Frankie Carle and his orchestra will provide the music for the first annual all-sorority Presentation dance tomorrow night at 9:00.

monies presenting 267 co-eds from Tech's 10 social sororities. The presentation is slated to begin at 6:30 in the Municipal Coliseum. James Moeser and his organ will provide the music for the presentation with Dee Bowman as emcee of the proceedings.

The public is invited to the presentation, but admittance to the dance is by invitation only. Tech's Panhellenic Council is sponsor of the events.

Pictures of the pledges and their dates will be made during the dance starting at 9:15. Two cameras will be set up and twenty minutes will be allowed for each sorority.

Those to be presented according to sorority include:
Phi Beta Phi: Carolyn Bachman, Virginia Bray, Nancy Gatoick, Lynn Cary, Pat Crandall, Mary V. Dawson, Jene Glazier, Letha Gracey, Shirley Hamlett, Judy Har-
Gamma Phi Beta: Gayle Arthur, Cor-

Weekend Activities Start Tech 'Tribute To Freedom'

The drive to raise $10,000 for "Tech's Tribute to Freedom" was officially kicked off yesterday morning in the Student Union Building.

Proceeds from the gigantic 7-day campaign will be used both to aid Hungarian refugees and to furnish supplies to freedom fighters still in Hungary.

All donations collected will be turned over to E. C. Bartholomew, state treasurer for the drive and President of the Austin National Bank. He will divide the money between two national organizations, the International Rescue Committee and the First Aid for Hungary Committee.

Drive Chairman Ted Carthel states that all money collected will be sent to the two organizations. All of the costs of operating both the Tech and the state campaign have been donated.

In commending the drive Student Association President Wallace Wilson said, "Almost all of the leading colleges and universities in the United States are taking part in this effort to help Hungarian students and other refugees. I feel this drive is a chance for Tech to show that it is an outstanding college and that its students feel the need for academic freedom the world over."

Tonight, donations will be taken up at the Tech Union dance and the Tech Vets Club Christmas dance.

Campus religious groups and the college departments of the local churches are expected to give the drive a boost Sunday, when they explain the drive to students and take up donations.

Two big events are scheduled

Practices Proceed On Holiday Opera

Rehearsals are continuing this week for Menotti's Christmas opera "Amahl and the Night Visitor," to be presented Dec. 19-20 by the Music Department and the Lubbock Little Theatre.

Plans for costumes, programs and advertising for the student production were made at a recent staff meeting.

Students in charge of the advertising committee are Helen Willis and Glenda Keith. Jane Ann Jones, Jane Underwood, and Maynette Derr head the properties committee. Bruce Jackson and Jim Henshaw are in charge of the stage crew. Martha Sue Bridges and Mary Beth Fuele head the costumes committee. Jane Underwood and Sandra Hemmie will be in charge of ticket sales. Kay Adkins is student director.

"Amahl and the Night Visitor" is the first opera ever commissioned especially for television and it was premiered by the NBC Television Opera Theater in New York City in 1951.

for Monday night to spark the fund raising drive. The Tech Vets Club will explain its purpose and the club's drill team will present a demonstration of a close order drill at the half of the Tech-University of Tulsa basketball game in the Coliseum.

Tech beauties from one of the sororities will be at the doors of the Coliseum to take up donations from fans as they leave after the game.

Also Monday night, students attending the movie, "God Is My Co-Pilot" at the Union will be asked to donate to the campaign.

The Saddle Tramps, men's service organization, will mail out letters to all members of the faculty and the staff inviting them to join in the drive.

Each of the five men's dorms have challenged the others to raise money for the drive. One dorm, Sneed, has planned a campus-wide variety show in the dorm lobby for next Tuesday night at 7:30 to benefit the drive. The show, open to all Tech students, will include two jazz bands, pantomimes, skits and dances.

Cow Milking, Greased Pig Chasing Sidelight Annual 'Little International'

Ever watch a coed milk a wild cow?

Techsians will have a chance to watch such a spectacle tomorrow afternoon as the "Little International Livestock Show," sponsored by Block and Bridle gets under way.

The public is invited to see the annual show with all its sidelights from 1 to 6 p.m. tomorrow. Admission is free at Aggie Pavilion.

Each social sorority has been invited to place an entry in the "Milk Maid Contest," which is similar to the "wild cow milking contest" in rodeos, with the exception that the cows will be caught for the coeds who will do the milking. The coed who proves herself the best wild cow milker

4 Council Members Attend TISA Meet

Four members of the Tech Student Council will leave today for Belton to attend an executive council meeting of the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association.

Final plans for the annual spring convention will be made by the group on the campus of Mary Hardin Baylor College. Representing Tech will be Charlene Williamson, TISA secretary, Student Council President Wallace Wilson, vice-president Glynn McGee and business manager David Thompson.

will be presented with the "Milk Maid" trophy.

Greased pig chasing takes the spotlight as entries from Tech's nine social fraternities enter into competition to capture a pig that has been "slicked up" by animal husbandry majors in Block and Bridle. A special prize will be in order for the pig's captor.

A total of 115 entries had been received Thursday for the five divisions of the stock exposition in which Tech students prepare and show livestock from the institution's farms.

Five divisions of live stock will be exhibited with student superintendents for each show. The beef cattle show will be supervised by Bob Mayfield of Merkel; dairy cattle showing will be overseen by Jerry Hawkins of Lipscomb; sheep will be shown under the direction of Charles Probandt of San Angelo; swine exhibits will be directed by Nelson Christie of Clarendon; and Jack Moreman of Hedley will oversee the quarterhorse show. Bill LaRoe of Happy has been named all-over supervisor for the exhibition.

Hams will go on sale following the livestock show. The highest bidder will take the choice hams which have been cured and smoked. Money from the ham sale will go to help support Tech meats and wool judging teams.

Judges for the show have been chosen from men in professional stock business.

Local Choirs Lead Xmas Sing

Tech's Music Department and the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal will combine forces again this year to sponsor the second annual Christmas Community Sing, Dec.

15, in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

Campus groups participating in the event will be the Tech Orchestra, directed by Paul Ellsworth; the 16-voice Tech Madrigal Singers, directed by Cleve Genzlinger; and the newly formed Tech Symphonic Winds, a group of 40 select players from the Concert Band, directed by Robert Taylor.

According to Ira Schantz, Tech vocal instructor who will serve this year as musical organizer and director of the event, the participation of singers and musicians in the 1956 greeting in song to the Yule season will double last year's number.

Assisting Schantz with preparations is Raymond Elliott, also of Tech's music department, who will act as general chairman.

Select groups participating in the sing include church choirs, high school, junior high and elementary school choirs, and prominent individuals in South Plains music circles.

Among the special features of the evening will be a selection from "The Christmas Story," by Henrich Scheutz, sung by a quartet of four leading bass voices. Included in the quartet will be Dr. Gene Hemmle, professor and head of the music department, Cleve Genzlinger, instructor, and Rex Webster, director of the First Baptist Church Choir. The quartet's fourth voice has not been announced.

As has become the custom during previous programs, the audience will participate in the singing of familiar Christmas carols. The traditional close of the musical gathering will be the singing of the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah."

Speech Dept. Applies Final Touch To 'Merchant Of Venice' Production

"Lighten Bassonio's shadow" . . . check the position of that bench" . . . "cut the overhead spot on scene 9" . . . the final commands and finishing touches are being executed with haste as the cast and crew prepare for the opening curtains of "The Merchant of Venice" Monday night at 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium of the Tech Speech Building.

Ronald Schulz, director of the play, anticipates at least a two-night holdover for the production.

Tickets may be purchased or reserved at the Speech Building. All seats are reserved with admission of $1.25, students and faculty 75 cents or activity ticket. Activity booklets must be presented at the speech building for reservation.

"The Merchant of Venice" has been cited as one of Shakespeare's best plays. It is a romantic comedy, concerning the betrothal of Portia, a beautiful young heiress. Portia's father, upon his death, devised a system whereby the suitor choosing one of three caskets containing Portia's picture, would win her hand in marriage. Love, comedy and tragedy are all a part of this play by the world's most renowned writer.

The complete cast in the order in which they appear is: Antonio, (See SPEECH PLAY Page 2)

VETS CHRISTMAS DANCE SCHEDULED TONIGHT

Jake Miller and his orchestra will furnish music for the Vet's Club Christmas dance tonight at 8 in the V. F. W. Hall.

This dance is the annual social function of the club for this semester. Tickets are $2.00 per couple.

Greek Fun Night For Hungarian Relief To Include Auction, Dime Dance, Bingo

Panhellenic Council and the Inter-Fraternity Council will present a Greek-sponsored fun night open to all students in the Student Union Building from 8:30 until 10:30 Wednesday. All proceeds for the night will go to the Hungarian Relief Fund.

The fun night will include a jam session, a bingo concession, an auction of the beauties and football players for dates and a dime-a-dance feature.

Admission will be $1. Association of Women Students will also sponsor another penny-a-minute night, with all proceeds going into the relief fund.

A plaque will be presented to the sorority or fraternity having the largest percentage of its membership in attendance. There will be a roster at the door and each group is responsible for seeing that its members sign. Gene Steel is in charge of attendance.

Walter Schuler is in charge of the jam session, which will include four instrumental groups from the fraternities. There will be one act presented during each intermission of the jam session. Pat Rainer is in charge of these acts.

Rob Brown will conduct the auction of the beauties and football players. The auction will be held in the big snack bar area of the Union.

There will be six girls from each sorority to serve as hostesses in the dime-a-dance, to last for two-hours.

The bingo concession will be in the lounge.

Junior Panhellenic is in charge of publicity for the event.

Tech Phone Service Stops During Repairs Tomorrow

All campus phones will be disconnected at 1 p.m. tomorrow afternoon and the disconnection may last as late as Sunday morning. The interruption of phone service is to allow for installation of four more outside lines for the campus.

What's doing...at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft

Working engineers . . .

may continue study to earn Master's degree

Ambitious young engineering graduates today want to be in two places at the same time. They want to be employed as quickly as possible, working daily at a job that offers promise of a rewarding career. They also want to be in the classroom, pursuing advanced studies they know to be so essential to real professional achievement.

Recognizing the many significant benefits to be gained by that two-fold ambition — benefits that accrue both to the individuals, personally, and to the company employing them — Pratt & Whitney Aircraft has developed an extensive graduate fellowship program. Within easy commuting distance of P & W A facilities, working arrangements have been established with graduate schools at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, University of Connecticut, Trinity College, Yale University, Northeastern University and New York University. Similar arrangements with several other universities are pending final approval.

At each school, the qualified Pratt & Whitney Aircraft employee is able to take courses — within specified areas — leading to a Master's degree. A tuition-refund plan makes it possible for successful degree candidates to obtain this advanced education tuition-free.

In this era of advancing technology, the world's foremost designer and builder of aircraft engines has taken a far-reaching step to assure its engineers and scientists of the opportunity for personal growth . . . growth that is so beneficial to employee and company alike.

TCU Edges Past Red Raiders

By BILLY ELLIS
Friday Sports Editor

Texas Christian's Horned Frogs came roaring back from a 34-29 halftime deficit Wednesday night to sink the cold-shooting Red Raiders, 73-65, before 5,000 disappointed fans in Lubbock's Municipal Coliseum.

The game was a marked contrast of the fast-moving contest of Monday night, with the teams going almost three minutes at the start without scoring. TCU commanded the lead throughout most of the first half, as Tech was having trouble finding the range. Tech took the lead, however, with 4:40 to play in the half 23-24 on a free throw by Sterling Gibson.

Baskets by Chuck Key, "Podd" Hill and Gerald Myers gave Tech a nine-point lead, but a long set shot and two charity tosses by the Frogs' Ronnie Stevenson cut the Raider's lead to five points at the intermission.

TCU came back the second half with determination, and charged into the lead, racking up a 37-34 advantage before the Raiders were able to score, as the Big Red went almost five minutes without touching the scoreboard in the second half.

TCU Coach Buster Brannon sent his squad into a semi-stall early in the second half, and the maneuver paid off against Tech's zone defense, as the Frogs were able to connect with uncanny accuracy from outside. With 6:52 to play in the game, TCU had built up a 65-45 lead, and practically coasted from that point.

The Raiders put up a last-ditch rally, but it was much too late, as Tech went down to defeat in the first basketball with a Southwest Conference member since being elected a member.

Leading scorer in the game, was Texas Christian's Derrell Nippert, who had 17 points. The Frogs' talented center, Dick O'Neal, Southwest Conference leading scorer of last season, got only 13 points for this night's efforts, but contributed an equal number of rebounds to greatly aid the cause, as Tech again was outmanned on the boards, getting only 39 rebounds to TCU's 61.

Athletic Officials Attend SWC Meet

Head coach and athletic director DeWitt Weaver, along with business manager Jimmie Wilson and faculty representative Dr. J. William Davis, are in Dallas today for the winter meeting of officials of the Southwest Conference.

For the first time, the Tech delegation will be attending the conference as members of the SWC, having being admitted at the last meeting of the Conference in May. Expansion is again expected to be brought up, in the form of the University of Houston.

Tech Hosts Tulsa Monday

Texas Tech will host the University of Tulsa Monday night in only the second meeting of the two teams on the basketball floors. Although the two schools' football teams have been meeting every year since 1943, the cage squads have met only once, at Tulsa, in 1952.

Tulsa won that initial encounter, 67-53, so the Raiders will be trying for their first win over the Golden Hurricane on the hardwoods. Further incentive to win will be the fact that the Raiders are still shooting for their first win of the season, being set back in their opening games this week.

Coach Polk Robison, while admitting that height was a determining factor in the two games this week, says mistakes cost the Raiders a win against TCU. The boys were trying to go too fast and as a result were not waiting for good shots," Coach Robison said.

Robison believes Tech will have a better night on the boards against the Hurricane. Tulsa will be about the same height as the Raiders, as their tallest man, center Leland Harms is 6-6. Tech's sophomore center, Leon "Podd" Hill, is also a 6-6 man. Tech has been out-rebounded, 107-67 in its first two games.

In a preliminary game at 6 p.m. Monday, at the Tech Frosh will meet Schreiner Institute, a junior college located at Kerrville. In their season opener last Monday, Coach Gene Gibson's Picadors defeated the Cameron JC Aggies, 78-73.
