Americana Week To Open Friday

"Faces of America" will be the theme of Tech Union's Americana Week, May 3-11.

Union events will feature American customs, culture and contemporary thought.

The Journeymen, professional folk singing trio, will appear Friday in conjunction with the special week.

An all-school picnic at Mackenzie Park, a bridal fashion show, and the speech department's production of two Edward Albee plays are also planned in conjunction with the event.

Schedule for Americana Week is:

May 3 — Charles Woolery, former counter intelligence officer, will speak at the Noon Forum on Communism in America. The Journeymen appear at Municipal Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

May 5 — All-school picnic at Mackenzie Park from 3-6 p.m. Admission is 65 cents per student.

May 6 — Charles Lawrie will lead a discussion on trends in American music at 10 a.m. in the Union Anniversary Room.

"The American Dream" and "The Zoo Story" by Edward Albee will be presented at 8:15 p.m. in the Speech Auditorium.

May 7 — Dr. Pascal Strong will lead a discussion on Freud at 10 a.m. in the Union Anniversary Room.

Ronald Schulz will lecture on "Albee and the Theater of the Absurd" at 4 p.m. on the Union Sun Porch.

"The American Home and Family" will be the subject of Dr. Winfred Steglich at 7 p.m. in the Union Coronado Room. A reception will follow.

"The American Dream" and "The Zoo Story" will be presented at 8:15 p.m. in the Speech Auditorium.

May 8 — Dr. John Guilds will lead a discussion on American literature at 10 a.m. in the Anniversary Room.

Foreign students will give views of America in a panel discussion at noon in the Coronado Room.

"The American Dream" and "The Zoo Story" at 8:15 p.m. in the Speech Auditorium.

May 9 — Dr. Henry Shine will lead a discussion on the life of a professor at 10 a.m. in the Anniversary Room.

Dr. Clarence Kincaid and Dr. Billy Lockhart will discuss American art at 4 p.m. in the Mesa Room. A reception will follow.

A bridal style show will be presented at 7 p.m. in the Coronado Room.

"The American Dream" and "The Zoo Story" will be presented at 8:15 p.m., May 9-11.

Picnic, Journeymen Highlight Activities

The two main events highlighting Americana Week May 3-11 at Tech will be the all-school picnic and a concert by the Journeymen, popular vocal recording trio.

THE PICNIC will be from 3-6 p.m. Sunday at Mackenzie Park. Admission, including food, is 65 cents per person.

The trio will appear in concert at 8:15 p.m. Friday in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. Admission is 75 cents for Tech students, $1 for faculty and $2 general admission.

THE JOURNEYMEN, John Phillips, Richard Weissman and Scott Mac Kenzie, were discovered by Frank Werber, manager of the Kingston Trio.

The trio will present a program of ballads, spirituals and special comedy material.

AT THE PICNIC bicycles built for two will be rented throughout the afternoon at a rate of 10 cents for 10 minutes. Amusement park rides will be open at a special discount rate of seven rides for $1 for Tech students.

FRATERNITY men will compete for the title of "Tech's Biggest Glutton" in a pie eating contest at 5 p.m. The winner will receive a trophy. Fraternities interested in the contest should sign up in the Union program office by Friday.

OTHER CONTESTS will be a potato sack race, a three-legged race and a ping pong ball relay (use of hands not permitted). These events are open to both men and women. A raw egg toss is open to men and a softball throw to women.

The Tech concert band will perform in an outdoor concert from 3-4 p.m. They will play selections from "The Music Man."

SUPPER WILL BE a weiner roast at the barbecue pit at 5:30 p.m.

The picnic is sponsored by the Tech Union Ideas and Issues Committee. Tickets are on sale in the Union lobby. Deadline is 5 p.m. Friday.

At Regional Interfraternity Meet

Lawrence Elected VP

Gary Lawrence, Lubbock senior, was elected vice president of the Western Regional Interfraternity Conference at a meeting in Anaheim, Calif., recently.

Lawrence, representing Tech's IFC, defeated five other candidates in the election.

Problems Discussed

The conference is for representatives of the IFC's from schools in 14 western states and Canada. Theme of this year's conference was "Problems of Racial and Religious Discrimination in California."

"By discussing common problems we can help solve some of ours and help them solve some of theirs," said Lawrence.

Advantage For Tech

"It is a big advantage for Tech to be in the conference. Being the only Texas school represented we have an advantage over other Texas schools because we have a chance to view problems and solutions before they reach our area," said Lawrence.

The 140 delegates to the conference spent Thursday through Saturday working on the problems of IFC groups.

"We have a chance to compare our system to others and a chance to gain a lot of recognition through work with this group," said Lawrence.

Lawrence is President of Kappa Sigma and serves on the IFC court. He is an accounting major.

GARY LAWRENCE

"The main two problems we discussed were hazing and service," said Lawrence. "The Dean of Men at Arizona State said there is still a lot of hazing going on throughout the United States. He (the dean) explained that hazing did not help the pledge in any way and it contributes nothing to his development as a fraternity man."

"The dean went on to say that a fraternity must render some service to the college in the future. Many people resent fraternities because they think they are only for fun. The time is coming when fraternities will have to justify their existence," Lawrence concluded.

Head Of Publications

Tech, by virtue of Lawrence's election, will be headquarters for all the conference's publications. A quarterly report is published by the conference.

"We have a good chance to be host for the conference year after next if we want it," Lawrence asserted.

Next year's conference will be at Phoenix, Ariz.

Night Of Champs Sportsters Vie Here Tonight

Trophies for the outstanding intramural participant and team will be presented at the fourth annual Noche De Conquistadores at 7 p.m. today in Municipal Coliseum.

Marshall Pennington, Tech vice president for business affairs, also will give awards to the team winning the most events and the organization with the greatest percentage of participation.

Championship Events

The Noche De Conquistadores, which began in 1960, features the annual wrestling, boxing, volleyball, weightlifting, badminton, table tennis, tug-o-war and trampolene championship contests.

The annual event is sponsored by the intramural council.

In 1956 when Edsel Buchanan, director of intramurals, came to Tech, the intramural program began to receive attention from the administration. An effort was made to provide students at Tech with a recreational sports program, with money provided from various intramural fees and tax money.

In 1959 the state legislature decided that no state institution could use tax funds for intramural activities. At this time a program was conceived to derive money from local sources.

The value of intramurals was recognized, and since a major financial break-through had been made, an expanded program of intramurals was begun.

Name Contest

To provide a name for this "night of the champs" the TOR-EADOR and the intramural council started a contest to determine a name for this special night. Doms Ltd. even offered a suit, with accessories, to the winner.

Several hundred entries were submitted, and the contest was won by a Lubbock junior, Preston Davis. He chose "Noche De Conquistadores." This is interpreted to mean "Night of Champions" or "Night of Conquerors."

In the 1956-57 program, 13 sports were offered, with 1,204 students participating. The intramural program now offers 25 sports, and it is estimated over 2,500 students will participate in this year's Tech intramurals program.

Noche De Conquistadores is the culminating intramural event and is staged each spring.

Fun For All

Buchanan said, "It can be seen that Noche De Conquistadores provides the opportunity for all intramural participants to be recognized, either directly or indirectly, for the vast amount of time, energy and enjoyment that is expended by them in the intramural programs.

"Those of us close to the administration of the program are extremely proud of our intramural department and participants, and it is with great pleasure and pride that we provide this opportunity to place them before the student body and the public in general for the recognition they so richly deserve.

"It is my expressed desire that this event will grow just as the program has, and that eventually there will be several thousand spectators involved each year."

Delta Sigs Abandon Plan For Residence

Plans to build an apartment house and meeting place for Delta Sigma Phi, professional business fraternity, were abandoned as unfeasible Wednesday.

The builder, the architect and representatives of the fraternity met with school officials Wednesday morning before giving up the plan.

James G. Allen, dean of student life, said of the plan, "If they did build it would be against my advice." He went on to explain that the board of directors of the college was definitely against such group housing.

"The group could not identify itself with the building and we would have to move them into the dorms when we felt a squeeze as far as occupancy of the dorms is concerned," added Allen.

Group Dropped Plan

Sam Bates, architect for the project, said, "We do not plan to proceed with construction of the apartments." Bates indicated that as soon as the group realized the move would be against the policy of Tech they gave up the plan.

Sounding Board Students State Views On School Terms

By SALLY BARTLETT
Toreador Staff Writer

THE DAILY TOREADOR took a poll Wednesday to get the opinions of Texas Tech students on the question of whether a trimester or four quarter school term sequence would be better than our present system of two semesters and two summer sessions.

In a trimester system, the school year is divided into three semesters of four months each. A quarterly system has four semesters of three months duration.

Helen Remschel, junior from Gonzales said, "I think that a three months summer vacation for students may be necessary for most students. A vacation away from school seems to refresh a student's mind for the fall semester."

Ken Bradley, Texas City junior felt that a trimester system is a good idea. "A student could take his vacation whenever he wished," he said.

Nena Eidman, Brownsville senior said, "At the end of nine months of school everyone needs and wants a summer vacation. Those who don't want the break can go to summer school. Many students depend on summer jobs to put themselves through school, therefore I don't believe that this would be a very good system."

NENA EIDMAN
Senior
Brownsville

JANICE STAPP
Junior
Fort Worth

Janice Stapp, junior from Fort Worth said, "Some people have to work in the summer in order to come back to school in the fall, but with these two systems a student can lay out of school at the time he chooses. I do feel like a quarter system would be good."

Joy Hamilton, Lubbock junior felt that the best answer depended upon the individual, "as some students would need a three months vacation away from school when others might not."

Charles Hart, Lone Oak sophomore said, "I know students who would be hurt by any other system other than the one we have now."

DIANE BAKER
Big Spring

Diane Baker, Big Spring sophomore said, "I wouldn't like it. I feel that three months vacation in the summer gives a student a new outlook on school. I am always ready to come back when I have been away from school three months."

Jerry Fleming, Snyder junior said, "We should have a quarter system to give students more time to work when they want to. I feel that students could get more school behind them this way."

Margaret Lewis, Midland junior said, "I feel this would be a good idea because a student could go to school on either of these two systems and get out of school sooner."

Parking Problems

Rule Infractions Cause Tow-Aways, Restrictions

By DAVID BUTLER
Toreador Staff Writer

Parking a car illegally on campus can have serious consequences for Tech students.

Walking across campus recently I spotted a red tow truck hooked to a student's automobile. My curiosity was too much, so I decided to do some investigating.

A campus policeman on hand explained that the owner of the car had violated a parking rule stated in the Traffic Regulation manual available at the Traffic Security office.

"Because this car is parked in the wrong place it will be towed to a nearby garage," he said. He explained that before the owner could pick up his car, he would have to receive a release signed by the dean of men.

"Dean Jones has the authority to restrict the owner from having his car on campus for as long as four months after it is towed off," the policeman said. "The owner must also pay a $4.50 fee to the garage owner after he obtains the release."

Tech Prof Speaks In Fort Worth

Dr. Paschal Strong, associate professor of psychology will speak to the fifth annual Fort Worth Personnel and Management Conference today.

Dr. Strong will speak on "Programmed Instruction in Industry."

He is vice president of the Institute of International Research and Development and editor of the national publication, Auto Instruction Devices.

Graduating In 1964? See Placement Office

Junior students expecting to be graduated in 1964 should file Personnel Information Forms with the Placement Service, room 252, West Engineering Bldg. May 10, 11 and 12.

Forms are in the office of the deans of the schools and the placement office. Two glossy print photographs, two and one-half inches by three and one-half inches are to be filed, but they may be brought in later.

The Service uses these forms in finding employment for Tech graduates.

Optional data sheets which may be used in a personal interview or with an application letter, are also being offered. Students who wish to order them should file the request and pay the fee, $6.50, as soon as possible.

Their purchase is necessary if files are to be sent to prospective employers.

Printed data sheets ordered this spring will be ready by September. Company interviews will begin the last of October.

The data sheets provide a resume of the students background, experience, interests and training.

Lubbock Vs. Latin America

The cotton farmer in Lubbock and the merchant in Dallas are two very different persons. These two residents of the same state do have their similarities but their aims, interests, and backgrounds are more generally dissimilar. The Lubbock farmer probably wants different political platforms, favors opposing economic policies, and has views on reapportionment other than those held by his Dallas neighbor. If we multiply this cultural gap by many miles and many people we have an idea of the situation in Latin America. We must understand this difference that exists between and within individual countries to really know Latin America as it is. Latin America is cut off from the rest of the world by oceans; its internal parts are almost equally isolated by natural barriers. In the past the 20 countries have frequently seemed to have more intimate communications with Europe and the United States than they do with each other.

They do share, to some extent, a common background and religion. They have the same problems of poverty, illiteracy, hunger, ill-health and economic backwardness. But like Lubbock and Dallas, the republics often seem more different than alike.

These racial differences, perhaps unimportant in themselves, are significant as factors which have mixed the ingredients of older civilizations to form the contrasting worlds of the Latin American people.

United States policy and personal interpretation of news happenings should be based on an intelligent understanding of the specific country or group, not of Latin America as a whole. We can't assume, for example, that because something is true of Mexico, it is also true of Brazil.

The entity of Latin America is comprised of 20 highly individualistic independent nations and the differences between the Indian farmer in the Andes and the urban resident of Buenos Aires are incomparably greater than the relatively slight contrast, here at home, between West Texas and Dallas.

Khrushchev — Has He Failed?

The world is filled with rumors that Khrushchev is having tough political sledding and soon may be forced to relinquish part of his powers. From a Western viewpoint this need not be necessarily significant, even if the rumor is confirmed with fact. The most important thing for us is that Khrushchev's policy has been substantially a flop.

He failed in Berlin. He is increasingly at odds with China. He is looking ridiculous in Cuba and his continuing commitments there, while irritating to us, are burdensome to him. He was rebuffed in the Congo, Guinea, and Mali. The Middle Eastern Arab lands are chasing out Communists.

Khrushchev's tenure in office has seen certain triumphs, some of them beneficent. He destroyed remaining vestiges of Stalinism, closing down the labor camps and curbing the secret police. He gained credit for a massive strategic breakthrough when Sputnik was launched, followed by tremendous strides in rocketry, space exploration and the construction of frightful superbombs. Combined with his own attractive personality, these earned him genuine acclaim among the Russian people.

Khrushchev, both skilled and agile, has sought to ride both sides of the iron curtain theories of thought. This is certainly the reason for his recent retrogression, the sudden discovery that there were some "good" points to Stalin, after all, and that there are risks in too presumptuous an advance toward intellectual liberty.

Khrushchev, in his 70th year, has had a full life. He might be ready to share the trappings of power so long as he keeps the reality himself. From Italian and East German Communist sources, one hears a constant whisper that he will soon be replaced as prime minister although allowed to keep the post of party boss.

Russia is over-extended externally and strained internally. Russian society is gradually changing from a "have not" voiceless horde to a "have" civilization accustomed to privileges and intent on keeping them. These facts perplex Khrushchev and they will perplex any successor.

But even if Mr. K is forced to relinquish part of his power, it would not necessarily prove conclusive. Stalin gave the premier's titular job to Molotov; then he took it back. Prime Ministers Molotov, Malenkov, and Bulganin all ended on the scrap heap of authority. But, so long as Khrushchev remains in command of the reins of the Communist Party, his position would seem secure.

Tech's Young Republican Club re-elected Glenn Looney to serve as club president again next year. A Lubbock sophomore government major, Looney was recently selected the outstanding college Young Republican of Texas.

Bill Dennis, Lubbock freshman, has been elected vice president of the club. Dennis is also a Student Council member and president of Interfraternity Pledge Council.

Completing the slate of officers are: Shirley Allen, Dallas freshman, corresponding secretary; Barbara Morgan, Wichita Falls freshman, recording secretary; and Don Schollenberger, Dallas sophomore, treasurer.

The club's executive board will include: Don Meador, Houston senior; Nancy Dyer, El Paso junior; Dub Johnson, Lubbock senior; and Sandra Wireman, Claude sophomore.

Tech's Presbyterian Student Assn. has elected Bob Covington, junior music education major from El Paso, to be next year's president. Other officers will be: Don Smith, Temple sophomore, vice president; Donita Parker, Fort Worth sophomore, secretary; and Martha Chapman, Brownfield junior, treasurer.

Tech Sends Six Students To Arnold Air Conclave

The conclave will last until Monday, in the Statler Hilton Hotel. It is financed by the Aerospace Education Foundation of the Air Force Association. The meeting will feature such speakers as the Honorable John Lang Jr., deputy secretary of the Air Force for Reserve and ROTC Affairs, Benjamin W. Fridge, special assistant to the secretary of the Air Force for Manpower, and General Bernard A. Schriever, commander, Air Force Systems Command.

A tour of Niagara Falls, a military ball, and an awards banquet are also planned.

A GENUINE FORMAL BUTTON-DOWN?

Oh yes, and genuine even without this [] label

MANY of you like our button-downs so much that you can hardly bear to wear anything else even on special evenings; now there is no reason why you should. And since we already make button-downs in 386 fabrics, patterns, and colors it would have been unthoughtful of us not to make it an even 387 with this button-cuff button-down of fine broadcloth.* You can find it at the best men's shops although not always under our label (many stores like our shirts so much they sell them under their own names). If you'd like to know which in your vicinity please write us: Eagle Shirtmakers, Quakertown, Pennsylvania.

*Notice it bulges gracefully at the collar just like the other 386. One time a man, new to our button-downs, wrote to say that the collar didn't lie flat. When we told Helen Mohr, in Collars, about it she said that she was relieved.

Faculty Golfers Begin Tourney Play Today

The Texas Tech faculty will begin play today in the Faculty Golf Tournament, with 35 entrants competing for prizes.

The tournament will be played at the convenience of the members in the ensuing weeks at courses of their choice.

This golf tourney is to be played on a handicap basis, with the higher handicap player getting a stroke a hole, starting with the hardest hole, No. 6, until the difference between handicaps is used up.

Letters and scheduled play have been mailed to all participants and Mr. Rae L. Harris, director of the tournament, has asked that all players contact their opponent and play as soon as possible.

First prize will be one dozen golf balls, courtesy of Jay McClure, Tech golf coach, with second prize being a cotton and daeron golf shirt.

Third place is a cotton golf shirt.

All entrants will receive free golf balls.

Mighty Casey's Big Moment Seen Again

By JIM WESTBROOK
Toreador Sports Staff

I was reading that fabled poem about "Casey At The Bat" the other day. As I read it, it became obvious to me some of the facts were absent from the context of the story.

There are a few facts sprinkled here and there, but the Mudville reporter showed several shortcomings. We know that Mudville did lose 4-2 and Casey struck out on three straight pitches in the bottom of the ninth, leaving runners stranded on second and third.

But there are too many facts left out of the account of the game that should be told. For instance, who was the fine pitcher that blazed the three fast balls past old Casey? If Mighty Casey was such a feared slugger did he bat cleanup? And if he did, why were Flynn and Jimmy Blake batting in the Nos. 2 and 3 spots, when it was made clear neither one of them could hit the broad side of a barn? Who was the manager of the Mudville nine? And wasn't Casey a big surly concealed lug, who would back hand a little kid for asking for his autograph? Yet at the same time should he be given more credit for saving the little umpire and averting a possible riot?

Did He Throw It?

Last but not least the big question that enters my mind is: did Mighty Casey or did Mighty Casey not throw the game?

In my opinion Casey rigged the game and sold out. A friend of mine a few years ago told me he had accidentally hooked in on a conversation between a fellow who identified himself as Casey and another fellow, whom he thought was an umpire.

My friend told me that he had made some notes on the telephone conversation and stashed them in his desk drawer and forgot about them. Then in 1924 he was moving to a new house and he then rediscovered his scratch pad.

Casey Sold Out

Said my friend, "It is my opinion that Mr. Casey sold out the Mudville team that day. Casey wasn't the sort of hitter that would miss three straight strikes with men on bases. Just go back and read the account of the game," he suggested. "It is full of countless flaws."

So, going on my friend's advice I went back and read the story of the game and this is what I came up with. You can draw your own conclusions.

It was the bottom of the ninth and Mudville trailed 4-2, there were two out. Flynn singled and Blake doubled to put runners at second and third. Mighty Casey was the next batter.

"And now the leather covered sphere came hurtling through the air, and Casey stood watching it in haughty grandeur there," so the story goes. To put it in more plain words he took the first pitch and mumbled something to make it look good to the people in the stands. The umpire, who was very likely the other man who had been talking long distance earlier in the week, said "Strike One."

Umpire Threatened

The account goes on to say, "Kill the umpire! Kill him," shouting someone in the stands; and they would have likely killed him had not Casey raised his hand." (Old Casey wasn't dumb, he wasn't going to let any harm come to his good old phone buddy.)

"He signaled to the pitcher, and once more the spheroid flew; but Casey still ignored it and the umpire said strike two."

Everyone remembers what happened next. Casey took a swipe at the third strike. His bat never came close to the ball. But, he knew that taking a called third strike would be to obvious to the people in the stands.

That's the story, you be the judge. Was it fixed, or wasn't it fixed?

McKay To Address Tech Booster Group

Southern California Coach John McKay, 1962 Coach of the Year, will be the speaker at the annual Red Raider Club banquet at 6:30 p.m. May 7, Verlon Bigham, club president, announced Saturday.

All of Texas Tech's sports teams will be honored at the banquet to be in Municipal Coliseum.

Other entertainment will be provided by the Court Jesters, under the direction of Dean Killion, and the Log-Rhythms. A chicken barbecue will be served by the Lubbock Lions Club.

McKay, leading scorer for the 1948 Oregon team that played Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl, last season piloted USC to an undefeated season, a Rose Bowl victory, and a national championship. For these accomplishments last fall American Football Coaches Association selected him for its highest honor.

Non-members, as well as members of the Red Raider Club, are invited to the banquet, Leete Jackson, executive vice president, stressed. Wives are especially welcome, he said. Tickets may be purchased for $2.50 each at the Red Raider Club office, Room 1122 Lubbock National Bank Building, or by addressing the office at Box 456, Lubbock.

Gridders Star In Meet

Four Tech football stars ran the century in under 10.0 to highlight the annual Tech intramural track meet, as Phi Delta Theta ran away with team honors.

Donny Anderson, David Parks, Roger Gill and Bill Weise all ran the 100 in above-par times.

Phi Delta Theta garnered 46½ points in coasting to victory, as Gill paced the Phi Deltas, tying with Anderson for the individual lead. Anderson and Gill both had 11½ points. David Parks, also of Phi Delta Theta, gathered 6½ points to place third.

Don's Independents, paced by Anderson, grabbed second place, far ahead of the Lubbock Track

Club, which was a distant third with 22½ points.

Phi Gamma Delta was fourth with 12½, followed closely by Phi Epsilon Kappa, which nabbed 12½ of the points.

SAE and Phi Kappa Psi were sixth and seventh, with 9½ and 9 points respectively.

RICE, TEXAS, A&M MEET

Outstanding Performances Highlight Speech Dramas

In Keller Story Dark Versus Light

By NANCY MILLER

Toreador Amusements Editor

The world, to a child, is a jungle of sounds and colors that take form and shape as he grows older and begins to understand them. Using his eyes and ears, he absorbs impressions and puts them together in the pattern that eventually forms the fabric of his life.

But what if the child is blind and deaf? What if he has no means of gathering these impressions? The world, to this child, is a haze of grey, with no means of communication and no motivation, save the basic instincts.

Helen Keller was a child such as this. Blind and deaf from illness, she groped through childhood relying on touch, and temper tantrums, to live. Her parents, with a cruelty born of despair, talked of putting her in an asylum for the insane. She was alternately slapped and loved, and she responded by striking out and crying meaninglessly.

And then another person came into her life. Her parents, as a last resort, hired a teacher. That teacher was Anne Sullivan.

The story of Helen Keller's emergence from her dark world is told beautifully in "The Miracle Worker." Ann Bancroft, as Anne Sullivan, is iron-willed and determined and convinced that her pupil is more than an animal. And Patty Duke, as Helen Keller, is superb.

The movie is amazingly free of the usual Hollywood trappings, filmed in stark black and white, and containing not one unneeded line of gesture.

It is hard to say which scene is the best, since the Academy Award winning actresses Bancroft and Duke play all of them as though acting were a craft instead of a profession. One of the most memorable is the struggle in the lining room, when Anne Sullivan teaches Helen to fold her napkin.

The movie is undoubtedly one of the best to be released in the last few years. It is played with an intensity rare in today's productions. No part, no gesture, no line is neglected. From the first hysterical, "She's blind!" when Mrs. Keller looks closely at her child, to Anne Sullivan's triumphant "She knows!" when Helen spells out "water" over and over in a frenzy of discovery, the movie is a masterpiece. The viewer will leave feeling as though he too has emerged from a dark world to one of light.

"The American Dream" and "The Zoo Story" premiered Monday to a sparse opening-night crowd, but the cast played as though the theater were crammed with world-renowned notables.

Overcoming the difficulty of playwright Edward Albee's sometimes incomprehensible message, they presented his terse plays quite well, with performances of particular intensity by Judy Eaton and Fred March.

"The American Dream" dealt, rather vaguely, with the American Scene, its facts and fictions, joys and sorrows, in dialogue honed to a knife edge. Marilyn Marek, as Mommy, is a deadly caricature of Momism, from her continual browbeating of Daddy to her sugar-coated bowing to Mrs. Barkley, the volunteer worker. Daddy, the damp, cringing "yes man" is played by Bob Adams, whose portrayal will make every man in the audience who has ever said yes to a woman flinch.

Judy Eaton, as Grandma, has her part down pat from gestures to quavering speech. She emerges as a composite of all elderly people, and leaves the viewer with the impression that she is the only sane member of an insane world in a particularly perceptive performance.

Michele Roberts, as Mrs. Barkley, takes a swipe at the "professional women" of the world, who are bent on doing good but have no idea why. She is a competent, if confused, volunteer worker, but her interest in The Young Man makes one wonder just what goes on during her off hours.

Charles Benton, as the Young Man, is the American Dream, but one realizes that one day he may turn out as the American Nightmare. He runs, in his performance, from fair to good. But he still has traces of a West Texas accent that tend to mess-up such lines as, "I lived on the West Coast a long time."

If there is any fault with "The American Dream," it lies in the play itself and not in the acting. Albee's efforts are praiseworthy, but he leads the viewer from a normal world into a maze of confusion and doesn't quite lead him out again. The play possesses an original style, but style is not enough. There must be a clarity of thought in order to capture the imagination. And that is what is lacking in "The American Dream."

"The Zoo Story," however, is indeed another story. It does contain the all-important clarity of thought. Coupled with the above-average acting, it provides an hour of terrific intensity that is well worth seeing.

And it is cast well. Fred March, as Jerry, is an agony of loneliness that plucks and then tears at the heart. In possibly one of the best performances at Tech this year, March runs from the heights and the depths, taking the viewer with him. And all the while, he is desperately trying to "make contact" with Peter, the respectable middle-class individual to whom he is talking. There is no other word to describe March's performance than "superb."

Jim Slaughter, as Peter, the publishing man, is stuffily good as respectability wrenched from its element and thrown into a situation over which it has no control. He methodically beats away Jerry's plea, and makes him say "Thank you" in a crashing climax.

The plays are marked with performances of spectacular brilliance. They are more than worth seeing for the acting. In the speech department's latest offerings, the casting director should take honors along with the performers.

FAVORS A&M 'COEDS'

AUSTIN (AP)—The House refused 71-39 Tuesday to let a legislator introduce a bill to keep girls from attending Texas A&M.

Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont said many former Aggies sought the bill. A two-thirds majority would have been needed for permission to introduce the measure.

Union Directs Interesting Poll

A recent poll conducted by the Tech Union Public Relations Council asked the question, "Would you be interested in a program for married students?"

Since most of the students polled were single, the response was mainly negative. However, a few showed interest and suggested functions and services such a program should offer.

One married couple interviewed, Mr and Mrs. Leroy Cebik, had some definite ideas on the subject. Leroy, a junior philosophy major from Stratford, Connecticut, thinks that the Union should first publicize its present events in a way which would appeal to both married and single students. In this way married students would not feel cut off from the rest of the student body by a "special program."

"A nebulous committee, perhaps made up of one person from each present Union committee, should be created to investigate before any program aimed specifically at married students is attempted," Cebik said.

His wife, Mary Helen, a junior home economics major from Big Spring, pointed out that time and money are a problem for married students. She suggested that if the Union does offer a program aimed specifically at married students, it should be offered on a monthly basis and at reasonable cost.

Mary Helen added that she would like to hear speakers on budgeting and other such subjects of interest to married students.

Exhibits on home decoration, films and reasonably priced babysitting were some of Leroy's suggestions. He believes that married students would participate in such a program; however, he pointed out that there would be considerable difficulty in planning the program effectively.

Raiders Blank Aggies As Allison Bows Out

Daryl Allison and the Tech netters whitewashed Texas A&M Monday, 6-0, to regain third place in the final Southwest Conference standings.

Allison, senior, disposed of the Aggies' Richard Barker, 6-4, 4-6 and 6-3. Both are No. 1 players on their respective teams.

Allison and Robert Peterson defeated Barker and Ricky Williams in the No. 1 doubles match. The Tech duo had to come from behind to win, 4-6, 8-6 and 10-8.

Despite the lopsided Tech victory, Coach Omar Smith's Aggie quartet put up a tremendous battle, driving the Tech netters to split sets in all but one match and forcing five others to deuce. Two of the sets were extended.

The Raiders were one point ahead of the Aggies before the match and needed only a 3-3 tie to clinch their place in the conference.

Others Have Trouble

Tech's No. 2 and No. 4 men, junior Greer Kothman and sophomore Robert Peterson, had difficulty in their matches.

Kothman dropped his first set to Carroll Kell 6-3, before rallying to win 6-2, 6-3. Peterson ground out a 6-4, 3-6 and 6-1 decision over Albert Aldrich.

Junior Beau Sutherland, playing No. 3, had to extend the match to one hour and 50 minutes to triumph over Williams. Sutherland won the first match, 6-1, fell back at the Aggie's rally, 4-6, and finally broke his service to win 6-3.

The No. 2 doubles match went the minimum of two sets, as it was the only match of the day not split. Kothman and Sutherland knifed through Aldrich and Dean Dyer, 6-1, 6-0.

Tech amassed 21 points over the season, while losing 15.

The Raiders meet Hardin-Simmons and ACC before they travel to Waco to compete in the Southwest Conference tennis tourney.

FROM THE BENCH by artie shaw

Daryl Allison helped the Texas Tech netters wipe out A&M's Aggies Monday and walked off the court, through with regular season SWC tennis competition.

Daryl Allison has won three varsity letters at Tech and deserves 20 more for his meritorious service to Tech and to Tech tennis.

Fierce determination and a burning desire are the mainstays of Daryl's character, according to his coach, George Philbrick.

"Daryl, being our number one player, always has to play the toughest players in a contest with another team. And most of the time these players have years of experience over Daryl, but this doesn't hamper him any. He stays in every match through determination and desire."

Next year Tech's varsity tennis squad will have to take the court without a great sportsman. So at this point I would like to join with Sigma Delta Chi, Polk Robison, George Philbrick and many others in saluting Daryl Allison — an attribute to Texas Tech.

EVERYBODY LOVES A GLOVER

Last year's freshman basketball team could easily go down in the annals of Tech sports history as the greatest that ever was. Dub Malaise, Bob Measles, Norman Reuther and company were a crew of frosh that turned every school for miles around green with envy.

But next year, a great new name will come into the limelight of freshman basketball. The name of Bob Glover of Dallas Jefferson.

During his senior year Glover was named to various All-Star teams, including All-Tournament in AAAA.

The reasons are obvious.

During his senior year the 6-5 Glover averaged 20 points per fracas and snatched almost as many rebounds.

Taking one particular game, he scored 30 markers and speared 27 rebounds in the regional battle with Denton.

The sharpest - shootin' Rebel of them all will be at Texas Tech next fall to play for the Raiders.

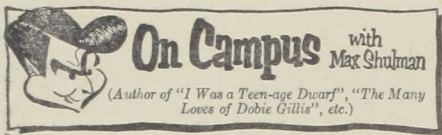

With prospects like this, whose basketball future could look more rosy?

THIS SOUNDS FAMILIAR

Over in Porkerland the annual intrasquad skirmish looks like another toss-up. There's no let down on anybody's part. The veterans consider this the toughest contest of the year.

The reasons for this type of behavior aren't too hard to fathom.

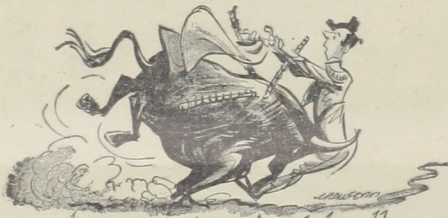

Take a squad of 60 to 70 sophomores—eager red shirts and seasoned squad men—tell them all they're fighting for 11 positions on next year's squad, and then stage the whole "shebang" in front of 15,000 squealing fans, and you've got to have a blowup somewhere!

HOW TO SEE EUROPE FOR ONLY $300 A DAY: NO. 3

When all of you go to Europe during your summer vacation, you will certainly want to visit Spain, where the tall corn grows,

The first thing you will notice upon entering Spain is the absence of sibilants. In Spain "s" is pronounced "th" and thereby hangs a tale. Until the reign of Philip IV—or Guy Fawkes, as he was sometimes called—Spaniards said "s" just like everybody else. Philip IV, however, lisped, and Spaniards, having an ingrained sense of propriety and not wishing to embarrass their monarch, decided that everybody should lisp. This did indeed put Philip IV very much at his ease, but in the end it turned out to be a very bad thing for Spain. It wrecked the sassifras industry—Spain's principal source of revenue—and reduced the nation to a second-class power.

to keep body and soul together

As a result, Spaniards were all forced to turn to bull fighting in order to keep body and soul together. Today, wherever you go in Spain—in Madrid, in Barcelona, in Toledo, in Cleveland—you will see bulls being fought. For many years the bulls have sought to arbitrate this long-standing dispute, but the Spaniards, a proud people who use nothing but Castile soap, have rejected all overtures.

It is therefore necessary for me to explain bull fighting to anyone who is going to Spain. It is also necessary for me to say a few words about Marlboro Cigarettes because they pay me for writing this column, and they are inclined to pout if I ignore their product. In truth, it is no chore for me to sing the praises of Marlboro Cigarettes, for I am one who fairly swoons with delight when I come upon a cigarette which gives you the full, rich taste of good tobaccos plus the pure white Selectra filter, and Marlboro is the only smoke I have found that fulfills both requirements. Oh, what a piece of work is Marlboro! The flavor reaches you without stint or diminution. You, even as I, will find these statements to be happily true when once you light a Marlboro. Marlbors come to you in soft pack or Flip-Top box, and are made only by the makers of Marlboro.

But I digress. Let us return to bull fighting. Bulls are by nature bellicose creatures who will keep fighting till the cows come home. Then they like to put on pipe and slippers and listen to the "Farm and Home Hour." However, the Spaniards will not allow the bulls any surcease. They keep attacking the bull and making veronias—a corn meal pancake filled with ground meat. Bulls, being vegetarians, reject the veronias and then, believe you me, the fur starts to fly!

To be perfectly honest, many Spaniards have grown weary of this incessant struggle and have left their homeland. Columbus, for example, took off in three little ships—the Patti, the Maxene, and the Laverne—and discovered Ohio. Magellan later discovered Columbus. Balboa also sailed to the New World, but he was silent on a peak in Darien, so it is difficult to know what he discovered.

Well sir, I guess that's all you need to know about Spain. So now, as the setting sun casts its rosy fingers over El Greco, let us take our reluctant leave of Spain—or Perfidious Albion, as it is jocularly called. Aloha, Spain or Perfidious Albion, aloha!

© 1963 Max Shulman

Let us not, however, take our leave of smoking pleasure. Let us keep enjoying those fine Marlboro Cigarettes—rich, golden tobacco—pure white Selectra filter—soft pack or Flip-Top box—available in all fifty States of the Union.

Distance Runs Prove Aggie Malady

EDITOR'S NOTE—This story is the third in a series on the upcoming Southwest Conference track meet presented by the sports staff of THE DAILY TOREADOR. The articles are based on the latest information from each of the sports publicity directors of the SWC.

If the Southwest Conference eliminated the dashes (and relay events) for 1963 — the track and field title would turn into a five-team battle for honors.

Here's where the rest of the league joins Texas A&M and Baylor in a full-scale festival. The distance field is well-spread throughout the eight schools — with each having a candidate deserving of honors; and both A&M and Baylor will hardly gather a single point in the hurdle races.

Take the hurdles for example. Five teams figure in a scrap for high hurdle points — completely excluding the Aggies and Bears. Bobby May of Rice, Rex Wilson of Texas and Ronnie Biffle of Tech have each graced the 120-yard standards in 14.1. Still they don't have the market cornered. Arkansas has two men figured to be in the running, Ralph Brodie and Ed Renfrow; SMU's Bob Johnston has stayed with the leaders in earlier races; and even Rice and Texas have greater depth to claim other points. Verl Brown of Rice with a 14.2 is an example.

330 New Race

The league has shelved its long traditional 220-yard low hurdles for the new 330-yard intermediate race. It's designed to prepare SWC hurdlers for the longer 400-meter hurdles of Olympic competition. The fastest time of '63 will become a certain record. Thus far — SWC runners have had little opportunity to ready themselves for this "off-brand" event — but the top names remain much the same. May has a 37.7 in a triangular meet; and Wilson is a half-step behind with 37.8 at the Border Olympics. Gary Collins of Rice is third best at 38.1; and both Brodie of Arkansas and Wayne Jordan of Baylor have been clocked in 39.1. Rapid improvement is possible here with each new race.

Best Balance In 880

Moving into the distance field (880, mile and two mile runs) you'll find the best balance in the league. The half-mile should again see an exciting race between defending champ Brian Bolton of SMU (1:52.5) and Loy Gunter of Texas (1:53.3). No less than 12 men have run under 1:56.0 — representing six SWC schools. Jim Sebastian is A&M's best hope (1:53.7); Bill Sage of Rice has a 1:54.0; David DeBoer of Baylor is the top Bruin hopeful (1:55.4) and Arkansas has Haydn Hicks (1:55.9). Several of those schools can come up with strong second men.

Mile Run A Feature

The mile run should be a feature event of the Saturday finals. Mickey Wade of SMU has been clocked in 4:16.9; TCU's Marvin Silliman ran a 4:16.2 in the same meet (the Border Olympics); A&M has a trio of strong milers — Ilhan Bilgutay (4:18.5) Herbie Campbell (4:20.3), and E. L. Emer, 1962 two mile champion (4:23.6); Arkansas includes Deardorff (4:22.4); Tech has Jerry Brook (4:19.3); and the Baylor Bears boast two strong milers — DeBoer (4:19.0) and David Sergrest (4:23.8). Whether this crowded field can push the winner to a record performance (4:10.5) remains to be seen.

Moving to the afternoon's longest event, the two mile run, Emer will be a slight favorite. He has

H-SU Boots Head Coach

ABILENE (P) — Jack Thomas, Hardin-Simmons University athletic director and head football coach, was fired Tuesday for what a school official said was "failure to follow administrative directives."

The university was recently placed on football probation for two years after the NCAA found that 32 high school football players had taken part in a competitive gridiron workout for Hardin-Simmons athletic scholarships.

Thomas, a line coach at Texas A&M before coming to Hardin-Simmons in Jan., 1962, said he did not have any immediate plans.

His dismissal was announced by George L. Graham, executive vice president of the university.
