

Legality Of State Oil Proration Is Upheld

HOMETOWN TALK

BY BEDDY

The other day we had this to say: "No longer do you have to ride either over a muddy, dirt road, a worn-out gravel one, or a bumpy, narrow, sorry topping or some other type."

R. H. Jones, our friend, who is one of the T. & P. men, local agent, asks this regarding that sentence: Are we to understand that Mitchell county has discovered and placed in service the ideal sort of paving?

R. H., your question has nothing to do with and is not applicable to that sentence. Why? Because in it we made no statement indicating we figured Mitchell's paving was "the ideal type." It could be far from the "ideal" type and still be in better condition and safer and more economical to drive over than much of the Howard county section of No. 1.

His next question is: Are we to understand that the proper width has been established to provide the proper margin of safety? This, he points out, is asked in connection with paragraph four of the column a few days ago.

Again, friend, your question is disconnected with that paragraph, which is Mitchell county flipped, burden of being called the rough-est lap of the Bankhead from Texas to Pecos from its own shoulders to those of Howard county.

What is said in that sentence has nothing to do with your question. There is no getting around the fact that Mitchell's paving is more durable, and in actuality, wider than our section of No. 1. But in that paragraph we said nothing that indicated "proper" width had been cared for in Mitchell.

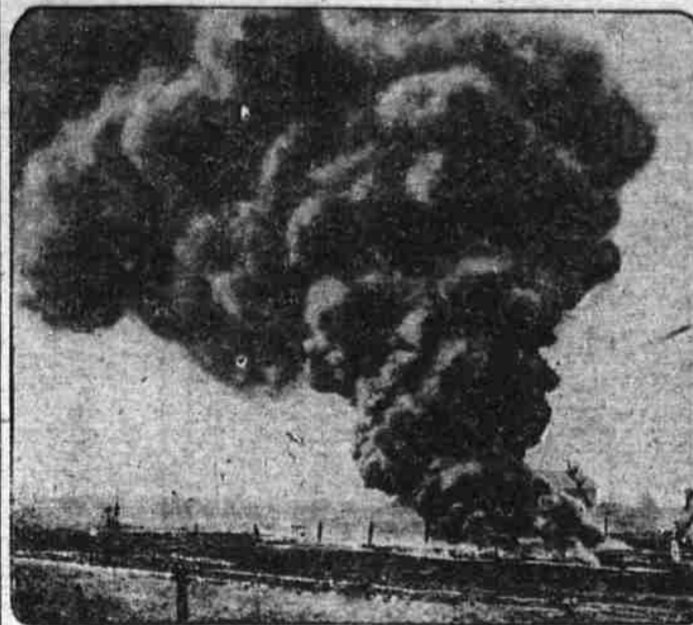

Speaking of Fords and Chevrolets colliding, we take it they do so on every highway, no matter how wide, and oftentimes slip by each other with so little margin between them, it is almost miraculous they don't collide. What has your question as to whether when the present pavement on No. 1 in Howard was placed in service could a Ford or Chevrolet pass without colliding and has the width of either of these cars increased since that time to do with whether this could be prevented now in Mitchell or any other county? Or that it could be prevented, or would happen should Howard pave its section so as to prevent loose dirt from gradually covering several feet along each side of the paving? This has already narrowed the width of the exposed top of surface in Howard county, until it is impossible for two cars to pass at many places without each running two wheels on loose dirt. Sort of dangerous in wet weather.

Mr. Jones' letter, which appears more an argument with himself in an attempt to get an excuse to vote against building really good roads in Howard, than an argument against some one else, continues as follows:

Have you driven over the first mile of the new paving on Highway No. 1 at the west end in Mitchell county, which has been in service less than two years? If so you must know that this paving is now bumpy, as you term it, has high points, with reasonable assurance that more joints will become high and some will be driven down by breaking the paving. We will also agree with you that two cars may pass on this paving with safety, that with a reasonable margin of distance between them at the meeting point. But if you will notice the modern highway bus traveling over this new pavement you will agree that practically one-half of this pavement is used by the width of the bus, so we must again question your theory that we are now ready with the ideal type of highway construction that will stand the use and travel for the next 30 years, and of a width that will allow the proper margin of safety at meeting points for widths.

Do you realize the power of impact delivered to a high joint on a pavement by a 10-ton truck or bus traveling at 30 to 50 miles per hour? Do you realize the added smash power of this weight striking any given object with each added mile per hour of speed? Can you honestly assume that the paving our neighbor, Mitchell county, is now celebrating will meet the requirements of traffic five years from now? Have you reasonable assurance any limitation will be placed on added width necessary for the profitable operation of highway buses in the next five years, or

KANSAS BURNS "DISTRESS" OIL

Kansas stripper oil well producers keep their pumps in action, burning the product for which there has been no market since the Prairie company withdrew from purchasing. Salt water would ruin the wells if shut down. This is a scene from the Chanute-Erie-Humboldt field.

Rabbit Hunt For Charity Set Monday

Meat To Be Placed On Cold Storage For Needy Folk

A call for rabbit hunters was sounded today by Chamber of Commerce officials, following a meeting of a group of citizens called to work out plans for a hunt for the benefit of charity.

It was decided the hunt would take place Monday, Feb. 16. The crowd will leave the Chamber of Commerce office at 1 p. m.

Sportsmen who plan to aid in the drive are requested to call the Chamber of Commerce and register for the hunt. Officials ask that registrations be made as far in advance as possible, in order that transportation can be provided.

The rabbits killed will be dressed, placed on cold storage, and distributed by the Salvation Army as needed by unfortunate families in Big Spring.

Says Relation Of Oil And Gasoline Should Be Studied

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13. (AP)—Questioned by Democratic Leader Garner, Russell B. Brown—secretary of the governors' oil relief conference—testified today to the house ways add means committee that an investigation of "why the cost of gasoline does not respond to the cost of crude oil" would be of benefit to the country.

Brown was discussing the Capper-Garber bill to limit importation of oil.

Garner asked "How would a proposition for a thorough investigation of the oil industry appeal to you?"

Brown replied the independent oil producers would not object to an investigation.

Brown said he could not explain on economic grounds why the price of gasoline to the consumer does not depend on the cost of crude oil.

Garner said, "We are not likely to get here all the facts necessary to pass permanent legislation."

Slight Damage Done By Fire In Bakery; Home Also Ignited

Slight damage resulted from a fire at Ditt's bakery, 121 East Third street at 5 a. m. today, when the floor became ignited.

Firemen declared the blaze might have proved serious had it not been extinguished when it was. The blaze originated beneath the boiler and the floor was burning from underneath.

The blaze was extinguished with slight damage. Smoke from the fire slightly damaged merchandise in the Fashion Shop, 119 East Third street. It was said by Fire Marshall Heffernan.

The fire department extinguished a blaze that caused approximately $500 damage at the residence of D. E. Davis, 301 East Nineteenth street, at 8:45 a. m. today. The blaze damaged furniture to the extent of $300, and caused approximately $200 damage to the house. The residence was owned by Mrs. Dora Roberts.

Two rooms and the bathroom were damaged by fire and smoke. The fire originated in the north-south bedroom closet. The origin was not ascertained. A third run was made at 10 a. m. today, when the department was called to a residence at Sixth and Russell streets. The fire proved to be food burning in an oven.

P.G. Stokes, 55, Dead; Gunshot Wound Found

Resident Here Many Years Had Bought Gun Thursday

Funeral services were to be held Friday afternoon for P. G. Stokes, 55, former Big Spring man, found dead of a gunshot wound in a garage at his home in Slaton late Thursday. He was an automobile dealer and civic leader here.

Mr. Stokes resided here more than 20 years and was a prominent figure in business life. He was in partnership with J. F. Wolcott for many years, in the automobile business most of the time. The Stokes-Hughes Hardware and Implement business also was conducted by him.

The chief of police in Slaton said the gun found near his body had been purchased at a hardware store in Slaton a little while before his body was found. An inquest was to be held Friday afternoon.

He was prominent in the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, Retail Merchants' Association and Rotary club.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, Harry of Fort Worth and Gowen of El Paso and a daughter, Mrs. J. M. Sargent of Ranger.

He was manager of the Ford Motor company of Slaton, Idalou and Sterling City. Before moving to Slaton he resided here and before that had been manager of the Radford Grocery company office in Cisco. He lived in Abilene a short time immediately after moving from Alabama many years ago.

Chest Fund's Uses In City Far-Reaching

Activities of the Community Chest for December disclose much good use of its funds.

The Salvation Army has been doing a wonderful work in taking care of the charity of this city. More than 923 garments, 114 pairs of shoes and 223 orders of groceries and miscellaneous supplies have been given out. Several transient families have been taken care of with groceries and gasoline to help them on their way. Among other work several Mexican families have been taken care of by Scott Cotton, Baptist minister, and Prof. John R. Hutto.

The Community Chest committee urgently requests all those making pledges to send in their checks at once as funds are needed to carry on the work. Also those who have not subscribed should do so, as this is the work and duty of every man in this community. The Community Chest is taking care of charity in the city and also in the country and it is their wish to not let any family suffer during the winter season.

Special praise should be given Captain and Mrs. Scott for the fine way they are taking care of their work, say chest officials. They say occasionally it is necessary to turn down apparently deserving cases but no criticism should be offered unless the situation is thoroughly investigated. The Salvation Army headquarters are in the Lester Fisher building. Phone 630.

Figures Prepared To Submit Drought Relief Chairman

Figures are being prepared to forward from Howard county to O. B. Martin of Texas A. & M. College, state chairman of the drought relief committee, in an effort to determine whether Howard county farmers may be included among those eligible for drought loans.

The season's cotton ginnings reports, car load shipments in and out of livestock feed and estimates by bankers and other credit agents on production of feeds will be included at the request of Mr. Martin, who had been forwarded letters from local business men telling him they believed some Howard county farmers should be eligible for relief.

Mexican Families Told Of Methods Of Helping Needy

Rev. Scott Cotton and John R. Hutto, committeemen for the Community Chest in the administration of funds for the needy in the Mexican colony called a meeting of the Mexican people at the school building Thursday night which was attended by about 100 heads of families, besides a great number of young people and children.

The purposes of the meeting were to acquaint the people with the limited amount of funds at the disposal of the committee, the necessity of conserving these funds and of distributing them to the most needy and the appointment of a committee of Mexican who are to aid in determining the most needy and in the distribution of the food.

The people were told of the wide area over which suffering is prevalent and the necessity of being patient and saving with funds until we get back to normal conditions again. The spirit of cooperation and sympathy prevailed. It was further agreed to divide the list of applicants into two divisions and set a day for each to come to the depository for food. From a close investigation it was determined that there are at least seventy families without work and in need of assistance.

Howell was indicted on car theft, it being alleged he took an automobile belonging to T. Joiner. The charge, as contained in the indictment, however, was reduced to a misdemeanor. Howell alleged it was not his intention to steal the car. He merely "borrowed" it, he declared, to take a ride.

Suit Entered By Danciger Won By State

Judge Wheeler Renders Decision; Appeal To Be Made NO INJUNCTION

AUSTIN, Feb. 13. (AP)—District Judge C. A. Wheeler today upheld the legality of oil proration in Texas. He returned a judgment for the state railroad commission in the suit brought by the Danciger Oil and Refining Company of Amarillo.

The case will be appealed.

The Danciger Company contended the proration order issued by the railroad commission was unconstitutional because it deprived an oil operator of property without due process of law and that it was void because the legislature had not given the commission such power.

Former District Judge George Calhoun had given the Danciger Company a temporary injunction restraining the railroad commission from enforcing the order against that company and the trial which ended today was on the application to make that injunction permanent. A previous effort to dissolve the temporary restraining order failed.

The trial started February 2. Witnesses for the state contended oil proration was necessary to prevent waste. Fred Upchurch, assistant attorney general, represented the state.

Indiana Lady Says She Feels More Energetic After Taking Black-Draught.

Evansville, Ind.—"I have known of Theford's Black-Draught all my life because my father kept it in my home and used it whenever he needed a medicine of that sort," writes Mrs. Earl White, of 1117 Mary Street, this city. "He gave it to us for colds or whenever we needed a laxative. Since I have been married, I have used it in my home. I found it very good for children."

"I take Black-Draught whenever I have a spell of indigestion. Sometimes I have pains in my chest which seem to be caused by gas. Black-Draught relieves it."

"If I get up in the morning feeling dull and sluggish and have no appetite, I know that I need something for this condition. I take Black-Draught, because after having used it I feel fresh and have new energy. I recommend it for I find it so good for my own use."

"Thousands of others have reported that many disagreeable symptoms, due to constipation, indigestion and biliousness, have gone away after they had taken Black-Draught. Is a dose."

The Sunday school is still going well at the basement each Sunday. Ernest Greer is superintendent. All are invited to attend.

RADIO Day By Day

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD, Associated Press Radio Editor. (Time Is Central Standard)

NEW YORK, Feb. 13. (AP)—Will Rogers is to make three radio appearances this month.

The comedian, who generally gets paid quite a sum when he faces the microphone at times other than special occasions, is to take part in three NBC programs as an expression of gratitude to the Rogers quartet. This group is now touring the southwest with Rogers in behalf of the Red Cross drought relief fund.

He will be heard with Olive Palmer and artists, WEAQ chain, February 18, in the family party, also WEAQ, February 23, and with the Salon orchestra, WJZ group, February 26.

Announcement by NBC that it had filed application with the federal radio commission for the transfer of the license of WENR, 50,000-watt key transmitter to the chain, will give the network its first key transmitter in Chicago.

In the past it has been using various associated stations there. The transfer, it was stated, however, will bring no change to the NBC program now going over WGN, WIBO, KYW and WCFL.

Try these on your radio tonight: New dramatic feature, "The House Beside the Road," WABC and stations at 6:15.

Norma Terris, guest singer with the Chocolaters, WJZ and chain at 7.

Story hour drama, "My Mad Ambition," WABC network at 8, which hour also brings Jones and Hare to WJZ and chain.

Irvin S. Cobb, mixed chorus and orchestra, WJZ and hookup at 8:30.

Beatrice Lillie, Lita Gray Chaplin and Otto Gray and his Oklahoma Cowboy band, WEAQ group at 9:30 in the theater of the air.

Worst Cough Curbed Overnight By New Remedy

Three well-known specialists have recently perfected a marvelous new remedy for coughs, which stops the severest spells almost instantly, and often clears up a stubborn, deep cough overnight. People who have hardly been able to sleep at night for coughing, rest all night without a break after the first few doses.

The new discovery is known as Mentodene, and is based upon a new way of taking menthol internally in a pleasant-tasting liquid. Everybody knows how menthol, even when just inhaled, "clears out the pipes," soothes rawness, loosens phlegm, relieves congestion and kills a cough quickly. When taken internally in this new combination with other healing ingredients—coming in direct contact with the irritated and congested throat lining—it is 10 times more effective than when used merely as a spray, inhaler or ointment.

Furthermore, Mentodene at once works its way all through the system, clearing out from the inside the cough, cold, bronchitis poisons that cause that miserable headache, fever, etc., and toning up the entire system. The result is that a cough that has hung on for weeks goes in a short time.

Make this amazing overnight test yourself without risking a penny. Get a bottle of Mentodene today from your druggist and take as directed. No matter how severe your cough or how long you have had it, if you do not have a thoroughly comfortable and cough-free night, and if you don't feel 100 per cent better in the morning, manufacturer refunds your money. Be sure to start today.—adv.

How Is Your HEALTH?

Edited by Dr. Iago Goldson for the New York Academy of Medicine. Defective diet could produce disease as was first experimentally demonstrated by the late Dr. Christian Eijkman...

The symptoms of the disease affecting the fowls were similar to those of beriberi in humans. This led him to conclude that beriberi was the result of defective diet.

By a series of experiments on birds he conclusively demonstrated that disease—could always be brought on by an exclusive diet of polished rice.

Dr. Eijkman's work was, therefore, in a sense a pioneer study that vastly in part and still but partially understood realm of vitamins.

Subsequent to Dr. Eijkman's discovery, others continued the work and developed our knowledge of the so-called deficiency diseases, their cure, and prevention.

Beri-beri is but one of a group of diseases caused by vitamin deficiency.

Today we know a number of such diseases, including beri-beri, scurvy, rickets and pellagra. We have also definitely established the existence of at least six vitamins.

Masked Longing

SYNOPSIS: Radio brings a new career to Aileen Gray, after an accident ends her stage aspirations. Wearing a porcelain mask made for her by Wright Channing, artist, she becomes "Mademoiselle Masque," mystery singer of the air.

Chapter 30 VIVIANNE FINDS LOVE: In the glorious sunshine of a perfect December morning, Vivienne stood on the terrace of Dwight Channing's pent-house, looking off at New York.

The future was what she wanted to talk to Channing about. He had just called her from his club and was coming over to breakfast.

It was a crime not to ride on a morning like this! He said to himself as he looked at his hat and coat.

Channing shrugged his shoulders. "Either ignore or disprove what they say. You can imagine the result of a libel suit against them. But really, Viv, I think that we've discussed all this before."

He arose to look for his pipe, and Vivienne bit her lip. She remembered his words in this very room on the morning he had accused her of placing a previous article in the column of this sheet.

"No," he said. "Naturally not. It's nothing more than the aftermath—of what can't be helped. As I've told you, it isn't what you are, but what people think. Interpret that rot as you like—as it will be, of course. The article's written cautiously—and every word of it's true. You are living here—"

"You suggested it!" "With the best of intentions, I think you'll grant. And after I'd declined our offer—of a somewhat different basis."

"Are you going to fling that at me again?" Vivienne's eyes were blazing. But even in her desperation, Viv knew that nothing she could say would counteract or mitigate the force of Channing's statement. "You—shouldn't have let me come here!" she burst out miserably.

"I may have done that deliberately," he spoke with intolerable calmness. "To teach me another lesson!" She was adorably defiant.

"No. But it's worked out that way, I think." Channing pushed back his chair. "Viv, I've always believed in you. I've always known you'd find yourself. And I've hoped that when you did—you'd find out—that I love you."

"Love me!" She laughed. "So you're taking me up! You think that if we're to have the name... Well, you're mistaken!" Channing moved slowly toward her, a curious smile on his face. "No," he said. "I'm not mistaken—and I never have been. Viv, you're going to marry me. Maybe you didn't know it—but I did—from the first."

NEW ORLEANS—Hiney Long has pink pajamas now. He wore them to a luncheon on the battleship Wyoming. They're cotton and his idea was to boost home products.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland—John Warwick, Irish horseman who won a grand challenge cup at Madison Squares Garden, New York, will content himself with a photograph of the trophy. John Bull would exact 90 pounds as tariff on the cup, and John Warwick just won't pay it.

BENTON, Ill.—Six children have arrived in two years at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Empeke—three sets of twins. Empeke is an unemployed coal miner. He has eight children.

NEW YORK—Six months ago Angel Soto was washing dishes for a living. Now he is a concert singer with a contract for $1,000 for every appearance this year and a progressive rate thereafter for four years. He will make his debut in Carnegie hall.

RECIPE GIVES COFFEE ROASTER IDEA FOR PERFECTING FLAVOR

Applies Rule for Mixing Muffin Ingredients to Patented Roasting Process

Success in muffin making depends to a great extent on the care with which the batter is made. That is why most recipes state that the milk should be poured into the flour a little at a time rather than all at once.

This rule "applies at a time," is the basis of Controlled Roasting—a process patented and used only by Hills Bros. in roasting their coffee. By automatic control, coffee passes continuously through the roasters, a few pounds at a time.

Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh because it is packed in vacuum. By this process air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken out of the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

Hills Bros. Coffee is always fresh because it is packed in vacuum. By this process air, which destroys the flavor of coffee, is taken out of the can and kept out. Ordinary cans, even if air-tight, do not keep coffee fresh. Grocers everywhere sell Hills Bros. Coffee. Ask for it by name and look for the Arab—the trade-mark—on the can.

Twenty-Five Tables of Card Players Entertained By Mmes. J. and B. Fisher and Eckhaus

Guests Play Contract and Auction Bridge in The Crystal Ballroom of Settles Hotel After Five-Course Luncheon

Mrs. Bernard Fisher, Mrs. Joye Fisher and Mrs. Julius Eckhaus entertained with a bridge luncheon yesterday in the Crystal Ballroom of the Settles Hotel, at which one hundred guests were present.

There were twenty-one tables of contract players and four tables of auction.

The ballroom was furnished as a living room at the north end, near the entrance, and there the hostesses, after receiving their guests on the mezzanine with Miss Marie Schlessinger in the receiving line, distributed the valentine-talies which also served as place cards.

A five-course luncheon was served. Red and white hearts on the dessert plate and bouquets of violets carried out the combination of Valentine and George Washington motifs.

These motifs were repeated in the red pierced-hearts which were suspended from the chandeliers, the hand-painted score pads on which were figures in Colonial costumes, and the red pencils.

Five prizes were awarded. The highest score made by a contract player was won by Mrs. Omar Pittman, who received a quilted pillow.

Those plumes cost her half a month's salary, but they were worth it. She made such a pretty picture in her fashionable costume that it is remembered, to this very day.

The highest auction score was made by Mrs. E. M. La Befz, who received a cream and sugar set; the lowest by Mrs. A. E. Cheser of Foran, who received a string of beads.

Mrs. Garland Woodward cut high and received a double deck of cards in a Japanese box.

Newspaper Containing Details of Washington's Funeral To Be Shown

A copy of the newspaper containing complete details of the funeral of George Washington belongs to a Big Spring woman, Mrs. Charles Koberg.

The newspaper, which is the Ulatier County Gazette, is heavily bordered with black. It contains the names of the pallbearers and makes note of the fact that behind the hearse walked riders on the favorite horses of President Washington.

It contains some of the advertisements of the day, such as Wanted to Trade: Negro wench for seeds, etc.

This newspaper is a copy which Mrs. Koberg had made of the original now in possession of her mother in Little Rock, Ark. The original is so old that it is so old that it cannot be taken out of its container to be read without falling to pieces.

Mrs. Koberg will have the copy on display at the antique party at the Episcopal parish house Monday afternoon.

A Good Salad Is Known By the Company It Keeps

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON

It has been said that "a good salad is known by the company it keeps." And certainly, a well-flavored biscuit or crisp cookie makes even the simplest salad seem more delicious.

While a wide variety of sandwiches and wafers may be served with salads, these necessary accompaniments may be divided into two main groups: (1) snappy cheese rolls, hot biscuits, and crackers with savory spreads to serve with substantial meat, fish and vegetable salads; and (2) dainty little cookies or open sandwiches, which are more appropriate with the lighter fruit salads for luncheon or tea.

Try some of these suggestions the next time you serve a salad. Almost everyone is sure to like them:

TO SERVE WITH MEAT, FISH, OR VEGETABLE SALADS:

1. Hot Cheese Wafers: Spread long narrow wafers with butter, then with a mixture of 1-2 cup grated American Cheese, 1 tablespoon India Relish, and 1-2 teaspoon prepared mustard. Sprinkle with paprika and brown delicately under the flame of a broiler. Serve on a plate with a hot roll cover.

2. Hot Cheese Toast: Spread slices of toast with mustard butter, made by creaming together 4 tablespoons butter and 1 tablespoon prepared mustard. Sprinkle with grated cheese and paprika, and place in a hot oven or under a broiler until the cheese is melted.

3. Savory Biscuit: Prepare baking powder biscuit dough and pat half of it in 1-4 inch thick, on a lightly floured board. Shape with a round cutter and spread each with a mixture of 1 cup cold cooked ham, chopped, 1-4 cup stuffed Spanish olives, chopped, 1-2 teaspoon prepared mustard and 1 table-

The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. L. Davenport; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Piner, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Strain, Mr. and Mrs. Vivian Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. with 4 tablespoons milk. Then add 1 cup floured raisins, 1-2 cups Rice Flakes, 1 cup nuts and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Drop from teaspoon on greased baking sheet, and bake for 10 minutes in a moderate oven.

TO SERVE WITH FRUIT SALADS:

1. Celery, Nut and Mayonnaise Sandwiches: Mix 1-2 cup chopped nut meats with 1-2 cup minced celery, and moisten with mayonnaise salad dressing. Spread between thin slices of buttered bread and cut into dainty shapes.

2. Open Apple Butter and Nut sandwich: Cut thin slices of bread into rounds or squares. Spread thinly with butter, then with pure apple butter. In the center of each sandwich place half an English walnut or pecan, and make a border of chopped nuts around the sandwich.

3. Rice Flake Drop Cookies: Cream together 3-4 cup butter, 1 cup sugar and 2 eggs, well beaten. Sift 2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder and 1-4 teaspoon salt, and add to creamed mixture alternately

Do You Remember

When The Central Ward Teachers Wore Plumage?

The teachers recall it—plumes were so high and salaries so small.

Mrs. C. W. Cunningham, who taught in Central Ward the first year it was built, was earning the magnificent sum of fifty dollars a month. She had a green velvet suit, a pink blouse to go with it and she wanted a big black hat with three ostrich plumes.

Those plumes cost her half a month's salary, but they were worth it. She made such a pretty picture in her fashionable costume that it is remembered, to this very day.

Communications From Readers Mustang Cage Crew Meets Aggies

DALLAS, Feb. 13 (AP) - Safety past the mental hazard of playing its first game away from home. Southern Methodist University's powerful basketball unit, undefeated in five starts, will try to hurdle another obstacle in its path to the Southwest Conference title when it meets the Texas Aggies here tomorrow night. In the Aggies, the Mustangs will face the team that their coach, Jimmy St. Clair, professes to fear more than any outfit in the conference. Although the Farmers have managed to win only half of their six games, they have proved themselves the closest guarding team in the circuit. In two successive games they allowed their opponents only 22 points. Still harboring a faint hope they will come through and win their sixth straight conference crown, the University of Arkansas Razorbacks play host to the Baylor Bears tonight and tomorrow at Fayetteville. The perennial champs have not had a conference engagement since January 24, when they split a two-game series with Texas Christian, but they have been kept in form with numerous practice games. The Texas Longhorns, who have lost five straight, will attempt to break their jinx against the Rice Institute Owls tomorrow night at Houston.

Big Brothers Defeat Cauble

Piling up 37 points while their opponents were gathering 11, the Big Brothers Sunday School class team of the First Methodist Church, downed Cauble School, at the Lomax gymnasium, Thursday night. T. Forrester, Methodist center, with 33 points, was high point man. The Methodist cagers will go to Abilene Saturday for two tilts, one with the National Business College, the other with Draughton Business College. PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 13 (AP) - A three thousand mile ocean voyage and two weeks of intensive training on indoor tracks has been crowned with success for Geraphin Martin, leading middle-distance runner of France and holder of the world's record for 800 meters. After a disappointing race in the international half mile in the Millrose games last Saturday, Martin showed a return to form last night in winning the classic Meadowbrook 660, feature event of the annual indoor games at Philadelphia's arena. The blue shirted French runner led Eddie Blake and Dr. Paul Martin of Switzerland to the top. Blake was six yards behind and the doctor was half a lap back in sixth place. The time of 1:22.4 was the second best time ever made in the Meadowbrook games. The French automobile mechan-

TWO DIVISIONS TO DECIDE CAGE TITLES

This afternoon this department will go to Colorado, where we hope to see the high school Bovines stamped their way to a sectional championship. The Steers have everything their way at the moment. They have Tommy Hutto, the loop toaser; Bill Flowers and Ted Phillips, two crack guards; David Hopper, the other forward, and Elmer Fardeus, flash center. They are veterans. They follow a good and well-founded system of basketball. Everything is in their favor to cop at least the western half of the district. After that comes some more. Today, in case you haven't thought of it, is Friday the Thirteenth. What a wonderful day for a murder.

Steers Favored To Sweep Through Opposition In Western Half With Abilene Picked To Capture East

Their county schedules behind them, basketball teams of district eight will get together this afternoon and Saturday to separate the wheat from the chaff, and decide two sectional championships. The western division teams will clash at Colorado, with the first game scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Those of the eastern sector will meet at Anson, with play starting soon after the drawing is made at 2:30 o'clock. Winners of the two divisions will meet next week to settle the district title. At Colorado, the Big Spring Steers, a team composed of rangy lads, who are veterans on the map-wood, go into the divisional tournament favored to win. Colorado, at the present, is the most formidable rival the Longhorns have for the title, although prospects for a proverbial dark horse to come trotting in are most excellent. Colorado, Sweetwater, Big Spring, Lomax, Snyder, Blackwell, Roby and the Kent county representative will vie for honors in the western half. Over in the eastern section the Abilene Eagles go into the fray bearing the banner aloft. The Eagles are favored to cop the title and win the right to meet the Steers in the final event; providing, of course the Steers get through themselves. The eastern division is composed of Abilene, Lawn, Taylor County, O'Brien, Haskell county; Swenson, Stonevalley county; Albany, Shallockford; Cottonwood, Callahan; Groe, Knox county, and Anson. Gold basketball will be given members of the tournament team. A trophy will be awarded the winners in the two districts. Howard county's two representatives - the Steers and the Lomax Hornets - will get into action this afternoon. At 2:30 p. m. the Steers will clash with the Kent county representatives. Tonight at 7:30 the Sweetwater and Colorado teams will meet. Blackwell and Roby will meet at 8:30. The semifinals are set for Saturday morning at 9:30 and 10:30 a. m. The final tilt will be played at 8:30 p. m. Saturday.

Dundee, Harvey Return Bout Is Head of Program

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP) - A return bout between Len Harvey, British welterweight champion, and Vince Dundee of Baltimore heads Madison Square Garden's weekly card tonight. Harvey dumped Dundee on the floor twice in their first meeting, but the rugged Italian got up to carry the fight to his British rival and win a decision in 12 rounds. Harvey was just off the boat when he battled Dundee the first time. Now, with a few more weeks of training, the Briton thinks he can wipe that defeat off a record that shows only two reverses in something like 350 ring engagements.

For every job, a DISSTON Saw. Saw THE HAND CROSS-CUT SAW. This is the general-purpose saw around the home. It is used for all kinds of cutting across the grain except on small work. Use it when making window seats; window boxes for flowers; corner cabinets; grape arbors; corn cribs; preserving closets; porch benches; screen doors; window screens; shelving; step ladders; fences; coal bins boardwalks and other jobs of a similar size and nature. THE COMPASS SAW. The compass saw is for cutting curves or holes in wood. You want to make a pair of fancy brackets for a shelf, you want a set of round-cornered book shelves, a curved-top taboret. Just mark your line and saw along it. And its other uses are many for cutting holes to receive plumbing or gas pipes; cutting floor boards (just drill a hole and insert your compass saw); cutting plaster or base-board to install switch boxes; installing a mail chute. The keyhole saw is a small compass saw which may suit you better. THE BACK SAW. Handiest of all small saws! The fine teeth and the stiff back enable you to do smooth, even cutting that is so necessary on small, accurate work. You need it for cutting curtain poles, shade rollers; cutting corners on picture frame; sawing mitres; making small flower boxes and trellises; cutting grooves in uprights for receiving shelving; truing up legs on chairs of tables; and cutting close work where space will not admit a hand saw. THE HACK SAW. Cutting metal is a hard job without a hack saw... and so easy with one. Just around home you use it for cutting gas and water pipes; metal curtain rods; radio panels, nails, screws, bolts, wire, iron fencing; for cutting slots in round head bolts so they can be turned off with a screw-driver; for sawing asbestos pipe covering; for cutting metal linoleum binding to proper lengths and any other task where metal must be cut. HOME TOWN TALK

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) that the weight and speed of trucks will be limited to the extent of breaking down the high joints which develop in our modern paving the first year of its operation? In 10 years from now will you ask the same question "Why the right kind of paving was not placed on our section of No. 1." will our grandchildren ask us why we did not double the width of our paving that meetings at night will be safe? Or do you more reasonably assume that when the present proposed debt is paid we will all be at the ripe old age where folks will allow us the respect due old age and not mention the sins of the fathers? Yours very truly, R. H. JONES.

In connection with other questions put by you we say the following: "The first mile of Mitchell's paving, on the west side, is rough, apparently not properly erected, uncomfortable and very likely being damaged by trucks too heavily loaded."

That buses are wide enough to cause some danger to motorists is obvious. No statement was made in this column that we felt the "ideal" width had been attained for the paving in Mitchell. However, it is obvious the width of paving exposed to tires in Mitchell is greater than that in Howard not covered by dirt due to faulty and cheap construction and, therefore, danger in passing a bus in Howard is greater than in Mitchell.

We have expressed no theory, we repeat, that Mitchell's width is ideal. So you manufactured your own statement to cause your question, rather than using one we made.

No statement was made concerning our feeble idea about how many years any paving will continue in good condition.

Nothing sounding like we figured Mitchell's paving will meet requirements five years from now, was made. However, it is easy to see by inspecting paving in other parts of the state, where traffic is thicker and heavier that paving of Mitchell's type will last a good deal more than five years.

You ask: have you reasonable assurance any limitation will be placed on added width necessary for the profitable operation of highway buses in the next five years, or that the weight and speed of trucks will be limited to the extent of breaking down high joints which develop in our modern paving the first year of its operation?

Compare these: vote on bonds to make possible good paving in Howard county has been submitted. Vote of the state senate has been submitted by the highway commission on further restriction of width, length, speed, load, etc. of buses and trucks.

You would be as safe in saying roads will be built here as saying you believe the suggested restrictions are made necessary. We believe the latter will happen anyway.

Being no prophets, you or the writer neither could right now be able to say whether in ten years he would have to say why the right kind of paving was not placed on our section of No. 1.

Tens of thousands of counties, every state in the union, have spent millions of hundreds of millions to build higher types of paving. Therefore, if Howard should build the higher types now known, she would be a "fellow criminal" county to those of other states, as well as scores within the state, if one feels that it is foolish to build the best types engineers have learned to build.

Incidentally, proper regulations are made on buses and trucks the railroads would be better off if good roads ran toward them, or even alongside them at some points than if nothing but dirt roads were leading to them. Therefore, we take it railroad men are aiming first and foremost at making competition with buses and trucks more equitable than slowing the whole country, handicapping owners of many thousands of private cars, and cutting down the distances on each side of railroads over which tonnage would be hauled to the nearest railroad, for shipment to more distant points.

Friend R. H.'s letter was interesting although his questions were entirely unrelated to the paragraphs he cited. Some of his questions were very pertinent while others were sort of inaccurate, like a short note coming from an anonymous person.

That note was different from Jones' because he signed his name, while the other writer did not; less praiseworthy. But, for short note, which said The Herald took a list of those attending the Chamber of Commerce banquet and then left many of them out was absolutely inaccurate. The statement Paul Wickers' and his wife's names were left out was entirely wrong. See column 8, page 7, Wednesday's edition. Some folks like to gripe at others so well they'll even do so with inaccurate statements.

Andrews Opens Its New School Building

MIDLAND, Feb. 13.—Formal celebration of the opening of Andrews' beautiful new school building was held Friday with J. A. Summerhill, superintendent and inspirer of the program, in charge. A large crowd of visitors from Midland, Odessa, Seminole and other towns joined with Andrews in the formal opening.

After the visitors and home people had inspected the school plant, seen the fine room exhibits and admired the various modern conveniences, the program was given in the auditorium. Those on the program besides Summerhill were: Ashley Sellers, Andrews county attorney; Murry H. Fly, Odessa; Rev. George F. Brown, Aubrey; S. Logg, Judge Charles L. Klapproth and Superintendent W. W. Lackey, Midland; Mrs. Robert Barnes, Andrews; and the principal speaker, Dr. W. A. Jackson of Texas Tech, Lubbock. Mrs. J. A. Summerhill entertained with two piano solos.

Baptist Revival Meeting Drawing Large Audiences

The seventh of a series of evangelistic services was held last night at the First Baptist church with the pastor, R. E. Day doing the preaching. The singer, B. B. McKinney selected as the solo for the evening "My Mother's Prayers Have Followed Me," which was well received before a large, appreciative audience.

Rev. Day had as his subject, "A Death Message Turned Into Victory," using as his text Isaiah 38: 1, "Set thine house in order for thou shalt die and not live." He explained that this was the prophet's message to King Hezekiah. The reaction of the king to this message was similar to that of any other normal individual had been given such a message. "He turned his face toward the wall, and prayed unto the Lord. It is difficult for any man to look to loved ones when the end has come and a wasted life is before one, so the king chose to face the wall rather than friends. "He wept. Tears do not always portray a weakness of character but in this instance they were tears of remorse for a wasted life that King Hezekiah must face. Jesus shed tears of love as he looked down upon Jerusalem and cried "Would that I could gather you up under my arm as a hen does gather up her brood, and you would not listen." The day of sorrow had come to the king and he wept because of sin.

"The king prayed. So with many individuals today. We forget God until we are in trouble then we seek His divine help. Often it is at this time that promises are made to Him only to be broken when one's prayers are granted. The minister added that it is only fair to God to play honest to him and show good sportsmanship as Amite, La., to be with her sister we do with our fellow man. The king lauded his good works, saying, "Lord, don't you remember how I walked uprightly and did things honorable in your sight? Hezekiah failed to mention the things that he had done that did not please God or those he had left undone which should have been performed for the Glory of God." The speaker said: "An opportunity challenges us to do all the good that we can while we can." The king having prayed an earnest prayer, the Lord said to the prophet Isaiah, "Tell King Hezekiah I have heard his prayer and I spare his life fifteen years longer." The Lord was merciful unto this man. Rev. Day added that some people have already lived their allotted three score and ten, their will is made, insurance is paid, physical needs are cared for yet they fail to set thy house in order and their spiritual needs have been neglected. God extended the king's life fifteen years but to whomsoever shall call upon him, he is offering eternal life for Jesus said without money or price, he that cometh unto me I will in no wise cast out. The minister urged the unsave to take advantage of God's offer.

Miss Darden, 77, Buried Thursday

CLYDE, Feb. 13.—Miss Virginia Keene Darden, 77, pioneer Texas educator, was laid to rest here yesterday afternoon, following funeral service at the home of her sister, Mrs. M. D. Shanks. The Rev. Mr. Van Zandt, Clyde Methodist minister, officiated.

Miss Darden succumbed early Thursday morning at a cottage home which she and her sister, Miss Rosa O. Darden, had maintained here for several months. Miss Rosa Darden came from and show good sportsmanship as Amite, La., to be with her sister when the latter's health became impaired.

Two brothers, O. K. Darden of Ardmore, Okla., and H. L. Darden of Call, and a sister, Mrs. Harvey Smith of Washington state, also survive. H. L. Darden formerly lived in Abilene and was the second president of Abilene Christian college.

Born in Tuscaloosa, Ala., Virginia Darden was educated in that state and moved with members of her family to Texas in 1880, settling first in Waller county. She taught in the public schools of Waller, Washington, Burleson and Milam counties for several years before moving to west Texas, where she continued her career as a teacher. She spent 10 years of more teaching in Glasscock and Howard counties, part of the time as a tutor in ranch homes and part in public schools. She retired about 10 years ago.

Palbearers for the funeral were Oscar Pyeatt, Earl Slater, A. C. Forrester, W. C. Rightmeyer, L. F. Patterson and Jim. Sherrill.

Senate Votes To Shorten Sessions In Order To Give Committee Time To Consider Stack Proposed Bills

AUSTIN, Feb. 12 (AP).—The senate today voted to shorten its sessions for the next thirty days to give committees leeway in their consideration of bills.

The original proposal, a resolution by Senator Woodward of Coleman, asked the senate to meet only on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, the senate later adopted an amendment by Senator Greer of Athens calling for short meetings each day.

Oil Belt Mayors Asked to Parley Abilene, Feb. 18

ABILENE, Feb. 12 (AP).—A conference of mayors and other officials of all West Texas cities and towns served by the Community Natural Gas company, distributing subsidiary of the Lone Star Gas company, has been called for next Wednesday, February 18, in Abilene.

The call was sent out today by Mayor Thomas E. Hayden of this city, and purpose of the conference is for a discussion of gas rates in the oil belt. Mayor Hayden takes the position, he said today, that existing rates are too high.

"These oil belt towns," he said, "are served by mains bringing gas from only a short distance, mostly from the Ixeh districts of Shackelford county. Prices have been falling steadily in almost all commodities, including labor, yet the retail price of gas—that to the home owner—has remained substantially unchanged for more than 10 years."

"Believing that gas prices should come down with other commodities, I am inviting city officials of west Texas points served by the Lone Star company to meet in Abilene next Wednesday and consider a concerted campaign to bring a reduction."

"My information is that the Lone Star people are reasonable, and I believe they will meet us halfway."

The mayor would not venture a prediction as to what course might be taken in event the company refused to make a voluntary reduction.

The West Texas Utilities company distributes Lone Star gas at two west Texas points, Abilene and Cisco. Yesterday the company made a check on comparative billings to 300 customers of Abilene, covering the latter part of December and early part of January, both for this year and last. One list of 50 was selected by the company and the other was submitted by the mayor, both being taken at random from the telephone directory. The mayor's list included some of the larger users of gas.

Results of the reading, submitted Wednesday to the mayor, showed the 1931 readings to be 51 per cent lower than for the same period of 1930, on the mayor's list, and 44 per cent lower on the company's list. This year's average bill on the mayor's list was $9.96, against $14.40 for last year, and on the company's list the comparative readings were $13.47 and $19.88.

Cotton Acreage Bill Introduced In House

AUSTIN, Feb. 12 (AP).—A bill to reduce cotton acreage by allotting one bale of cotton to each four acres of land under cultivation and placing a tax of 45 per bale on each bale in excess of the allotment was introduced today by Representative Donnell of Hillsboro.

A bill by Representative Olsen and others would restrict the type of cotton to be planted in each county, the type is to be determined at a county or precinct election. It was aimed at increasing the staple and quality.

A bill by representative Munson of Wharton and Forbes of Weatherford would liberalize the law relative to searching private residences for liquor. It would provide that a warrant would be valid if it complied substantially with the law. Munson said it would prevent cases from being thrown out because of minor technicalities. It would also provide for search of residences for all suspected liquor violations, the present law restricting searches to dwellings where liquor was sold or manufactured.

A bill by Representative Lockhart of Lubbock would permit institution of suits for libel against the dead to the immediate members of the family. Hatchitt of Wichita Falls to place a tax of $2 per 1,000 on the retail sale of cigarettes and a tax on cigars ranging from 10 per cent of the retail price to 20 per cent, according to price.

A state income tax on citizens and corporations was projected by Representative Hanson of Tyler. The tax would be on net incomes and would range from one-fourth of 1 per cent on incomes from $1 to $1,000 to 2 per cent on incomes above $50,000.

Pope's Speech Opens Vatican Radio Station

Message of Peace and Union Broadcast by Pontiff

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 12 (AP).—For the first time in history the Pope today sent his voice to millions throughout the world in a radio message of peace to mankind.

Smiling and tranquil as though he were a veteran of radio broadcasting, he spoke over HVJ, the new Vatican City radio station built for him by Guglielmo Marconi and inaugurated in celebration of the ninth anniversary of his coronation as Pope Pius XI.

Senator Marconi, introducing the pontiff, spoke briefly before the address for which men and women were listening in far distant cities of the world.

It was 10:52 o'clock (est) when the pope began speaking.

No longer a prisoner of the Vatican, this most modern of all popes sent his living voice to his congregation of three hundred million Catholics and to the members of all other faiths.

His was a message of peace and union.

For 20 minutes before his voice was heard, the new radio station of the Vatican was on the air. Promptly at 10:30 came the fanfare of trumpets which signaled over seas and mountains the holy father's arrival at the station.

While he inspected it, from the power room to the automatic sender, radio listeners stood by throughout the United States and in other lands. In New York and elsewhere in more than one Catholic church parishioners listened and waited before receiving sets placed beside altars.

The only bar to good reception was an intermittent high-pitched whistle. Static was absent and there was no fading.

At 10:41 an announcer from the Vatican City station announced that Pope Pius was about to transmit several Morse characters, officially opening the station. They did not, however, come through to American listeners.

A moment later, Marquis Guglielmo Marconi, radio's great figure and donor of the station to the Vatican, introduced first in Italian and then in English his holiness, the Pope, and said, "I pray you, hold fast to the altar of your voice heard over all the world."

After the pope had spoken for about 16 minutes the whistle grew worse, interfering frequently with clear audibility, but it died away just as he finished speaking. The listeners the disturbance had all the indications of a heterodyne.

The pope concluded his address at 11:05 (C. S. T.). He had spoken for 12 minutes.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 12 (AP).—One hundred and twenty-two years ago today a boy was born in the backwoods of Kentucky. No particular importance was attached to his coming, but today, the anniversary of his birth, an entire nation paid tribute to the memory of the most famous backwoods rail splitter of them all.

In the schools, memorial halls, and other places throughout the country, Americans talked again of " Honest Abe" and listened as others extolled the virtues of American Civil War president Springfield, focal point for exercises honoring Abraham Lincoln's memory because he lies buried here, heard him described as a world figure who had "taught lessons which mankind, whether east or west, must take to heart."

"We are the first successors of the prince of the apostles to whom it has been given to speak to all nations and to all places."

"Listen, ye heavens, to what I say. Listen all ye islands. Let the first word be to the glory of God in the highest and on earth peace to men of good will."

"Glory of God because he has given us power to men that their words may go to the ends of the earth."

"Hear ye who speak; hear ye all nations; hear ye all who inhabit the face of the earth."

"We, having the guidance of God on earth of all those who are on earth; it behooves us to speak to the Catholic Church."

"Our Lord Jesus Christ has given to the shepherd of all the world, the office of caring for both the lambs and the sheep."

"You cardinals, patriarchs, archbishops and bishops and prelates scattered throughout the world we beg that each of you persevere in your vocation."

"God, who brought forth the great shepherd from the dead, He too begs that you persevere in every good."

To Confined

"Now we speak to those who are confined in convents and those who are engaged in the great ministry of spreading the gospel and who are in those houses of holy contemplation."

"Be ye diligent in your vocation. Already you know our custom. All"

Hyde Informs Senate There Is No Prohibition In Relief Bill Against Using Funds For Food

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP).—Secretary Hyde today informed the senate there is no prohibition in the drought relief compromise against using the loans for the purchase of food and clothing by farmers "if necessary to effect the purpose of crop production and agricultural rehabilitation."

The agriculture secretary's telegram from Louisville was in response to the Borah resolution asking his interpretation of the $20,000,000 drought loan fund compromise, nearing a vote in the senate.

Call Quorum

A while before Vice President Curtis had the Hyde message read, Democratic Leader Robinson had declared congress could be charged with inefficiency if it failed to pass the remedial measure. He was replying to attacks on the compromise from within his own party ranks.

An attentive senate heard the agriculture secretary's interpretation, a quorum call having brought many absentees to the floor.

The Hyde statement began with an assertion that the proposed funds were not intended for the purchase of food and clothing.

However, the conclusion said there was no prohibition against the borrowers using the funds for that purpose, if necessary.

The secretary upheld the contention of Senators Robinson and Caraway, democrats, of Arkansas, who have accepted the compromise.

Senator Borah, republican, of Idaho, and other republican independents and some democrats are fighting the compromise on the $25,000,000 Red Cross appropriation which was voted by the senate, only to meet stiff opposition in the house.

The $20,000,000 fund dealt with by Hyde today is a substitute for the appropriation.

Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, at the conclusion of the reading, said, "It sounds like the Wickersham report."

Senator Barkley, democrat, Kentucky, proposed sending it to the attorney general "to find out what it means."

Contradictory

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, said the telegram from Louisville and a recent statement by Hyde "were contradictory."

"In one breath," Wheeler said, "the secretary says the money could not be used for food."

"In the next breath he says it is to build up the weakened credit facilities and when loaned there could be no prohibition against its use for food."

The Montanan asked why the word "food" could not be placed in the plan. Senator Smoot, republican, Utah, one of the conferees on the appropriation bill during the new loan fund said it was the unanimous opinion of the conferees that beneficiaries of the loans could use them to buy food, clothing and medicine.

Navarro told police he was sitting in the front room of his home reading when he heard the first explosion. Glass struck him on the face.

"I jumped up and turned in the direction of the door. There was another shot and I was hit on the side. I did not see anyone."

Navarro stated he knew of no reason why anyone should want to shoot him.

Negro Tramps Murder Youth

MEYIA, TEXAS, Feb. 12 (AP).—Charles Hunter, 26, of Lawrenceburg, Texas, was thrown off a freight train and killed after a fight between him and a brother and a group of negroes as the train was en route south between Thornton and Kosse today.

Another brother, Harris Hunter, 20, was missing.

Rufus Hunter said the three brothers were going to Houston. He said six negroes got on the train at Meyia. One had a pistol, one a club, and another a razor. When Harley Hunter led the posse car in which the Tennessians were riding, Rufus said, the negroes set upon the other two. Brothers took $4.50 from Rufus, a little more from Charles, and threw them off the moving train.

A&S Extension Would Aid Feeding

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 12 (AP).—Testifying that the extension of the Abilene & Southern into San Angelo would encourage the feeding of cattle and sheep in the area between San Angelo and Ballinger, witnesses today said that the real reason was that the new route would offer overnight delivery to Fort Worth markets, in the hearing being conducted by Examiner Thomas P. Sullivan for the interstate commerce commission. The hearing will close today.

Charles B. Metcalfe, pioneer settler, testified that the Santa Fe had given this city "step-child" service. Questioned why he had not reported this to the railroad commission, he said he had told the members about it everytime he had seen them, but he had complaints against the service long before the commission was created.

W. L. Marshall, county farm agent, said the future of this territory in an agricultural way, was by the development of feeding operations that would produce a market for feed crops through beef and mutton production. He said he had a program of less cotton production and more feeding activities which he was carrying on.

Earl Hoppe, vice president of the West Texas Utilities company, told the two million dollars which the company had spent in San Angelo in the last year increasing its water and power facilities and said in an effort to reach a population of 75,000 by 1945.

He said the survey his company had made of the territory had convinced him of this fact. He said San Angelo was one of the few places in West Texas where plenty of water and cheap fuel met. Hoppe said his company had been negotiating with several manufacturing plants to move to San Angelo.

On cross examination he named a woolen mill a packing plant, a cannery and other industries which his company had talked with. He said that rail competition was an important element in locating industries of this character. He said a company felt more assured of adequate service where more than one railroad was bidding for the business.

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) soring a measure that will increase taxes. I am merely making it possible for school districts to vote on the question of whether they want to raise the tax from $1 to $1.50. It is probable that none of the districts care to at the present. However, should the authorization be granted by the senate, any district that wanted to increase the tax could legally vote on it. At the present the citizens of a district cannot vote on the question. This authority must come from state officials. According to Mrs. Brigham, the legislature last year passed a bill giving the senate authority to grant to any county the right to vote on the question of raising the tax maximum. Before the county is allowed the privilege, however, a petition bearing signatures of voters must be presented. The petition which Mrs. Brigham has is as follows: "We, the undersigned, citizens and property tax payers of Howard county, Texas, hereby petition you to introduce and expose the passage of a bill through the legislature permitting independent school districts, common school districts and county line school districts in Howard county, Texas, to vote upon the proposition whether or not any of them should levy a tax not to exceed $1.50 on the $100 valuation of all taxable property in any said district, meaning hereby that the limitation $1 on the $100 valuation of all taxable property be changed to $1.50. How A Housekeeper Earned $1600 This Howard County Woman Considers She Is Only Doing Her Duty

A woman who can earn $1615.57 as a side line, without spending a cent on overhead has a message for the world.

Mrs. J. W. Wooten of the Fairview community, of Howard county, has figured that her garden (during last summer's drought), her cows, and her chickens netted her that much in 1930.

This job of looking after the profit-yielding departments of her home did not interfere with her other duties as wife, mother and housekeeper for a family of seven and the school teacher.

Mrs. Wooten can tell her own story better than anyone else can. Here it is in her own words:

"When I first started my pantry work (she has a pantry filled with the best things to eat you ever saw go into a school-lunch basket), I planned my garden so as to have different varieties always in season, thinking it would surely rain.

"We had only a shower. But some things came up and did fair-ly well, without rain, such as peas, okra, cream peas and cucumbers in the spring. Later in the fall we had cantaloupes, watermelon, corn, beans, squash and pumpkin.

"This fall I planted 25 cents worth of pinto beans that have made a good profit. The first picking I got 213 pounds canned; yet only a few bills came up.

"Everything Grown on Farm "Everything I have canned has been raised on our farm. I find the garden valuable from the standpoint of vitamins that will keep the family healthy in non-growing seasons.

"With the canned goods I have also my meals already planned and they are easy to fix.

"We have more than 200 chickens on hand and have eaten chicken almost every day.

"My week average for milk was four gallons used and six pounds of butter.

"During the winter I cured 900 pounds of pork, canned one beef and made 30 gallons of lard and 25 pounds of soap.

"We milked eight cows on an average 10 months in the year. The milk products, in addition to those from the chickens and vegetables which I have sold, have paid all the expenses of the household, such as groceries and dry goods and gas; some expenses of the car and truck, and all bills for the chickens and cows.

"I get great pleasure in keeping books, showing that I have done my part in taking care of the home.

"My total in sales for the year. of Mrs. Brigham, N. G. Hoover, E. W. Marian, A. E. Ford, J. R. Mer- rick, O. W. Anderson, R. N. Adams, M. L. Rowland, Akin Simpson.

Itemized, follows: butter $431.18; eggs, $293.20; chickens, $151.41; turkeys, $43.28; vegetables, $102.50. This amounts to $1023.57.

"The vegetables I sold included: black-eyed peas, $23; okra, $11; cantaloupes, etc., $72, and all this was in addition to what we gave our neighbors, who had none, and what we ate (which was more than we sold) and what we canned. We canned more than $300 worth of vegetables alone.

"All these vegetables were grown on non-irrigated land, with the exception of the tomatoes and peppers, which were grown in the yard under irrigation.

"The total amount of canned products, including meat, soap, lard, etc., amounted to $295.50."

Itemized, the canned goods was as follows: Leafy vegetables: Beans, 60 quarts; kraut, 2 quarts; greens, 12 quarts; peas, 150 quarts; vegetable soup, 120 quarts; beets, 3 quarts; okra, 5 quarts; squash, 2 quarts.

Starchy vegetables: Corn, 25 quarts; sweet potatoes, 10 quarts. Pickles and relishes: Cucumber relish, 6 quarts; corn relish, 14 quarts; show chow, 27 quarts; butter pickles, 40 quarts; cucumber pickles, 35 quarts; tomato pickles, 27 quarts; preserves and jellies, 50 quarts.

Meats: Steak, 14 quarts; roast, 24 quarts; chili, 20 quarts; beefsteak, 2 quarts; chicken, 9 quarts; Fruits: Plums 65 quarts; apples, 15 quarts; peaches, 20 quarts. Miscellaneous: Dried peas and beans, 300 pounds; soap, 225 pounds; yard, 30 gallons; cured meats, 300 pounds.

Former Head Of Orient Is Rail Witness

Says Santa Fe's Purchase Of Orient Cut Down Its Business

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 10.—(AP)—A big loss of traffic since it acquired the Orient was the theme of the Santa Fe's fight to keep the Abilene & Southern from going into admittance into San Angelo by extension of its lines from Ballinger, at the second session of the interstate commerce commission being held in the federal building here.

E. H. Hauffer, former general manager of the Orient, continued testimony showing the loss of freight revenue during 1929 and 1930 over what he called the peak year of 1928.

He told of a survey he had made of bus and truck competition. He could not say that the buses and trucks had made any gain along the Texas & Pacific which has fought this competition with store delivery and with lower passenger fares.

He saw no future in the agricultural development of the country west of San Angelo and could see no more traffic from any source. He thought traffic in 1930 had about reached normal and would stay about that volume.

Questioned as to the closing of Sweetwater and Clinton gateways to San Angelo traffic on the Orient and thereby forcing it to another Santa Fe line where that road

What Is Entertainment?
WHAT constitutes good radio entertainment? The promoters of great chican programs would probably pay you a handsome salary if you could answer that question 365 nights in the year.

Recently it was announced that Madame Frances Alda, the opera star, had signed a contract for 104 appearances before the "mike" at a salary of a quarter of a million dollars. Will Rogers is said to haul down $5,000 every time he shows his Oklahoma countenance up against the mike—unless he's working for charity. A few nights ago there was a special Red Cross program in which many notables participated—Herbert Hoover, Calvin Coolidge, Al Smith, Mary Pickford, Amos 'n' Andy and others. And Will Rogers will come last. Everybody kept waiting for Will, so they just endured the other speakers. When Will came on the air, the family drew their chairs right up against the receiving set and glued their ears to the loud-speaker. What a man!

But what is good entertainment? Not jazz, not wisecracks of last year's vintage, not classical music or grand opera, not symphony orchestras. The other night we dialed in an old-fashioned spelling bee being staged in Chicago, and it was the best entertainment that had been on the air in weeks. The family let out a howl of disappointment when the announcer let it be known that the spelling bee would have to make way for a highbrow musical program.

OPINIONS OF OTHERS
A Celtic Poet
C. Lewis Hinds in "Author and I" poets. William Butler Yeats does. He also acts like a poet. New acquaintances think he poses. That is not my opinion. A poseur is sometimes caught unaware. You never catch the author of "The Wanderings of Oisín" (his first), and "The Wild Swans at Coole" (one of his latest), unaware. He looks like an apostle of the Celtic glamoos compromising with civilization; he appears to be dwelling in the Celtic twilight; to me it has always seemed that his residence in London is temporary, that he has in his pocket a return ticket to Inisfree.

He is no hermit. I have met him half a hundred times, and on each occasion I have been quite aware of the implicit understanding between us that he knows he is a poet, and he knows that I am an ordinary person. He does not complain. These are facts. He always looks exactly the same; he always wears a blue serge suit, with a flowing black tie, and he always, at stated intervals, tosses his long, straight hair away from his eyes. And he always, when I address him, looks surprised and amused; he names his answer carefully, and speaks as if he were addressing somebody who is not I, but might be. I like looking at him. He is that rare combination—a good poet, a good prose writer, and good to look upon.

How Is Your HEALTH?

STOPPING HICCUP
In discussing the treatment of simple hiccup, Dr. East refers to the passage in Plato's Symposium. Aristophanes was to make a speech "but either he had eaten too much, or from some other cause he had the hiccup and was obliged to change turns with Eryximachus, the physician."

Said Eryximachus, "let us recommend you to hold your breath, and if the hiccup is no better, then gargle with a little water, and if it still continues, tickle your nose with something and sneeze, and if you sneeze once or twice, even the most violent hiccup is sure to go." The treatment advised apparently was effective, for Aristophanes later said that by trying all of them including, finally, sneezing, the hiccup disappeared.

There are many simple remedies advised for ordinary hiccup. Drinking from the wrong side of a glass is one of them. This should be helpful, or at least entertaining. Holding the arms above the head for a few minutes, or drawing the knees tight against the abdomen should be tried for a period of five or ten minutes. Firm pressure on the upper part of the abdomen may also help.

One method of treatment, easy to recommend but hard to apply, is to keep the sufferer's mind off the next hiccup. Gentle pressure on the eyeballs, or pulling the tongue for a minute or two may prove successful.

In the more persistent cases, a mustard plaster may be applied to the upper part of the abdomen for a period of from 10 to 15 minutes. Those who are subject to hiccups of gastric origin should not eat too much at any one meal nor too rapidly. If simple measures do not succeed in stopping the hiccup, medical aid should be called.

Hollywood Sights
Sound's

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD—It must have been bitter triumph to Duncan Renaldo to receive the plaudits of the audience at the premier showing of "Trader Horn."

For nearly a year he had been away from Hollywood as a member of the cast of this production, sharing hardships and danger under Africa's jungle sun with other members of the troupe. It was his first picture appearance in nearly three years.

And he appeared at the opening under arrest. "Trader Horn," it appears, will be his last Hollywood picture, for it seems Duncan Renaldo was not born in New Jersey after all, and there's a penalty for illegal entry into these United States.

Sweet Swan Song
But if Renaldo never makes another picture, here or anywhere else, he will still have the satisfaction of knowing that his movie swan song will be remembered for a long time.

For "Trader Horn" is that kind of picture. It combines the interest of a travelog with thrilling drama.

There are scenes of unbelievable beauty and terror, and they're authentic. There are wild animals, tearing at each other in conflicts such as the screen has seldom if ever seen.

There are native camps and pyramids, tribal wars and jungle music, and pervading the whole is the sinister terror of booming jungle drums, signaling that the tribes are at war again, pursuing white fugitives who have come to rescue the savage white goddess who reigns as priestess in a tribe of ferocious blacks.

Bouquets
Edwin Booth, as the priestess whose fury is tamed, of course, by love, plays a dialogue role in which only one word of English is spoken. It's a difficult job and she handles it like a veteran, even though she stepped from the extra ranks to play it.

The real star of the picture, not discounting the wild animals, the cameraman and the director, W. S. Van Dyke, is Harry Carey, a screen old-timer who makes a smashing come-back in the title role. There is also the native, Mutia Omoola, whose performance as Trader Horn's faithful retainer has a natural dignity and fitness that Hollywood, for all its acting, may envy.

Masked Longing

A ROMANCE OF RADIO

Chapter 29
TRIUMPH TURNS TO TERROR
WHEN Aileen, Vivienne and Jimmy arrived at the hospital, Emile Gluck was standing on the steps with Doctor Saunders. The latter had been showing him through the various wards, and it was evident that Gluck had been touched by all that he saw.

Yet even his compassion for the institution's inmates failed to hide his satisfaction over the presence of the camera-men who were there at Jimmy's behest. Now he and Saunders posed with Aileen, and Gluck was as proud as Punch. What a whale of an advertisement for him to be in the news-reel with his mystery star! On the air on the screen, his Parfum Masque would soon be known to millions of possible purchasers.

That thought made him generous. Doctor Saunders already had his check for a handsome contribution. He was finding the prospect of personal exploitation as pleasing as the profits his business acumen visioned.

"Now," said Saunders, "suppose we go in. The children can hardly contain themselves, and I must say I can't blame them."
Vivienne glanced at Jimmy. The same idea dawned on him. Why the devil hadn't he thought before of this possibility? Emile Gluck was a widower, rich as Croesus and susceptible—the type who would lavish his fortune on a girl like Vivienne or Aileen if she gave him but half a chance. Viv might, but Aileen wouldn't.

It was not Gluck, however, who caused Jimmy to ponder. He could never conceive of Aileen as an old man's darling, but there was not the slightest doubt that Saunders appealed to her. Likewise, it was evident that whether or not he suspected himself, the Doctor was in love. Jimmy was almost inclined to laugh at his own stupidity. He had certainly done his best to make Aileen unobtainable. But then it didn't matter. If he could see her happy, that alone would be worth while. Maybe he'd better make up to some other girl who had run her around a bit. Then Aileen wouldn't hesitate on the ground of hurting him.

Every child in the bright auditorium began to exclaim at once when Doctor Saunders led Aileen out upon the platform. She could see Aileen's and brace, and strange looking strapped contrivances that held up wabbly heads—kiddies of varying ages, some of them in wheel-chairs and a few on roller-cots.

If their little faces showed signs of pain, their eyes were big as saucers. They began clapping gleefully when Saunders started to explain to them that this was the mystery Lady they had heard on the radio.
"But she isn't a mystery to us," he said, "because she is with us this afternoon, and the song she is going to sing for us is one that you all know."

Even more self-conscious than before the microphone, Aileen began as Jimmy played her accompaniment. The children listened spellbound, trying their best to believe that her voice was the one that came over the air.
"Sail, baby, sail,
Out upon that sea."
Aileen's voice rang clear. Her very soul was in it, and her heart went out to these poor youngsters—each of them facing a handicap almost as pitifully tragic as the one her mask concealed. But they'd no need to hide their faces! And Saunders had said that many of them would be cured in time. Nevertheless, her sympathy was registered in every note as Aileen entertained them.
When, at last, she had to pause, Jimmy Crane offered himself in the guise of a magician. His amusing patter, and his comic clumsiness in performing slight of hand tricks, made them call for more and more. Then Aileen sang to them again—this time Lesnik's Value—and it was Doctor Saunders who listened to her with half-closed eyes, such as though he were dreaming of a singer far away.

"Won't you say just a word to them?" Saunders asked when she finished.
"Yes, indeed!" Aileen exclaimed. "I want to thank every one of you for listening to me so nicely, and perhaps, if you'd like me to, I'll come again some time. Anyway, I'll be thinking of you each time I'm on the air. Now we're going to have a treat that Mr. Gluck is giving you. Ice cream and cake—and candy. Isn't that going to be nice?"

"Horray!" One freckle-faced youngster set pandemonium loose. Jimmy stepped close and whispered something in Aileen's ear. "Why, of course, I'd love to," she agreed and started to leave the platform. There was almost instant silence. Every child was curious to see what she meant to do. "Take off your false face!" one called out.
Aileen swayed as from a blow. She put out a hand to steady herself, and it rested on Saunders' arm. He was laughing, and Aileen realized that he did not know.
"I forgot to tell you!" He was explaining to the children. "The lady can't take it off. You see, she's like a princess in a fairy tale—and Mr. Gluck's the Giant. He makes her wear this beautiful mask—so people won't fall in love with her and want to steal her from him."

"I don't want his old ice cream!" An impudent pig-tailed miss made a face at Gluck. He flushed, and Vivienne shook her finger at him in mock reproof.
"Oh, please, Mr. Giant, don't eat me up!" She pretended to be alarmed.
He chuckled over her pantomime and the children were delighted. "Well," he said, "you look good enough!"
"Ump-um! I'm bad!" said Vivienne. "I'd give you indigestion."
With Saunders and Jimmy at her side, Aileen was passing from row to row, taking each awed little hand in hers and loving the touch of their fingers. Jimmy Crane had just produced a clinical thermometer from Doctor Saunders' ear when Vivienne gasped and Aileen's scream startled all of them.
The kiddie who had called to her to take her false face off grasped her hand in a desperate grip. With his free one he was trying his best to remove the mask himself. As she struggled, the picture of her face in her mirror came back to Aileen in a flash. These children must not see her!

"Oh! Don't—don't! Stop—do you hear?" She cried out in utter agony as she tried to keep the porcelain in place by pressing one palm against it.
Saunders caught the boy's arm firmly. Jimmy stepped in front of Aileen, while the children shouted as though it was all a game.
"Quick!" said Jimmy to Vivienne. "Let her out—through the door."
But Aileen turned on him furiously, unreasoning in her madness. Stamping her high-heeled pump in her rage, she covered the mask with both hands. If Jimmy had not suggested that she come to this awful place, this never would have happened. He had even proposed her going down to shake hands with these terrible children.
"Don't touch me!" she flared at Crane. "No—I won't go with you! Oh, I hate you—hate you!" With a sob, she threw herself into Vivienne's arms. Her fingers were clutching convulsively, and she lunged her head in shame. "Vivienne," she murmured piteously. "Take me away—anywhere—away from all of them!"

Love comes to Vivienne in tomorrow's chapter, from the man she once hated.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA
Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.
Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membrane and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Worst Cough Curbed Overnight By New Remedy
Three well-known specialists have recently perfected a marvelous new remedy for coughs, which stops the severest spells almost instantly, and often clears up a stubborn, deep cough overnight. People who have hardly been able to sleep at night for coughing, rest all night without a break after the first few doses.
The new discovery is known as Mentodene, and is based upon a new way of taking menthol. Internally in a pleasant-tasting liquid. Everybody knows how menthol, even when just inhaled, "clears out the pipes," soothes rawness, loosens phlegm, relieves congestion and kills a cough quickly. When taken internally in this new combination with other healing ingredients—coming in direct contact with the irritated and congested throat lining—it is 10 times more effective than when used merely as a spray, inhaler or ointment.
Furthermore, Mentodene at once works its way all through the system, clearing out from the inside the cough, cold, bronchitis poisons that cause that miserable headache, fever, etc., and toning up the entire system. The result is that a cough that has hung on for weeks goes in a short time.
Make this amazing overnight test yourself without risking a penny. Get a bottle of Mentodene today from your druggist and take as directed. No matter how severe your cough or how long you have had it, if you do not feel 100 per cent better in the morning, manufacturer refunds your money. Be sure to start today.—ad.

Kinds of Shrubbery, Trees And How to Grow Them In West Texas, Subject of Talk

Home Garden Club Hears W. S. Ross Give Advice Concerning Planting and Pruning of Dry Weather Plants

The Home Garden Club met yesterday afternoon at the Club House and listened to a talk on the kinds of shrubbery that do best in this climate delivered by W. S. Ross, of the Ross Nursery.

Mr. Ross illustrated his talk with specimens of the varieties and by general hints on pruning and planting.

The shrubs he suggested were Italian jasmine, pomegranate, blooming willow, butterfly bush, Vitex, althea (often called rose of Sharon), Amour River privet, California privet, tall and short varieties of waxed leaf ligustrum, Japanese quince, euonymus japonica abnoba, mock orange, or syringa dentata, Japanese ligustrum and azalea or bridal wreath.

He also told the club that the recent rebud tree which the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs is trying to have planted all over the state, would do well here.

Pruning Hints

His pruning advice concerning shrubbery that blooms in the spring, such as lilacs, bridal wreath is that it should not be pruned until after the blooming season. Where the blooms are made on the new growth the plant should be pruned every year to produce abundant blooms.

Pruning is necessary, he said, for every tree, rose bush and shrub, at some time of the year and always at planting time. After it is planted, the best time is usually during the dormant period.

Whenever an evergreen becomes frozen it is necessary to cut the frozen limbs back to the ground. The bush will then come out as good as new.

He is being asked, he said, about pruning roses now. It is better to wait until March, or until freezing is definitely past, before pruning roses. This prevents having sour roots. Roses should not be allowed to bloom the first year they are grown.

What to Do For Abelia. He also receives inquiries concerning the abelia. This shrub needs a good deal of fertilizer and water. He suggests that owners who have abelias are not doing well work the ground thoroughly, fertilize it abundantly, and give it plenty of water until it begins to show results.

All members of the cedar family, he said, should be transplanted in September, which is the time when the sap in cedars recedes, this applies to cypresses, arbovitae, junipers, etc.

Immediately after transplanting do not over-water a tree or shrub. Give it only water enough to keep the ground moist, not wet, until the root system is developed.

When To Transplant. In regard to transplanting, the fall is the best time. October is not too early in this country, especially after a hot dry summer. A tree or shrub planted in the fall has almost a whole year's advantage over one planted in the spring. This is because the roots have time to get a good growing start before the cold weather sets in; in this country the roots make a good growth in winter. Trees planted in December and January do not develop good root systems until the ground gets warm and those planted in the spring must develop a root system and a leaf system at the same time which drain on the tree.

Trees and shrubbery should always be planted as soon after being dug as possible. Lilacs and yuccas should be cut back now, Mr. Ross said, if one wants large blooms later.

Those present were Meses. S. S. Freeman, C. W. Messman, G. S. Sanders, T. W. Moore, J. M. Morgan, Morgan Martin, W. E. Bonham, Chas. K. Bivings, Seth Parsons, Henry De Vries, F. F. Gary. The next meeting will be February 19.

Will Rogers Talks For $29,500 Crowd At Tulsa Program

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 9 (AP)—Giving of his time and talents for the benefit of the Southwest's drought stricken unemployed sufferers, Will Rogers turned today to Arkansas after having bagged a relief fund of $183,027 in his two-week circuit of Texas and Oklahoma.

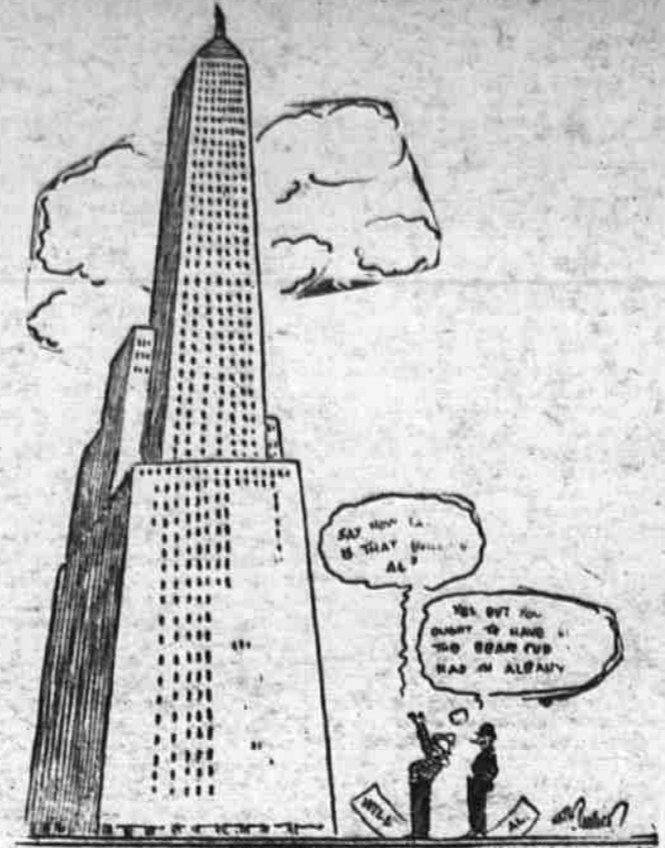

The erstwhile Oklahoma cowboy bartered his barbs here last night to a throng of "home folks" for $29,500, the largest single pot of his tour. Of that amount, $21,000 came from the seat and $8,000 from fines of $100 each assessed against 80 Tulsans by the humorist. Will himself gave a check for $250 and Frank Phillips, Bartlesville oil man, did likewise, making up the balance.

Rogers was scheduled for three engagements in Arkansas today, at Fayetteville, Rogers and Fort Smith. He plans to give a performance at Little Rock Tuesday night and to fly Wednesday to Ft. Worth, Texas, en route to Hollywood and to begin work on a new picture.

Mrs. A. Garrett, employe of Drs. Hall, Bennett & Dillard, left Thursday night for Frankfort, Ill. She was called there on account of the death of an aunt.

heavy stocks, throughout the United States (and for which they are not responsible) and the state's revenue from gross production taxes will be reduced $1,500,000. It is obvious that Oklahoma will have to take some definite action to protect itself from this flood of foreign oil.

Will Rogers and Al Smith Have Talk In New York; Will Says He Likes Him

He showed me the Empire State Building.

By WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, and what I happen to see prowling hither and thither. I was in New York a couple of weeks ago and I decided that before I left I would like to see Al Smith. I haven't seen him in a long time and had always been an admirer of him. I just went to see him and see how he was, feeling. So I phoned him, and he said "Come right on down." He is in the corner street from that wonderful Empire Building, in a corner suit overlooking it.

This building belongs to Jesse Jones a mighty well known Democrat. He is the fellow who bought the Democratic Convention for Houston, Texas. He owns these buildings all over the Country and rents em mostly to Republicans.

Well Al never looked better in his life, and I have known and been seeing him around New York for many years. He started in of course by showing me the 90 story building, out of the window that gave us the best view of it. It did look wonderful—structural steel work that looks like Illumium. And then he started in showing me old pictures on the wall of his office that showed early scenes in New York. He showed some of the old houses on the lower east side where he lived, one under the very shade of Brookly's Bridge. Then the old home in Oliver Street, it is without a doubt the most sentimental prominent man I ever met. He glories in the past. He had one that showed the old Theatrical team of Harrigan and Hart who made their great fame in the "Mulligan Guards." It was in a large frame with dozens of the old time favorites, including the old "Thee does that" they played in it. He would hum to you the tunes of those old favorites.

It was hard to tell which he looked on with more pride, the highest building in the World that he was actually in charge of its construction, or his harking back to the days when he was the principal performer in all Amateur theatricals, and they do say he himself was a splendid actor. He could have done anything that fellow. He sure beams personality. He is human if there ever was one. I don't care whether you agree with him politically or not, the person don't live that could meet him and be with him while that would go away not to hurt him. It does a hundred little things and mannerisms that make you feel that he is one of you. There is no put on, or front with Al. He is just Al, unlike anybody else in the World.

I had just come from the White House a day or so before and was telling him about how Mr. Hoover was worked up over this relief business. Well I bet Mr. Hoover isn't even among his own party a single man that has as much sympathy and good feeling for him than Al Smith. There was no put on about it, he really meant it when he would talk of the many things that had seemed to go wrong through no fault of the Presidents, yet he is to bear the brunt of them.

Here was a man that had been in office long enough to know what you can be blamed for. No Sir Hoovers best booster is Al Smith and he had just been working with Ex President Coolidge on a Committee to give away an Estate that had been left to Charity, and he had the highest praise for Coolidge, and he says as I have always maintained that Mr. Coolidge had a great sense of humor, and he would tell some of it that happened during their deliberations.

We went over to the Democratic Club for lunch, and he got to telling about the animal pets that the children had at the mansion in Albany. He built almost a Zoo there to house them. How a big pet Bear that they had raised, from a cub, had got loose and got over into a girls orphanage, and they was all scared to death for fear he would hurt somebody and instead these kids had him pulling and wooling him around and they couldn't hardly get him away from them. They was feeding him bread and jam. He would tell of his dogs his kids had. One a great New England Cattle.

The next regular meeting will be held at the school building Wednesday, February 18.

L.C.C. Hearing On Extension Of A&S Opens

Cattlemen and Wool Men Intervene for T&P Application

S-P FAVORS IT Santa Fe Says Proposed Road Would Injure Its Business

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Feb. 9 (AP)—The Texas & Pacific and the Santa Fe continued their fight before the L. C. C. examiner today in the hearing in which the former seeks to extend its subsidiary, the Abilene & Southern, from Ballinger, 25 miles east of here, to San Angelo.

At the opening of the hearing a representative of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association and the Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association and the Southern Pacific, owners of the new Gulf & West Texas, San Antonio to San Angelo favored the T. & P. application.

S. C. Kirkpatrick, assistant to the general manager of the Santa Fe at Galveston, presented the Santa Fe's contention that the new line would not develop any new traffic and that it would only take from the Santa Fe traffic which it now is perfectly able to handle.

He said that the building into San Angelo this year of the Gulf & West Texas, a line owned by the Southern Pacific, would take additional traffic away from the Santa Fe. He stated that this would also hurt the business of Fort Worth and Dallas and thus further cut down traffic that the Texas & Pacific and the Santa Fe would have into this territory.

The hearing is expected to last for three or more days.

Compress Here Changes Hands

B. Reagan Continues President; Shoemaker New Manager

Transfer of control of the Big Spring Compress Company, from the Union Company to R. F. Shoemaker, A. D. Brown of Ackerly, Robert T. Piner and B. Reagan of Big Spring, was officially announced Monday. Exact consideration figuring in the deal was not announced.

Mr. Reagan, who has been president of the company under the former ownership, continues as president. J. F. Shoemaker, original builder of the plant here on North Gregg street, will return here as manager of the company. Robert T. Piner is new secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Shoemaker takes the place of D. E. Reese as manager. The latter, still connected with the Union Company, will be manager elsewhere of a compress.

The plant was built here about six years ago and is one of the largest and busiest in West Texas. The new board of directors consists of the four purchasers and P. F. Cantrell, well-known Howard county farmer.

The deal took the form of change of hands of the company's stock. Mr. Reagan and others already were interested in it. The deal was purchase of 1,579 of the 1,750 shares of stock in the company.

Prisoner Falls Down Stairway; Sent To Hospital

P. H. Rhodes, charged by grand jury indictment with forgery, was taken to the Big Spring Hospital shortly before noon today, suffering from injuries received when he fell down the stairs leading from the district courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse, to the lower floor.

Rhodes, who was indicted by the February Term 1 grand jury, had been brought to the courtroom to stand trial on the forgery count. The trial was deferred until later in the day, however, and he was being taken to the jail by Deputy Sheriff Andrew J. Merrick and Deputy Bob Wolf. He started falling at the top of the stairs.

An examination of his injuries will be made today by hospital officials. It is said he is suffering from a back injury.

Rhodes was arrested several weeks ago. When brought before Justice of the Peace Cecil C. Collins to either waive or stand examining trial, the youth created a scene in the office by tearing up a check he was alleged to have forged. The bits of the torn check were reassembled by County Attorney James Little.

THE WHEEL (Rolled by the Students of Big Spring High School) Shakespeare Plays Begin Tonight

Editorial

This week we celebrate the birthday of our Civil War president, Abraham Lincoln. It cannot be doubted that during the past few years this American idol has grown even deeper into the heart of the nation. Each year sees many books dealing with both the truth and the myth surrounding the life of Honest Abe...

Steer vs Wolf Predicted For Final Contest

For one time Big Spring was lucky in drawing for a place in the district tournament, not that it would have made any difference for the Steers would have gone on to the finals anyway. From the schedule the dope would seem to show Lomax and Big Spring meeting in the semi-finals and Colorado and Roby in the other half of the semi-finals.

Current Event Club Has Very Unusual Meet

The Current Event History Club met last Tuesday afternoon in High school and after business matters had been discussed, the program was turned over to Miss Clara Cox. The program for the afternoon's entertainment was based on "Customs of the Indian and Spanish People."

The first number was a characteristic Indian drill, performed by some pupils of Mrs. Weathers. Mrs. L. S. McDowell gave a most interesting talk on Indian life as she had observed it on a reservation in Arizona. After her talk, Mrs. McDowell gave an Indian picture and basket to the high school museum.

The Spanish program was begun with the reading of a Spanish story, "Capucito Encarnada," by Carmen Compton. Those of the audience who were a little at loss as to the meaning of the story that Carmen read so fluently were surprised to know that it was "Little Red Riding Hood."

Many Important Historical Things Occurred In February

Even though February is the shortest month in the year, it is by no means the least important. In this month many important things have happened, and there are at least twenty-eight days in which may be done the things historians like to record. If one will, many wage earners really profit by the shortened month; they receive the same check that would take them two or three days longer to earn in any other of the twelve months in our calendar year.

In their chronological order these events of America have occurred in the part of the month of February: George Washington, "the Father of Our Country," was born February 22, 1752. Abraham Lincoln, "The Great Emancipator," was born February 12, 1809. First railroad charter granted to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, February 27, 1827; Thomas A. Edison, inventor of the electric light and other important inventions, born February 11, 1847. The battleship Maine was destroyed in Havana harbor on February 15, 1898, and this was one of the immediate causes of the Spanish-American war. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was born February 4, 1902. Woodrow Wilson died on February 3, 1924.

Forsan Scene Local Legion Drive Session

In an effort to obtain 200 members by Saturday, when the Sixteenth District convention is held at Pecos, members of the William Frank Martin Post of the American Legion went to Forsan, Monday night to meet with ex-service men of the oil fields. A number of new members were obtained.

Cash Redemption Veterans Certificates Is Discussed

About 25 members of the local post made the trip. The meeting was in a Forsan church. L. W. Croft, post commander, Dr. C. W. Deats, past post commander, Roy Whaley, and Robert W. Middleton, spoke regarding the work of the American Legion, nationally and locally. Quite a bit of the discussion was centered about the proposed legislation for cash redemption of veterans service certificates. Whaley, in speaking about the position the Legionnaires have taken regarding cash payment, declared "if we had every eligible man in Howard county in the Big Spring post we would have Andrew Mellon hot about the position he has taken regarding payment of the certificates." Mellon has openly opposed the movement.

Music was furnished at the meeting by the Walter Deats orchestra. The post trio, Dr. J. M. Barcus, M. E. Whitfield and Jack Ellis, sang several numbers. Familiar war-time songs were sung. It was indicated at the meeting that the local post probably will take some action regarding favoring the plan to cash the certificates in the near future. Several Texas posts have passed resolutions endorsing the effort.

"SUCCESS"

One must "think" success to really be successful and must not let his thoughts make him feel and maintain defeat. Don't begin to think "Well, what's the use?" and keep on going down. We truly great men were successful in everything from the first. To ascend to the heights of success, you must first prepare and serve an apprenticeship. We are here in Big Spring high to learn any, and the best way is to be improved with our mistakes so truly that we shall profit by them in the future. So, if you analyze yourself and find that you are a failure, don't try to change or to think you are going to be even a greater success than you were a failure, for "as the mind thinketh so a man is." Think well of yourself and proclaim it to the world, not in loud words but in great deeds. Do not think you are a failure, for you have no chance. Maybe it will surprise you on doing much greater things, than the person who started out right. Your thoughts make a great deal of difference in your results, and you know that some defeats are only installments to victory.

Rev. Bailey Talks Before Students

Rev. W. G. Bailey, pastor of the First Methodist church spoke to the student body of Big Spring high school in the regular assembly period on Monday, February 9. He brought a message of a life of service to others, put it to God first, others second, and self third. Using the story of the good Samaritan as a basic story, Rev. Bailey said that things that others passed up and could see no good in, to some might prove to be a thing worth while and a good cause for one's attention and time.

Local Students Make Great Record During First College Year

Reports have begun to come in from students who have gone off to some college. These reports have a better standing than any that have been received in previous years. One outstanding report was that of Reta Debenport, last year's valedictorian of Big Spring High School. She is a freshman in the University of Texas and made an average of five A's and one B— "Perhaps it is not fair to judge a school by its best pupils," Mr. Gentry said, "but neither would it be fair to judge them by their worst pupils. Young Man Is Own Attorney

Charlie Burnisides, charged by grand jury with burglary, was his own attorney today in district court, before Judge Chas. L. Klapproth, judge of the 70th judicial district, who is hearing cases here in the absence of Judge Fritz R. Smith, who is ill. Burnisides is alleged to have been burglarized a store owned by William Cardwell, 903 East Third street. He is handling his own case, questioning witnesses, and is expected to make a plea to the jury this afternoon. Burnisides pleaded not guilty. Lloyd Day, also charged with the Cardwell robbery, was given a two-year penitentiary sentence Monday for his participation in the burglary. He entered a plea of guilty. Clayton McMurray, who was indicted for the burglary of the store, was given a one-year penitentiary sentence Monday afternoon on another charge. He was convicted of theft of chickens after pleading guilty. District Attorney George Mahon made a motion to dismiss the other charges. The motion had not been acted upon by Judge Klapproth this morning. A two-year suspended sentence was given Jimmy Redman, who was indicted for forgery. He pleaded guilty to the charge as contained in the indictment.

52 Towns To Have Official At Gas Meet In Lubbock

LUBBOCK, Feb. 10 (AP)—Accepting an invitation broadcast by Mayor J. J. Clements of this city, mayors and city managers of fifty-two northwest Texas cities will meet here on Friday of this week to discuss the subject of gas rates, the local executive announced here today. Every official invited has accepted the invitation. The meeting will get underway with a luncheon Friday noon and a business session will follow at which the various officials will report on the gas controversy in their communities. An effort will be made to secure all information possible regarding the situation, Mayor Clements said. Residents of nearly every gas-served city in northwest Texas have been active in recent weeks in an effort to bring about a change in gas rates, using bills of the past two months as a basis for their claims. Mayor Clements said approximately one hundred officials will attend the meeting Friday.

Compulsory Physical Education Is Begun

The instructors, Mr. Stevens and Miss Wingo, are reported to be well satisfied with results so far. Physical training courses comprise the three-fold curriculum of school education, namely mental, spiritual and physical. "There are many benefits derived from physical education," Miss Wingo points out. "In the first place, it is the best doctor a person could have in that it keeps the body in such shape that it is not so susceptible to diseases. Besides promoting better health, it encourages rosy cheeks and more grace among the girls and helps the boys to keep physically trim. Needless to say, it is considered a great benefit to a school to have physical education. Although most of the boys and girls are a bit more from the unusual strain, they will generally agree that they are glad to have this new course."

Book Corner

"EDUCATION OF A PRINCESS" By Marie, Grand Duchess of Russia. New York City Viking Press $3.75. This is a notable work in its field. Princess Marie has a story to tell and knows how to tell one. In this book is pictured scenes and incidents that one will never forget. Her autobiography is truly a psychological and historical document. The Russian Revolution can be studied more easily here than any other book of this type. Marie, granddaughter of Alexander II, tells the story of her own life, and in doing so pictures Russia's stormiest years. The tragedy of the last days of royalty have never been told before by one who lived so intimately in court circles. Marie grew up in complete ignorance of the life that confronted her. She married a stranger that she did not love and started all Europe by her divorce. It was only after the revolution and the barriers had been broken that she was free to marry the man of her choice.—E. A.

Valentine's Day Originated With Bishop in A.D. 270

On February 14, in the year A. D. 270, a Roman Catholic bishop was martyred at Rome. This day has long been celebrated in a manner not at all serious, by Catholics and Protestants alike. Several explanations are given for the familiar custom of sending anonymous love tokens, cards of greeting, and the like to one's favorites, and for the various social activities connected with that day. Some say that Saint Valentine was accustomed to go around from house to house, leaving food on the doorstep of the poor, and that the custom of sending Valentine greetings developed from that. Another explanation connects the modern celebration of the day with the observation of the Roman festival Lupercalia, which occurred on February 15. At this time, so the story goes, each of the young men celebrating the festival drew from a box the name of a lady to whom he was faithful for the ensuing year. It is supposed that this custom is the origin of some of the sentimental features of Saint Valentine's Day.

Report Sent County Trustees of Schools

Last week was the end of the fifth scholastic month. At the end of each scholastic month, Mr. Gentry, principal of Big Spring high school, sends out reports to the trustees of Howard county. School children from rural schools, after having completed all grades taught in their school are allowed to attend the Big Spring high school. If the trustees have approved money for paying expenses for the rural schools, they pay the tuition of the students that attend Big Spring high. The state also appropriates $400,000 to help pay the rural students' tuition. Mr. Gentry sends these reports to the trustees in order that they may know if the pupils are attending school and in that way know how much money to appropriate for their tuition.

Schedules Checked To Enable Students To Take Physical Ed

The office force in the principal's office was busy checking up on schedules last week. "This was necessary in order to enforce the law on physical education," said Mr. Gentry. As all students are required to take physical education, it will be necessary to form a new class or two. Mr. Gentry is still working on this and hopes to have it worked out so that each student can take physical education and it will not conflict with their other studies.

Three Banks In City To Handle County's Funds

Three Big Spring banks will be depositories for Howard county funds this year, with one of them handling forty per cent, and two, 20 per cent each. They will pay two per cent interest on daily balances, one-half per cent less than paid last year. Possibilities of the $900,000 road bond issue passing had its influence in reducing the interest rate, county officials said. The First National Bank will be depository for school funds and will handle 40 per cent of the deposits. The West Texas National and the State National will receive 30 per cent each. Depository awards were made Monday at the regular meeting of the county commissioners. Dr. T. M. Collins was re-elected county health officer for a two-year period. The salary of E. G. Towler, county treasurer, was set by the county officials at $166.66 per month.

Local Students Make Great Record During First College Year

Reports have begun to come in from students who have gone off to some college. These reports have a better standing than any that have been received in previous years. One outstanding report was that of Reta Debenport, last year's valedictorian of Big Spring High School. She is a freshman in the University of Texas and made an average of five A's and one B— "Perhaps it is not fair to judge a school by its best pupils," Mr. Gentry said, "but neither would it be fair to judge them by their worst pupils. All in all, the group of ex-students attending college this year has done credit to Big Spring High."
