

Techsans Stage Protest

Chairman Of Board Goes Through Crowd

By CELESTE HARDY and GAYLE MACHEN NOLL

The no-demonstration precedent at Texas Tech was broken Friday afternoon when more than 750 students peacefully protested Tech's proposed name change and the rumor that Manuel DeBusk, Board of Directors' chairman, would "appoint himself" as this school's new president.

DeBUSK DENIED FRIDAY that he would be named Tech president at Saturday's Board meeting, according to Jerry Hall, Avalanche Journal staff writer.

Dr. R. C. Goodwin, Tech president declined to comment Friday afternoon.

As demonstrators shouted and sang outside, Board members were meeting inside the Ad Bldg.

THE DEMONSTRATION was triggered by anonymous phone calls and circulars distributed on campus Thursday night.

The leaflets, entitled "These Are The Times That Try Men's Souls," read:

"Manuel DeBusk not only saddled our University with a stigma 'Tech U.' — rumor has it that he will appoint himself president of the university this weekend at the Board of Directors meeting.

"Is this democracy or is this tyranny? Are you as students willing to tolerate such arbitrary action? — Action that constitutes almost total dictatorship.

"Is peace so dear or calm so sweet as to be purchased at the sacrifice (sic) of academic freedom? We must move—we must act—before all is lost.

"Friday, April 10, there will be a protest march to greet Manuel's entrance to the campus at the east wing of the Administration Building. Be there at 2:00—Bring your signs—Bring your posters—Join the protest!"

Unidentified callers to dorms also made pleas for Students to participate in the demonstration. One Tech coed who received such a call said the message "sounded memorized."

THE CALLER SAID, "Please don't hang up. I have something very important to tell you. Manuel DeBusk is going to appoint himself president of this university tomorrow and we're going to have a demonstration to protest," the coed recalled.

Friday the demonstration began to organize as students carrying protest signs thronged to the parking lot south of the Ad Bldg.

As the crowd milled orderly, Dick Reavis, Littlefield freshman, leaped on the back of a parked car and led students in chants, yells and songs.

REAVIS, WHO SOUGHT permission to have a demonstration earlier this spring, also made a short speech, asking Techsans to be orderly protesting DeBusk's proposal to change the name of this institution to "Texas Tech University."

Reavis said, "If we can win public sympathy to our cause, hope is not lost. But, we can win that sympathy only by conducting ourselves in a dignified and sincere manner, a non-violent manner, a manner indicative of good faith in which we act.

"PEACEFUL PROTEST, not riot, can be our only means."

An atmosphere of good-natured dissatisfaction, not bitter resentment, seemed to prevail among the crowd, as demonstrators chanted strongly but jovially.

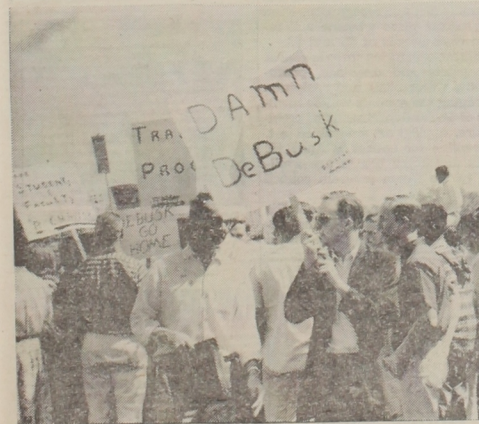

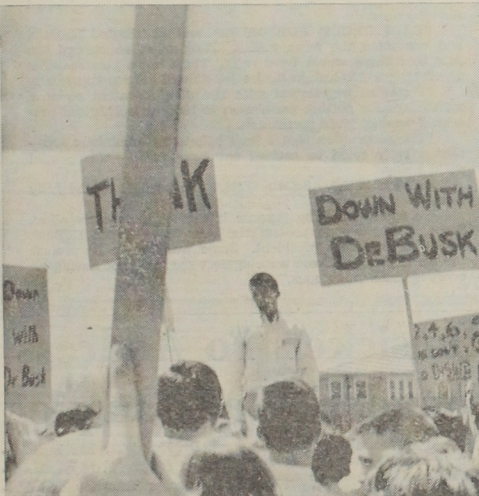

DeBUSK, ARRIVING ON campus for Board committee meetings, walked through the crowd of demonstrators amid towering placards saying "Go Home DeBusk," "Mannie Go Home," "2-4-6-8, We Don't Wish to Disintegrate," "DeBusk Plans Ahead," "We've Had Enough", ...

Also, hanging outside a second-story window of the Ad Bldg, a sign read: "Texas State, Yes! DeBusk's College, No!"

When asked why they were demonstrating, most students cited name-change proposal and the rumor that DeBusk was to be the new president.

ONE STUDENT SAID, "THE main issue is Manuel DeBusk. He instigated Texas Tech University, which I think is a farce. I didn't come here to go to trade school. I know of at least five professors under 30 years of age, with Ph.D.'s, who will leave if they initiate Texas Tech University and if Manuel DeBusk is appointed president."

Botkin, Hance, Shoemaker Capture Council Offices

By PAMELA BEST
Toreador Copy Editor

Ronnie Botkin, a junior English major from Hereford, was elected president of the Student Council Friday as 4,239 Techsans went to the polls to vote for executive positions on the Student Council and cheerleaders.

NANCY SHOEMAKER WINS

Botkin polled 2,887 votes to Bill Honey's 956 in the race for president. Kent Hance, the only candidate for vice president, received 3,458 votes. In the race for secretary, Nancy Shoemaker out-pollled Holly Hunt 1,977 votes to 1,811 votes. The business manager position went to Garland Weeks with 2,403 votes to Roland Anderson's 1,319 votes.

IN THE RACE FOR BOY cheerleaders, positions went to Ronnie Siler, who polled 2,475 votes, Cirl Payne 2,236, and "Jiek" Walker 2,166 votes. The other two candidates, Mike Bohn and J. Jim Crawford, received 2,069 and 1,017 votes respectively.

CHEERLEADER RUN-OFF

From a field of eight girls for the girl cheerleader positions, six were chosen to be in the run-off election Wednesday. Camella Moore tallied 1,894 votes, Sontra Stargel 1,722, Kathy Osthoff 1,594, Betty Newby 1,370, Anita Edmiston 1,290 and Karen Schroeder polled 970 votes.

THE OTHER TWO contenders, Sandra Cox and Jan Keen polled 683 and 867 votes respectively.

The total number of students voting in the election was 4,239 in comparison to between 4,300-4,500 last year.

DEMONSTRATION HAS EFFECT

Royal Furguson, president of the Student Council said that this year's election began with as much fervor and excitement as last year's.

"HOWEVER, I THINK THE name-change demonstration diverted attention from the election to the protest. The election was all but overlooked," he said.

FEWER CANDIDATES

Furguson also attributed the smaller voter turnout to the smaller number of candidates this year as compared to last year.

THE DAILY TOREADOR contacted Botkin for a statement after his election Friday.

"I WANT TO THANK all of the students at Texas Tech for the confidence that they have expressed in me and my platform," he said. "I hope that we will be able to work together in the many issues that will be coming up in the following year. Again, I want to thank you," he said.

CONCERNING THE demonstration Botkin had this to say: "I was very pleased to see Tech students expressing their beliefs in a very orderly fashion."

Another said, "Mainly, I'm opposed to this name change, plus the fact, I'm opposed to this tyranny we had shoved down our throats."

A third asserted, "Personally, I feel that if rumor is true, and DeBusk is made president, we will lose a great part of our faculty and thereby our high academic rating. I'd be forced to attend another school."

"I don't like the way they're running things around here," said still another student. "I think students should be considered in this name change."

DEMONSTRATORS chanted such things as "We've Had Enough," "Hey, Hey, Hey," "We Want DeBusk," "T.S.U.," and "P-o-o-r Man-nie."

At one point about 10 agglies "protested the protest" and shouted, "Down with Reavis and up with DeBusk."

Royal Furguson, Student Council president, pointed out that the demonstration "was not sponsored by the Student Council."

After about 45 minutes of demonstration, Furguson hopped onto a car and told the crowd he thought they had made their opinions clear to DeBusk and that any further demonstration might be detrimental. Almost immediately the crowd dispersed.

During the demonstration two assistant government professors were asked to comment.

DAN NIMMO said, "If academic excellence is to prevail at Texas Tech, it appears that the faculty and student body are going to have to take the initiative to bring it about. If such demonstrations contribute to it, then it is not only necessary, but also proper."

David Welborn stated, "I think that the demonstration is both fine and right because it indicates that Tech students are at least interested in Tech as an educational institution."

A THIRD government professor said, "We're basing our opinion on the necessary and proper clause of the Constitution."

The demonstration climaxed a four-year name-change controversy which reached its climax this year when the Board voted unanimously Feb. 15 to recommend to the Texas Legislature that this school be renamed "Texas Tech University."

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — The U. N. peace force has been in business two weeks on Cyprus, and has scored in some areas and lost in others.

Tension has relaxed on much of the island since the blue berets were donned by U. N. peace-keepers March 27.

In Greek Cypriot areas business activity and even building construction has increased.

The Greeks appear to be more optimistic about the future.

But Turkish Cypriot leaders are daily becoming more disenchanted with the U. N. force and particularly its head, Indian Gen. Prem Singh Gyani.

They have said as much to Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, U. N. undersecretary, who is here on a three-day visit.

'Demonstration Planned Off Campus' — Reavis

In an interview with THE DAILY TOREADOR Friday afternoon, Dick Reavis told of the circumstances leading up to Friday's protest demonstration.

HE SAID, "A GROUP OF people, upperclassmen and ex-students, came to me and said that they wanted help in getting people to organize a demonstration and that they wanted a leader. The position of leading the demonstration fell into my hands.

The organization for the demonstration was conducted off campus. The people I saw there I had not remembered seeing before.

"THIS GROUP FURNISHED and distributed leaflets, and contacted the news media. The leaflet announced the fact that there would be a rally. There were also remarks about Manuel DeBusk in the leaflet which I did not appreciate.

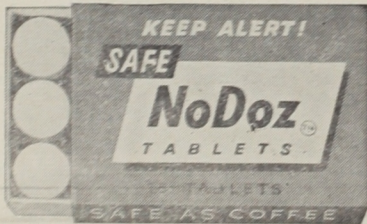

"I started negotiation with the administration about a month ago for getting permission to hold an authorized protest. I was not given permission.

"The proposition that I took before the administration—that a rally could be carried out nonviolently—was proved valid today."

REAVIS WAS ASKED WHAT the purpose of the rally was.

He answered, "The purpose is subject to interpretation. Some were there to protest the idea that Manuel DeBusk would be our new president. Some were there to protest the name change. Some were against the ruling of having no congregations on campus."

Hunsicker To Address Founder's Day Banquet

Dr. Paul A. Hunsicker of the University of Michigan will deliver the main address today at the annual Founder's Day banquet of the Texas Tech chapter of Phi Epsilon Kappa, professional fraternity in physical education.

The banquet will be at 7:30 p.m. in the Caprock Hotel.

Dr. Hunsicker has been chairman of the research section for the Midwest and Michigan Assn. for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. He has been president of the research council for the American Assn. of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

In addition to his banquet address, Dr. Hunsicker has been lecturing on campus in physical education classes Thursday and Friday.

Phi Epsilon Kappa is the only national professional fraternity for students and teachers of health, physical education and recreation. The Texas Tech chapter, Beta Gamma, is the 50th collegiate chapter of the fraternity.

All persons in health, physical education and recreation are invited to attend the banquet, according to Edsel Buchanan, director of Texas Tech intramurals for men. Tickets at $2.25 each will be available at the door.

Union Plans Art Contest

Art work ranging from oil paintings to sculptures, all by campus artists, will be exhibited in a campus art contest planned for April 25. The contest is sponsored by the Tech Union art and design committee.

Artists will compete for first, second and third place awards and honorable mention recognition. First and second place winners will receive cash awards of $5 and $3.

Contest categories include crafts, oils, prints and drawings, photography, watercolors and sculpture.

Judging the exhibits will be members of Tech's departments of architecture, applied art and allied art.

Deadline for entries is April 18. Rules and entry blanks are available in the Union program council office.

A public reception will honor the winning artists April 26 in the Anniversary Room of the Tech Union.

Editor Wins Award

Gayle Machen Noll, editor of THE DAILY TOREADOR, and Pauline Edwards, editor of the Lubbock High School student paper, won Theta Sigma Phi's Headliner Awards Thursday.

Theta Sigma Phi is an honorary journalism sorority, and it's Headliner Award is given for outstanding contribution in student journalism.

The awards were presented at the annual Matrix Table Banquet. Approximately 75 student and professional journalists were present to hear John N. Fallon, United Press International's southwest division news manager, tell the gathering that news media must share the blame with Dallas police for the slaying of accused Presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald.

Fallon, who works out of Dallas, said that police "erred grievously in the handling of Lee Harvey Oswald's transfer from the city to county jail."

He went on, however, to say that "the press, radio and television itself are partly to blame for the Oswald case." He said that the crowds of reporters and cameramen at city hall maintained a steady, "sometimes almost hysterical," pressure on the police for information.

Carol Lee Page, historian of the college chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, presented the award of the editor of The Toreador — naming her Tech's outstanding woman in journalism.

Prior to becoming Toreador editor, Mrs. Noll served as copy editor and managing editor of the publication. She was also sports editor of the Hardin-Simmons University student newspaper and public relations director of the Abilene United Fund campaign while she lived in Abilene.

'Corps' Volunteers Will Visit Campus

Four Peace Corps volunteers will arrive at Tech Monday morning to participate in a seven-day recruiting program as a follow up to the visit of Peace Corps Director, Sargent Shriver.

The four volunteers served in Latin America, but returned to the United States last month.

They are Tex Ford, a graduate of East Texas State who served in the Dominican Republic, Tom and Barbara Carpenter, who served in Peru, and Edward Enne, who served in Ecuador. Ford will be returning to Latin America in a short time to serve as an Associate Peace Corps Representative in Guatemala.

The volunteers will join Jim Gibson and Claudette Sarsfield of the Peace Corps staff, who have been on campus since Monday to prepare for the visit.

Information on the Peace Corps and the Peace Corps placement test may be obtained at the Peace Corps Center in the Tech Union. The volunteers will be at the Center, from 7:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. each day.

WHO SAID

Foreign Study is for Language Majors Only.

Of course, it's for them, too.

But it's also for undergrads in history, political science, international relations, economics, psychology, philosophy and some other fields.

We know. Over half the students in our university centers in Europe aren't language majors. They're pursuing studies in their own fields, and giving them a fresh, European dimension—without interrupting their college careers.

Foreign study may suit you, too. (It isn't for everyone.) This is the time of life when the experience of Europe can mean most. It will mean most if you use it to deepen and extend your formal studies.

You might look into it—and learn about our programs, including a new one opening next fall at the University of Madrid.

Our centers don't offer mere "civilization" courses. They aren't cozy little "ghettos" for Americans. Institute programs immerse you in a great European university as deeply as your abilities allow. (We supplement and guide your studies, as necessary, to make sure they satisfy U. S. requirements.)
