By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States is rushing four special early warning radar planes to Saudi Arabia to help strengthen the oil-rich country's air defenses against a possible spread of the war between Iraq and Iran, the Pentagon announced Tuesday.

Ross told a Pentagon press briefing the decision to deploy the aircraft was made "in response to a request from the government of Saudi Arabia." Defense officials said one of the big AWACS planes already had taken off from Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma and that the remaining three would be leaving for Saudi Arabia within hours.

identify where in Saudi Arabia the planes will be based. The AWACS deployment came in response to a formal request made by the Saudi government on Monday, Pentagon officials said, noting that the request followed several days of intensive consultations.

Clements backs tuition hike
Says increase should apply to all state universities

By DOUG SIMPSON
UD Staff Writer

At a press conference following a meeting with Tech officials Tuesday, Gov. Bill Clements said he would sign a bill putting a proposed tuition increase into effect if the legislature approves it in January.

"I applaud what you're doing in terms of efficiency," he said, "but when you get right down to it, we have to get water to West Texas. Whatever the cost is, I'm not sure we can afford not to bring water to this area."

Clements said he believes water importation is a "feasible" solution to the problem. "I am committed to water importation as a solution," he said. "It is a matter of discussion between states. And when you talk about bringing water down from another state, you're getting into a sensitive issue."

Tech students annually deal with crowded parking lots. Although $640,000 is collected on parking fees, only 8.2 percent of the anticipated 1980-81 school year revenue has been allocated for parking lot construction and repair. (Photo by Mark Rogers).

Parking fees help subsidize Traffic and Parking Office

Editor's note: This is the second in a two-part series dealing with parking problems at Tech.

By PETE McNABB
UD Staff Writer

The money Tech students, faculty and staff pay for parking permits and tickets is spent mainly to fund the offices that sell those parking permits and issue those tickets. More than 85 percent of the $640,000 revenue collected from parking fees, tickets and towing fees is used to subsidize the Office of Traffic and Parking and the University Police Department, according to statistics from the Administrative Services office.

But Wehmeyer said the legislature may change its funding formulas and fund the University Police totally through E&G funds. The Texas College and University System Coordinating Board has suggested appropriating the additional money for the University Police through the state funds.

Iran, Iraq forces renew air war

By the Associated Press

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) - Iranian warplanes attacked Baghdad's nuclear research center Tuesday in a renewal of the deadly air war against the Iraqi capital, but the atomic reactor was not damaged, the French Embassy reported.

Muskie met with Iraq's foreign minister, Saddam Hammadi, at the United Nations in New York to express American concern over the hostilities. Muskie said afterward he was told Iraq had "limited objectives" in the war. The Iraqis have said they want the Iraqis to renounce sovereignty over part of the Shatt al-Arab and three Persian Gulf islands.

and Control System aircraft to patrol the skies over Saudi Arabia. The sophisticated, radar-packed planes would be able to give early warning of any air attack against Saudi oil fields or on oil traffic in the Persian Gulf. Iranian officials have made threats of expanding the war if other Arab nations help Iraq.

Republican speaks out against ERA issue

Passage of the Equal Rights Amendment would give more power to the federal government, resulting in a reduction of states' rights, said Mary Kay Stelter, Lubbock County Republican Party representative. Stelter spoke out against the ERA at Tuesday's University Forum in the University Center Ballroom.

already have ratified it. Texas became the second state to ratify the amendment in March 1972. Nickell said passage of the ERA would have no effect on the "protective" status of women. "Passage of the ERA would secure equal opportunity in jobs," she said. "It would guarantee equal rights without affecting the relationship between men and women. Its effects would deal with law only."

"Discrimination won't end until the amendment is passed," Walker said. "In the case of Frontiero vs. Richardson, the court refused to give women suspect classification. This means discriminators are not required to prove they have a valid reason for discriminating."

Six senators selected to fill vacancies

By KIM LEMONS
UD Staff Writer

Six new senators have been selected from a field of 69 applicants to fill Student Senate vacancies in five colleges, Student Association Internal Vice President Bruce Kemp said Monday. The vacancies were the result of senator resignations and position changes.

Taylor Clark, new Education senator will be Beth Taylor, and new Graduate senator will be Rob LaMaster. The Senate Rules Committee selected the new senators, who will be sworn in and appointed to committees during the regular senate meeting Thursday.

The BA vacancy occurred when BA senator Joe Kain moved to Kemp's old position of senator-at-large after Kemp became Internal Vice President. The resignation of Janis Johnson caused the vacancy in Education. Former Graduate senator Jay Hamman also resigned.

are more interested in seeing what they can contribute," he said. Kemp also said the overall quality of the applicants was impressive, and that more of the applicants could have been chosen as senators if more positions had been open.

Political interest warrants clarification of candidate

Dennis Garza

Garza is a sophomore political science major from Corpus Christi.

After reading the editorials by Ron Miller and Thomas Myers in last Wednesday's UD, I can't help but feel stronger in my convictions against Ronald Reagan as a candidate for president.

The most important issues were brought up by Ron Miller, especially in his angelic claim of being the only person writing the virtues of his candidate instead of "bad mouthing" Carter and Anderson.

No candidate in this election happens to have all the qualities or stands on the issues that I would prefer. However, one candidate is so personally obnoxious, hypocritical, simplistic, and repressive to me that I am compelled to do everything I can to highlight all of these characteristics in Ronald Reagan to anyone open-minded enough to listen. This is not "bad mouthing," nor is it dirty politics.

It is called "political interest" -- something that has always been lacking in this country.

I would like to forget about all the silly remarks Reagan has made while campaigning and focus on his hard line stands (they are important). Let's talk about ERA, minorities, education, and economics.

ERA is a state's issue, says Reagan. He also says ERA is unneeded, ambiguous and not the optimal answer to women's problems. This is all hypocritical nonsense. ERA is not a state's issue!

The federal government has never been neutral in its stand towards any Constitutional amendment. Ronald Reagan does not believe in ERA, therefore his state's issue claim is nothing more than an avoidance in taking a stand on a very important issue.

The idea of ERA being ambiguous is another ignorant excuse. "Equality of rights under the law should not be abridged by the United States or any state on account of sex." That sounds damn clear to me. I guess it sounds scary as hell to others (they choose the word ambiguous).

Most importantly, statutory law is not a "better" answer to sex discrimination. It is a reinforcing or complying measure to accompany ERA. There would be no basis for the Civil Rights Acts if the 13th, 14th, and 24th amendments were not added to the Constitution granting freedom and rights to blacks. I suggest that Mr. Myers consult with Professor Schoene or any of the other Constitutional law instructors on this matter.

Miller says that because he is black, Gov. Reagan can't be a racist. Even though his logic is shaky, Reagan is not a racist in my view. I do believe, however, that "good old Ronnie" is a very real threat to the gains that minorities have made in the last 20 years.

It is very obvious that Reagan does not hold minority issues as a great concern to him. I have never heard Reagan speak out on the issues of immigration, administration of justice, bilingual education, affirmative action, reapportionment, or discrimination. Nor was Reagan's voice heard at the LULAC or NAACP conventions. Oh yes, Reagan did allow Benjamin Hooks to address a bunch of uninterested, rich, old white men at the Republican convention. It's easy to woo black leaders, but it's much tougher to address the rank and file minority that suffers unemployment, discrimination, low education, and poor representation.

I still believe in the promotion of higher education -- Reagan doesn't. Reagan still doesn't think it is acceptable for the government to help needy students attend college through grants and loans.

He still believes in education for only those who can afford it. He still doesn't concern himself with the truly needy youth who will be strong candidates for welfare without an education. Above all, he still wants to abolish the Department of Education -- "that monstrosity of government waste." Miller and Myers remained silent on these points.

Ronald Reagan and his supporters are emphatic when it comes to discussing the economy. Unfortunately, this is one of Reagan's weakest areas of advocacy and knowledge. I don't know that Reagan has listened to anyone but Milton Friedman in 15 years and he still doesn't understand even "conservative" economics.

On the one hand, Reagan condemns Carter's high interest rates, yet his policies (tax cuts) would lead to the same thing. Tax cuts, including Kennedy's, have empirically led to greater spending. Greater spending always necessitates greater borrowing which in turn leaves banks the choice of either boosting interest rates or allowing the value of money to decrease, thereby increasing inflation.

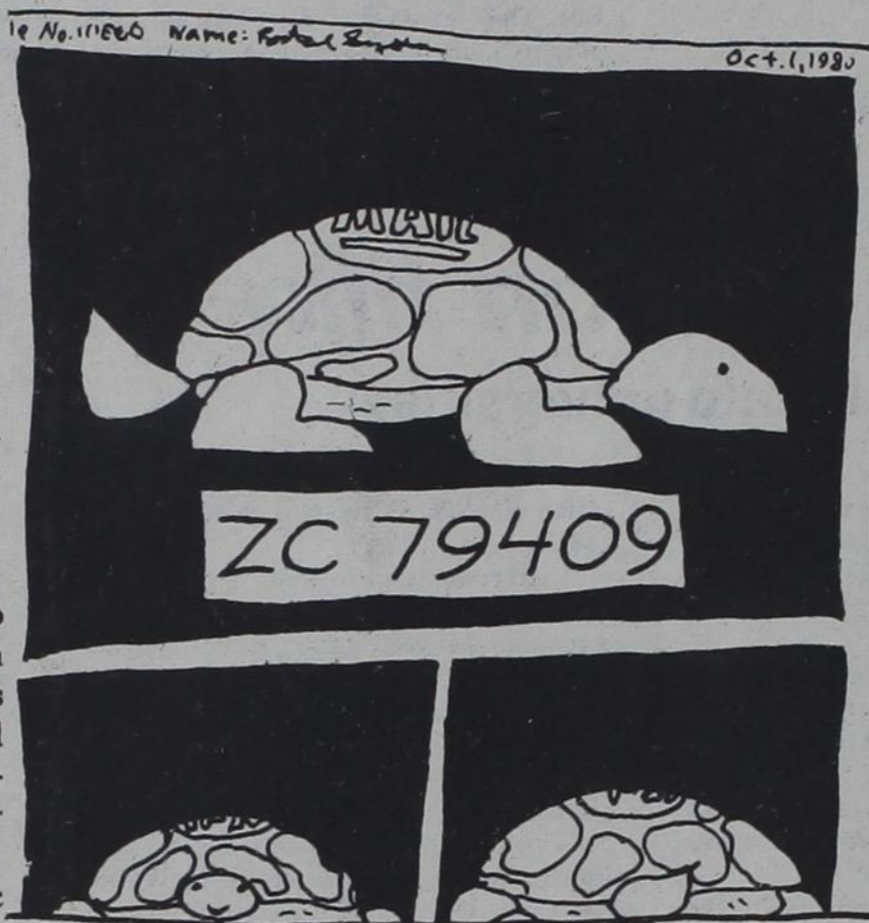

Reagan also wants, like all good conservatives, to decrease the money supply. How do you decrease the money supply and at the same time allow easy borrowing and great cash flow? The answer is that productivity through investment is stifled.

If easy money is not available to borrow, investment in production and labor are both stymied. This is a complete contradiction to the paramount placed upon productivity by Reagan. Let's not forget about Reagan's premium placed upon a balanced federal budget.

He wants a tax cut of $30 billion and an increase of $40 billion in defense spending each year. It doesn't take a genius to figure out that this, coupled with the current deficit, means a federal budget $90 billion in the red. Let's hear it for Reagan's "sound" economic policies!

I guess I should conclude by revealing my favorite presidential candidate. I like the practicality, leadership and experience of John Anderson. I think he would make a great president. President Carter is probably closer to me on the issues, but he has failed in the most basic presidential responsibility -- maintaining the confidence of the people. Either one of these men, however, would make a better president than Reagan.

A turtle by any other name...

is still a turtle.

Letters to the Editor

Tech fan replies

To the Editor:

I am happy to attempt the enlightening process Baker requested in his recent letter in the Sept. 25th UD re: Tech fan loyalty to other Southwest Conference teams.

I have studied this behavior for more than a decade and I conclude Raider fans rejoice in their mascot, Raider Red, and deplore other SWC schools' mascots. You see, Baker failed to understand that it is the mascots that Tech fans dislike rather than the opposing football teams.

After all, who, besides a zoologist like Professor Baker, really gives a damn for mammals (Pigs, Bears, Cougars, Mustangs and Longhorns), birds (Owls) and reptiles (Horned Toads).

Instead of berating Tech fans for an obvious misunderstanding of the situation, may I urge Baker to lead the fight to get the other schools to change their mascots to more appropriate symbols.

For starters, I suggest:

- | | |
|----------|------------|
| Arkansas | Asters |
| Baylor | Begonias |
| Houston | Herbs |
| Rice | Rice |
| SMU | Mums |
| Texas | Tulips |

The similarity of Mums and Carnations is justified on the basis that both schools are essentially from the same garden.

Now we can all yell for Flower Power. Further, can't you just imagine the new cheers that would erupt around the league.

There would be yells like "Pluck the Asters," "Bag the Begonias," "Hoe the Herbs," "Cook the Rice," "Press the Mums," "Tip-Toe through the Tulips" and "Compost the Carnations."

You no doubt have noticed the absence of one SWC school from the above list. It's really difficult to do anything with an Aggie except to let him be an Aggie. But even this has the advantage of providing the requisite BS (fertilizer) for the rest of the SWC. Lord knows they've been doing it for a long time anyway.

Well, Robert J., I hope you now see the light and will add your voice to the demise of the mascots of the other SWC schools when the scores are announced.

Cheerfully yours,
Jerry D. Berlin

Students need library

To the Editor:

Having spent a relatively quiet summer at Tech along with other advanced degree students, we were looking forward to the bustle of fall semester and the accompanying extension of the library schedule.

Needless to say, we were quite disappointed to hear that the library hours had been curtailed on weekdays from midnight (last year) to 11 p.m. This, in addition to the unusually abbreviated weekend availability that has been Tech's anomalous standard, has prompted our concern.

A policy such as this seems to selectively ignore the needs of advanced degree students. Graduate students comprise more than 10 percent of Tech's enrollment with more than 40 departments offering advanced degrees. Although both law and medical schools have specialized libraries and expanded building use, most other advanced students must rely on the main library for references and study facilities.

If cost is the issue then let's examine library use critically. In this contest it is necessary, albeit embarrassing, to point out that the Student Recreation Center is available 16.5 hours per week more than the library.

Nevertheless, assuming that funding is the issue perhaps it would be possible to extend library hours during high use periods (i.e., mid-terms and finals). During other times it would be advantageous to select and designate a campus building as a late-hour study area.

However, it is important to recognize that neither of these band-aid solutions fully meet the needs of the student body. If Tech is to maintain status as an institution of quality higher education, flexible access to literary resources and study areas must be made available.

Russian class first in Texas

Approximately 44 Lubbock elementary school students are learning grammar and folklore at Tech in the only beginning Russian course for elementary students offered by a Texas university.

"This is a very unique program," said W. T. Zyla, course instructor and Germanic and Slavic languages professor. "This is the only university-initiated program for this age level in the state. Russian may be taught in the Houston area, but that is for junior high school students."

Each student enrolled in the Tech program is given a Russian name and a color coded name tag signifying one of three student groups, Zyla said.

"The three groups will rotate periodically and they will be learning basic Russian language, dances, songs and folklore," he said.

Pictures depicting everyday scenes and large illustrations of the Russian alphabet will assist the students in learning conversation.

"We tell them basic phrases and they repeat them. We hope they will go home and tell their parents what they learned. This will build enthusiasm for foreign languages," Zyla said.

Students will learn Russian song and dance in the other group sections taught by George Kent, assistant professor of Germanic and Slavic languages.

Most of the elementary students are excited about the beginning Russian class.

"I took German and I liked it. I'm taking Russian and I think it's going to be neat," John Clark said.

"I might teach my parents," Stephen Dorow said.

Parents share their children's enthusiasm about the course.

"Our daughter is getting to learn about a different country. This will be something different and I feel it will be exciting for her," Elaine Hawkins said.

"We wanted our son to learn a foreign language. He is very interested in science and we hoped this would tie into it. I don't know if he will pass on what he learns to us. If he does, it will help his father (who speaks Russian) to refresh his memory," Diana Nelson said.

Another parent said he wished the public schools would initiate such a program.

"This is the age at which foreign language should be taught. I wish the public schools would follow up on this. This is a great service to the community," he said.

Warning labels everywhere, signs of times

By the Associated Press

Life seems to be turning into a giant warning label. There's a danger sign at every corner these days. In the air we breathe, the food we eat, the drugs we take.

Consider this label: "Caution: Not meant for puncture wounds, serious burns or cuts. If redness or swelling develops, consult physician promptly. Protect from light."

The product: petroleum jelly. The label on a spray can of furniture polish has a dual purpose. First, reassurance: "Use with confidence. Contains no fluorocarbons claimed to harm the ozone layer."

Then, warning: "Caution: Do not use near fire or flame. Do not set or store container where temperature exceeds 120 degrees Fahrenheit as container may burst. Do not puncture or incinerate. Do not spray or use on floors. Keep out of reach of children."

The latest alert involves toxic shock syndrome, a rare, but sometimes fatal disease associated with the use of tampons. The Food and Drug Administration has asked manufacturers to label tampons with a warning of possible dangers.

A more familiar label is the sign on cigarette packages, prompted by a 1954 report: "Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking is Dangerous to Your Health."

A call to the FDA on Tuesday to ask just how many products are required to carry warning labels was answered with confusion. "Literally hundreds." The agency regulates six separate areas. "You'll have to be more specific."

How about drugs? The FDA's Ed Nida said "almost all over-the-counter drugs" carry warning labels. Most prescription drugs do not; the warnings go to the physicians rather than to the patients.

"Our biggest problem is getting people to read the label," Nida said. "If we could get one thing across to consumers - read the label - we'd figure our work was done. All we'd have to do is watch the manufacturers."

Nida is optimistic, however. "Consumers are picking up on the language of the medical field," he said. "Side effects" is not a term that's an exclusive property of doctors any more.

In recent months, the FDA has announced that warning labels will be required on bubble bath. "Excessive use or prolonged exposure may cause irritation to skin and urinary tract."

It has ordered warnings on products ranging from sunlamps to hair dyes. It warned pregnant women to curtail or stop drinking coffee, tea and colas because of a possible link between caffeine and birth defects. The agency found no scientific evidence to back up claims that Bendectin, a drug used to treat morning sickness, causes birth defects. But it recommended, nonetheless, that manufacturers include "patient package inserts" to give customers more information.

Look around the house. The skull and crossbones that used to be confined to containers of rat poison and weed killer has been replaced by fine print and has spread through the rooms. The print seems to get smaller as the warnings get longer. "For external use only. Keep away from children." "Precautionary Statements: Hazards to Humans and Domestic Animals." "Replace cap firmly. Keep out of the reach of children." "This salt does not supply iodide, a necessary nutrient."

Is America being over-warned? "I don't think so," said Dr. Sidney Wolfe, director of the Health Research Group, an arm of Ralph Nader's Public Citizen Inc. Previously, said Wolfe, "the pendulum ... was stuck at the extreme of advertising only benefits ... We're now beginning to see some of the other side of the coin."

Wolfe described warning labels as "forced risk advertising." He also conceded that there is a problem in distinguishing the severity of risks. "That will get better," he said. "The whole area of labeling for consumers on risks is a new kind of thing." Advertisers of benefits have more experience and more money, he said.

Wolfe said warning labels are important to make sure consumers know how to use the products they buy and "what they can do to minimize the risks."

Sometimes, however, it seems that you just can't win. Solve one problem and you create another. The Government Accounting Office warned earlier this week that sealing up the house to save energy also may seal in air pollution, increasing the risk of respiratory illness.

Parking lot vandalism doubles

By DENNIS BALL
UD Staff Writer

A rash of parking lot vandalism last weekend more than doubled the total number of vandalism cases at Tech during the first 26 days of September.

Eight confirmed cases of vandalism to motor vehicles parked on campus and at least four unconfirmed cases were reported during the weekend, said a University Police spokesman.

Merchandise totaling approximately $225 also was taken during the weekend from automobiles parked on campus.

"Vandalism seems to be more of a problem during weekends of a (Tech) home game against a SWC school," Dave Head, detective with the University Police, said.

Intoxication is probably the reason, Head said.

At 1:30 p.m. Sunday, J.L. Hemby, freshman from Fort Worth, called the University Police and reported that the rear bumper of his 1979 Pontiac Trans Am had been removed with a knife. The damage is estimated at $400.

Hemby's car was parked in lot D-8 at the time of the incident.

Mike Jones, freshman from Garland, had borrowed a friend's pickup that also was vandalized during the weekend.

The 1978 Scout pickup, parked in D-6, had the spare tire stolen, ground wires to the battery cut, floor lining on the driver's side of the vehicle ripped out, gear-shift bent and the cigarette lighter removed.

"It takes a pretty cheap guy to do something like this," Jones said.

A 1976 Kawasaki motorcycle was turned on its side causing the right rear turn signal to be broken, right faring to be scratched, and the left faring to be cracked.

The back door of a camper shell was kicked in and the glass was broken in lot D-6. Rear lights of a 1977 Pontiac Grand Prix were also broken in D-6. A Volkswagen parked in lot R-2, just east of D-6, was dented and scratched.

A tape desk valued at $100, a set of Sears Craftsman tools worth $50 and a pair of Jensen stereo speakers worth $75 were stolen from three different vehicles.

Head said taking a few precautions help prevent theft.

"Don't leave valuables in sight. Keep doors locked and maybe get involved with Crime Line," he said.

ROTC drill team captures honors

Tech's Army ROTC Patton Rifles Drill Team took best military color guard honors in the recent Mexican Independence Day parade in Lubbock.

The team was selected best color guard unit against active color guard units from the Army, Air Force, Marines and the Navy, said Capt. John Moseley, assistant professor of military science.

Military appearance, uniforms and marching ability were judged, he said.

The parade represented the first competition of the year for the group.

"We plan to march in the homecoming parade and we will be participating in a San Antonio drill meet in April. We also will participate in intercollegiate competition with A&M, New Mexico Military Institute and other schools that have drill teams," Moseley said.

Drill team positions at Tech are still available, he said.

"There are no basic qualifications to become a drill team member. The individual has to be a Tech student and we would prefer them to have some marching experience," he said.

Short shorts

THE RATING SYSTEM FOR LIFESTYLES' SHORT SHORTS is the same as Tech's GPA grading system with 4.0 being excellent and 0.0 deserving no credit whatsoever. The movies are rated by members of The UD staff. Initials of the reviewer appear following the short. MCM/W. Clark; JH: John Hardwick; LM/Laurie Massingill; RM/Ronnie McKeown.

BLUE LAGOON (Showplace 6) Disappointingly, this film falls short of its goal - to show the innocence of two shipwrecked children growing to maturity together. The plot just doesn't gel. The innocence comes off as ignorance. Despite some loose ends and forced dialogue, newcomer Christopher Atkins carries the show with his talents. What 16-year-old Brooke Shields lacks in acting talents, she makes up for in beauty. But her beauty pales beside the natural beauty of the coastal waters of Fiji, the film's location. Wonderful underwater photography. Lifestyles GPA: 2.5 LM

THE BLUES BROTHERS (Fox 4) Based on the characters Jake and Elwood Blues, created on the television show Saturday Night Live, the film stars John Belushi and Dan Aykroyd. The movie is very slow starting, and falls just short of being laughable - at first. The outrageous chase scene during the last half of the picture gets the movie's only real laughs. More money should have been spent on script writers and less on automobile demolitions, however. The soundtrack contains several good blues numbers by such artists as Ray Charles and Aretha Franklin, along with Belushi, Aykroyd and The Blues Brothers Band. Lifestyles GPA: 2.4 RM

BORDERLINE (UA Cinema) Borderline offers a jaundiced view of the alien-border patrol situation along the Tortilla Curtain in a Charles Bronson. Bronson is Jeb Maynard, chief of the La Mesa, Calif., branch of border inspectors. Naturally, Bronson and his men are the good guys - wonderfully sympathetic, protective, helpful authorities who must do their job of patrolling the border but still care deeply for the plight of the poor, child-like migrants taken in by the big, bad gringos who herd them across the border for a price. Come on guys, we're supposed to believe that? Certainly the trade in illegal aliens is a bad business, but after seeing the same Mexican worker four times in one month, patrollers would not be as sympathetic as this film suggests. Plenty of shootings and chase scenes for the blood-and-guts crew. The acting was pitiable at best with the exception of Ed Harr who played a crazed 'Nam veteran - the brains behind a large smuggling operation of aliens. But isn't it always easier to act crazy? Lifestyles GPA: 1.2 LM

CADDYSHACK (Mann 4) A country club golf course and all the funny things we never thought to associate with it. It is often vulgar, obnoxious, embarrassing, ridiculous, crude, silly and inconsistent. Need we say more? The club's groundskeeper (Bill Murray) and his bout with a cute gopher offer some of the film's better scenes. Lifestyles GPA: 2.9 MC

CHEAPER TO KEEP HER (UA Cinema 4) Though this is singer Mac Davis' first true entertainer appears as the only convincing actor in the film. Davis comes across well as a divorcee out to get every woman he runs into. The film's only laughable moments are when Davis is on the screen. In short, the other characters - especially the Spanish-accented secretary Teresa - prove to be tedious fillers in the plot. It's worth the price, however, to laugh at the man who finds it "so hard to be humble." Lifestyles GPA: 3.2 RM

EMPIRE STRIKES BACK (Fox 4) The Star Wars saga continues with a sequel that is better than the original. The ending is more unsettling and the good guys aren't always winning, but the special effects are better than ever and the plot has more to it - with a twist. Lifestyles GPA: 3.9 BJ

HONEYSUCKLE ROSE (Mann 4) To hell with Urban Cowboy. This is the real thing. The soundtrack from Honeyuckle Rose, Willie Nelson's first featured movie, is what Texas music is all about. Nelson makes an impressive starring debut. Honeyuckle Rose has just enough concert footage to let you know this is Nelson's film, but not so much you feel like you are watching a country version of The Last Waltz. Lifestyles GPA: 3.5 LM

HOPSCOTCH (UA Cinema) Walter Matthau and Glenda Jackson (particularly Matthau) star in this tale about the game played by world intelligence agencies, hopscotching from square to square, country to country on the trail of espionage and adventure. But, a twist. Matthau is CIA man, Miles Kendig is being shelled by his director, a "by-the-book" man (played aptly by Ned Beatty), because he's getting too old for "the Game." Of course, Kendig rebels and he and lady friend Isobel (Jackson) lead U.S. and U.S.S.R. agents from London to D.C. to Georgia to Salzburg to... Nice performance by Sam Waterston as Joe Cutter, Kendig's replacement, pursuer and most loyal advocate. Venerable, versatile actor Matthau is lovable and believable. Jackson is formal, class, proper - perfect for her role as a former agent and Kendig's mistress and accomplice. Fun, entertaining. Beautiful scenery. Lifestyles GPA: 3.8 LM

IN GOD WE TRUST (Winchester) Marty Feldman's latest movie is yet another spoof of religion. Feldman's endless sight gags and repetition get extremely boring as the movie wears on. All of the typical religious jokes are there, with Andy Kaufman having some good moments as Armageddon T. Thunderbird, the leader of the Church of Divine Profit. Peter Boyle is inconsistent as Dr. Sebastian Melmoth, and Louise Lasser gives a subtle performance that contrasts well with Feldman's continual mugging. Richard Pryor gives his usual funny performance as who else but G.O.D. The best part of the movie is the Harry Nilsson soundtrack. Overall, a spotty old joke. Lifestyles GPA: 2.5 JH

MIDDLE AGE CRAZY (Winchester) Bruce Dern experiences the dilemma of turning 40 in this off-beat middle-age comedy. Remember 10? Dern feels the same tugs of responsibility and seeks an affair with a lovely Dallas Cowboy Cheerleader. Overall, the movie lacks pizzazz, but the day-dream/fantasy sequences are hilarious. Ann-Margaret has a good role as Dern's "loving" wife. Set in Dallas and Houston. Lifestyles GPA: 3.0 MC

MY BODYGUARD (Cinema West) Refreshing. One of the first words to come to mind in describing My Bodyguard. The film isn't violent, contrived, corny or trendy - a definite change from the latest Hollywood fare. All in all, the happiest film of the year. Lifestyles GPA: 3.8 LM

TWINKLE TWINKLE "KILLER" KANE (UA Cinema 4) William Peter Blatty, of THE EXORCIST fame, brings us a new movie that deals with religion in a different way. The movie is a search for God by crazy Vietnam dropouts. Stacy Keach walks through his role as the psycho psychiatrist like a zombie, and it is never apparent what he or any of the other resident loonies in a government-controlled asylum are up to. Blatty's script is ridiculous, contrived, obscure and sometimes interesting. Lifestyles GPA: 1.9 JH

URBAN COWBOY (Fox 4) John Travolta is the hero in this embarrassment of a film. He's hard-working, hard-hitting, hard-drinking, son-of-a-bitch. Filmed at Gilley's in Houston, the story is almost plotless, revolving around endless footage of mechanical bullriding. All in all, the film is tedious. The high point is the music by The Charlie Daniels Band, Bonnie Raitt and others. Lifestyles GPA: 2.0 LM

Collector sells books

SHEPHERDSTOWN, W. Va. (AP) - Fruit stands are a familiar sight along roads near this town in West Virginia's agriculturally rich Eastern Panhandle. But Mrs. David Hill has a monopoly on the farmer's market for the voracious reader.

She's selling about 2 million books. They're stacked in rows, some of which are 20 feet high. And they're going at bargain basement prices.

Hill, who lives in Shepherdstown, said her father had been in the book-selling business for 50 years. He owned the Clifton Book Co., and his operations included the book exchange shops at West Virginia University, the

The Dirt Band will perform Oct. 9 in the Lubbock Coliseum as the opening act for The Little River Band. Tickets for the show are $8 in advance, $9 the day of the show, and are available at Al's Music Machine, Bee & Bee Music and Flipside Records. Other October shows at the Coliseum include Chet Atkins and Floyd Cramer on Oct. 17 and the Doobie Brothers on Oct. 21.

University of Maryland and other colleges and universities in the area.

His death two years ago left her to dispose of the books, which she said fill a warehouse and several buildings on her Jefferson County farm - including the cattle, sheep and horse barns.

"Dad died first," Hill said, "and eight months later, Mother died. They had planned to retire here and Dad was going to spend his time getting his books in order."

"I had no idea what to do with all those books. It was unlikely we could sell them all to one company."

But Ann Murphy, manager of the college textbook warehouse for Hill's father, suggested that instead of trying to sell 2 million books to one company, they should try to sell 2 million books to 2 million people - one book at a time.

So the books went on sale in January, and since then about 500,000 have been sold. The books include textbooks, works of fiction and non-fiction, and law books, Hill said, and they're being sold for 25 cents each in hardcover and a dime for paperbacks.

Rice QB earns offensive honors

HOUSTON (AP) - When Rice quarterback Robert Hoffmann steps into a huddle he has the immediate respect of the entire team.

"He's a player's kind of player, very tough, and they know what he's been through," Rice Coach Ray Alborn said of the junior from San Marcos.

Hoffmann, playing in the shadow of Randy Hertel for the past four years, took the beleaguered Owls through a lot Saturday, leading them to a 17-7 upset victory over Louisiana State and breaking an 11-game losing streak.

Hoffmann completed eight of 10 passes for 100 yards, including a 15-yard touchdown pass to Frank Wilson, and rushed 87 yards on 16 carries to earn Associated Press Southwest Conference Offensive Player of the Week honors.

"When Robert came here as a freshman we put him on the scout team and he played quarterback, running back, anything we asked him to do," Alborn said. "He took his lumps and never complained. Life is not too easy on the scout team."

"I think it might do all of our players good to spend one year on the scout team. That's why all of our kids respect Robert so much, they know he's been through it all."

Hoffmann, 6-2, 205, didn't gain all of his respect in the obscurity of the scout team however.

"He went in against Texas Tech two years ago and we were behind 28-7 and the final score was 42-28 (in favor of Tech)," Alborn said. "That got him a start the next week against Texas A&M and on the second play of the game he collided with a linebacker."

"They carried the linebacker off right away but Robert went back to the huddle and ran another play. One of the players came over and told me 'Coach, get Robert out of there, he doesn't know where he is.' That's just how tough a kid he is."

Hoffmann admitted he'd traveled a hard road at Rice.

"It's been discouraging, not so much that I haven't played, but that we haven't won," Hoffmann said. "But it seems like times are changing at last. This year, deep down, we knew that we could win and we were really prepared for Louisiana State."

"I'll admit it was a good feeling to prove to myself that I could still play and that it was me in there when we beat LSU."

White injured

DALLAS (AP) - Coach Tom Landry said Tuesday Dallas Cowboys quarterback Danny White shouldn't have any trouble with a fractured bone on the middle digit of his left hand, but added White might have to wear a splint on the finger for six weeks.

The right-handed White fractured the finger falling on a fumble in Sunday's 28-7 National Football League victory over Green Bay but the Cowboys didn't know it until Monday.

"I'm not sure how he'll handle the ball but I think he will be OK," said Landry. "The snap when we are in punt formations might be difficult to take but there shouldn't be much trouble."

White, the current No. 1-rated quarterback in the National Conference, also punts for the Cowboys.

Raiders worry about Aggies, not loss

By JON MARK BEILUE
UD Sports Editor

Clearly an 11-3 conference-opening loss is no way to build momentum for the rest of the season—especially when you happen to be part of an offense that could total only 102 yards all wet evening long.

But as the tired old cliché goes: tomorrow is another day. When a team is 0-1 in conference play and headed for the friendly confines of College Station, sometimes tired old clichés lend a lot of hope.

"As far as attitude, this year is quite a bit different than last year," said senior offensive guard and captain Mark Gesch. "Last year when we lost, a lot of people would go around saying 'Oh my God, we lost', and would mope around for most of the week.

"This year after both our losses we have taken the attitude of 'we'll just have to get them next week.' The game against Baylor is behind us and we can't spend time worrying about it. We just have to get after A&M."

Mavs lose out

DALLAS (AP) — Kiki Vandeweghe, the UCLA all-America center drafted No. 1 this year by the Dallas Mavericks, has decided against playing in the National Basketball Association this season, Mavericks officials announced.

Vandeweghe flew from Los Angeles to Dallas last Thursday and met with Norm Sonju, general manager, and Rick Sund, the team's director of player personnel.

Vandeweghe wanted to renegotiate his contract, but the Mavericks refused to budge from their previous offer, a spokesman for the club said.

The 6-8 star of UCLA's 1979-80 Cinderella team has enrolled in UCLA, but will remain the property of the Mavericks, who indicated they will try to trade him prior to the 1981 draft next spring.

He was represented in negotiations by his father, Ernie Vandeweghe, who tried to coax Dallas officials into trading his son to the Los Angeles Lakers or the New York Knicks.

After Vandeweghe turned down the offer extended him by the Mavericks, he was offered the standard NBA rookie contract. Under a precedent set in a case involving Oscar Robinson, if a player is to remain a team's property, the team must offer a player a contract.

Gesch is beginning his second year as a starter in the Tech offensive line. He started all 11 games last year after Robert Caughlin injured his back before the 1979 season. Gesch, along with safety Ted Watts and linebacker Jeff McKinney, was named captain for the 1980 year.

As the grizzled veteran in the Raider offensive line, Gesch won't be putting any Baylor clippings in his scrapbook. When a team is held to minus 36 yards rushing, it's best to move on.

"It's pretty obvious we didn't play well at all against Baylor," he said. "As an offense I didn't think they would stop us like they did but they played a great game. Personally, I know I underestimated (Bear linemen) Joe Campbell and Tommy Tabor.

"The thing about an offensive line is that if one guy has a bad game, the whole team looks bad," Gesch said. "We can be a good unit if we keep our heads up, keep plugging, and get it together. Hopefully, it will be this week."

This week Tech and A&M will meet to exchange pleasantries at 2 p.m. in Kyle Field. The contest will be the Raiders first game away from Jones Stadium. Not only will the Raiders face an old rival in the Aggies, but also a team that has been rocked by drug problems.

"I'm sure they will be ready to play," said Tech coach Rex Dockery. "Players on both sides always want to win. It's always been an intense rivalry."

Gesch said that the Aggie defense is bigger than Baylor's stoppers, but the Bears are quicker. One of the Aggies' top defenders is David Carr, a 200-pound middle linebacker.

"If Carr was just bigger," said Gesch, "he would be just like Mike Singletary of Baylor. He makes tackles from sideline to sideline."

Carr was one of the Aggies who was cleared of drug charges.

"I don't know if A&M will be psyched up or if they will be down," Gesch said. "But I can't worry about them. You know, every Saturday you have to be ready to play for whoever is on the schedule.

"I know Texas Tech can't help but go down to College Station and not be fired up."

ENDING NOTES: Dockery said that offensive linemen Robert Caughlin and Matt Harlien, who were both injured against Baylor, would both be ready against the Aggies. Also freshman running backs Freddie Wells and Jessie Kimbrough were elevated to second team and could see action Saturday.

IM Briefs

Holmes, Russell win

David Holmes and Sharon Russell placed first in the miniature golf tourney last week in their respective men's and women's divisions.
Holmes aced 11 holes for a 64 in 36 holes of competition to capture the winning position.
Russell bested the women's field with a 39 for 18 holes.

IM reminds shuttlecockers . . .

The badminton tournament will begin at 5 p.m. today in the Rec Center.
Participants should pick up a racket in the Rec Sports Office.

Frisbee golf to try again

Last week's Frisbee golf tournament was canceled because of the weather. The tournament will be replayed Thursday. Participants should meet at the North entrance of the Rec Center at 5:15 p.m. to pick up their scorecard.

Deadline for tourneys nearing

Thursday is the last day to sign up for tournaments in archery, Co-Rec badminton and table tennis singles.

Tournament schedules ready

Schedules for tennis, racquetball and Co-Rec tennis are ready and may be obtained from the Rec Sports office.

'Ultimate Frisbee' set

Rec Sport's "Saturday Morning Live" tournament program will offer an "ultimate Frisbee" tournament Friday on the recreational playfields.

The tournament is open to all students and staff. Entries for teams are due at 5 p.m. Thursday in the Rec Sports office.
Teams shall consist of seven players. There will be free substitutions, and teams can play with less than seven if they desire.

Ultimate Frisbee is a field game, somewhat similar to football. The Frisbee is moved from player to player through passing. Scores are made by throwing to a team member in the endzone. Players may not run when holding the disc. The sport requires much teamwork.

The playing field will be 60 yards long and 40 yards wide. Endzones measure 40 yards wide and 30 yards long.
The game will last 50 minutes, divided into two 25 minute halves. The clock will run continuously in each half and stop only if an injury occurs.

Goals are scored only when an offensive player has both feet in the endzone after receiving the throw from a teammate. One point will be awarded to the scoring team.

There will be no officials. Fouls will be called on the honor system, with the individual being fouled calling the infraction.

A complete list of rules may be obtained at the Rec Sports office.

Student advisers elected

Eight students were elected to the IM Advisory Council.

Aquatic Center to close

With the cold weather months now approaching, the Recreational Aquatic Center will close for nine days to allow the air-supported roof to be installed.

The SYZYGY Company from Houston will be the contractor for the project. Alpha Phi Omega is supplying the necessary manpower.

The whole process will include draining the 750,000 gallon pool, drying the pool bottom, putting together the fabric roof, erection of the roof and re-filling of the pool.

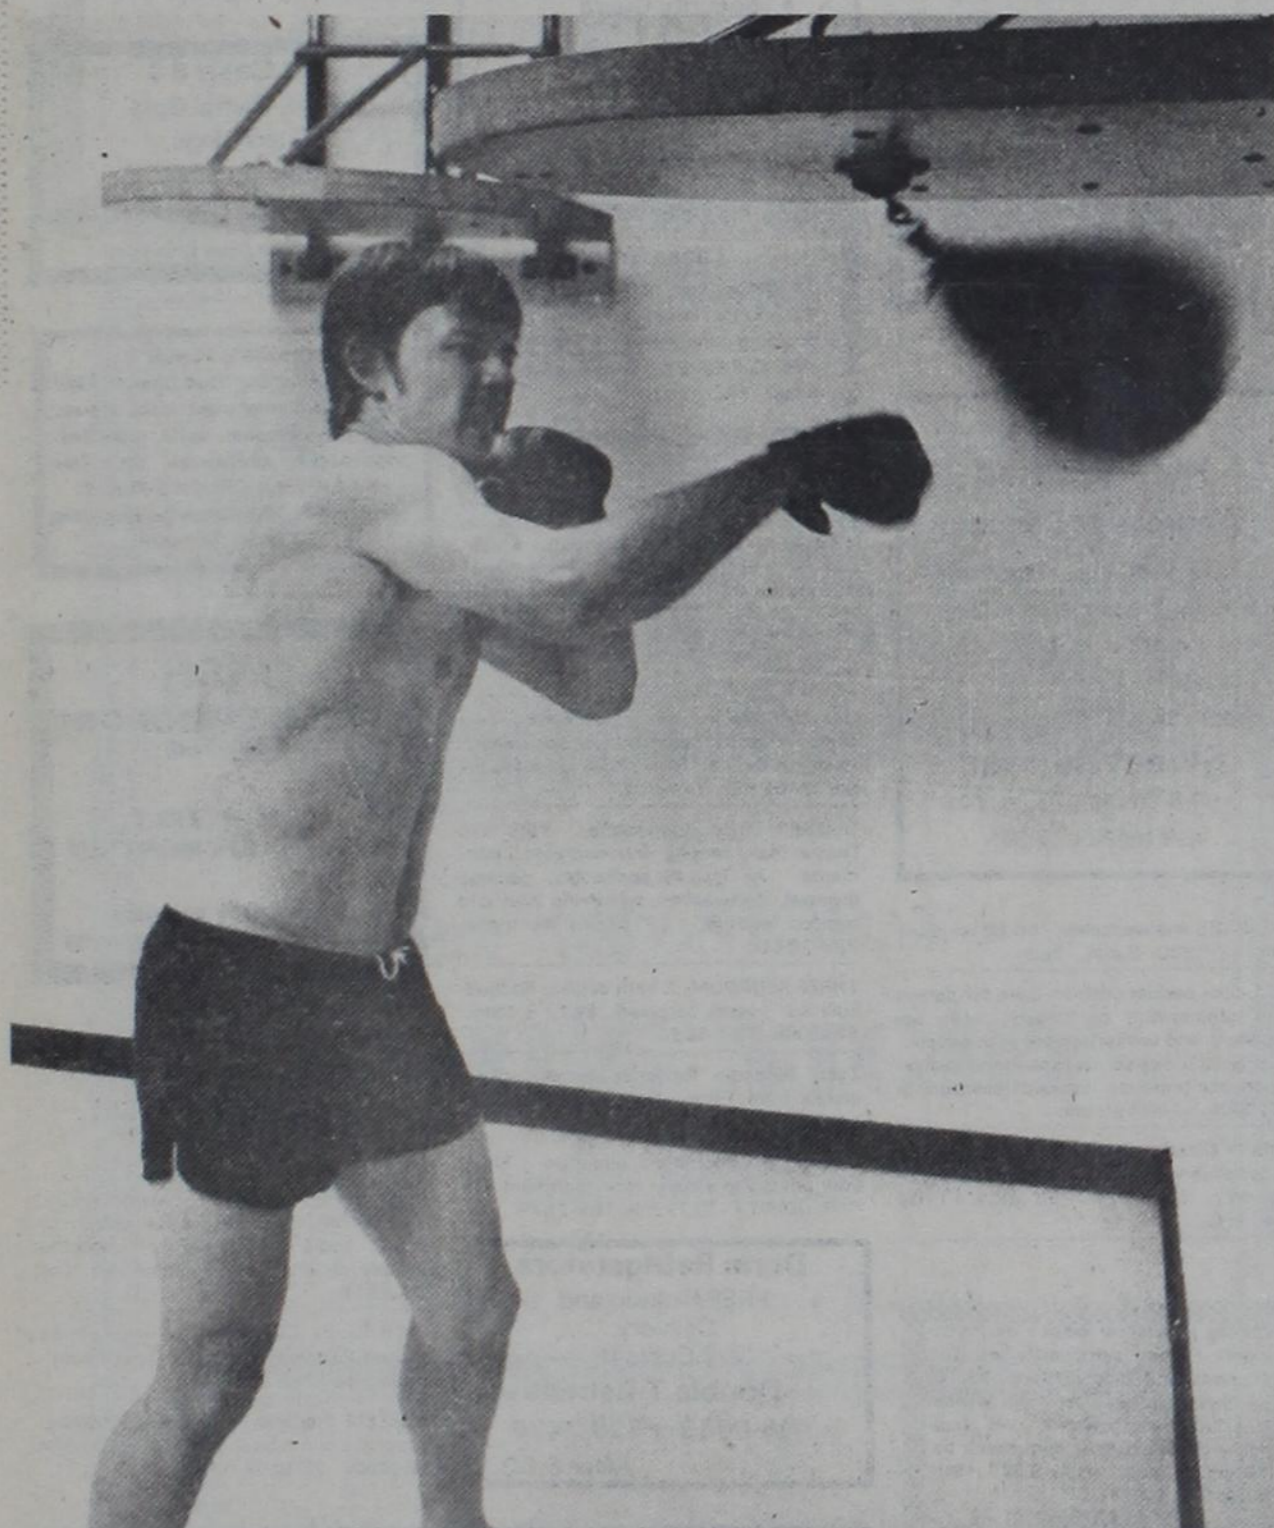

The pool should be re-opened Oct. 13, weather permitting.

Outdoor rentals available

Sometimes students want to get away from the Hub City to enjoy the outdoors for recreation and relaxation. This seems like a great weekend get-away idea, but problems can be encountered.

There is always the problem of not having the proper equipment and supplies, and then the question of where to go pops up. The answer to these problems are at Rec Sport's Outdoor Equipment Shop. The shop has almost everything imaginable in the line of outdoor needs for rent.

For further information, come by the shop or call 742-2949.

Bicycle tour set

Rec Sport's Outdoor Program will sponsor a two-day bicycle tour and overnight camping trip Oct. 11 and 12.

Tour members will bicycle from Lubbock to Horseshoe Bend Canyon, near Slaton, via Lake Ransom Canyon. Some side tours will be taken before returning to Lubbock.

Only 10 participants will be allowed on the tour. There is a $5 entry fee to cover the cost of the necessary camping equipment and transportation. Each person is responsible for furnishing his/her own 10-speed. Rec Sports will provide a truck to transport camping equipment and food.

Persons interested in going should register in the Outdoor Equipment Shop by Oct. 8. The shop is open from noon until 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. For further information, call 742-2949 or 742-3351.

Free clinic set

Students wishing to learn to play racquetball, one of the fastest growing sports in America, should check out the beginning racquetball clinic to be offered by Rec Sports.

There is no need to register for the clinic. Interested persons need only show up ready to play at the Rec Center courts at 4 p.m. Friday. Racquets and balls will be provided.

Activities include beginning fundamental techniques, strategy and game rules.

The clinic will last approximately two hours and is open to anyone eligible for admittance to the Rec Center.
