

TV Debators Air Views

WASHINGTON (AP)—The political titans of 1960, Richard M. Nixon and John F. Kennedy, fought a gloves off battle over the whole field of foreign and domestic policy Friday night with millions of Americans looking on.

Vice President Nixon accused Kennedy, his Democratic rival for the White House, of advocating a position with regard to Formosa that represented "the same kind of woolly thinking that led to disaster in Korea."

Kennedy foresaw a terrific test of nerve, will and strength facing the next president over Berlin. He called for revitalization of America's military strength in the next Congress and contended that this country's relative strength has "deteriorated in the last eight years and the American people should know it and be told the facts."

As he has in one campaign speech after another, Nixon contended Kennedy's plan for America offers only "retreads of programs that failed" before and would cost the country $10 billion more than the GOP program. Kennedy branded that $10 billion figure fantastic and he said the Eisenhower-Nixon administration has failed to meet its responsibilities.

This was the second great television-radio debate in a series of four bringing the picture and voices of the candidates before perhaps 70 million Americans.

And it was a far cry from the mild-mannered affair Kennedy and Nixon staged in Chicago last week.

Nixon saved one of his heaviest bombs almost to the end.

Kennedy had been asked about his position with respect to defending the Quemoy and Matsu islands, off the Red Chinese mainland. He said he believes strongly in defending Formosa, the Nationalist Chinese bastion a hundred miles out. But he added that he believes it is strategically wrong to try to defend the inner islands, which he said various military men and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter have declared in the past were indefensible.

As long as Quemoy and Matsu are not essential to the defense of Formosa, Kennedy said, the defensive line should be drawn around Formosa itself.

"I disagree completely with Sen. Kennedy," Nixon shot back.

"It isn't two pieces of real estate, or the few people on them, that are important," he said, "but the principles involved. America," Nixon said, "shouldn't force an ally to give up part of its territory, an area of freedom, and hand them over to Communists."

"That would start a chain reaction," Nixon said. "It is the same kind of woolly thinking that led to disaster in Korea."

And, he added firmly, he would never tolerate it as president and he hopes Kennedy will change his mind.

Techsans Invade Ft. Worth - Dallas

Fans To Get Weekend Of State Fair, Football

by VERN HAMMETT
Toreador Staff Writer

The Fort Worth-Dallas area offers Tech Students a full weekend with the Red Raider-Horned Frog game, Texas University vs. Oklahoma University tilt and the Texas State Fair on schedule.

The Red Raiders make their third Southwest Conference start at 7:30 p.m. today as they go against Texas Christian University at Fort Worth. The Tech athletic office sold about 1,700 game tickets by Friday afternoon.

The Raider team will leave at 9 a.m. today aboard a chartered plane.

Student council officers, cheerleaders and the Toreador editor will be honored at a reception by the TCU student council at 3:30 p.m.

After the game a dance for Tech students will be held in the TCU student union.

The Fort Worth chapter of the Ex-Students Assn. will host Tech exes, students and backers at a reception in the Texas Hotel this afternoon. Buses will run from the hotel to the stadium before the game for those fans who want to avoid parking at the stadium.

The 186-member Tech band will leave at 8 a.m. today on five chartered buses. The band will arrive at 3:30 p.m., stay overnight and leave at 9 a.m. Sunday, arriving in Lubbock at 4:30 p.m.

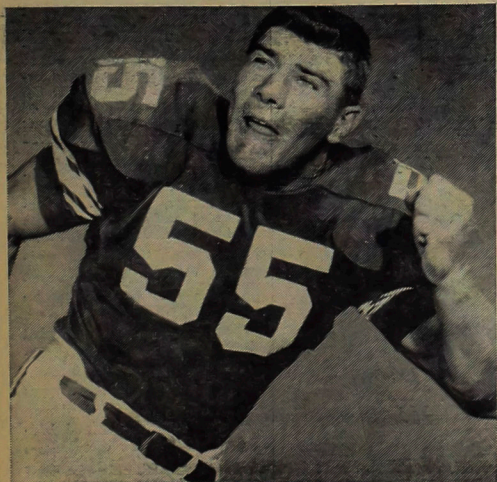

J. Roy Wells, assistant to the president, will represent the Tech president's office.

About 18 Saddle Tramps plan to make the trip and sit as a group at the game.

Many Techsans will visit the Texas State Fair which opens this afternoon in Dallas. Highlight of the fair today is the Texas U.-Oklahoma U. game at 2 p.m. in the Cotton Bowl.

SPACEMAN CHA CHA CHA—Confident Techsans cheer the space creatures that invaded the pep rally Thursday night. The spacewoman spokesman lauded the Tech gridders and predicted woe to the Froggies this weekend. The rally, sponsored by Circle K, featured guest speaker Dr. W. M. Pearce and a skit by the Aloha Phi pledaes.

ROTC Cadets Learn To Fly In Flight Instruction Program

Eleven Air Force ROTC cadets enrolled in the "Flight Instruction Program" are taking to the air to learn to fly this fall.

The program, made possible through a government contract between the Air Force and the college, provides a total of 36½ hours flying time for the AF ROTC pilot trainee. Each student receives approximately $544 worth of flying instruction in addition to 35 hours of weather and navigation ground school training.

The plane used this year is the Piper Tri-pacer which is equipped with a tricycle type landing gear, a 150-hp engine, two-way radio communication equipment and navigational equipment. Flight instruction is being conducted by the Wes-Tex Flying school at Lubbock Municipal Airport.

Each cadet will receive a private pilot's license when he completes the program.

Cadets enrolled in the flight instruction program include: A. N. Benson, Hereford; C. J. Bryant, Morton; B. R. Haass, Lubbock; J. H. Hood, Ft. Worth; J. M. Johnston, Jayton; D. H. Jones, Big Spring; W. K. Kerbel, Denver, Colorado; G. T. Miller, Lubbock; C. H. Smith, Weinert; R. L. Tidwell, Dewar, Oklahoma; and B. B. Watson, Hereford.

Artist Consults With Editors Of La Ventana

The section editors of the La Ventana, the Tech annual, consulted with Ray Tibbetts, a Los Angeles commercial artist, concerning the next yearbook Thursday and Friday.

The annual conference is necessitated because the Tech annual is the only college yearbook with a sectionized magazine format and thus is the only yearbook to hire a consulting authority. Tibbetts is the leading expert in the country concerning this style according to Ellen Venable, the La Ventana co-editor.

Tibbetts, who was presented a Stetson by the staff, has laid out a 558 page basic format which he began planning this summer. Along with the layout he has added advice on how to handle copy and pictures and suggested covers and themes for the different sections.

A former scholarship football player at the University of Minnesota, Tibbetts has been under contract by the annual since 1959. Since 1956 he has been working with W. E. Garets, head of the journalism department and originator of the La Ventana's unique format.

Flexibility is the key of Tibbetts' layouts. This, according to Miss Venable, is a definite advantage.

LUCKY STRIKE PRESENTS:

DEAR DR. FROOD:

DR. FROOD'S THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: 'Tis better to have loved and lost than to have spent the whole weekend studying.

Dear Dr. Frood: My roommate is a good guy, but there's one thing about him I can't stand. He wears button-down collars but never buttons the little lapel buttons. Why is this?

Clothes Conscious

DEAR CLOTHES: Don't let this worry you. It's just that his thumbs are too big.

Dear Dr. Frood: Once and for all—is it right or wrong for a man to marry a girl for her money?

Righteous

DEAR RIGHTEOUS: Nowadays this isn't simply a matter of right or wrong. There are the tax angles to consider.

Dear Dr. Frood: I don't understand my boy friend. When we are all alone and the moon is full, he tells me he worships me. But during the day, he crosses the street when he sees me coming. What is wrong?

Lovelorn

DEAR LOVELORN: Did it ever occur to you that he may be a werewolf?

Dear Dr. Frood: The other day my roommate and I had an argument about the difference between traditional art and modern art. What, in your opinion, is the basic difference between these two forms?

Art Major

DEAR ART: The examples above should settle your argument. The portrait at left is traditional. The artist has drawn Lincoln as he actually appeared. The portrait at right is modern. As you can see, the modern artist has drawn Lincoln's great-great-grandson.

Dear Dr. Frood: My favorite brand is Lucky Strike. But unfortunately I am left-handed. Why doesn't Lucky Strike come out with cigarettes for left-handed people?

Lefty

DEAR LEFTY: Left-handed Luckies are available. Simply ask for "Left-handed Luckies." They come in a white pack with a red bull's-eye. The only difference between these and ordinary Luckies is that you must always smoke them while facing a mirror.

"LUCKIES ARE BETTER THAN MONEY," says Dr. Frood (who gets paid in Luckies). It's a fact that college students smoke more Luckies than any other regular. This cigarette is all cigarette—the cigarette that still tastes great. Try a pack today—it's the only thing you and Dr. Frood will ever have in common.

CHANGE TO LUCKIES and get some taste for a change!

Series Offers Program, Tea

West Texas Museum's Twilight Music Series will observe its tenth anniversary with a memorial program and tea in the Museum auditorium at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

The series, jointly coordinated by the Museum and Tech's music department, will celebrate the occasion by honoring all past performers and members of the Museum Music Committee.

Dr. Gene Hemmle, music department head, will introduce the program, which features Mrs. Marion Keighley Snowden, inaugurator of the first presentation in 1950. Mrs. Snowden, will perform a piano solo by Beethoven.

Mrs. Grace Goodwin and Mrs. Mary Kelly, sopranos, will present numbers by Mendelssohn, Delibes, and Puccini. Mrs. Lucille Atcheson will accompany them. A historical review of Twilight Music Hours will be delivered by Mrs. W. C. Holden, Museum coordinator for the past eight years.

During its ten years of programming the Series has earned the reputation of pacing local music appreciation. From July, 1950, to June, 1960, 287 persons and organizations had performed in 175 different programs. More than 40 persons representing Lubbock music organizations have served on committees.

The Series has featured Lubbock Chamber Music Society, Tech choral groups, barbershop quartets, noted local and area vocalists and instrumentalists, Lubbock church groups, Tech music symposiums, Wayland Baptist College singers, and professional musicians.

Theme variations have included opera, jazz, chorals, classical, romantic, contemporary, international, baroque and ancient types of music.

Mrs. Keith McCarty and William A. Murphy are coordinators of the 1960-61 series. Co-sponsors are Music Appreciation Club, Allegro Music Club, Lubbock Music Club, South Plains Music Teachers' Assn. and Past Presidents Assembly.

PROF MARIE MILES IS RANKING OFFICER IN MARINE CORPS ... while teaching English and technical writing at Tech.

Miles Tells Of Career With Women Marines

"Always Faithful," motto of the Marine Corps, might well be used to describe Miss Marie Miles, associate professor of English at Tech.

When the Marine Corps decided to take women into their ranks during World War II, Miss Miles volunteered and has taken part in some phase of its activities ever since.

"I had always admired the Marine Corps," she says. "I didn't think they would take women, but a top ranking officer said that women replacing men in some of their jobs allowed the creation of one entire division."

From 1943 until December of 1945 Miss Miles was an officer in the service. She enlisted and took basic training with a fellow English teacher, Margaret Henderson, who is now the commandant of the Women's Marine Corps.

"I'm probably the only person who ever knocked down the admiral of the fleet, and I did it twice in one day," laughs Miss Miles.

"I saw everyone standing at attention against the wall when I turned the corner in the hall. But I was in a hurry to deliver a message and didn't see why they were until I had bumped into Admiral Ernest King and knocked us both down. He apologized and helped me up, but I was trying so hard to come to attention that I hit the door and it hit the Admiral, knocking him down again. That was undoubtedly my most embarrassing moment."

During the war Miss Miles, who now holds the rank of major in the reserve, handled classified information. She was stationed in both Washington and San Francisco. Sometimes her job called for her to act as a courier of secret information, and many times she didn't know the nature of the material she carried.

After going through the perils of learning the proper way to abandon ship, the blond-haired woman Marine found herself on the way to overseas duty in Hawaii. The war was over when she had been three days at sea.

"Everything in Hawaii was very exciting. I'd like to go back someday," she reminisces with a smile.

Though she has been on the English faculty at Tech since 1946, Miss Miles still finds time for the Marine Corp. She is a member of the reserve training unit and also a member of the volunteer training unit.

She occasionally has active duty also. On a 90-day tour of duty at Parris Island, Marine training base in South Carolina, she served as a director of the entire training program for the women platoons.

Last summer she spent two weeks at Parris Island reviewing the training program of the Women's Marine Corps and making suggestions for its improvement.

Whether it's in the classroom or in uniform, Marie Miles, Tech's woman Marine is always faithful and always ready to serve.

Awards Await HE Majors

Home Economics majors graduating from January 1961 to June 1961 may apply now for the seven Pillsbury Awards for 1961.

The award winner will receive a unique "on the job" training fellowship and will be Associate Director of the Pillsbury Junior Home Service Center. She will receive a grant of $1000 in addition to her salary of $4500. Six finalists for the Pillsbury Award will receive Honor Awards of $250.

Applicants for the awards must be outstanding home economics students with an overall grade average in the upper quartile of their home economics graduating class. Applicants must be unmarried; able to meet and deal with people easily and effectively; must have an interest in young people; must be able to express themselves well, in both speech and writing.

Application forms are available from the home economics department and must be received by the Pillsbury Awards Program no later than November 28.

Society Begins Poetry Contest

Entries are now being accepted for the Anthology of College Poetry published by the American College Poetry Society and also for the National Poetry Association's annual competition.

Deadline for the entries in the college anthology has been set for Dec. 9, and must not be postmarked later than midnight on that day. Closing date for manuscripts for the National Poetry Association competition is Nov. 5 for students and Jan. 1 for college teachers.

Work submitted to the American College Poetry Society must be the original work of the student, with the entrant's name, address, and school on each page. The poems may deal with any subject, but must not exceed 48 lines, nor may any individual submit more than five poems.

Entries should be sent to Allan C. Fox, in care of the American College Poetry Society, Box 24463, Los Angeles, 24, Calif. Work not accepted for publication will be returned if accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Entrants will not receive payment for publication of poetry.

Rules for entering the National Poetry Association competition are:

Any student attending either a junior or senior college is eligible. Each poem must be typed or printed on a separate sheet, bearing the name, home address and college attended by the student. There is no limitation as to form or theme. Shorter works are preferred by the judges, however.

Entries submitted by college teachers and librarians will be considered for publication in the annual National Teachers Anthology, published by the National Poetry Association.

Manuscripts should be sent to the Office of the Association, National Poetry Association, 3210 Selby Avenue, Los Angeles 24, Calif.

There are no fees or charges for submission or acceptance of work.

Remember your appointment date and time. Getting new ones is costly—$1 for each new appointment if you forget or lost the old one. No class pictures will be taken after Nov. 5 and no appointments will be given out after Oct. 15.

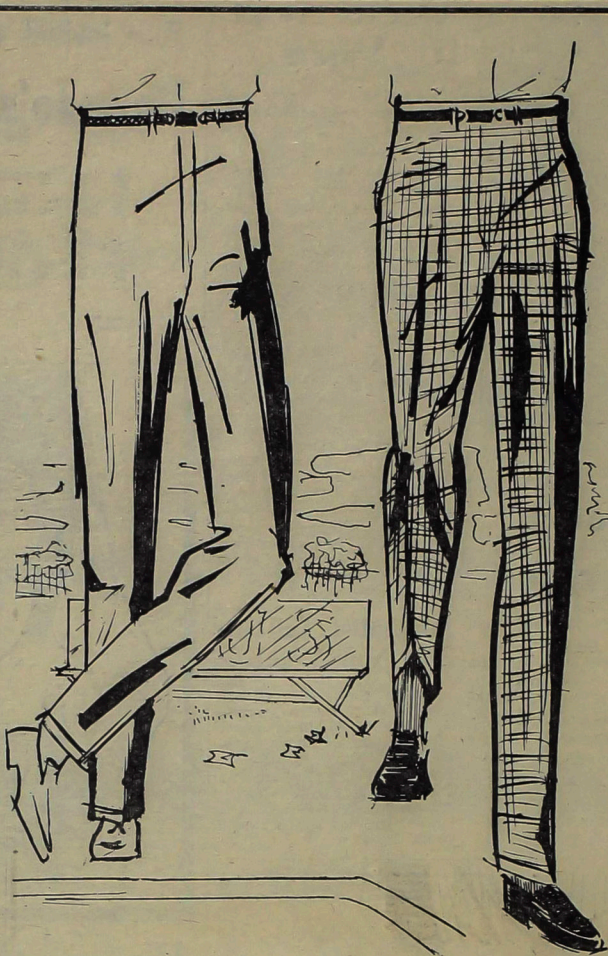

Dennis Plans Denmark Trip

Dr. John G. Dennis, assistant professor of geology, has been given a committee assignment by the 21st International Geological Congress.

At the meeting last month in Copenhagen, Denmark, Dennis was appointed to a subcommittee on terminology of the Commission on the Geologic Map of the World.

Dennis is a member of the policy-making Congress Council and attended as a delegate from Tech. He also took an active part in the scientific proceeding of the Congress.

He visited academic centers for geologic study in Germany and Austria before the meeting. The departments of geology at the University of Vienna, the University of Bonn in West Germany, the Institute of Technology in West Berlin, the University of Berlin and Academy of Science in East Berlin were among those which he visited.

Art Show Hits Local Museum

From a vivacious Spanish dancer to a bust of Will Rogers, art lovers may look to their heart's content among two exhibits featured in West Texas Museum this month.

"Art Through the Ages", on display in the rotunda gallery, contains paintings from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frost, Dallas. Frost is a cattleman and oilman, and donor of a Tech Herford herd.

The exhibit includes landscapes, portraits, still life, street scenes, and excerpts from everyday life, and features works of such noted painters as Picasso, Toulouse-Lautrec, El Greco, Jean Francois Millet, Roualt and John Singer Sargent. It includes oils on canvas, tempero on panel watercolors, pastels, essence on cardboard, and drawings heightened with pastel.

Picasso's "Carmen", an oil on canvas painting, pictures a brightly arrayed dancer captivating her audience with a stirring Spanish dance. Other notable pieces include El Greco's 1570 painting, "Portrait of a Man", Millet's "The Vision", and Roualt's "Three Clowns".

Featured in the Museum auditorium is an exhibit artwork from the West Texas Museum's Permanent Collection. It contains works donated by various individuals over the years.

The exhibit is a cultural collection of arts and crafts of all types. Its aims are: to preserve regional traditions and heritage of the Southwest through all forms of art; to stress quality and varieties in drawings and graphics, paintings, folk art and handicrafts; for community enjoyment; and for education of students.

Eighteen Join Angel Flight

Eighteen coeds joined Angel Flight on Sept. 29. The new members were selected on the basis of ability and skill in marching and drill formation. They include Marty Adams, Beverly Brooks, Donna Dellinger, Nancy Fuson, Linda Graham, Jerri Helm, Judy Jackson, Judy Jensen, Penny Kay-tis, Bet Keller, Barbara McMurray, Ann Morrow, Kay Munsell, Pat O'Neal, Benjalyne Roussar, Sandie Sample, Diane Winslow and Carolyn Wood.

Craig Gains Head Of Speech Club

Susan Craig was elected president of the Speech Pathology Club at a recent club meeting.

Other officers elected were Linda Updike, vice president; Patsy White, secretary; Jan Landley, treasurer; Rose Ann Cantrell, publicity; Marsha Fields, membership; Jane Crockett, BSO representative; and Helen Sindell, sponsor.

The next club meeting will be at noon Oct. 18 in the Tech Union.

Rebels Invade Castro's Cuba

HAVANA (AP)—Reports of insurgent activity throughout Cuba flooded in Friday, after the Castro government's announcement that a small invasion force landed in eastern Cuba.

Official sources were silent on the pursuit of 24 surviving counter-revolutionaries among the 100,000 men the government said had fled the Oriente hills upon landing near Cuba's eastern tip earlier in the week.

The government claims the leader was killed and two of his men captured, one with wounds. The government also says three Americans are among the group that made it into the mountains. Cuban press and radio stations have stressed the allegation that official U.S. support is behind the invading insurgent band.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro scheduled a major television address for Monday and is expected to voice a new blast at the United States.

The Press Bureau at the Cuban Armed Forces Ministry said had nothing new to report, despite predictions that soldiers and militiamen would destroy quick or capture the insurgents.

The invasion announcement Thursday was followed by reports—all unofficial—of new rebellions and uprisings against Communist-leaning Castro regime.

The most frequently heard rumor is that a major uprising uncovered among Castro's troops at La Cabana Fortress here at Managua Military Base in the suburbs.

QUICK - KICKS!

... and slow curves

by Billy Patton

ABLENE—En route to Fort Worth, we take time to attend to matter of importance.

Last Thursday, we received our first letter commenting on this column, addressed to this writer and to Ralph Carpenter, Toreador Editor, and signed by Carrol Lewis.

And now we quote from the letter, which says in part:

"I know you like to hold your averages up, but how about some sets.

"Tech may not be great but they are capable of a fight. How encouraging it must be to the Raiders to see that their own school paper has no faith in them."

The reference is, of course, to our pick of TCU in this week's predictions, and let's go into that a little further.

First of all, we do like to hold up our averages and TCU is the obvious choice in this game, statistically speaking. However, there is nothing we would rather see than an upset and both of us would happily sacrifice our percentages to a complete rout of the Frogs by Tech.

Secondly, there is no victory sweeter than an upset. Most coaches realize that, and would rather their team go into a game a slight underdog than be riding the crest of public opinion. We think our coaching staff and players realize that when one gets away from cold statistics, the Raiders have no stronger backers than the editorial staff of the Toreador.

So much so that we feel we can offer our job to anyone who can show that we have ever worked for, or even hoped for, a victory by CU or any other competitor against the Big Red.

Our thanks to Mr. Lewis for his letter, and we hope that our response has answered any unspoken questions in the minds of other readers.

Sports fans in Fort Worth will have the opportunity to compare two linemen who are both highly regarded as outstanding in the nation. TCU's Robert Lilly, giant 250-lb. tackle, and Tech's All-American, E. J. Holub.

Lilly is being called the "greatest lineman we've ever had at CU," and is up for All-American honors, but we lay our money on E. J., who has never, to our knowledge, backed down from anything or anybody. Those fans who compare linemen will see the spotlight glow around the massive shoulders of the Tech warhorse when the work's all done this fall.

TODAY'S SERIES GAME

Pitchers Selected

NEW YORK (AP)—The favored New York Yankees, boasting a fantastic .390 team batting average, will send Whitey Ford against Pittsburgh's Vinegar Bend Mizell in a duel of left-handed pitchers in today's third World Series game at Yankee Stadium.

Riding high after Thursday's 16-3 rout that squared the Series at one game each, the Yanks returned to their home park with high hopes of closing out the Series in the Bronx.

Manager Casey Stengel said he was undecided on his left fielder, naming Yogi Berra, Hector Lopez and Bob Cerv as possibilities. He appeared to lean toward Berra, who caught the first game and moved to the outfield in the second.

Ford, 31, will be starting his 13th Series game, a record. He has a 5-4 won-lost record in Series play. In 1960 he won 12 and lost nine.

Mizell, a 6-foot-3, 205-pound lefty, presents a sharp contrast in style. The colorful pitcher from Vinegar Bend, Ala., sticks his right foot in the batter's face when he rears back to throw. His acquisition from St. Louis in a May 28 deal was a key move in the Pirates' pennant drive. He had a 1-3 record with the Cards but finished up with a 14-8 season.

NBA Granted New Members

NEW YORK (AP)—Chicago and Pittsburgh Friday were granted franchises in the National Basketball Association beginning with the 1960-61 season. The addition of college grades picked in NBA's membership to 10 teams. After awarding the new franchises, the NBA's board of governors also voted to boost each team's players squad.

Instead of being limited to 10 players, team will be permitted to carry 12 until Dec. 15. After then the clubs will be able to carry 11 players but will be able to dress only 10 for competition.

A league spokesman indicated the two new teams will be stocked by players from other clubs in the two cities boosted the next April's draft.

The eight present teams will be able to keep their top seven players. The others will be subject to draft by the Chicago and Pittsburgh teams.

FOR TCU GAME

Showers Predicted

By LEW BULLION
 Toreador Sports Writer
 If omens are in order for the Texas Tech-Texas Christian contest tonight in Fort Worth, the Raiders may take one from the Frogs.
 All weather reports indicate cloudy, possibly rainy conditions for the grid battle in Cowtown, and as you probably remember, the underdog Raiderland representatives battled the Texas A&M Aggies to a 14-14 deadlock exactly two weeks ago, in the rain. Possibly Coach DeWitt Weaver is hoping for the same type of muggy turf and air when the Big Red takes on the Froggies.

 Again the Raiders will take their field picked to come out on the score's short end. The wizards of the adding machine have awarded the Frogs a 9-7 pregame victory; Coach Weaver and Company place little faith in pregame prediction.
 According to Weaver, a major obstacle for the Raiders will be the huge Froggie line, featuring such standouts as 6-5, 250 pound tackle, Bob Lilly, who is currently being boomed for All-American, and is called by many sport scribes around the nation the best tackle in the country. At the other tackle post lurks 6-4, 205 pound Ted Crenwelge who is reported to be nearly Lilly's worth and just a greedy for blood.

WHAT TO DO TILL THE PSYCHIATRIST COMES

Once upon a time at the University of Virginia there was a coed named, oddly enough, Virginia University who was handsome and kindly and intelligent and ingeniously constructed and majoring in psychology. Virginia went steady with a young man on campus named, oddly enough, Oddly Enough who was supple and fair and lithe and animated and majoring in phys ed. Virginia and Oddly enjoyed a romance that was as idyllic as a summer day, as placid as a millpond. Never did they fight—never, never, never!—because Virginia, who was majoring in psychology, did not believe in fighting. "Fighting," she often said, "settles nothing. The scientific way is to look calmly for the cause of the friction."

So whenever she and Oddly were on the verge of a quarrel, she used to whip out a series of ink blot tests and they would discover the true underlying cause of their dispute and deal with it in an enlightened, dispassionate manner. Then, the irritant removed, their romance would resume its tranquil, serene, unruffled course.

After six months of this sedate liaison, Oddly was so bored he could spit. He loved Virginia well enough, but he also believed that people in love ought to fight now and then. "It opens the pores," he said, "and besides, it's so much fun making up afterwards."

But Virginia would not be provoked into a quarrel. One night Oddly tried very hard. "Hey," he said to her, "your nose looks like a banana, and your ears look like radar antenna, and your face looks like a pan of worms."

"My goodness, we're hostile tonight!" said Virginia cheerfully and whipped 120 Rorschach cards out of her reticule. "Come," she said, "let us examine your psychic apparatus."

Oddly tried again. "You're fat and dumb and disagreeable," he said, "and you'll be bald before you're thirty."

"Hmm," said Virginia thoughtfully and lit a cigarette. "This sounds like an anxiety neurosis with totemism, anagogic trauma, and a belt in the back."

"I hate you," said Oddly. "I hate your looks and your clothes and your toenails and your relatives and the cigarettes you smoke."

"Now, hold on, buster!" cried Virginia, her eyes crackling, her color mounting, her nostrils aflame. "Just keep a civil tongue in your stupid head when you talk about Marlboro! Nobody's knocking that filter, that flavor, that pack or flip-top box while there's breath in my body! It's a full-flavored smoke, it's a doozy, it's a dilly, it's a gas—and anybody who says a word against it gets this."

By "this" Virginia meant a series of combinations to the head and liver, which she now delivered to Oddly and turned on her heel and stormed away.

Oddly brought her down with a flying tackle. "I love you with all my heart," he said.

"And Marlboro?" said she.

"And Marlboro even more," said he.

And they kissed and plaited love knots in one another's hair and were married at Whitsuntide and smoked happily ever after.

You too can smoke happily—with Marlboro, or with Marlboro's unfiltered companion cigarette, Philip Morris—available in regular size or the sensational new king size Commander. Have a Commander—welcome aboard!

Probable backfield starters for the Christians are quarterback Donald George, 6-2, 195; left half Larry Dawson, 6-0, 205; right half Larry Terrell, 5-11, 195; and full back, Max Pierce, 6-0, 195.

Coach Weaver is expected to go with the regular Raider crew including ends, Don Waygood and Mike Seay; tackles, Larry Muller and Bobby Cline; guards, E. Strickland and Jere Don Mohor; and All-American center E. J. Holub.

In the Raider backfield, quarterback Glen (Amo) Amerson will hold forth along with halfback Dickie Polson and split back Bak Turner. The big sophomore, Coolidge Hunt will handle fullback chores.

HARRY MORELAND
 ... faces Tech tonight

A welcome addition to the traveling squad is senior split back Dan Gurley, who was expected to be a starter in the pre-season lineups but has been held out of Tech's first three games with an ankle injury sustained during practice.

A pair of big sophomores have also been added to the squad with the flight to Fort Worth Guard Aineved Peterson, 6-1, 25 from Gainesville and center, Ken (Big Train) Milkken, 6-0, 190 from San Angelo will add their efforts to the crusade.

The Raider crusade against the Frogs began in 1926 as the Matadors fell, 16-28.

Through the years, the Raiders and Frogs have met a total of sixteen times with the Froggie taking ten games and the Raiders winning the balance as there have been no ties.

Red Raider victories came in 1936, winning over the Frogs, 7-0; 1942, 13-6; 1943, 40-20; 1945, 12-0; 1951, 33-19; and 1956, when the Red won 21-7.
