Stribling Set For Battle Tonight

Meets Meyer Christner In First Bout Since Return

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 23 (AP)—Young Stribling starts another campaign directed towards a heavyweight title bout tonight when he tests his newly-discovered knockout punch on the durable Akron, O. It is Stribling's first bout since his return from England, where he scored a sensational knockout victory over Phil Scott.

Stribling has displayed a real wallop in his recent battles, knocking out Otto Von Forst in Chicago and then Scott. Although Christner has slipped back somewhat since he leaped into the limelight a few years ago he still has considerable ability to take punishment and a dangerous right hand wallop in the bargain.

RISKO-DANIELS

BOSTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Dick Daniels, Minneapolis boy who makes a practice of tackling tough boxing assignments, takes on Johnny Risko of Cleveland, tonight, in a 10-round bout at the Boston Garden.

What Daniels may lack in experience he makes up for in sheer grit. Experts said a win over Risko would be the making of the Minneapolis battler.

Daniels will go into the fight weighing 157 pounds. He is 21 years old and started fighting while a student at the University of Minnesota three years ago. He stands 6 feet tall in his stocking feet.

Risko has put on a little weight since his last bout here and has probably slowed up a bit, but to back him up he has a wealth of experience and a ring style that has carried him through to many a victory.

RAIN BEATEN

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—The first experiment with championship fights at "popular" prices in Madison Square Garden has shown that the innovation is far from popular unless the contenders can show more than Able Bain, Bain, a Newark, N. J., youngster who has had little experience in the light heavyweight, proved only a chopping block for Maxie Roesebloom, the light heavyweight champion, last night and Maxie "defended" his title by scoring a technical knockout in the eleventh round of a dull match.

Even with the prices scaled down to where the best seats cost less than six dollars, only 4,400 of the fight faithful turned out and contributed $12,000 to the gate. And many of them left the arena before the bout wound to its certain finish.

LOUGHAN-MAIER

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 23 (AP)—Their training completed, Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, former world's champion light heavyweight, and Davis Maier, Milwaukee, aspirant into big time circles, reated today prior to their scheduled ten round fight here tonight. Loughran expects to weigh in at about 183 and Maier at 180.

McGregor For University Land Tax Amendment

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Oct. 23.—Former Sen. T. H. McGregor of Austin, nominee for the house in the next legislature, has issued an appeal for all voters to go to the polls Nov. 4 and cast ballots in support of the constitutional amendments to permit 17 West Texas counties to be paid taxes on the university lands within their borders.

"Texas always has fought discriminatory taxes, but discrimination has existed in the state for 50 years in the university lands paying nothing for county improvements in the counties where they are situated," Senator McGregor pointed out. He declared the university land tax amendment is fair and will equalize the situation of the counties affected.

"Accepting the values that were added to his lands by roads through and adjacent to them, the university, through failure to sell its lands as provided by the constitution has added to the burden of the remainder of the land in the 17 counties," he said.

"The average area exempted in these 17 counties is 10 per cent, according to statistics provided by the legislature," he added. "The average county in this section would be up in arms against such a perpetual exemption, just as are those counties in the western part of the state where lands were given away in 1876 and 1883 as the permanent endowment of the university. Other land is made to pay its way for county purposes. Public school land is taxed in this way,

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth. Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Feeding Of Fowls And Livestock Topic Of County Farm Agent

It is important at this time, according to J. V. Bush, county farm agent, to bring to attention of Howard county farmers some facts and necessary changes in managerial practices with poultry and livestock that will help meet existing conditions.

Considerable feed and money can be saved to farmers by culling out inferior and undesirable poultry and livestock which will not return a profit above the cost of feed and labor, and using the feed thus saved for those desirable ones which will return a profit. There are hens that never lay and hens that never pay. There are individuals in other forms of livestock which absorb the profits that would be made by more desirable ones. It is an easy matter to remove inferior, unprofitable and unprofitable individuals from a flock of poultry or from a herd of livestock. This would be a fine time for those Howard county farmers who have never practiced systematic culling of poultry to get in touch with the county agent, arrange a date, invite neighbors and have a real poultry culling demonstration. There hasn't been a month or a period of time since I came to Howard county that a well bred flock of poultry would not return a fair profit above the cost of feed and labor, properly fed and managed, not even during the time of the lowest price of eggs in the spring and summer. If any flock of well bred hens in Howard county has failed to return a profit then there is something wrong, and the trouble usually is not with the hens, but with the owner or husbandman. Please let me suggest the following practices for those of you who never tried them:

Mixtures

1. Cull your flock to remove non layer hens and to conserve feed and space for the layers which will return a profit.
2. Rid the fowls of external and internal parasites. For lice and mites, dip or dust with sodium fluoride or black leaf 40 along the roost, just before the fowls go on roost. For internal parasites (worms), Leg Capsules for individual dosing, or 2 pounds tobacco mixed well in 100 pounds mash feed and feed for three weeks.
3. Provide clean, comfortable and spacious quarters, well ventilated without drafts, 2 1/2 to 3 square feet per bird in poultry house.
4. Feed a balanced ration the year round. There are several good commercial feeds on the market, and the following is a good one if you care to mix your own mash: 200 pounds milt meal, 100 pounds wheat bran, 100 pounds wheat shorts, 100 pounds meat scraps or 70 pounds meat scraps and 50 pounds cotton seed meal, 2 1/2 pounds salt. Keep oyster shell before the birds.
5. Keep fresh clean water before the birds.

Dairy Cows

The mixtures given are for a 1,000 pound cow giving 25 pounds of milk which will test around 4 per cent butterfat. To feed this cow she should receive each day 20 to 25 pounds dry matter, 2.65 to 2.33 pounds protein, 187 to 19.55 pounds digestible nutrients.

For a cow producing less milk and less butterfat feed her less but keep feeds in the same proportion, and for a cow producing more milk and a higher butter fat content, (then she should receive more feed, but in the same proportion.)

The first two rations are intended for farmers who do not want to put much money into feed but who wish to feed a balanced ration insofar as possible.

1. For the farmer who has kaffir fodder in bundles and no other form of home grown feed, the following to each cow per day: 4 pounds cotton seed meal and 22 pounds of kaffir fodder.
2. For the farmer who has kaffir fodder and milt maize heads: 10 pounds ground milt heads, 3 pounds cotton seed meal and 14 pounds ground kaffir fodder.
3. For the farmer who realizes he can more nearly have a balanced ration if he feeds more than one protein: 8 pounds milt heads, 2 1/2 pounds wheat bran, 2 1/2 pounds cotton seed meal and 16 pounds kaffir fodder.
4. For the farmer, who in addition to milt, kaffir and wheat bran has alfalfa or cow pea hay: 6 pounds ground milt heads, 2 1/2 pounds wheat bran, 1 pound ground hay, 12 pounds kaffir fodder.
5. For the farmer who has threshed milt, kaffir fodder and alfalfa or cow pea hay for roughage and will buy wheat bran and cotton seed meal: 5 pounds ground threshed milt, 2 1/2 pounds wheat bran, 1 pound cotton seed meal, 5 pound ground hay, 12 pounds ground kaffir fodder.

"I would recommend No. 4 where it is possible to use it. Hegari can be substituted for the kaffir in each ration," said Mr. Bush.

A method has been developed for electrically welding steel frames and floors in buildings to reduce weight and permit erection of taller structures.

Hints For Homemakers

CANDIES make a delicious garnish for many simple desserts, and save the time necessary for preparing more elaborate ones. Try crumbling up chocolate fudge over junket or vanilla ice cream. Garnish cherry gelatine with quartered marshmallows and chopped candied cherries.

To make an old flannel mop practically as good as new, put a large tablespoon of concentrated lye in a pail half full of boiling water and let the mop boil in it. Rubse thoroughly several times and put in the sun to dry. One or two tablespoons of herose added to the suds when boiling white clothes will make the clothes much whiter.

Recent Innovations In Jewelry

NEW styles in jewelry appear almost weekly, accenting the type and color harmony of the costume. Genuine stones and exquisitely carved into flower shapes and are set together in necklaces, bracelets, brooches, and clips. These are all Oriental in appearance of color, employing rubies, emeralds and diamonds in cluster designs of brilliance and delicacy. In all white jewelry baguette and round diamonds are set together.

Necklaces are fitted to the throat. One of the latest models from an important house is thus fitted the stones being set closely with dazzling effect. The necklace widens in front and is a narrow strand at the back. Another necklace is fitted flat around the back and extended with three single strands of diamonds in front. A necklace of oblong and round stones, with a matching pendant, is Russian in influence but ultra-modern in setting.

Large and small stones, and beads are popular in the new necklaces, and there is a tendency to use several strands of small synthetic jewels or beads of colored composition. One necklace that will be fascinating with a white "repe" or mousseline frock has three graduated strands of beads like ripe currants. Another, very new, is a long string of small green jade beads alternating with oblongs of silver. This may be left to hang to the knees, or wound two or three times around the neck.

Teacher Added To Staff At Midway

An additional teacher will be added at Midway School, it was announced today by Miss Pauline Cantrell, county superintendent.

Tap dancing, starvoled child of old time dances, is beginning to find its way into ballroom dancing. Eleanor Powell shows three typical steps—the Maxine, a twist and "On to Buffalo."

By RICHARD MASSOCK

NEW YORK, Oct. 23—America's dance is a rap-tap-tap of shuffles, breaks and timesteps.

The tap dance, which syncretized America took up as a fad five or six years ago, has become a dance for stage and home alike.

Hundreds of thousands are tapping throughout the country. Debutantes do it. Business men try it. Stenographers double in taps.

The taccato steps are even punctuating ballroom dancing.

The tap dance is an American development, advanced by jazz time music, Jack Manning, a New York instructor, says.

It's roots are in the Irish jig, the buck and wing, the Lancashire clog and other old-time frolics.

Anyone with a sense of rhythm can tap-dance, Manning said.

The tap step used is called the time-step, because it is set to the beat of the music.

The fundamental movements are the brush, the shuffle, the slap and the tap, with of course steps and hops. Cramp rolls, wings, pickups, heel grinds, toe touches and heel taps are more difficult movements in the advanced work.

The "brush" describes that movement. The foot is brushed forward or back, the weight of the body always being on the other foot, leaving the foot in motion free.

A forward and back brush combine to make a shuffle. A shuffle and a step together make a "triple."

A forward brush and a step form a slap. For a step the foot is set down as in walking. "A tap is a quick movement in which the foot is immediately raised again."

There are thousands of breaks, a break being the manner in which the dancer changes from one step to another in his routine. Step here means a combination of movements.

The usual routine is one step to a measure of music. Six steps of the same kind are made. The break

"And didn't you notice? Her hose are mismatched!"

Mrs. M. H. Bennett was the hostess at today's meeting of the club.

Mrs. C. D. Baxley and Mrs. Fred Stephens will be hostesses at a dinner bridge at the Settles tomorrow evening for the members of the ideal Bridge Club and their husbands.

LONG HORNS TAKE LIGHT WORKOUT

Mr. Boyce House of the Ranger Times offers quite a unique reason for why Ranger and not Abilene is the "underdog" in the coming clash between the two teams. He declares Ranger's population is 6,000, while that of Abilene is 23,000 and the former wouldn't make a splash in the latter's front yard. Therefore, Ranger and not Abilene is the proverbial "underdog." Does Mr. House pause to think that Big Spring is twice as large and three times as Ranger; but is Ranger the underdog in that coming fray? Does Mr. House hesitate to ponder that San Angelo is larger than any city in West Texas—except that was there understanding about the Angelo-Ranger contest. Mr. House did not in both instances. Nope, he didn't stop, and even if he did, he didn't think.

It is amusing to read the childish manner in which the Coach's publicity manager tries to flatter the Bobcats to great heights against the Steers. Having nothing else handy to pick on, he takes this tack scribbling apart and storms out that the Green prevent with the various and assorted organs, in other words, Mr. Cross, having had his publicity bureau blown apart, seeks to apply guano to ours. The things he accuses us of were not in such good humor, we would immediately give our body and soul to young man's address and send him southward with intentions to do bodily harm to the aborigine.

He accuses us of taking a "thrust at the fibre of the San Angelo athletes, an intimation they lack the infestral fortitude. It is an accusation that the San Angelo team is a quitter team." He protests loudly today that we gave Scrap-Iron Grimes the razzberries. Does it mean anything that two weeks ago, he mentioned we were the only dopest in the district that knew the true value to a football team of Grimes? Nope, it doesn't mean anything. He spends many months telling the Bobcats of the nasty cracks we have made; of the things we've said to deride them, and belittle them. And he ends by declaring, "Still, this offensive writer imagines Mr. R. C. Campbell is crammed full of prunes and loco berries." To tell the truth the "infestral fortitude of the Bobcats" has never entered this man's random faculties. We have merely mentioned in passing that if Grimes was as good on the printed sheet before they played a game or so, things would be different today. It is true we have predicted the Steers will turn the trick of shamming the Felines, on their chemistry gridiron. But unlike the little gentleman who would like to call himself a contemporary, we've employed no underhand methods such as telling the Bovines of the bad things said about them by any one living in that region known as the sheep ranch of Texas. That is the difference. And what a difference.

As a matter of fact, the odds are against the Steers in just one respect. And that is Angelo is playing at Angelo. Were the game played here it would be just another affair inside the $4,000 fence. But being down there, 50 miles or more toward the Gulf, it is different. Yet we cannot help but feel the slight edge the Steers hold over the Bobcats as they play away from some complex. Some say there is not a "slight edge," that Angelo can run up a string of tallies. True indeed. Let us peruse. Angelo has played six games, scored 115 points, with opponents having scored 58. Big Spring has played eight games, scored 30 points, with opponents having 120. That looks bad at the start. Yet, Big Spring has played three of the best teams in Texas—Angelo has played one. Sixty-four of San Angelo's points were run up against Class B teams. Six of Big Spring's were gained that way. The San Angelo average will be taken down considerably when they travel the same road the Bovines have stamped over. On the other hand, the Steer average will be given a boost when the head assets such teams as Sweetwater, Brownwood and Colorado. There is your comparative score total business.

We slithered through a quarter and a half of the Lamesa-Big Spring game Wednesday afternoon, and saw some 1931 Steers in action. Youth named Harris, and little Senatis Schwabenbach, and a few more. Harris, incidentally, is the younger brother of Miller Harris who is raising a crop of milk and eggs at the present, but who was with Cosden Refinery in the City League and San Antonio in the Texas League last summer.

While the second and third stringers cavorted around, our eyes strayed to the behemoths such as Eddie Maxwell and Red Coburn and Brownie Hanshaw and Glover, and Pardue, and Hopper the shave-head, and Hebbison, the blond haired guard, each of them tacking up above 165 pounds and set for the Bobkittens.

The Steers look set for the Felines whether they are or not. Not a noticeable injury was seen in the ranks Wednesday afternoon. As the first string clicked off a few plays, it looked like a bad winter day in the sheep market for the playful Felines. Of course it is useless to think the Bovines are going to have an easy time of it. They are not. They are going to have one of the toughest fights of

Watch Lamesa Wham The Calves

In Perfect Condition To Battle Bissett Clan

The Big Spring Steers had a rest in their daily give-and-take grind for their impending battle royal with the San Angelo Bobcats, Saturday afternoon, watching the Yearlings take a smashing at the hands of the Golden Sandstorm of Lamesa.

Not that it means anything, but the eleven slipped the package to the second and third string boys, tallying a touchdown to eke out a victory after the Steers had gained a two point advantage early in the second quarter.

The Steers that will go into the hardest battle of the year Saturday, worked out before and after the game, and between halves. Nothing strenuous was setting the pace, however.

In the meantime word from the Bobcat camp has it that Baily Bill Bissett is whipping his charges in to shape for the coming clash. The old physiology is being injected into the Felines at each practice session.

"The Steers," mused Bissett, "never have beaten you on your own grid. There is no reason for them doing it this year." The odds, and very few of them, are that point in other directions. When the Steers invade the city that sheep built they will be favored to eke from the Kittens. Feisty youngsters, against the heavier strings of the district, they'd win over the Eastland Mavericks, their 12 in a affair with the Mineral Wells Mountaineers; their scoundrels and a few other minor things set them up as favorites to win over the Bissett contingent in 1931, even though they have never done it before and may never do it again at San Angelo.

The Steers, in Bill Flowers, take one of the fastest and one of the cleverest backfield men in the district to swing against the Bobcats. In Captain Delbert Rogers, another of the jackrabbit quartet, Steers have a man that is as good on the defense, and as hot on the offense; as any young man with similar size in District Two. Bob Kidwell performed well against the heavier Cisco Lobos. These three backfield men will bear the brunt of the offensive attack against the Angelo contingent.

"When Coach Brown's forward wall clicks into place, the Bobcats will face weight and lots of it from tackle to tackle. The ends are light in it, but it is Phillips and Little. Coach's were heavier the hospital lists over the district would just naturally be enlarged to a greater proportion.

Hanshaw, Maxwell, Glover, Hebbison, Pardue, Coats, and Phillips probably will be in the line when the game starts. From tackle to tackle, the Bobcats will find a fighting bunch of pounds—an average of 165 or thereabouts. The ends will drag the average down, and the backfield is a bunch of high weights. It is true.

Yet, this is the team that socked the Breckenridge Buckaroos for four quarters, holding them 7-0 for three quarters, but finally allowing them to get away with a 13-6 victory, though it should have been much smaller.

THE GREAT GRIMES Although Scrap-Iron Grimes the Greater did not start in the Angelo-Mineral Wells game, it is predicted the least amount of tackle will be in there against the Steers. Although all of the Steers are prone to admit Grimes is a great tackle—and agree with him on that topic—they are equally certain he will have both of his huge hands full handling the opposition.

By BLONDY CROSS San Angelo Standard THE BIG BATTLE

If you are a football fan and an old-timer around these parts, then you naturally are interested in the impending conflict between the eleven representing the Big Spring and San Angelo high schools. The game is scheduled on the Bobcats' field Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. For years, Big Spring teams have striven nobly but futilely to turn back the football forces of San Angelo high school in the old days. San Angelo eleven figured largely with the Big Spring eleven largely as practice affairs of the warm-up variety. San Angelo teams always won, but invariably the Big Spring team put up more ferocious arguments than expected.

The 1929 Conflict The past season Big Spring was admitted to the class A district, 1001 Belt. The Bobcats and Steers were matched again, but this time it was no practice but the game was staged in the Howland county metropolis. San Angelo had purportedly a five to seven touchdown better team. The Bobcats stopped an early threat by the Bobcats, and then marched straight to a touchdown. It took the Steers some time to get going, but the team that day waged its greatest offensive fight of the year. Tindall Jones, who may not see service against the Herd this weekend, charged through at one stage and tackled a Big Spring back who had reeled a blocked punt behind the goal line, giving San Angelo two more points. That drive as the Bobcats did, it seemed they never would be able to score again against that super-fighting Steer battalion. It was the last minute of play when San Angelo had 40 yards to go to make a touchdown and had not gained an inch in three tries that one of Bill Bissett's trick plays crossed up the Herd. He sent a defender and sent Coach McCarty skidding to an end on a delayed back pass from T. B. Odum for a touchdown. The final score was 14-0. San Angelo was a moral victory for Big Spring, for the Steers clearly had outgrown a bigger and better San Angelo team that, as said, was doped to win by a top-heavy score.

Steers Favorites Saturday, Big Spring sends its 1931 team to the cemetery gridiron, a team with the same battle spirit Big Spring teams always flare up with against San Angelo teams. But this time San Angelo is not the favorite. If anything, the Howard county clan is rated an edge. The team is somewhat heavier than the Bobcats, and its backfield is more versatile. Added to this is Big Spring's undying determination to last, to turn back the victory tide and avenge in some part the long string of setbacks plastered on its football delegations year after year by the San Angelo entries.

Bobcats, Four Tacklers San Angelo team's powerful defense that the San Angelo team of 1929 boasted. The team seems to have just about as strong an offense as did the team last year that was more or less fortunate to eke out a 14-0 decision over a far inferior Big Spring team, but for the day a team which thru a great fighting heart had mastered the Bobcats from the field. San Angelo's 1929 model eleven does not tackle with the wild abandon of the Bobcats of 1929. Therefore hinges what may be the first chapter of a sad, sad story that will be told when the improved Big Spring eleven comes to San Angelo Saturday afternoon.

The Felines Will Fight However, it is likely that for granted Bill Bissett's boys are going to fold up and fade before the Bovines Saturday. San Angelo, all right.

Connell, Ray Ousted By Solons

Both Go Out On Four Year Play Ruling

Cisco high school's march to a district championship was given a decided setback Wednesday night at Abilene when the district committee went into a huddle, snapped out of it in a hurry, and carried O. C. Ray, captain and center, and Johnny Connell, backfield ace, off the field.

The solons of the district ousted the two Cisco aces in a trot. They both fell victims to the four years' participation ruling, and joined Arkansas McLaughlin, Dave Graham and others on the sidelines.

Two ballots were required to send Connell to the showers. The first was a draw, 4 to 4. The second went against the flashy speedster of the yellow clad crew. It took one vote to decide Ray's ineligibility. It was charged he had played five years of basketball. A scorebook used in a loop tilt five years ago listed Ray as a participant. He hailed from Cottonwood at that time.

Four years of football was the verdict in Connell's case. He is alleged to have played two years at Clyde and two at Putnam. The testimony against him, however, was rather slim, it is understood.

NELLIE TO OWLS' AID

Elephant Will Act As Jinx Chaser

Southwestern Teams Swing Into Action This Week

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS, Oct. 23. (AP)—The Rally Club at Rice Institute is planning a mammoth chunk of psychology to game on the Owls in their conference clash with the Texas Longhorns Saturday at Houston. It will be, in point of fact, the outstanding bit of focus-pocus ever employed on a football field.

It, or rather, her name is Nellie, and she is an elephant attached to the Houston zoo. It was Nellie's privilege back in 1924, to see the feathered flock win its last victory over the Longhorns, 39 to 6. She was paraded around the field before that game, and appeared to epjor the conflict vastly—as an elephant would—but, for some reason or other, has not been permitted to see one since.

Saturday Nellie will have an opportunity to demonstrate just what sort of a jinx-chaser she is. Accompanied by her mate, Hans, who is quite a pschyderm, himself, she will amble around the Rice grid, casting her malevolent orbs upon the Longhorns.

Indiana in Texas The advance guard of Indiana University's football squad, reaching Dallas yesterday, is fearful the Hoosiers will be seriously handicapped by the weather in Saturday's fray with the Mustangs. They played in freezing temperature last week, when they lost to Minnesota, 6 to 0, and it promises to be anything but freezing here unless rain comes.

Aggie Squad Under Cover

Bell Works On Passes, Interference Running

COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS, Oct. 23. (AP)—Development of effective offensive tactics, new plays, interference running and accurate passing to be used against the Arkansas Razorbacks at Little Rock, Ark., Saturday is the object of the secret practice sessions of Coach Matty Bell's Texas Aggie grid squad at Kyle Field this week.

Working behind closed gates every afternoon since their regular Monday scrimmage with the freshman gridsters, the Aggies have been working at a stiff pace to cover up the defects which marred their play against the T. C. U. Rugged last week. Though the A & M defense was functioning with precision the backs were unable to score a single first down in the game.

Coach Bell is particularly emphasizing accurate passing in practice this week in effort to develop an aerial offensive for his Aggies against the Porker eleven and this week's training periods have seen the air kept literally filled with spiraling pigskins as first one back and then another look his return at the flinging. With the perfecting of a well-functioning passing attack it is likely that the game at Little Rock will be played to a great extent in the air as far as the A & M offense is concerned.

Transfer of Paul McWhadden, punting wingman who was shifted to half for the Horned Frog contest, back to end indicates that the Aggie lineup will assume a form similar to that which has been used in most of the contests this season with Jimmie Aston at quarterback, Capt. Bull Floyd, full, and William Wolf with either Harry Phillips or Pete Hewitt, halves.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

New York City. If regardless of existing dogmas and doctrines a man is absolutely sincere in his religious life, can he miss the favor of a just God and the reward of eternal life?

The question you put is itself doctrinal, and prompts the inquiry: What do you mean by "disregard of existing dogmas"? You assume that God is just, that He takes sides, that He is favorable to the good man, and by influence adverse to the evil doer, and further, you imply that the soul is immortal, and therefore may attain endless bliss.

deep and constant have a better chance for recovery when afflicted with certain types of disease than those whose will to live is feeble. The mental attitude in such cases is therefore an extremely important factor.

Bangor, Me. Three months ago a friend of mine twenty-three years old lost her reason and since visiting her at the asylum I have been unable to get the horror of it out of my mind. I now fear for my own sanity and how easily it might become unbalanced. Is this a nervous reaction due to my sympathetic reaction toward one in trouble?

Your friend's unfortunate illness has shocked your sensibilities, and your unusual susceptibility causes you to brood over her calamity until it has become your mental diet. The sympathy you exhibit springs from a vivid imagination, and this faculty seldom paints the mind's pictures accurately. It either unifies or magnifies realities; usually the latter. The harrowing spectacle you witnessed is not healthy to dwell upon. You need to diminish or expel its recollection by social diversions, by the firm resolution that you are perfectly sane, and grateful beyond words for the blessings you enjoy. Presently the sense of shock will become intermittent and finally disappear.

The person who fears insanity is not often afflicted in that way, the fear itself being evidence of sanity, nevertheless, it is an enervating emotion which you should obliterate.

 Christ said to the man at the pool of Bethesda: "Wilt thou be made whole" (John 5: 6). My difficulty is that the question appears to be suspicious. Could not the command "Take up thy bed and walk" have just as reasonably been given at once?

Our Lord's question was based upon profound knowledge and wise sympathy. It is a question which experienced physicians often ask certain types of patients, for some invalids grow weary of life. Subconsciously they do not wish to recover, even though they display a surface energy to the end of carrying him to the troubled waters where popular belief looked for the healing of the halt and the maimed. Did he really wish to live? He made a feeble excuse for his indifference, whereupon Jesus commanded him to get up and walk and he at once obeyed.
