Pavement Calls For More Stop Signs

The current paving projects are costing the city (not counting the individual property owner) a lot of money, by the time you include all engineering costs, changing of water and sewer lines and the like.

But it is hoped that the municipality will be able to dig up a little more money for an item that is needed as a result of the new pavement: more stop signs, and plenty of them.

The surfacing of many so-called "cross streets" (those running east and west) cannot help but create a greatly increased intersectional traffic hazard. As long as the north-south thoroughfares were the only ones with pavement, the average motorist, coming in from the "side" street which was unpaved and probably rough, more or less unconsciously slowed down. He knew, even in the back of his mind, that traffic on the pavement was going to take the right-of-way whether it deserved it or not.

Now that intersecting streets in a great many more instances both are surfaced, there is not that same tendency toward the slow-down.

A good deal of public education — even perhaps in the form of traffic tickets—is necessary to make stop signs effective. But they can be made so, and the sooner they are put into place, with due official notice given, the easier cross traffic can be controlled.

Let's not let new pavement be responsible for more costly traffic accidents.

When Is Federal Power Really Needed?

A great deal of the furore over President Truman's civil rights proposals has been lessened by international events, but the issue is not yet a dead one.

As concerns the so-called anti-lynching bill—a part of the president's proposals—Senator James O. Eastland of Mississippi has proposed some amendments, to make it apply to picket line violence, race riots, gangster killings and the like, and would subject peace officers to prosecution for failure to make due effort to solve any of these crimes.

The argument he puts forward is that if the federal power and jurisdiction are to be extended to a crime which the states already have practically suppressed, then they should be extended to these other crimes, which are increasing and which state authorities have not exceeded in curbing.

Now, one can imagine the protests that Senator Eastland's amendments will evoke. It would call for outraged cries in many of the very states which are producing the greatest impetus for the anti-lynching program.

Affairs Of The World—DeWitt MacKenzie

Happy Medium Is Needed For UMT

This vexing question of whether our Uncle Sam should, or should not, inaugurate universal military training is bringing me a good many inquiries from people who are in doubt but are trying to figure the thing out honestly and unselfishly.

Well, it's a compliment to be consulted but frankly I am at this writing of an open mind on the general issue of peace-time military training. The chief positive thought I have in the matter is that, if Congress should decide such training to be essential for defense, it is to be hoped it can be arranged so not to interfere with education or careers.

Having said this I must admit that my outlook may be somewhat fogged by the fact that I have a seventeen year old son in his first year of college. There are a lot of parents in the same boat. Naturally we should like to see the thing worked out so not to raise obstacles for youngsters. Who wouldn't?

However, if compulsory training is necessary, I can't see why it shouldn't be possible to arrive at some happy medium which would meet all interests, especially since we wouldn't be preparing for an immediate emergency (that would have to be homeland in a metal casket, at-tant contingencies. Switzerland, for instance, claims to have found a perfect solution, as I discovered when in that country a couple of years ago. Their system, if memory serves me right, runs something like this:

Physical training of boys, to fit them for military instruction, begins in high school. But physical perfection is only one aim of this preparatory work, for the youths are trained in civic duty and are inspired with a vast pride in their fitness to undertake the military training.

Of course not all boys go to college, but the military program is adapted to all circumstances. The training is divided into four periods of three months each and is carried out in the summer. This means that the university work isn't interrupted, and the military and academic courses are completed at about the same time.

If the boy goes to work as soon as he finishes high school, his employer under the law has to release him for the four three-month periods. The employer also continues the salary during these periods and grants the regular yearly vacation as well. Also—and this is important—the employer must maintain the employee's seniority despite these absences.

True Stories Of West Texas—N. H. Kincaid

The Earl Of Aylesford, Big Spring

Big Spring was celebrating a Christmas such as West Texas had never seen before. And the Earl of Aylesford was the host.

"I want everybody to be my guest," the Earl had said. And the local people had taken him at his word.

Long before dark the hitching rails were being filled in front of the town's one hotel, the Cosmopolitan, an unpainted structure down near the depot. Jim Winslow's four piece band was being supplemented with extra musicians imported for the occasion. And, much to the delight of the ladies, the guests were met by suave ushers, personally trained by the Earl at his London town house.

Usually the dances were held in the long hall of the stone court house, during those days of the latter eighties and nineties, since the opera house was not built until about 1905. But his party, the most tremendous that youngful Big Spring had ever witnessed, was being staged at the Cosmopolitan, the Earl's private town house at this time.

It seems that this Earl of Aylesford, with his trailing retinue of some 50 servants, had stepped unheralded from the coach of the T. & P. four years before. But there was no room in the one hotel for him, might least for his chattels and baggage. "Madam," he demanded of Mrs. Duggan, the proprietor, "how much will you take for this hotel?" When she quoted her figure, at twice the building's worth, the Earl had expansively bought it. "That man had the makings of a Texan," opines Shine Phillips.

But the Earl had only begun. A meat market was bought so as to improve the quality of the steak and a saloon and a blacksmith shop to gratify similar whims.

And always the Earl made welcome his friends. In his own ranch house, some 12 miles out from town, or in his saloon, they were received gladly—and usually on the house.

Thus tonight the tall, distinguished gentleman courteously greeted his guests, and served them sumptuously.

Yet it proved to be the Earl's swan song to West Texas—his farewell party. His health broke almost immediately and his remaining days were few.

But the tenderfoot from the courts of Europe had won his place in the hearts of the cow-pokes of West Texas. His estate was found to consist of only $750 but he was shipped back to his handied by a draft) but for distended by his valet.

And it was the cowhands who kept alive the memory of his lavish entertaining, and sought to keep untarnished the reputation of his family name.

Explanation Of New Rent Controls

WASHINGTON, (U.S.)—Here's an ABC on rent controls in this country.

WORD-A-DAY

OF COURSE IT'S NOT TOO LATE... THE RED CROSS WILL STILL ACCEPT OUR CONTRIBUTIONS TO YOUR RED CROSS

try after April 1.

A rent control bill was passed by Congress two days ago. President Truman almost certainly will sign it into law by April 1. Then it will control rents for the 12 months between April 1, 1948 and March 31, 1949. It will be treated in this story as if it already were law.

Can a landlord raise your rent in those 12 months? No, except under these three conditions:

1. You voluntarily agree to an increase but when you so agree you sign a lease. The landlord can't force you to agree or to sign a lease.
2. The area rent control director permits the landlord to raise your rental. If this happens, the director will tell you so in writing.
3. The government has approved a rent increase for the general area in which you live. But—if you agree to a rent raise in exchange for a lease—remember these two things because they're important to you:
 1. The rent increase must not be more than 15 per cent above the rent the landlord got for your living quarters on June 30, 1947.
 2. The lease must run at least through Dec. 31, 1949. Note that date: Dec. 31, 1949, not Dec. 31, 1948.

If you sign a lease that runs till Dec. 31, 1949—even though it means an increase for you—you'll be protected from any other increase till Dec. 31, 1949.

The idea behind the new law is to keep rents in general from rising any more than 15 per cent—until March 31, 1949—a move what they were on June 30, 1947. Suppose this happened to you: between June 30, 1947 and Dec. 31, 1947 you signed a lease, agreeing to some increase up to as much as 15 per cent above June 30, 1947. But your lease runs out Dec. 31, 1948.

That would mean your lease runs out three months before the new law dies on March 31, 1949. Do you then have to sign a new lease on Dec. 31, 1948 or can the landlord raise your rent after that date? No.

In that case you can sit tight till March 31, 1949 and see whether Congress continues rent controls beyond that date.

Arms Program To Mean Inflation

Memo to Senator Taft:

While you and I are in frequent disagreement, I have considerable admiration for your courage and tenacity. May I therefore present for your consideration a problem of vital importance to all of us.

As you know, the Administration is now planning to embark on a gigantic arms program, including thousands of jet planes, new rocket-launching guns, submarines that can carry rockets close to enemy shores, new aircraft carriers which can launch bombers, and thousands of steel-consuming guided missiles.

In addition the national defense department urges a lend-lease program whereby we would equip the armies of democratic nations in Europe.

While this program may not be adopted, yet if only half of it—including the aviation program which you yourself favor—is adopted, it will result in the greatest inflation this nation has ever seen.

Already we face a steel shortage. Already our railroads are hard up for freight cars. Automobiles are still short in supply. The manpower shortage still handicaps many industries. Electric power is so low in the West that California is on daylight saving. Last week when the airplane industries learned they were to start a new building program their aluminum orders swamped the three lone companies in this country which make aluminum.

In other words, with the nation's economy already running at top speed, the Army and Navy have asked for 14 billion and are reported ready to ask for ten or eleven billion more.

have no reservation about the fact that if even a fraction of this arms program is to be met, the nation must once more subject itself to a rigid, unpleasant system of controls. Furthermore, we must act before our economy gets out of hand.

Without going into the whys and wherefores of who killed OPA, it remains a fact that prices have gone up ever since. But that rise is nothing compared with the skyrocketing sure to be touched off by the new arms program.

So if we are to have controls, let's not go through the same hedge-podge we experienced during the late war, the same jumble of gerry-mandered government agencies built up and torn down on a trial-and-error basis.

First we had the fumbling national defense advisory board—until it was superseded by the hydra-headed office of production management—until it in turn succumbed to the war production board; and the OPA, which started off with limited authority because a short-sighted Congress withheld that authority. As a result, some prices were up almost 30 per cent even before price control was adopted.

This time, however, we can't wait. We can't afford a trial-and-error system.

Last November President Truman asked Congress to give him the power to control prices. His request, in view of the arms program ahead, was modest. But even this was not granted.

Now, I can sympathize with congressional reluctance to vote new controls, first because none of us like them, second because

Mr. Truman's appointees are not noted for efficiency in administering them.

Nevertheless if we are to build armaments, price controls and allocations of scarce materials have got to come. Furthermore, if you, Senator Taft, take the leadership which the country must expect of one who seeks to be elected to the highest office in the land, you should also receive certain advisory compensations. Senator Vandenberg, for instance, who has set such a fine example of bipartisan foreign policy, is consulted by the state department in the carrying out of that policy and the appointments made under it.

A bipartisan domestic policy in this day of national emergency is fast becoming just as necessary as a bipartisan foreign policy. The two go hand-in-hand.

It takes a big man to admit his mistakes. And I note that you have been big enough to reverse yourself on Federal education and are now leading the fight for the bill which four years ago you helped defeat.

A lot of Senators are going to have to be big enough to reverse themselves on price controls and tax reduction if we are to follow the tough foreign policy the majority of Americans seem to favor.

And I for one suggest that, as a start toward mapping out a sound domestic economy, we call in Bernard Baruch, Donald Nelson, Leon Henderson and the others who kept prices down and allocated war materials, and ask them to chart a new course to head off the oncoming hurricane of inflation.

Stars Need A Spanking

HOLLYWOOD (U.P.)—Hollywood movie stars need a sound spanking.

This is no snap judgment on my part. Many happenings have brought it to my attention. The truth is that stars, like kids with too much candy, are getting spoiled.

Last week's academy award blizzard brought this into sharp focus. The academy is Hollywood's bid for dignity and prestige. It is supposed to be the industry's tribute to the best work of the year. Most of the town's big stars found some reason not to attend.

The only big names who turned out were those on the program or nominated for awards. And most of those conducted themselves in a silly manner. They tried to sneak into the auditorium unnoticed. Or if the crowd recognized them and cheered, they gave no response, but hurried along.

Later that night, sunset strip night clubs were filled with stars who "couldn't make" the academy event.

In many other ways, the stars are sloughing off the public that supports them and the industry that pays them fabulous salaries. Some pay scant attention to their fans, ignoring or letting the studio answer the fan mail. Many of them make no attempt to meet the public.

One of the top film queens was asked this week if she planned any personal appearance tours. "My P. A. days are behind me," she answered blandly.

Recently, 10 stars were cited as the most popular in the U. S., according to a public opinion poll conducted for a magazine. Only four of them—Ingrid Bergman, Jane Allyn, Alan Ladd and Humphrey Bogart—showed up at a banquet to receive their awards.

It's about time stars were realizing whence comes their moola—from the public with whom they have so little contact these days.

I'll admit the stars may have a reply. Their immediate public—the "fans" who clamor around theaters and hotels—are often malicious screwballs. But there are other, real fans beyond the lunatic fringe.

The argument might also be raised that some stars are shy. If so, they are in the wrong racket.

Magic Of Four Wheels

What chemical or combination of chemicals is there in a man's physical makeup that effects a Hycean change in his personality and his temperament when he slips behind the steering apparatus of an automobile and starts herding a ton or so of disciplined steel about our thoroughfares?

A mild-mannered party who probably helps his wife do the dishes after supper and employs perfect tact while tending to business gives absolutely no quarter when at the controls of our horseless carriage.

He becomes both an intrepid and obdurate individual once in command of the modern-day chariot and would probably refuse to yield to his satanic majesty himself.

Traffic disturbs him no end. He looks at other motorists with a diabolical glare when in a tight situation which, likely as not, he himself caused.

He'll beat another driver to a parking slot and congratulate himself on his agile maneuvering, but let another car slip into the spot ahead of him and the air is blue with the oaths that roll from his lips.

Parallel parking is apt to drive him daft and he censures the ascensors of the person who thoughts up such time-consuming nonsense but let him ease into the space without denting the fenders of either of the neighboring cars and he will sprain his arm patting himself on the back.

He demands the right-of-way at all times because his day is time-budgeted but believes most every one else is out for a joy ride and would be better off at home. He relishes clear sailing, thinks the person who passes him should be hauled in by the cops but is always five miles under the speed limit.

He'll lay on the horns of his machine to open the holes in traffic but wants to outlaw all vehicle warning systems as nuisances when some one else would have him give ground.

In event of mishap, there are two sides to the discussion that likely as not ensues—his and the erring person's. And nothing witnesses, the legal mind nor a critical wit can prove him wrong.

He is our schizophrenic friend, Mr. Average American—TOMMY HART.

Ghostwriting Defended

By ARTHUR EDSON

(FOR HAL BOYLE) Ghostwriting is nothing new. Aulus Hirtius helped Julius Caesar write his commentaries. Seneca was a mouthpiece for Nero. Demosthenes turned out tailor-made talks for less gifted orators.

The elder Alexandre Dumas dreamed up so many plots for novels that he had a surplus, which he farmed out to hacks.

George Washington, who was a soldier, not a writer, is supposed to have had help on his farewell address.

And, according to one literary digest of July 10, 1932, Mark Twain once was a ghost. He helped write the autobiography of Ulysses S. Grant.

So when President Daniel Marsh of Boston university strikes out at ghosting as he did recently, he's hitting at a well established custom.

Dr. Marsh says the practice is dishonest, and that speakers should be compelled by law to say who wrote their addresses. Maybe you feel the same way.

Yet the ghost has his defenders. J. George Frederick wrote in "Forum" magazine back in 1939.

"A man in a prominent position must speak out, and because he cannot be credited to" be a master of words he has the same right to engage help in this duty as he has to engage a lawyer or a doctor or a tailor."

And this from the late Gen. Hugh Johnson, the N.R.A. head who later became (you'll excuse the expression) a columnist.

"I see no fault in national leaders—whether George Washington with Alexander Hamilton or Franklin Roosevelt with Tommy Corcoran using ghost writers. After all, the speaker makes the words his own and is therefore responsible for them."

Johnson added this consoling thought:

"No ghostwriter ever permanently made a political silk purse out of an artisan's sow's ear."

It's here in talkative Washington, where you can't hear a speech at the drop of a congressman's nay, that the practice has thrived.

The late Charlie Michelson was the most famous ghost of all. He was a one-man speech factory, and a good one, for democratic bigwigs in New Deal days.

Even Johnson, no slouch of a syllable slinger himself, turned to Michelson for help.

"He is the only man who ever wrote any part of a speech for me," said the general, "and the part he wrote was the best."

Tribute To Moss Hart

NEW YORK—Moss Hart, who has dashed off some of our best frothy fluff as well as deadly in-earned pieces such as "Winged Victory," is being tossed an unusual dinner. . . . The 300 members of the "Winged Victory" cast will get together at the Savoy-Plaza Hotel to toast their favorite wartime playwright in peacetime champagne, swap some stories and remember the camaraderie of their martial gréaspeap.

Many of the graduates of "Winged Victory" have become celebrated in their fields since the close of that resplendent history of the wartime air forces. . . . They include Peter Lind Hayes who has become a cafe, stage and screen star. . . . Ray Middleton, who pitches nightly woo to Ethel Merman as her leading man in "Annie Get Your Gun. . . . Edmond O'Brien, the Irish lad who played a Jewish boy in the play and film version of "Winged Victory," also of the upper cinema echelons presently. . . . Red Buttons, a diminutive pepper pot of a comic, whose potentialities haven't yet been adequately explored in several Broadway musicals, although they may be in the imminent "Hold It. . . . David Rose, the "Holiday for Strings" composer and radio conductor. . . . Alan Baxter, one of the busiest stage and screen leading men. . . . and Donald Richards, the male lead in "Finian's Rainbow," currently doubling into the Waldorf-Astoria at plenty lettuce per week.

These are two important types of rayon, and each has different characteristics. Viscose rayon is known for its strength; acetate rayon for good draping qualities. Both react differently to dyes. When both yarns are used in a fabric, unusual cross-dyed color effects are possible. Approximately 72 per cent of the rayon produced in the United States is made by the Viscose process; 28 per cent by the Acetate process.

These and the slightly less celebrated graduates of "Winged Victory" have consistently sounded the praises of Moss Hart as a writer, director and just plain swell fellow, and they insist on proving that peace and the professional theater haven't dimmed their admiration. . . . Nice gesture!

JOE TROY, N. Y. Giants' bat boy from 1929 through 1935, is doing nicely, thank you, as a hotel man. . . . Joe started as elevator boy at the New Yorker Hotel, went up the ladder slowly but steadily at the huge 34th Street rooming house, took a little time out to journey to Europe under Uncle Sam's auspices during the war and has just been made a minor executive. . . . And yes, Joe's still a Giant fan.

Back in the late thirties, a good looking lad and a fiery lass came to Broadway from Havana and gave night club fans a real peek at the correct Cuban rumbas and conga styles at a cellar saloon called La Conga, now the premises of another colorful boite, the China Doll.

The gal was Diosa Costello, the boy Desi Arnaz, and George Abbott, the r h m b a -dancing Broadway producer, put the kids into a musical comedy called "Too Many Girls. . . . They worked for comparative peanuts, made the ultimate of their chance, became big hits here and in Hollywood, and at last are having a night club reunion. . . . Of course the Hollywood ending would be to have them marry and live happily ever after, which they did, only not to each other.

Desi, of course, married Lucille Ball and Diosa paired off with Pupi Campo, another Cuban band leader. . . . Desi has become a wealthy band leader himself after a very respectable career in films. . . . And now these personable, fiery kids are back together again, this time at The Harlem another Broadway night club. . . . Each is earning ten times or more what they were paid together at La Conga.

There are two important types of rayon, and each has different characteristics. Viscose rayon is known for its strength; acetate rayon for good draping qualities. Both react differently to dyes. When both yarns are used in a fabric, unusual cross-dyed color effects are possible. Approximately 72 per cent of the rayon produced in the United States is made by the Viscose process; 28 per cent by the Acetate process.

Fred Coleman Takes Charge Of Courts

Fred Coleman, son of the founder of Camp Coleman, has taken over as manager of the famous courts on the eastern brow of the city.

Announcement was made today by L. E. (Luke) Coleman, pioneer Big Spring business man who built the first courts more than 20 years ago.

Fred Coleman is a native of Big Spring and attended schools here and at Schreiner Institute in Kerrville.

When a game leg kept him from being accepted for armed service, he worked in several defense plants until the war was over. Returning to Big Spring, he went to work for Cosden Petroleum Corp.

as an electrician, serving in that capacity for the past two years.

His ability as an electrician comes naturally, for his father operated the electric plant here before Texas Electric Service company entered the field. His handling of the affairs of Camp Coleman, too, should come naturally, for he has had several years of experience helping his father in that undertaking.

Because there was such a demand for tourist courts that people were camping in his front yard some 20 years ago, L. E. Coleman built his first tourist cabin. When it promptly rented, he built another and another until he had a battery of 10.

Today there are 65 modern cabins. The original ones have long since been remodeled and refurbished to meet the needs of the times.

L. E. Coleman said that he plans to retire and enjoy "visiting and fishing with my old friends."

Besides the Washington Monument, the nation's capital has another Washington memorial, an equestrian statue depicting Washington rallying his troops at the battle of Princeton.

SPRUCE UP FOR SPRING—Baseball is just around the corner and when the Broncs take the field on opening day, their uniforms will be spic and span—as indicated here, where they're hanging after a thorough cleaning job at the W&K Cleaners. Which serves to remind that this modernly equipped, scientifically operated plant at 1213 West Third also handles guaranteed cleaning, pressing, repair and alterations of any type of garment. Giant Bones Are Uncovered

ALBANY, March 20. (AP)—Giant bones of a prehistoric animal were turned up this week by a bulldozer being used to dig a water reservoir two miles south of Albany.

Dr. Cyrus N. Ray, Abilene paleontologist, identified one of the relics, which is about 4 1/2 feet long, with a knuckle the size of a football, as the hip bone of a giant mammoth.

The petrified bones were found in a heavy clay formation by Bienn Leach, Albany rancher, and Frank Beal, tanking contractor.

In the past, mastodon bones were dug out of the banks of Hubbard creek on the Hadley Robert ranch 10 miles east of Albany.

Texas May Have Smallest Corn Crop

AUSTIN, March 20. (AP)—The largest flax and rice crops in history—and the smallest recent corn crop—are in prospect for Texas this year.

The United States department of agriculture reported Saturday that Texas farmers have seeded during the fall and winter the largest acreage of flax ever grown in the state.

"The prospective increase in rice also would establish a new record," USDA's report said.

Increased acreages were also reported for sorghums, oats, barley, rye and potatoes.

Smaller acreages of corn, wheat, sweet potatoes, cowpeas, peanuts, and all hay (excluding sorghum forage) are also indicated, USDA said.

"Corn acreage may be at the lowest level since 1924 and cowpeas at the lowest level since 1929," it was reported.

Local Residents Become Grandparents

STRATTON RETURNS

Tag Match Carded At BSAC Tonight

WALTER STRATTON . . . Gideon's Partner

Wrestling Promoter Patrick O'Dowdy believes in giving his patrons what they ask for. In line with the public's demands, the Irish master of ceremonies of the local temple of torture is staging another in the series of Australian tag matches that have proved so popular here.

Tonight, he's pitting Walter Stratton, the Boston veteran, and Eddie Gideon of Springfield, Mo., against Bill "Ace" Abbott of Abilene and Gorilla Pogi, Argentina.

All four boys are well known here. Stratton has been in the wrestling business a long while. In other sections he has become known as the original Boston Strong Boy.

Gideon has made two appearances locally and has made a favorable impression on O'Dowdy's clientele. He had rough goes in each match, the first against Al Getz and the second against Pogi.

This evening, he'll get a chance to even an old score with Abbott in a 20-minute preliminary duel that leads up to the main event.

Stratton also engages in a 20-minute warmup test with Abbott and likely as not will give the Texan a rugged sailing.

O'Dowdy invited popular Dory Detton in to serve as over-seer of the proceedings but Detton, who lives in Amarillo, had to decline. His wife gave birth to a daughter over the weekend.

The show gets on the road at 8:15 o'clock.

'Pressure Golf' Gives Harbert Charlotte Title

CHARLOTTE, N. C., March 29. (AP)—When golfer Chick Harbert's second daughter was born 11 weeks ago her daddy stuck close to home, passing up several tournaments until all was well.

Today the 33-year-old Detroit had pocketed his second $2,000 check in two weeks as further insurance that the young lady and her 17-month-old sister will be well supplied with things gals of that age require.

The 1947 PGA championship runner-up with the silver-streaked hair won the $10,000 Charlotte Open yesterday with a 70-71 finish for 273 and a one-stroke edge over Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn.

In one of the most dramatic finishes of the winter tour, the two, playing together in the last three-some of the final winter event before next week's Augusta Masters, came down to the last hole with the issue in doubt.

They had started the final 18 all square at 202, two strokes ahead of Lawson Little, the Cleveland veteran. Little checked in with 276 for third place and the battle was strictly between Middlecoff and Harbert.

As they teed off for the final time Middlecoff needed a birdie on the short 18th against a par for Harbert to tie for the second straight year. He beat George Schoux, Mamaroneck, N. Y., in a playoff last season.

Harbert's last drive overshot the green to the left of the pin. Middlecoff then drove a beauty to within 15 feet of the pin. He had his birdie set up. The next move was Harbert's.

Texans Defeat Cal Poloists

LOS ANGELES, March 29. (AP)—A hard-riding bunch of Texans took a 9-8 decision from the California All-Stars in a polo match here yesterday.

Cecil Smith, who scored four goals, paced the Texans. Bobby Fletcher scored six goals to grab individual honors on the California team.

Smith, rated nationally at 10 goals, received a special trophy from Mrs. Spencer Tracy.

Breechen May Leave Birds

By The Associated Press
CLEARWATER, Fla., March 29. (AP)—Bob Carpenter, president of the Philadelphia Phillies, talked trade with officials of the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday but later announced "there was nothing doing."

The Phillies need pitchers. The Cards are in the market for a catcher and centerfielder and have indicated they might part with Pitcher Harry Breechen if the bait is right.

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 29. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs and White Sox paused here today on their journey home from the West Coast to play one of a half-dozen exhibition games remaining between the city rivals.

The Cubs nominated Bob McCall and Ralph Hamner to pitch. The White Sox named Jim Goodwin and Howard Judson.

FRESNO, Calif., March 29. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates are wondering what's become of their batting punch.

The Bucs, who meet the New York Giants in an exhibition game today, have averaged only five hits a game in the last ten contests.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 29. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals should know soon just how serious is Shortstop Marty Marion's knee injury.

Dr. Robert Hyland, the club physician, is expected in camp today to examine the joint that buckled under Marion during last week's practice.

Meanwhile, Marion's stand-in, Bernie Creger, is showing to advantage. He handled seven chances faultlessly against the Philadelphia Phillies yesterday as the Cards won, 5 to 3.

TAMPA, Fla., March 29. (AP)—Manager Johnny Neun of the Cincinnati Reds says he isn't worried about one position on his club—and that's shortstop.

Termining the play of Jersey City Rookie Virgil Stallcup as "sensational," Neun said "Red Stallcup is my shortstop and you can't emphasize that too strongly."

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Miller Harris, the one-time Big Spring baseball star who looks so much like Babe Ruth he should have been screen-tested for the picture being made of the Sultan of Swat's life, tells this story about an interview he had with a young recruit for his Dumas (Texas) independent baseball team:

It seems the stripling had designs on playing first base, having performed at that station for his high school team. It was immediately suggested he school himself for some other position on the nine.

"You'll have trouble beating out our first baseman, I'm sure," warned Miller. "He's a good fielder, has played lots of baseball and hit .520 last year."

Miller's remarks obviously made a big impression on the young fellow, whose eyes popped. Asked he: "A .520 hitter? Who is he?"

To which Miller replied: "Me."

HARRIS USUALLY HIT FOR EXTRA BASES
Truth of the matter is, Harris did clout .520 last season. Playing with a team that played once a week during the summer, he went "horse-collar" but one game. Most of his safeties went for extra bases.

He insists if he hits within 200 points of that figure this year he'll pat himself on the back.

Miller's husky son, Jimmy Harris, plays regularly with the Dumas team and is picking up some valuable pointers from the "old man." He'll probably go to college at West Texas State in Canyon next fall.

McADEN STILL UNCERTAIN ABOUT TIME OF OPENER
Claude McAden, general manager of the Big Spring professional baseballers, is still undecided about when to play the first game with Midland here April 23, in the afternoon or at night. He'd like to think the weather will have warmed up sufficiently by that time for a nocturnal go.

EL PASO, SUNSHINE CITY, TO TRAIN ON COAST
El Paso's Texans, members of the Arizona-Texas baseball league, open training in Santa Clara, California, today.

We thought El Paso was the city of eternal sunshine.

SALT FLATS TOO SHORT FOR TESTS, EXPERTS SAY
Stories out of Bonneville, Utah, hint the salt flats may no longer be of use for a speedway. However, Utahans needn't feel slighted. Experts say nowhere in the world is there a known strip of straightaway long enough to permit a true test of the top speed of an automobile for one mile.

John Cobb, a Londoner, holds the present speed record, 393.8 MPH, established at Bonneville Sept. 16, 1947. According to Chester Ricker, timer of the course, Cobb at no time gained full speed because the course was not long enough.

The course of the salt flats is about 15 miles in length. A straightaway of 20 to 25 miles is needed, according to those who know.

CRANE TOWNS-PEOPLE GET BEHIND SOFTBALL TEAM
Crane, a town which once fielded one of the top independent baseball teams in Texas, apparently has gone all-out for softball. (The city is entered in the new Texas Softball League).

The Crane team will play in a new $3,000 park erected there last year. The whole plant is now being repainted and most of the town merchants have purchased fence signs. The money realized therefrom will go toward more improvements to the athletic plant.

More seats are to be added to the park and the county has agreed to build two dressing rooms.

Ed White Wins Over Barnum

HOUSTON, March 29. (AP)—Ed White held the Houston country club invitational golf tournament title again today, the result of a 1-up decision over John Barnum, Chicago, yesterday.

White sank a 30-foot putt on the 37th hole to win the title.

It was a repeat performance of the 1936 tournament when White won over Barnum on a 1-up decision in 20-holes.

LOT DEPENDS ON BORYLA

Nuggets' Coach Bidding For 2nd Olympics Trip

NEW YORK, March 29. (AP)—Ralph Bishop's chances of becoming the only basketball player ever to represent the United States in two Olympiads rested today on the damaged left knee of Vince Boryla, Bishop, only collegian on the American team which won the Olympic basketball title in 1936, Oakland Bitters in the quarter-finals Saturday.

Boryla, former Notre Dame star, who plans to return to South Bend next season, was the star of Denver's Saturday conquest, scoring 21 points before he hurt his knee in trying to protect a two-point lead.

The other semi-final tonight sends Kentucky against Baylor in a repeat performance of their final battle in the NCAA eliminations which Kentucky won, 58-42.

Baylor turned in a close 59-57 decision over New York university Saturday, with Jimmy Owen firing over Bartlesville, they would have to stop the winners of tonight's other semi-final game between Kentucky and Baylor in the Olympic final Wednesday night.

Right now, Bishop's major worry is the condition of Boryla's knee, injured in the last 20 seconds of Denver's 57-55 triumph over the Oakland Bitters in the quarter-finals Saturday.

Boryla, former Notre Dame star, who plans to return to South Bend next season, was the star of Denver's Saturday conquest, scoring 21 points before he hurt his knee in trying to protect a two-point lead.

The other semi-final tonight sends Kentucky against Baylor in a repeat performance of their final battle in the NCAA eliminations which Kentucky won, 58-42.

Baylor turned in a close 59-57 decision over New York university Saturday, with Jimmy Owen firing the winning basket only 45 seconds before the end of the game.

Kentucky sped into the semi-finals Saturday night, eliminating Louisville, 91-57, in a game that found the champions of the Kansas City NAIB tournament completely outclassed.

The 14 players who will make up the U. S. Olympic squad at London will be selected after Wednesday night's final but may not be announced until the following day. Five players will be named from each team in the final, with two others to be selected at large from each of the two brackets in the tryouts.

Athletic Group To Air Riddle Contest Here

A "Guess and Gain" contest, patterned after the Truth or Consequences "Walking Man" program and sponsored by the Big Spring Athletic Association, is to be started over Radio Station KBST at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday, April 7.

Contestants will be asked to finish the sentence, "We should all support the Big Spring Athletic Association because—" in 25 words or less. Each week, until the contest is concluded, the three best letters read by a committee of judges will be chosen and the writers will be given a chance to solve a riddle that will be repeated on each program until the solution is given.

The persons will be called by telephone. No entry fee is required. Merchandise prizes, donated by local merchants, will be proffered the eventual winner. Value of the premiums to be proffered the first week is more than $75. More prizes will be added from week to week until the riddle is solved.

The contest will help to acquaint the people with the aims and methods of the Big Spring Athletic Association, which is in the midst of a money-raising campaign and which plans to revive its program here this summer.

3AA Brigades Play Friday

District 3AA baseball play opens up on three fronts Friday of this week but the Big Spring Steers will not swing into action until Tuesday, April 6.

Friday's lineup finds Abilene invading San Angelo, Odessa entertaining Lamesa and Midland in Sweetwater.

Big Spring bides time until Tuesday of next week, when the Steers host the Lamesa Tornados.

Abilene's Eagles are the defending champions in league play. Sweetwater and San Angelo rule as pre-season favorites to cop the crown, however.

The schedule extends through May 21, with each team playing a double round-robin program.

Longhorns Win
AUSTIN, March 27. (AP)—Relief Pitcher Bobby Layne choked off a ninth-inning rally at five runs as the Texas Longhorns turned back the Ohio State Buckeyes, 12-11.

Something new, exciting, different, the motorcycle races April 4.—adv.

against a concrete bridge about six miles east of San Angelo.

Charles Robert Jackson, 30, was found dead Sunday on a street car viaduct in Dallas. Police said he apparently had been hit by a street car during the night.

At Corsicana, Gene Roberson, 15, died in a hospital Sunday of injuries received Saturday night when a car overturned at a curve in Frost.

James A. Singleton, 31, was killed instantly Saturday when the car in which he was riding overturned east of Brunell.

Two Negroes were killed in Dallas Saturday night when the car in which they were riding careened off a street and smashed against a telephone pole. They were Herbert Allen, 23, and Richard Allen, 27. Police said they were not relatives.

Grady Earl Fite, 4, drowned Saturday while he and three brothers were on a picnic and fishing trip at a creek near Athens.

Donald Ray Ayres, 16, died Saturday of injuries suffered in automobile collision near Blossom Friday night.

Fred Hogan, 27, Grand Prairie, died in Hillsboro Sunday of injuries suffered in a three-car collision near Hillsboro March 24.

Mrs. Emma Townsend, 96, died in Corsicana Saturday night. She had suffered a broken hip in a fall a few days earlier.

The body of Edwin A. Rakke, 41, was found near Corpus Christi Saturday with two stab wounds in the chest and a slashed throat. Justice of the Peace B. A. Carter ruled that Rakke died of "knife wounds self inflicted" and estimated he died Friday morning.

down by Christ, "for even this is Rotary."

Dr. E. H. Hereford, Arlington, dean of North Texas Agricultural College, rallied Rotarians to Christian precepts, in declaring that the pronouncement by Jesus that "he who would be great among you, let him be servant" of his neighbors was the "most revolutionary idea of all time... Never treat this as a platitude."

Service is the greatest word when adapted to present needs, he declared, for it embodies love, brotherhood and friendship. Unlimited service, he continued, "is distinctly realistic and the only one which ultimately is most profitable to us... The servant does not often live to see the fruit of his service... and the greater the service, the longer the time required to be realized by the public."

It is incumbent upon democracy to teach the peculiar doctrine of service, he said, as a panacea to domestic and international problems. He challenged Rotarians, whom he held had a remarkable opportunity for implementation through vocational service, to try "service unlimited."

In his accounting of stewardship to the district, McCulloch declared that "it is through service to its community that Rotary is justifying its existence in the community." During the year, he said, 151 carefully selected men were added as new members in the district; $13,000 plus, or 39.8 per cent of its quota, has been paid by the district to Rotary Foundation, an agency for international student exchange; only six clubs fell below the 80 per cent line in attendance and eight had 95 per cent or better.

Otto Peters, Sr., president of the Big Spring club, extended the welcome to Rotarians gathered in the city auditorium for the opening convocation, and Harley Sadtler, Sweetwater, responded. Invocation was pronounced by Charles Paxton, Sweetwater, and conference songs were led by R. E. (Shep) Sheppard, Dallas, with Mrs. Sheppard at the concert grand.

Mrs. Blanche Haas, Omaha, Neb., wife of Rotary's presidential representative, Fred Haas, and Mrs. Blanche McCulloch, Stamford, wife of Gov. Jim McCulloch, were recognized.

Marvin House, conference secretary, read greetings from Kendrick Guernsey, Rotary International President, and from W. S. (Bill) Eager, governor of Kansas district 123.

Todd's name was placed in nomination by Charles Newman, Fort Worth, and seconded by Grady England, Wichita Falls, and Tom Eplen, Abilene.

Rex Webster, president of the Lubbock club, nominated Dr. Ira Wood for governor of the 12th district, and Irving Loeb, Sweetwater, and Rev. Howard Hollowell, Midland, seconded. Harry Wilbur's nomination was made by H. F. Benjamin, Borger, and was seconded by Earl O'Keefe, Amarillo, and Ray Evans, Pampa.

Record Crowds Greet Easter

Fair weather brought out record and near-record crowds to the churches of Big Spring Sunday.

Unofficial estimates placed the number in worship services during the morning at about 7,500.

Upwards of 1,500 braved the briskness of a clear dawn to participate in the traditional sunrise services at the Easter park and to hear the Rev. R. Gage Lloyd declare that Christ personified an ever-ready redemption.

Most churches were taxed for room and many brought in extra chairs to seat the over-flowing crowds. With a warm and comparatively still afternoon in store, thousands flocked to the city park, scenic Mountain and the highways.

Mansfield Wins

Toots Mansfield averaged little better than 19 seconds Sunday at Pecos to win going away from Zeno Ferris Las Cruces, N. M., in a matched calf roping event. Mansfield roped and tied 10 calves in 193.7 seconds, while it required Ferris 236.14 to wrap up his 10 animals.

Rotarians

mittee activity problems were studied.

L. D. Ratliff, Spur, was the chief speaker for the vocational service luncheon, talking on "First An Invaluable Service." W. A. H. B. V. Stephenson, Abilene, a past district governor, was chairman of this group, which dealt with the relationship between vocational service and the labor situation, prospective industrial peace, and economic conditions.

"Know Your Community" was the address delivered by Benny Butler, Cisco, as principal speaker at the community service session. Bob W. Arlington, presided for the program, which also included panel discussion on rural-urban activities, the Rotary youth program, public recreation projects, and the general Rotary approach to various community affairs.

M. W. Lamour, Graham, presided at the club publication luncheon, which had several speakers to talk on various phases of the publication project. These included Andy Nilson, Fort Worth, for the larger units; Andy Bills, Littlefield, for the smaller clubs; Mike Wicks, Ralls, on the relationship between publication editor and club secretary; and Herman McDaniel, Abilene, on use of publications to promote club fellowship.

Before the conference goes into its final business session Tuesday morning, special breakfasts are on the schedule for 8 a. m. These include affairs for club presidents, club secretaries and a special event honoring past district governors' wives.

Martin Wildcat Has No Shows

No oil or gas shows resulted from a one-hour drillstem test on Stanolind No. 1 Mabee, deep wildcat in northwest Martin county Monday.

The test was from 12,280-333 feet and returned 180 feet of brackish water with no shows of oil or gas. The venture is slated to drill to about 12,380 feet and then try another drillstem test. Previously there were reports that a core from 12,315-25 feet recovered five feet of lime with shows of oil. Some picked the section as the Fusselman in the Silurian. The exploration, 3 miles northwest of Stanton, is 660 feet from the south and west lines of tract 87, league 258, Briscoe county school lands.

Legion Affair Honoring Steck Draws Crowd

Approximately 300 American Legion members, their wives and guests were on hand Saturday evening for an informal dance and get-together honoring Harold P. Steck, immediate past commander.

On behalf of the post, D. L. Burnette, commander, presented Mr. and Mrs. Steck with a crystal service for eight.

Burnett had warm praise for Steck's leadership, with the post, pointing to a big membership increase over a two-year period and of such proportions to put the post among the regional leaders. He also lauded Steck's part in the acquisition by the post of the Legion hut, now scene of its many social and business functions. The hut is valued at $50,000 and formerly was the officers club at the bombardier school.

Arrangements Saturday were handled by George Zachariah and Foy Fanning.

Miss Barbara Jayne McEwen Becomes Bride Of Daniel Krause In Easter Ceremonies

Smilax, Lilies Form Background At The Altar

Before a cathedral-type arched background fashioned with a profusion of plumosus fern, smilax and Easter lilies, Miss Barbara Jane McEwen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell McEwen, and Daniel Marston Krause of Houston, son of Mrs. Helen Krause of Rochester, N. Y., and L. M. Krause of Houston, were united in marriage in an Easter evening ceremony in the Settles hotel ballroom.

Dozens of giant white tapers in tall candelabra flanked the white altar platform, and others illuminated the fern-and-lily background. Lily trees, fashioned of the Easter blossoms and fern atop white standards marked the white-carpeted center aisle, other taper-filled candelabra stood along the side aisles. Smilax was festooned from ceiling chandeliers.

The Rev. Theo Francis, OMI, pastor of the St. Thomas Catholic church, read the double ring vows. Mrs. Omar Pitman, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and other prenuptial selections. She also accompanied Stewart Smith as he sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "Oh, Perfect Love."

The bride chose a gown of ivory satin designed with a high neckline and tiny pointed collar. Imported hand-made lace formed a yoke over the satin. The long fitted sleeves tapered to points over the hands with insets of the old lace. The fitted bodice fastened down the front with tiny self-covered buttons. The very full gathered skirt, joined to the bodice by molded yoke of the satin, swept into a full formal train. She carried a sheath of cathedral calla lilies tied with a wide white satin ribbon. Her finger tip veil of imported French bridal illusion fell in full graceful tiers from a shaped halo of tiny French orange blossoms.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. R. R. McEwen, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Robbie Piner, Louise Ann Bennett, Marjorie Thurman and Doris Jean Glenn. They wore dresses of heavenly blue faille taffeta fashioned with a deep "V" neckline and small lapels, double eye sleeves, fitted basque bodice, and full flared skirt accented at the hipline by a pouff of plume of the fabric. Their head dresses were halos of matching blue veiling. They wore long white gloves and carried arm bouquets of daffodils.

R. R. McEwen, Jr., brother of the bride, served as best man. Groomsmen included Edbert Schutze of Austin, Phillip Masquette of Houston, Frank Sherwood of Fort Worth, and Richard LeRoux of Austin.

Marilyn Lang of Dallas, cousin of the bride and Dot Wasson, dressed in white net formal and wearing wrist bouquets of white carnations, lighted tapers.

Kay McGibbon was flower girl. She was attired in a long ivory satin frock with small rosebuds around the high waist line and a white net halo head dress.

The bride's mother wore a royal blue crepe formal with an arrangement of flame gladiol in her hair. Mrs. Krause, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black crepe formal with gold trim. Her flowers were red camellias worn at the belt and in her hair.

A reception was held following the ceremony in the Settles hotel. The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth styled with full gathered skirt and trimmed with a wide bias band at the bottom. Nose-gays of fresh white flowers and ribbon were tied in the net festooning which adorned the table covering. Silver candelsticks holding white tapers were on each side of the massive four tiered wedding cake.

Members of the houseparty were Mrs. Harry E. Graham, sister of the bridegroom of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Morris Patterson, Mrs. George O'Brien, Jr., Jackie Razor of Houston, Mrs. Dean Miller, Gloria Strom, Lydia Carr of Victoria and the mothers of the attendants.

The couple left after the reception for a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N. M. The bride wore an electric blue gabardine suit, navy accessories and a pink rosebud corsage for traveling. Mr. and Mrs. Krause will make their home in Houston.

Mrs. Krause attended Stephens College at Columbia, Mo. and the University of Texas where she was a Zeta Tau Alpha pledge.

The bridegroom attended Schreiner Institute and graduated from the University of Texas where he was a member of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity and the Silver Spur organization. He was ensign in the Navy. Out of town guests included Mrs. Helen Green Krause of Rochester, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Graham of Los Angeles, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lang, George and Helen Lang of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Owens, Diane and Jack of Long Beach, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graham of Houston, Mrs. Helen Ellis of San Angelo, Jackie Razor of Houston and Lydia Carr of Victoria.
