In a critical move against the ITU in its fight to keep the closed shop, the National Labor Relations Board's prosecuting agency charged the union's top officers with having disobeyed and disregarded the injunction.

The restraining order was issued March 27 by Judge Luther M. Swygert at Indianapolis. It was there that Robert N. Denham sent his formal petition that the union be cited for contempt.

The petition asked that the AFL union be stopped immediately from giving any further supportincluding all-important strike benefit payments-to the striking printers on Chicago and Hammond, Ind., newspapers. The ITU members there have been on strike since last Nov. 24.

Papers are printed without ITU help by using a new photo engraving process, for typewritten copy. How long the Chicago strike could continue without the aid of the In-ternational Union is a question.

SAND SPRINGS MAN FINDS 'WELL WATER' FINE FOR RUNNING CAR

Walter Merrick, whose residence is situated in the east part of Sand Springs, doesn't know what to make of the utter lack of water in the well on his place but he's making good useof the substitute. Merrick has had a 30-foot well for the past eight or ten years and up until about a year ago it produced good water. However, he noticed an oil content in it early last fall and it became increasingly worse. He finally had to stop drinking the water. When his windmill went out a few days ago, Merrick decided to enter the well and investigate He discovered what was later setermined to be gasoline, which was within four percent of being absolutely pure. He hauled out two 50-gallon barrels of the liquid and placed some of it in his vehicle. It operated perfectly. He estimates there is still 400 gallons of the gasoline in the well. Where the liquid is coming from, no one seems to know. Service station operators in that vicinity have checked to see if their storage tanks are losing any and they reportedly are not.

Merrick's place is about five miles from Cosden refinery. C. E. Kiser, who lives near Merrick, says the water in his well is beginning to taste of oil, too. Geologists are being invited to the scene to investigate.

Agriculture reported today that moisture was adequate for plant growth only in the northern Pan-Its weekly survey, reflecting con-

Bolls were opening rapidly in North Texas but some further deterioration of late plantings resulted from the lack of moisture.

Cotton was in good condition and fruiting heavily over most of the High Plains and Low Rolling Plains. Moisture conditions have been favorable in these areas except in the area south and east of Lubbock where the cotton was be-

Plant losses continued to increase in the full-crop vegetable area in the extreme southern counties, particularly in the Rio Grande Valley where temperatures ranged from 100 to 105. Tomato plant losses in the Eagle Pass district was extensive and progress of all plantings

Some supplemental feeding was being done in a few central and southern counties. In these parts of the state and in East Texas, there was some continued shrinkage of stock where grasses were short and dry. Stock water was still adequate over most of the state but was becoming short in a few localities in Central and East Texes.

turmise what the results on the city's two lakes have been since they captured their first water back in the summer of 1940. The city has compiled and released consumption figures, covering eight years,

They reveal about 2% billion gailons of water metered out of the lakes in that space of time. At our prices, that is just a little under $700,000 in gross value. The net on it is around $200,000 according to unofficial estimates. Thus, the operation has just about liquidated itself, that is from the city's share of the PWA project which made it possible. Of course both have years and years of useful service ahead, so much so that this is really only the beginning. From the point of

More important than that, however, is the fact that these sources have bulwarked the city's supply to the point that they have helped meet our water situation. During the past two seasons we have had no shortage. Within themselves they are not a complete answer for sometimes in periods of prolonged drouth they play out; too, the limit of how much can come through the pipelines in one day is a factor. The important thing is that they fit into a pattern and constitute an effective cushion. The experience of these two lakes ought to be helpful in looking at other surface water proposals, not the least of which is the projected lake on the upper

Parents Need To Help Get At Root Of Scooter Problem

Police are getting more and more calls then checking up to make sure that this is about youngsters on scooters and motorbikes creating a nuisance.

Part of this is due to practice of speeding up and down streets, occasionally getting on sidewalks; part is due to youthful sest for racing; part is due to a penchant for noise generated by unmuffled motors. It is difficult for police to control this sort of thing because youngsters have a sixth sense about scattering before the sops arrive. Parents, the ones who permit these children to have these means of conveyance and pleasure, should get to the root of the problem. By insisting that their children use them discreetly, and the rule, they can do more toward controlling the situation than anyone.

Parents and officers alike can help in still another way. Those who have made a study of the situation say that removing the mufflers stimulate youths into racing and roaring more than anything else. Something about this noise gives a sense of power. When it is gone, so is much of

Goldsborough Ruling, Upsets U.S. Deportation Hearings

For James Marlow WASHINGTON, AUG. 25. (P) - THE long, plodding campaign of the Immigration and Naturalization Service to expel people from the country on grounds of Communism has been thrown into confu-

And it looks like the confusion may coninue for a long time.

Here is the reason: Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough has ruled that the service's method of holding hearings-presided over by immigration inspectors—is illegal under the Administralive Procedures Act of 1946.

He ordered it not to go any further deporting Gerhard Eisler, Irving Potash, John Williamson, Ferdinand C. Smith, and Charles A. Doyle unless it changes its methods and starts over.

This is the same Judge Goldsborough who fined John L. Lewis in connection with two coal strikes and later unheld the legality of Lewis's pension plan for miners.

HIS RULING IN THE DEPORTATION cases came on May 5. It tolted immigration officials so they only now are beginning to recover from their astonishment, They insist that the Administrative Proeedures Act does not apply to immigration hearings. For a time they stopped all hearings

Disagreeing with Judge Goldsborough, they have no intention of changing their whole system unless forced to do it. They have appealed the ruling. But it will take more than a year to get a Supreme Court decision. Meantime, what should they do?

Apparently, they have resolved to proeeed cautiously in other cases, following their traditional method-even though, if Goldsborough turns out to be correct, all their work will be overturned.

They were somewhat encouraged because of a ruling here July 28 by another federal district judge, Alexander Holtzoff.

This was in a different case, which did not involve charges of Communism. But it did involve the legality of immigration hearings, and Holtzoff said the Administrative Procedures Act doesn't affect them.

MOLTZOFF'S RULING DOES NOT change Goldsborough's injunction in the Eisler - Potash-Williamson - Smith-Doyle

Nevertheless immigration officials have decided to hold a hearing Monday at New York in the case of a man known as J. Peters. It will be the first deportation hearing on Communism charges since the Goldsborough ruling.

Peters, like Eisler alien. That is, he is from abroad-and has not become a U. S. citizen.

Against all these people the immigration service has charged: (1) That they are Communists; (2) That the Communist party advocates the violent overthrow of the government.

The immigration law provides for the expulsion of aliens who belong to organizations which believe in violent overthrow.

PETERS, WHO WAS ARRESTED BY immigration agents on a sidewalk in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., several months ago and is out on $5,000 bond, is wanted by the House Committee on Un-American Activities for testimony. This committee says it will send someone to the New York hearing to serve a subpoena on him.

The immigration service has taken many sethacks in trying to prove its claim that Communist membership is sufficient reason to deport an alien from this country. The biggest setback was the Harry Bridges case. In 1945 the Supreme Court held that the government had not proved Bridges was a Communist. Therefore it did not feel compelled to rule on whether the Communist party has violence on its mind. The Supreme Court has never made a clear-cut ruling on that issue.

The teen-agers already have tied up the telephone communications in the nation's residential areas-and there is danger they will spread this paralysis into the business areas, too.

I have observed my daughter's telephone technique closely. She starts a conversation at the telephone table normally enough. Soon, however, her body is twisted into a pretzel shape. (I guarantee it will shut off both circulation and respiraBOTH CONGRESS

West Texas Indian Chase Almost Leads To Disaster

War department officials in Washington scanned reports on an expedition by Capt. Nicholas Nolan and his troop A, 10th U. S. cavalry. Hereafter, came the order, there would be no more Indian chases into the staked plains region.

Capt. Nolan and Lieut. Charles L. Cooper had left Fort Concho at San Angelo on July 10, 1877 with a troop of men. Proceeding about 140 miles in a northwesterly direction, Nolan scouted around Cedar Lakes in eastern Gaines county and Double Lakes, 10 miles northwest of the present site of Tahoka. Veering to the southeast, he eventually met a group of hunters on Bull Creek in southwestern Borden county. They were in pursuit of Indians, Since Capt. Nolan had put out to crush these hostile bands, he established a base on Bull Creek, left 40 men there and doubled back into the Double Lakes country. Two of the hunters told of having spotted a party of 40 Indians, apparently hunting and unmindful that they were be-

Nolan watered his men and horses and at 1 p. m. gave chase. The Indians, however, were playing an old game. They simply scattered like quail into the barren land they knew so well and which was unknown to and unexplored by the white man. At nightfall, the party had exhausted its water and water in Dry Lake (probably Laguna Ombligo) was so alkaline that men or stock could not drink. Nevertheless, in their enthusiasm to flush the Indians, Nolan and his men hurried on. During the night they made no note of landmarks, which were few in the plains waste. Next day they rode in the blazing sun. Two men keeled over from sunstroke. A sergeant was detailed to take care of tiem and try to catch up as soon as possible.

An awful feeling came over Capt. Nolan . -he was lost and he knew it. Probably somewhere in northeastern Terry or southeastern Hockley counties, he shifted his northwesterly course to a northeasterly one. He dispersed a party of 10 on a scouting expedition. Nolan conferred with his lieutenants. They decided to fall back on Double Lakes.

The sun came down like molten metal. Men were in agony. Mouths were dry. Tongues and throats were parched and swollen. Sugar only stuck to their mouths. It was impossible even to eat mesquite beans, and efforts to swallow even crumbs of bread were sheer torture. Visios blurred and deafness seemed to come on. Questions had to be repeated and repeat-

When a horse dropped from exhaustion, men greedily pounced upon the carcass like hungry wolves, lapping up the hot blood before it could clot. They even ripped open the belly and chewed on anything that offered promise of yielding moisture. Capt. Nolan, heartsick and full of despair, croaked a hoarse appeal to his men to stick together and obey orders like true soldiers. Otherwise, he said, there was no hope. He had little himself for he wrote: "This, our fourth day without water, was dreadful. . Men gasping in death around us; horses falling dead to the right and left; the crazed survivors of our men fighting their neighbors for blood of horses. Prayers, curses and howls of anguish intermingled. There was rain, apparently far away, but never a drop for

That night, they plodded wearily along through choking dust on sore and swollen feet. Through some special sense, Capt, Nolan reined his mount and looked down. Dimly outlined in the pale light he saw it-a wagon trail. His eyes poured anxlously over the country side. He knew it! He knew it! They were only about five miles from Double Lakes. By 5 a. m. part of the troops made it, and returned with canteens to the straggling members. Men gulped the water and promptly vomited it. They could not hold moistened food. Finally, it was discovered hot black coffee, in small sips, would stay down.

Gradually they regained strength. Six of the party already had returned to the lakes. News came that 14 others had made their way to the Bull Creek base camp. Four soldiers and one civilian had been lost out of a party of 60 along with 23 horses and four mules. The war department said no more expeditions into the uncharted country. No matter. Two years later the last recorded battle was fought around Double Mountain. Soon the railroads and settlers were to come .-- JOE PICKLE

Russians Aren't Planning Peace Regardless Of Talks

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

THE LATEST CONFERENCE BEtween Premier Stalin and the western ambassadors is said in diplomatic quarters to encourage hope for an East-West settlement of the Battle of Berlin.

If we took this as a basis for speculation, we would be entitled to believe that a settlement of the whole German imbroglio might be achieved. Indeed, a well informed source in Moscow suggests as much. However, if our analysis isn't going to run away with us we first must recall the fundamental basis of the quarrel between Soviet Russia and the western world. That is the declared determination of Moscow to carry out world revolution for the destruction of "capitalistic" governments and for the establishment of Communism in all countries. We must start from that premise. We must recognize that Moscow doesn't want peace, for the reason that it would stymie Boshevism's aim of Communizing the world. The Reds might take truces from self interest, but these would be only pauses in the global revolution.

JOHN FOSTER DULLES, FOREIGN policy adviser to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, laid down a very clear statement about Communism in a speech yesterday at the Assembly of the World Council of Churches

Why a truce at all? Well, the Russians aren't in a particularly happy position. Their offensive aimed at the conquest of western Europe has bogged down. They are up against determined democracles, inforced by the Marshall Plan.

THE SOVIET ZONE IN GERMANY IS suffering from a shortage of food and fuel. The Red revolution in Greece is being crushed. Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia is openly defying Russia. There is anti-Communist ferment in numerous satellite

New York Isn't Really Cold,

By William O'Dwyer (for Jack O'Brian) HELLO, NEIGHBOR: You need only a few hours in New York to recognize that this is Everybody's Hometown, I know, because I originally came here from someplace else...There was a time the average American who had never traveled Sast of the Hudson somehow accepted the false idea that New York City was stern, cold, unfriendly, with a heart as hard as the concrete in its skyscrapers...A few days ago, I had the pleasure of meeting several thousand members of the Lions International, here for the biggest convention in their history. I had a chance to talk to men and women from every state in the union and nearly every country in the world. Their acceptance of New York as a hometown away from home was unanimous. One .man in particular voiced his sentiment on this score by saying: "I must have seen the faces of a million people here in New York. They all looked like my neighbors back home ... " That's New York-Everybody's

Hometown OUR DOOR IS ALWAYS OPEN: Recently, our City Commissioner of Commerce. Edward C. Maguire, advised me that our tourist and convention business is growing all the time. He disclosed that in 1947 more than 1,000,000 visitors came to New York from all over the country to attend 626 business and fraternal conventions. This year, it is estimated that 650 or more conventions will be held here with an attendance in excess of 1,200,000

... The New York Convention and Visitors Bureau offers these additional statistics: More than 12,500,000 people from the four corners of the globe come here for vacations or on business each year. This does not include many other millions drawn from adjoining states and the suburban areas for work and play... I would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. Main Street on behalf of the people of the City of New York for the millions of dollars in consumer business they bring to our trades people, our hotels and our theatres. The Lions International Convention alone brought $5,000,000 in trade to New York City...We are the Nation's market place and its playground, too. PREVIEW: The Department of Commerce has organized one of the most dramatic exhibits at the forthcoming New York City Golden Anniversary Exposition. This display will demonstrate the huge scope of the commercial and industrial activity within our five boroughs in a breath-taking way... One of the features of the exhibit will make it clear why New York receives the biggest convention, vacation and tourist business of any city in the world. .. This exhibit will be titled: "Why All The World Comes To New York". The department has devised an animated chart which will show at a glance why steamships, airlines, railroads and highway transportation pour millions of people into our town,

WILLINGHAM DOING ALL RIGHT WITH HICKORY

Hugh Willingham, the former Odessa third sacker who is skippering Seminole in the Sooner State league, is hitting .347 for that team but isn't playing regularly.

Ralph Blair, whose arm apparently went on the blink again, has been placed on the suspended list for the second time by Midland's manager, Harold Webb. Carriel Nipp, the outfielder who played first base in Jim Prince's absence, is also off the roster temporarily.

AUTHORITY OPINES LANHAM IS MOUND PROSPECT An individual close to the situation says Gerald Fahr, the Vernon righ-hander, isn't the class of the Longhorn league this year. Nor is it Pancho Perez of Our Town. That honor should go to Joe Lanham of the Del Rio club, who departed a while back to join Billings, Mont.

That hurler will hit the big leagues some day, says our authority. Local fans were deprived of the chance to see Lanham in action but they should remember him well. Joe set the Broncs down handily in Del Rio the day before he left for Billings, Lanham's cheer leader also had a word of praise for Leon Brinkopf, the Odessa third acker. Brinkopf will go all the way to the big leagues before he's through, says our informant.

SHAW MAY BE BACK IN LINEUP FOR PLAYOFFS

Larry Shaw, the former Big Spring pitcher who was traded to Vernon in mid-season for Ortilleo Bosch, has been in the hospital lately but may be of some service in the league playoffs, if the North Texans make it. The Dusters are going to have to hustle all the way to gain

The Ballinger team has only five home games remaining others on the road - two with Vernon, three with Big Spring, two with Midland and three in Odessa.

WANTS TO BE YOUR TAX ASSESSOR COLLECTOR

Educated in the public schools and colleges of Texas. Was among the first to volunteer in World War I, soldiered through the campaigns of France and Belgium in 1917-18. Still carries sharpnel from wounds received in battle. For nine months served in the army of occupation in Germany after the war was over. (He is the only War Veteran in the race). Hood taught in the public schools of Texas for several years, after his honorable discharge from the army.

HIS CHARACTER

R. B. Hood is a man of sterling character, honest, industrious, reliable and sincere. People who know him best trust him most. There has never been a question mark after his character. As a teacher, as a soldier, as a neighbor and as a citizen R. B. Hood is tops. Ask anyone who knows him.

HIS QUALIFICATIONS

In addition to the above statements, R. B. Hood is, in every way, qualified to fill the office of Tax-Assessor-Collector, and render the service the public has a right to expect. His edu-cational achievements qualify him to understand the duties of the office and his character and past record indicate that he will meet the duties honestly and efficiently.

Friends, we are hiring a hand in the courthouse. We can't beat R. B. Hood for that job.
