NEWS BRIEFS

Carter's Cairo arrival

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) - President Carter, launching his personal peace mission Thursday, was greeted by tens of thousands of cheering Egyptians and immediately began his first round of peace talks with President Anwar Sadat.

Shortly after the arrival of the American party, Egyptian Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil presented counterproposals to Secretary of State Cyrus Vance detailing Egyptian response to U.S. compromise suggestions to break the negotiating stalemate.

There were no immediate details of what the Egyptian proposals were.

Several difficulties remain, and Sadat addressed one of them at the palace; the issue of the 1.1 million Palestinians who live in Israelioccupied territories on the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Chinese withdrawal

BANGKOK, Thailand - (AP) - Western observers confirmed on Thursday that China has begun withdrawing from Vietnamese territory, and Japan said it was acting as a mediator in the Chinese-Vietnamese war.

Analysts in Bangkok said the pullout was "cautious and gradual," but there were "definite signs" it had started.

Chinese sources earlier indicated the withdrawal would be difficult and slow, possibly taking two weeks or more. Vietnam said the withdrawal was "very slow and in very small numbers."

Hanoi's latest battle report said "the Chinese aggression forces today continued their attacks, nibbling at Vietnamese territory and burning and looting property in Vietnamese border areas."

International Women's Day By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chanting "at the dawn of freedom we have no freedom," more than 8,000 Iranian women, defiantly dressed in Western clothing, paraded through Tehran on International Women's Day on Thursday to demand preservation of their rights under the new Islamic regime.

Thousands of women in other countries paraded or held meetings to mark the day set aside by the United Nations to improve the rights of women around the world.

In Rome about 10,000 women, many carrying signs, marched. In China, the day was marked by a reception for more than 3,000 foreign women, billed as the largest such gathering in Peking in a decade. In the Soviet Union, where the day is a major celebration, men brought their wives flowers and chocolates.

Dorm officer elections

Students interested in becoming hall officers in their dormitories should sign a form in their hall offices by Wednesday.

Each hall will have a president, vice president and representative. Halls with more than 424 residents will have one extra representative.

To find out the qualifications for hall officers consult with your dormitory office or a current representative from your hall.

The elections will be Thursday in each hall

Three staff members of the UD filed their suit Wednesday against the Lubbock County Hospital District (LCHD) for alleged violations of the Texas Open

"How can they take away our right to sue the government?" Stevens said. "We have a situation where a Civil Appeals Court in Eastland made an opposite decision to the court in Beaumont.

"It's interesting that two courts of equal jurisdiction are making opposite rulings."

Stevens said the Abilene paper filed its suit when a new city board held a private executive session on an employee's discrimination complaint.

"This does not mean the balance was a surplus though," Anderson said. "Not all of the balance is in cash and the city needs a surplus to provide services during periods of restricted cash flow."

During a noon work session, the council met with County Commissioners to discuss the city and county's policies regarding the South Plains Association of Governments.

She also asked if the makeup of the committees truly reflected the population distribution of the 15county region SPAG governs.

County Judge Rod Shaw said he believes the city and county have good representation on the Criminal Justice Advisory Committee, which recently ranked two city projects too low to be funded.

"We have had good success in getting programs which we feel benefit both the city, and the county," Shaw said.

"Part of the city's problems in obtaining funding for crime projects could stem from the large share of funds received by Lubbock County, Commissioner Alton Brazell said. The county received $245,000 in criminal justice funds, with the major portion of the funds going to juvenile probation projects.

With spring break starting next week, several students are looking forward to camping out. One student wants to know where to go to rent camping equipment for his vacation.

Today's Re: column answers this question and others concerning university policies, functions and activities. If you have a question, call 742-2935, drop it off at The University Daily newsroom on the second floor of the Journalism Building or mail it to The University Daily, Box 4080, Tech, 79409. Questions are answered each Wednesday and Friday in this column.

"Where do you go and what is the phone number for the office where students can check out camping equipment?" Name Withheld.

The phone number to call for renting camping equipment is 742-2949. The camping equipment can be obtained by going to the Outdoor Shop located in the southwest corner of the Intramural Gym.

"Could you tell me how, when and where a student can collect the lab fees listed 'refundable' on our fee statement?" Shirley Russell.

Fees listed as refundable on the tuition and fees statement refer to the university policy whereby students receive a 100 percent tuition refund for classes dropped during the first 12 class days of each semester. All courses, except for some off-campus special courses, are 100 percent refundable if dropped with the first 12 class days, according to Bursar Mildred Caldwell.

Money which is refunded is mailed to students after the reassessment of funds which takes place on the 30th class day. Students eligible for refunded fees for classes dropped this semester will receive their checks in the mail next week, Caldwell said.

"Is the Law Library open to undergraduates at Tech? If so, what are the operating hours?" Frank Fane. According to Law Librarian Jane Olm, undergraduates may use the Law Library if they have a valid reason for using the materials in the library. "However, we do not encourage them to use it as a study hall," Olm said. The Law Library's hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to midnight; Saturday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.; and Sunday, 10 a.m. to midnight. Olm said the Law Library has special hours during holidays and between semesters. These hours can be obtained by calling the library information number (742-2251).

Olm added that the Law Library Administration reserves the right to limit use of the library to law students and members of the legal profession immediately prior to and during final exams.

"Can students in the College of Arts and Sciences have a double major?" Name Withheld.

Students enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences may have a double major within the college, according to James Culp, associate dean of Arts and Sciences. However, Culp added that it would be unrealistic to have a double major if one of the majors is in music because so many hours are required for a music degree.

Culp said he does not approve of having two majors in two different colleges such as Business Administration and Arts and Sciences. The problems involved in having a double major in two separate colleges include the decision of which college has responsibility for the student, which college keeps a record of the student's grades and which college is in charge of suspension if that is necessary, Culp

A double major from two colleges has only been approved once for a student in the College of Arts and Sciences, Culp said. The exception was made for a foreign student because of a request from her native country that she have a background in agriculture sciences and in arts and sciences. Culp said it is his personal feeling that it is academically unsound for a student to have two majors.

Leadership is essential to the backbone of any outstanding university. As senator I hope to be available and to be the kind of leader that would best represent the students in Arts and Sciences. When elected, above all else, I hope to use clear judgement and follow through with every goal pursued.

There are several areas at Tech that need some attention such as a student's say in faculty tenure. Also the need for consistency with the appeals system, as I have supported much of the building at Tech with my tickets. As senator I would promote fairer allocation of your student fees as well as academic recruiting as a whole for Tech.

But Most importantly I want to work

Brian Barkley

1. The present parking situation at Texas Tech is intolerable. Commuting students are asked to park in lots far away from the main campus. To "alleviate" this, the administration proposes to build new lots west of indiana Avenuel 2. We need a more efficient bus system, especially if we are stuck with our present parking situation. Signs should be placed at each bus stop telling students how many minutes they would have to wait for each bus (Red route, Green, Yellow, etc.). The buses need to run on time. More buses should be used if possible. The bus system could be a tremendous asset to the students if it was managed properly.

It is very important to have responsible people in the Senate.

1) Being on the Senate this year I can help the new people in office. 2) I am on the Inter-governmental Relations Committee which is designed for making improvements within Texas Tech. I'm going to Austin for two days to lobby for Higher Education at Texas

3) My greatest concern, at the present, 3) My greatest concern, at the present, is to get a voting student on the Board of Bruce B. Kemp

HI. I'm running for Arts & Sciences student senator. I can get things done for you. Experienced in student government, I've begun working with students at Tech as a member of Freshman Council and a senator's aid.

Most of us, especially at registration, search for our "advisor" and end up at the desk of a professor-who is caught between preparing the upcoming semester's lesson plans and signing registrars' cards. This is not my idea of academic counseling. A full-time Arts & Sciences counselor is necessary to aid students with their decisions. This is particularly important in the college which houses so many undecided

Walter S. Dollahon

As your senator from the College of Arts and Sciences, I will do my best to see that no issues are buried alive. Alcohol on campus is possible. Student services can be expanded. I am a junior history major from Roswell, NM. My experience as a Resident Assistant has put me close to the oncampus resident, the incoming freshman, and their problems and needs. After spending twoand-a-half years as an independent, i am now currently pledging Sigma Nu Fraternity, so I feel that I can adequately represent both Independents and Greeks. My honors at Tech include four semesters on Dean's list, and Phi Eta Sigma freshman honorary. Walter S. Dollahon, Ballot position no. 1.

I. Andrea Geist, am running in place Sciences. My platform includes working for a more effective and better advisory arts and sciences. Second, I would work for a better working relationship between the Student Association and the Arts and Sciences Council. Also, it is important to support the objectives of achieving a student representative on the Board of Regents, the publication of teacher evaluations, and extended library hours. Student government is one of two things: responsible, or worthless. Tech students deserve representatives who will be responsive to their needs. The issue of student rights cannot be ignored, nor can it be paraded around without being understood or acted upon. The procedures of the Election Commission are inadequate and counter productive They give prospective candidates no time or resources whatsoever to put on an adequate campaign. Without a knowledgable idea of the candidates or issues, the students are in danger of being misrepresented. The time is now for responsible, informative student representation. This can only be done by a thorough reappraisal of the Election Code and Commission, and a realistic view of the campaigning system.

I am a sophmore political science several key issues facing Tech students at this time. The most important of these was discussed at the Texas Student Association convention here last weekend. That is the question of student representation on the Board of Regents. I feel that the affairs of this university are the students' business; and the students, therefore, should have a voice in these matters. As a student senator, I would put forth every effort to gain student and faculty representation on the Tech Board of Regents. I will try to responsibly represent the interests of each student here at Tech. Your support in my campaign will be greatly ap-

A great missconception at Texas Tech the idea that college students are irresponsible and untrustworthy. As a student senator, I will fight to see that Litudents have a greater influence on the policies of Texas Tech. I have served on several student-faculty committees. Grade Appeals and Student Health Services being two, and I am convinced that student input greatly enhanced the decisions of those committees. Next year's Student Senate will have a variety of objectives and goals. One of these goals will be to provide student representation on the Board of Regents This goal can be realized only if the Student Senate can continue to increase the intensity and effectiveness of its lobbying efforts. Action should not be confused with productivity and it is important that every student senator be well informed as well as hard working and dedicated.

As engineering senator much of my energy would be devoted to increasing the student's rights. Universities exist primarily for the purpose of educating young men and women so that they can assume productive roles in society. This education should encompass, in addition to classroom material, frequent opportunities to develop responsibility, leadership, and the ability to think creatively. For students to fully develop these characteristics they must be allowed more freedom to choose between various alternatives.

For these reasons I am in favor of and will work for: 1) a voting student regent, alcohol on campus, and 3) required, university-wide student evaluations of faculty and courses. With hard work we can accomplish these goals. Please show your support for these issues now, by voting on Wednesday.

college once again this year. In my past senate's procedures and the governadvisor to the Freshman Council. I like the chance to apply this experience. My main goal would be to work closely with the Engineering Student Council and the Engineering Societies. I realize they are the vital parts in our college Working with these societies could really ficial to the engineering students and better the College of Engineering.

As a candidate for BA Senate, I would like to express my opinion on the scope for the office. First of all, the most effective way a senator can help the student body is hard work and involvement in all aspects of student life. I do not wish to make any promises on issues but only to promise to work hard for, and with, the College of Business and the student body.

The Student Senate is not a group that legislates to the students; ideally it is a group elected by the students to represent them and legislate for them. I sincerely want to work for and represent the College of Business and would appreciate your vote in the SA elections.

Matthew T. Dovle

As a candidate for BA senate I feel students should have more of an input in the senate. Senators need to have some type of suggestion box and have their name and phone number posted in the BA, so students can call and voice their opinions. This would make the senator a better representative of the students. There needs to be a revision of the current policies of dropping lower division courses while taking upper division courses. This is becoming a burden on students originally enrolled in Business Administration, and it is especially difficult for transfer students. As a BA senator, I believe I can be not only a good voice of the students, but also provide beneficial ideas and hardwork. MATT DOYLE Position 5.

Fred Herzer

Few people take the role of a student senator seriously. There are many issues on campus that can have serious effects on the students and I don't think students have problems with foreign TAs, parking and housing; And as a senator from the college of Business Administration, I will work to help ease these problems.

I encourage everyone to vote Wednesday and voice their opinions on the issues that affect them. Vote for Fred Herzer, number one on

I've been here long enough to know how you, my fellow students, feel and what you expect from your representatives in the senate. The one promise I will make at this time is that I will do all that is possible to increase student input. It is a reality that if any major change is going to occur on this campus, it must be done with regent's approval. Charlie Roberson

Action, not just talk, is what is needed from the senate. All proposed increases in spending and student fees should be closely checked. The inequalities in the

S.A. budget must be resolved. The senate must take a strong stand in favor of pre-registration, published faculty evaluations, and student representation on the Board of Regents. As a member of the B.A. council I have noticed a need within the college for a current events library, improved student recruiting, and a more personal attitude in the counseling office. The senate can still be an effective voice of the students, but it requires members who are truly dedicated to their constituents, not their own self interest. I feel I can be this kind of a

As Senator from the College of Education I will endeavor to represent my constituents in all matters to the best of my ability. In those issues which concern the education students, their views and opinions will be reflected in my participation. As a Senator, I am interested and knowledgeable in several issues, and when others arise in which I have insufficient knowledge, I will work to ensure that those people with experience are drawn upon as resources.

Jan Menasco

The office of Student Senate should not be used to manipulate policy or for reasons of status but should instead be used as a forum to work for and advance

The Student Senate will face a variety of issues next year. One of these issues concerns the student representation on the Board of Regents. As it stands now, the interests belong to the students and not to the administration. There are several issues which are in the interest of both the student body and the ad-ministration, such as, appropriations for funding from the legislature. Tech has grown and prospered in spite of its lack of adequate funding. Depriving Tech from full funding at the state level keeps if from reaching its full potential. The Student Senate must work with other interests at Tech to make a unified effort to work for equitable funding from the legislature.

If given the opportunity, I will work enthusiastically and diligently for student interests.

Landscape field day scheduled

About 250 students and faculty from across the county are expected to attend the annual Associated Landscape Contractors of America Inc. student field day at Tech March 16-18.

The field day is co-sponsored by the ALCA and the Horticulture Society of Tech. It will consist of student competition and field demonstrations by visiting industrial and manufacturing personnel.

Contests will be graduated in difficulty so that beginning students will not have to compete with more advanced entrants, according to field day cordinator Ronald C. Smith of the department of plant and soil science.

Further information and registration blanks may be obtained by writing the department or calling 742-2837.

ASME to sponsor car clinic

The Tech chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will sponsor a car clinic Saturday in the parking lot behind the Civil and Mechanical Engineering Building.

The clinic will last from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. and will include tune-ups, oil changes and other minor repairs on cars brought in by Tech students and faculty or Lubbock residents.

Approximate cost for labor and parts for an oil change will be $8-12. Approximate cost for labor and parts for an eight cylinder tune-up is $25-35, a six cylinder tune-up $20-25 and a four cylinder tune-up $15-20.

These costs will be reduced if the customer supplies his own parts.

Shyness training course offered

A social skills training progrm dealing with the problems of shyness will be offered this spring by the department of home and family life, according to Arthur W. Avery, Tech home and family life professor and associate chairperson. He said that the university is one of the first to offer a program to address the concerns of shy persons.

Participants will practice changing aspects of their communication, broadening self-reinforcement, talking about feelings openly and developing greater self-confidence.

The program will begin the week after spring break and will last four weeks. More information can be obtained by contacting Avery or Lynda Haynes at 742-3000.

'Swinging,' 'cool' music offered at jazz festival

By NANCY LOVELL

UD Entertainment Staff

From student's just learning to "swing" to the "cool" professionals, the Tech music department will be an oasis of jazz in a dry West Texas spring Friday & Saturday. Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Music Fraternity, in cooperation with Tech music department, will host the 12th Annual Texas Tech Jazz Band Festival.

Twenty-six junior high and high school bands from all over Texas will meet to perform, compete, observe and

According to Don Turner, director of the festival and head of Tech's jazz division, the students come, not only to learn to play better jazz, but to be exposed to better bands. Concerts will be performed Friday and Saturday nights and $1.50 for students. The competition itself, held in the Recital Hall, is free and open to the public. Friday's schedule is from 2:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. The competition Saturday will be from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Competing bands will be judged on "jazz style (that good jazz feel), 'good' swing (Count Basie type), balance, and blend." Turner said. The bands are judged on their ability to play three different jazz categories: ballad, uptempo swing, and anything else (Latin, rock, bossanova, etc.).

"A lot of the younger bands try to play too much rock," Turner said, "the festival gets them to work on all the

Turner said some of the high school big bands sound as good as their college counterparts.

The jazz festival will be "instrumental" in other ways. Junior high and high school band students are given a chance to look at Tech's music department. In turn, Tech music students can see what they will be working with when they are hired.

Each group is given 20 minutes to play for the judges. The outstanding and and runner-up in each class will receive trophies. A special trophy will be awarded to the outstanding musician of the festival. Musicians selected to the all-star band will also receive individual awards.

Judges for the festival are Curtis Wilson, Mark Hettle and Bob Houston.

Wilson is currently jazz ensemble and jazz studies director, assistant director of band saxophone and arranging instructor at Texas Christian University. Under Wilson's direction the TCU jazz ensemble won the 1977 Wichita, Kansas, Jazz Festival. He is also a professional composer-

Mark Hettle is currently in his sixth year as coordinator of the music department and the director of the lab band at Mountain View College in Dallas. He has played with an impressive list of bands that includes the Temptations, Doc Severinson, Les Elgart, Glen Campbell and the Ice Capades.

Bob Houston is percussion instructor and director of jazz ensembles at East Texas State University. He has performed with Paul Anka, Les Elgart, Peter Nero, Anthony Newly and Vicky Carr. He has appeared on the Mike Douglas Show and the Tonight Show. Houston is the leader of the Dallasbased Bob Houston Orchestra.

Pitching makes up from 50 to 90 percent of a baseball team's game. It really Baylor will also start a right- baseball in concerned. The season, Luke Prestridge (.330) depends on which authority you are talking to.

As far as the Tech baseball team is concerned pitching could well be the deciding factor as the Raiders enter their second weekend of Southwest Conference Play in 0). Waco against the Baylor Bears.

season so far has been our ineffectiveness on the mound and that could change at any time," said Tech head coach Kal Segrist.

"Pitching is going to have to shape up and shape up fast if we are going to stay in the league race," he added.

Tech enters the series with the 8-0 Bears with a 6-5 record of their own. The pitching staff on the whole has had its bright spots but with a team earned run average of 5.54 and 79 walks in 78 innings, the staff is having problems.

James Miller (1-0, two saves) will start for the Raiders in Friday's single game. It will be Miller's first start of the year. Baylor will counter with a left-hander, Jon Perlman (3-0). The game starts at 3 p.m.

Segrist continues to shake up the starting rotation

Tracksters visit UNM

Looking for one of the toughest meets this season, the women's track and field team travels to Albuquerque Saturday to compete in the University of New Mexico Triangular Meet.

Competing in the meet with Tech and UNM is West Texas State University. The Raiders defeated WTSU when the two teams met two weeks ago.

Coach Beta Little expects UNM to have strong middle distance and distance competitors, but expects her team to be outstanding in the sprints and sprint relays.

"We should do well in the long jump with Sharon Moultrie and the discus with Jennifer Perdue," Little said. For the first time this season, the Raiders will compete in the field events. Last week at the Fort Worth Recreation Invitational meet, the field events were cancelled because of rain.

Little expects fine showings from Rose Kuehler in both the discus throw and shot put and Lori Calnan in the discus and javelin throws.

Lacrosse men take on SMU

Flaunting a 3-0 division record, the Tech lacrosse team travels to Dallas this weekend to take on Southern Methodist University at 11 a.m. Saturday and the Dallas Club at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Tech will be suffering with the injuries of attackmen Steve Gentry, who is out with a bruised hand, and Blaine Bilderback, who is down with a knee injury. Midfielder Joel Cherry is suffering from an ankle injury but will be able to compete in the weekend's games.

The battle this season for the top spot in the SWC college division is expected to come from Texas A&M University, SMU and Tech. Therefore, coach Tom Zolnerowich feels that Saturday's game against SMU will be "one of two big games in our division."

The Dallas Club will put pressure on Tech's defense with its strong attack. A special challenge will come from an individual player of the Dallas Club who is a twotime All-American from West Point.

Probable starters for the Raiders will be: Buddy Graham, Joel Cherry and Bill Notturno, attack; Alex Stansbury, Rich Pasha and Marcus Olive, midfield; Larry Bartell, Gerry Berkowitz and Ray Martin, defense; and Mark Goska, goalie.

"I really wanted to go out on a high note," Huston said. "I'm just proud to be a part of this team, and I'm proud of these guys. I just hope they can go on and do well next year."

Despite the outcome, Knight was filled with nothing but praise for the Raiders.

"Tech has real quick jumpers and some very good rebounders," said Knight, who has been the target of various criticisms by reporters and fans in recent years. "I think some rebounds went our way, and we just brought them down, and were able to establish control early."

"I think Gerald Myers did all he could," Knight said. Tech just got into a hole too early."

But Myers may have summed up the whole story behind the game's outcome when he spoke of Indiana's preparation. "They were definitely ready to play," Myers said. "Obviously, we were not. We just didn't play well at all." "I think we can do well in the rest of the tournament," said Woodson. Tech played us rough. They're a good team."

The Road House — a new touch for Lubbock

Nostalgic atmospheres have become a sign of the times for many new restaurants across the country. Such atmospheres are typically associated of late with places that serve barbecue entrees with all the trimmings.

By Madelyn Owens

The Road House, located at the former site of La Fonda Del Sol, depicts the increasingly popular nostalgia of the 1940s era. Antique furniture and odds and ends are scattered throughout the restaurant.

The walls of the entryway are covered with old pictures of Lubbock's past. One deals with the big flood, another with Lubbock's Queen of Safety (whatever that is).

The bar is to the right. Stepping down, one can't help but notice the large wooden bar that curves in an L-shape. Directly across from it is the two-walled plate glass window. The scene outside is truly picturesque. The view overlooks a lighted patio on the edge of a pond with fountains. Large trees and decorative shrubbery, (certainly an unusual site for Lubbock) combine for an impressive and relaxing landscape.

The bar opens into the airy dining room through several entrances. The division separates the two, but does not close in either setting.

The same plate-glass window extends into the dining area revealing the patio and pond.

The nostalgia really is most striking along the wooden booth-lined back wall. A collage of 1940s advertisements ranging from Piggy Pears to old movies to cigar labels cover the space. With the antique tables dotted around the floor area, the atmosphere offers a new touch to the Lubbock restaurant scene.

The Road House opened Monday night for a press party. A barbecue dinner and beer were served. Included in the plate were barbecued ribs, brisket and sausage, which were tender, juicy and delicious. Potato salad and beans were served as side dishes and a relish tray was piled high with jalepeono peppers, onions and pickles. At the end of the buffet table were bread and butter, which completed the generous portions handed out that evening.

If the food Monday night is indicative of the nights to come, it will be an excellent place to dine.

The smoked barbecue was as tender as I have ever eaten (and being a native Texan, I've eaten a lot of barbecue). The reason it is so tender is probably due to a large extent to the fact that it's smoked for 18 to 20 hours every day.

The entrees consist of steaks, barbecue plates and the Blue Plate Special, one-half of a smoked chicken.

For parties of four or more, the barbecue can be ordered country style. This includes ribs, sausage and brisket served with bowls of potato salad, cole slaw and beans (all you can eat for $7.95 per person).

Side orders of homemade bread and homemade ice cream (a different flavor served every day) are also available.

Prices range from $3.95 for the barbecue chicken to $8.95 for the 12 oz. New York strip.

Dinner is served from 5 to 10 on week nights and 5 to 11 on weekends.

The Road House opened to the public Wednesday night.

To get to this nastalgic restaurant, head north on US 87 toward the airport. Turn left on FM 2641, the same road as the airport turn off. It is just to the left, nestled in a valley of trees.

Public TV has a festival

If the thought of one more fraternity row spinoff, braless female detective shows or space galaxy series tends to turn you green with nausea, then switch—to another channel that is.

CBS, NBC and ABC aren't the only television networks in existence. A fourth network — the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) — is growing and gaining dimension with every passing year.

One of the major highlights and money-raising endeavors for PBS and its local affiliates is the "Public Television Festival '79" taking place today through March 18 on KTXT-TV, Channel 5.

But public television has not always displayed these strengths. In 1953, a lone station in the neighbor city of Houston started public educational television.

And nine years later, public television made its broadcasting debut in Lubbock on KTXT-TV's Channel 5.

But KTXT also experienced its share of youthful difficulties. For KTXT the major problem was simply gettifng the message across.

For one thing, KTXT rarely broadcasted. And even when it did, its transmitters were so weak it could barely project to nearby 22nd Street and Memphis Streets. KTXT's programming repertory consisted primarily of educational shows similar to "Sunrise Semester."

But how times changed — for both KTXT and PBS. PBS is now serving a full schedule of daytime and evening programs to 2266 public television stations, and more than 50 million people view PBS programs weekly.

KTXT has grown along with PBS to accommodate the expansion. KTXT currently broadcasts to an area containing almost 280,000 residents. The coverage area for KTXT ranges approximately 40 miles, with most fringe areas served by cable companies.

One thing many immediately notice about public television is the lack of commercials. The lack of these promotion bits plays a major role in the purpose of public television.

Funds to operate the public television network, produce the programs and support the local stations come from sources other than advertisements. Instead, money is obtained through federal and state governments, foundations and corporations and, increasingly important for the future, through individual donations. KTXT currently opeates within an annual budget of about $325,000.

While other networks must program to build mass audiences to attract sponsors, public television does not have to adhere to these restrictions. PBS is able to select programs that apeal to more specific, limited audiences. Public television can also devote more time to educational shows.

Financial support is always a major concern for any local public television affiliate. KTXT producer-director Cathy Schneider said that the money raised during the 'Public Television Festival' will be used to purchase programs throughout the year.

After March, there is a purchasing round where we bid and bid and bid on programs," Schneider said.

KTXT's financial goal for 1979 is $60,000. Station officials are optimistic that the goal will be attained.

"We usually have made our past financial goals . . . or come very close," Schneider said. "We've always had a successful festival."

KTXT has a close, almost intimate relationship with its viewers. And at times like the Festival, the financial and manpower support of their viewers is highly regarded and depended on.

"The Festival is very much a voluntary effort. Organizations man telephones and businesses donate food and supplies," Schneider said. "And a lot of women get involved because they feel it (KTXT) is so good for their children."

being offered for the March festival. KTXT is billing the March festival selections as "TV Worth Staying Home For."

Some of the musical highlights include "The Big Band Calvacade," featuring Bob Crosby, Frankie Carle and Freddy Martin; "Live From the Grand Ole Opry," with the best in country music; "Horowitz at Lincoln Center;" and "That Great American Gospel Sound" with Tennessee Ernie Ford as guest host.

Film classics offered include Jean Cocteau's original 1946 version "Beauty and the Beast;' Oscar Wilde's "The Importance of Being Earnest;" Federico Fellini's 'La Strada" and a string of Hollywood musicals including "High Society," "Singing in the Rain" and "The Band Wagon."

But if you're not in the mood for music or drama, PBS has other types of programming. Sports fiends can watch "Soccer in Germany" An insider's peak of the nation's capital is given with "Washington Week in Review."

Documetaries offer a perspective, in-depth look into topics such as "The Making of the Scarlet Letter," "Methadone: An American Way and "Pomapeii: Frozen in Fire."

KTXT Station Manager John Henson said every attempt is made to satisfy the programming desires of Channl Five members.

To become a KTXT member, a taxdeductible donation is made to the station in the amounts of $15, $25, $50, $100 and $500-$1,000

"Only our members receive our program guides," Henson said. "And we periodically place questionnaires or quizes about programming in our guides to find out what our viewers want to see. And we usually have a very big response."

An example of this kind of communication is listed in the March program guide. Thirty-three programs and Tim Curry ("Rocky Horror") in "Three Men In a Boat."

Stephen Moore, Michael Palin (Monty Python)

are listed with the number of units, length in minutes and cost of each program are also provided. The reader is told that he has $50,000 and "should shop for the most program minutes at the lowest possible cost."

Then the readers are told to 'keep in mind that KTXT viewers expect the highest standards; and that quality costs money." Then the puzzle is mailed to KTXT for tabulation.

"We talk to our viewers every month. We do things like this to get them to respond," Henson said.

Henson said KTXT is consistently attentive to the demands of its viewers. He used as an example the increasing costs of popular programs. "Take 'Sesame Street,' for instance. If it increased in cost, we would have to go with it (the higher price) because it's such a popular show," Henson said.

But KTXT also has to satisfy certain academic requirements, since it falls within a department of the Division of Continuing Education. Therefore, they also offer programs where college credit can be earned. Some of the semester's programs are Introduction to Psychology, "The Shakespeare

EXPERT DRY CLEANING

& laundry service too

Plays" for theater arts courses and "The Adams Chronicles" for history courses.

Although public television has acquired the reputation as being for elitists, the appeal of the diverse programming has gained increasingly widespread support in the last several years.

Both Henson and Schneider agree. "Nationally, the percentage of people who watch public television has increased dramatically over the past two or three years," Henson said.

If you would like to become a KTXT member, call 742-5555 before March 18 or 742-2209 after March 18. Or write and send donations to KTXT-TV, P.O. Box 4359, Lubbock, Texas 79409.

1:00 (II) NEW MEXICO REPORT

Commercial doesn't have to mean crass. George Harrison proves that commercial can mean excellence with his new album, "George Harrison" (Dark Horse).

Harrison was always known as the "silent Beatle". His previous albums reflected that. The albums were for the most part, moody, dark and introspective for the most part. And they tended to become repitious after too much listening.

That's not to say that Harrison wasn't a musical innovator. He was one of the first Western musicians to bring Indian influences to rock and roll. Harrison produced great music when music

By Inez Russell

that influence worked.

Indian music can become dull to listeners not trained in its nuances, however. Harrison relied heavily on that type of music as a soloist, though. And many times his albums bogged down.

That doesn't happen with "George Harrison." Never before has Harrison showed the pure zest for life that saturates his newest effort. And never before has he sustained it as well.

"Blow away," the single from the album, is almost an ode to happiness. "All I got to do is to love you, All I got to be is, be happy." Gone are sermons about Hare Krishna; now Harrison just says he has to be happy.

Harrison has also become more resigned to the fact that he was a Beatle. Two or three years ago he would not have recorded "Not Guilty" or "Here Comes the Moon."

Master at going faster

"Not Guilty" was written for the "White Album," but was not used then. When Harrison was putting the new album together he dug up an old demo tape and decided to use "Not Guilty" for this album. The song is a kind of transition between that period and now. It has an almost Beatlesque flavor but is definitely a Harrison, and a '70s song.

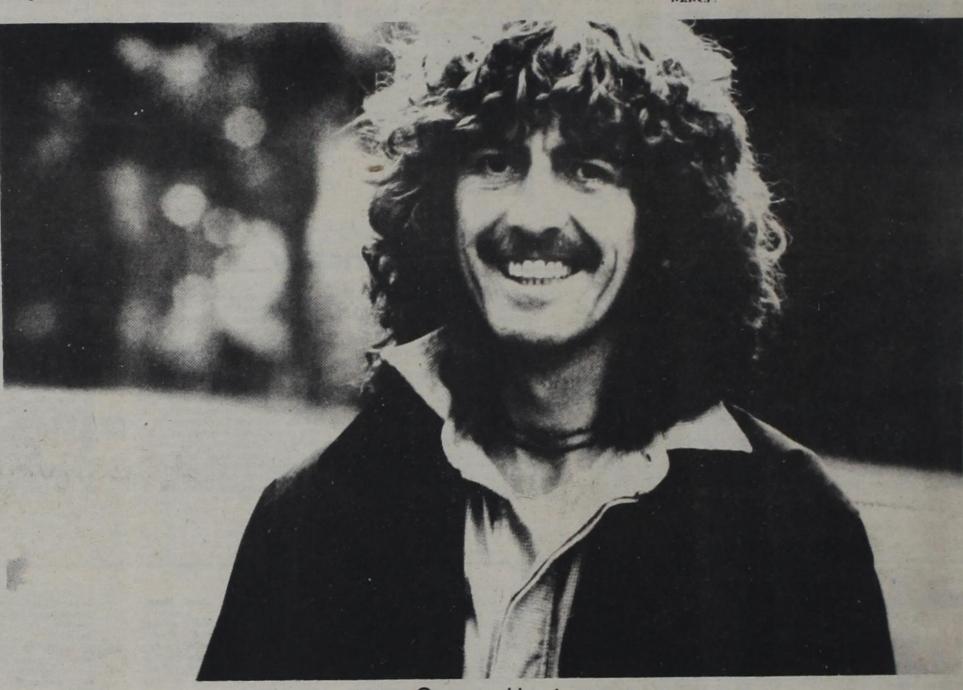

"Here comes the Moon" is a dreadful pun taken from one of Harrison's biggest hits as a Beatle, "Here Comes the Sun." But it's not a dreadful song. Except for the similarity in the titles, it is totally different.

While "Here Comes the Sun" is about a long dark winter followed by the sun's coming, "Here Comes the Moon" seems to be more about the moon returning after going behind the cloud. It's a difference in emphasis. Like the rest of this album, "Here Comes the Moon" is an intrinsically optimistic

Even the one song that might be somewhat sad isn't. "Faster" was written in memory of Ronnie Peterson, a race car driver who died in a crash.

Harrison could have applied that song to himself. He, too, has "realized his dreams." And with this album he has proven himself a "master at going faster."
