Coeds Compete For AWS Posts

By GRETCHEN POLLARD
Assistant Society Editor

Today is election day.

All Tech women may vote for AWS officers and representatives from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. and 5-7 p.m. in women's residence halls and from 11 a.m.-2 p.m. in Tech Union.

ALL TECH WOMEN are members of AWS. AWS is a co-ordinating body of all women's organizations that sets standards for campus living, promotes unity and fellowship among coeds.

Many campus activities are sponsored annually by AWS. Included are Dad's Day, Women's Day, Penny-a-Minute Nights; Big and Little Sister program and a Howdy Party for freshmen and transfers. Also AWS acts as sponsor for the President's Hostesses.

Carolyn Kelley, junior, is unopposed in today's election for president. Miss Kelly has served as first vice president and dormitory representative of AWS and is a member of Junior Council.

SOLOING ON THE ballot for first vice president is Hazael Hale, junior. Miss Hale is a member of Junior Council, chairman of Women's Day Committee, and a sorority representative to AWS.

Linda Hill, junior, and Holly Hunt, sophomore, will compete for second vice president. Miss Hill is president of her sorority, a member of Junior Council, and Women's Residence Council, and vice president of her dormitory.

MISS HUNT was a Freshman Council member and served as AWS representative from her sorority.

Vying for third vice president are Nancy Jones, junior, and Carole Gibson, junior. Miss Jones has been president of Panhellenic, president of her sorority, and AWS representative from Junior Council.

Miss Gibson is president of Town Girls Club, an officer in her sorority, and AWS representative.

MARY GASKIN and Karen Hale are in competition for secretary. Miss Gaskin is president of Junior Council, a member of President's Hostesses, and an officer in her sorority.

Miss Hale, also a junior, is a sorority officer, Union committee chairman and vice president of her music sorority.

The ballot will slate Lynn McElroy, junior, and Annette Inmon, junior, and Rande Kendall, sophomore, in the treasurer's slot. Miss McElroy is AWS representative for Town Girl's Club, sophomore class secretary, and treasurer of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman honorary.

MISS INMON is a member of Junior Council and President's Hostesses, and has served as treasurer of her sorority. She is president of her sorority.

Miss Kendall is treasurer of her sorority, ROTC Sweetheart, and is serving on a Union committee.

Mary Behrends and Sue Boles are running for judiciary chairman. Miss Behrends, a sophomore, is AWS representative from her dormitory, member of WRC, and serves on the dormitory advisory council.

MISS BOLES is a dorm legislator, Panhellenic officer and AWS representative. She is a junior.

Five nominees will be competing for representative to AWS — Jan Justice, Ann Jones, Betty Newby, Kathy Osthoff and Pat Wallis.

Miss Justice, a junior, is a member of Junior Council and serves as an officer in her sorority. She is an AWS committee chairman.

MISS JONES, sophomore, is presently on a Union committee, a member of a sorority and served as freshman representative in her dorm last year.

Miss Newby is a dorm legislator, sorority officer and is a member of a Union committee. She is a sophomore.

Sophomore Kathy Osthoff is an officer in her sorority, a dorm legislator and is a member of her dorm advisory council.

MISS WALLIS, sophomore, is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and is an officer of her sorority.

Women students may vote today by showing their I.D.

Gore Named State SEA Prexy

Gary Gore, Lubbock junior, was elected president of Texas Student Education Assn. recently at the state convention.

Competing against 30 schools, Tech won first and second respectively in the poster and scrapbook contests. Tech competed in two of the other five contests.

Gore will represent Texas at the national SEA meetings in June at Columbus, Ohio, and in July at Detroit, Mich.

Gore is a member of Alpha Phi Omega, service fraternity; Phi Alpha Theta, honorary history fraternity; and Capa Y Espada, Spanish club.

Ponies Slip By Tech, 88-87

By RAY FINFER
Toreador Sports Editor

With junior reserve Jim Brockman leading the way, Southern Methodist University edged the on-again-off-again Texas Tech Red Raiders, 88-87 in the season finale for both teams.

Tech led at the close of the first half, 47-38, in what appeared to be a comfortable lead, but Brockman came storming out in the second half to score 12 of his total 13 points and bring SMU past the Raiders.

SMU Leads

SMU led at one time in the second half by 11 points. The actual turning point of the game was with 8:26 remaining. SMU had jumped into their 11 point lead, but two baskets by Bill Murren, a two-pointer and a free throw by Glen Hallum and a basket by Harold Denney brought Tech to within two points, 73-75.

The Mustangs threw away the ball; Tech brought it in and lost it on the boards to Dave Somerville, who hustled downcourt and sank it. Denney and Hallum both had one-on-one opportunities to catch up and both missed. James Thompson was called for an offensive foul and Murren plopped in a flatly-thrown jump shot to draw within two points again, 75-77. At this point Tech cooled off and SMU, taking advantage of the cool spot, jumped out 83-77.

Sid Wall scored the last eight points for the Raiders in a remarkable effort to bring the Raiders back, but to no avail.

Six Raiders scored in double figures, with Murren leading the way with 18 points. Hallum put through 17, Tom Patty and Bobby Gindorf hit for 15, Wall scored 12 and Denney had 10.

Hallum played a tremendous defensive game grabbing 16 rebounds, for a season high. He had the previous high of 14 against Florida.

Tech played great ball the first half, hitting 19 of 39 for 48.7 per cent to SMU's 39.5. The second half was a different story with Tech making 45.9 per cent and the Mustangs getting 60 per cent. The final percentages gave SMU 49.3 and Tech 47.4.

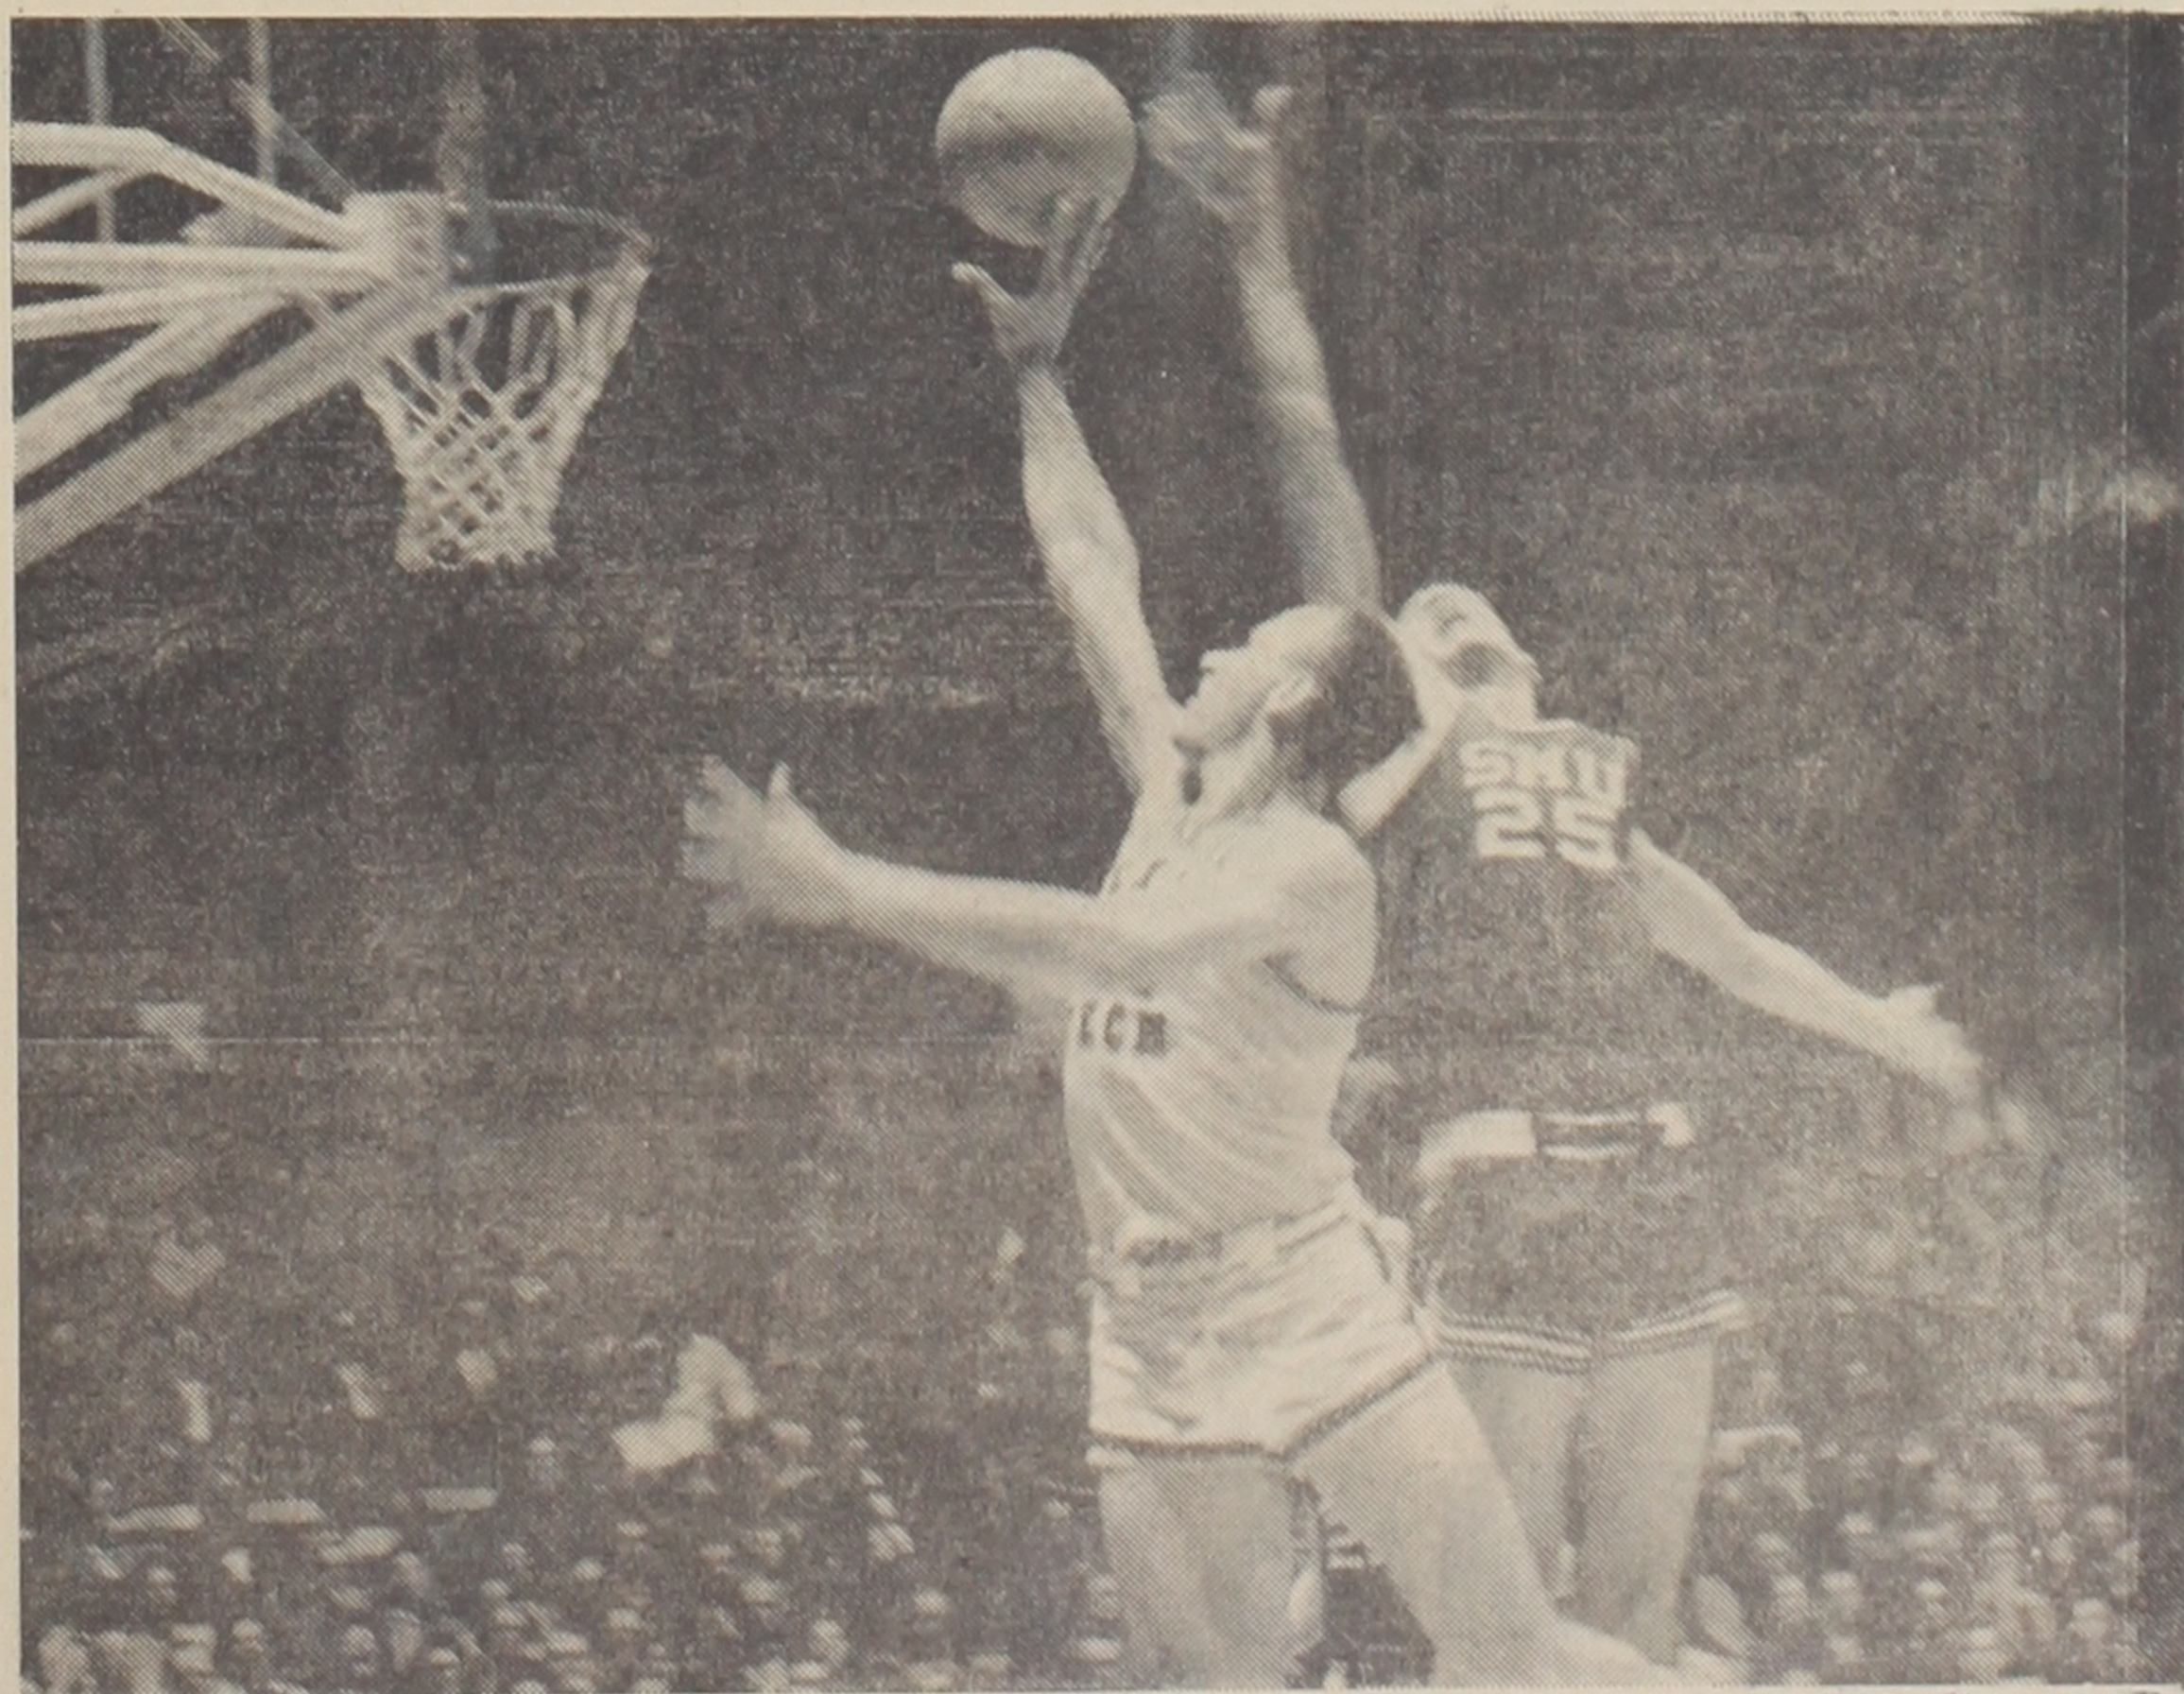

Tech was merciless the first half from the free throw line hitting 10 straight, but cooled off the second half making only 14 of 21, for a total game percentage of 71.4.

Tech ended the season tied for fifth with SMU in Southwest Conference play. Both have 6-8 records.

Picadors Win

The Picadors, as usual, came through after a slow start and dropped the South Plains Texans, 49-66. South Plains led at the half 28-26, but the grinding steady play of the frosh put Tech ahead in the second half.

Dave Olsen led the Pics with 17 points, followed by Reuther's 13.

Meets Miss Wool

Maid Of Cotton Visits Tech

By GRETCHEN POLLARD
Assistant Society Editor

What happens when the national Maid of Cotton meets Miss Wool of America?

Well, when Shelby Smith (cotton) met Tech coed Carolyn Barre (wool) at a reception Tuesday in Tech Union, the subject quickly drifted to basketball and football. Both politely avoided today's fabric fashion topics.

Miss Smith, poised and charming as well as beautiful has been in Lubbock the last few days. After a Tuesday tour of the campus, she said she was very impressed with Tech — both for its courses offered and its physical facilities.

"Your Library and Union are beautiful," she said.

Miss Smith, selected as Maid of Cotton from 20 finalists in December, was chosen on the basis of personality, alertness, beauty and background. She certainly exhibited these traits as she visited Tech as ambassador for the American cotton industry.

Asked what fabric the Maid of Cotton wears in the wintertime,

Miss Smith calmly answered: "I'm suits right now." She went on to wearing one of my cotton winter list various cotton materials suitable for winter wear — such as corduroy, velveteens, suedes, tweeds and textured cottons.

The 5' 7½" brunette is making a tour of the United States and Canada. In June she will fly to Europe — taking along with her more than 20 pieces of luggage, also awarded her as Maid.

"We will travel over 50,000 miles in the United States," Miss Smith said. "Then after the tour, I will be given a Ford of my choice to drive all the way home."

Miss Smith was working on her master's degree and teaching in a biology laboratory at University of New Mexico when she won the title. She plans to return to Albuquerque, her home town, to complete the semester of work she needs for the degree.

The Albuquerque beauty expressed her regret at not having time to visit Tech's biology department.

"I don't know what my students think about my being Maid of Cotton—I haven't been back. But I think they were glad not to have to take my final," she said.

At New Mexico, Miss Smith was active in Kappa Kappa Gamma, social sorority; Phi Sigma, biology honorary; Dean's list; honors program; and as a fashion model and instructor.

Asked if she wears silk stockings, Miss Smith showed a slight surprise as she neatly sidestepped a direct answer by saying, "Silk is not the primary stocking, you know. I am more interested in cotton fashion in clothing."

I still wonder if she wears silk stockings!

Attention:

Sorority & Fraternity Members

Will you regard this as a personal letter from me and a message of information. Have you found it difficult to order your official sorority and fraternity jewelry? This should be no more.

A direct order can be sent by us for one or a dozen of all sorority and fraternity badges, keys, rings, drops, guards, and many other sorority and fraternity jewelry. Badges made from the official dies with pearls of jewels of any distinction may be ordered.

In the past sororities and fraternities have felt obligated to buy from a designated jeweler. Now a court decision has allowed fraternities and sororities to buy their official jewelry through other outlets so long as it is equal in quality and official in design to meet organizational standards.

If you've been hesitant about your ordering, let us help and plan with you. Many items of fraternity and sorority jewelry are kept in stock at our store.

If You See A Raider —Color Him Red

If a Tech coloring book were available it might read like this: This is the campus. Color it green (soon); and if you see any trees, color them rare.

Above is the sky. Color it white one day, dusty the next.

Color the buildings far apart, and color parking spaces empty—nope, full of Volkswagons.

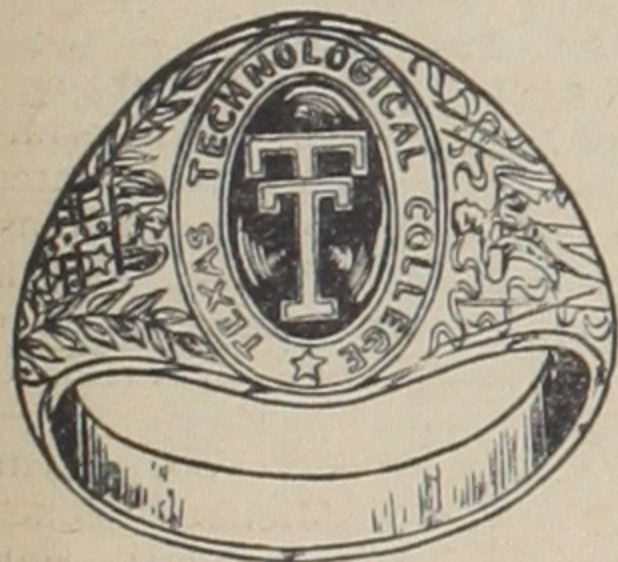

Near Memorial Circle stands a statue of Will Rogers. He's been colored before, but you can color him immovable.

These are Tech students. Color them cramming. On April 6, color them gone; and when spring vacation is over, color them blue.

This is the Tech Union. Color it smokey.

Across the street is the Library.

HAIL TO THE DEAN!

Today let us examine that much maligned, widely misunderstood, grossly overworked, wholly dedicated campus figure—the dean.

The dean (from the Latin Deanere—to expel) is not, as many think, primarily a disciplinary officer. He is a counselor and guide, a haven and refuge for the troubled student. The dean (from the Greek Deanos—to skewer) is characterized chiefly by sympathy, wisdom, patience, forbearance, and a fondness for homely pleasures like community singing, farina, spelldowns, and Marlboro Cigarettes. The dean (from the German Deangemacht—to poop a party) is fond of Marlboros for the same reason that all men of good will are fond of Marlboros—because Marlboro is an honest cigarette. Those good Marlboro tobaccos are honestly good, honestly aged to the peak of perfection, honestly blended for the best of all possible flavors. Marlboro honestly comes in two different containers—a soft pack which is honestly soft and a Flip-Top box which honestly flips. You too will flip when next you try an honest Marlboro, which, one honestly hopes, will be soon.

There is not a dry eye in Yutah

But I digress. We were learning how a dean helps poor, troubled undergraduates. To illustrate, let us take a typical case from the files of Dean S. . . . of the University of Y. . . . (Oh, why be so mysterious? The dean's name is Sigafoos and the University is Yutah.)

Wise, kindly Dean Sigafoos was visited one day by a freshman named Walter Agincourt who came to ask permission to marry one Emma Blenheim, his dormitory laundress. To the dean the marriage seemed ill-advised, for Walter was only 18 years old and Emma was 91. Walter agreed with the dean, but said he felt obligated to go through with it because Emma had invested her life savings in a transparent rainhood to protect her from the mist at Niagara Falls, where they planned to spend their honeymoon. If Walter called off the wedding, what use would the poor woman possibly have for a rainhood in Yutah? The wise, kindly dean pondered briefly and came up with a brilliant answer: let Walter punch holes in the back of Emma's steam iron. With steam billowing back at the old lady, she would find a rainhood very useful—possibly even essential.

Whimpering with gratitude, Walter kissed the dean's Phi Beta Kappa key and hastened away to follow his advice—and the results, I am pleased to report, were madly successful!

Today Emma is a happy woman—singing lustily, wearing her rainhood, eating soft-center chocolates, and ironing clothes—twice as happy, to be candid, than if she had married Walter . . . And what of Walter? He is happy too. Freed from his unwanted liaison with Emma, he married a girl much nearer his own age—Agnes Yucca, 72. Walter is now the proud father—stepfather, to be perfectly accurate—of three fine, healthy boys from Agnes's first marriage—Everett, 38; Wilhelm, 43; and Irving, 55—and when Walter puts the boys on a lead and takes them for a stroll in the park on Sunday afternoon, you may be sure there is not a dry eye in Yutah.

And Dean Sigafoos? He too is happy—happy to spend long, tiring hours in his little office, giving counsel without stint and without complaint, doing his bit to set the young, uncertain feet of his charges on the path to a brighter tomorrow.
