Sports During Next Term To Be Intramural

Boxing And Wrestling Candidates Being Whipped Into Shape; Eliminations To Be Classes Compete

Held At Next Fun Fight Track Workouts Begin First Week In Spring Term; Letter Men Not Eligible To Enter Contest

Because varsity track has been completely cut out of the spring picture at Texas Tech the announcement is made that greater emphasis will be placed on intramural sports than heretofore.

Intramural boxing and wrestling candidates are being whipped into shape under the direction of Coach Del Morgan. First round eliminations of the more than fifty aspirants will be next week with the final show at the College Fun Night March 21.

Every weight division is represented from over two hundred pounds down to the bantam-weights. Coach Morgan announces that a suitable mat will be ready for the eliminations in wrestling and boxing.

Team Managers Meet Friday Morgan asks all class presidents and men interested in managing teams from the boxers, the "T"s, and the "Army" to meet with him Friday afternoon at 5 p. m. in the gymnasium to discuss organization of the teams. This year leagues composed of the different schools will be organized. Each class in the different schools will enter a team to play a double round robin schedule. Winners in the different divisions will meet to determine the college intramural champion. Games will start the first week of the spring term and end about the middle of May. All except varsity letter-men are eligible.

Intramural track workouts begin at the same time and continue through the first half of May. Varsity letter-men on the different squads should make the season interesting from the spectator's standpoint.

To the boxing and wrestling contests a charge of five cents and presentation of student activity tickets or ten cents without the tickets will be required of those entering as spectators.

Textile Studs Writes Article

"Effects Of Twist" Is Subject Of Story Written By Wardell For "Textile World" Magazine

"Effects of Twist" is the title of an article that appeared in the February edition of the "Textile World" written by Winifred A. Wardell, senior student in the school of textile engineering.

The information was compiled by Mr. Wardell through a research in the spinning and testing laboratories of the textile department.

Determining the relation between twist per inch and strength, contraction, elongation or elasticity and increase in weight and uniformity; tests were made on a specified size of yarn.

Wardell, as a part of his senior work, made each test and recorded the results. The information obtained may be of value to the textile mills over the country, according to Professor Carl Brandt, head of the textile department.

Texas Tech Exes Form Association

Forming a Tech ex-student association was the result recently of a meeting held in Dallas of a group of Tech exes, according to a letter received from Jack Maddox, a Tech graduate now employed by the Texas Power and Light company in Dallas, Texas.

The body will be composed not only of graduates but ex-undergraduate students as well. The group will meet again on March 28 to work out the association more in detail.

Charlie Woodridge, '30 graduate, was elected president of the new association, and Anthony J. Grinkle was elected vice-president.

W. C. Morgan is residing in Hereford now.

Texas History Reviewed By Toreador Staff Writer

BY K. L. HART Monday marked the ninety-fifth anniversary of Texas Independence Day. Short items in newspapers and closing of bank doors were the only reminders of the tremendously significant events that occurred less than a century ago. Brief homage was paid the pioneers who by their sacrifice opened the way for the development of Texas from a wilderness to the magnificent empire that she is today.

It is perhaps necessary to refresh our memories with the events that led to the meeting of the first Constitutional Convention of Texas at old Washington on the Brazos, March 1, 1836, and to the adoption of a Declaration of Independence on the following day.

Turning back through the years we find that the causes of the Revolution were many and fundamental. The imprisonment of distinguished Texans caused the first furor at Anahuac when release of the men was agreed to and then violated. A violent conflict ensued. The news spread and a force of volunteers on their way to effect release of the men were refused permission to sail from Velasco. So they proceeded to capture the fort. These were the first conflicts between the Texans and the Mexican army followed in a short time as the outbreak of the revolution was at hand.

The capture of Gonzales was the first battle of the revolution. It was followed by the capture of Goliad and the march on San Antonio. This was the beginning of the campaign of 1835. After the storming of Bexar (San Antonio) the Mexicans were driven out of Texas. At the General Consultation at San Felipe, November 3, 1835, a provisional government was organized with a declaration of independence instead of a declaration of independence. Following this was the organization of the army and the calamitous Matamoros Expedition with its disastrous influence and resulting in the campaigns of 1835-36. On the heels of the second invasion of Texas by a Mexican army, led by Santa Anna in person, was the growth of sentiment in favor of absolute independence and the calling of a general convention for that purpose that resulted in the meeting at Washington on the Brazos.

But Texas was not to secure her independence so easily. Military campaigns were marked by the fall of the Alamo, the battle of the Coleto, the massacre of Texan prisoners at Goliad, and Houston's campaign that ended the war by the defeat of the Mexicans at San Jacinto.

Troubles of the young republic continued until annexation to the United States was brought about in 1846. Plans now under way by descendants of these empire builders are for a celebration in 1936 that will honor the memory of the early Texans in a way befitting the event.

Six A And M Aggies Visit Tech Campus

Stock Judging Team Spends Two Days Here Judging Tech Live Stock; Left Yesterday For Fort Worth

Six Texas Aggies have been in Lubbock since Monday morning, staying at the Hotel Lubbock. They came to Lubbock in order to do some practice stock judging preparatory to their going to the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show where they will judge on all types of stock. While in Lubbock, they spent two days in judging ten types of livestock.

Mr. R. M. Milhollin, the Aggie coach said that he was well pleased with the type of stock that his team has had the opportunity of judging and that he is very much satisfied with the courteous treatment given his party while they were in Lubbock by the members of the Tech Agge School.

The Texas Aggie Junior stock judging team is composed of the following boys: G. W. Davis, San Antonio, C. M. Garaway, Comyn, H. F. Kohman, Mason, L. C. Ransom, Lamesa, C. E. Reese, Hillsboro, R. J. Von Roeder, Yortown, and Mr. R. M. Milhollin, the Coach. The party left Wednesday for Fort Worth for the Fat Stock Show.

Tech Students Attend Meet

Conference Of North Texas Students Is Held On Campus At S. M. U. Last Friday And Saturday

Ten students, accompanied by Mr. Jack Boyd and Miss Jo Wilder, secretaries of the YMCA and YWCA respectively, attended the North Texas Students conference held in Dallas last Friday.

The meeting was held on the campus of Southern Methodist University under the auspices of the National councils of the YMCA-YWCA, Student Volunteer movement, and the Methodist Student Federation of Texas.

The theme of the conference was "The Place of Religion in Higher Education." According to Jack Boyd the programs and lectures were of interesting and helpful nature. In an interview with Mr. Boyd, he said: "The conference was a success and much benefit was gained from it. The most trying part of attending the conference was the trip back home in all the mud and snow. We left Dallas Sunday morning at 10 o'clock and arrived in Lubbock at 6 o'clock Monday morning."

The final run-off vote will be taken for representative in the Advocate European Tour Contest, next Sunday evening at the First Methodist Church Young People's Open House. Miss Lizzie Belle Clements and Miss Lily Gaye Rodgers are nominees. Bob Martin says there is widespread interest in the run-off.

Appropriation Approved By State Senate

Tech Summer School Fund May Not Exceed $21,000 Or $6,000 Less Than Amount Requested

Authorities of Texas Tech may face the difficulty of operating the two summer sessions on $6,000 less than the appropriation asked the legislature. Instead of $35,000 the house and senate have agreed to appropriate the college $21,000 for summer expenses. This action awaits the signature of Governor Ross Sterling.

By a decision of the house and senate free conference last Monday the house proposed $250,000 for state summer schools was increased $4,000. Of this sum $3,000 was added to the fund for North Texas Junior College and a similar amount for Sul Ross Teachers College.

Deliberation on the appropriation began last week. The house rejected the senate's first proposal of $293,175 and later refused to pass another senate proposal of $250,500 for use of the summer schools.

Dallas Exes In Annual Banquet

(Special To The Toreador) DALLAS, Tex.—Twelve ex-Texas Tech students gathered here in the Baker Hotel last Saturday evening to celebrate the annual Tech Engineering banquet. Telegrams were exchanged with other groups holding similar affairs.

During the evenings entertainment programs were given by the organization of all former Tech students here regardless of class or departmental affiliations. This organization will meet to make final plans on March 28.

Former Techsters in attendance: Anthony Grinkle, Stanley Eron, Charles Woodridge, Houston Hill, C. R. Craver, Charles Colvin, W. R. Sheeley, H. A. Hill, J. S. Steinebaugh, Willie Guthrie, Jack Maddox, and Bernard Schmidt.

Miss Kathleen Watkins Wins High Score In Girls' Match

Kathleen Watkins, a sophomore in the school of Home Economics, made the highest score in the Girls' Rifle club for the week ending February 28. She made a score of 94 out of a possible 100 points.

Virginia Hersh was the second highest score of 93, while Jo Coveri and Marie Bostick scored 91 and 89, respectively. Eva Rob Watkins, Lillian Eklund and Alice West ranked fifth with a score of 88.

A special meeting of the club has been called by Jo Coveri, president, tonight in room 229 of the administration building.

Teachers Meet Program Has Been Planned

Northwest Texas Teachers Will Meet At Tech, April 10 And 11; Prominent Men Are To Appear On Program

Announcement of the tentative program for the Northwest Texas Teachers association convention to be held here at the college April 10 and 11, has been made by the committee.

Several well known educators of the state are on the program. There will be general sessions, several group meetings, and a breakfast at the Hilton hotel on the morning of the second day for principals, superintendents and others interested.

Speakers will include: Dr. J. F. Zimmerman, president of the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque; Dr. L. H. Hubbard, president of the Texas State College for Women, Denton; Dr. J. A. Hill, president of West Texas State Teachers College, Canyon; Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological College; Dr. J. L. Henderson, University of Texas; C. E. Davis, superintendent at Quanah; W. A. McIntosh, superintendent at Amarillo; B. M. Dinsmore, superintendent at Electra; T. E. Carruth, superintendent at Canyon; V. Z. Rogers, superintendent at Lamesa; J. C. Cochran, president of the Texas State Teachers association; Roy Bedichek, executive of the Texas Interscholastic League; and Miss Bonnie K. Dybart, Texas Technological College.

Sessions will be held in the college gymnasium Friday night and Saturday morning and afternoon.

Scroll Letter Is Sent Ex-Student

A scroll letter written by members of the Architectural Society and faculty of the Architectural Department was sent to Lloyd Russell this week congratulating him on the writing of Liquid.

Mr. Russell, who received his degree last June, was a popular student of the Architectural Department. He is now working in Washington, D. C. for the U. S. Government as a Junior Architect. To Lloyd Jr. goes the honor of being the first son born to a graduate of the Architectural Department.

Track Letter Men Have Been Named

The athletic committee, recently announced letter men in track for last year. Those receiving the double "T" are as follows: Dennis Vinsant, Floyd Woodridge, Charles Woodridge, Hubert Hopper, "Slim" Wings, Leon Fisher, Alma Pace, "Red" Waller, Ameral Payne, Basil Hill, Capt. James H. Dallas and Dallas Waters.

Due to the strained financial conditions of the athletic department, it is not likely that sweaters will be awarded to the letter men.

Military Department Holds Court Martial Last Friday

At the first court martial of the year, the military science department, Emmitt McMahon was found guilty of a number of minor charges.

McMahon's sentence is that he shall, with the help of six members of the freshman class, clean the flag pole of all dirt and grease.

Co-eds Don Boots To Wade Snow Banks Piled By Wintery Breezes

Twenty-five hundred tons of snow, five hundred and six sneezes, three hundred and forty running noses, and a quarter million inches of wet stockings descended upon the campus late Saturday night to give the students a taste of winter a la Chicago.

A slight flurry of the Santa Claus decoration slipped from the clouds early in the evening to be followed later by a deluge of solidified moisture that would have sent the hardest Alaskan to cover. Dozens of students were caught by climatic conditions on the city golf course while scores found week-end sojourns into the wilds of Tahoka and Slaton "one too pleasant."

Students headed the threatening clouds and remained in their rooms to catch five heart bids, full houses, and snake eyes. One "Teddy" hazelwood, however, reports having "caught a double barrel cold as the Der Brother Lennard had jerked the village curfew."

Letter Men Stage First 'T' Minstrel

Black Face Show Proves To Be Big Hit With Audience; Cawthon Awards Trophies To Football Men

The first annual "T" club minstrel March 25 at the high school auditorium was successful both financially and in giving the audience the laughs needed to banish all cares and troubles.

Frank Stone's Collegians, opened the program with a novelty feature "Oleomargarine" that was well received, and then the curtain went up as the black-face men's chorus rolled out a snappy song "Good Evening."

As the final words ended in the second number the blackest girls of the evening danced out on the stage and did their Georgian Quartet number. The four girls: Ellen Graves, Jean Shelby Jennings, Cecile Horne, and Sue Brown tripped their own interpretation of the light fantastic in this one to get a great big hand when they went off the stage. As to why they got the big hand can be left entirely to the imagination of the reader.

"Them There Eyes" Mose Witherspoon and Fish Crenshaw put on a novel number "Them There Eyes" that pleased the spectators especially those in the first rows.

The Washington Lee Swing by Frank Stone with the assistance of his squeeze-box was good for an encore.

"I Still Get A Thrill" as demonstrated by the glee chorus brought the first part of the program to an end.

"Between the Acts" as they are called furnished some more good entertainment. Coach Cawthon awarded a trophy with "Varsity's hardest working man" engraved on it to Jay Freshman, Gaver and Barton, tied for the freshman hardest working trophy.

Give Walter Clog the Collegians opened the second half of the program. A waltz clog featuring Mildred Price, Frances Woodridge and Mary Ann Grier, was good enough to rate an encore.

And then came the evening's premier soloist, who, according to Dr. W. A. Jackson, interlocutor, had recently completed another season with the Metropolitan Opera Company of Big Spring, Texas. It was none other than "Crooning" Jack Flowers who was secured only after the exchange of many telegrams and the program makers and a certain warden. His number "Ding Dong Daddy" was somewhat below his usual standard but Harold Betterson helped him pull it over.

The girls' clog in the abbreviated costumes sang a light number "Sweet As Sugar" and the Men's Chorus nodded their heads as if agreeing with the songbirds.

Bill Sewell made good away from the coming Sunday. Major Stuart, low down on the St. Louis Blues. Several people were seen leaving probably because of breaking hearts. Lewis Walker's tap dance was an excellent example of footwork and the farewell by the entire chorus was the specialty reach for their hats but not soon enough to miss singing the Matador Song. And so the curtain came down at last on the best amateur performance staged by Tech students in months if we omit "Mauler" Al Simmons last season against two freshmen at the first College Fun Night.

Miss Lily Gaye Rodgers says that the Mexican Sociable planned for last Sunday evening will be carried out for the Open House at the First Methodist church at five-thirty the coming Sunday. Major Stuart, games, orchestra, male quartets, and eats will be on the program. An invitation is given to come and bring a friend.

Co-eds Don Boots To Wade Snow Banks Piled By Wintery Breezes

Cars found the going hard. Some refused to move. As many as fifty autos bringing the youth of the city to school were delayed at the intersection of Broadway and College avenue. Six inches of slush made it almost impossible for jay-walkers to push the trail to slight clock. One co-ed solved the transportation problem by riding a pony.

Snow Ball Fights Snow ice cream, snowball fights, and booted co-eds featured the week-end donation by nature. Armed with baskets of snowballs a gang of youths took up fortifications on the roof of Cheri Casa to give the passerby a real feeling of winter. Snowball fights prevailed over a wide area.

With the advent of sunshine and warmer weather the streets became razing torrents of muddy ice water. One casual observer reports having noticed three professors squatting on curbstones holding long bamboo poles. Awards for the prize fish story have not been announced.

It is rumored that one ambitious zoology instructor escorted his laboratory class on an "ice-worm" catching trip. Students report the sport almost as interesting as chasing butterflies at the college dairy.

Revises Music

Harry LeMaire, band director of Texas Tech composes new music for "Matador" song.

New Music Is Adopted For Matador Song

No Change Is Made In Words But A Slight Change In The Music Was Found To Be Necessary

Because of controversy over similarity of music of the Tech year book "Matadors," with that of Notre Dame's official fight song, Harry LeMaire, Tech band director, has written new music for the song. The words have not been changed.

This song, written last spring by R. C. Marshall, editor of La Ventana, was the outgrowth of a long felt need for a song of this nature for the college. The song was formally adopted by the student body at a convocation held last spring. The new music is as much as the original that the students body will be

These changes at this time last year and won with a margin of 47 points from the University of Southern California, but lost to the University of Washington by 27 points.

Similar matches are being filed this week with the New York State Exchange team, the University of Cincinnati, and Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn.

The matches are scheduled for the week ending March 21 with the University of Pittsburgh and the University of Vermont.

Tech Gunmen Defeated By Texas Miners

Rifle Team Goes To El Paso Where Contest Is Held With School Of Mines; To Return Match At Later Date

The Texas School of Mines rifle team gained its first victory over a rifle team from this college in a match held last Friday and Saturday in El Paso.

A second match will be filed with the School of Mines March 21 on the local range.

The high point Tech man in the match Friday was R. E. Rogers, while Capt. Hudson, McWilliams, Bagwell, and Adams ranked second, third, fourth and fifth respectively. McWilliams was high point man Saturday, with Adams second, Rogers third, Hudson fourth, Redinger fifth, and Bagwell sixth.

The team, accompanied by Captain H. E. Killin, head of the Military science department, left Lubbock Thursday afternoon and returned Sunday.

Members of the School of Mines team were: Faust, White, Ord, Lockridge, Mulcahy, and Miss Helen Jackson.

College Mixer Is Planned Tomorrow

Featuring a co-ed style show in which several leading men of the campus will take part, the Tech Association of Women students will entertain with a college-mixer at Cheri Casa tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Admission will be twenty-five cents each.

Miss Zella Riegal, member of the Tech physical education department, will have charge of the games and plenty of fun is promised for the entertainment.

Tomorrow night's event will be the first all-college mixer for several months. Miss Lily Gaye Rodgers, Lubbock, is president of the association which is sponsoring the attraction.

Judging Team To Compete At Show

Six Aggies Leave Today For Annual Fat Stock Show Held In Fort Worth

Coker Offers Opportunity To Get Pictures In Annual

The first ten liberal arts freshmen, the first three sophomore freshmen agrees that have their pictures made before Saturday of this week may get them in the 1930-31 La Ventana, according to F. M. Coker, business manager of the annual.

"This affords a chance for those failing to have their picture made before February 1 to still get a picture in the year book," Coker says. "There is a limited space," continued Coker, "and only those acting the quickest will get their picture accepted."

First Postal Rifle Matches Of Year Held

Matches Fired With Teams From The University Of Washington And University Of Southern California

The first postal rifle matches of the year by the Tech rifle team were fired last week with teams from the University of Washington and the University of Southern California. The scores have been sent to these schools and the winners of the matches will be determined when their scores are received by this college.

The five high point men fired were Cadets Kuhn, Fisher, Chapman, Rogers and Hudson.

These teams at this time last year and won with a margin of 47 points from the University of Southern California, but lost to the University of Washington by 27 points.

Similar matches are being fired this week with the New York State Exchange team, the University of Cincinnati, and Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn.

The matches are scheduled for the week ending March 21 with the University of Pittsburgh and the University of Vermont.

YWCA Group To Have Music

Committee Will Have Charge Of Program At Methodist Church Each Sunday; A Melendez Is Pastor

Members of the YWCA music committee will be in charge of the music program Sunday at the Methodist church, of which A. Melendez, a sophomore in the school of Liberal Arts, is pastor. The first program will be given next Sunday afternoon.

According to Marie Price, president of the committee, plans are now under way to give some member of the committee to give piano lessons to one or several members of this church, in order that they may better conduct their own musical program.

M. F. M. Gause, piano technician, recently tuned the church piano, at the request of the music committee.

MEETS TONIGHT

Regular meeting of the Math club will be held tonight in room 206 of the administration building. Lonnie Langston, C. C. Reddifer, and Warren Richison will have charge of the program.

The "T" club is extremely grateful and wish to extend their thanks to Miss Zella Riegal for the effort that they put forth in presenting the show.

Thanks, also, goes to Floyd Woodridge, and Jack Durham, lettermen and managers of the show, from the association for their splendid work.

EXPRESS APPRECIATION

The "T" association wishes to express their appreciation to all who took part in the staging of their first minstrel on Wednesday night, February 25.

WHERE TO, ATHLETICS?

Sport pages the past week were decked in glaring headlines announcing that Tech had dropped all spring inter-collegiate athletics while St. Mary's of San Antonio has tossed the sponge to football.

These two news items carry significant relationship. Both schools were to meet on the grid-iron here next fall. Tech must now look for another opponent and from all indications it will be Baylor. The addition of the Bears to the Matadors schedule present Coach Cawthon with an opportunity that the St. Mary's game did not offer; namely, a chance to defeat a strong Southwestern conference eleven. Check up a score for Tech as the result of the San Antonio school forsaking football.

As to the elimination of inter-collegiate track, baseball and tennis in the Matador camp. That ruling is only tentative and in itself will be of more value to the individual student than would an extensive inter-collegiate campaign. All Texas Tech can participate in the intramural events and by doing so develop Tech track and baseball to the standard maintained in Southwestern conference schools. Then when Tech is ready to take on the world the Matadors will show flying heels and home-runs to their opponents.

In passing it might be said that St. Mary's officials have a right to their own opinion and we are glad that they have acted as they have.

TEXAS INDEPENDENCE

Almost a hundred years ago fifty-eight brave-spirited Texans met at old Washington on the Brazos in the first Constitutional convention of Texas to draw up a Declaration of Independence. On March 2, 1836 the declaration was unanimously signed by the members present.

This was the beginning of the Republic of Texas which present in the pages of history courageous men fighting fearlessly for freedom and for what they thought was right. Undaunted by hardships the Texans launched a Republic bounded upon the north by the United States and the south by Mexico. Here, between the greatest English speaking nation and one of the leading Spanish speaking countries, the plucky Texans set up their independence.

From the Pecos to the Sabine and from the Red to the Rio Grande every native knows the glorious past of his State. However, once each year it is fitting that the industry of the state pause for a moment in exalted reminiscences of the deeds of Houston, Bowie, Travis and Austin.

We are proud of our state. We have every reason to feel the deepest loyalty to the former Republic and to the men that made possible the most thrilling state history of all the forty-eight divisions of our nation.

Under six flags but under the present one to stay.

GHOST STORIES REVIVED
People of Portchester, England, are more certain than ever that ghosts inhabit the famous ancient castle of the place. They point to the recent finding of three skeletons at a spot where they say ghosts were definitely seen to vanish on at least three separate occasions last winter. The castle was once an early British camp, then a Roman fortress, later a Norman stronghold, and in the Napoleonic war a jail for French prisoners. Smallpox and other epidemics broke out several times among the French prisoners, and a great number of them died and were buried there. Portchester Castle has been designated by the government as an Ancient Monument, and the skeletons were un-earthed during repair work by Office of Works laborers.

Flop Marshall edits the annual Wayne Castleberry leads the Student Council. Jack Durham captains the Matador eleven. But after all John Chatsfield is the biggest man on the campus.

Here And There
With The Office Boy

Well folks interesting displays of freshman wisdom are always breaking out over the campus and elsewhere. Fish Freeman the boy from Cameron, says that he could learn Spanish much easier if the instructor would just let him talk in English all of the time. Funny how smart these freshmen pretend to be.

Pleasant memories always follow the annual engineer's banquet and this year it seems to be a greater success than ever before. Perfectly planned, the banquet in every instance proved triumphantly satisfactory from the good food to the hilariously uttered harangue (speech) of "Tanis" Strange.

While trying to get the cooked chicken unfolded readily with a knife and fork, I remembered reading about Dean Weeks endorsing the idea to eat chicken with the fingers (that is, pick the chicken up with the fingers but of course insert the fowl in the eating cavity) and there finish the good work and I proceeded to do so but found out that those around me certainly had not read the endorsement, and therefore looked at me as if I were straight from the sticks. I tried to let them know in a modest way that Dean Weeks and I thought along the same lines (on the chicken business) but they were still dubious as to whether I was another Samuel Johnson or just a unicultural brained animal. Nevertheless I manifested the chicken with an air of aristocratic satisfaction. You know—part of the chicken strung from ear to ear.

Christine Carter said that mama's little girl sure did get rolled in the snow last Monday morning and by no other than Red Waller, the woman hater.

And did the students get a big kick out of last Saturday's nights falling of the white flakes. Numerous kodaks taking pictures of everything that was covered with snow in Lubbock, held the upper-hand in popularity Sunday and Monday. Derbies and new hats were laid aside for fear of furnishing a perfect target to the hundreds of snow ball tossers.

Inquiring as to whether Samuel Johnson spelled his name with an "s" or just plain "son", I modestly asked the Avalanche Journal Sports writer which was correct. He replied "I don't know how you spell it but he wasn't a star football player." Now folks you who have the inspiration to write sports as a vacation need not worry about knowing anything further back than the last world series.

GETTING OUR NAMES IN THE PAPER

We have been getting more fan mail, but this seems to have been a brain-storm somebody had, rather than fan mail. It gives the impression of several people on the campus. It is copy so we will use some of it.

It seems that Kate Boyd gives the impression of snow-capped mountains, corn tassels and the like. They have you down about right, Kate.

Have you noticed how many of these boys are having to have their tonsils removed. Look at Ross Ayers. He can hardly talk—and to think—it all happened after he went to see one of our society editors!

Kenneth Hart had to have his removed also. We haven't figured out just what was the cause of that.

We heard a little comment on bits to the Las Vivarachas dance. Looks like there was a little trouble. There was Chris Carter with four dates for it!

We are going to change this to a classified column. You know the money that classified ads make—well, we are going to charge ten cents for putting names in. There are getting to be entirely too many wanting to see their names in print.

Francis Gunn has already paid us a dime. That a pre-issue sale. Looks like business will be good!

Jack Durham is quite modest and hasn't said that he wants his name in but you know these football boys get so spoiled during the season that they crave publicity all the time.

Looks like this snow just about fills the bill for us. Wasn't it well? And some of these poor fish had never seen any before. There's Fish Roy, who resides at Brownsville, that this was quite a treat to. And Sophie Sproule, a Gelvestonite had never seen any either.

The best we have heard is that one Tech co-ed solved the deep snow problem by riding her brother's pony to school. For further information see Miss Cecile Horne.

Johnie Robert Montgomery, a rather stout built engineering freshman from Brownwood is expecting an application blank for a job this summer with an geology company any day now. Johnie recently applied for this job but later happened to think that he never signed his name. Depend on Johnie to do things like that.

A snow-ball in the hand is worth a dozen on the head.

Marshall Formby is writing a book entitled "How to get the worm out of an apple."

Is lip stick really warpaint—or just to attract insects?

Too bad Tech doesn't belong to an athletic conference so some of the boys could make an "a-star" team.

Pauline Swenson of Tulla visited Miss Elizabeth Baird here during the past week-end.

Dr. Granbery Given Medal

Honor Bestowed Upon Tech History Head By Southern Council Of Scholarship Societies

At the annual meeting of the Council of the Scholarship Societies of the South held under the auspices of Baylor College at Belton, Texas, Friday and Saturday, February 20 and 21, Dr. John C. Granbery, of the History department of Texas Technological College, received a medal. It was beautifully designed and made distinctive by a diamond set. His name and the numbers 1923 and 1924 were engraved on the back. This medal or key was prepared for him as the first president of the Societies. Mr. H. Y. Benedict, president of Texas University, presented it to him at the banquet session held Friday evening at 7:00 o'clock.

All chapters of the organization are allowed to send one faculty member and one student member to each meeting. Most all of the larger colleges of Texas and neighboring states were represented this year. There was no official representative there this year from Tech. A chapter was organized here when Tech was only two years old but it has declined almost continually since it began. The purpose of this organization is to place scholarship on a higher plane. It is their belief that good scholars are not being given the credit due them.

The Cleveland Grays, famous volunteer regiment of soldiers, has existed 84 years.

Miners Bow To Matadors In Last Game

Tech Basketeers Close Season
With Win Over Texas School
Of Mines By The Score Of 42 To 23

The Tech Matadors brought their road trip and 1931 basketball season to a close in El Paso Saturday night by handing the Texas Mines 42 to 23 defeat. Flashing a powerful offense and a five man defense that forced the Miners to make long shots at the goal when they got the ball, they showed a complete reversal of form from the preceding night they couldn't get right after a long drive from upper New Mexico.

Hodges with 15 points was the Matadors scoring ace with Allen starting for the Miners. Tadlock and Dunn, guards, displayed a great guarding game.

On the night before the Matadors last half rally was not enough to bring victory. Twenty-nine to 23 the board read at the end of the game.

Fighting an up-hill battle all the way the Matadors looked like they were playing the last A. C. C. game over. The Miners were leading at the half 17 to 10, but four field goals in a row by Hodges followed by a shot by Fisher gave the Matadors a lead in the third quarter. Rallying in the fourth the Miners made the score 21 to 21 and after a quarter played on even terms Eady and Fridkin of the Miners looped two field goals in the last two minutes to nose out the Gophers.

IN TECH SOCIETY

Numerous Social Events On Program For This Week-end
Although the end of the fall term of school is near, a let-up is not being made in the social activities of the college. A number of clubs have entertainments scheduled for the coming week.

The Home Economics club of Texas Technological college will have a party this evening at 7:15 in the college tea room.

A student mixer is to be given Friday evening at Ober Casa. Miss Lilah Gaye Rodgers, president of the A. W. S. will be in charge.

Miss Catherine Jameson will be crowned queen at the annual junior prom of Tech Saturday evening in the college gymnasium. Elaborate plans have been made for the coronation.

New Members Presented By Las Vivarachas At Dance
Eight new members were presented to the Las Vivarachas Club Friday evening in the Uptown Dance Palace. The presentation was made in a colonial setting of violet and lavender with the lights paling to soft lavender while the orchestra played the club song, "Violets."

Those presented were Misses Lella Batchelor, Ouida Penitook, Ester Morrison, Mary Evelyn Woodson, Opal Parmer, Temple Boone, Louise Arrington, and Louise Garrison. Their escorts were Messrs. Buster Grimes, Sam Cautchen, Dick Minna, James H. Dallas, Tom Cudd, Julius Craver, James Henley, and Lynn Gray Gordon.

Large Colonial dolls were placed at intervals along an improvised fence of silver, which surrounded the dancing floor. Streamers of violet paper were extended in all directions from a gleaming crystal ball which hung from the ceiling. Flood lights were used with other lights which paled from purple to lavender.

At the orchestra pit the name of the club was placed and over the pit hung a huge replica of the emblem with white lights representing the pearls and orchid lights the diamonds.

An immense old-fashioned doll stood at the left of the room. Miss Milbria Pirtle, club president, formed the head of the doll when the presentation was made. Two little girls, Miley Irene Gregg and Nell Brooks, who opened a door in the skirt and the presentees appeared. Miss Pirtle announced names of the presentees.

The escorts stood by a gate-way in lattice work directly opposite the presentees. Presentees and escorts met in the center of the dance floor with one couple going to the right and the next to the left. The small girls were presented in a ballet dance just preceding the grand march, which was led by Miss Pirtle and Cecil Kestey.

Members attending were Miss Genevieve Deckert, Maxine Gwin, Helen Graves, Lesley Bullock, Clara Mae Bishop, Ada Ruth May, Patti Hopping, Kathleen Conrad, Sue

Brown, and Loraine Gable. Their escorts were Messrs. Otis Taylor, James Anthony, Wayne Castleberry, Frank Emison, J. D. Waller, Brock Penny, Travis Everett, Weaver Medlin, Wallace Smith, and Howard Hopkins.

Sponsors of the organization are Miss D'Laurel Beville, Mrs. J. S. Johnson, and they were in attendance together with their sponsors and their husbands who are Messrs. and Mesdames D. Z. Dobyas, Harry Roberia, George Simmons, J. E. Vickers, Thomas E. Pirtle, R. A. Mills, James Goodman, and Dr. and Mrs. Sam G. Dunn.

Mrs. Mary W. Doak was a special guest of the occasion.

Sans Souci Hosts At Tea Dance In Stevens' Home

With the use of peach blossoms and jonquils, a spring atmosphere was lent to the entertaining rooms of the W. O. Stevens home, 1405 Avenue O. Friday, when patronesses and sponsors of the Sans Souci club honored members and alumnae of the organization and their escorts with a tea-dance.

Club sponsors are Mrs. R. M. Chirwood and Miss Johnnie McCrery. The patronesses are Mesdames D. K. Bondurant, Stevens, Earl Hunt, C. E. Macgregor, J. E. Vickers, Floyd Beall, J. B. Crisler, and Miss Della Wilkinson.

Vases of peach blossoms were placed in the dining room and a small bud-vase of jonquils centered each table that was placed there. Guests were served at foursome tables.

Music was furnished throughout the receiving hours by Frank Stone's Collegians.

The guest list included Messrs. and Mesdames Weldon Hankins, W. D. Watkins, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Stiles, Misses Elizabeth Snyder of El Paso; Ruth Slaton, Blanche Bradley, Hazel Ligon, Kate Boyd, Tina Alexander, Virginia Conley, Dorothy Ochsner, Effie Smith, Mary Allen, Cornelia McCann, Mary Lee Bardwell, Lois Graves, Virginia Bacon, Cheville Whitehill, LeVerne Yowell, Christine Carter, Dorothy Bushing, Donna Vaughn, and Catherine Mitchell.

Messrs. Seth Cummings, W. H. Fowler, Arthur Evans, William Evans, Johnnie Keathley, Oscar Slaton, J. D. Waller, Thord Dochray, Tommy Watson, Felix Ballenger, Elmer Fall, Bob Salter, Murray Ballenger, Leroy Vaughn, James Whitehead, Robert Taylor, James H. Dallas, Charles Williams, Earl Furr, Sherrill Raley, D. K. Bondurant, W. O. Stevens, Earl Hun, Floyd Beall, and Dr. W. J. Howard.

Mrs. Marvyn Simpson of Robert Lee and Miss Verlena Russell of Stewart.

Miss Bertie Bee Bristow of Big Spring was a guest of her sister Miss Jessie Rhea Bristow.

Mrs. Hugh Garrison of Allison is visiting her daughter, Miss Louise Garrison.

Editor Gets Letter From Tech Engineering Graduate In Dallas

Dear Editor:
We the Tech Engineers of Dallas and vicinity held our first annual banquet at the Baker hotel Saturday night, February 23 at 7:30.

This affair was held in connection with the banquet in Lubbock and two other gatherings, one in Youngstown, Ohio, the other in Atlanta, Georgia. Telegrams were exchanged with each group.

Those in attendance here were: Anthony J. Grinke, Stanley Brown, Charles Woodridge, Houston Still, C. R. Craver, Charles Calvin, W. R. Shely, H. A. Hitt, John S. Brinebaugh, Bernard A. Schmidt, Robert L. Burns, and Jack Maddox. Jimmie Biggars was called out of town on business but came by and expressed his regrets for having to miss the big affair.

It was decided to start an ex-students directory as a medium for everyone to keep in closer touch with each other.

Old times were discussed, yarns spun, and the old spirit of Tech renewed. All pledged to carry it on. The one thing that struck me most was that all are proud of Texas Tech, of having gone there and that now after having come in contact with other ex-students, all know that Texas Tech is second to none in any way.

We organized an ex-student association—separate and distinct organization from the Engineering banquet. Elected Charles Woodridge, Vice-president; Anthony J. Grinke, President; Bernard A.

How do you like the tune for the Matador song?
Inquiry among the students shows that Harry LeMaire's composition has gone over with a bang. The football captain likes it, the yell-leader says that it's fine, the Junior Queen thinks that it's okay—in fact, a favorable answer was given by all students approached upon the subject.

Comment regarding the tune follows:
"Kitty" Jameson—"I think it's okay."
Jack Durham—"It's something we can call our own."
"Teddy" Hazelwood—"It's fine—I like it."
R. R. Crenshaw—"Perfectly satisfactory to me."
Don Boggs—"Couldn't have done better myself."
"Country" Coker—"It's all right."
Red Waller—"It has a more sacred atmosphere and as soon as we learn the different tune I believe we will like it better."
T. L. Agerton—"It's all right."
"Bo" Williams—"I think it's okay."
Johnnie Freeze—"I like it better played slow."
"Red" Huff—"I'm only interested in the words."

It Always Happens
Turman University's basketball team won twenty straight and then defeat came along.

Misses Frances Davis and Evelyn Jackson spent the week-end in Big Spring with Miss Jackson's parents.

Miss Edna Hope is spending several days in Frederick, Oklahoma.

Miss Margaret Cooper spent the week-end in Dallas.

Paul Kennedy and Sam Bailey spent the week-end at Estilline.

Miss Edith Brady spent several days with her parents in Happy.

Misses Nell Rosenquest and Joyce Johnston spent the week-end in Eastland.

Martha McFarland spent the week-end in Friona.

At The Theatres

"CAPTAIN THUNDER" BREAKS HEARTS

"Captain Thunder," the Warner Bros. and Vitaphone romance of galloping love and adventure in the badlands of Old Mexico, is announced as the coming attraction at the Palace Theatre.

Victor Varconi enacts the title role as a hot tamale heartbreaker with a price on his head and his heart on his sleeve. In the leading feminine role, Fay Wray plays a lovelorn beauty. Charles Judels is cast in another of his inimitable comedy roles. Robert Elliott enacts the heavy while handsome Don Alvarado portrays the youthful lover of Miss Wray.

The story depicts the many hilarious adventures of Captain Thunder, a brave cavalier whose promise once given, is never broken, though leads may be.

Natalie Moorhead, Bert Roach, Frank Campeau, Robert Emmett Keane and John Sainpolis also have important roles in this original story by Hal Davis and Pierre Coester. Gordon Rigby did the screen play and William K. Wells wrote the dialogue.

Also Crosland, famous for his interpretation of romantic screen stories, directed "Captain Thunder."

WEARING SUITS AND PYJAMAS

The "Palm Beach" scenes of the new Nancy Carroll production abound in pictorial suggestions for arranging an advance outdoor-sports window with some store in your neighborhood, including sunbath and beach pajamas, slippers and parasols being the preferred accoutrements.

Such a window will be good even though the picture arrives later in the summer; however, the alert merchant will want to get the jump on his colleagues by showing his "swim togs" far in advance of seasonable outdoor swimming weather. Adopt every unique angle that comes to your mind.

With genuine plants acquired from some greenhouse for a credit line, perhaps a mirror floor with a sand drifted over portions, and an arched or cutout sky background set off with a few gay balloons, you can create a bright "Palm Beach" air.

Figures from the photoplay, pasted up and cutout from the posters, can be strewn in the display. These cutouts may be used also as models instead of the usual mannequins, actually adorning some compo-Carrolls with real swim-suit models, pajamas, parasols, etc.

Perhaps you'll want to work your window up in miniature. In this case, some little wicker dollcarts from the toy department can be linked in a continuous pageant, carrying little dolls properly placarded, or mounted cutouts. At least, cutout "perambulators" with their darkly motive power, are illuminated, with stills from the exchange set pasted in panels. The perambulators can be "beited" for continuous movement.

The whole idea hinges on your obtaining a line of credit, that such an atmosphere is background for the new Carroll creation.

AT HEIGHTS

A new Nancy Carroll, more dramatically real than ever before, is revealed to moving picture audiences by the red-headed star's latest dramatic portrayal in "Stolen Heaven," the Lindsey theatre attraction for 3 days, starting Sunday next. The versatility which "The Devil's Holiday" and "Laughter" promised is realized in "Stolen Heaven." Here again she is seen opposite the blond Phillips Helmer, her leading man of "The Devil's Holiday."

The musical comedy and light romantic roles which introduced the vivacious young woman to motion picture audiences have been left far behind, and Miss Carroll takes her place with the true dramatic artists of the screen. In "Stolen Heaven" she gives deep meaning to a role actually taken from life. She reveals hidden resources for interpretation heretofore only hinted at.

A small town girl, loose in the city without money or friends, haunted by fear, with death seeming her only outlet, she meets Phillip Helmer, a man gone wrong, hunted by police, and with the proceeds of his robbery in his pocket. Together they make a pact. They will take their final fling at life in the grand auditor until their money is gone, then face death together.

Florida opens its gayety and pleasure to them. They dance, dine and gamble away the money Helmer has stolen, and all that remains for them is death. But they have

Mortar Board Girls At Texas Suggest Cotton

Mortar Board, senior honor society for girls at the University of Texas, has voted to sponsor cotton dresses for campus wear throughout the South, according to Rosalie Leslie, of Eastland, president. The society has adopted the following resolutions, copies of which will be sent to all universities and colleges of the South:

"Whereas, Texas produces more cotton than any state in the Union, and

"Whereas, it is in the drought stricken area and is suffering from the general economic depression, and

"Whereas, cotton materials for dresses are of reasonable price, good style and attractive, therefore, be it

"Resolved that we of Mortor Board do endorse, encourage and recommend to the University of Texas coeds as well as those of all other Southern colleges, the use of cotton materials for campus dress in the future."

The resolution was signed by the following members of the organization: Rosalie Leslie, of Eastland, Margaret Cunningham of Paris, Janet Sheppard of Texarkana, Rachel Williams of Fort Worth, Ruth Juich of Austin, Dorothy Watts of Austin, Marjorie Talbot of San Antonio, Bess Olson of Cisco, Nancy Taquard of Galveston, Mary Ruth Holmes of Palestine and Adelaide Rogers of Jonesboro, Ark.

Three debate teams from Texas Christian University will take the forum on the same evening, March 20—a record for the school. A team will engage debaters from Hendrix Henderson College of Conway, Ark., in Fort Worth. Then, scheduled for the same evening, is the annual S. M. U.-A. & M.-T. C. U. triangle debate. A. & M. will meet S. M. U. in College Station and T. C. U. in Fort Worth. S. M. U. and T. C. U. will debate in Dallas.

Rev. J. O. Haymes will continue his series on "Young Men" next Sunday evening with the subject, "The Athlete."

Students Of T.C.U. Aid Needy Families

PORT WORTH.—Responsibility of a family is a man-size job that only the brave will tackle. But this is the duty that eight Texas Christian University students are voluntarily undertaking this semester.

The care of the members of a given needy family—to aid them in all their economic, social, physical and mental problems—will be the lot of students in a class in "Social Case Work" this semester. Each week the student will call on the case family and aid in any way possible. Where food, clothing or money is needed, city relief agencies will provide the necessary funds. The worker is expected to straighten out all difficulties, from prevailing on a deserting husband to return to his family, to giving a cow a dose of soda.

"I had always heard that truth is stranger than fiction," one student observed after three weeks with his "family."

Members of the class are: Vera Bell Stephenson, Houston; Marlene Britton, Fort Worth; Sylvia Smith, Amarillo; Zada Fowler, Troy; Chester Crow, Austin; Oliver Harrison, Hartlingen; Edward Mace, Dallas; and Glen La Due, Shamrock.

Collins to his roommate: "Is the dance formal or can I wear my own clothes?"

DREAMS OF YESTERDAY

Are the Institutions of Today . . .

Pioneers roamed west in search of suitable locations to graze their stock and settle with their families. They had dreams of building homes, schools, trading posts and carry on the nation's business.

Today those dreams have taken on a form of actuality. Homes, school, business enterprises have increased with success. Each dream of the pioneer, is an institution. Each institution is one of service to mankind. The Texas Utilities Company has been built from a pioneer's dream to a serviceable institution.

Athletes at the college through James Harley Dallas and Jack Durham have accepted an invitation to attend the First Methodist Church in a body Sunday evening.

The Value Of A Smile

It costs little, but gives much.

It blesses him who gives and him who receives.

It is certain there are none so rich but they need it; none so poor but it enriches them.

It helps us in the hour of sadness, and increases the moment of joy.

It makes for friendship and is a never failing dividend payer.

It is the most helpful asset in business life.

It makes every home brighter and happier.
