Carpenter found not guilty

By RICK WHITE Managing Editor

The nightmare ended for one family but continues for another.

Joseph Doyle Carpenter, 35, was found innocent Thursday in the beating death of 20-yearold Muleshoe housewife Faviola Mendoza.

A Bailey County jury took less than three hours to return the verdict in the emotionallycharged, 10-day trial that hinged on whether or not Carpenter was coerced into giving a false confession to police. "I was just praying the truth would come out," said an obviously relieved Carpenter while standing outside the Bailey County Courthouse. "We all knew I was innocent."

Family members said it was the first time they'd seen Carpenter smile since he was charged with the murder 17 months ago.

"I'd like to offer my sympathy to the Mendoza family and I hope they find whoever did this," said Carpenter, who was facing a mandatory life sentence if he was convicted in the capital murder trial.

He said the trial was a tremendous hardship on him and his family, "but all our prayers were answered."

District Attorney Johnny Actkinson said it was a difficult case to try because the prosecution lacked physical evidence tying Carpenter to the murder.

But he said he doesn't second-guess juries. "I just accept what the jury tells us because I believe in the justice system because it works."

Actkinson said the case would remain open and if new was evidence was developed the state would investigate.

Mendoza's mother, brother and more than a dozen family friends left the courtroom in tears.

Mules roast Roosevelt 34-0

By RICK WHITE Managing Editor

ACUFF --- Bring on Friona.

Muleshoe took care of business Friday, shutting out Lubbock Roosevelt 34-0 and setting up a showdown with the unbeaten Chieftains next week for the District 2-3A title.

Matt McClanahan rushed for 102 yards and two touchdowns and Mules (7-1 overall, 3-0 in district) posted their fifth shutout of the season.

Muleshoe's third-straight win virtually sewed up a playoff berth for the once down-trodden program. The last time the Mules made the playoffs was in 1983.

Friona (8-0, 3-0) record its 26th-straight regular season win Friday by whipping Lubbock Cooper 40-13.

Muleshoe head coach David Wood said it's hard to believe sometimes that the program has reached the point where it is playing a district championship.

"I can't say enough about how hard these kids have worked to put themselves in this situation," Wood said. "It's great having a chance to win a district championship. Friona's got a great football team and hopefully we'll be ready."

Friday's game against Roosevelt was marred by 21 penalties, including a season-high 12 against Muleshoe for 105 yards.

But Wood stopped short of calling it an ugly win.

"We would have liked to come out and dominate from the start," Wood said. "But it's still a big win for us."

The Mules scored twice in the last five minutes of the second quarter and took a comfortable 19-0 halftime lead.

Manuel Campolla returned a punt 57 yards to set up a five-yard touchdown run by Jesse Reyes that gave Muleshoe a 13-0 lead with 5:13 left in the half.

Muleshoe scored again with 21 seconds left in the half on a 66-yard drive that was aided by a 15-yard unsportsmanlike penalty against the Eagles, who lost their composure several times during the game.

A 24-yard pass from McClanahan to Campolla set up Mitch Mason's six-yard touchdown run. Mason, used sparingly as a ball carrier most of the season, scored his third touchdown in two weeks.

Muleshoe scored in the second half on a 24-yard run by Greg Pena (89 yards on 12 carries) and McClanahan's nine-yard run.

Rhett Kerby set up Pena's score by blocking a Roosevelt punt which was downed at the Eagle 9. After an apparent touchdown catch by Dustin Cleavinger was called back by a offensive pass interference call, but Pena scored on the next play.

McClanahan's nine-yard run early in the fourth quarter capped a 67-yard drive in which the Mules had to overcome three penalties.

McClanahan scored on the game's third offensive play when he bolted 88 yards up the middle on the option.

Muleshoe finished with 344 yards, including 265 on the ground. McClanahan completed 4 of 9 passes for 78 yards.

The Eagles (1-6, 0-3), who controlled the ball for most of the first half, finished with 130 yards. Hard-running Jeff Jackson gained 100 yards on 23 carries for Roosevelt, but quarterback Chad Hardy (0-7) failed to complete a pass and was sacked three times.

Roosevelt running back EricRojas was ejected from the game in the second for throwing a punch.

Task force members have toured nursing homes in Amarillo, Hereford and Olton, and are scheduled to tour facilities in other communities over the next several weeks.

The members present shared with the district board their view of the things that were positive in the various homes they toured, as well as things that might be avoided in a new facility. Guide on deer hunting leases available

COLLEGE STATION -Deer hunting is big business in Texas, and hunting leases remain a constant revenue source for many Texas landowners.

Recently the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University revised The Texas Deer Lease. Written by Judon Fambrough, senior lecturer and attorney, this report provides useful information on many deer lease issues, and it may be an essential tool for deer hunters.

The "no trespass" notice is new to this edition. The report also provides information on how to prevent trespassing and poaching. Five ways landowners may limit entrance are discussed. The guide also elaborates on the Sept. 1, 1997, measure that legalizes purple paint marks on trees and posts in lieu of "no trespassing" signs.

The guide discusses the new rules regarding liability insurance and landowner liability. By having specified minimum levels in place, says Fambrough, landowners receive two benefits.

First, the landowners' liability is capped at the stated amounts. Second, landowners owe hunters no more duty that is owed trespassers. Ways to limit landowner liability, including the use of waivers, are covered.

"Texas landowners hold a unique position," says Fambrough. "Unlike many states, Texas has little federally of state-owned land available for public hunting. This places private landowners in control of a major supply of huntable land and affords them a unique source of income."

In Texas, all indigenous wild animals, such as white-tailed deer, belong to the state. Although the state regulates when, how and the number of deer that may be taken, it cannot authorize trespassing on privately owned land. Independent permission must be secured from landowners.

Historically, permission was granted for the asking; however, Texas landowners began exacting a price for this privilege in the form of an agreement, commonly referred to as a hunting lease.

"The hunting lease is a license that grants permission to do something that otherwise would not be allowed or would be illegal," says Fambrough. "It is characterized as a license because the Texas hunting lease does not grant the hunter exclusive possession or control of the land."

A Friend Writes About a Tough Issue

A friend and colleague in Lubbock, Dr. David Langford, recently wrote an open letter regarding a tough issue. I think his words worth sharing. Dear Friends.

Matthew Shepard, the young gay college student in Wyoming, has set off a national firestorm of debate. Unfortunately, those voices receiving the most attention are extreme voices. The result is that anyone who expresses reservations about the homosexual lifestyle is painted as homophobic and hateful. Certainly the evil actions of those who killed this young man confirm that there are people in our co are hateful and that homosexuals are often the victims of that hate. As Christians we are concerned about these events. Acts of hatred and violence are condemned by God's word. The murder of this young man was a reprehensible act of evil that should be punished. But for many of us, the same moral authority which teaches us to condemn such violence also teaches us that homosexual behavior is wrong. But those who express their conscientious opposition to the homosexual lifestyle are persistently characterized as hateful and bigoted, even Listen up thief, I have something to say accused of being responsible for the violence toward gays in our country. Those who seek to eliminate hatred and bigotry toward homosexuals do not advance their cause by inciting those same feelings toward Christians with whom they disagree.

Christians are not immune from irrational fears and irresponsible behavior. But it is unfair to characterize our opposition to normalizing homosexuality in this country as irrational and hateful.

We know that some see the Bible's teaching on homosexuality as the product of an ancient unenlightened cultural viewpoint. Others reinterpret the Bible to suggest there is no prohibition of homosexuality in God's Word. We respectfully disagree, but we simply plead with those who disagree with us not to exacerbate an already polarized nation by promoting the vicious myth that those who believe in the inspired Word of God are hateful people.

As Christians, it is our desire to conform our beliefs and behaviors to the enduring truths expressed in Scripture. We believe these truths include the teaching that homosexual behavior is immoral, in the same way that heterosexual behavior outside of marriage is immoral (another belief not universally shared by our culture.) We also believe that all of us are sinners and none of us are acceptable to God on the basis of our morality. We are all totally dependent upon the grace of God. But our dependence on God's mercy and grace does not mean we must be silent about anything we believe the Scriptures to teach, whether or not it is politically correct to be silent. And so, motivated by God's love and informed by his Word, it is not inconsistent to oppose the lifestyle of Matthew Shepard and at the same time condemn his brutal murder. We pray that this tragic event will not further alienate people, but will perhaps be a catalyst promoting a more serious dialogue on this issue without the inflammatory and divisive rhetoric which too often is heard.
