To Meet Today

Voting Rules Get SC Look

Elections and new election procedures are the main concern of the Student Council now, with the upcoming elections this week topping the bill.

Friday's balloting will fill six vacancies in the freshman council and three on the Student Council. Forty-two candidates had taken out petitions for the office last week, and 40 had returned them by Monday's deadline.

In a regularly scheduled meeting, the Council will have an open session in the Coronado Room of the Union at 6 p.m. today to plan activities for the spring semester.

Those filing their completed petitions for the freshman council vacancies include Kay Taylor, Mary Beth Diers, Ellen Branch, Marcia Winkelman, Shirley Wishcamper, Pam Hughes, Vicki Pharr, David Beckman, Danny Hood, Margy Randolph, Ann Courtney, Mary Gibbons, Sara Cox, Connie Curry, Gail Tait, Roger Thraikill, Jimmy Martin, Jo Hanson, Evelyn Kuhn, Sandra Duke, Suzanne Harrington, Betty Melzer, Jenny Matthews, Clark Pfluger, Janice O'Neal, Sally Beckman, Jeannie Rook, Tom Callan, Mike Moore and Martha Welch.

Applicants for the two Student Council openings in business administration are Jerry Peirce, Becky Parker, Diane Baker, John Paul Davis, Rick Klein, James Penny, Mac Percival and Pat Walker.

Candidates for the single engineering position are Ronnie Botkin and Peggy Pedigo.

Oscar Nominations Announced Monday

By JAMES BACON

Associated Press Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The movie "Lawrence of Arabia" with 10 nominations paced the 35th annual Academy Award nominations Monday.

It was followed closely by "To Kill a Mockingbird" with eight nominations and "Mutiny on the Bounty," with seven.

For the best performance by an actor there were these nominations:

Burt Lancaster in "Bird Man of Alcatraz," Jack Lemmon in "Days of Wine and Roses," Marcello Mastroianni in "Divorce — Italian Style," Peter O'Toole in "Lawrence of Arabia" and Gregory Peck in "To Kill a Mockingbird."

For the best performances by an actress, these were the nominees:

Ann Bancroft in "The Miracle Worker," Bette Davis in "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?," Katharine Hepburn in "Long Day's Journey into Night," Geraldine Page in "Sweet Bird of Youth," and Lee Remick in "Days of Wine and Roses."

For the best motion picture of the year, academy members nominated: "Lawrence of Arabia," "The Longest Day," "The Music Man," "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "To Kill a Mockingbird."

For the best performance by an actor in a supporting role the nominations were:

Ed Begley in "Sweet Bird of Youth," Victor Buono in "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?," Telly Savalas in "Bird Man of Alcatraz," Omar Sharif in "Lawrence of Arabia" and Terence Stamp in "Billy Budd."

Nominees for best performance by an actress in a supporting role:

Mary Badham in "To Kill a Mockingbird," Patty Duke in "The Miracle Worker," Shirley Knight in "Sweet Bird of Youth," Angela Lansbury in "The Manchurian Candidate" and Thelma Ritter in "Bird Man of Alcatraz."

UT Meet Highly Rated

By CECIL GREEN
Toreador Staff Writer

"Stimulating, beneficial, and well worth the effort . . ."

With these words of praise, LeRoy Cebik described his opinions of the recent Challenge Colloquium, "Individualism in the Twentieth Century," at the University of Texas.

Top-name speakers, including Upton Sinclair, Pulitzer prize winner in literature and strong socialist, emphasized, said Cebik,

"the importance of the individual in relation to his society."

OTHER SPEAKERS addressing the delegates were Russell Kirk, Paul Goodman, and Eric Johnson — all fighters for the individual in their respective fields.

"The meeting was stimulating," said Cebik, "because we all got to exchange ideas in small discussion groups and, of course, hear the excellent speakers. Perhaps all of the ideas they presented were not new," he continued, "but each one was useful and they all helped us to see our own ideas in a new context, or meaning."

ACCORDING TO Cebik, Goodman and Kirk emphasized the theory that a person should become more of a citizen and a part of his society rather than someone separated from society. Also, these two men stated that they believed that tradition shouldn't be radically changed, but perhaps altered in a slow way so as not to abolish the authority set up by the mind and other social concerns.

Sinclair, an "84-year-old fireball," talked mainly of his recollections and beliefs on the importance of socialism. Johnson, in contrast to Sinclair, is an industrial leader who viewed the industrial-social setup and emphasized the relation of business and industry to the individual.

IN FACT, one of the humorous incidents of the convention was when Johnson helped Sinclair on stage, embraced him fondly, and joked to the audience: "I never thought that I would embrace socialism so liberally."

"The others attending from all over the state were pleased at the results of the meet," continued Cebik, "and we all felt that we were introduced to new aspects of learning and expended our horizons of thought."

Other delegates from Tech were Amon Burton, Arthur Chandler and Judy McKinnon.

Robison Calls For Discipline

Texas Tech's athletic director Monday issued a plea to the student body for better conduct at athletic contests.

Polk Robison, in a request spurred by crowd attitude at Saturday's 74-73 victory by Tech over Rice, referred to unfavorable incidents as increasing, but part of a trend started at the beginning of the season.

"We have won two sportsmanship trophies in the past few years," Robison said, "and I hate to see us moving the other way."

The Rice game, marred in the closing moments by a free-for-all between players, was marked by several instances of excessive booing and paper cup-throwing from the stands.

The Red Raiders play Texas Christian here at 8 p.m. today.

Sears Gives 14 Awards

W. E. Lusby, Sears Roebuck Foundation vice president, presented scholarships to 14 Tech students Monday at a banquet in the Tech Union.

Deans and department heads of the School of Home Economics and the School of Agriculture attended.

Home economics recipients were Melinda Anne Goen, Norma Faye Haddox and Velma Mae Rich.

Tech Wins In Losing

More than 50 letters expressing praise and enthusiasm for Tech have been received by college officials as an aftermath of Tech's recent appearance on the G.E. College Bowl.

The majority of the mail was from persons not connected with Tech. One letter was from Philadelphia, home of Drexel.

The letters sympathized with Tech on the debatable ruling on the religious question that enabled Drexel to win, 230-220. Many suggested that Tech be invited to reappear on College Bowl. In many cases copies of the letters went to CBS and General Electric.

James G. Allen, dean of student life, said that Tech has won a "moral victory."

"The favorable publicity our college has received far outweighs what it would have probably received by winning," commented Allen.

Tech News In Brief

AWS NOMINATIONS made at 5 p.m. Wednesday in the Nominations for Association of Union. The AWS Council will submit a slate of officers, nominations will then be open to the floor. Any woman student can nominate.

LATIN POLITICS

The Tech Union International Interest Committee is sponsoring a forum on Latin American Political Affairs, 12 Noon Wednesday in the Mesa Room. Faculty panel members are Raymond Mack, assistant professor of government, and Dr. Harley D. Oberhelman, associate professor of foreign language. Student members are Rarl Maristany, Cuba, and Eithel Castro, Venezuela.

POETRY HOUR

Students are invited to bring their own poetry to read at the "Bring It Yourself" Poetry Hour at 6:30 p.m. Thursday on the Tech Union Sun Porch.

PIANISTS TO APPEAR

The noted pianists Ferrante and Teicher will appear at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

Sponsored by the Tech Union Special Events Committee, the popular duo will present a program which will undoubtedly include such hits as "Theme From The Apartment," "Exodus" and "Tonight."

Tickets to Ferrante and Teicher are on sale in the Tech Union, Tech Bookstore and Wayne's Record Shop. They are 75 cents for students and $1 for faculty.

And here we are in Texas Tech, called by some, the "hotbed of apathy."

There has been a noticeable amount of concern lately over the lack of enthusiasm of students for any cause. In fact, some have said that if a bomb were dropped in the middle of the campus, the students wouldn't even look at the hole on the way to class.

Take, for instance, the matter of the proposed tuition hike. Here is something which is bound to affect every student at Tech. But those who know about it don't particularly care. Most people merely shrug and figure their fathers can stand the additional charge. And the poor unfortunates who happen to be paying their own way through start looking around for some heirlooms to hock.

But no one does anything. Sure, people may gripe. But our guess is that Tech students will absorb the news when the hike goes through — if it does — as passively as a bowl of jello.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

Tech's student branch of the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers will meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Union Ballroom. "After Graduation—What Next?" will be discussed by representatives from Collins Corp., Douglas Aircraft Co., I.B.M., Sandia Corp. and Bell Laboratories, Inc.

Why? We read of protests every day from students in other colleges. Some riot, some send petitions, some demonstrate, but we do nothing.

This is not a call to riot. This is not a call to picket the Tech Union or dynamite the Ad Bldg. But this is a call to at least recognize the fact that things happen every day that may affect us. This is a call to worry about it. And, if the need be, do something.

Maybe one of the causes of our apathy is the fact that we're so bogged down in small rules that most of us spend our time either trying to figure out ways to break the rules or trying to keep them.

We can't kiss in lobbies, live in dirty rooms, or wear culottes to class. These rules are made by groups of students whom we elect. Then we gripe because these rules exist. But we do nothing. We don't even lodge a formal protest. We confine our complaining to late hours in dorm rooms.

Is it fear? If so, of what? We, as citizens of a free society, at least have the right of protest.

If we are apathetic now, what will happen in the future? How about when we graduate? Isn't it of at least minor importance to care a little, and when something seems unfair, to try to do something about it? Otherwise, we could easily sink into a morass of indifference that could spell the doom not only of us as individuals but of this nation as well.

Ah, well, why get worked up? No great injustices have been committed yet, and if they are, probably someone else will do something. I hope.

THE CURSE OF THE CAMPUS: NO. 2

As was pointed out last week, one would think that with all the progress we have made in the education game, something might have been done by now about roommates. But no. The roommate picture has not brightened one bit since Ethan Goodpimple founded the first American college.

(Contrary to popular belief, Harvard was not the first. Mr. Goodpimple started his institution some 75 years earlier. And quite an institution it was, let me tell you! Mr. Goodpimple built schools of liberal arts, fine arts, dentistry, and tanning. He built a lacrosse stadium that seated 102,000. Everywhere on campus was emblazoned the stirring Latin motto CAVE MUSSI—"Watch out for moose." The student union contained a bowling alley, a clock, and a 16-chair barber shop.

... and as for shaving, they didn't

(It was this last feature—the barber shop—that, alas, brought Mr. Goodpimple's college to an early end. The student body, being drawn from the nearby countryside, was composed chiefly of Pequots and Iroquois who, alas, had no need of a barber shop. They braid their hair instead of cutting it, and as for shaving, they don't. The barber, Tremblatt Follicle by name, grew so depressed staring all the time at 16 empty chairs that one day his mind finally gave way. Seizing his vibrator, he ran outside and shook the entire campus till it crumbled to dust. This later became known as Pickett's Charge.)

But I digress. We were discussing ways for you and your roommate to stop hating each other. This is admittedly difficult but not impossible if you will both bend a bit, give a little.

I remember, for example, my own college days (Berlitz, '08). My roommate was, I think you will allow, even less agreeable than most. He was a Tibetan named Ringading whose native customs, while indisputably colorful, were not entirely endearing. Mark you, I didn't mind so much the gong he struck on the hour or the string of firecrackers he set off on the half-hour. I didn't even mind his singing chicken feathers every dusk and daybreak. What I did mind was that he singed them in my hat.

To be fair, he was not totally taken with some of my habits either—especially my hobby of collecting water. I had no jars at the time and just had to stack the water any-old-where.

Well sir, things grew steadily cooler between Ringading and me, and they might have gotten actually ugly had we not each happened to receive a package from home one day. Ringading opened his package, paused, smiled shyly at me, and offered me a gift.

"Thank you," I said. "What is it?"
"Yak butter," he said. "You put it in your hair. In Tibetan we call it gree see kidstuff."

"Well now, that's mighty friendly," I said and offered him a gift from my package. "Now you must have one of mine."

"Thank you," he said. "What is this called?"
"Marlboro Cigarettes," I said and held a match for him.

He puffed. "Wow!" he said. "This sure beats chicken feathers!"
"Or anything else you could name," I said, lighting my own Marlboro.

And as we sat together and enjoyed that fine flavorful Marlboro tobacco, that pure white Marlboro filter, a glow of good fellowship came over us—a serene conviction that no quarrels exist between men that will not yield to the warmth of honest good will. I am proud to say that Ringading and I remain friends to this day, and we exchange cards each Christmas and each Fourth of July, firecrackers.

Tech Plays Host To TCU

After taking a "hard-fought" upset win from the Rice Owls Saturday, 74-73, the Texas Tech Red Raiders play host at 8 p.m. today to last-place Texas Christian in the Coliseum.

The win against Rice gave Texas the Southwest Conference championship and brought Tech's conference record up to 5-6.

Tech had the game almost tucked away at 73-67 with seconds remaining when Harold Denney and Rice's Larry Tiner collided on a blocked shot by Denney. Tiner crawled onto Denney, who shook him off with an elbow, which consequently emptied both benches into a small-scale riot.

The referees quieted things down and gave Tiner his two foul shots, both of which he converted. Then the officials allowed Rice two technical throws because of Denney's "flagrant violation after the whistle."

Both of these shots were good also, and after the Owls were given the ball out of bounds Barry Rodrigue popped the net to tie the game, 73-all.

The winning score came with only 14 seconds left when Tom Patty sank a free shot. He missed the second, but it didn't matter because Tech rebounded after a missed Rice shot with three seconds left.

Sid Wall led Tech scorers against Rice with 23, followed by Bobby Gindorf's 18. Glen Hallum hauled down 10 rebounds for the Raiders, but both Wall's scoring and Hallum's rebounding were overshadowed by Rice's tremendous junior Kendall Rhine, who scored 30 points and grabbed 27 rebounds, only 18 rebounds shy of the total 45 garnered by the Raiders.

Tech will probably start Hallum and Gindorf at forwards, Wall and Patty at guards and Denny at center.

TCU will start Archie Clayton, 6-10 at center; Don Rosick, 6-7 and Johnny Fowler, 6-4 at forwards and Bob McKinley, 6-2, Jerry Wade, 6-3, or Ronny Cornish, 6-0 at guards.

In the last meeting between these two teams, Tech came home the victor with a thrilling 69-66 victory. Since the Horned Frogs and Raiders began their series in 1931-32, the teams have each won 16 games.

Other SWC action today finds A&M at Baylor, Texas at Rice and SMU at Arkansas.

Texas leads the conference with a 11-0 record, followed by Rice and A&M at 7-4; Arkansas, 6-5; SMU and Tech, 5-6; Baylor, 2-9 and TCU, 1-10.

The Tech Picadors, fresh from a 96-81 swamping of San Angelo College Saturday, will meet Hardin-Simmons junior varsity at 6 p.m.

Buchanan Announces Intramural Deadlines

Edsel Buchanan, director of intramurals, announced that the deadline to enter the intramural badminton tournament has been extended to 5 p.m. Thursday.

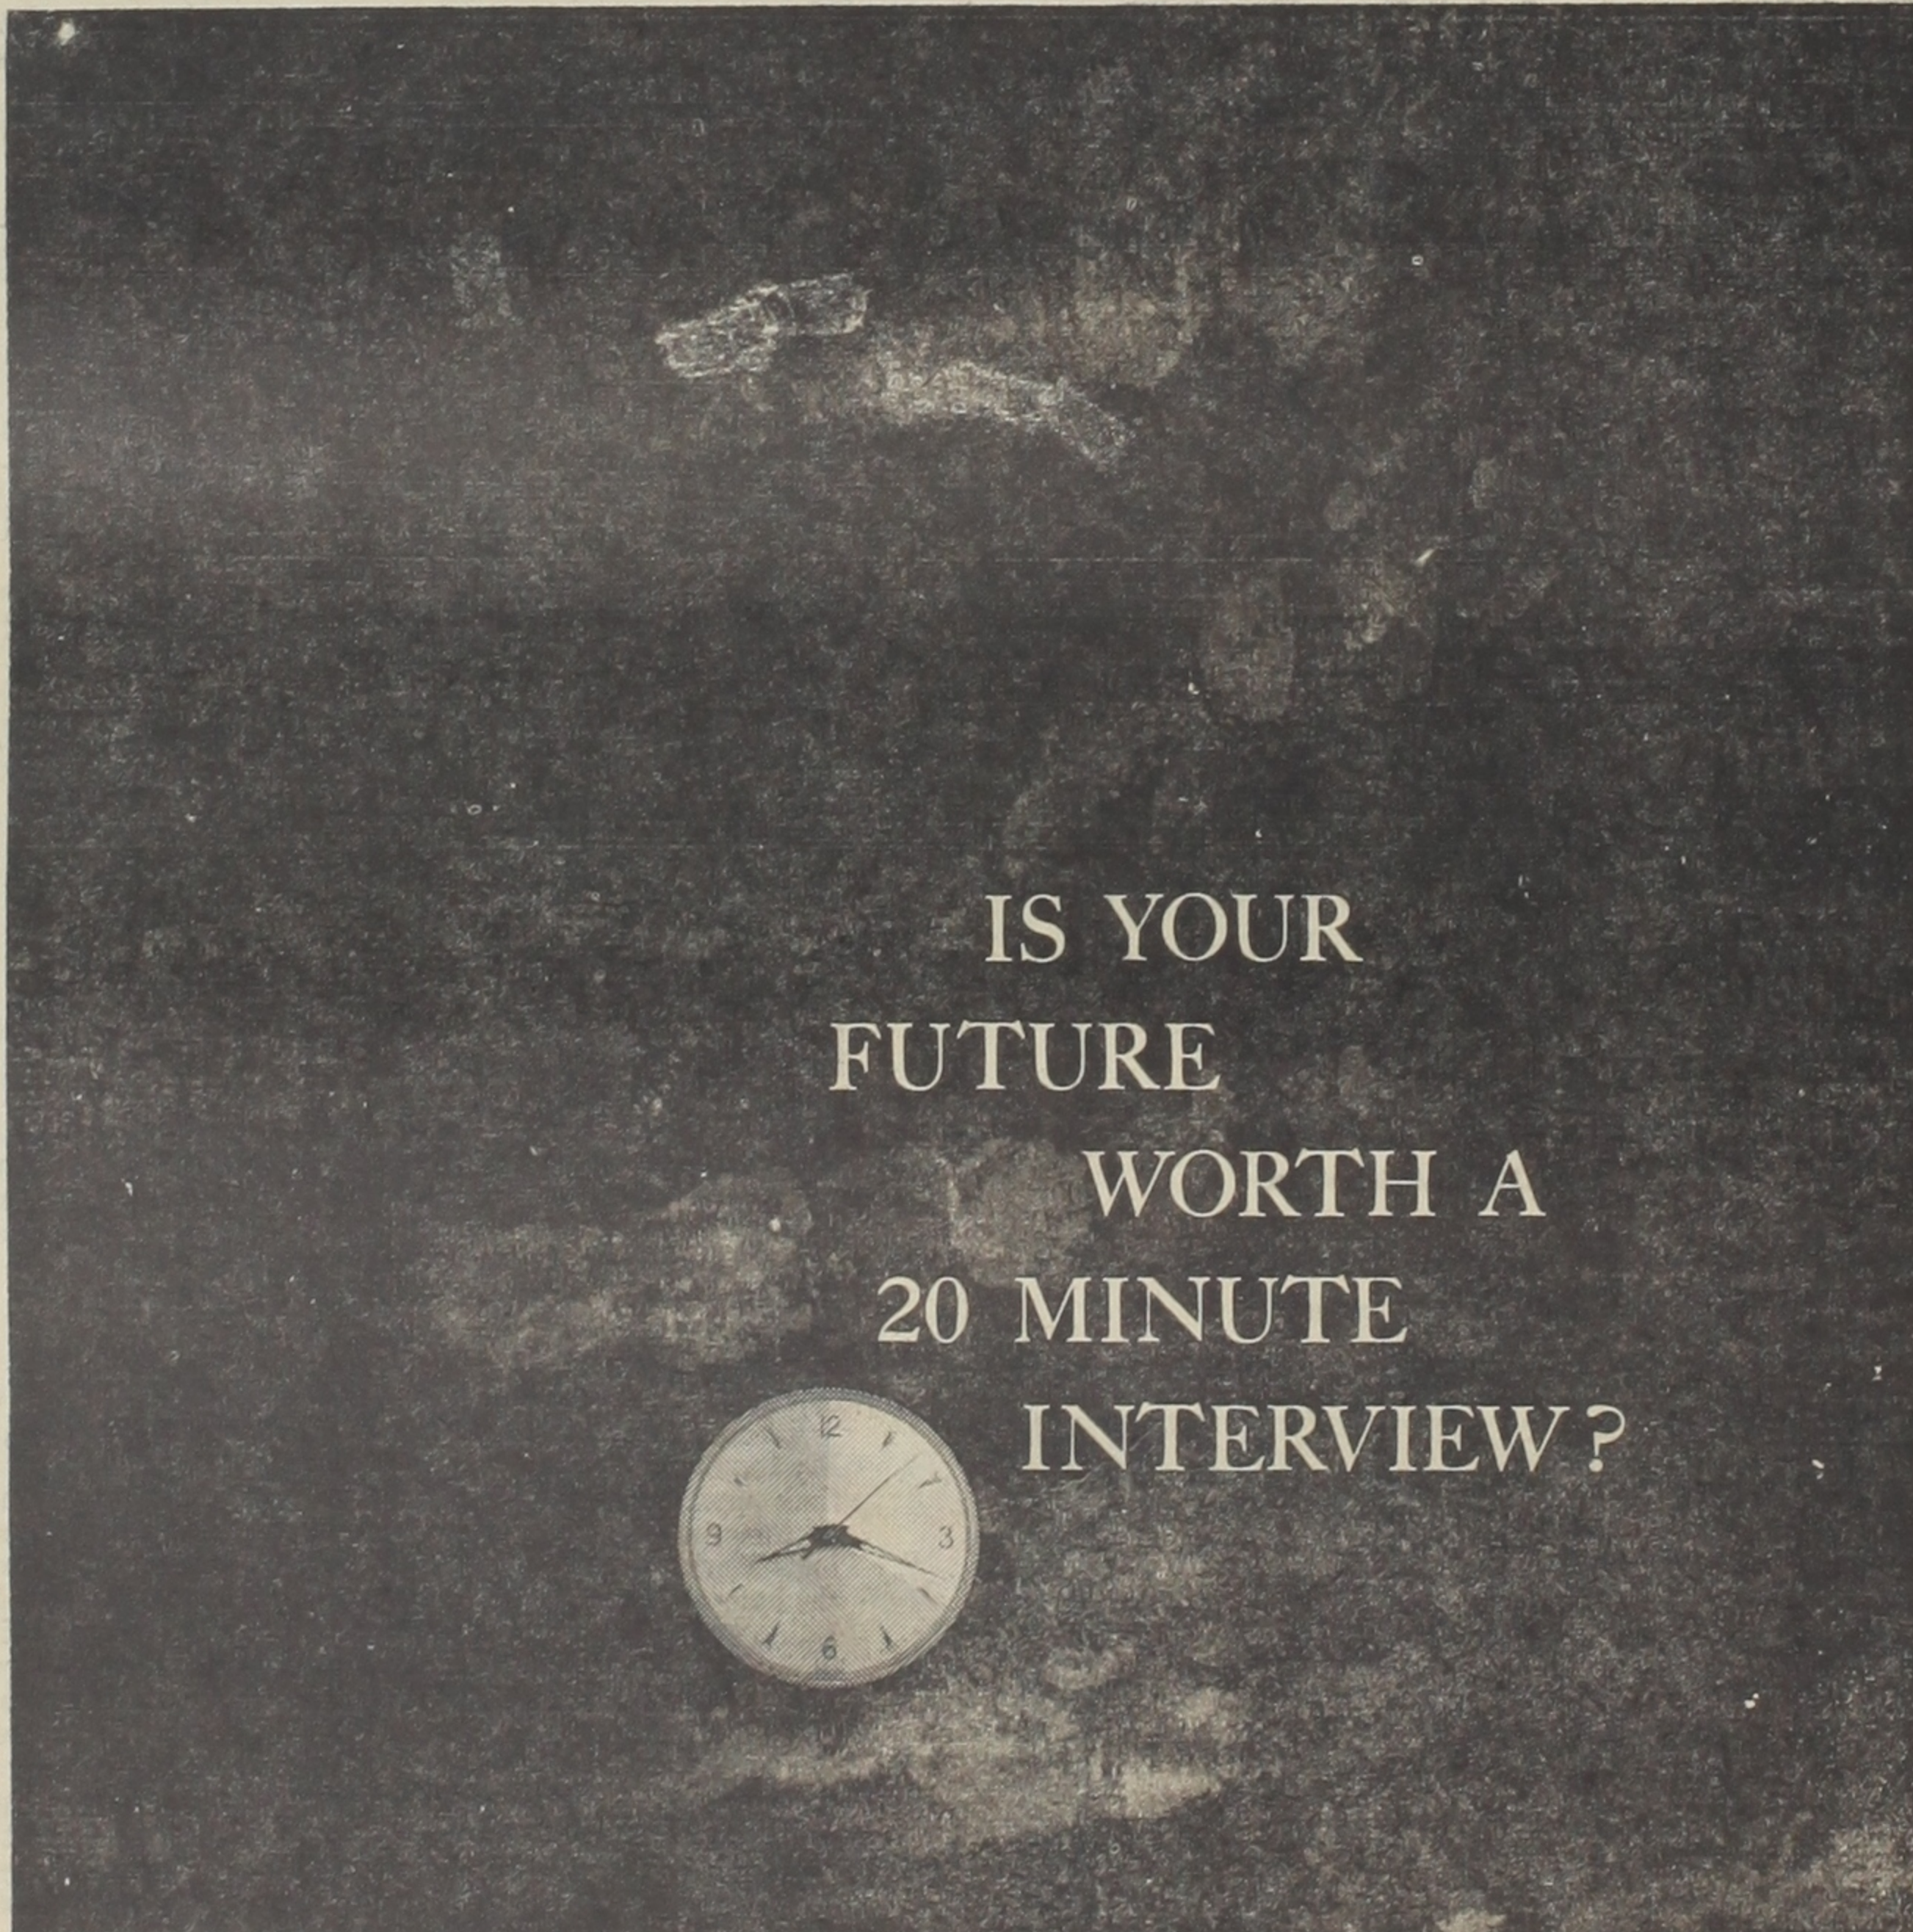

Buchanan added that in order to fill out the roster for the event, more entries are needed.

February is also the deadline for entering the basketball free throw contest, golf, tennis, handball, volleyball and softball.

"Looking further into the spring, we will have organizational meetings for softball for fraternities, dorms and independents shortly," Buchanan said.

Organizational meeting for fraternities will be at 5 p.m. March 5 in the Intramural Conference Room. Independent and dormitory managers will meet March 6 at the same time.

Further information may be acquired from Buchanan at ext. 3113.

IS YOUR FUTURE
WORTH A
20 MINUTE
INTERVIEW?

If you are about to decide on your future employment and are graduating with outstanding scholastic achievement in engineering or the physical sciences . . . the Sandia Corporation would like to arrange an interview with you.

At Sandia, you would work in research, design and development, or engineering. Our scientists and engineers are engaged in projects in the fields of solid state physics, plasma physics, materials research, explosives technology, pulse phenomena and radiation damage.

You would work in a modern well-equipped $120 million laboratory and be associated with some of this nation's outstanding technical personnel. You would receive liberal benefits which, in addition to insurance, retirement and vacation, include an opportunity for continuing your graduate studies.

You would be employed in sunny, dry Albuquerque, a Southwestern cultural center of over 250,000, or in our laboratory at Livermore, California, with all the advantages of the San Francisco Bay area.

Protects 'Good Name'

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Baseball is protecting its good name with extra vigilance in these days of sports scandals but Commissioner Ford Frick declared flatly, "I have no question about the integrity of any ball players."

Frick's undercover squad is active as usual, and in addition Judge Robert Cannon of Milwaukee, the attorney for the players' association, is making a swing of all the ball camps on his own initiative.
