birmingham, Ala., tested the chewing gum containing a nitrofuran (furaldantol) on children and adults highly susceptible to tooth decay. Of 30 who chewed the gum after each meal, there were only 25 new instances of tooth decay over a year's time. Among 25 who chewed a gum, made the same but not containing the drug, there were 82 new spots of tooth decay. Among 25 who didn't chew any gum at all, there were 106 new instances of tooth decay. Results in this small group indicate the gum—not yet developed for general use—may help reduce tooth decay, they said.

Another form of the drug shows effect against some fungal infections, including ringworm and mange. Crystals of nitrofurazone are being added to poultry feed to protect or act against coccidiosis in poultry.

Looks Might Be Why The Lady Is A Success

NEW YORK, Nov. 27 (AP)—"I never played anything except sprites, angels and saints," says dancer, actress, narrator, wife and mother Vera Zorina.

This tall and most personable blonde then adds: "I can't do the sexy female"... which of course you don't believe for a minute though you know what she means.

She began her career at 10 when she played the part of a fairy in Max Reinhardt's production of "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Right now she is being the saint, that is to say, Joan, the speaker, the French-speaking part in the Arthur Honegger oratorio, "Jeanne d'Arc au Bucher," or "Joan of Arc at the Stake." In the last few days statuesque, white-robed Zorina has been Joan with Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra in Philadelphia and New York; in the next few days she and they repeat the impressive presentation in Baltimore and Washington.

In between fairy and saint, she was Ariel in Margaret Webster's production of "The Tempest," an angel in "I Married an Angel," a doll in the ballet "Petrouchka." At 16 she started dancing with the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe, and she has been in Hollywood films, Broadway drama, and with straight ballet companies, her last appearance in classic ballet having been in the Metropolitan Opera House nearly 10 years ago.

Born in Berlin and christened Eva Brigita Hartwig, she changed her name to Vera Zorina when Col. W. de Basil told her his ballet Russe, in order to stay Russe, must consist of dancers with Russian names only: Vera Zorina, on a list of names he suggested, was the only one she could pronounce.

"I've always wondered why I play strange people, she says, with a puzzled shake of her head and a wave of her long, slender hands.

She suspects it may be the European background, or the combination of dance, stage art and voice. You might suspect her looks have something to do with it.

Sister Kenny Chances For Recovery Dim

BRISBANE, Australia (AP)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny's doctor says she expects the famed poliomyelitis specialist, suffering from a blood clot on the brain, to reach a crisis in four or five days but he said her chances of recovery were "very slender."

He gave this information in a medical bulletin from her home at Toowoomba, 60 miles west of here.

The physician, Dr. John Ogden, made an urgent appeal for a supply of eight vials of a new drug, trypsin, which he believes is in Australia. A shipment of the drug is expected to arrive from New York on Saturday but Ogden said it might come too late.

The doctor added that he feared his patient's clot was too far advanced for the drug to have any success at dissolving it.

He reported also that Sister Kenny's condition is complicated by a respiratory infection which is affecting her heart.

The 66-year-old nurse suffered the attack of cerebral thrombosis last Friday.

QUITS AS ENVOY TO MEXICO

O'Dwyer Resignation Termed As 'Change-Of-Regime' Move

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York City, a target of congressional criticism during his 28-month career as a diplomat, is resigning as American ambassador to Mexico, effective Dec. 6.

Although O'Dwyer's appointment was blasted by some congressmen—a few even demanded his recall—the resignation was a routine change-of-administration move.

The White House announced yesterday that President Truman accepted the Irish-born New Yorker's resignation "with reluctance" and praised him for "a job indeed well done."

O'Dwyer became a controversial figure when a police graft scandal broke around his administration shortly after he quit his $40,000-a-year mayor's job to take the $15,000-a-year assignment as envoy to Mexico in August, 1950.

Despite criticism at home, he became one of the most popular ambassadors the United States ever sent to Mexico.

He gave no hint of his future plans in his letter to Truman, and last night in Mexico City he said he would not be able to disclose them until possibly late in December. First, he said, he would take a Mexican vacation with his wife.

When reporters asked about a rumor that he and retiring President Miguel Aleman of Mexico might join in some commercial enterprise, he said he had "never heard of it."

Reports last summer that the ambassador planned to become a Mexican citizen and practice law in that country were angrily denied by the New Yorker.

O'Dwyer became headline fodder when the Senate Crime Investigating Committee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), accused him of contributing to the growth of organized crime in New York.

Referring to his regime both as district attorney in Brooklyn and two-term mayor of New York, the Kefauver committee said in its report:

"Neither he nor his appointees took any effective action against the top echelons of the gambling, narcotics, waterfront, murder or bookmaking rackets. In fact, his actions impeded promising investigations of such rackets."

O'Dwyer, testifying at the committee's widely televised hearings,

WILLIAM O'DWYER

Free European Radio Assured About Operation

BONN, Germany, Nov. 27 (AP)—A West German government spokesman said today Radio Free Europe will be permitted to continue operation under West German regulations its sovereignty, but it will have to be careful not to "damage German interests."

Radio Free Europe (RFE) is the powerful American station which broadcasts to Iron Curtain countries from Munich. It is financed by private contributions, not U. S. government subsidy.

Herbert Blankenhorn, a government spokesman, told parliament today that RFE, which now operates under a U. S. occupation license, would be granted a German license when the occupation ends.

However, Blankenhorn added, the Germans already had found some of RFE's broadcasts objectionable, and they will watch them closer in the future. The Bonn government will reserve the right to revoke its license if RFE should persistently violate German interests.

Under a special agreement signed last spring by the U. S. and Bonn, the Voice of America and the American station in Berlin will broadcast from German soil strictly under American control. But a special case is made of Radio Free Europe because it is financed by private American contributions.

RFE's continued operations from German soil, Blankenhorn said, would depend on its avoiding "any support or promotion of political interests contrary to the policies of the (German) federal government."

RFE broadcasts chiefly to Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and other East European countries.

Its broadcasts have frequently come under fire from German newspapers and members of the Federal Parliament who claimed they were inimicable to German political interests. Some critics have alleged that, whereas United States policy opposes Germany's new border with Poland, some RFE broadcasts to Poland have implied that this border is final and that the territories beyond it are lost to Germany.

Blankenhorn said that, although the Germans at present had no right to interfere, they had already made some representations to RFE and that the station's broadcasts "have improved during the past year."

staunchly defended his record, denied all charges.

New York Republicans accused O'Dwyer of running out on his office of mayor after a Brooklyn grand jury turned up evidence of a 20 million dollar a year gambling ring that paid a million dollars annually to police for protection.

O'Dwyer first called the grand jury probe a "witch hunt," later apologized when it produced evidence to prove its charges.

Airman Charged In Conspiracy Is Said Mentally Ill

HOUSTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—An Air Force sergeant charged in Japan with conspiracy was diagnosed in 1946 as a "dangerous paranoid," the chief medical officer of the Veterans Hospital here said.

The sergeant's former wife, a Houston real estate dealer, also told reporters yesterday that Staff Sgt. Giuseppe Cascio is ill. She said she would hire an attorney to help him if no one else comes to his aid.

Cascio is held by military authorities after being charged with a plot to sell secret data on the U. S. Sabre jet. He is a former Houston resident.

Dr. Russell S. Wolfe, the VA medical chief, said Cascio agreed after the paranoid diagnosis here to voluntarily enter a VA hospital for treatment.

But Wolfe added, "he went to Poughkeepsie, N. Y., to see his family and the next thing I heard he had re-enlisted in the Air Force."

The former wife of Cascio, Quila Pamela Jones, told reporters: "Somebody ought to come to his help and get him in a hospital, instead of letting the Air Force railroad him to prison for life."

Dr. Wolfe said he notified Air Force officials at Roswell, N. M., as soon as he heard that the sergeant had re-enlisted, and continued:

"As a paranoid he is liable to get a persecution complex. I think the Air Force should know it is planning to prosecute a mentally ill man. I intend to write a friend in Tokyo and see if he cannot get through regular military channels the information about the man's mental condition before he goes on trial."

Mrs. Jones said her former husband, whom she divorced in 1946, made more than 30 raids over Germany in B17s during World War II. When he came back, she said, "He was a completely changed man."

Home Of Pilgrims Notes Thanksgiving

By STERLING SLAPPEY LONDON, Nov. 27 (AP)—Thanksgiving came to Europe today and the orphan children of Plymouth, England, learned the spirit of the occasion their forefathers founded.

The orphans of Plymouth—the southwest coast city which launched the Thanksgiving Day founding pilgrims to the New World three centuries ago—celebrated the American holiday with sailors at a turkey dinner with the men of the American destroyers Roberts and Royal.

The ice cream and cake and movie party was just one part of Thanksgiving celebrations observed by Americans from Trieste and Rome, North Africa and the Balkans, to Scandinavia, Germany, France and the British Isles.

14 Dead In Fire At W. V.A. Mental Institute; 10 Hurt

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Roaring flames and syrup-thick smoke killed 14 women and children last night in an old three-story building at the Huntington State Hospital, a mental institution.

Ten others—seven patients and three firemen—were hospitalized. Flames sprang from the basement of the 56-year-old building shortly after 7 p.m. and spread rapidly through the first and second floors. Firemen had to burn through thick wire mesh over the windows with acetylene torches to fight the blaze and rescue the helpless victims.

The dead ranged from 89-year-old Ada Carger of Huntington, who was burned to death, to little Lena Wentz, 11, of Cabell County, one of the five girls under 16 who snatched from the third floor. All those who died were from West Virginia.

The only hint to a cause for the blaze came from a staff doctor who refused to be identified. He said some patients, against strict orders, sometimes slipped down to the basement and smoked.

State officials indicated they blamed the state itself for the conditions that prevailed at the obviously antiquated structure—and the 13 others that nestled around it on the 35-acre tract atop a hill overlooking Huntington from the southeast.

President Joe E. Burdett of the State Board of Control, which supervises the state's institutions, was brutally frank.

"I can't say I was surprised," he said. "If something isn't done it won't be the last."

And State Fire Marshall C. A. Raper said the burned building was found to be "inadequate" as to fireproofing when inspected a year ago. He said another inspection was due next Monday.

Burdett said a request for one million dollars to fireproof the hospital was shelved during the last legislative session. He said a request for funds to fireproof Huntington and two other state hospitals had been approved by the budget director for the Legislature meeting next January.

Associated Press reporters on the scene said the nearly 300 patients in the three-story building didn't seem to know what was happening.

Elderly women were on the ground floor, many unable to get around. Psychotic women were on the second floor. The young ones were on the top floor.

There were three exits. But the regular front entrance became a raging inferno that defied approach. A back exit was a wrought-iron circular stairway that was so tight stretchers couldn't be used.

The third was the fire escape—a sliding pole similar to those in fire stations. But apparently few of the inmates knew how to use it.

After firemen managed to get to the third floor where the children were trapped, they wrapped them in blankets and packed them down the circular stairway on their backs.

All the patients were taken to a hastily devised receiving station in the kitchen, located in a separate building nearby.

Some were weeping and wailing. Others were sick from the thick smoke that choked throats everywhere. The rest just sat, staring.

Many had little on, except blankets thrown around them. Here and there among them were those covered with blankets all the way.

Kiwanians Approve Landscaping Plan For Court House

At its regular weekly luncheon meeting at the Settles Hotel yesterday, the Kiwanis Club heard an explanation of Postmaster Nat Shick's plan for beautification of the lawn around the new Court house and voted unanimously to approve it.

Other groups had previously given their approval to the landscaping plan and in opposition to a proposal to convert a large part of the block to parking space.

Privates Pitch In To Make GI, Mother Happy

NORTH FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — A frail New Mexico mother said a prayer of thanksgiving today for the men of the Fourth Training Company here.

The men of the company—all on private's pay—dug deep in their pockets for nickels, dimes and dollars to finance a trip for Mrs. Refugio Gonzales to spend Thanksgiving with her son, Pvt. Pedro Lopez.

Today she and her 20-year-old son were special guests of the Ft. Hood soldiers.

Pedro has been in the Army only a few months, but it has been a long time for Mrs. Gonzales. It is the longest period that mother and son have been apart.

Pedro listed his occupation simply as "cotton picker" when he was called into service. But he was the sole support of his mother and tended their quarter-acre of land near Mesilla, N. M.

Today's visit was made possible because Mrs. Gonzales appreciated a simple form letter mailed her by Ft. Hood officials. It bore the signature of Maj. Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, Ft. Hood commander, and said he was "pleased to inform you that your son has arrived at Ft. Hood for training with the famed First Armored Division."

The letter urged Mrs. Gonzales to write her son often and welcomed her to visit him.

Mrs. Gonzales answered immediately. She told the general she was glad her son was in good hands. She said she had been wanting to visit Pedro since the day he left, but that was impossible since he was her only means of support.

"I don't have any help—just my God," she said.

Lopez' company heard about the letter. Without Pedro knowing about it, they began to collect spare change, then dollars, for Pedro's Thanksgiving fund.

In no time at all there was enough money to finance the trip for Mrs. Gonzales and her daughter, Mrs. Maggie Lopez.

A large delegation of privates and officers met Mrs. Gonzales when she arrived in Temple, near Ft. Hood. She couldn't speak or understand English, so Lt. Arthur Garza was named her special interpreter. Pedro wasn't there — he didn't know about it yet.

Then came the great moment. Pedro was hard at work on a tank at Ft. Hood when his company commander, Lt. Louis Alexander, barked a command. Pedro froze at attention—then scrambled off the tank and into his mother's arms.

Later Mrs. Gonzales tried to thank each member of Pedro's company personally. She pulled the black shawl tighter around her head and said she was sorry she didn't have a better dress to wear for Pedro's friends.

The old dress looked fine to Pedro's friends, but if Mrs. Gonzales wanted a new one they would do something about it. Nickels and dimes began clinking into a sweaty fatigue cap again. She had a complete new outfit to wear today.

"Look at my mother, isn't she pretty?" Pedro said over and over again—often in Spanish so she would understand.

Salvation Army Program For Yule Begins Saturday

The Big Spring Salvation Army's five-point Christmas program will begin Saturday.

t. Robert Hall, commander of the local post, stated that Christmas kettles will be placed on the downtown streets Saturday morning.

The kettles will be located at Second and Main, Third and Main, and Fourth and Scurry.

The other four points in the Army's program include distribution of Christmas baskets, a Youth Center Christmas party, a Christmas pageant, and a Christmas tree for underprivileged children.

Lt. Hall said that applications from persons needing Christmas baskets must be received between Dec. 1 and 13. Applicants must come to the Salvation Army headquarters, he said.

People who will adopt needy families for Christmas are also needed, Hall said. People wishing to share their Christmas can call 454 or go to the office at 600 West 4th.

"We would like to avoid all duplication of efforts in Big Spring," Hall said. "Consequently we would like to make the Salvation Army a clearing house for needy families."

He meant that many churches and organizations will also be helping needy families. If all the groups work through one central headquarters, each needy family will receive aid only once and more families will be helped, he said.

"Some families might be left off all together while others are receiving aid from several sources if all groups work separately."

There will be a meeting at the Salvation Army headquarters Tuesday at 10 a.m. for all people interested in adopting families for Christmas, he said.

Hall added that all Latin-American cases would be accepted through Mrs. Dorothy Davis at the Kate Morrison School.

The Christmas pageant will be held at the Salvation Army Citadel at 7:30 p.m., and Hall said the public was invited. The Christmas party for young people will be held Dec. 22.

The Christmas tree for underprivileged children will be held at 8 p.m. Dec. 24 at the Citadel. Each registered family can pick up baskets at the Citadel, 600 West 4th, between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. December 24, Hall said.

Baskets will be delivered in case of old age or extreme illness he added.

Lions See A Movie On S'West Football

Football has come to be a sort of Thanksgiving tradition, and thus the Lions Club honed up to its grid highlights in its Wednesday program.

Top plays of last season's Southwest Conference games were projected through courtesy of Humble Oil & Refining Company. Pete Cook was program chairman.

Dan Krause appealed for enrollment by Lions in the $25 Club—a rallying force to put the Community Chest to its goal. He said that half of the 100 members of this unit had been secured. Rotarians Tuesday subscribed 19 memberships.

Bob McEwen, club president, urged purchase of Lions Christmas cards as a benefit venture for the Lions Crippled Children's fund. McEwen announced that the club secretary, Larson Lloyd, is making sound progress following surgery and has returned to his home.

Wainwright Is Due To Talk On Behalf Of Provoos At Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — Counsel for John D. Provoos says the ex-soldier's commander on Corregidor, Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, will appear as a witness for the defense.

A lawyer for Provoos, on trial for treason, said yesterday the retired general "would like to testify during the week of Dec. 8." He resides at San Antonio, Tex.

Wainwright and Provoos, a former sergeant, were captured by the Japanese in the fall of Corregidor in 1942.

Provoos, who could pay with his life if convicted, is accused of going over to the enemy and informing against his fellow Americans.

The Federal Court trial, recessed today, resumes tomorrow.

UNESCO Tries To Tell People It Does Not Seek World Govt.

By A. I. GOLDBERG
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 27 (AP)—UNESCO one of the alphabetical agencies of the United Nations, stands for United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

Along with the U.N. itself, it has been caught in a rising U. S. drumfire during the last year. What's all the shouting about—especially since both major parties said the U.N. is a fine thing?

The American branch of UNESCO, trying to find out, has launched a campaign to stave off some of the fire by convincing Americans that UNESCO is not working for a one-world government.

This is the only country where UNESCO has been taking it on the chin. There was a spectacular row over it in the Los Angeles schools, where a fight over teaching about the U.N. highlighted the situation. The attackers won here.

The organization is particularly concerned with blame for things it says it should not be blamed for—world government propaganda, for instance, and birth control.

Its supporters have produced statements from Catholic leaders, among others, absolving it from any stand on birth control.

The organization insists that its primary job is to teach people to read and write and then evaluate what they learn.

The work of fostering the UNESCO program in this country falls under the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO, established by Congress. The commission has 100 members, appointed from educational and scientific ranks, from labor and social welfare fields, from church organizations and artist groups.

Recently elected chairman is Walter H. C. Laves, vice president of a privately-endowed organization in Washington, the Governmental Affairs Institute. He has served as head of the Hamilton College Political Science Department and as chairman of social sciences at the University of Chicago. He was an international affairs consultant in the Roosevelt-Truman administrations from 1943 to 1947, helped set up the U.N., and was deputy director-general of UNESCO in Paris from 1947 to 1950.

Laves is credited with sharpening the whole UNESCO program and lifting it out of some of the foggy dream world it admittedly traveled in during its early years. At the same American commission meeting which elected Laves chairman in October, two resolutions were adopted.

One stressed the need for more factual information on foreign affairs and for fundamental education projects in the U. S. The other was offered—and adopted—"because statements have recently appeared alleging that the U. S. National Commission for UNESCO is engaged in supporting the concepts of one-world government and one-world citizenships and because such statements have no basis in fact.

"This commission reaffirms support of its program for the education of peoples to live as citizens of sovereign states in a community of all mankind, preserving the values of diverse cultures and the rights and responsibilities of national citizenship." To emphasize that the sovereignty of the U. S. is not in danger from UNESCO, its supporters are quoting two recent statements.

One is by Paul Hoffman, director of the Ford Foundation, before that head of the Economic Co-operation Administration, and now being mentioned prominently as a possible official in the Eisenhower administration.

This is what Hoffman told the Los Angeles school board at its hearings on the UNESCO teaching program:

"The Russians are against UNESCO. That support symbolizes the ESCO. They have steadily refused to join it. The U. S. supports UN-determination of this country to help bring about world understanding and peace. ... I see no contradiction between world understanding and patriotism."

Soviet Pact Is Loudly Cheered By China Reds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Chinese Communist radio broadcasts this month have pulled out all the stops in lavish praise of the military, political and economic alliance between Red China and the Soviet Union.

The Red propaganda has been geared to an officially proclaimed "Sino-Soviet Friendship Month." With every facility at its command the Peiping administration has sought to show its appreciation for Russian aid and to popularize it among China's own peoples.

From various Chinese cities have come reports of mass rallies, touring song and dance teams, cultural missions and wreath-laying ceremonies "in honor of Soviet martyrs who heroically sacrificed their lives in the war of liberation of Northeast China (Manchuria)."

During the civil war, the Chinese Communists carefully refrained from acknowledging any direct Russian military help, although it was termed a war of liberation. The reference to liberation of Manchuria apparently was to the closing week of World War II when Marshal Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian Army swept through the Japanese defenders into Korea.

A flood of Soviet pictures have been released throughout China. In

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Thurs., Nov. 27, 1952 5

Mukden 16 theaters showed Soviet color pictures exclusively.

One Red radio commentary noted that friendly relations dating back more than 30 years had been bulwarked by the 1950 Sino-Soviet Treaty of Friendship, Military Alliance and Mutual Assistance. The treaty is aimed primarily at Japan. Peiping cited the following accomplishments from its binding ties with Moscow:

1. USSR has consistently upheld the right of China to participate in the United Nations and opposed the U. S. "invasion" of Korea and "occupation" of Formosa.
2. China and Russia jointly rejected the peace treaty with Japan.
3. Russia lent China 300 million dollars to restore its economy.

4. Russia handed over to China, without payment, buildings of the former military cantonment in Peiping, property acquired from U. S. Japanese in Manchuria, property in Dalren under lease to the Soviet Union. By the end of this year the Russians are due to transfer all installations and properties of the jointly operated Changchun Railway in Manchuria.

40 Airfields In France Will Be Used By NATO

By CHARLES C. LANE
PARIS, Nov. 27 (AP)—In the most gigantic construction job known in postwar Europe, 10,000 Frenchmen are working to build 40 military airfields for defense of the West. The half-billion-dollar project is being paid for by the North Atlantic Treaty Allies. The work is being done almost entirely by French materials.

Although the job has been under way slightly less than two years, the work already equals, in quantity of materials and manpower used, the building of the vast and costly Maginot Line.

A qualified source gave this picture of the present stage of construction:

Of the 40 airfields, 25 will have all their runways, taxiways, drainage and electric power outlets—but no hangars, shops or barracks—by the end of the year.

In other words, these fields will be so they could be used in an emergency by the airmen. These 25 fields are to have hangars and shops, but maybe not barracks, by the end of 1953.

Fourteen of the 40 airfields will have hangars and shops. These fields will have barracks and other buildings by the end of 1953.

One airfield—the Royal Canadian Air Force base at Gross Tonn—will be complete by the end of the year with barracks, mess and recreation halls and all the trimmings.

Three NATO airfields for French use are expected to be brought up to this top construction level early next year.

So far, among France's NATO allies there are Americans at three airfields and Canadians at one.

It costs about 3½ billion francs (10 million dollars) to build a field with concrete runways, taxiways, hangars, shops and underground fuel tanks—but no barracks—an informed source said. This is the stage of development that SHAPE, which sets the airfield specifications, requires of the French builders.

Another 3½ billion francs are needed to finish up an airfield to best peacetime standards with prefabricated barracks, mess halls, theaters, clubs and hospitals.

The cost of the runways, taxiways and electric power terminals, fuel tanks and sometimes hangars is borne jointly by NATO. The rest of the construction is paid by the country using the field.

Commonwealth Ministers Meet To Talk Economy

By ARTHUR GAVSHON LONDON (AP) - British Commonwealth prime ministers and their deputies gathered here today in winter weather as bleak and stormy as the economic problems they will try to solve.

As heavy snow, gales and ice gripped much of the British Isles, the seven prime ministers and two deputies prepared for two weeks of conferences during which they hope to work out plans for putting the vast Commonwealth on a paying basis and for stepping up the flow of world trade.

The weather delayed the arrival of Canada's Louis St. Laurent, held up last night in Prestwick, Scotland. Two other attendants, Australia's Robert G. Menzies and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, were delayed by engine trouble flying from New York and did not arrive until this morning.

Churchill will speak for Britain's far-flung colonies at the talks. The prime ministers hope to agree on a master economic plan in which they can invite all of non-Communist Europe and then the United States to co-operate.

Their idea is first to balance their own books by spending no more than they can pay for, then to get world trade moving more easily, particularly between the dollar and non-dollar countries. The top-level powwow—first of its kind since 1932—became necessary because the Commonwealth has drifted into an impossible situation. With all the wealth of natural resources, production and capital, the powerful group with more than 500 million people can earn its keep in the world only by drastic import cuts.

APPRECIATES AREA RESPONSE

Wasson Completes 25 Years In Men's Wear Business

"Men's Wear of Character" has rounded out its first quarter century in Big Spring. When Elmo Wasson ran his first advertisement in August, 1927, announcing that he was in business, he used this slogan. It has continued, and over the years it has reflected the man whose planning and energies have gone into the development of the business. Wasson was born and reared in Dawson County, although he completed his secondary schooling here.

About the same time, he went to work for Albert M. Fisher, who then was preparing to open a department store.

After gaining general experience in the new store, he decided to study advertising and enrolled in this department in the University of Chicago. Later he took correspondence courses in business administration.

Two stores in Corpus Christi were in need of an advertising man, and in 1925 Wasson moved to that city. He couldn't get the possibilities of a men's store for Big Spring out of his mind, for Big Spring had no store that was exclusively devoted to men's wear.

When he opened his business in the Ellis building in 1927, response was even better than he had hoped. Two years later, when the Petroleum Building was completed, Wasson moved his store there and has continued in the same location. Numerous changes, but no particular revolutions, have occurred in the quarter century he has been doing business under his own name. For instance men's coats are more comfortable, and so are the pants with their pleats. Sports wear has come into its own, and men have gone more for colors. Suits have, particularly recently, tended to types that would end the use of the coat as a sports coat. Slacks, another suit is available. In fact, some of the suits are coming out now with matching and mix-match trousers.

Wasson has had the same lines in many of the top brands. For instance, he started out with Stetson and Dobbs Hats, Arrow and Shirtercraft shirts, Shirtercraft jackets, Crosby Square shoes, Mark Tankle neckwear. These are still featured lines.

Wasson has found time to be active in community affairs. Several times he has served as a Chamber of Commerce director, and in 1948 he was its president. He was president of the Big Spring Rotary Club and then in 1948 was made district Rotary governor. He has been a leader in the Christian Science Society here, and this year he was chairman of the Community Chest. In 1929 he and Sue King were married. They have one daughter, Mrs. James Duncan.

In enlarging the store on the occasion of the 25th anniversary, Wasson said that one of the most gratifying experiences is the many customers who have stayed through thick and thin—and there were plenty of "thin" days back in the depression era.

"We have attempted in this program to say thanks to them," he said, "and to provide a store that has the type of surroundings all men are entitled to, and which will justify their interest in us."

Brazilian Gets OK To Wed Indian Lass

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—A special ruling by Minister of Agriculture Joao Cleophas will make possible the marriage of a white government worker and an Indian princess he courted deep in the Matto Grosso jungle.

Normally the government bans such matches with Indians, who are wards of the state.

The prospective groom, Ayres Camara Cunha, met Princess Diacul-Prairie Flower—four years ago while on a government expedition into the remote Indian country. The plump 18-year-old girl's father was a chief of the Kalapalos, a primitive tribe in which the women wear only loin cloths.

Having become a Roman Catholic, she wants a Christian marriage ceremony and has been awaiting government permission in a hut on the outskirts of Rio de Janeiro. She flew there last week with her father and two brothers.

Camara, a government worker among the Indians, will return to the jungle with his bride.

Yanks In Britain Urge Lower Tariffs

LONDON (AP)—American businessmen in Britain have lined up with those who believe lowering of U. S. tariffs would help solve many of the free world's economic ills. They also urge President-elect Eisenhower to relax U. S. anti-trust laws.

These were two of the proposals aimed at restoring a balance between Britain's sterling currency and American dollars contained in a booklet published yesterday by U. S. members of the American Chamber of Commerce in London.

Clothing Department Of Elmo Wasson's Men's Store

Elmo Wasson To Open New, Larger Store Friday

Marking his 25th year in business with appreciation and with an re-affirmation of faith, Elmo Wasson will Friday observe formal opening of his new and enlarged men's store.

Space in the Petroleum Building, which has housed the store now for the past 23 years, has been redesigned so that it is rated one of the most attractive and modern in all of West Texas.

Hours of the formal opening are 2 p.m. to 8 p.m. "We do hope that all our old friends as well as those who we have been fortunate enough to make more recently will join with all others in this area to share this occasion with us," said Wasson.

Many emotions attend the culmination of such an extensive step as the firm is now taking, but in Wasson's mind, the most important is gratitude.

"Our progress in business here has been due to the manner in which the people have received us, and we are grateful for it," he said. Apparently, a lot of people feel that the store has more than earned that full measure of support, too, for on the rolls of Elmo Wasson books are men who started doing business with the concern when it opened for business here in 1927. Not a few of them have made a purchase almost every month ever since. There are still others who have continued as exclusive and regular customers.

The new store is the product of Brockenstein design. Fixtures are Jamas, etc. in a black walnut, definitely a man's wood with its sturdiness and reserve. The material is employed throughout, even to the miscellaneous cases which are placed in between display counters. Wall surfaces are finished in blending pastels, and illumination is diffused fluorescent.

On the west side will be the glassed in displays containing dress shirts, neckwear, belts, jewelry, pajamas.

Apparently The Man Likes This Machine

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—A 33-year-old electronics student who was jailed in February for stealing a tape recorder from a church is back in the tools of the law. He is charged with stealing the same machine all over again.

It was on Feb. 14 that John E. Whitley was first arrested. The tape recorder, returned to the First Congregational Church of West Hartford, was reported missing again Oct. 28.

Detectives said they found it in Whitley's room. They charged him last night with breaking, entering and theft — the same counts on which he was sentenced earlier in the year to six months in jail and placed on probation.

Across the aisle is an open display for sports wear, permitting patrons to make personal selection and examination. The reverse side of this display contains the sports jackets, again available for personal handling and casual try-on by the customer.

The east side contains first the hat display, with built in lights, separated from 14 compartments for suit displays by full length mirrors which give the wearer a view of clothing from every angle. Above are built-in spaces for reserve hat stock.

Three dressing rooms are available. An auxiliary room will be used for gift wrapping and there will be a space for sales records and a small office. Wasson will have a private office in a balcony.

The east side of the store is at a slightly lower level than the west, helping define the clothing from the personal wear, accessories and shoes. It will be carpeted whereas the other is in tile.

Front displays will be more extensive and the floor lighter. Utilizing a plaster, a natural stone planter will add a touch of greenery to the surroundings. Provision has been made for women customers, or those who accompany their husbands or friends on shopping excursions. There are comfortable chairs and plenty of room. The designers, leading in the Southwest, say the store is the finest of its kind between Fort Worth and El Paso.

Customer parking will be provided on the north side of the building.

The Dog Just Dislikes To Be Insulted

RHYL, Wales (AP)—A perky Pekinese that should have stayed in bed ran into an Alsatian while out walking with his mistress.

Young Miss Price went to court charging the owner of the Alsatian with failure to keep a dangerous dog under control.

The defense produced as an expert witness a veterinary surgeon who testified it was possible that the Pekie snapped at the Alsatian. "We don't know what happened," the vet said, "but even if the Alsatian was under control, he would turn on another dog which called him names."

Alsations just can't take being insulted, especially by such small things as Pekies, who are notoriously truculent and have no idea of their own size, the witness said. "In fact, Pekies think they are the biggest dogs out."

The court dismissed the case, which by yesterday didn't matter a snap to the Pekie. The little one was so badly damaged in the argument he had to be destroyed.

British Trooper Due To Go On Trial For Offering Information

COVINGTON, England (AP)—An 18-year-old Royal Armored Corps trooper will appear before a court martial Dec. 2 on a charge of offering information which might be useful to an enemy, the War Office announced today.

ELMO WASSON

Staff Members

Two experienced clothing merchandisers contribute toward a balanced staff for Elmo Wasson's Men's store. At left is Elveda Arburs, who is especially equipped for helping military personnel in their shopping problems, and at right is Bettye Arnold, who has a fine background in clothing service.

Department Heads

Among the key associates with Elmo Wasson in his Men's Store here are George Oldham, left, and Mrs. Harmon (Johnnie) Morrison. Oldham is manager of the clothing department and Mrs. Morrison is office manager. Out of a long acquaintance with merchandise and patrons she also assists in helping customers with purchases.

Police Warn Motorists To Lock Up Autos

Leave your unlocked automobile parked on the street at night? That's a bad habit, police say. They recommend you be more careful with that expensive piece of equipment. Officers have some other suggestions for preventing theft of autos, tires and accessories. Behind their advice is an increase in the stealing of cars and accessories, particularly batteries and tires.

Police Chief E. W. York and Detective C. C. Aaron this week attended a meeting of West Texas peace officers aimed at eliminating a lot of thievery — both petty and big-time varieties.

Here are some of the precautions against theft, compiled by the officers and the Texas Automobile Theft Bureau:

1. Record all tire, radio, generator and starter serial numbers and mark all accessories not numbered. This will aid in their recovery, if stolen, as well as help convict the thieves.
 2. Keep unattended cars off streets, particularly at night.
 3. Lock car, including trunk compartment. The thief actually runs a greater risk in breaking into a car than in driving it away.
 4. Never leave car parked with motor running or key in ignition. Many autos are stolen from grocery store or Postoffice, and the owner says "I was only gone a minute."
 5. Put a good, strong lock on your garage. That'll discourage a lot of thievery before it starts.
 6. Don't leave certificate of title, registration receipt or driver's license in car. The thief can use the papers to foil police, or to sell the car.
 7. Report suspicious cases of tire changing or similar acts. Get the license numbers of cars at the scene. Notify authorities at once. You may help trap a thief.
- Police say the national emergency, which has limited production of civilian goods, particularly auto accessories, had resulted in the increase in theft of such items.

Learning Now Comes Under Push Buttons

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Push-button learning has come to the University of Tennessee with experimental use of a meter to measure lecture reception in the College of Engineering. It works like this: When a student fails to get a point in the professor's lecture, he pushes a button that works an electronic device. A meter on the professor's desk shows him how many students are not understanding him. If the number is large, he can back up and try again.

Mamie 'Breathless' As Appearances In Public Get Underway

NEW YORK (AP)—Like a society girl at her debut, Mamie Eisenhower was a bit breathless at her initial public appearance as the nation's next first lady. "It's a wonderful occasion," said the wife of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower yesterday at a gathering of the Women's Division of the United Service Organizations (USO) Defense Fund Drive at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The 56-year-old Mrs. Eisenhower sat at the center of the flower-bedecked dais, chic in a grey suit, a little white cloth hat with a red velvet ribbon on top and bright red gloves. Speakers kept paying compliments. Twice she stood to big applause. Later she said: "I'm glad that I'm starting my public appearances in the interests of service-men."

Part Of Remodeling

A part of the extensive remodeling program completed by Cunningham & Phillips Petroleum Drug Store is the new fountain and back bar, above. All fixtures are new, the merchandise and prescription departments re-arranged. Joe Hedleston, who directs operations, invited the public to formal opening Friday and expressed thanks for overlooking inconveniences during the remodeling.

IN PETROLEUM BUILDING

Remodeled C&P Drug Store Sets Formal Opening Friday

Formal opening of the completely remodeled Cunningham & Phillips Petroleum Drug Store is to be observed Friday. Joe Hedleston, who directs affairs of the store, issued an invitation for the public to inspect the new arrangement and to have coffee as guests of the house. "We feel like the new fixtures and layout equips us to give better service and we'd like for the people to come by and look it over," said Hedleston. The space is essentially the same, but displays have been arranged to make better utilization of space and to provide much better light. The cashier's stand has been moved from near the door to a point in the center. Neat shelves offer displays that masks a structural column. Rearrangement of the prescription department has enabled the firm to open a more extensive cosmetics department, while at the same time, opening show windows to the passing traffic. The blonde stratled plywood fixtures blend perfectly with a soft green paint for the walls. All the displays are pitched on eye level or lower so that the eyes may make an easy sweep of the store. Many of the displays are the open type. A new fountain has been added together with a new back bar. New tile flooring has been installed throughout. By utilizing space formerly used for miscellaneous storage, the prescription department, despite yielding space to the cosmetic displays, has been enlarged. The Petroleum Drug Store is rounding out its 23rd year, for it was opened in 1929 when the Petroleum Building was completed. This was one of the stores that Shine Phillips and the late Charlie Cunningham opened at strategic points. Once they had as many as five but later reduced them to two—the No. 1 store and the Petroleum store. Hedleston, a native of Coleman, had entered the drug business in 1928 in Coleman. After more than a decade, he entered business for himself there. Five years later—in 1946—he came to Big Spring and went to work for Shine at the No. 1 store. Six months afterwards he became a partner with Phillips and took over operation of the Petroleum Drug. In addition to free coffee Friday, there will be prizes given. The occasion is a sort of double-barreled one for the Petroleum Bldg. Across the hall Elmo Wasson is observing his 25th Anniversary.

Dentists Being Invited To Clinic Set At VA Hospital

Some 300 West Texas and Eastern New Mexico dentists are being invited to the two-day dental clinic to be held at the local VA Hospital next month. Dr. Calvin J. Guilliams, chairman, announced today. Three of the Southwest's leading dental authorities will be featured on the program, to be held Dec. 12-13 under auspices of the VA Hospital and the Permian Basin Dental Society, said Dr. Guilliams, chief of dental service at the hospital. The intensively educational program will include lectures by Dr. Phillip E. Williams, Dr. Horace Beachum and Dr. Samuel R. Parks, all members of the faculty of the Baylor University College of Dentistry. Drs. Williams and Beachum will address dentists during the first-day program, Friday, Dec. 12. Dr. Williams, instructor in oral surgery at the Baylor school, will discuss "Everyday Oral Surgery" during the morning session. Dr. Beachum, instructor in prosthodontics, will lecture on "Full Denture Prosthesis" at the afternoon meeting. Beachum also will be heard during the morning session of the second day of the clinic when he will deliver the same address. Dr. Parks, professor of periodontia, will speak on "Practical Periodontia" at the final session Saturday afternoon. Assisting Dr. Guilliams in presentation of the clinic will be Willis O. Underwood, manager, and Dr. Jackson H. Friedlander, chief of professional services, both of the Big Spring VA Hospital. Special entertainment will be provided for wives of dentists attending and a buffet dinner is to be served Friday evening. Registration is to start at 9 a.m. Friday.

Judge Asked To Re-Check Words On Housing Area

HOUSTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—A harsh-talking mass meeting passed a soft-worded resolution here to ask a district judge to re-examine a statement he made about the housing project where they live. Judge Roy F. Campbell was quoted recently as saying that the housing project—Houston's largest—was an "unfit" place to rear children. The resolution last night passed by some 300 residents of San Felipe Courts asks Campbell to "re-examine his statement and base his decisions on present facts, not on past occurrences, as it appears he had apparently done." Campbell last week refused to retract the statement. He had made it during a divorce hearing and threatened to take a child away from his mother if she did not move away from the courts. About 15 or 20 people spoke at last night's protest meeting. News-men present said all but one or two of the speakers talked in much harsher terms and with stronger words than were used in the approved resolution. About 2,000 persons live in San Felipe Courts. Some Arctic mosquitoes are so abundant and ferocious in the short summer period that they can drain the blood from a man's body in a few minutes when they attack in force and the man is unprotected, says a report by Prof. Alexander Klots of City College, New York City.

IN 'LITE-A-BUMPER' DRIVE

Reflecting Tape Is Appearing On Cars

Don't be afraid of those reflecting red lines you'll be seeing more frequently on the rear of cars within the next few days. Those lines are reflecting tape for night driving and are a part of the local Jaycees "Lite-A-Bumper" campaign which is being kicked off here this week.

Jaycees have started to place the tape on their cars along with some city vehicles. Saturday is the day for public sale of the "Scotchlite" reflecting tape. Time will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Main St., in front of the First Baptist Church.

SCS has been costing about $80 million.

Henry C. Barlow of McKinney, Texas, reports the sale of four red Shorthorn bulls, some of a grandson of an imported bull, to M. T. Longoria of Laredo.

Barlow says these bulls are going to a Mexican cattleman in an area that has been hit hard by the drought and where Shorthorn cattle are but little known.

The annual show and sale of the Texas Shorthorn Breeders' Association will be held at the City Park Pavilion in Stephenville, Tuesday, December 9.

The show will be held at 9 a.m. and the sale at 1 p.m. The event will feature 26 bulls and 39 females.

No Segregation Is Aim Of Two Suits

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 27 (AP)—Subpoenas have been served here in connection with two injunction suits aimed at breaking segregation barriers in the San Antonio schools.

The summons yesterday went to officials of San Antonio College and public school officials. The persons subpoenaed are to show cause in 57th district court, Jan. 19, why they should deny admission of eight Negro students to schools here other than those provided for members of their race.

Two injunction suits were filed Monday. Harry Bellinger, plaintiffs counsel, asked the court to set the Jan. 19 date but said he would be agreeable to a postponement because cases now pending before the U. S. Supreme Court would affect the local suits.

J. O. Loftin, president of the San Antonio College and St. Phillips College, said school officials would not press the case since a high court decision would be final and save money for the principals involved here.

TEXAS QUADS TO QUIT KOREA TO COME HOME

WITH U. S. SEVENTH DIVISION, Korea, Nov. 27 (AP)—The 23-year-old Perricone quadruplets of Beaumont, Tex., left Korea this week for civilian life — still together as they have been for nearly two years in the Army.

The brothers, Anthony, Bernard, Carl and Donald, said they will find temporary jobs when they get back and later start a cattle ranch in the Beaumont area.

The quadruplets came to Korea last May and served with the 7th Division's 73rd Tank Battalion. Carl is a sergeant; the others corporals.

The quads were drafted into the Army in January, 1951. They took basic training at Camp Polk, La., then moved to Fort Benning, Ga.

Carl came under an order that all sergeants without overseas experience must take duty abroad. The other three brothers decided to go along with Carl to Korea.

THE SPRINGBOARD

News From Webb Air Force Base By A-2C FERD J. BORSCH

CHRISTMAS DECORATIONS

Squadron areas won't be the only locations receiving the Christmas decorations over the holidays. Christmas decorations will also grace Wing Headquarters Building and the main gate north of the base. These two projects will be completed under the direction of Installations Squadron.

Well over half of the squadrons enter the base-wide outdoor Christmas decoration contest to be judged December 16-19.

BLOOD Webb personnel donated 295 pints of blood at the Blood Donor Center in Big Spring last week according to Maj. Woodrow W. Conner, officer in charge of the project.

Initial plans for construction of a skeet range at Webb Air Force Base have been inaugurated according to Air Installations officials. According to Air Force regulations, the range will be used by rated personnel.

Four squadrons have posted perfect ground safety records in the three-month "Operation U-SAFE" campaign which closes November 30.

Wing Headquarters, Air Base Headquarters, Maintenance and Supply Group section and 3561 Pilot Training squadrons had no reportable ground accidents for the period to aid in lowering base accident rates.

Webb's cost per capita for ground accidents during the "U-SAFE" program was 99 cents—a 90 percent slash over the preceding three months when the per capita rate was listed at $9.08.

One of the primary targets of the Webb campaign was the large number of military injuries resulting from private automobile accidents. Previous to the campaign Webb had averaged four airmen per month hospitalized because of auto accidents. Only four airmen were hospitalized because of this type accident throughout the three-month safety drive.

CIVILIAN PERSONNEL An eight-hour course in civilian personnel administration opened Wednesday, it was announced by W. A. Farrow, Civilian Personnel officer. Designed primarily for employees of the Civilian Personnel office, the class also includes several officers who deal directly with the organization.

SURVEY The Education Office opened its base-wide career study plan interview program this week, being held in conjunction with Operation Midnight Oil, an Air Force off-duty educational program.

Over 2,000 airmen stationed at Webb will be interviewed before the program is completed prior to Christmas. An estimated 65 hours of interrogation will be needed to cover every airman stationed on the base.

The study plan itself recommends both high school and college courses helpful in an airman's career field. All subjects can be taken through Midnight Oil, either by resident course or correspondence.

SPORTS Webb's Dusters have won three of their first four basketball games of a young 1952-53 season.

Two last-moment buckets by forward Charles Fields spelled victory for the Dusters Friday night as they came from behind to nip Reese Air Force Base, 68-66, in the campaign opener. Forward Bill Heater was the big Webb point producer with 22.

The Dusters then bowed, 74-57, to Phillips 66 of Midland Saturday night. George Simpson took scoring honors in this test with 19.

A clean sweep of a two-game series with Bergstrom Air Force Base gave the Webb hoopers their second and third triumphs of the season. The Dusters trimmed Bergstrom, 91-68, Monday night and followed through with an 85-80 decision Tuesday night.

Crash Proves Sitting Backwards In Plane Gives Added Safety

SALISBURY, England (AP)—The British Air Ministry pointed today to an airplane crash here as another proof of the added safety attached to sitting backwards in a plane.

Four crewmen—necessarily facing forward—were injured when a Royal Air Force transport collided with a jet fighter and crashed. The nine passengers, however, walked out dazed but unhurt. They were seated facing the rear of the plane.

Congratulations

Yes, Elmo, our sincere congratulations to you on your formal opening Friday, November 28. Your new store is indeed a credit to your city and area. THE GRUB LINE With Franklin Reynolds

Leroy Mattingly, living five miles west of Tarzan has 25 acres of native irrigated pasture that is an example of what can be done with native grasses where irrigation water is available, and which could be to some extent duplicated with a normal rainfall.

This native grass pasture was flooded irrigated during the winter and early spring when water was not being used elsewhere. The grass growth was short at the beginning of 1952. It was watered twice, about the middle of March and again on May 1. The ditches and borders were built in 1951, and no leveling was done. He quit feeding cattle in March and turned the following on the pasture: six cows, 10 calves, two horses and three sheep. All this livestock were still grazing the pasture this week and were not receiving any supplemental feeding.

The predominant grasses in the pasture are Sideoats Grama, Buffalo Grass, Hooded Windmill Grass, Black Grama and Vine Mesquite, all native grasses. During the period mentioned the pasture also received three inches of rainfall.

Mattingly figures, according to Martin Vavra, SCS work unit conservationist at Stanton, that the pasture cost him $8.64 per acre this year, which included labor for both irrigations, fuel for the pumps and all else.

O. W. Watlington who lives in the Buford Community in Mitchell County planted five acres of cropland to common alfalfa this fall. The planting was broadcast at 20 pounds to the acre. He planned this crop for cover, hay, seed and grazing. He also sowed 15 acres to Abruzzi Rye for cover and winter grazing.

O. N. Bradberry, on the Armstrong Farm in the South West-brook country, is starting his winter terracing program, and wants to get the job done as quickly as possible so as to get full advantage of the winter rains. This week five miles of new terrace lines were run on this farm. The terraces will be constructed to district specifications by the county maintainers. A natural water course will be left open to handle the outside drainage area.

Jack McKinney, in Mitchell County's New Hope Community, has planted 20 acres of cropland to alfalfa, and he, too, sowed it broadcast at the 20-pound rate, and like Watlington, he plans on grazing, hay and cover. McKinney also has 150 acres of small grains. He is figuring on some timely winter and spring grazing, and also on holding his topsoil where it belongs.

R. S. Brennand Jr., in the West-brook area has planted 325 acres of small grains for protection and grazing on his 8,000-acre ranch.

Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, one of the world's greatest conservationists and former chief of the Soil Conservation Service, who retired after 39 years with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, doesn't pull any punches in an article in the December issue of Country Gentleman, in which he says that the "power hungry, politically-motivated" Production and Marketing Administration (PMA) is stripping the Soil Conservation Service of its essential functions, under a reorganization to coordinate the department's conservation practices, and is thereby wrecking soil conservation.

It is an article that every citizen should read and one that can be calculated to have a powerful effect in shaping future government conservation programs.

He says soil conservation progress in this country is in "serious danger" because of the Department of Agriculture.

The PMA operates the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) which, by order of Secretary of Agriculture Brannan, is being coordinated with the work of the Soil Conservation Service (SCS). Dr. Bennett says he favors a single conservation program but claims that under the present reorganization the permanent, long-range program of the SCS is being weakened in favor of the "shot-gun" type conservation which the ACP administers. Under the reorganization the SCS is to lose its job of research in soils, crop management and water management and is being loaded down with responsibility for national soil surveys, Bennett says. The result, he claims, will be to slow down "practical soil conservation" whereas this program should be accelerated.

"To strip SCS of research would be like taking the tools out of a farmer's shop on the grounds that he should take all his repair and maintenance work to the factories that made his machines," Bennett says. "The first need of SCS was special research—in fact before soil conservation work started, there weren't even any applicable data on the rate of soil loss from different slopes and soils under various conditions of rainfall and cropping. A progressive soil conservation program will always have need for a closely geared research division to get answers to the special problems that constantly come up in field work."

Says Dr. Bennett in the article: "Paying a farmer year after year for applying the same practice to the same land just doesn't add up to progress in soil conservation. . . . ACP is a monster of a program, spending around a quarter of a billion dollars a year where

Man's Hobby Is Saving Insignia From Campaigns

HAILEY, Idaho, Nov. 27 (AP)—The "I Like Ike" button or the "Stevenson for President" pin you sported during the presidential campaign isn't worth a continental now — except to Joe Fuld and his fellow members of the American Political Item Collectors Association.

Fuld, who is president of the collectors association, has the den of his home lined with cases of political insignia. He has more than 3,000 campaign buttons, banners and pins, dating as far back as the 1840 election. One of his four items from that campaign carries William H. Harrison's famed slogan "Tippecanoe and Tyler too."

The variety of insignia which ingenious minds have devised for presidential campaigns is amazing, Fuld said. In the first 50 years campaign insignia were used, they were made of brass, silver, lead, wood, bone and rubber. Some were holed for suspension from watch fob or chain.

Many of the campaign buttons contained a "plank" from the candidate's platform or his face in relief.

It wasn't until the campaign of 1892 that the celluloid pins and buttons, so popular in recent elections, made their appearance. The low cost of celluloid pins popularized the campaign "buttonholing" of voters, Fuld said.

Cost to party organizations for the manufacture and distribution of emblems of the 1800s — little rectangular brass cases with pin backs and lenses over their faces to magnify inscriptions — would be too much today, he declared.

So widespread is the use of celluloid campaign buttons that the candidates themselves don't realize how many varieties there are in circulation. In correspondence with Alfred M. Landon, Fuld told him he had 43 different buttons for the Landon-Knox campaign of 1936. Landon wrote back that he had seen only three or four. Fuld sent Landon several of his own campaign buttons.

A survey conducted for the four New York City municipal colleges indicates that the divorce rate among graduates are from one-fourth to one-tenth those of the nation as a whole.

Navy May Take Over Texas Tract

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27 (AP)—The Navy said today it is considering taking over a 104-acre tract now owned by the Public Housing Administration (PHA) adjoining the Naval Reserve Fleet Berthing Station at Orange, Tex.

No indication was given as to what use might be made of the property if the Navy acquires it. The Navy said this information is classified and cannot be disclosed now.

Navy officials said "an informal request" recently was made to the PHA that it delay temporarily any attempt to dispose of the property pending a review of the Navy's requirements.

The office of the deputy chief of naval operations for logistics said that "in view of the location of the land adjacent to the Naval Station, the Navy has been considering the necessity of obtaining custody of the property."

But it emphasized that "no formal action has been taken to request or acquire any portion of the tract."

In Greece the ending of surnames indicates the region from which the family came; an "is" ending for a clan from Crete, "edes" a clan from Thrace and "as" a clan from Macedonia, says the National Geographic Society.

A Bible Thought For Today—

Jesus abolished the law of parsimony and substituted the law of abundance. Humanity is just beginning to understand the boundless abundance of nature. No one has seriously probed the resources of the soul. God's children are richer than you think. "Jesus said; Give, and it shall be given to you." Luke 6:38.

A Psalm Of Thanksgiving Which Is Good Unto All Generations

Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands.

Serve the Lord with gladness: Come before His presence with singing.

Know ye that the Lord He is God: It is He that hath made us, and not we ourselves; we are His people, and the sheep of His pasture.

Enter into His gates with thanksgiving, and into His courts with praise: Be thankful unto Him, and bless His name.

For the Lord is good: His mercy is everlasting; and His truth endureth to all generations. — Psalms 100.

Russia's Fast Rejection May In Time Prove To Have Been Blunder

Some news analysis see in the Russian rejection of the plan proposed by India for a settlement of the Korean war the possibility of conflict between the immediate aims of Russia and Communist China, a conflict of interests that might, by some stretch of the imagination, lead to a break-up of the Moscow-Peking accord.

Based on these surmises, the analysts reason that Russia thereby may have alienated most of Asiatic opinion, which had backed the Indian proposal, angered India, which had cooperated closely with Red China, and quite possibly miffed the Peiping government more than somewhat.

very fact of this increase has caused equally important segments of both agriculture and industry to demand that tariff barriers be raised in order to protect the home market. Thus the tariff on cheese has been increased. The tuna fishers on the west coast are demanding another boost so that Japanese tuna can be kept out.

The figures for raw cotton are just as striking. In 1939, 32 per cent was exported. In 1949 it was 28 per cent, 36 in '50 and 41 in 1951. It is not alone the Deep South that is affected, since large acreages of irrigated land in California and Arizona are producing bumper crops of the highest grade of cotton.

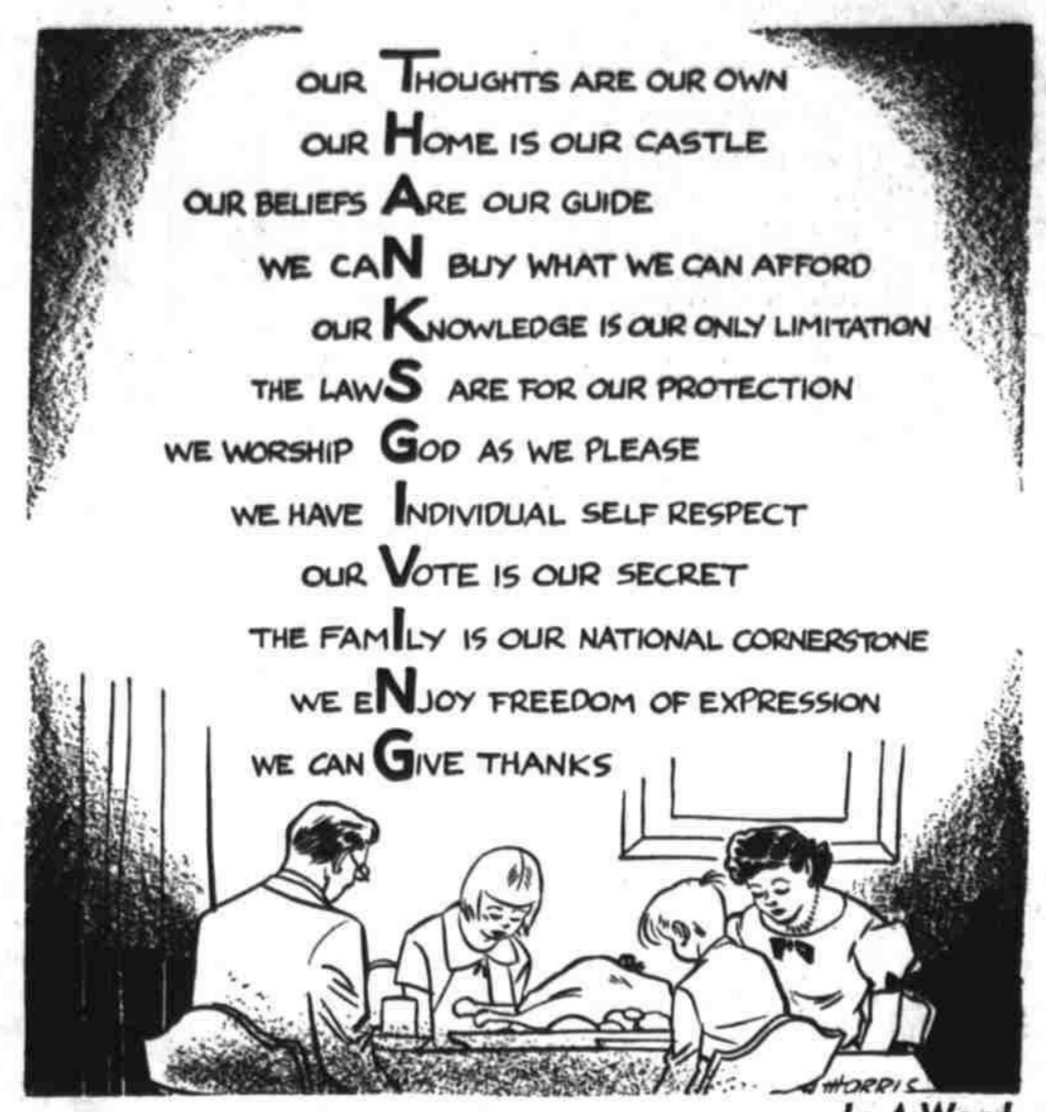

A prescription can be written fairly simply. William R. Biggs, economic analyst of the Bank of New York, following a European survey listed among the essentials the maintenance of a continued high level of economic activity in this country.

The hitch-hiker watched another car disappear, picked up his canvas bag and started walking back into the town. He shuddered in the face of a cold wind that scooted dirt and leaves along the pavement.

Our Strength Is In Our History And The Nation Can Be Thankful

A nation is only as strong as its roots are deep in tradition. Ours is an old tradition, continuous in the mind of man as long as we know. It is the tradition of the goodness of men as a reflection of God's goodness.

We have passed through a maze of political, economic and social experiments, most of which our people could not understand. Many of the changes have left a permanent mark upon our institutions.
