Cawthon to Hold General Convocation Next Monday Night for Men Students

Plans Covering Intramural Sports and Teams Will Be Presented; Standard Emblem to Be Adopted

A general convocation for all boys will be held Monday night at 7:30 in the gym under the supervision of head coach Cawthon and his assistants.

All boys in the school are earnestly urged to be there. Plans will be presented covering intramural sports and teams. A formal and standard emblem for the champions will be adopted and the team winning the championship will be presented with this emblem. The runners up of each sport will be awarded some token to show their accomplishment.

Intramural sports will be divided into class A and class B groups. Class A group consists of football, basketball, baseball and track. Class B group consists of boxing, wrestling, tennis, golf, cross country, handball and fencing.

Debate Team Is Selected

Sewell and Castleberry Are Chosen to Represent Tech in the Debate with Team from England

William R. Sewell and Wayne Castleberry have been chosen to represent Texas Tech in the debate with the representatives of the National Union of English Universities, which is composed of B. J. Crehan, from the University of Liverpool, and B. Hope Elletson, from St. John's College of Oxford University. The debate will be held in the Gymnasium, Friday Evening, December 12.

The debate will be on the Democracy question, which is stated, "Resolved; that the principal of Democracy has been tried and is wanting." The affirmative side will be up held by the Englishmen, while Tech will defend the principal of Democracy.

There will be an admission of twenty five cents for students. The sale and distribution of tickets for this debate is being sponsored by the debate club.

Silver Key Club Features Dance

The Silver Key club entertained with a dance at the Hilton on Wednesday night, November 28.

Rose and silver, the official colors of the club were carried out in all appointments. The club banner was suspended behind the orchestra, and program for the dance were in rose and silver. Music was furnished throughout the evening by the Canadians.

About forty couples including the Silver Key members and their dates were served a midnight lunch in the E. B. Adcock home at 2601 19th Street. More than one hundred people were present.

Club members and their dates were Joe Leaverton and May Tom Simmons; Red Huff and Dorothy Rushing; Edwin Spack and Dorothy Griffin; Mose Witherspoon and Kathleen Harman; Olen Purcell and Grutrud Standerfer; Red Harmon and Gladys Towns; Bill Fry and Mary Lou Gammell; Julius Bergfeld and Vonnie; Fred Johnson; Clayton Reed and a Cheville Whitehill; Brooks Penny and Gamille Stohlg; Johnnie Kestley and Kate Boyd; Dr. W. J. Howard and Lulu Mae Cravens; Ellis Forman and Cornelia McCame; William Evans and Blanche Bradley; Julius Craver and Louis Stephens; Mose Clark and Wayne Atcheson; Merrill Craver and Elizabeth O'Connell; Harold Busby and Mildred Price; Dick Busby and Faye Foote; Harold Ammons and Christine Denny; Audrey Brown and Eleanor Halbert; Lotlin Bangh and Clara Mae Bishop; Dick Green and Alice Milligan; Dick Greer and Alene Spears; Thomas Hickey and Marjorie Ann Ainsworth; Van Earl Sams and Evelyn Hartzog; Ed Harris and Edith Sanders; Fred Seely and Jean Shelly Jennings; J. W. Timmons and Lucille Hartzog; R. C. Marshall and Gail Quinlan; Lou Edwards and Sarah Price; Clayburn Belland Donna Vaughn. Other club members attending were Kenneth Rollo, Max Herbison, Max Nell and John E. Powell.

Tech Song To Be Heard Over Radio

Kay Kyser and his Victor Recording Orchestra will play a special arrangement of the Tech national song over station WFAA, next Tuesday night, December 9, at 11:30 according to a letter received from them recently.

Kyser and his orchestra are recently from the University of North Carolina and are now playing an engagement at the Baker Hotel in Dallas. The letter states that the orchestra feel sure Tech students will be interested in this program and if they are pleased with it to drop a line to the orchestra in care of the Baker Hotel station WFAA, Dallas, Texas.

Are Entertained During Past Week

Lucius Halbert of Plainview entertained several friends at his home over the last week-end. Guests and dates were Harold Busby and Mildred Price; Felix Balenger and Faye Foote; Clayton Reed and Cheville Whitehill and Lucius Halbert and Frances Gunn.

The guests attended the Elk's dance on Thursday night, a theater party on Friday afternoon and a bridge-dance on Saturday night returning here Sunday afternoon.

Miss Murrey Stone visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Stone in Panhandle during the holidays.

Miss Merle Sprawls spent the week-end in Lamesa visiting friends.

Hort Professor To Give Lecture

A prepared lecture sent out by Better Homes and Gardens Magazine will be given by Professor C. H. Mahoney before the Lubbock Garden Clubs in the auditorium of the Engineering building December 12 at 3 P. M. This is a lantern slide lecture consisting of 60 slides that deal with planning for different houses and lots, and everything in connection with gardening.

This lecture was secured through subscriptions to the magazine in Lubbock by members of the club. A certain goal was set and it was necessary to reach the goal before the lecture was available.

Professor Mahoney's class in landscape gardening will attend the lecture and all others who are interested are invited to attend.

Third Annual Short Course To Be Offered

Tentative dates for annual affair set for February 10, 11 and 12; Many Noted Speakers to Appear

Tentative dates for the third annual Farmers and Homemakers Short Course have been set for February 10, 11, and 12, according to Professor H. J. Zover, head of the Agronomy department. "We do not have an appropriation for this short course so we have to depend upon local farmers and the farm bureau federation for this work."

The three principal speakers on the men's side are: Dean L. E. Call, head of the Kansas State Agricultural College, a leading speaker, well acquainted with western conditions who has been with the Kansas Experiment Station for the past twenty-four years; Mr. N. M. Ballancey, of the educational bureau of the American Farm Bureau with headquarters in Chicago, whose special work is on taxes, farm markets, and highways; and Mr. W. T. Martindale, of Bloomington, Illinois, who was here the first week of September. His specialty is commercial agriculture.

Miss Dorothy McFarland left yesterday for Amarillo to see "Polly With a Past" which was presented last night by the Little Theater of that place.

Misses Mahle House, Monna Gowman, and Marguerite Whaley spent the week-end at their homes in Estelline.

Ben Baldwin was guest of relatives and friends in Lamesa during the holidays.

Annual Enters Book Contest

La Ventana Enters Yearbook Contest Sponsored Each Year by University of Minnesota

La Ventana, year book of the college, has been entered in the national year book contest. Each year the National Scholastic Press association, with headquarters at Minneapolis, Minnesota, judges the annuals of high schools, colleges, and universities from all parts of the United States.

The association, sponsored by the University of Minnesota, places the books in divisions according to the enrollment of the schools. La Ventana will compete against year books from school with an enrollment of from one thousand to two thousand five hundred.

State Department Calls Conference

A conference of home economics teachers in high schools of the South Plains, which was called by the State Department of Education, is being held at the Hilton hotel December 5 and 6. Conducted by Miss Inora Clark and Dean Margaret W. Weeks, the conference is taking up problems relating to Home Economics teaching in the high school. Approximately fifty teachers are expected to be present.

Miss Roma Yarbrough was weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Park of Lorenza.

Miss Alma Lamar visited parents and friends in Dallas during the vacation.

R. C. (Flopp) Marshall, editor of La Ventana, requests those students who own annuals from other colleges to bring them to the La Ventana office and let him look them over. This will help him to get ideas for this year's La Ventana.

Clarence Bobo visited in Paducah during the holidays.

Nine Turkeys Won At First Turkey Shoot

First Annual Turkey Shoot Sponsored By Tech Rifle Club Is Decided Success; Dr. Patton Wins On Board

Nine persons displayed their marksmanship Tuesday afternoon of last week and won turkeys at the first annual Thanksgiving turkey shoot sponsored by the Texas Tech rifle club. A special range was constructed for the event on the campus just west of the engineering building and firing was from one until six o'clock.

On two of the courses live turkeys were used as targets, and at fifty yards and the other at seventy-five yards. At 75 yards, Captain Hugh E. Killin, A. F. Fisher, Dr. E. F. George and S. M. Bagwell each won turkeys. Captain Killin tied with Mr. Van Meter on the first round, but the former won on an additional round was fired. At 50 yards George Redinger, J. A. Frewitt, and Mr. Gooden were winners.

A punchboard target, on which numbers were placed promiscuously, the highest number hit being the winner, was operated and Dr. L. T. Patton was the lucky man here. All contestants who did not win a turkey on any of the other targets were given a free shot at this board.

Another similar target was fired upon, with shots at five cents each. Bill McMurry was the winner here. Officers of the rifle club plan to make this an annual event. Considerable enthusiasm was manifested both by students and Lubbock sportsmen in the shoot this year, and the experience gained is expected to be of valuable assistance in staging the affair in the future.

L. W. Chapman is president of the Tech rifle club, and Howard P. Hopkins is secretary.

To Offer Flower Course

Beginning with the winter-term, Professor C. E. Russell, of Agriculture, will introduce a three hour course in floral culture open to all students except those in the Ag school. The course will deal with the raising of flowers both out of doors and in the house. Students will take up propagation and culture, and the types of flowers best suited to this section.

Miss Dorothy McFarland left yesterday for Amarillo to see "Polly With a Past" which was presented last night by the Little Theater of that place.

Misses Mahle House, Monna Gowman, and Marguerite Whaley spent the week-end at their homes in Estelline.

English Debators

D. HOPE ELLETSON

B. J. CREHAN

These two men shown above, will comprise the English debating team which will meet the Tech debaters, Bill Sewell, Slaton, and Wayne Castleberry, Eastland.

Starting a series of debates in this country in October, the English team will close with a debate December 15 with a University of Texas team. Elletson is from St. John's college of Oxford University, while Crehan is from the University of Liverpool. The debate will be held in the Tech gym Friday night December 12.

College Handles Half Million Dollars Yearly

Will Handle Nearly One Million for Current Biennium, W. T. Gaston States

Approximately a half million dollars is handled by the business office of Texas Technological College annually according to a statement by W. T. Gaston, business manager, which appeared in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Sunday. This does not include appropriations for new buildings and similar items, Mr. Gaston stated.

"We handle here at Tech about a half million dollars a year," Mr. Gaston said, "to be exact, for the current biennium we will handle $970,000 through this office. "For example, the year that closed August 31, we handled 12 and one half per cent more work on $37,800 less money than the year before."

Was Connected With Board Connected with the state board of control for six years before coming to Tech, Mr. Gaston's work consisted in preparing the estimates of the state institutions on their needs for the next biennium, which were then presented to the legislature by the board.

"The law provides that these estimates must be submitted to the legislature 30 days before it convenes," he pointed out. "This means that early in December the reports must be sent to them. Information contained in the report is carefully guarded until the report has been printed and is ready for distribution. That work is being done now, and no hint as to what the report contains is given out before copies are sent to the legislature."

Mr. Gaston has participated in the compiling of three such reports, taking care of all detail work.

talk on the life and work of Mahatma Gandhi and described the home and character of the poet and artist, Tagore.

Miss Babcock talked on industrial groups which are held each summer in Houston under her sponsorship. Miss Wilder gave a reading.

An informal half hour of conversation followed the talks and light refreshments were served to the guests.

Misses Cora Cooke, Pauline Payne, and Julia Slough were guests of their parents and friends in Wellington during the holidays.

Misses Othella Moore and Adelle Goodby were guests of Miss Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Moore, in Big Lake during the Thanksgiving holidays.

ALL BOYS CONVOCATION

In another part of this paper there will be found a news article about a general convocation for men students. Coach Cawthon has called this meeting and he is anxious that all men of the college be there. Cawthon and his assistants have worked hard this year in establishing athletics in Tech. He is interested in the future of Tech and is therefore putting out every effort that he possibly can to benefit it. This special meeting is called for intramural purposes and for that reason the coach wants to see every boy at the Gym Monday night.

We, the men students who have not taken part in any athletics should make every effort to be there. We have all appreciated the work that coach Cawthon has done and we should show our interest by helping him out and also deriving benefits ourselves. Physical training is required along with the regular lecture courses in college; intramural athletics is physical training and credit is given for it.

All men students show their real Tech spirit and lets be out at the Tech Gym next Monday night.

Judging Team Returns After Extensive Trip

Over 3,000 Miles Are Covered And Seven States Visited By Senior Stock Judging Team Of Texas Tech

After having made an excellent showing in all contests entered, the Texas Tech senior stock judging team returned to Lubbock and Tech last Wednesday night ending an auto trip of more than 3,000 miles and a visit of seven states.

In the most important meet of the trip, the International Livestock Exposition at Chicago, the Tech team was twelfth, being passed by Oklahoma, Kansas, Kentucky, Iowa, Nebraska, Ohio, Purdue University, Minnesota, South Dakota, Illinois, and Michigan. Sparkman led the Tech team in individual honors and placed 22 in a field of 115 men. Oklahoma won the contest, receiving for the second time a bronze bull trophy which will become the permanent property of the institution winning it three times. The team was sixth in hogs, eighth in cattle, fourteenth in horses, and twenty-second in sheep.

Parks was tenth in cattle judging. Mr. G. H. Shepherd, president of the North Dakota Agriculture College, was the superintendent of the contest, directing 115 college students from 23 schools in the United States and Canada in an impressive manner. There were three classes each of cattle, horses, sheep, and hogs judged in the contest.

"Considering the nature of the competition encountered the results may be considered satisfactory," said Professor R. C. Mowery, coach of the Tech team, upon his return to the college "we were competing with schools that have entered teams in these contests for years, and next year we intend to profit by our mistakes and forge up nearer the front."

Judge at Royal Livestock Show at Kansas City Tech was eight as a team, but third in hogs and fourth in cattle. Yoder was fourth in judging of cattle.

Until Wednesday of the following week the team remained in Kansas City and watched much of the official judging and did practice judging on the fine livestock schedules at the show.

Third place in the judging of all classes of livestock was taken by the team at the Kansas National Livestock Show held at Wichita, Kansas. This was the first contest entered by the team on this trip.

Of the eight teams competing, Tech was the first in cattle, second in hogs, Sparkman, Yoder and Yoder finished among the first ten contestants in individual judging of livestock.

Trip Is Taken By Dairy Class

Four Ag Students And Professor Renner Visit, Make Inspection Of Dairy Plants During Holidays

Seven milk plants were visited by four Ag students, Frazier Kemp, Max Peterson, Albert Lockwood, James Holcomb and Professor K. Renner the past week and while on the Tech Department of Dairy Manufactures tour.

Leaving Lubbock last Thursday, the party spent the night in Abilene, visited the Bell Ice Cream Company's plant at Hico the next morning, a condenser and cold storage plant.

A stop was made in Waco Friday afternoon to visit the 100,000 gallon plant of the Borden Milk Company. Entirely different from the roller process used at the Hico plant, this is a combined condensing and powdering plant employing the Merrill-Sewill process for drying milk.

At College Station, on Saturday morning, the Dairy Department of A. and M. College was inspected. E. W. Renner, Professor Renner's brother, is in charge of the department. Rain prevented the group from making a complete tour of the college.

After a weary afternoon of travel in mud and rain, Schulenburg was reached. The next morning the Carnation Milk Company's Schulenburg plant was visited. This is a new plant erected last year and employs the latest devices for the condensing of milk.

Inspect Creamery The Mistletoe Creamery, a combined butter, ice cream, market milk and condensed milk plant, was inspected on Monday. Following this a sightseeing tour to points of interest in the Alamo city was made.

From San Antonio the group went to San Angelo where the Southwest Dairy Products plant was visited. Continuing on to Lamesa the West Texas Milk Products plant was seen. Lubbock was reached late in the night.

Board of Control Approves Tech Budget of $1,359,900; Library Building Is Asked

Club Discusses Annual Social Appropriation for Library Building to Be Presented to Legislature for Second Time

The proposed budget of the college for the next biennium beginning September 1, 1931, has been formally approved by the state board of control. The college will ask a total of $1,359,900 when the state legislature meets next month.

The legislature will act upon the figures and if approved, they will be subject to the governor's approval or veto.

Included in this budget is an item of $250,000 for erection of a library building. This is the only building item in the budget.

If the money is made available, the proposed library building will be built west and south of the chemistry building. The building will be of Spanish design to conform with the architectural scheme of the college.

For the first year, the state board of control recommended $356,750 and for the second year $93,150. Deducting the library figure from the second year gives the total appropriation for operating of the school at $1,109,900.

This will be the second time that an appropriation for the library has been submitted to the state legislature. Two years ago appropriation was appropriated but the governor vetoed it.

Concert Given At High School

First Local Appearance in Concert Is Made By Matador Band in New Uniforms Last Thursday Night

Thursday night Texas Tech's famous Matador band, resident in their new built uniforms, appeared in their annual home concert in the auditorium of the Lubbock High School. Although they have been seen at the football games this season, and were honored at "Tech Nite" recently at the Lindsey theatre, this was their first local public concert.

Tech's band this year has reached a point of perfection that is remarkable, both in organization and musical skill. The concert Thursday evening was a revelation to music lovers of the college and of Lubbock, few having realized that such high class group of musicians was in their midst.

The following program was given: March, "Loris" (Losey); "Wedding of the Winds" (Hall); selections from the musical comedy, "Prince of Pilsen" (Luders); symphony solo, "The Song of Songs" (Smith) by Max Hill, accompanied by Harry LeMaire; "A Hunting Scene" (Bucollosi); Victor Herbert's Favorite (Arr. by Lake); Baritone solo, "La Reve d'Amour" (Miller); by Culver Hill; "Piccolo Pic" (Slater); "Life's Lighter Hours" (Clay Smith); "Hunting Scene" (Luders); scores were current popular numbers.

Give Variety The variety of selections presented was for the purpose of pleasing an audience of various musical tastes. All numbers were enthusiastically received, especially Bucollosi's "Hunting Scene". Culver Hill's baritone solo and Mancill Hill's trombone solo were also decidedly favorite with the audience and each was called upon for an encore.

Members of the band this year have shown an incomparable sense of loyalty and co-operation. Since the opening of school they have met daily, except Sundays, at 7 a. m., rehearsing on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. Competition for places has been unusually keen, in spite of the high requirements as to musical talent and arduous training. To be a member of Tech's 1930-31 Matador band is considered quite an honor and constitutes recognition as an artist.

Work Hard A great deal of credit for the success of the organization is due to the faithfulness and hard work of the director, Harry LeMaire, and the drum major, Captain Hugh E. Killin. Both men have worked untiringly for great band at Tech, and have the satisfaction of seeing their efforts crowned with success, even if, as yet, they haven't toured England with their charges.

The musicians have effected an organization, besides the director and drum major, already mentioned: Stancil Bagwell, assistant band master; Culver Hill, president; Fred Fairley, vice-president; Solon Clements, secretary; Mancill Hill, treasurer; Canon Clements, reporter; Norman Snodgrass, sergeant-at-arms, and Newell Hughes, business manager.

DATE CHANGED The next meeting of the Capa y Espada has been changed from its regular time on Thursday to Wednesday, December 10, at the home of Mr. Qualls, 2420 9th.

Besides the regular business meeting there is to be a program. For further details see Miss Faye Bumpass.

Students may have their pictures made for the La Ventana between 10 and 12 o'clock at Brown's Studio before the Christmas holidays according to R. C. Marshall, editor of the year book. This agreement was made after some few students had been refused by the studio to make their pictures unless orders for other pictures were given for students to take note of this and if possible have their pictures made before the next term starts.

Bill Ross, freshman engineering student, visited friends and relatives in Brownwood during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Johnie Robert Montgomery, freshman engineering student, visited his parents in Brownwood during the holidays. Depend on Johnie to always go where there is the most to eat.

Miss Bess Boverie and Floyd Boverie spent the Thanksgiving holidays visiting friends and relatives at their home in Wellington.

Earl Hobbs made several flying trips to Littlefield during last week-end, but couldn't make up his mind to spend the night away from Lubbock.

Frederick Poffenback of Sweetwater visited at his home during Thanksgiving.

Barclay Will Pick Beauties

McClellan Barclay, Nationally Known Illustrator Chosen To Select La Ventana Beauties

McClellan Barclay, nationally known illustrator, has been asked to judge the beauties for La Ventana, Tech year book. R. C. Marshall, editor of La Ventana, has received a letter from Mr. Barclay accepting the position as beauty judge.

"Mr. Barclay is one of the foremost illustrators in America," states Mr. Marshall, "and in my opinion he is the foremost and because of this fact La Ventana has selected to judge La Ventana beauties." Students who are not familiar with the type of art work done by Mr. Barclay should turn to Fisher body illustrations in the Saturday Evening Post, or any other leading national magazine.

Full length pictures will be used this year instead of the conventional bust type pictures that have been used in the preceding years.

Picture Dead Line Changed By Editor

According to announcement made by R. C. Marshall, editor of La Ventana, the dead line for having pictures made for annual has been extended to January 15. The original dead line was last Monday but because of the fact that a large per cent of the students had not had their pictures made for the year book, an extension of the time limit was made necessary.

Students who will be in school only the fall term are particularly urged by the La Ventana staff to go to Brown's studio as soon as possible and have this work done.

Honorary Society Initiates Members

On the Tuesday night before Thanksgiving three new members, Pauline Hargrove, Mozelle Treadway, and Johnnie McCrery were initiated into the Double Key, an honorary society whose members are elected for their qualities of scholarship and leadership.

The society is composed of three faculty members and eight students. Officers are: Daisy Lockwood, president; and Thalia Parker, secretary-treasurer.

Bill Ross, freshman engineering student, visited friends and relatives in Brownwood during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Johnie Robert Montgomery, freshman engineering student, visited his parents in Brownwood during the holidays. Depend on Johnie to always go where there is the most to eat.

Miss Bess Boverie and Floyd Boverie spent the Thanksgiving holidays visiting friends and relatives at their home in Wellington.

Earl Hobbs made several flying trips to Littlefield during last week-end, but couldn't make up his mind to spend the night away from Lubbock.

Frederick Poffenback of Sweetwater visited at his home during Thanksgiving.

TRADITION IN THE MAKING

Traditions are wonderful things. And the traditions of one's school are wonderful indeed when one is no longer a student, when all that is left of glorious school days is packed away in a storehouse of memories. The old schools—Cambridge and Oxford in England, Oxford, Bryn Mawr, Yale in the United States, these and many more are rich in the legend and lore which has been stored away by each succeeding year's class.

Just as a connoisseur of art adds bit by bit to his collection, so a college adds to its store of tradition. Beginning in its earliest days, it builds slowly and surely until the end of its existence. But foundation, in this case, as in every one involving construction, is to be considered first. A strong foundation is the most important step, and one upon which everything else depends.

We, as students in a young college, need to give serious thought to the foundation which we are laying down and on which traditions of the future are to rest. What are we, as individuals and as groups, doing to add something of value to Texas Tech?

Will the songs we write and sing become so entwined in the spirit of Tech that they will be as inseparable from life in the college as a man's mind from his body? Will the spirit with which we win or lose our games become a legend fit to be preserved? Will our students and graduates so conduct themselves in their home school and in foreign ones as to win for themselves and for the Matador school a name of renown?

Upon the answer to these and many other questions rests the final answer to the great question: What will be the traditions of Texas Technological College? The answer depends upon us.—Lois Jacques.

PARKING AT TECH

Efforts are being made to eliminate the parking problem that has been confronting Texas Tech ever since its opening. The college architects are now working on plans to solve this problem. Officials of the college expect to secure additional space for the cars to park and thus removing the present congestion of automobiles from in front of the buildings. Just what the plans are we have not yet been informed but feel sure that any change made could hardly make matters worse.

On rainy days cars can be found parked not just in front of the buildings but on the side walks causing those who walk from building to building to retreat from the side walk and get through the best way that they can.

The parking problem is a problem at Tech and the sooner some solution is worked out the better it will be for the unfortunate pedestrian.

"Saturnalia" Is Latin Subject

"Saturnalia," a holiday season celebrated by the Romans in the month of December, was the subject of the program presented at the regular meeting of the Latin club Monday night.

During the business session a brief discussion was held of the joint meeting of the Latin and Spanish clubs planned for early in the winter term.

Miss Mary Frances Akard gave piano solo, which was followed by the club's singing Latin songs, led by Miss Lois Freeman. Miss Georgia Mae Knight discussed the manner of celebration of Saturnalia and Hubert Hopper traced modern survivals of the ancient festival as seen in our Christmas customs.

The program was concluded by a game directed by Luther Williams.

RETURN FROM CARLSBAD
Professor J. O. Ellisworth, his wife, and Professor A. B. Cunningham and wife returned Sunday from Carlsbad and El Paso where they spent Thanksgiving. The party left Wednesday and spent the night in Carlsbad. The Carlsbad Caverns were visited the next day. Friday and Saturday were spent in El Paso with Juarez one of the features of the trip.

While in El Paso they met Riley Alexander, a '29 graduate, who is now with the Quarantine Service of the U. S. department of Agriculture, stationed at the present time at El Paso.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, Miss Johnnie Gilkerson, and Mr. J. F. McDonald attended the Texas State Teachers' convention at Houston, on November 27, 28, 29. Mr. McDonald was in the meeting of the extension workers there.

Miss Mary DeBardleben, instructor of Biblical literature, will entertain all of her Bible classes with a Christmas party at the First Methodist church on Saturday night, December 8.

Cotton Is Donated To Textile School

Two bales of long staple cotton have been donated to the textile engineering department by the Greer Staple Cotton Breeding Farms, of Iowa Park, Texas. The quality of this cotton is exceedingly high, the staple measuring one and one fourth inches in length. This cotton will be used for experimental purposes by classes in textile engineering. Mr. Carl D. Brandt, head of the department announced.

CORK OFFICIALS PROTEST

Members of the Cork Corporation, the erstwhile governing body of the Irish city, are indignantly protesting against a recent ruling of the Free State Local Government Department refusing to extend the limited powers of the corporation. Under the old order Cork had a corporation of 55 members with full powers over all local affairs, but in 1924 the new Free State government abolished the corporation and appointed Philip Monaghan, a Drogheda man, to act as city commissioner. Up to last year, when the Chamber of Deputies passed legislation restoring Cork Corporation, Monaghan acted in that capacity, and under the new act he was appointed manager for the city. Members of the restored corporation have just realized that Monaghan is still the real czar of the city.

"COOPERATION"

We've observed where we go That the fellows we know, Who "shoot square" in their dealings with men Will refuse to defame Any neighbor's good name. Or a slanderous story begin.

They "stick to their bush," Their own business they push, And to make good in life they're resolved.

But they'll play the game fair And will always shoot square Where the other man's right are involved.

To the man who's in need They will always give heed And will offer a lift when he's down. They are ever alert All their strength to exert, For the good of their fellows and town.

They'll assist if they can, In the other man's plan; They'll not block everything they can't lead.

With no envy at heart They will do their own part And rejoice with the men who succeed.

THE CRITIC

Behold
The Critic, bold and cold,
Who sits in judgment on
The twilight and the dawn
Of literature,
And, eminently sure,
Informs his age,
What printed page
Is destined to be great.
His word is Fate,
And what he writes
Is greater far
Than all the books
He writes of are.
His pen
Is dipped in boom
Or doom;
And when
He says one book is rot,
And that another's not,
That ends it. He
Is pure infallibility,
And any book he judges must
Be blessed or cursed
By all mankind.
Except the blind
Who will not see
The master's modest mastery.
His flat stands
Against the uplifted hands
Of thousands who protest
That he is Fate,
That they like best,
But what of that?
He knows where he is at,
And they don't. And why
Shouldn't he be high
Above them as the clouds
Are high above the brooks,
For God, He made the Critic,
And man he makes the books.
See?
Gee whiz,
What a puissant potentate the critic is.

SEA BEAUTY CAUGHT

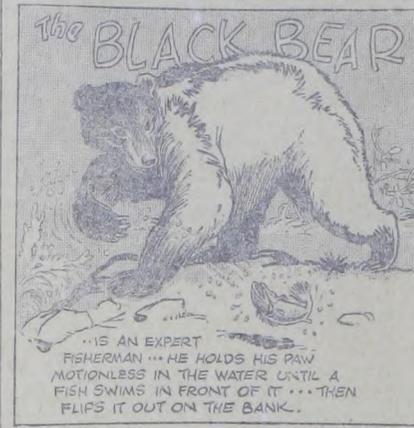

After five years of fame and prosperity Picoa, the seaside village near Ponta Delgada, in the Azores, is returning to obscurity again. Five years ago it was "Papa" Bernardes, owner of the Ily Hotel Bernardes, who reported seeing a mermaid on the rocks in the Atlantic not far from shore, and showed villagers a figure, scaly tail and all, sitting on the mass of stone. Later there were two. Often they appeared, and tourists, including the rich and the scientific, visited Picoa, so that Papa Bernardes had to enlarge his hotel and his bank account. One night recently a police boat visited the rocks, and officers captured Bernardes' daughter, Terese, and a waitress from his hotel, each with legs encased in a clever imitation of a fish's tail, made by Bernardes' wife, Maria.

Eha McFarland, Cletha Sturgeon, Vera and Ila Bee Periman, Evelyn Worley, Thelma Leslie, Clarice Harkins, Cecil and L. B. Worley, Lee Francis York, and J. W. Green spent the Thanksgiving holidays in their homes in Snyder.

Louise Hancock spent Thanksgiving at her home in Tahoka.

SWISS EAGLE FILMED

A motion picture of a young eagle in his nest has just been made on the western flank of the Hahnenstock, in the Lenthal, in Switzerland. Gamekeepers lowered a camera man to a narrow rock 20 feet above the nest. When the older birds were away he filmed the young one, which was about the size of a chicken, lying on a bed of fir branches and eating the carcass of a small chamois. At another time one of the large eagles returned, and the photographer expected to be attacked. Higher up the gamekeepers were ready to fire blank cartridges to frighten the bird, but the eagle, after circling above the nest, flew away. When the photographer went down for the third time he noticed that the parents had brought to the nest two squirrels.

"What do we mean when we say 'civic pride'?"
"Well, you see, it's something like this: when the state institution for demented people is in our own town, we call it the state hospital; when it is in a neighboring city, we call it the insane asylum."

Joyce and Doris Johnson spent the Thanksgiving holiday with their parent in Eastland. They had as their guests Misses Louise Wolfarth and Leona Gellin.

Judging Team

various places during the trip. The first day a stop was made at the Panhandle A. & M. college, Goodwell, Oklahoma, for a brief work-out on judging of sheep, cattle and hogs.

From Kansas City the team went to the Iowa State college at Ames where two and a half days were spent in practice judging and visiting the various parts of the school. Tech was one of the seven teams there to whom the college opened its facilities as far as livestock was concerned. Warm pavilions and a wealth of livestock made these days profitable to the team.

November 24th was spent at the farm of Thomas R. Holbert, near Greely, Iowa. Workouts here were on approximately fifty head of Percheron and Belgian stallions imported from Belgium within the past two months. A dinner was served in the Holbert home to 40 men who comprised five teams.

Visit Wisconsin One and a half days were spent in practice judging at the University of Wisconsin at Madison. Here the team was given a hearty welcome and the facilities of the agriculture school turned over to them.

Enroute from Madison to Chicago the team visited the farm of Walter Renk and Sons, who specialize in Hampshire and Shropshire sheep. It was from this farm that the college secured its foundation stock of Hampshire sheep six years ago. They visited the farms of Hoard's Dairyman and two farms of the Janeway Manufacturing company at Fort Atchison, Wisconsin.

See Exchange While in Chicago, the Chicago Grain Exchange was visited, and the group was fortunate in having one of the secretaries, Mr. Dexter, to show them through the enormous building that is the home of the grain exchange. A view of Chicago from the 45th floor of the tower of the new Board of Trade building completed this phase of the tour.

The Field Museum, Lincoln Park, and Soldier's Field were the other points of interest seen in the city. Returning, the team left Chicago at eleven a. m. Monday morning, arriving in Lubbock at 7 p. m. Wednesday.

The boys are elated over the educational and practical things seen on the trip as well as over the contests in which they participated. They had the privilege of meeting many of the foremost men in the field of Animal Husbandry today and of being associated with a large number of splendid young college men.

Receive Money The $315.00 received from the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, the Ag club, and the rodeo took care of our expenses. Hal Yoder, Bruce Park, Colonel Sporkman, Percy Powers, James Williams, and Tommie Jo Harris, the members of the team paid their own expenses.

Membership cards are being mailed out this week to seventy-five new members of the YMCA. New membership cards have been printed to carry the new purpose which the association adopted this year.

Membership in the Tech YMCA also gives the student membership in the World's Student Christian Federation, composed of the national movements of over thirty countries.

The Freshman YMCA Council will meet Thursday at 5:00 p. m. in room 310 administration building, rather than Wednesday, Mr. Harry Bone, State Secretary of the YMCA will speak on the subject, "How to Get An Education Though in College". All freshmen are invited.

The Tech YMCA will have charge of the book display at the Older Boys Conference to be held in Lubbock, Dec. 5, 6, 7. Following the conference the books will be brought to the YMCA room, 509 administration building. Students and faculty are invited to see the books which are for sale, but no one is under obligation to buy.

The YWCA and YMCA will be represented in the pageant which the Lubbock Community Chest will present Monday night December 8 for the purpose of portraying the work which the various agencies carry on. Miss Mary DeBardleben, professor of Biblical Literature, is directing the pageant.

Charles F. O'Neill Jr., was elected by the YMCA Cabinet at its last meeting to serve as recording secretary, succeeding Lynn Gray Gordon, resigned.

Misses Jaunelle Windham and Josephine Caraway were holiday guests of Mrs. S. H. Windham of Tahoka.

Matadors Lose To Simmons To End 1930 Season With Three Wins, Six Defeats

Red Waller Returns Kickoff For Lone Tech Counter; Is Last Game Of College Football For Many Seniors

Although unable to withstand the crushing onslaught of the powerful Cowboys of Simmons University, a much lighter eleven of Texas Tech Thursday gave the customers plenty of thrills before taking the short end of a 20 to 6 score. The Matadors put up a brave fight and shot almost everything they had at the Simmonites. However, the gridsters from Abilene proved to be superior for the day, having an advantage of both weight and experience. Approximately 3,500 football fans over West Texas witnessed the Thanksgiving classic and the ideal weather, intense rivalry and a colorful battle on the field made the fray an interesting spectacle.

Take Last Half The Matadors fired every gun at the Cowboys in the way of offense but were unable to chalk up over five first downs, the visitors made thirteen. Although the Matadors were outclassed and outplayed the first half of the game, they took the last half very decisively.

The Cowboys pushed over all of their counters in the first and second periods, keeping the Matadors on the defense during most of that time. The Techmen marked up their first and only touchdown in the third quarter as Red Waller took the ball on the kickoff as the third period began and stiffarmed and outran the entire field for eighty-five yards and a touchdown. This was undoubtedly the highspot of the entire game.

Play Last Game

Waller, halfback, was playing his last game for Tech on Thanksgiving and he certainly gave a good account of himself in his farewell appearance. Several other outstanding men on the Tech team will never don a football uniform for Tech again. There is Floyd Woodridge, who is one of the best quarterbacks this school has ever owned; Buddy Brothers with his educated toe and never-say-die-spirit; Rip Vinzant, a hard fighting end; and Tommie Jo Harris, another all-around athlete. These men all saw service in their final games.

Doose, sophomore fullback, went into the game with an injured leg. Before many plays, he was unable to play any further. Although his substitution, Westner, played a nice game at that position, Doose's absence in backing up the line was greatly felt. Davenport, husky 190 pound back for Simmons, punched the center of the line for many short gains. Marshall, Davenport's running mate, also added many yards through the line.

Vinzant, one of the veterans not to return, and Bill Teal held down the wing positions remarkably. Few gains for any distance were made around the ends. Early in the season candidates for the wing positions were scarce and the end was a serious problem with Coach Cawthon. No better form could be asked for than these two men displayed here Thursday.

Langford held down his tackle in spite of a bad leg and Simmons on the other tackle was an important cog in Tech's line. Flowers, substituting for Captain Durham, proved to be an able assistant to Durham, making many tackles for the day.

Is Good Painter Captain Bill Sanders, for Simmons, is one of the best this section has seen in several days in the way of punting. He also took his turn at totting the oval and was one of the consistent ground gainers of the game. Clark, safety man for the Cowboys, ran back the punts as well as could be expected but being light, left the home crushing thrusts at the line to Davenport and his mate, Marshall. Golightly, pivot man, roved the line, spratching passes and nailing the runners. He was outstanding on the Simmons wall. Ribble proved to be another valuable man on both offense and defense.

The Simmons crew scored the r counter early in the first period before Tech even had possession of the ball. The heavy backs started from their 35 yard line from where they battered the Matador line back to their own 4 yard line. Davenport went over for the first touchdown. Sanders kick for goal failed.

The second counter followed a smashing march down the field.

The Cowboys passed several short passes. Davenport punched the line for short gains until the ball was on the 2 yard line, from where Marshall went over. Sanders kicked the goal for extra point.

Late in the second period, Marshall intercepted a pass by Franz and carried the ball to Tech's 27 yard line. From there, Davenport hit guard for 4 and then Sanders passed to Marshall. The pass incomplete but Marshall was given the ball on the 5 yard line because a Tech man interfered with the receiver. A short pass and Sanders took the ball over, Pee kicked goal. Shortly, the half ended with the score: Simmons, 20; Tech, 0.

As the half opened, Red Waller sprinted 85 yards for the Matadors only touchdown. The try for point failed. The rest of the game was an exchanging of punts with neither eleven able to score.

Misses Lorene Friar and Naomi Mitchell spent the Thanksgiving holidays at their homes in Matador.

Miss Edith Bandy spent the Thanksgiving holidays in Happy with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bandy.

Miss Tina Alexander spent the week-end in Clovis, New Mexico visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Hatley.

Miss Nona Hunt went to her home in Big Lake for Thanksgiving vacation.

Miss Beth Harper was holiday guest of her sister, Mrs. W. R. King of Spur.

Miss Harriet Swain spent the week-end in Crowell with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Swain.

Miss Louise Sneed, Lynn Witherspoon, and Russell Porter visited at their homes in Dalhart on the week-end.

Alfred Emanuel spent the holidays at his home in Wellington on Thanksgiving.

Joe Henry Wischtaemper and Silme Penleton went to their homes in Shamrock on the week-end.

Miss Frances Tyler spent the Thanksgiving holidays in Slaton visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lamar.

Miss Jerry Holt spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Holt in Breckenridge.

Clarence Locke, former student of Tech, is visiting in Lubbock. Locke has been working in Roswell, New Mexico.

Milton Kirksey, junior aggie student, spent most of the holidays visiting his very dear friends in Hobbs, N. M.

Joyce and Alice Claire Teague spent Thanksgiving day in Plauvieu.

Ruby Rae Williamson visited her parents in Spur last week-end. She is a freshman and resides at College Inn.

Chapman Davis took a long trip back to Sulphur Springs to spend a few days with friends last week.

Misses Lois and Idabelle Temp-ton and Bessie Jean Willis visited at their home in Wellington last week.

Collegiate Notes

BY MILDRED PRICE This clipping was taken from an editorial in the Howard Payne paper. Seems like the Fish have the upper hand.

"Well, well, well. What do you know about that, the Uppers have weakened and I don't mean maybe. They must be waiting for a street car or something. But what I want to say is that the Fish signs are still up and so are the signs about the football game. If that is not proof, I don't know what it is. The Uppers this year are a bunch of jelly backed coward and that's straight. I will bet my hat it takes the Uppers all day to get that Freshman flag down. The Fish have painted up your school and don't wear their caps, don't come to pep meetings or don't do anything else that we don't want to do, and you bunch of weak-minded, weak-armed guys stand around and look contented. What's the matter, can't you find a board or have you forgotten how to make a Freshman take off his belt? You had better learn now before it's too late."

Howard Payne Yellow Jacket.

Burleson College, Greenville, Texas, one of the oldest Baptist schools in Texas, will be closed at the end of the present term, December 5, it was announced today after a meeting of the board of trustees last night.

Board members said it "was practically impossible financially to operate the college."

The college was established in 1895 and had graduated several thousand students.

Brownwood Bulletin

A big majority of the Cowboy men down at Simmons work their way through college. Their work varies from quelling fires to quenching appetites, and from peddling milk to peeling potatoes! Four of the men take care of the laundry problem. Four other men work in the college cafeteria and help control the college walkline. Then there are janitors, bus drivers, firemen, garage men, gardeners, and perhaps one big butter and egg man. Just any vocation, girls, take your choice!

Opal Creighton spent the Thanksgiving holidays at her home in Abilene.

Garland Coody spent Thanksgiving at his home in Caddo.

Cleo Davis returned to her home in Sweetwater to spend the Thanksgiving holidays.

Getome Grayum visited in Paducah during the past week-end.

1888 SEVENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY 1963 91% of the energy we use demands VALVES "Eighty-seven per cent of the energy we use in our daily life... heat energy as well as mechanical energy, exclusive of that produced in our own bodies and brains... is derived from the hydrocarbon chain, coal, oil, and gas. Water power yields 4%, firewood 8%, work animals 3%." GEORGE ORVIS SMITH, U. S. Geological Survey Take away the 87% of energy now extracted from coal, oil, and gas... and we would be back in the year 1855... the year Crane Co. was founded. Take valves and fittings away, and we would be deprived not of 87 but of 91%. For from water power as well as from coal, gas, and oil, energy is almost never extracted in the modern world but valves and fittings enter into the process. It is significant that the history of Crane Co. and the history of modern utilization of natural energy, cover almost exactly the same period. Many years ago, Crane metallurgists and engineers began the development of piping materials for each new need as it appeared. The years since have seen every Crane resource... research, engineering, production... devoted to supplying materials that would keep the road to progress open. New Club Members Given Reception

New members of Las Leales club were presented at a reception last Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. A. E. Adcock, 2601 18th street.

Guests were met at the door by Miss Orenne McClennan, president of the club. Mrs. Mary W. Duak, Miss Margaret W. Weeks, and Dr. Paul W. Horn, club sponsors. They were then presented to the honor guests, Misses Elizabeth Tolik, Jaunita Price, Daisy Lockwood, Geraldine Clewell, Annie Fern Bickley, Mary Olive Persons, and Helen Winstead.

The house party was composed of Misses Margaret McNabb, Sylvia Wilson, Blanche Bacon, Mrs. Adcock, and members of the forum, Misses Cornelia McCann, Kathleen Harman, Sarah Michie, and Jean Shelly Jennings.

Sandwiches, cookies and spiced tea were served from a table beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums and green candles. Tea was poured by Mrs. P. W. Horn, Mrs. William Dingus, Mrs. R. M. Chitwood, and Miss Johnnie McGreary.

Music was furnished by Miss Josephine Winslow who played the violin accompanied by Miss Mary Frances Askard and Mr. Harry LeMaire.

Members of the club present were Misses Pearl Harrison, Hazel Gruver, Nina Gordon, Mary Gene Owen, Nell Goodloe, Lizzie Belle Clements, Mary Jo Cagle, Elizabeth Baird, and Mrs. Rosa Mae Burford.

Dinner Given by Las Chaparritas

Los Camarados, men's social club held its initial reception and dinner Tuesday night in Hotel Lubbock. Following the dinner bridge was played, with Arnold Schofield winning high score.

Members present included Clarence Bobo, Lyle Holmes, Earl Hobbs, James Domney, Keith Ward, Marshall Formby, Jerome Grayum, and

GETTING OUR NAMES IN THE PAPER

Mary Beth Miller visited Sarah Price and Louise Sneed last weekend. Mary Beth should be back this year. She's missing a lot.

Melba Mae Tatum was here, too. She deserted us for C. I. A. this year. Isn't that terrible?

Mozelle Macha wanted her name in the paper a long time ago, but we're just now getting to it.

Several of our New Mexico school teachers were here Thanksgiving, including George Wilkins, and his wife, who was Mot Tannery before she married; Happy Dalton, a big coach at Lake Arthur; and John Burroughs, who is at Clovis. They may be working in that foreign land but they still like Texas, as is shown by the frequency of their visits.

That engineer, Pete Pearson, gave his mother and dad of Lorenzo a big treat and spent Thanksgiving day with them.

His partner in crime, Gus Hendrick, had his parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Hendrick, of the same city, visit him here.

We heard Jessie Cooper say he

E. B. Snyder. Guest were James Strange, Arnold Schofield, Willard Nott, Rhea Young, Howard Yoder, Jason Gordon, E. B. Green and Glen Allison. Officers of the club are Marshall Formby, president, Jerome Grayum, vice-president, and Earl Hobbs, secretary.

James E. Lindsey, technician at the Rush Clinic, San Angelo, spent Thanksgiving here with his aunt, Mrs. N. L. Peters. Lindsey was a student in Tech in '27 and '28 and attended medical school in Galveston last year.

Othella Moore spent Thanksgiving at her home in Big Lake.

Members Of Math Club Give Program

The Math Club met last Thursday night in their regular monthly meeting. A short business session was held pertaining to club pictures for this year's La Ventana. A program was given by Ena Armstrong, Holle Cross, and Ola Reeder, all of whom are members of the club.

This was the last meeting to be held during this term.

Clonnie Mae Thwert, of Coleman, who was a fish last year, spent Thanksgiving here.

And Berlene Boyton did, also. We wonder why some people blushed so much about Berlene's visit? Something rotten in Denmark!

Camille Stobaugh dragged several of her sister Chaps with her to her home in Coleman. Wonder how Mr. and Mrs. Stobaugh survived?

The most concealed freshman we know is Henry Long. The next one is Andy Freeman. Tell them about it—they are proud of it.

Charlie Stidham was here last week. He set a few hearts fluttering last year, and to think—she had to be out of town!

Helen Blythe and Gurtrude Standefer went home with Dorothy Griffin for Thanksgiving. We're wondering which set of parents need the most sympathy—the Stobaughs or the Griffins.

Eva Rob Watkins will grace the space for our staff member this week. She has a job that we're sure is intensely interesting, but one we are glad we don't have—that of interviewing all the notables that appear on our campus. Hats off to Eva Rob, she does a fair job of it.

HERE'S SOMETHING I CAN'T TELL MY HUSBAND

HOPE he reads this ad. That's the only way he'll know I'd rather have a Tiffin Model Magic Chef Gas Range than anything else in the world. He thinks all I like are dainty things to wear and would never believe I actually prefer a stove for Christmas. But what a stove!

This Tiffin is the most enchanting thing I've seen for years. It is to the kitchen what a grand piano is to the living room—a real mark of distinction. So compact, so colorful, so unusual; every woman falls in love with it at first sight. And all my friends who have them say they're perfect bakers.

I've always wanted a stove with a Red Wheel Oven Heat Regulator. I'm tired spending hours needlessly fretting in the kitchen. The Tiffin has a Red Wheel and every other modern improvement to make it easy to cook the kind of meals people praise.

Like other women, I prefer a gift I can share with the family, and we'd all enjoy the advantages of this wonderful, new gas range. The price of the Tiffin is almost unbelievable—it's so low. Maybe my husband will surprise me and have one installed. Here's hoping.

It is a GOOD Gas Range That Has This Red Wheel

Miss Nova Lynn Graves returned Sunday afternoon from Big Spring, where she spent the week-end. She was accompanied by her father and sister, Emma Jo Graves.

Miss Martha McFarland spent Thanksgiving with her sister, Miss Lora Mae McFarland, who is teaching at Levelland this year. Her room mate, Mary Spring visited at her home in Friona.

Misses Fern Killam of Ballinger and Mathilde Riemer of Spearman returned to Lubbock Sunday after visiting at home several days.

Claude Barker and Earl Dodd spent Thanksgiving at their homes in Canadian.

Everett Perkins returned Sunday from Amarillo where he spent the holidays visiting friends.

Tech Picadors Down Simmons Freshman By Score 25-6

Team Scores In 2nd, 3rd, And 4th Quarters

Simmons Freshman Make Only Touchdown By Long Pass; Picadors Put Over Two Couaters In 2nd Period

Competing with an eleven of more their class, the Texas Tech Picadors chalked up their first victory of the season when they met and defeated the Simmons University Freshmen with a 25 to 6 win. Although the score suggests a one-sided affair, the fish from Abilene made the fray one of the most interesting one of the season to be played on the local field.

Until this game, the Tech Smithmen have been drilled to almost perfection on the defense and offensive play seemed to have been lacking. Although the same strong defense probably made the score stand as it is, several backs proved their ability at totting the oval. Pass defense for the Tech Fresh was above par, with many intercepted passes accounting for long gains.

Byron Outstanding for Visitors
W. I. Byron, quarterback for Simmons, was outstanding for the visitors. Besides tossing many passes and doing the punting, he crashed the Tech forwards for several nice gains. Trammel was another back who excelled in passing for long gains. Two of his passes sailed accurately and bullet-like for 35 and 23 yards. These two long tosses were good for the only touchdowns for the Simmons Freshman. Although the Simmons crew passed consistently and brilliantly, the Tech backs batted down and intercepted the majority most of their attempts in the air.

The first period ended with neither eleven able to score. The Simmons drove and passed down to the Tech 10 yard stripe. A series of plunges at the Tech forward wall failed and Price intercepted Byron's pass on his own 3 yard line and raced to midfield before he was hauled down.

The Picadors tallied twice in the second period. The first break came when Thompson, Simmons half-back, fumbled on his own 15 yard mark. Barton, Tech receiver, recovered the ball. Solis, outstanding freshman halfback for this season, picked up 3 and then Odum went over for the initial counter. Collins kicked the goal for point.

Odum Consistent Ground Gainer
Odum, quarterback for the Picadors, was undoubtedly the most consistent ground gainer for the locals. He seemed to be hitting his full stride, directing the eleven well and slipping through the line for many gains. When in scoring distance, Odum tried three times to score and in turn marked up that many touchdowns. Solis, who has been displaying remarkable form all season, was hardly up to his standard of play. Several fumbles robbed him of yardage. However, he managed to step off many yards to even things up for the day. Anthony at center, stepped almost every play through the line or was there to see it was well done. Baker, guard, was another potential man on the line. Yancy Price held down his wing position like a veteran. Price is a likely candidate for his position on the varsity squad next year. Besides his regular duties on the end, he intercepted several passes and on a round play, added 2 yards.

The Tech Freshman scored again when, after Solis had intercepted Byron's pass on Simmons 45 yard line and ran back to the 24-yard stripe, Odum gained 4, then passed to Price for a gain of 15 yards. Butts picked up two more. Odum went over for the second touchdown, which occurred late in the second quarter. Then Butts missed his kick for goal. The score stood

CLASS MEETING
The Seniors will meet December 1, in room 220 at 7:45 p. m. The plans for the Senior party will be discussed at this meeting. All Seniors are requested by Floyd Woolridge, president of the class, to be present.

Cupid doesn't even compare the scholastic records of this school with his fly his dart. Then it is too late. But Cupid is blind, and it is true.

At the half: Tech Fish 13; Simmons 0.

Anthony Intercepts Pass
Early in the third, Anthony intercepted Byron's pass on the Simmons 40 yard line and ran to the 15 yard mark. Odum and Collins each made 5 yards and then Odum went over the line for the third time. Butts failed to kick the goal for point.

Staging a rally in the last period, the Simmons crew passed their way to their first and only touchdown. After Collins kicked out of bounds on their own 38 yard line, Trammel drew back and heaved a pass for a good 35 yards. Tittle, Simmons end, took his pass but was unable to get away. On the next play, Trammel again tossed a nice pass to Byron, netting 25 yards on the play. There were only inches to go when Byron took the ball around end without being tackled. His kick for goal Tech-18.

After exchanging punts several times, Nichols for Tech, intercepted Byron's pass on his 37 yard line and returned 21 yards. With the ball on the 16 yard line, Collins drove straight through the line and cut out, making the required yardage and a touchdown. Try for point was wide.

The game ended after Dunnivan had intercepted Byron's pass on his 48 yard line and raced to the 15 yard line. He advanced the ball 5 more yards as the gun fired. The game ended with the score standing: Simmons Fresh-6; Tech-25.

Price did the punting for Tech while in the game, getting off some nice punts with distance and accuracy. Nichols also booted for Tech. Byron, Simmons, proved his ability in that line, also.

El Toro

The coming tilt with the Simmons University Cowboys is the primary topic on the Tech Campus. El Toro joins in with the cry of the students, "Beat Simmons". Thanksgiving day will see the Tech Matadors entertaining the Cowboys on our home field. It is also homecoming day for alumni and exes. Students, this is YOUR day to show the ex-students and graduates how to REALLY yell. Be there!

Thanksgiving Day will be the last time the 1930 Matadors will do battle. For several it will be the last time to wear the Scarlet and Black of Texas Tech. El Toro believes in these men and is certain they will put up the best battle of their college career on the grid. Waller, Brothers, Hodges, Vinzant, Woolridge and others will make their farewell appearance. If you have never "yelled" my ball, you can imagine what a painful thing this really is!

If you were unable to attend the fish game last Friday, this is to let you know you missed a good scrap. You have probably heard the expression, "Those fighting fish" but to appreciate this, you should see them in action. Coach Smith has certainly drilled hard, accurate tackling into them. Several of the boys showed remarkable ability at totting the pigskin. 1931 Matador stock soared several points!

To those who are unknowing to the fact that one of the largest bonfires in the history of this school will be lighted next Wednesday night, El Toro tells you here and now—if you want to miss some real fun, just fall to sleep Wednesday night. Contagious pep, bursting yells, all—oh, 'twill be a gala night.

Students, don't fail to attend each pep rally. You owe your support to these Matadors. They have worked hard, as well as their coaches, for you. Surely, you can give them at least thirty minutes of your time for these pep rallies. To you who never attend, El Toro promises you that you will not be sorry you came. To you who gripe about losing football games, what have you done to help? Have you attended pep meetings? Have you attended games and yelled your head off?

Some may not think pep meetings and bonfires help teams. Of course, it was more or less an upset, but Clyde Littlefield, coach at Texas University, gave that big bonfire and rally, staged at Houston before the Texas-Rice game, as one of the reasons Rice beat Texas. They were inspired to fight and undoubtedly, they did.

The Southwest Conference race is practically sailed away. Texas University has only to defeat the Aggies of Texas A. and M. on Turkey Day to take the flag. The Aggies are on the bottom of the race and everything points to a Texas win. T. C. U. were heavy favorites at the opening of the season. Last week, they took a humiliating defeat by the lads of Baylor.

Arsenal Built By M. S. Department

An arsenal has been constructed by the military science department and is located next to the mimeograph room in the basement of the administration building. Heretofore the arms have been stored in Captain Kilian's office, but with a separate room for this purpose a great deal more space will be available for office work. It will also give each man better opportunity to keep his equipment in first class shape for the periodical inspections.

Donate Herefords To College Herd

Two Hereford heifers, Bright Lars and Miss Mixture VI, have been added to the Tech Hereford breeding herd. They were donated to the college by Messrs. F. A. Mitchell and son, and F. C. McHard, "Hereford" breeders of Marfa, Texas. The heifers were personally selected by Mr. W. L. Stangel and Mr. T. W. Caston during the Hereford Show at Marfa, October 7 to 10, and they represent the outstanding females of this year's calf crop.

Mr. Stangel was a judge of Herefords at the show.

Basketball practice is well under way. Coach Colightly is drilling his men regularly and everything points to a successful cage season at the Tech.

In closing, I might add that due to the absence of the regular writer in this column, I was asked to attempt to take his place. If I have said anything that would tend to lose readers of this column, I beg you to overlook it. A "Sub."

Annual Engineers Dance Is Staged

The Uptown Dance Palace was the scene Saturday night of the fourth annual Engineering ball. Approximately two hundred and fifty college students, townspeople, and out of town people were in attendance.

The engineers and their guests danced beneath a lattice canopy of gold and blue. These are the colors of the Engineering Society and although centered about the orchestra box were carried to the far corners of the auditorium.

Spot lights played on the dancers constantly and marked the path of the grand march, led by Winnifred A. Wardell, president of the Engineering Society, and Miss Virginia Smallwood.

Invitations were sent to faculty members of the college and to all alumni of the society, and to many friends of the members outside the college.

The hosts for the evening were officers of the society. They were: R. C. Brummett, vice-president; John A. Davis, secretary; and Wilbur Pearson, treasurer. Earney Brady, Gary Lodal, and James Atcheson composed the committee which arranged for the dance.

Chaperones for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Carl D. Brandt and Mr. and Mrs. F. L. McRee.

If the Tech is to maintain her democracy, every student should at least have the opportunity of belonging to an exclusive club; therefore, fifty additional clubs must be organized at once—maybe forty would do.

Most students are majoring in football—without a minor. If you doubt this, try to find the student who looks forward to examinations with greater pleasure than he does football games.

EDUCATIONAL PROJECT

Since schools to teach one this or that Are being started every day, I have a plan, a notion past, Of one which I am sure would pay.

'Twould be a venture strictly new, No shaking up of dusty bones; How does the scheme appeal to you? A regular school for chaperones! One course would be to dull the ear And one would be to dim the eye, So whispered love they'd never hear And glance coquetish never spy. They'd be taught somnolence, and how Ofttimes closed eye for sleep atones;

Had I a million, I'd endow— A regular school for chaperones! There's crying need in West and East For graduates, and not a course Supplying it. Some one at least Should start a correspondence course;

But joy will scarce o'erturn the cup Of maidenhood, my candor owns, Till some skilled Mentors opens up A regular school for chaperones!

A PRAYER ON THANKSGIVING

Not for the joys that I have known, Not for the past that has been sweet— Today I kneel, God, at your feet, I kneel, though tired and alone, To thank You for the mystery Of hours to come; and that the fire Of youth still burns . . . for the desire To meet the years that are to be!

The path—it may be hard to go, I may know poverty and pain; I may be bowed by springtime rain. Beneath the weight of winter snow, I may find loss and sore distress, Vague disappointments may be mine; But still the far horizon's line Will hold trail dreams for me to guess!

And, with a drifting, keen delight, My eager, searching eyes may glance Upon an autumn tree's romance; I may be sure that stars, at night, Will shine for me when all the way Is hard to go; that there is mirth To well the sorrows of the earth. So, Father, not for yesterday

Do I give thanks . . . although it made My heart and soul know rapture's thrill; For, God, tomorrow waits me still. Oh, may I meet it unafraid! The past is done—'t's tapestry Is background for new scenes that shift; Today I thank you for the gift Of all that you have planned for me.

—Margaret E. Sangster

Tech Students In Dairy Dept. To Make Trip

First Stop To Be Made At Hico; Group To Inspect Carnation Milk Co's Plant At Schulenburg

The Tech Department of Dairy Manufacturers Tour will leave Lubbock Thursday under the direction of Professor H. J. Bower immediately following the football game and spend that night in Abilene. Friday the students will stop at Hico and visit the plant of the Bell Ice Cream Company, a condenser and cold storage plant.

At Waco the plant of the Borden Milk Company will be visited. This is a combined condensing and powdering plant, and there the Merrill-Sewell process of drying milk will be studied. This plant has a capacity of 100,000 gallons of milk a day, and is entirely different from the roller process that is used at also.

On Saturday morning, the Dairy Department of A. & M. College at College Station will be inspected. Professor Renner's brother, E. W. Renner is in charge of the department.

The afternoon will be spent at the plant of the Carnation Milk Company at Schulenburg. The plant was erected last year. It is from this plant that much of the condensed milk used in the state comes.

In San Antonio the next day the Miltetoe Creamery will be visited. This is a combined butter, ice cream, market milk, and condensed milk plant. Other plants in the city will be visited provided there is sufficient time.

From San Antonio the party will inspect the Southwest Dairy Products plant in San Angelo, and the West Texas Milk Products plant at Lamesa on Monday or Tuesday.

Members of the party will be: Frank Kemp, Morris Vanney, Albert Lockwood, James Holcomb, and Professor H. J. Bower.

Tech Rifle Team Offers Challenge For Two Day Meet

An effort is being made by Captain Hugh E. Killin to bring the Texas School of Mines rifle team here for a two-day tournament beginning December 5, with firing on the sub-caliber range the first day and on the 30 caliber range the second day. Last year the Tech team defeated the Mines in two contests with the high powered rifle, but they did not meet on the small bore range and the Tech riflemen are anxious to determine which school has the best all-round team.

Challenges of following schools have been accepted for matches on the indoor range, to be fired on the dates indicated: New York Stock Exchange rifle team; Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn; University of Cincinnati; March 7; University of Washington, February 28; and University of Pittsburgh, March 21. The date for the quadruple tournament at Roswell on the 30 range, to be participated in by Texas Tech, New Mexico Military Institute, University of Arizona, and the Texas School of Mines, has not been definitely decided upon. The Tech rifle club has issued challenges to several schools, and these will be announced as soon as they have been accepted, according to H. P. Hopkins, secretary of the club.

Evans president of the State Teachers College at San Marcos, all of whom spoke of the unusually large enrollment and the bright future of the institution.

The students and visitors assembled around the improvised platform erected in front of the administration building but due to threatening weather were forced to resort to the cloister on the south of the building.

Of course, now, we're not going to get up an argument on evolution; but some (shirt)-tails were absolutely in order last Saturday evening after the Tech Matadors made their grand stand for the Tech.

Said shirt tail parade consisting of about 250 boys, just naturally made things hum around old Hub Town for about two hours.

Forming at the Methodist church at 7 o'clock a combination of follow-the-leader and snake dance was formed, and the fun began. Round and in, out and around again, down through the business part of town, into stores and out again, the gang made its way. Pep was no word for it when these guys started to make things lively.

Textile Students Await The Return Of Graduates

Only five colleges in the United States have complete engineering schools including textile engineering, and Texas Tech has the distinction of being one of the five. The textile engineering department of Tech also has the most modern equipment of any of these schools, according to Mr. Brandt, and it is the only one west of the Mississippi river.

The large business corporations of the United States realize the importance of the Texas Tech textile department for they are sending donations of their respective products to this department. These donations are of the very best made and are therefore very expensive. The department only recently received a donation of seventy-five pounds of Durene cotton yarn from the Durene Yarn Company in New York City.

The cost of this yarn would be one hundred and fifty dollars. The textile students are going to make large red and black Texas Tech handkerchiefs from this yarn, which will be sold to students and the proceeds will go to the department. Many other donations have been made. These include ten pounds of rayon yarn from the American Company, Elizabeth, Tennessee, and eight thousand heddles from the Heddles Manufacturing Company, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. A large amount of rayon thread, which was dyed by the Carolina Dyeing and Finishing Company, will be used by the department to make cloth for exhibition. There was also a donation from another department in the college. The agriculture department gave pure wool to be used as experimental material.

TO OFFER COURSE

Mr. Brandt says that some knowledge of textile is very important in everybody's education, in order for him to speak intelligently on the subject of materials, and still more important in order for him to be able to recognize and distinguish between materials. In view of this Mr. Brandt has arranged for a class to be offered in this line. The winter term will consist of studying cloth analysis and weaving and the spring term in dyeing and finishing. These classes will be very interesting as the equipment is the best and the lectures will be done with all of these machines. There is no pre-request to this class. The technical parts will be dealt with in a simple manner so that it will be possible for any one to take this course regardless of his classification.

Await Return

The students of the textile engineering are eagerly awaiting the return of their graduates at home coming, and it is hoped that many will be able to come back. These graduates hold important positions in companies in different parts of the country. The graduates are: Charles Woolridge '30, Jack Maddox '29, who are working in Dallas in the textile department of the Texas Power and Light Company. Clyde Williams '29 and Julie Love '29 are with the Goodyear Rubber Company in Rockmart, Georgia. Ray Thomas '29 is with a textile manufacture in Akron, Ohio. Nat (Pop) King '29 is with the Calaway Mills Incorporation in La Grang, Georgia. Rudd Harclady '29 is working with the Devenport Hosiery Company in Chattanooga, Tennessee, and De Witt McGhee.

THE LIGHT OF YOUTH

There are gains for all our losses. There are balm for all our pain: But when youth, the dream, departs It takes something from our hearts And it never comes again. We are stronger, we are better, Under manhood's sterner reign: Still we feel that something sweet Followed youth, with flying feet And will never come again. Something beautiful is vanished, And we sigh for it in vain: We behold it everywhere, On the earth and in the air, But it never comes again. —Richard Henry Stoddard.

DEAN LEIDIGH GETS LETTER

Dean Leidigh has received a letter from Professor Mortenson, of Iowa University who met the Senior Stock Judging Team when they visited the University. In his letter he speaks very highly of the team congratulates Tech on having such a fine group of representatives from the college.

A required course in social etiquette might be helpful to some students.

After deliberating for more than a week over applications of students or annual work, the committee on nominations, recently appointed by the press club reported to the club Monday night, recommending Tom B. Morrison and James Biggers to lead the annual staff as business manager and editor-in-chief respectively. Morrison is to be assisted by W. O. Hancock and C. L. Houston, while Eugene Jordan and Miss Mary Steele will assist Biggers on the editorial staff.

TO GRAVEL DRIVE-WAY

The ground in front of the administration building is being plowed and prepared for leveling. Gravel is expected to arrive in a few days and the main drive way and the parking space in front of the administration building will be gravelled. The present road in front of the sd building will be abandoned and converted into the main drive way.

A lighting system is being worked out; all the wires will run through a tunnel which has already been made.

FISH CLASS MEETS

Answering the summons of President Ernie Reed, the Fish met at the "mule barn" Monday night to discuss various fish problems. The social committee which met during the week reported an interesting party which will be given soon.

After a brief discussion, an interesting talk from the sponsor, Mr. Ford, it was voted that the Fish deserved a student council and will select their representatives soon. Another interesting subject discussed was that of the Fish caps. A committee was appointed to investigate the matter.

NICKLOUS IS FIRST CAPTAIN

Directly preceding the game with McMurry the Texas Tech. Grid Batters elected their team captains. These being nominated for the position, which probably carries more honor with it than any other captainship of football teams, because it was the first captain of a team which will probably be one of the greatest teams that Texas or any other state has witnessed, were Gene Alford, Red Smith, Red Carpenter, and Windy Nicklaus.

Nicklaus was chosen captain of the team and Red Carpenter was named line captain. To these men fell the honor of leading the Tech Matadors through their first game of victory.

FIRST ASSEMBLY

The first assembly of the student body of Texas Tech was held at 10:00 o'clock Thursday morning with a good representation of more than seven hundred students and faculty present. This first gathering
