Hearing Called

Students Protest March 1 Election

The Student Assn. election of March 1 has been formally protested to the Texas Tech Supreme Court.

A petition bearing 53 names was presented to Supreme Court Chief Justice John Stokes this week protesting the election certification of Charlie Crocker as business administration representative, Jerry Avery as engineering representative and Ted Ferguson as senior class vice president.

The petition cites failure of the three to receive majority votes in the election, "such action being in violation of Article III, Section 306; Article V, Section 509; and Article V, Section 501 of the Constitution of the Student Assn."

Council Sets Trip Deadline

If 10 or 15 more students sign up before 5 p.m. today for the proposed bus trip to Lawrence and the NCAA regional playoffs a Student Council-sponsored bus will make the trip, according to Bill Dean, Student Assn. president.

"If we don't have that many sign up there won't be a bus trip from our office," Dean said Monday.

The trip is planned to enable students to attend the Tech and Cincinnati basketball game set for this weekend in Lawrence.

Lawrence is 633 miles and will take about 13 hours driving time. The cost of the ticket will be $22.

Stokes announced Monday the Supreme Court had subpoenaed Student Assn. Secretary Janis Jones, the elections committee of the Student Council and the three candidates involved for a public hearing at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Aggie Memorial Auditorium. Stokes said the hearing would be an "open meeting."

Stokes said the Court had asked Bill Sherbert and Bob Honts to "assist in the prosecution of the hearing."

The petition reads that "the undersigned students of Texas Technological College, appeal to the Supreme Court of Texas Tech to pass upon the constitutionality of the action of the Student Council Elections Committee and/or the Student Council officers in certifying the election" of Crocker, Avery and Ferguson.

Rally Sparks Election Race

By SARGE KLINGER
Foreador Staff Writer

Election tenseness and excitement that has charged the Tech campus with expectation for the past week will explode in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium tonight at 7 p.m. as planned demonstrations, official nominations and acceptance speeches will color the student election convention.

The student convention will be patterned after the national political conventions last summer. Screaming students, banners, and posters are expected to punctuate the convention which is the first election rally of its kind at Tech.

Janis Jones, Student Assn. secretary, will open the rally inside the auditorium with a welcome, after which Bill Dean, president of the Association, will lead the invocation. Student Assn. Vice President Pete Baker will introduce the candidates for the office of business manager, followed by the secretary, vice president and presidential candidates.

Four minutes is the limit placed on speeches by candidates for business manager and secretary. Vice president and presidential candidates are allotted five-minute speeches. A two-minute floor demonstration will follow each speech.

Student Assn. president hopefuls are Carlyle Smith, architecture and civil engineering major from Grand Prairie, and Mike Lundy, history major from Lubbock.

Smith emphasized, "I don't think stunts or skits are the most important part of the campaign. I'm running for student body president, not for cheerleader. I feel the interest of the students is the main objective of student government. I hope to see a large turnout of students for the rally."

Lundy had this to say about the campaign rally, "I think students should attend the rally because that is the only place they can gain an understanding of the issues involved and hear the candidates who are running for office. They (students) can better decide whom they would like to vote for and give support to their favorite candidate."

Vice presidential candidates are Woodie Wood, business administration major from Dallas, and Wayne Underwood, business administration major from Fort Worth.

Ellen Fuller, junior elementary education major from Honeygrove; Joyce Hervey, senior applied arts major from Dallas; and Peggy Maloy, junior applied arts major from Waco, are the candidates for secretary.

Gerald Hodges, a senior arts and sciences major from Dallas, is uncontested for business manager.

At Tonight's Rally

Zorro Helps Candidates

By CARRIE CHANEY
Foreador Staff Writer

Don't be surprised if you see Zorro, the Three Pigs, Snoopy, Alfred E. Newman, or Charlie Brown at the election rally tonight.

They are only a part of the campaign setup for cheerleader candidates. Booths will be placed in the parking lot in front of the Coliseum by candidates.

Combos, egg throws, talent shows, uke sessions, skits, gocats—all will be in full swing. One candidate has arranged a talent show based on a Little Abner theme, while another candidate will give a demonstration with fire batons. A fire truck will also be present.

A hot drum battle will be taking place in one booth, while a country band on a cotton wagon will be playing in another. In this same booth, four boys dressed as girl cheerleaders will be leading yells, and students will be singing with the country band.

Children dressed in cheerleader clothes will pass out cards for one candidate and another prospective cheerleader will pass out peanuts wrapped in burlap. Matches, bubble gum, leis, candy cigars, graham crackers, gingerbread men and eggs are but a few of the other novelties that some of the other candidates will distribute.

Noisemakers will also be used by some cheerleader contestants. The candidate doing the fire baton demonstration will use a siren for her noise effect and other candidates will use effects that tie in with their skit or demonstration.

Wreck Kills Tech Student

Two Texas Tech students, one killed and the other seriously injured, were the victims of a crushing two-car collision late Sunday night near Slaton.

Eldon Estes Ely Jr., 19, was killed and his companion, William A. Ferguson, 19, was taken to Methodist Hospital with multiple head injuries and fractures. He was in critical condition Monday afternoon.

The boys are believed to have been returning from a rattlesnake hunt in Sweetwater with Eldon's father, Eldon E. Ely, 52, and sister, Mrs. Patricia Ely Baucum, who were also killed in the shattering wreck. Two other persons were fatally injured in the accident.

A 2½-gallon container and three large sacks filled with about fifty rattlesnakes, were found in the trunk of Ely's car. Police used pistols and shotguns to make certain that none of the reptiles escaped.

Funeral arrangements were still pending Monday afternoon for the five victims.

Students Choose Stephens, Baker

Mr. and Miss Texas Tech and Class favorites were announced Saturday night at the annual Coronation Ball.

Miss Texas Tech is Shirley Stevens, senior from Denton. Pete Baker, senior from Anson, was chosen Mr. Texas Tech.

Beth O'Quinn, San Antonio, and Wayne Underwood, Fort Worth, were chosen junior class favorites.

Senior class favorites are Marcia Vick, Graham, and Charles Draper, Amarillo.

Wells Hall Sponsors Contest

Wells Hall, formerly men's dormitory No. 7, will sponsor a talent and variety show at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the dormitory cafeteria.

The show, which is produced and directed by the third north wing of the dormitory, will feature 16 acts, including 40 performers.

The acts are Clyde Bateman, vocalist; Ray Lee Johnson and group, comedy act; Jan Payne and Sarah Gordon, dance routine; Jo Beth Chandler, whip artist; The Jitterbug Dancers of Dunbar High School; Denise Rose, vocalist.

The Jokers, combo; The Madhatters, pantomime act; Al Hardin, piano; Jane Aderton and Annette Cochran, dance routine; The Baladeers, trio; Dow Patterson, vocalist; The Tiny Tim Singers, Dunbar High School; Don Baggett, guitarist; Kay White and The Night Caps, vocalists; and Tommy Taylor, accordion.

Awards will be made to first and second place winners. Judges will be from the offices of the Dean of Men and the Dean of Women. Coordinator is Robert Duncan.

Faculty Group Wants Chapter

Lychnos Attempts To Get Phi Beta Kappa At Tech

Lychnos, a Texas Tech faculty organization of Phi Beta Kappa members, is in the process of attempting to obtain a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa on the Tech campus.

This spring, Lychnos will initiate into the organization undergraduate students with outstanding scholastic records. At the spring initiation program, a public address will be given by a distinguished visiting scholar.

Dr. L. S. Levy of the economics department has asked all Lychnos members to attend a preparatory meeting at 4 p.m. Tuesday in C&O 110.

"For over a century and a half, election to Phi Beta Kappa has been a recognition of intellectual capacities well employed, especially in the acquiring of an education in the liberal arts and sciences," Levy said.

"Because of the remarkably high proportion of famous names on the roll of Phi Beta Kappa, admission to its ranks may reasonably be held to indicate also potentialities of future distinction," he added. Phi Beta Kappa was founded on Dec. 5, 1776, at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va., the first society to have a Greek letter name.

Regular meetings gave attention to literary exercises, especially to composition and debating. As time passed, it tended more and more to become an "honor" society.

Levy said that although undergraduate activity continues in some chapters, most chapters now meet only two or three times a year, for election and initiation of members and for a dinner, followed often by public exercises with a scholarly address and occasional poetry.

In 1881 all except three of the 20 existing active chapters were located east of the Alleghenies and north of the Mason-Dixon line. During that year a proposal was made to effect a closer union.

After full discussion of the proposal, a constitution was prepared and ratified and in the fall of 1883, the first National Council of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa began its sessions.

In the 78 years since the organization of the United Chapters, the number of chapters has increased from 25 to 141, and membership from 14,000 to 137,000. Living membership is now approximately 110,000.

Members are elected today from candidates for degrees in liberal arts and sciences—as a rule, from the upper tenth of the graduating class, Levy pointed out.

"Alumni members may be elected from the alumni body of the sheltering institution," Levy said. "Ordinarily they have been graduated at least 10 years and are thought to merit recognition for scholarly accomplishment."

Levy said that honorary members are elected from outside the student and alumni bodies on the same basis as alumni members.

Lychnos was organized at Tech in 1956 and now has 16 members.

Variety of Duties

President Is Spokesman For Students

Serving as leading spokesman for Texas Tech's 9,000 students is just one of a variety of duties facing the president of the Student Assn.

Such duties include everything from appointing members of the Student Council's committees and serving as the executive head of the Council to extending official invitations to national figures contacted for Tech's all-college convocations.

What should students look for in a Student Assn. president?

"You should have some experience not only in student government, but experience in organization, in leading people," Bill Dean, present Student Assn. president, points out.

Of prime importance, Dean says, is the president's ability to build respect for student government. While Dean says it is necessary for the president to be outspoken in representing the students and the Council, one must also be tolerant and not prone to be "waving your arms and screaming" when something comes up.

A major task of the president is to appoint all members of Student Council committees. He also submits reports on sportsmanship to the SWC sportsmanship committee, appoints members of the Tech Supreme Court, serves on the college allocations committee, serves on the Board of Student Organizations, helps select delegates to the Student Conference on National Affairs at Texas A&M and fills various other duties.

Dean points out that the president is called on numerous times throughout the year to represent Tech at various functions in the South-west Conference and on the campus.

Organizational ability, coupled with leadership ability and sense of public relations, is a basic prerequisite.

"If you can't get it organized, you are going to have trouble from the start," Dean says.

'Right-hand-man'

Baker Terms 'Veep's' Job Troubleshooter

The vice president of the Student Assn. is both the "right-hand-man" for the president and a "troubleshooter" to see that the Student Council's work goes smoothly.

Pete Baker, present vice president, points out that the vice president's position is "that of not being tied down" with too many specific duties in the Council, so that he may be on hand to straighten matters out in times of crisis.

An unwritten duty which is of principal importance for the vice president is to coordinate the work of all the Council committees.

Much of the work for the out-of-town trip is done in the spring and summer, to be followed by the fall efforts. The vice president and business manager co-chairman the trip committee.

The vice president also represents the college, along with the Student Assn. president, at many functions on campus and in the SWC. Baker says that the "ability to gain respect" is of major importance for the vice president.

In representing the school, the vice president, Baker says, must "command the dignity of the people one comes into contact with" and be able to put one's "best foot forward."

He points out that this is particularly important in leaving an impression on representatives of other SWC schools that Tech is not a "backwoods" school.

The vice president also serves on the Tech Union program council and is usually called on to coordinate any special events which the Student Council aids in sponsoring.

Toreador

Pinpointing

THE ELECTIONS

As an aid to voters this week, The Toreador devotes the editorial page of today's issue to an examination of the leading positions in Texas Tech's student government, to be filled for next year in Wednesday's election.

Wednesday morning The Toreador will distribute a special election issue detailing candidates' platforms and background information and including coverage of the election rally tonight.

The Toreador editorial staff is presenting extensive coverage of this year's election of the Student Assn. officers, Student Council and cheerleaders in the hope that the student body will go to the polls Wednesday and next Monday and cast an informed, intelligent vote based on qualifications, experience and ability.

THE EDITORS

Attend Election Rally, Pick Candidates—Vote

Students of Texas Tech will have a chance to participate in a giant election rally tonight at Lubbock's Municipal Auditorium. The candidates running for various campus offices will be on full view and students will have a chance to size them up and judge their qualifications first hand.

Good student government—or any government for that matter—cannot be accomplished if the best qualified candidates are not elected to the offices. It is important that the students find out about the candidates running for office—choose their favorites—and go vote.

The entire student body cannot be fairly represented if only a handful of students turn out to vote for the candidates. It is not fair to gripe about student government and then fail to vote in an election. Too many of us do it—it is not a good practice.

Tonight the student body has an opportunity that has not been represented in this form before. The election rally can fail or it can be the best thing that has ever happened to elections at Texas Tech. If it fails it will be because students simply don't give a hoot who makes their major decisions for them in student government.

The rally is not going to be a boring affair—Janis Jones and her elections committee have laid plans that will not only make the rally informing but a lot of fun too.

Make your plans to attend the rally tonight. Remember, if you don't get out and find out about the candidates and their qualifications you have no real right to gripe about student government at Texas Tech.

Needs Patience

SA Secretary Coordinates Council Work

The Student Assn. Constitution lists as official duties of the secretary:

Be a member of the Council with a voice and vote;

Be chairman of Elections Committee;

Keep accurate and complete minutes of meetings of the Student Assn. and Council;

Furnish copies of the minutes of all meetings to the president, who shall keep a permanent file of all minutes and records.

In addition, unofficial duties listed by Janis Jones, Student Assn. secretary, include keeping the Council office coordinated and serving on other committees when needed.

To accomplish these duties in the best manner, Miss Jones said that the "ideal" secretarial candidate should:

1. Be well organized;
2. Have sincere interest in position;
3. Have willingness to devote most of her time;
4. Be familiar with functions of the college;
5. For efficiency's sake, have executive ability, be able to delegate responsibility;
6. Be able to take a firm stand and stick with it;
7. Be able to think things through;
8. Get along well with all sorts of people;
9. Always have needs and desires of students in mind and be aware of their opinions;
10. Patience.

"Most important, the secretary must be willing to dedicate her time and efforts to Council work," Miss Jones said.

Says Honts

Cheerleader Must Be 'Gung-Ho'

Texas Tech students will get a chance to see the cheerleader candidates in action tonight before going to the polls Wednesday.

However, there are many aspects to cheerleading other than that of leading yells and there is much to be considered by the voter before he casts his choice.

According to Bob Honts, head cheerleader this year, "Tech's cheerleaders are representatives to the other schools and must act accordingly. Students from other schools see more of cheerleaders than any other student body officer."

Honts pointed out that the cheerleaders are often invited to be at alumni receptions at other schools and to meet their student body officers. The way in which a cheerleader acts reflects on the opinions of what people think of our school. "The diplomacy of the cheerleaders means a lot," he commented.

The Tech senior continued, "Only a small part of the job is cheerleading." Enumerating cheerleader duties, he included organization of pep rallies, controlling sportsmanship and working with the Saddle Tramps and the Student Council in planning the school trip and Homecoming.

He gave as the best criteria for judging cheerleaders:

- (1) Desire and spirit. ("If a cheerleader has desire he can make up for lack of experience. Desire is necessary for the most experienced cheerleader or he'll become bored. A cheerleader must be gung-ho about his job," said Honts.)
- (2) Ability to perform in front of others and work with others.
- (3) Reasonable coordination.
- (4) Experience ("Knowing what to do with a crowd when.")

On the subject of tumbling, Tech's head cheerleader had this to say, "Tumbling doesn't necessarily make a cheerleader. I think spirit is still the most important thing. However, in order to have a real effective program it's good to have tumbling routines."

Asks $50 Raise

Quilliam Introduces Tuition Hike Bill

By RON CALHOUN
Toreador Editorial Assistant

State Rep. Reed Quilliam of Lubbock has introduced a bill which will increase college semester tuition from $50 to $100 but at the same time offer tuition and "incentive" scholarships.

In a special telephone report to the Toreador, Rep. Quilliam said that the purpose of the bill would be to "raise the standards of Texas colleges."

Quilliam explained that the "incentive" scholarship would in effect mean that students having grades above the all-college or all-department average would get $50 toward their tuition, leaving the full $100 tuition to those falling below this average.

As to whether the student must compete with the entire college body or just the department is strictly up to the college, Quilliam said.

The bill also doubles the tuition scholarships now available to all resident students on a basis of financial need, character and scholarship. The tuition scholarship is also for $50.

If the student qualified for both the tuition and the "incentive" scholarship, then it would be possible to get tuition free.

The bill also includes a raise for out of state students, from the present $200 to $250. The "incentive" scholarships would be available to both resident and out-of-state students, whereas the tuition scholarships would be available to resident students only.

Rep. Quilliam said that the bill will raise a little more than $5 million but said that he could not yet say just how the money would be used. He said that it would probably be up to the individual colleges.

Allocation Deadline

Deadline for campus organizations to pick up allocation forms at the Student Council office has been set at 5 p.m. Wednesday according to Larry Campbell, Student Assn. business manager.

"Any organization that wants money should see me before 5 Wednesday," Campbell said Monday.

Union Chooses New Leaders

Executive officers of the Tech Union will be elected Wednesday night by the Union Program Council.

Applications for Union committee chairmanships are due March 22. The Program Council, consisting of executive officers and committee chairmen, will elect the new chairmen on April 5.

The Union committee structure has been reorganized and now includes 12 committees.

Tuesday and Friday night dance committees have been combined to form a single dance committee, and the arts and entertainment committee has been divided into an exhibits committee and an entertainment committee.

American and Arab college customs have been the subject of correspondence between a Tech coed and a Damascus University student.

Sandra Seal, Dallas freshman, and Hisham Sabbagh have been writing since the beginning of the year. The coed obtained Sabbagh's name and address through Dr. John Guilds, English instructor.

The Damascus student is studying English literature and plans to graduate in July. Sabbagh would like to continue his education in America, possibly at Texas Tech.

Whites Beat Reds To Complete Drills

Spring training came to a close Saturday afternoon with the annual Raider Red-White game, and the show put on by the first products under new Coach J. T. King indicates that Texas Tech may make a little noise in Southwest Conference play next fall.

The Whites defeated the Reds 28-23 in a surprising show of offensive power by both clubs, and the 2,200 fans that turned out for the contest weren't disappointed.

Coolidge Hunt, playing for the Whites, was the big one on the field again in this year's game, duplicating his heroics in the two spring season tilts last year.

Last year Hunt played for the Reds and led them to a 35-15 shelling in one game, and again in a later game that ended in a 20-20 deadlock.

Hunt made a touchdown on a 14-yard jaunt, and Roger Gill added two more tallies for the Whites, but the big factor in the victory was a 75-yard kickoff return by Dickie Turner.

After a Red touchdown, scored by David Rankin, McEntire took a pitchout for the extra points to make the score 22-15 in favor of the White team. On the kickoff, Turner took the ball on the 25 and maneuvered through the Red defense to wrap up the game for the Whites.

The victory was a comeback effort on the part of the Whites. In the first quarter, the Reds surged out in front, 7-0, on a 9-yard pass from quarterback Johnny Lovelace to halfback Charles McEntire.

Red Raider Athletes Have Busy Weekend

Texas Tech's intercollegiate sports program had a workout this weekend as the Raider golf, swimming, track, tennis, and baseball teams were in action about the state and New Mexico. Football had its place also, as the Raider gridders finished spring training with their annual game in Jones Stadium.

Coach Jay McClure's golfers finished fifth at the Border Olympics Golf Tourney Saturday at Laredo with a 72-hole score of 1197. The Raider second squad wound up in ninth position with a 1228 total. Tech's Chris Blocker finished third in the medalist race with a 284 tally. Meet medalist was Terry Dill of Texas with a 281 for 72 holes.

Winning team was North Texas State which took the University-College division with a 1181 mark.

Tech's swimmers completed their season with a fourth place finish in the Southwest Conference swim meet held in College Station Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. SMU was the victor.

The Techsians scored 42 points to complete the race behind SMU with 186, Texas with 182½, and Texas A&M with 48½.

Jim Tom Davis was high point man for the Raiders. He was followed by Jack Shipley and Glenn Shoup.

In Thursday's action Shipley finished fourth in the 1500 yard individual medley and Shoup took fifth. Davis swam for fifth place in the 266 yard individual medley later that day. Team totals for the first day were: SMU 20 points, Texas 17 points, and Texas Tech 7 points.

Friday, Glen Anderson won an unexpected fourth in the 200 yard butterfly; Davis took a fourth in the 220 yard freestyle, and Richard Vawter and Eugene Holt finished fourth and fifth respectively in one-meter diving.

In other Friday action, the Raider 400 yard freestyle relay team finished fourth.

Saturday, Davis was fifth in the 100 yard freestyle, and senior Gary Welch, who had never placed in a conference meet, placed sixth in the 100 yard backstroke.

Shipley was fourth in the 440 yard freestyle and Shoup finished sixth.

Vawter and Holt placed fifth and sixth respectively in three meter diving while the 400 yard medley relay team placed fourth.

Coach James McNally said of the team, "The boys were ready, probably in better condition than I expected. They conducted themselves well and finished with more points than I had expected. I'm glad we'll have most of them back next season."

Only Davis, Holt, Stokes, and Welch will be lost by graduation.

Saturday, in Albuquerque, the Red Raider track squad took a 90½-45½ beating at the hands of University of New Mexico cindermen.

Delbert Shirey and Bob Swafford accounted for four of the Raiders' six first. Shirey won in the pole vault with a 14-foot vault.

a possible school record, and the high jump with a 6-3 1/8 leap. Swafford won both high and low hurdles.

Other Tech firsts were won by Curtis Hart with 49.7 440 yard dash, and Guy Golden with 1:57.3 effort in the 880 yard run.

Next week, the Raider cindermen travel to Odessa for the West Texas Relays.

In Odessa this weekend, was the Raider Freshmen tennis team for the first annual Odessa College invitational tourney.

The Raider Frosh won first in the meet with a trophy going to Bo Sutherland, who downed his teammate, Don Draper, 6-3, 6-1, for singles championship.

Other trophies went to Draper, for his runner-up singles finish, and to Sutherland and Bennie Lawrence for their first place win in doubles competition.

This Friday at 2 p.m. on the Tech courts, the Raider varsity will host East Texas State in a net battle.

Coach Berl Huffman's Raider baseballers won three straight games from New Mexico Highlands here this weekend.

Originally four games were planned but two of the games went into extra innings and, as Coach Huffman put it, "The Highlands coach and I decided that if four games totaled 28 innings, and our three games totaled 27 jnnings, then we had played the two double headers planned."

The Raiders won 3-2, 3-2, and 4-3, with the second game going nine innings and the third, eleven frames.

March 21, the Raider nine meets Panhandle A&M of Goodwell, Oklahoma here.

In gridiron action Saturday, the Red Raiders footballers played their annual spring game, signifying the end of spring training.

Dickie Turner, halfback, ran back a kickoff in the fourth quarter to lead his Red Raider Whites past the Raider Red, 28-23.

The heavyweight championship boxing match between Floyd Patterson and Ingemar Johansson Monday night was all it was boomed to be—and more.

The bout followed the explosive pattern set in the two earlier matches between the two, beginning as early as the first round, when Johansson floored Patterson twice with his famous "toonder" punch. Then, before the end of the round, Patterson turned the tables and sent Ingo to the canvas.

Finally, in the sixth, Patterson landed a right that settled the match and allowed Patterson to keep his title. Both fighters landed some good punches, but the American came out one important punch ahead.

Football has passed from the college again now that spring grid training has been completed.

The members of the team were worked hard and long by Head Coach J. T. King and his aides, and it will be interesting to watch the result next fall when the Red Raiders play in their second year of Southwest Conference ball.

And if a good proving ground were needed, the Raiders' '61 slate should certainly fit the bill. The schedule is one of the better arranged in recent years.

Mississippi State is the first foe met by the Techsans. That game will be played in Jackson, one of four road games for the Red Raiders all season.

Other games away from home are Texas' Longhorns in Austin, Southern Methodist's Mustangs in Dallas and Arkansas' Razorbacks in Little Rock.

In addition to four conference games, Tech also hosts Boston College and West Texas State to make an attractive home schedule.

Texas Tech's Southwest Conference champion basketballers put in their last hard day of workout Monday in preparation for their NCAA playoff match with Cincinnati in the regional tournament at Lawrence, Kansas Friday.

Although all the odds makers are giving the Red Raiders little chance in the game with the Bearcats, the plyers themselves haven't been convinced yet.

"The papers say Cincinnati will meet Ohio State in the finals of the tournament, but they (Cincinnati) haven't played Texas Tech yet," said Raider forward Max Percival.

He quickly got support from his teammate Tom Patty. "We feel we have the team to beat them. They may be ranked No. 2 in the nation, but that doesn't make them unbeatable," he added.

Red Raiders, Bearcats Have Much In Common

"The only game we want is the next one." So reads a sign in the University of Cincinnati locker room, one that Coach Ed Jucker will point to often as he prepares his second-ranked Bearcat basketball team for the March 17-18 NCAA Midwest Regionals at Lawrence, Kansas.

The message is timely, for CinCY's first tournament foe, Southwest Conference champion Texas Tech, has a deceiving 14-9 record. A closer look at the Red Raiders' results show that they won 11 of their last 14 games, that most of their losses occurred when their leading scorer was out with an injury and that they defeated the famed Phillips Oilers, 80-76 in a game that doesn't count in the won-lost column.

Actually, both clubs have a lot in common—four scorers in double figures, especially accurate shooters, a 6-9 pivot man, and two all-conference selections. However, while the Texans like to run and fast break as often as possible, the Bearcats have built up a reputation for stiff defense while playing a more deliberate style offense.

A titanic struggle between the big men—CinCY's Paul Hogue and Tech's Harold Hudgens, both 6-9—could easily develop on Friday night. Hogue averaged 17.1 points and 13 rebounds, while Hudgens, who missed five games with an ankle injury, finished up the season with 21.7 points and 10.2 rebounds per contest.

Both clubs have outstanding scorers backing up these two. Cincinnati's Bob Wiesenbahn was just a shade back of Hogue with a 16.9 point per game average, and the Raiders' small but mighty Del Ray Mounts hit for 20.8. Hogue and Wiesenbahn were All-Missouri Valley, Hudgens and Mounts All-Southwest Conference.

Furthermore, each team claims two more men in double digits: Tom Thacker (12.5) and Carl Bouldin (11.3) for CinCY, Mac Percival (12.4) and Roger Hennig (11.4) for Tech. As the team Cincinnati has an excellent 45.8 field goal percentage, but it's only a shade better than Tech's 44.1.

Tony Yates, a defensive whiz, rounds out the Bearcats' starting five, with Dale Heidotting on call as sixth man. Texas Tech's fifth man is Tom Patty, and Bobby Gindorf will be the first replacement.

The Cincinnati-Texas Tech game is set for 7:30 p.m. CST (8:30 Cincinnati time), with Kansas State going against Houston or Marquette in the second contest. Houston and Marquette battle it out March 15 for the right to meet K-State, Big Eight representative.

Patterson Wins With KO In 6th

By JACK HAND
Of The Associated Press

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Floyd Patterson fought back from two first-round knockdowns and knocked out Sweden's Ingemar Johansson in 2:45 of the sixth round Monday night and retained his heavyweight title in a rousing fight of explosive punches.

The handsome Swede, who also was felled once in the first round, went down from a chopping right hand punch to the jaw late in the sixth. He started to get up but fell back as Referee Billy Regan counted ten. He almost made the grade.

Patterson, fighting to retain the crown he won back in unprecedented fashion last June, had his legs buckled in the third round and was shaken up again early in the sixth before he put over the crusher.

Knockdown timekeeper Hy (Scotty) Lang said Johansson came up on one knee at nine, but then fell back at the count of ten.

"He started twisting as he got up," said Lang. "He tripped over himself and fell back at the final count."

This third meeting of the two heavy slugging heavyweights was an eye-popper while it lasted. Patterson, a 4 to 1 favorite who was expected to flatten the Swede quicker than he did last summer, was in real trouble the first round.

Patterson ran into Johansson's famed "toonder" right midway in the first round and went down. Although he was up at three, he had to take an automatic eight count under the rules of the Miami Beach Boxing Commission.

Basketball Tournament Matches Carpenter Duo

A unique championship clash is in store when Carpenter "A" meets Carpenter "B" for the all-college intramural basketball championship to be determined this week.

Edsel Buchanan, intramural athletic director, had this to say concerning the freak incident. "This is the first time an incident of this nature has ever happened in intramural championship scheduling."

In advancing to the semi-finals Carpenter "B" defeated Church of Christ 59-30. Gary Schlessler led the victors with 20. Dan Crane had 18 for the Independent League number one champs.

Carpenter "B" then edged Phi Delta Theta "A" 49-48 with Ken Caspari leading the winners with 14 points. Preston Davis tallied 12 for the losers.

Members who will represent Carpenter "B" in the championship clash are Ken Caspari, Ronnie Kahl, Ron Castleberry, James Tom, Gary Schlessler, Steve Benno, David Youngblood, Bowden Pete Kellog.

Carpenter "A" defeated Phi Delta Thetas "B" team to advance into playoff competition 63-39. Ron Woods meshed 22 points for the victors while Dewey Bryant paced the losers with 11. Carpenter "A" then drew a bye into the final game.

Members of Carpenters "A" include Shelby Miller, Bob Millieen, Duane Neill, Don Williams, Charles Simpson, Ronnie Wood, Mac Marcom, Jamie Hamm, Charles Giddens and Max Harrington.

Last year's all-college basketball champions, the Chinese Bandits, were eliminated last Wednesday by the Phi Delta Theta A team. David Hutson paced the Phi Delta with 16 while Hollis Swafford bucketed 8 for the Bandits.

In other intramural activity fraternity softball got underway Sunday.

Sigma Chi edged Kappa Sigma 14-12 although they were outhit by a 10-8 margin. Hoppe was the winning pitcher.

Sigma Nu trounced the Phi Gamma Deltas 14-1. Tommy Asel went the route and received credit for the win.

Phi Delta Theta and Pi Kappa Alpha won by identical 10-1 scores in the first day of play. The Phi Deltas defeated Alpha Tau Omega, and the Pikes bested Phi Kappa Psi.

Charlie Stenholm went the route for Sigma Alpha Epsilon in a 12-2 decision over Delta Tau Delta.
