Early Morning Rain Floods San Antonio

River, Creeks Are Sent Out Of Their Banks

By the Associated Press
Rain poured onto San Antonio early this morning, flooded the streets and sent creeks and the San Antonio river out of their banks. All available police were called out of bed for duty when the storm, accompanied by brilliant lightning, struck at 12:30 a. m.

Hundreds of automobiles were stalled, downtown basements were flooded and water rose in homes in several residential districts. Firemen rescued one couple and their two young children by taking them to higher ground.

Rains over the state the past 24 hours have been scattered east of the 100th meridian, which runs up the state just west of Abilene.

Scattered showers were still falling in East Texas this morning but the skies over West Texas and down in the Rio Grande Valley were clear to partly cloudy.

The rain in San Antonio this morning totaled 4.42 inches. Coupled with 1.09 inches the previous 24 hours, well over 5 1/2 inches had been dumped over the city in two days.

Frequent power failures were reported over the city while the storm was on. Water was 14 feet high back of Olmos dam, but the fire department reported there was no danger from that source.

The downpour was limited almost entirely to the immediate San Antonio area. To the east, Seguin reported 1.15 inches of rainfall general over the county.

Reds Take Over Berlin City Hall

Go Into Assembly To Launch Tirades

BERLIN, August 26. (AP)— Backed by a howling crowd, pro-Communists forced their way into Berlin's city hall today and took over the assembly chamber for a propaganda barrage against the anti-Communist city government.

While 10,000 or more persons shouted and surged outside, some 500 pushed through police lines into the building and took seats in the third-floor assembly hall. They remained there long enough to hear tirades against the city government and then left to join the huge crowd outside.

The city hall is in the Russian sector of Berlin. The Socialist Party announced it is planning a counter-demonstration outside the burned-out German Reichstag building, which, though it is in the British sector, is only a stone's throw from the Soviet sector border.

During the wild demonstration, Communist leaders shouted demands for "an end to this bankrupt city government." They called for formation of an administration in Berlin "which will work hand in hand with the great Soviet Union and countries of Eastern Europe."

Berlin's city parliament (council), predominantly anti-Communist, had been scheduled to vote today on a resolution to send a Berlin delegation to western Germany's constitutional assembly at Bonn Sept. 1. They called off the session when it became known that the Socialist Unity Party (SED), sponsored by the Russians and dominated by the Communists, planned the demonstration. Two SED members of the nine-man senatorial parliament committee voted against postponement.

They also started writing a report on what they have found out so far. No hearings were scheduled for today.

In a drama-packed encounter before the House Un-American Activities Committee yesterday, Hiss and Chambers told widely different stories about a Model-A Ford and about nearly everything else.

They traded charges of "fair" at a hearing that ran all day and into the night. Each stuck firmly to his own main points, in the face of warnings that one or the other is sure to face a perjury trial.

Chambers, short, pudgy, 47-year-old senior editor of Time Magazine, insisted that Hiss was a member of a Red underground in Washington a dozen years ago. He said he knew because he used to be a Communist himself and served in the underground.

Hiss insisted it wasn't so, that he doesn't even have any friends who are Communists that he knows of. For nearly seven hours, the committee put him through a grueling grilling. For an hour and 37 minutes, it questioned Chambers.

MISS CHANG WAS PATIENT WOMAN

SHANGHAI, Aug. 26. (AP)— Miss Chang Yun-Shui told police she suffered long and silently.

When Ma Shih-Li fell in love with her at the municipal statistics bureau she paid no attention.

When he got fired she ignored him. When he wrote her a letter in blood she ignored him.

When he threatened to kill her she ignored him. When he climbed through her bedroom window she threw him out.

When he climbed through the window the next night she threw him out. But when he climbed through the third night she had enough — she had him arrested.

Spy Probers Giving Chase To '29 Jalopy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. (AP)— Congressional spy probers gave chase to a 1929 jalopy today in a renewed attempt to prove whether Alger Hiss or Whittaker Chambers lied about a pre-war Communist underground.

They also started writing a report on what they have found out so far.

No hearings were scheduled for today.

In a drama-packed encounter before the House Un-American Activities Committee yesterday, Hiss and Chambers told widely different stories about a Model-A Ford and about nearly everything else.

Bastille Quiet

It was a comparatively quiet morning at the city Bastille.

Only six defendants paraded before the bar of justice. All were charged with drunkenness and the words "guilty" fell heavily on their aching heads. The total for the crop was $96.

Howard Legion Heads State 'Ambitious Ten'

Heading the "ambitious 10" in the state-wide membership chase is the Howard County American Legion post.

This division is the second 10 in the list of largest posts in the state. Howard county's post, with 903, is barely off the pace set by Denison, last member in the "big 10" with 1,016.

Neil Barnaby, post commander, said that membership enrollment here is being pressed in an effort to put the post in the top 10 of the state.

The 19th district, of which T. A. Thigpen, Big Spring is commander, ranks third in the entire state, and division No. 5, in which district 19 is located, is in second place.

Turkey Supplies Scarcer, Prices Higher In 1948

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. (AP)— Turkey supplies will be scarcer and prices higher during the coming holiday season, the Agriculture Department forecast today.

This year's turkey crop is the smallest in ten years. It was estimated at 31,710,000 birds, 10 per cent fewer than last year. Production has dropped each year since the 1945 record crop of 44,221,000 birds.

The department said this decline reflected unfavorable producers prices in relation to feed and other production costs.

YORKTOWN, Va., Aug. 26. (AP)— President Truman kept abreast of diplomatic talks at Moscow today via reports radioed to the Presidential Yacht Williamsburg. But he maintained silence on the outlook.

Except for brief walks, the President stayed aboard the yacht, day.

WHO'LL PAY FOR WELL WATER?

Daniel Asks Court To Rule In NTSC-Denton Dispute

AUSTIN, Aug. 26. (AP)— Attorney General Price Daniel today asked the 98th District Court to settle the dispute between the city of Denton and North Texas Teachers College over a water supply for the college.

He asked the court for a declaratory judgment "determining the rights, obligations and legal relations" of the college and the city under legislative acts and city council resolutions dating back to 1889.

The petition requested a judgment finding the city was obligated, under these acts and resolutions, to furnish the college with "an abundant supply of pure artesian water. . . free of cost to the State of Texas."

The suit was styled North Texas State Teachers College versus City of Denton.

The petition sets forth that the college was established by an act of the 28th legislature in 1899 binding the city to furnish the college with an abundant water supply without cost.

This was followed by passage of a city resolution at Denton authorizing its mayor to enter into such an agreement, the petition said, and the mayor executed the agreement on Oct. 11, 1899.

The suit alleges that the city furnished the free water for 49 years, but "now asserts that the act of the 28th legislature is unconstitutional" and the obligations entered into by the city are invalid. It says the city is demanding payment of $1,511.95 for water furnished the college in July 1948, and has served notice it will not furnish water to the college after Aug. 28 if the bill is not paid.

The college has refused to pay, the court was told.

TEACHER TALKS

Says Communists Ruined Her Life

NEW YORK, August 26. (AP)— Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina says she jumped from a third-floor window of the Soviet consulate to escape Soviet persecution which had "destroyed her life."

From her hospital bed, the 52-year-old Russian teacher told newsmen yesterday that she was going to quit her homeland for good.

A few hours after the interview—in which Mrs. Kasenkina spoke directly to newsmen for the first time since her jump on Aug. 12—Soviet vice-consul Zot I. Chepurnykh sailed aboard a freighter for Russia.

"I am going home," said Chepurnykh, "and there is no country in the world like home."

His superior, Consul General Jacob M. Lomakin, stripped of his credentials yesterday by President Truman, has booked passage to leave Saturday.

The consulate itself has been ordered closed by Moscow because of the results of the Moscow talks. That may come today, too.

None of the envoys arrived at his office early, indicating that the American, British and French representatives may be preparing for a long evening. They met for four hours and 40 minutes Monday night with Prime Minister Stalin and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. A highly informed source said Tuesday that a general area of agreement had been reached and that further lengthy negotiations would deal largely with technicalities.

Informed diplomatic sources in London said Stalin had proposed a Berlin conference of big four financial experts on the currency tangle in the former German capital.

Considerable time and consultation may be required by technical experts in various fields to solve these technical problems.

Many persons agree that progress has been made in the talks. No one is totally optimistic or pessimistic about the overall outcome of the negotiations which began here July 31.

Proposed Building Sites To Be Studied

Inspection of some of the proposed sites for residential construction projected by the Big Spring Building Corp. is slated for today or Friday.

A planning engineer, with authority to pass on sites and location of property on the sites, is due here to look over proposed areas for the construction. Once this is settled, building plans will be submitted to FHA for approval.

Officers Are Alerted For Colorado Thieves

Officers here were alerted Thursday for a pick up on burglars who rifled a Colorado City residence Wednesday evening.

The burglary occurred between 8 p. m. and 10 p. m. and the sheriff's office at that point thought that a pick up truck with slick tires might have been used to carry away the loot. Among items missing were two radios, a set of silverware, electric coffee pot and matching cream pitcher, bed spread, blue winter coat, a woman's brown suit, a man's suit.

TIME, CASH AND DETERMINATION

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26. (AP)—Mrs. Johanna Majewski, 34, and her 12-year-old daughter, Doty, were en route to Chicago today on a motor-scooter which has a sidecar. They had two suitcases, two raincoats, a gas can, $50 in cash and a lot of determination.

"I've had two ambitions, to own a motor scooter and to visit my father, and I figure we can make 45 miles an hour and 200 miles a day, so with three weeks' vacation, we should make the round trip okay," said Mrs. Majewski as she took off yesterday.

Jubilant Demos See Top-Heavy Labor Support

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. (AP)— Democrats jubilantly forecast today top-heavy labor backing for the Truman-Barkley ticket in November. But Republicans disputed its effect.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) predicted to a reporter that the CIO Board meeting here next Monday will join AFL leaders in backing the President's bid for a full term in the White House.

But Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) contended that even if this occurs, it won't keep the country from electing Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the GOP nominee.

The 51-member CIO board will have before it the question of endorsing Mr. Truman's candidacy. There is not much doubt in any politician's mind that it will do so, but not by a unanimous vote.

Some CIO leaders are backing Henry A. Wallace's Progressive Party.

The AFL leadership acted at a meeting in Chicago yesterday to back Mr. Truman. While the labor organization decided to hold to its traditional role of not endorsing candidates, President William Green said a separate committee will be formed to work for the Truman-Barkley ticket.

A day ahead of the CIO meeting, the once anti-Truman Americans for Democratic Action will hold an expanded national board session in Chicago—also to discuss the matter of political endorsements.

Chairman Leon Henderson, the former price control boss, declined any prediction. He noted, however, that the idea has a "big constituency from labor unions" and added:

"If you know what they are going to do you probably know what we will do."

ITU Given Order To Appear Sept. 15 In Contempt Case

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 26. (AP)— Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert today ordered officials of the International Typographical Union to appear at 10 a. m. Sept. 15 to show cause why the union should not be held in contempt of court.

The National Labor Relations Board's attorney petitioned the court yesterday to cite the ITU for contempt, charging that the ITU had violated an injunction issued last March 27 by Judge Swygert.

The NLRB charged the union had continued to insist on what he said amounted to closed shop conditions in negotiations with newspaper publishers.

In his order, sent to the clerk of the southern Indiana district court, Judge Swygert also gave the union until 10 p. m. Sept. 7 to file an answer to the NLRB petition.

Jews Charge New Truce Violations

JERUSALEM, Aug. 26. (AP)— The Jews made new charges of truce violations by Arab forces in Jerusalem yesterday.

An Israeli Army bulletin said Egyptian troops tried to advance across no-man's-land toward a Jewish suburb. Israeli troops drove them back, the bulletin added.

It also said hand grenades were thrown from Arab positions within the old city walls at Jewish troops holding the Mount Zion area.

Senate Candidates Both Work Dallas

By the Associated Press
Senatorial candidates Coke Stevenson and Lyndon Johnson Thursday were working the same city, Dallas, in their next-to-last chance to sway the voters before Saturday's runoff primary.

Stevenson, who made a radio speech in Dallas last night, had another scheduled tonight. Johnson planned a mid-day radio broadcast, plus a conference with precinct managers.

Thirty-seven election supervisors to keep watch over voting in Webb County were selected yesterday by Stevenson. He said he was invoking a legal provision under which a candidate may choose supervisors sworn to "mention and notice" any voting irregularities.

Johnson led Stevenson in Webb County by 6,476 votes to 631 in the first primary.

Commenting on Stevenson's action, the congressman said in a statement at Austin:

"I believe the election judges of Texas are honest. If my opponent thinks they are not, then, of course, he is entitled by law to have supervisors. That is his legal right."

In his statement, Johnson said Stevenson should answer a few questions "while he's so busy asking questions."

The congressman said his opponent should state whether he favors the Taft-Hartley law or would vote to repeal or amend it.

"Why," Johnson asked, "did he straddle on the Texas labor law known as the Manford Act, refusing to sign or veto it? Does he favor the Marshall Plan or does he still have those reservations raised by isolationists like Congressman Taber and expressed by my opponent in his Jan. 1 speech?"

Polio Outbreak May Be At Peak

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26. (AP)— The Public Health Service, noting a drop in reported cases in Texas, California, and North Carolina for the week ended Aug. 21, says its "quite possible" that the peak of this summer's infantile paralysis outbreak has been reached.

It said increases may be expected in some of the states in the northern areas within the next few weeks, but "unless epidemic bus hit the rear of a large semi-truck and trailer 18 miles east of here, the peak of the disease has been reached for the country as a whole."

Three Texans Hurt In Ohio Bus Mishap

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 26. (AP)— Twenty-three persons were hurt—three seriously—late last night when a west-bound Greyhound bus hit the rear of a large semi-truck and trailer 18 miles east of here.

Suffering minor injuries were B. J. Coleman, 40, of San Antonio, Tex., B. J. Coleman, Jr., 14, of San Antonio, Adam Scott, 36, of (1429 W. 11th St.) Port Arthur, Tex.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Freddy Rodriguez, the Big Spring hurler, probably made a mistake in throwing a curve ball to Sam Harshaney in that final outing the Broncs lost to Del Rio Tuesday night, the one Samuel hit for two bases and scored three runs.

In event Freddy doesn't know it, Harshaney is the best curve ball hitter in the Longhorn baseball league and probably in the minor leagues.

FAN MAY GET CHANCE TO MASTERMIND BRONCS
If and when Big Spring ever clinches a place in Shaughnessy play-offs, Manager Pat Stasey may yield to an urge and name some fan to run the club in his stead for one night. Not that Patrick is tired of it all. It's that the Irishman might desire to give the nominated party a taste of what he has been going through all season.

The wolves have a habit of howling when something goes wrong on the field. Chances are Gus Fan might eye his troubles in a different light if one of their number is at the reins. Running a ball club isn't as easy as it looks.

Such a switch would undoubtedly mean money at the gate. A stand-in for Patrick for one night should prove quite a gate lure.

DERWOOD COX TROUBLED BY BAD TONSILS
Derwood Cox, who beat the Broncs quite handily here Sunday, has been handicapped for some times with bad tonsils. Cox hasn't been able to attain top condition as a result, probably would have been able to win 20 games had it not been for his ailments.

He's twice held the Steeds to one run this season and came within a whisker of shutting them out on each occasion.

CRAIG'S SCHOOL MAY BE BIGGEST IN COUNTRY
According to reports, Lefty Craig's umpiring school in Corpus Christi, now set to start next January, will eventually become the biggest thing of its kind in the U. S. are run simply for the profit that is in them but Craig and his backers have one genuine objective and that is to properly orient the budding young arbiters.

Lefty will have at least three major league officials as well as several minor league assisting him.

Ben Phillips, the giant Angelo catcher, once had a tryout with the Phillies. As a matter of fact, he says he was a participant in the only major league game he ever saw.

Real name of James Wallace Mobley, the Borger wrestler who is booked in here again Monday, is James Wallace Mobley.

DISTRICT SEVEN STARS TO GUN FOR REVENGE
Friday night's six-man all-star game between standouts of District Five and Seven could be a tulu.

Champions of the two conferences, Fort Davis of Five and Sterling City of Seven, met in a semi-final game last fall and played to a standoff.

John Prude, the District Five mentor, has recruited the very best of material from his area. So has George Tillerson of District Seven.

One of Tillerson's boys is R. L. Bell, a speed merchant from Rankin. He will team up with Jackie Tweedle of Sterling to give the District Seven All-Stars an offensive punch.

The District Seven lads dropped a decision to the stars from District Three last year and will be gunning for revenge.

Play Underway Evans To Stay In Net Meet
Pairings have been announced for the city tennis tournament and play is to start immediately.

In first round matches, Ike Robb and Billy Wheeler are to square off, while Eddie Houser meets Wesley Strahan.

Other pairings announced by the sponsoring YMCA, Billy Montgomery will take on the winner of the Robb-Wheeler match and Gil Barnett will face the victor between Houser and Strahan. Also in the second round, B. B. Lees and Jerry Houser will tangle as will Culin Grigsby and Bobby Herz.

Only the singles title is at stake in the tourney.

GOOD NIGHT Stasey Pushes Mark To .393
Pat Stasey, Big Spring's play-manager, is making up for lost time in the race for individual batting honors in the Longhorn baseball league.

Since the last official averages came out, at which time he was setting the pace with a .388 average, Stasey has added five percentage points to his mark, which now stands at .393.

The Irishman collected three hits in five attempts against San Angelo last night raising his total blows in the past eight games to 17 blows in 39 tries.

Stasey Paces 8-Hit Attack

SAN ANGELO, Aug. 26.—Frank (Pancho) Perez and Bert Baez combined to pitch the Big Spring Broncs to a 5-2 victory over the San Angelo Colts in the opener of a three game series here Wednesday night.

Perez was chased in the sixth inning for protesting an umpire's decision but received credit for his 19th victory of the season. He has lost seven.

Pat Stasey, in the midst of a sensational hitting spree, paced the Big Spring offense with a triple and two singles in five trips. Stasey drove in two runs, as did Ace Mendez, who returned to the Big Spring lineup after a layoff of several days.

Perez and Baez combined their talents to hold the Colts to seven hits, two of which were off the bat of Ben Phillips.

The win was the tenth of the season for Big Spring over Angelo and insured them at least a season's split with the Colts. It also moved them within two games of a clinch on a spot in the Shaughnessy play-offs and protected their 4 1/2 lead over second place Odesa.

Jimmy Perez will probably toe the pitching rubber for Big Spring tonight while Bill Guthrie is set to twirl for Angelo.

Austin Whips New Orleans

AUSTIN, Aug. 26. (UP)—Austin, victor by an 8-5 score over New Orleans in the Region 6 American Legion Junior Baseball Tournament, leaves tonight for the Sectional Tournament at Charleston, S. C.

The Buddies scored five runs in the seventh inning as they captured the first regional title ever won by a Texas team.

Tiny Jackie Brinkley held New Orleans to one hit in the first five innings and held on for a seventh-inning heroics and his third victory of the tournament.

Sports writers voted him the most valuable player of the playoffs. Three singles, two walks, and a triple by Richard Robertson accounted for Austin's five-run outburst in the seventh.

The Charleston Tournament starts Monday and lasts four days.

Ability Of Boston Braves To Win On Road Paying Good Dividends

The comeback of Warren Spahn and the ability to win on the road have been primarily responsible for keeping the Boston Braves on top in the five-team National League pennant race.

No more striking example of this was given than last night when Spahn hurled the Braves to a 2-0 shutout triumph over the Cardinals in St. Louis.

The victory put the Braves four games ahead of the second place Dodgers and four and a half in front of the Redbirds.

Spahn, who has won only 11 games, got off to a poor start this year but he has pitched brilliantly the past two weeks.

The victory was Boston's 36th on the road compared to only 21 losses.

Cleveland rebounding Indians regained first place in the torrid American League race, pushing

Ragsdale Splits With Bluebonnet

SAN ANGELO, August 26.—Ragsdale of San Angelo and Bluebonnet of Lubbock split a double header in the playoff for the Texas Softball league crown here Wednesday night, the Concho City team copying the second go, 1-0, after Bluebonnet had won the opener, 4-0.

The two teams are scheduled to meet again in Lubbock Saturday night in the third and fourth games of a five-game set.

HCJC had won the first half title in a playoff game with Coahoma while Forsan copped the last half crown.

The win gave the Oilers possession of a big trophy donated by the Howard County Athletic association.

HCJC came within a whisker of tying the tally a moment later when Cain beat out a bunt and went to third on an infield out. He was retired at the plate, however, when he tried to go home after the ball had been thrown wildly back to third but was retrieved speedily by Lewis Heuvel.

SOIL CONSERVATION Lamb Crop Shows Range Plan Pays

Range improvement on the Steve Calverley Ranch ten miles northwest of Garden City paid off this year in a better lamb crop and heavier lambs. Calverley, a co-operator with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District, reported this week he had a 100 percent lamb crop this year and shipped lambs the first week in August weighing 72 pounds.

Calverley started improving his range several years ago by cutting down on his stocking rate to prevent close grazing of grass. In May he sold off all his cows to give his pasture protection needed because of the drought. Signs of improvement of the range, noted by A. T. Jordan, work unit conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service at Big Spring, included a better cover of grass on the range, good forage plants such as side oats grama, black grama and feather bluestem making seed and spreading on the range and increase in grass litter which help protect the range from loss of soil and water.

W. E. Plunkett, cooperator with the district on his farm in the East Vealmoor soil conservation group, made an experiment with row plantings of combine hegari. Plunkett, who lives a mile and a half east of Vealmoor, planted one plot of the hegari in every row between two terraces. In the next terrace interval below he planted two rows and skipped two. Plunkett says the feed is four feet high and headed out where he planted two rows and skipped two. On the other plot it is only two feet high, has not headed clean tilled fields wind erosion was severe.

Ed Robnett, who was vocational agriculture teacher in Big Spring High School last year, started work last week with the Soil Conservation Service, Robnett is stationed at Stanton, Texas where he will serve as Soil Conservationist.

At a called meeting last Friday, the supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District made plans to hold a district wide conservation field day sometime next January. The farm implement dealers in Big Spring have been invited to participate in the event by furnishing equipment that may be used in applying a complete program. Such a program will give the people a chance to see a complete job of conservation done on a farm and at the same time see what machinery is available to do the job, the board announced.

Explorers Are Now Digging For Food, Minerals In Water

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Nearby a billion years ago, life apparently originated in the sea. Half a billion years ago, this sea life moved out onto land and furnished the ancestors of today's animals—and, some scientists say, of man, too.

Today man is returning to the sea. Not to live, not in search of romance, but to find food and resources that are becoming increasingly scarce on land.

Whether or not the sea was the origin of life, it is by far the greatest storehouse of the things man needs for food and for his material existence.

All the metals and minerals, the 82 common chemical elements, are dissolved in sea water. Until this century even science thought it impossible to mine seawater. Then magnesium was taken from seawater in small quantities.

The motor age caused another break. Anti-knock gasoline, needing huge quantities of scarce bromine led to a way to extract bromine from North Carolina coast seawater so that now most of the nation's anti-knock fluid comes in part from seawater. North Carolina was chosen, not because it had richer sea water, but for convenience.

As a stunt, to do another thing long thought impossible, the Dow Chemical Company, which devised the bromine extraction, also took a bit of gold, the size of a medium pill, from the same water. In the ocean there is gold enough to pave all the roads of the United States. Gold mining of the sea at present, however, is too expensive.

During the war magnesium mining of the sea went into the big time at Freeport, Texas. Thousands of tons of metallic magnesium were extracted there for military uses. In the Freeport intake there were also each day a few pounds of uranium. Like gold, uranium may cost too much, since it is one of the scarcer elements in the sea. Yet it promises to become far more valuable than gold. If ever man extracts scarce uranium from the sea, it can be predicted that most of the others of high value will become available too.

The sea contains much of the world's sodium, carbon, sulfur, boron and magnesium, all large items for industry.

Phosphate, the great source of fertilizer, is dissolved throughout the sea. It has not been recovered. Yet the sea may have phosphate deposits that can be mined. Off La Jolla, Calif., there is a V-shaped submarine canyon, 1200 to 2000 feet deep, with phosphate layers along its bottom. This deposit was outlined by sampling a length of about 20 miles.

Another way to gather the sea's riches is to let ocean plants do the concentration. At Duke University the world's fastest growing crop has been found in seaweed along the Carolina coasts. These weeds increase by ten fold in size in two weeks. They can be cut and harvested in huge shallow-water areas.

Duke chemists say they know of 30 household and industrial chemicals that can be made from this seaweed. These include linoleum, artificial leather, insulating materials, adhesives, medicines, and vitamins.

The Scottish Seaweed Research Association, Ltd., reported seaweed good as sources of fabrics, plastics, custard and ice cream ingredients, soup, beer-making, surgical and dental aids.

During World War II the Navy discovered a mysterious layer at about 2000 feet deep that reflected sound, or sonar, waves to the surface. Recently California scientists identified this layer as probably fish and masses of protein in the form of tiny animals on which the fish feed.

The Californians suggested this layer as a great new source of sea food. They found evidence that the layer exists in all oceans, and that it lies even in areas where fish have been considered scarce. This layer rises near to the surface at night, drops again with daylight.

Dr. Harden F. Taylor, of New York, who in World War I, made the first quick-freeze plant for fish, says ocean waters near land can be fertilized. He says in some areas this will double to triple the numbers of some fish. In Scottish lochs the fertilization already has had some success. There baby flounders were seen to grow as much in three months as other flounders in poor waters did in two years.

Life in the sea is so teeming that one acre of top water, if strained of all its tiny plants, would yield as much as an acre of land.

Former Big Springer Working in State Lake Cleanup Program

A former Big Springer man is one of a team responsible for the most ambitious program of eliminating moss and plant growth from lakes in the state's history.

M. L. Cox, partners in the Lake Improvement company of Austin, have ridden the lake at Meridian State park of its underwater growth and have duplicated the job at Cleburne state park lake.

Glenn M. Green, Jr., International News staff writer, said that the lake had been so choked with vegetation that plug fishing was virtually impossible and even pushing a rowboat across its 63 acre surface was an exhausting task. Motorboats just coughed and gave up. Then, he said, "modern science, within the space of a week, has changed the lake back into a 'bitin' paradise.'"

Reid, known to many friends here as Cy Reid, was a crack basketball and football player and an outstanding distance runner in his high school days. He specialized in fish life studies while at Texas A. & M. and his work as expert in this field once took him to Mexico.

Louis Patterson Assumes Pastorate At Nazarene Church

The Rev. Louis Patterson and family have arrived to assume the pastorate of the Church of the Nazarene.

He succeeds the Rev. Henry C. Thomas, who has left to assume charge of the work at Levelland. There is as yet no church at that point, but the Rev. Thomas said that it was hoped one could be organized soon.

Rev. Patterson comes here from Hereford, where he has been serving as pastor. He is a graduate of the Bethany College in Oklahoma. The new minister is married and he and Mrs. Patterson have a daughter.

Fined For Illegal Employment Of Minor

Louis Gonzales entered a plea of guilty in county court this morning to the charge of employing a minor on premises where beer is sold and was fined $100 and expenses.

In another case, Walter Anderson was fined $100 and expenses on a charge of selling beer during prohibited hours.

Arrests in both cases were made by members of the Texas Liquor Control board.

Collings Exceptionally Well Qualified For Court Position

Ideally, our public servants should be chosen exclusively on the basis of qualifications. Fortunately, in many areas the nature of the work is such that new hands and minds can be turned to learning a new job and no serious harm is done.

But in our courts, there is no period of grace. Men qualified in the law, experienced in judicial procedure and precedent, backed by years of seasoning on the bench and held in universal high regard are in demand.

Such a man is Cecil C. Collings, who Saturday seeks promotion to the position of associate justice of the 11th court of civil appeals at Eastland. For almost 10 years Judge Collings has conducted the affairs of the 70th judicial district in an exemplary manner. Many of his decisions have had far reaching effects and his record on appeals attest to the consistent sagacity of his rulings. Moreover, the bar of not only this area, but of a large portion of the district have given him vigorous endorsement on the basis of his record.

No one, remembering how he was given a nine to one endorsement in Howard county in the first primary, can doubt the high esteem with which this Christian gentleman is held in his home precincts. No man could ask for a greater testimonial than that. No county could give it to a more deserving servant than to duplicate it—with a big turnout—on Saturday.

Voters Have No Moral Right To Withhold Ballots Saturday

A month ago more than 5,000 people marched to the polls in Howard county and cast ballots for whom they desired. That was a record for Howard county, though nothing like the potential of 7,500 to 8,000 votes. It wasn't even up to the strength reflected in poll tax receipts and exemption certificates.

Now that absentee balloting is complete, the total of 376 forecasts a total vote of something like 4,000, if past experience is any guide. That is unless something is done to reawaken the people of Howard county to the responsibility of voting.

Howard county—and the candidates who are offering themselves for office—deserve better than that at the hands of voters. They deserve just as many ballots—whether or not they are polled in the first primary. Lazy citizens have no moral right to withhold it.

Mark it down now—make Saturday a must day for voting. Don't let petty things deter you from discharging this duty.

It's great to be able to vote. Don't be a sucker and stay away from the polls. Be a good citizen, not a sluggard. And encourage your friends to vote, too.

Axis Sally Proves To Be No Great Glamor Gal At All

By DON WHITEHEAD
For HAL BOYLE

WASHINGTON—ALL DURING THE war years, allied soldiers thought they were listening to a young, beautiful woman when they tuned in on "Axis Sally" broadcasting from Berlin.

Axis Sally had that kind of voice—the kind that weaves an illusion for tired and lonely men who have been months and years away from home.

I remember the first time I heard Axis Sally, Montgomery's Eighth Army was chasing Rommel's Africa Corps across the western desert toward Bengali and defeat in Tunisia.

One night at Halaya (Hell Fire) Pass, tired British soldiers gathered around a radio after supper. A signalman tuned in a BBC program. It was a homesome discourse by a Mr. Heathstone Witherington, or somebody with a like name, on Dahlia Culture in Kensington.

"Hell, Jock," a Highlander growled, "Let's hear Axis Sally."

JOCK SPUN THE DIALS AND IN A few moments the soft, pulsing strains of an American melody floated across the desert.

When the music ended, a throaty woman's voice whispered words intended to stir longing and desire and homesickness in the hearts of those who listened. The voice talked of home and wives and sweet hearts—and how foolish it was to fight the Germans.

It was a voice that tried to seduce and break the hard spirit of the desert rats so far from home.

Oh, they liked Axis Sally—those tough men of the desert. They liked her American brand of music and her warm voice that made them forget for a moment the cold winds of the desert night—just because it was feminine.

BUT THEY LAUGHED AT SALLY'S commercials—the sloppy merchandise she tried to sell them.

And now they tell us Axis Sally is no glamor gal at all.

The government says she is American-born Mildred Elizabeth Gillars—a tired-looking, graying woman of ordinary figure and features who is nearing the half-century mark in age.

If Mildred Elizabeth Gillars is Axis Sally—then a lot of men around the world are going to haul down that mental pin-up picture.

Hiss And Chambers Stories Clash On Most Of Points

By MAX HALL
For James Marlow

WASHINGTON, AUG. 26.—ALL though the long day and into the evening the congressmen questioned Alger Hiss and Whittaker Chambers.

The two men agreed they used to know each other. They disagreed on most other points. They stuck to their stories. They called each other liars.

Rep. Edward Hebert, Democrat from New Orleans, burst out: "Whichever of you is lying is the greatest actor ever seen in this country!"

Chambers, a $25,000-a-year editor for Time Magazine, said he was a Communist Party functionary in the thirties and Hiss was "the closest friend I ever had in the Communist Party."

Hiss, the former State Department official, denied it.

Let's see what they agreed on yesterday during the dramatic hearing, and how they contradicted each other.

THEY BOTH TESTIFIED, ACCORDING to their best recollection, that they first met in 1934 or 1935 in Washington; that they once took a trip to New York in the same car; that in 1935 the Chambers family spent a few nights in the Hiss home on P Street; and that for several weeks in 1935 the Chambers family occupied an apartment on 28th Street which the Hisses had vacated but were still renting.

On these other points they disagreed:

1. The name Chambers went by — Hiss said he knew Chambers only as "George Crosley." Chambers said he never used that name and Hiss knew him only as "Carl."

2. How they met — Hiss said that to her best recollection, when he was chief attorney for the Senate Munitions Investigating Committee, "Crosley" came into his office in the Senate office building and represented himself as a free lance writer seeking information.

3. Whether Hiss was a Communist—Hiss said he has never been one. Chambers said he himself collected Communist party dues from Hiss at least once "and I would think on three occasions," and that Hiss was a "devoted Communist" who "obeyed party discipline in every respect."

4. When they last saw each other—Hiss said "I would think some time in 1935." On questioning he said it was "conceivable and possible" that he saw Chambers after that, though he doesn't remember it.

Chambers said it was in 1938, and that all through 1936 and 1937 they met once a week — "Once a fortnight, to be in the conservative side" — in the Hiss home.

5. The arrangement under which Hiss allowed Chambers to stay in his house and his apartment—

HISS SAID HE TOOK THE CHAMBERS family into his house out of "humaneness" and "kindness," and that he subsidized the apartment to Chambers orally but never got paid more than $15 or $20 and a rug.

Chambers said there was never any talk of payment or of a sublease. He said Hiss entertained him and his family "because Mr. Hiss and I were Communists and that was the comradely way of doing things." He also said, "Mr. Hiss considered it a privilege to have a superior in the Communist party in his home."

6. The affair of Hiss' old Ford roadster—Hiss said that to the best of his recollection he "threw it in" with the sublease in 1935. He couldn't recall whether Chambers ever returned it, or, if so, how the car finally was disposed of.

Chambers said Hiss never turned the roadster over to him, but ultimately gave it to the Communist Party for the use of "some poor Communist organizer in the West."

U.S. Is Still Shipping Vital War Materials Behind The Iron Curtain

By ROBERT S. ALLEN
WASHINGTON — The U. S. is still shipping vital war material to countries behind the iron curtain.

And these shipments are still being made with the approval of the Commerce Department's office of international trade. This is the agency that was formerly headed by William Remington, leading figure in the Russian "spy" disclosure of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

This astounding trade is still going on despite the administration's announced policy of banning it, despite the warlike aggressions and provocations of Russia, and also despite the world-wide furor over the congressional revelations and their attending fantastic ramifications.

This column has definitely established the following facts regarding the continued export of war potential to Communist-ruled countries:

The OIT has secretly issued a license for the export of a large quantity of ball bearings and steel balls (for the manufacture of bearings) to Czechoslovakia. This license was issued to the overseas Mercantile Co., N. Y.

Satellite Czechoslovakia is today one of Russia's major munitions producers. The great Skoda plant has been converted entirely to military output.

Further, ball bearings are a key essential in the making of war goods. Two of the most costly Air Force raids into Germany during the recent war were for the purpose of knocking out ball-bearing plants.

An official of the Overseas Mercantile Co. admitted to this column that the ball bearings being shipped to Czechoslovakia could be used in war production.

The concern's export license was signed by both Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer and Francis McIntyre, acting OIT head. Neither, however, would admit this when questioned about the matter.

Sawyer refused to talk at all. He sent back word through a press aide that information regarding export licenses is "confidential." McIntyre gave the same answer, plus the claim that he "couldn't remember" this particular case.

"Isn't it odd that you can't remember a thing like that?" he was asked.

"Well, I'd have to consult the files and they are not available at this time," McIntyre replied. "It's late in the day and most of our people have gone home. Besides, as I said, those files are confidential."

MIFFED

Argentina's thin-skinned Dictator Juan Peron is in a huff at Brazil.

The grand-standing ex-colonel is so furious that Brazilian newspapers should have dared to criticize him that he has angrily cancelled plans to visit beautiful Rio de Janeiro.

The Brazilian government invited Peron and President Berres of Uruguay to be guests of honor at its gay "Independence Week." Both accepted. But, now, Peron has reneged. He is very roth at what the free Brazilian press has been saying about him.

The dictatorial Argentinean isn't used to a free press. He has virtually suppressed it in his own country. He is peeved, apparently, because President Dutra hasn't done the same in Brazil.

As a result, Uruguay's President Berres will have the spotlight all to himself in glamorous Rio.

WAR ECHO
Former Sen. Burt Wheeler had an unusual experience at a recent dinner in Paris.

One of the guests was Eduard Daladier, premier of France at the outbreak of the war. He made it a special point to talk to the tall Montanan.

"When the Germans threw me into prison," Daladier said, "They would occasionally let me read magazines. In one of them, an American publication, I read an article by you that gave me the feeling that as far as you were concerned I could remain in prison the rest of my life. Never did I dream that some day I would be breaking bread at the same table with you."

SURPRISE
High-ranking officers are in for a surprise when the report of the advisory commission on service pay is published.

The commission will recommend increases for enlisted men and junior officers, but none for the top grades. In fact, they may actually face a pay cut in the recommended elimination of tax deductions and certain allowances.

The commission was set up by Defence Secretary Forrestal to make a comprehensive study of service pay schedules. The body consists of Charles R. Hook, former head of the American Rolling Mills Co., the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, president of the University of Notre Dame, Keith S. McHugh, vice president, American Telephone and Telegraph Co., and Lawrence E. Whiting, head of the American Furniture Mart Building Co., Chicago.

A previous committee of generals and admirals had recommended pay boosts for all ranks, with the top echelons getting the biggest increase. Forrestal didn't even bother to send this report to Congress. Instead, he appointed the civilian commission to make a new report.

One of its recommendations will be the elimination of the temporary system of family allowances for enlisted men. This amounts to $175,000,000 a year. Another recommendation will be a drastic curtailment of allowances for flying and overseas duty.

TRUMAN SUPPORTERS
The executive board of Americans for Democratic action will plump for President Truman at its forthcoming meeting in Chicago.

The New Dealers are still only lukewarm toward him. They are no more enthusiastic about the President than they were before the Philadelphia convention when they clamored for either General Eisenhower or Supreme Court Justice Douglas. But, now, they have no other place to go. They like Dewey even less than Truman.

So at their meeting, the ADA leaders will go through the motions of endorsing Truman. But in the campaign, they will concentrate their funds and efforts on congressional and state contests.

FLASHES
Tex McCrary and Jink Falkenberg, popular radio stars, have been selected by the Army and Air Force Recruiting Service to head a new network recruiting program . . . U. S. occupation authorities report that former deputy Fuehrer Rudolf Hess is the latest of the imprisoned Nazi war criminals. He balks at doing any kind of work . . . There isn't the remotest chance of Federal Judge J. W. Waring, Charleston, S. C., being impeached for upholding the right of Negroes to vote. The impeachment clamor of Rep. L. M. Rivers, S. C., is just a lot of hot air for vote-getting purposes in his district.

Danny Kaye Campaigns For Vaudeville Return

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Danny Kaye is campaigning for the return of vaudeville, and if anybody can revive that long-dead art form, it's Danny.

"I'd like nothing better than to see a whole chain of vaudeville houses open up across the country," dreamed the fast-tongued, wild-haired comic. Would he play them? I asked.

"Would I play them!" he emphasized. I took this to mean yes.

Danny's enthusiasm for vaudeville stems from his recent date at the Palladium in London, where he seems to have created one of the most noted minor revolutions since Guy Fawkes. The comic glows with such tales as being acknowledged in the English press as "our Danny."

"It was out of this world," he continued in his "Happy Times" dressing room. "Only in England could I have found audiences like those. They were mature, comprising those who go to legitimate theaters as well as young people. I could play anything for them."

Nature Boy Just Gives One Side Of 'Simple' Life

In case you may think that Nature Boy has something in his philosophy of living the simple life like the animals, you'd better read this. There's more to the story than just old N.B.'s side.

A least that's the conclusion that might be drawn from an Associated Press story on animal neurosis.

Scientists at the aquarium in the Bronx zoo report, for instance, that a little jack fish about the size of a quarter died recently from a nervous collapse.

Why? Well, it seems that little Jack was separated from his parents. He was lonely, so he started following another big fish around. The big fish didn't like being followed. He hid from little Jack, first behind a sea shell, then by darting among plants. He swam so fast that little Jack couldn't keep up.

After so long, little Jack just couldn't stand being spurned. He began to shudder and wobble as he flinned his way after the big fish. Finally he fell to the sands exhausted and died.

The zoo is full of such case histories. Two antelopes provide another example. One day two women in black stopped to look at them. Now antelopes just don't like being stared at. From then on they had fits anytime a person dressed in black appeared.

Then there is the case of the schizophrenic jewel fish. Ordinarily the breed behaves normally whether in public or private. Not this one, however.

In private, he led a very normal family life. Everybody was happy. Placed in a tank where the public could view him and his brood, he went crazy, killed his spouse and chased the kids all over the place.

Removed from the limelight, he was again a perfectly normal fish. This happened three times as the conditions were varied accordingly. The poor fellow couldn't take publicity. — ADRIAN VAUGHAN

U.S. Red Consulate Clash Helps Clear Cold War Lines

By DeWitt MacKenzie

THE AMERICAN-SOVIET CONSULATE clash is the sharp, quick shower which helps clear the air, rather than the cloudburst which does heavy damage.

When Washington several days ago asked Moscow to recall Soviet Consul General Jacob Lomakin, for "highly improper" activities in the case of the three refugee Soviet school-teachers in New York, it was a foregone conclusion that the Muscovites would dramatize the situation to save face. Thus it occasions no surprise to see them close not only their big New York consulate but their San Francisco headquarters as well. It was equally certain they would retaliate by closing America's lone consulate in Russia—that at Vladivostok.

Actually neither country will suffer much materially through the transaction. Consulates deal mainly with trade, and there has been a heavy drop in Russo-American business since U. S. export controls were imposed last March. So far as concerns Uncle Sam's consulate in Vladivostok, it was so hamstrung by the Reds that it didn't amount to much. They even threw brilliant floodlights on the building to make sure that callers at night could be identified.

THE BREAK AFFECTS THE FIELD of commerce rather than diplomacy. Both countries continue to maintain their embassies so that affairs of state will be transacted as heretofore. As a matter of fact the embassies also can handle business matters, and moreover Moscow still has in New York a branch of its big trading concern—Amtorg.

Speaking of Amtorg, the original Soviet trading organization known as Arcos was a thorn in the side of England during the early years of the Soviet regime. I was in London and watched the development of a knock-down fight between the British authorities and the "trade" agency which was as much concerned with political matters as it was with business—maybe more so. Anyway the British police were forever raiding Arcos headquarters.

Finally in 1927 the British made a sensational raid during which documents were found showing, the government claimed, that the Reds had been carrying on spying to secure military information. Britain then severed political relations with Moscow.

BUT TO GET BACK TO OUR SITUATION in America, diplomatic quarters in Washington don't expect the consulate imbroglio to have much effect on other relations between Moscow and the U.S.A. There is no sign at this writing that there will be a suspension of the negotiations among the big four looking to a solution of the German issue. In fact an informed diplomatic source in London says Stalin has proposed a Berlin conference of big four financial experts to work out an agreement for control of the German capital's currency—a red-hot issue.

True, authoritative allied sources in Berlin see little hope of success for such a currency conference, unless there is a prior agreement on principles by the governments of the big four. Still, any conference which keeps the peace ball rolling is all to the good.

Maybe things will move more smoothly as the result of the Soviet-American consulate affair. Washington's firm stand is calculated to inspire some degree of Russian respect. Maybe it will—who knows?

The United States at least retains its self-respect.

New York City Is Famous For Cultural Facilities

By WILLIAM O'DWYER
(For JACK O'BRIAN)

OUR CHILDREN: It is easy—in fact compulsory—to obtain an education in New York City. The municipal government operates 569 elementary schools, 80 high and vocational or trade schools and four public colleges. This city is world-famous for its cultural facilities. Available to New Yorkers and visitors alike are 29 museums for art, science and history, the largest and most important of which are city-owned. Our 91 art galleries offer an average of 1,150 exhibits annually. New York enjoys a high degree of literacy among all classes, with nearly 1,800,000 registered borrowers taking advantage of three main public libraries and 148 branches.

BIG BUSINESS: New York is the financial nerve center of the universe. A few statistics—last year, the New York Stock Exchange, principal money mart of the city, handled close to $10,000,000,000 in securities. We support 246 savings banks and trust companies; 1,170 investment banks and securities dealers; 1,913 insurance brokers, agents and services and 32,612 real estate firms. New York City is the home of 17 of the country's largest life insurance companies with combined assets of $20,026,000,000 and an over-all employee roster of 40,000. New York is a world capital in more ways than one, principally because we are the world's busiest sea port. Each month an average of 538 passenger and cargo vessels sail out of New York Harbor for 219 foreign ports. Another 340 ships sail on the average during the same period on coastal and inter-coastal runs. Regularly scheduled commercial transport planes take off from New York on domestic and foreign flights on the average of one nearly every five minutes throughout the 24 hours of every day.

BROTHERHOOD: There are no distinctions of race, creed or color in New York City. Nor of class, for this is the home of the rich, the poor and the in-between. When you visit New York, Mr. and Mrs. Main Street, you will find that here the best things in life are free—our friendship, our thrilling contrasts of old world and new, our beauties of scene and structure, our parks, our museums, our cultural attractions. We are glad to get your business but we are equally glad to offer you a real and warm hospitality that is for rich and poor alike. Just keep in mind that New York is not only America's showplace city but the nation's hometown away from home, as well.

Can't Wed Refugees
COPENHAGEN, (AP)—More than 1,000 Danes want to marry German refugees who have been interned in Denmark since the liberation, but not a single permit to marry a German has been given, a spokesman for the ministry said. Several Danish soldiers, with the Danish brigade in Germany, have married German girls. Nobody can forbid that—but they will never be able to get their wives with them back to Denmark. They will not be given entry permit.

The spokesman said that the strict rules forbidding entry of wives of brigade soldiers are necessitated by the refugee problem. "We cannot press the Allied authorities to help us get rid of the German refugees in Denmark and simultaneously allow German women to settle in Denmark as wives of Danish citizens," he said.

Nalley Funeral Staff Members Are Advanced

Two members of the Nalley Funeral Home staff recently completed courses and successfully passed examinations denoting advancement in the mortician's profession.

Bill Funderburk, who has finished his apprenticeship, is now a licensed embalmer, and J. C. Pickle, who recently completed a course at Dallas is an apprentice embalmer.

Funderburk completed the prescribed course two years ago at Houston. He came to Big Spring from Goose Creek and has been associated with the Nalley Funeral home for the past year. His license was issued after he passed the final examination given by the state board of embalmers and funeral directors.

Pickle joined the Nalley staff about two years ago, and then enrolled in the school at Dallas last fall. He will take the final examination before the board after serving an apprenticeship of two years.

The state board requires that the course must be completed successfully and a two-year apprenticeship must be served before an applicant is eligible to receive a state license.

The Nalley Funeral Home, which has been serving the Big Spring area for more than a decade, has continually maintained a staff of capable personnel. C. O. Nalley,
