Peace Restored In Magelang As Situation Eases

RAF Again Strafes Indonesian Troops In Brief Fighting

BATAVIA, Nov. 2 (AP)—Peace was restored in the Magelang area at noon today by a temporary truce which followed a night of sharp fighting between Indonesian extremists and British Indian troops, during which RAF planes again strafed the Indonesian forces.

Elsewhere in central and eastern Java conditions were reported generally improved although the situation at the naval base of Soerabaja was described as "very delicate."

Col. C. H. O. Pugh, commander of the British garrison at Soerabaja, succeeded in effecting the evacuation of 1,500 Dutch nationals—mostly women and children—and a similar number were expected to embark tonight.

At Magelang, British and Indonesian leaders were reported conferring during the truce, effected with the aid of Dr. Soekarno, president of the "Indonesian Republic," whose cease fire orders previously had been ignored by the extremists. Outcome of the negotiations remained in doubt.

The British formula for solving the difficulties was summed up in a broadcast by psychological warfare experts over the Batavia radio, who concluded that "the battlefield of democracy is the council table." The broadcast said those responsible for the current disorders in Java were the Japanese, who originally "gave up their control to those whose desire for self-government they first encouraged."

Fixes Things Too Well

Latin-American Too Smart—Uses Jail Trick Twice

The Latin-American was taking no chances on staying locked up in jail but he fixed things too well. The young man in question was arrested recently for investigation and locked up. Early the next morning his brother-in-law came to get police to release him so he could attend his mother's funeral. They did.

The man was arrested again Wednesday for car prowling and Thursday morning another caller phoned to say his mother had died that day. Chief A. G. Mitchell extended his sympathy to the prisoner who told him about the burial in Louisiana. Mitchell then informed him of the second call. The Latin-American became confused and recovered, in broken English, "Oh, she only sick other day."

Owner Suggests Union Operate Closed Plant

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 2 (AP)—Andrew J. Higgins, who shut down his three Higgins Industries, Inc., plants here yesterday during an AFL union walkout, proposed today that the unions purchase the closed plants and operate them. "All of the Higgins plants affected are owned by Higgins Industries, Inc.," said the head of the firm in an interview. "There is not one dime of government money in any of them."

Higgins said that the only way he would reopen negotiations was for the unions "to give me proof that they have enough money to seriously negotiate to buy the plants."

"I'd sell them these plants, but they couldn't operate under the name of Higgins," he added.

Blast At Congress May Get Action

Truman, Leaders Hope For Support

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—House leaders declared today that President Truman's criticism of congress this week did not harm his legislative program, and may help it. This view was expressed by Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts and Party Whip Ramspeck of Georgia when asked about the president's reference to "damaging delay" by house committee's in handling of jobless pay and "full employment" bills.

The two gave a reporter slightly varying interpretations of what they expect, but their opinions summarized were: 1. Members of the committees involved resented the criticism, but for the present no minds were changed, one way or the other. 2. The appeal for action may stir up public support for the bills and switch some votes.

McCormack and Ramspeck both said they believed the house expenditures committee will approve "some type of acceptable full employment legislation" before the first of the year. The committee has been considering a senate-passed bill on the subject for nearly six weeks.

The two leaders had varying opinions however about prospects of the unemployment compensation measure before the ways and means committee.

"The entire effect of Mr. Truman's reaction about congress will be the reaction it provokes among the people," Ramspeck said. "Very few congressmen are ever influenced one way or the other by such a request. It's what the people want that influences them."

Europe To Receive More Dairy Goods

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Liberated Europe will receive greatly increased quantities of dairy products from this country in the last three months of 1945, the agriculture department announced today. France, including French North Africa, Belgium, the Netherlands and the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration have been allocated more than 450,000,000 tons of dairy products for the quarter.

This is about four times more than this country has made available in any previous quarter. Despite the increased exports, the department said in a statement, more butter, cheese, evaporated milk and dried milk will be available for U.S. civilians.

Postal Receipts High In October

Postal receipts for the month of October totaled $14,894,177, highest since January of this year and slightly above the figure for October, 1944. Postmaster Nat Shick announced this morning. The revenue for October, 1944, amounted to $14,868,133. Last month's figures boosted the 1945 receipts to $134,610,49, about $11,000 shy of the sum for all of 1944 and more than $20,000 above the sum inventoried for the first ten months of last year.

Price Drop In Citrus Fruits Seen For 1946

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted today a considerable drop in prices for the 1945-46 citrus fruit crop. This forecast is based on an indicated record crop of about 7,750,000 tons, about 8 per cent larger than the 1944-45 crop and nearly twice the 1935-36 average. The department said in its publication "The Fruit Situation" that consumer demand for deciduous fruits (apples, pears, grapes, cranberries, etc.) would be strong enough to keep remaining sales of the 1945 crop at or near ceiling prices.

Fresh Disputes Add Thousands To List Of Idle; Newest Walkout In New England Textile Mills

By The Associated Press Fresh labor disputes added thousands of workers to the ranks of idle today, the national total of men and women off the job because of work stoppages jumping from 243,000 to 266,000. The newest and biggest strike in 19 plants in three New England states.

Some 10,000 textile workers in nine plants in Maine left their jobs in a controversy over wages. Eight mills in Connecticut employing 2,500 and two mills in New Hampshire employing 4,000 struck in a dispute over demands for a closed or union shop.

There was little indication of a settlement of the strike of AFL and CIO machinists in the San Francisco bay area as an additional 5,000 workers, making a total of 60,000, were made idle because of shutdown of industries. Retail store milk supplies were reported shrinking because of the closing of a carton producing plant. A union spokesman said reports of carton shortage had been exaggerated but milk industry spokesmen denied there was an adequate backlog.

Service on six Greyhound bus lines operating East of the Mississippi to the Atlantic seaboard remained halted for the second day by a strike of some 4,000 AFL employees who left their jobs over a dispute in wages. Occupationists Realize Need For Vigilance

TOKYO, Nov. 2 (AP)—Vigilance against resurgent Japanese who still dream of reconquest and revenge while outwardly appearing complacent, an allied headquarters authority declared today, is more important at present than the rounding up of war criminals.

Brig. Gen. Elliot R. Thorpe said, however, the attitude is limited to a few individuals with small followings. Other allied sources said there was potential danger that this type of thinking would increase when large numbers of demobilized troops are repatriated from China and other regions where they felt no physical defeat.

Thorpe added his department did not consider it likely that thousands of able-bodied Japanese ex-service men, and more particularly the former members of the disbanded rabid and rough gendarmerie, could abandon overnight their carefully indoctrinated fanaticism and belief in Japan's ruling destiny.

Simultaneously, Allied headquarters disclosed that three Japanese army officers under arrest are being questioned about the execution of three Doolittle airmen on Oct. 15, 1942, at Kiangwan, near Shanghai.

A Major Hata is in protective custody of the Japanese government at a military hospital in Tokyo. The government has guaranteed his delivery to Omori prison camp. The others are Lt. Yusei Wamitsu, listed in the 1940 Tokyo city directory as the only son of Yonofusa Wamitsu, president of the Greater Eastern Asia Independence Society and former vice president of the Tokyo Bar association, and Lt. Gen. Shigeru Sawada, former deputy chief of staff, who commanded the Shanghai area when the Doolittle flyers were executed. Both are at Omori.

Latest arrival at Omori was Genki Abe, former Japanese home minister who played a major part in formation of Nippon's disbanded "thought police." The former Suzuki cabinet member surrendered at the prison today. Two members of the powerful Iwasaki family resigned from key positions in the Mitsubishi holding company—last of the great financial family heads to yield to American pressure—it was also reported authoritatively today.

Ignore Sales Appeals BOND "BUYERS" MANAGE TO KEEP HANDS IN EARS, POCKETS AT ONCE

Bond buyers achieved the ultimate in ambidexterity Thursday, managing to keep their fingers in their ears and their hands in their pockets. Apparently, with minor exceptions, they neither heard nor heeded appeals for heavy E bond purchases to meet a challenging Victory Loan quota.

Bond headquarters reported a total of $3,768.75 in E bond purchases for the day, a block of $2,550 at the Ritz theatre saving the day.

This brought the total to $28,818.75 for the Victory Loan against a quota of $330,000. Saturday bond leaders hoped that rural quotas would be reached and assigned and that first reports from service clubs would be on hand. Although it got off to an initially good start, the Victory Loan was dragging before the first week was out. "This is the last of the loan drives," reminded Ted O. Groebl. "We ought to put more steam into this one than all the others in order to finish up our job in appropriate style. We can if people will just do their part and cease putting off their bond purchases. The executive committee is hopeful that Saturday will bring a big increase in sales."

Chinese Land In Manchuria

By SPENCER MOOSA CHUNGKING, Nov. 2 (AP)—Chinese government troops, pouring from United States transports, began reoccupation landings today at two ports in Manchuria on the same day the Russians were scheduled to begin withdrawing from the country, the army newspaper Sao Tang Pao reported. Japan wrested Manchuria from China in 1931.

The landing points were on opposite sides of Liaotung bay. On the West side, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's men went ashore at Hulutao, 70 miles Northwest of the scene of clashes between his soldiers and Chinese communists.

On the East side, the troops were landed at Yingkow, 100 miles Southwest of Mukden and 140 miles North of Port Arthur. Both Yingkow and Hulutao have rail connections with Mukden. The landing at Hulutao places Chiang's men near rail lines to the rear of Chinese communist forces which are opposing any overland movement of Central government troops toward Manchuria through North China.

The army newspaper said the troops, of the 13th, 16th and 94th Chinese armies, were taken to Manchuria in U.S. transports from Maliphong, Indo-China and Hong Kong.

The government soldiers will be moved North in strength this month to permit complete withdrawal of the Russians by Dec. 1, said a semi-official dispatch from Pientain. Meanwhile, as scattered fighting occurred in 11 Northern provinces of China, a central government cabinet spokesman charged anew that the Chinese communists had threatened to fire on any government soldiers landed from U.S. ships in communist "liberated areas." He said the communists issued the warning during peace negotiations in Chungking.

Field Marshal Gort Resigns Palestine Commissioner Post

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Field Marshal Lord Gort resigned today as high commissioner of turbulent Palestine as the British government laid the blame for terrorism there on Jewish elements. Colonial Secretary George Hall described the most widespread and highly organized sabotage in the history of the country as a "dastardly series of outrages" resulting from "very careful planning by a very considerable organization among Jewish communities."

In nearby Egypt, anti-Zionist elements started a general strike in Cairo on this anniversary of the Balfour declaration, demanding "from their dream of a home in Palestine." Street fighting broke out. Police fired in the air attempting to disperse crowds. Arab sections of Palestine also started a general strike against the Balfour declaration and Zionist aims. Arab shops closed and prayers were called in the mosques.

Hall told commons Lord Gort resigned because he was ill and that a successor would be named as soon as possible. J. V. W. Shaw, chief secretary, will administer the Palestine government in the interim. Hall expressed regret "that there would be this wanton resort to force" while the British were examining all means to solve the Jewish-Arab problem. He said there were sufficient forces in Palestine to deal with the uprisings but "both the Palestine police and the forces have a difficult and delicate task to perform."

A Jerusalem dispatch said sketchy service was resumed on the railroads which had been cut in 153 places 24 hours before in a nationwide wave of sabotage. At least three saboteurs were known to have been killed in terrorist attacks. Two were slain when they tried to set off explosives at the Halfa oil refinery, the British said.

Also shown were pastel sketches done by the girls of members of the troop.

The Nation Today—
These Are Things To Remember
About Reduction In Income Tax

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—
Here are two things to remember about — and a way to figure out — the reduction in your income tax which Congress just okayed.
It means a cut in your income tax in 1946, starting Jan. 1. It has nothing to do with — and means no cut in — your 1945 taxes.

All taxpayers will benefit from the cut. About 12 million of them paying taxes in 1945 won't have to pay any in 1946. They're the lowest income people.

Most people — because most people make under $5,000 a year — won't have to worry about figuring out the new tax.
Employers regularly withhold — by deductions from the paycheck
— the full tax on employees making up to $5,000 a year.

They'll do it in 1946. They do it by tables given them by the government. The government will give them new tables for 1946.
The 1946 reduction does three things: Gives a taxpayer the same number of normal tax and surtax exemptions; knocks 3 percent off each surtax rate; and then, after all this, knocks 5 percent off the total tax.

This is what it means:
There are two kinds of taxes on individuals: a flat 3 percent normal tax on all incomes, no matter how large or small; and a surtax which starts at 20 percent on taxable income under $2,000 and then rises, by brackets, as the income rises 'till it is 90 percent on the highest incomes.

In 1946 there is a reduction of 3 percent in each surtax bracket.
So the 20 percent surtax of 1945 becomes 17 percent in 1946. There is a 3 percent cut no matter how high the surtax.

Before you apply your surtax to taxable 1945 income you deduct $500 each for yourself and each dependent. These $500 deductions are exemptions.

But in 1945, before applying your normal tax to taxable income, you can deduct only one $500 exemption. You can't deduct any exemption for dependents.

It's different in 1946. You not only get a $500 surtax exemption for yourself and each dependent but you get the same total exemption before applying your normal tax.

Flagrant Case Of Child Desertion Investigated

Self preservation is a compelling instinct, and hunger drives a man to satisfy his want; but a child suffers out of a lack of knowledge of consequences.

Recently, the local welfare department, inspired by a tip, investigated a case of alleged child desertion in the west side section of the city, found there two children—a four year old boy and a toddling girl of three.

The boy had been victimized by infantile paralysis. The girl suffering ailments, among them malnutrition. What they subsisted on, neighbors brought in, the same neighbors who had aroused the interest of the welfare department.

Mrs. Constance Reque, case worker, said she believed this to be the most flagrant case of carelessness ever discovered in the county, and that the circumstance was almost beyond description.

When Mrs. Reque was confronted with the case, she found the small girl was bed-ridden and her brother, who wore leg braces, refused to leave his sister. The infant had impetigo as well as an itch and had so irritated herself the sores were dangerously infected.

Empty beer bottles and fruit juice cans littered the floor of the dingy room. Only evidence of nourishment was a half bottle of milk on the table.

Hospital treatment was given the girl before the mother was located. Mrs. Reque said the father was in prison, serving a 17-year term. The 23-year-old mother was charged with the children's care.

It was recommended by the welfare department that the children be placed in an orphan's home.

Meantime, the mother, who investigators said had made plans to remarry, left town with the children and the prospective husband.

A nationally known scientific method. No under straps or cumbersome arrangements and absolutely no medicines or medical treatments.

DAILY STORY FROM THE BEST-SELLING BOOK By BENNETT CERF

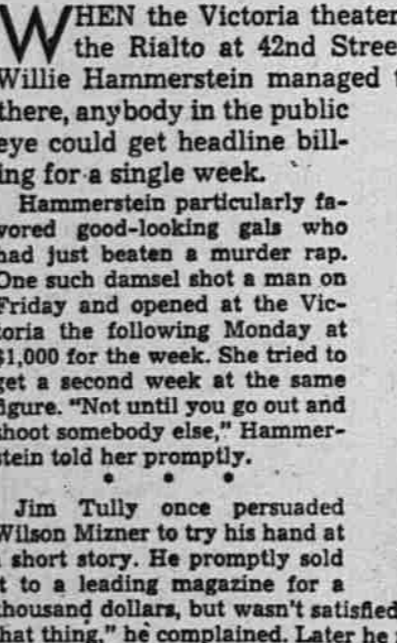

WHEN the Victoria theater occupied the present site of the Rialto at 42nd Street and Seventh Avenue, and Willie Hammerstein managed the vaudeville shows staged there, anybody in the public eye could get headline billing for a single week.

Hammerstein particularly favored good-looking gals who had just beaten a murder rap. One such damsel shot a man on Friday and opened at the Victoria the following Monday at $1,000 for the week. She tried to get a second week at the same figure. "Not until you go out and shoot somebody else," Hammerstein told her promptly.

Jim Tully once persuaded Wilson Mizner to try his hand at a short story. He promptly sold it to a leading magazine for a thousand dollars, but wasn't satisfied. "It took me eight hours to write that thing," he complained. Later he made an observation on the writing game that has been quoted many times since: "If you steal from one author, it's plagiarism; if you steal from many, it's research."

Mizner never minced words about his numerous sins of omission and commission. "They'll find out anyhow," was his philosophy. "There's something about a closet that makes a skeleton terribly restless."

Compromise Is Voted In Probe

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—A senate-house committee voted today to ask President Truman to issue a new executive order permitting any government official to volunteer information about the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941.

The action came as a compromise after 5 to 3 rejection of a proposal by Republicans that any committee member be permitted to examine records bearing on the committee's inquiry into the disaster.

The group voted to ask President Truman to revise his Oct. 23 order which Republicans have interpreted as giving the Democratic majority a stranglehold on directing the course of the investigation.

They said that under the October order, that a majority committee vote was needed to obtain government records or to call army and navy officials for testimony.

The effect of today's request would be to permit any person in the government not only to give any information he has about the Pearl Harbor attack but also to volunteer facts to committee members.

Four Superforts Make Non-Stop Hop From Japan

By JAMES J. STREIB WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The air force marked up today a second-try victory for its B29c over the mileage and adverse weather of the tough nonstop hop from Japan to Washington.

Four of the Superforts flew to National Airport at 7:38 o'clock last night after a 6,544-mile trip from Mizutani on the Japanese home island of Hokkaido. The lead plane's time was 27 hours 29 minutes.

The 43 fliers succeeded in a task which defeated three other B29s in the first attempt in September, but failed in a more ambitious plan to better the world distance record by having one of the planes go on to Cuba or Puerto Rico.

The plan was abandoned while the big aircraft were over Canada. Because of bad weather, the elected plane did not have enough fuel to continue another 1,150 miles beyond the capital.

The flight leader was Brig. General Frank A. Armstrong, Jr., of Richmond, Va.

The B29 commanded by Col. Kenneth O. Sanborn, of Annapolis, Md., had been designated to try for a record. It landed with around 900 gallons of gasoline, enough for about three hours' flight.

IT'S YOUR JOB

Another of the union evangelistic campaigns under the sponsorship of the Big Spring Pastors association has just ended. In many respects, the practical and logical messages in word and song have been outstanding. They have been a blessing to the community.

There is no reason why the good from this meeting — and indeed from all revival meetings held in our midst—should not grow and bless.

The churches of Big Spring face a challenge to expanded their realm of service. It is not an abstract, but rather a personal responsibility. The service of the church is the aggregate of the efforts of its members. What you do cannot be done by someone else. What you fail to do is lost beyond recall.

Why not plan now to find your place in your church Sunday, if by no more than attending Sunday School and the worship services. If you have other talents, put them to work for the God who gave them to you.

Longhorns, Owls And Christians Favored In Southwest Grid Play

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Two teams already are considered out of the Southwest conference championship race and a couple more may join them tomorrow. It all depends on what Texas and Texas A. & M. do.

Texas plays Southern Methodist at Dallas, and by losing would be in the same class as Baylor and Arkansas, who have just about given up hope after two defeats.

Texas A. & M. meets Arkansas at Fayetteville. The Aggies can't afford to drop this one or they'll be down there, too.

Rice, Texas Christian and Southern Methodist are the only teams absolutely safe from elimination—Rice and T.C.U. because they play outside the conference, S.M.U. because it can lose a game and still be even with any other team since the Methodists won the only conference test they met.

Rice takes on Walt Schlinkman and his Texas Tech Red Raiders at Houston and Texas Christian goes to Norman to play Oklahoma University.

Texas, despite its 7-5 setback last week at the hands of Rice, a team that lost to Southern Methodist 21-18, will be favored to win tomorrow. A. & M. probably will be given a slight edge over Arkansas.

T.C.U. appears to have its hands full with Oklahoma but should come through.

Baylor entertains Southwestern in the other game on the schedule. The Bears ought to take this one.

Three of tomorrow's games are due to draw 20,000 fans each—Rice and Tech, Southern Methodist and Texas and T.C.U. and Oklahoma. Arkansas expects 13,000 to see the Razorback-Aggie game.

But when we were going good in this guessing business along came October 27. It happens every year but this time it was extra special. That was the day Rice beat Texas and Southern Methodist fell before Tulane.

The result was an average of just 500. Oh well, oughta do better this week, by accident if nothing else (estimated attendance in parentheses):

Rice vs. Texas Tech at Houston, 3 p. m. (20,000)—Rice will win by a couple of touchdowns.

Arkansas vs. Texas A. & M. at Fayetteville, 2 p. m. (13,000)—Tough one for the Aggies but they'll make it.

Southern Methodist vs. Texas at Dallas, 2:30 p. m. (20,000)—Texas will bounce back and win three touchdowns to one.

Baylor vs. Southwestern at Waco, 2:30 p. m. (5,000)—Too much manpower for Southwestern; Baylor by a touchdown or so.

Texas Christian vs. Oklahoma at Norman, 2:30 p. m. (20,000)—Another scoring duel with T.C.U. making the most of them.

Walker Bailey, president of the American Business Club of Big Spring, announced Thursday that the strong Hondo Army Air Field eleven and Southwestern University's Pirates, conquerors of Rice Institute, will play a football game here Saturday afternoon, Nov. 24th.

Proceeds over and above game expenses are to go toward ABC charities, Bailey said.

Tickets for the classic, priced at $1.80 tops, will be sold at several downtown business houses. In addition, members of the club will carry on individual sales campaigns to insure financial success of the game.

The Georgetown Corsairs, who are coached by R. M. Medley, have won two of six games played this season. Another resulted in a tie. Medley's troops were humbled by Texas University, 46-0, and nosed out by Texas Tech, 7-0, then rose up to plaster Rice, 13-7.

Star of the Pirates is Walter "Swede" Ruthstrom, 190-pound star from Milby high school, Houston.

The Hondo club has met some of the most powerful service organizations in this section of the country.

Notre Dame Due To Be Beaten

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Navy will defeat Notre Dame tomorrow in Cleveland's huge stadium. That's the prediction of this corner, which has forecast the season's football games at a .809 pace despite last Saturday's stumbling on eight of 38 decisions.

Other predictions:

St. Mary's-Southern California: West Coast odds-makers have the Gaels the six-point favorite but from here it appears the Trojans will triumph.

Minnesota-Michigan-Fritz Crisler's teams invariably have trouble in games involving the little brown jug—We like the Gophers.

Duke-Georgia Tech: The Blue Devils' George Clark will bring them a decision at Atlanta.

Cornell-Columbia: Coach Ed McKeever is reported saying his reconstructed team would lose to Yale, beat Columbia. It lost to Yale, Cornell.

Northwestern-Ohio State: The Evanston Wildcats were at their wildest against Purdue. Ohio State.

Villanova-Army: The Cadet corps marches into Michie stadium at 2:30. The Cadet football team starts marching 15 minutes later.

Mississippi State-Tulane: The Greenies are unpredictable but they appear strong enough to halt Mississippi State's string of wins. Tulane.

North Carolina-Tennessee: The Vols appear a couple of touchdowns stronger. Tennessee.

Princeton-Penn: Princeton is unbeaten, Penn has lost one. After Saturday night they will have identical records. Pennsylvania.

PASSING STAR—Byron Gillory, freshman at the University of Texas, who did no passing in his high school days, has developed into a passing star, completing nine out of 10 in a recent game for a total of 100 yards.

Odessa - Dogie Debate Begins At 7:30 p. m.

Future Steers Seek To Avenge 19-6 Defeat

What promises to be one of the most interesting football games of the 1945 campaign unravels at Steer stadium at 7:30 o'clock tonight when Odessa's Colts and the reserves of the Big Spring high school team come to grips.

Coaches John Dibrell and Conn Isaacs eased up on their hopefuls in practice yesterday after working them hard all week and Isaacs said the Dogies are ready to function against the team that handed them a 19-7 defeat two weeks ago.

Onlookers who are wondering about future Steer teams will be afforded a good look-see tonight, and they may be surprised—for the eleven that takes the field against the Odessans is bigger than the varsity team and bids fair to give Big Spring one of its better evenings of the past decade a couple of years from now.

The Dogies will pit their hopes on a rugged forward wall that is anchored by a brace of hefty tackles—Reed Collins and Billy Coleman—and two backs that have been most impressive in recent workouts. They are George Worrell, who has plenty of football savvy, and Donald Webb.

Then there's Paul Shafer, who does the kicking, and Harold Berry, a signal barker of promise.

Donald Williams and Jim Thomas are booked to start at wings for the Big Springers. Working inside of Collins and Coleman are the guards will be Bob Pate and Pat Lamb. The promising George Burrus opens at the pivot post.

All the Steers who have not seen action in as many as two varsity games this year are slated to play tonight.

The Odessans lost to Midland, 19-7, after previously defeating the Bulldog bench-warmers.

Tariff for tonight's fracas ranges from the 60 cents demanded of the adult clientele to 30 cents for students.

Dibrell will be missing from the Steer bench. He invades San Angelo to scout the Bobcats in their outing with Midland.

In the Ice Age, the musk ox ranged south to Tennessee.

STILL MORE'N ONE WAY TO SKIN CAT

AUBURN, Me., (AP)—Firemen of rural Sabattus were undaunted by a scarcity of hydrants when they arrived to help the firemen of several towns subdue a shoe factory blaze. Accustomed to tapping country brooks to feed their hoses, the Sabattus outfit dipped its pumper hose into a stream created by runoffs from the blazing factory, and shot the water right back into action.

Is Czar Eagan Out Of Bounds? Asks Scribe

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—We're just asking questions... Is Commissioner Eddie Eagan's threat to revoke Mike Jacobs' promoters license if Mike takes the Louisville fight elsewhere just part of the hallyhood? If not, what sound reason could Eagan give for such an action? This dept. always had the naive idea that a boxing commission's duty was to see that boxing was properly conducted, not to make matches or to produce a nicotine of taxes for the state... How good is the story about Bill Terry going to the Boston Braves as general manager? And is there anything to that Pittsburgh report that a "prominent former college coach"—presumably Buff Donelli—has been offered a fancy contract to coach New York University football next year?

Full shares to 26 Tigers were each worth $6,443.34, while the Cubs split their swag into 31 full shares of $3,930.21. The Tigers also voted seven half-shares and the Cubs gave three half portions. Both clubs also gave smaller amounts to personnel.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With ANGUS LECESTER
City School Superintendent W. C. Blankenship has been elected to the post of athletic representative of Region Two of the Interscholastic league and as such will sit in with delegates from other sections at an Austin session Saturday, Nov. 17.

Among the things that are going to come up for discussion, according to "Supe," are spring football drills and league-backed baseball in all Class AA high schools.

Blankenship frowns on the spring grid workouts, says ample training for the sport can be conducted in the early fall.

He is strongly behind the move for the addition of baseball to the league's athletic schedule, would like seeing the national pastime return to its rightful place as a major sport in the prep schools.

Frank Miller and his Lakeview school football Lions have Capt. Charles Saliba of the Big Spring Army Air Field to thank for the outright gift of a quantity of grid equipment made this week.

Included in the toggery contributed by the installation were sweat shirts, socks, shoulder pads and allied paraphernalia.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 2 (AP)—David Mizrahi, veteran of marine corps action in the South Pacific, folded his tent in a downtown park last night and quietly left with his wife and 2-year-old son.

The marine veteran told reporters the housing shortage had forced him to shelter his family by pitching a pup tent in Pershing Square park yesterday. But city authorities, mindful of an ordinance prohibiting habitation in public parks, ordered him to leave by midnight.

The Mizrahis, both 23, said they had been looking for an apartment since last March when he was discharged from the marines. He is now working as an upholsterer and they had been living with relatives.

Caught In The Middle

Reaction to the labor-industry speech of President Truman has reflected general disappointment. It represents the unhappy position of the compromiser. Had he advocated holding the line for industry—that is of no major wage boosts—industry would have upheld him while labor would have clamored for his scalp. On the other hand, had he sided entirely with labor and gone all the way on wage increases, industry would have cried to high heaven with the agony of death while labor would have sung his praises.

Perhaps the greatest criticism of the speech is that it really lacked clarity. The President said what a great many leaders have been thinking—that some wage increases are due; that they are in individual cases; that industry should be expected to come part of the way but not all the way. It seems to us that he dwelt with more force on the limitations of each of the parties to the industrial dispute and to make each more alert to its overall responsibility in the public interest.

Instead of stating with force a middle ground of conciliation, the speech tended to fluctuate between poles. Its lack of constance tended to fog its purposes.

However, the spirit of compromise is proper in most instances. The demands of 30 per cent increase in wages is, taken all in all, without justification, and especially when placed on the basis of 52 hours pay for 40 hours work.

On the other hand, most of the larger industries can stand wage increases. The margin of profits is such that most can meet the workers in some sort of adjustment of wages without materially altering finished product price levels. This is a fact even on the basis of admitted profits—and when the average business or corporation admits a profit you may be sure it is truly a profit.

In justification to the President, we should like to point out that in spite of all the clamor for a "labor policy" very little is possible except by negotiation between labor and industry. The average person who hears abuse on the government for lack of a labor policy means to say it does not attempt workers to labor for a fixed rate or does not force industry to give in. Without denying basic freedom, the government has power to do neither. At best, it can strongly recommend or referee.

With The News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Americans awoke today to another day of disturbing news, just as they have for many days past. Strikes, and any number of troubles great and small!

But the news they might have had today was not so come. Instead of awaiting word of perhaps 200,000 American boys who might have been facing a murderous, suicidal Japanese defense of Kyushu Island, thousands were waiting on both east and west coasts for veterans homeward bound.

Today would have been a crucial day on Kyushu but for the series of fortuitous circumstances which knocked out Japan less than three months ago.

Under the schedule fixed before Hirohito hollered quits, MacArthur and Nimitz would have struck against the Japanese homeland night before last. Presumably they would have been ashore today with most of 10 divisions, after a feint toward the Inland Sea around the strait between Shikoku and Honshu.

MacArthur planned to secure Kyushu for hte winter, consolidate, and strike about March 1 directly at Tokyo across the plains east of the city. The assault and immediate follow-through there would have involved 25 additional divisions, and no telling how many more in the following land campaign.

Unofficial reports from the general's headquarters before the end of the war said preparations would be made for an 18-month campaign in Japan. And the effect of the subjugation of the homeland on Japanese armies in China and Manchuria was still a matter of speculation. It was hoped that the beheading of the empire would wither its parts. Russia was expected to see that it did. But none could be sure. The British were leading their boats to cut off the Japanese in Malaya and the southwest "co-prosperity sphere" when the surrender came.

The Japanese have made it plain what they intended to do. They would have met us with suicide boats, with a Kamikaze for which planes and pilots were being saved and with every man who could stand in defense of his homeland.

The news is not always heartening now. But no hobbing, face-down bodies of American boys dot the surf of southern Kyushu, either, and it is almost Thanksgiving.

to others should volunteer to assist in the Girl Scout program. They may grow weary of their labors, but never will they have a sense of futility. Moreover, their viewpoint will remain young and hopeful, and youth will be blessed by their efforts.

Soviet Policy Reconsidered

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The French elections are the latest and the most impressive in a series of events which throw a great deal of light upon the paramount question of our relations with the Soviet Union. They show, I believe, that American policy and opinion have been badly confused by a mistaken estimate of the influence which the Soviet Union is able to exert beyond its own frontiers in Europe.

The underlying assumption has been that in the misery and chaos of liberated Europe, the masses of the people would naturally turn to the Communist parties inspired and supported by Moscow. On that there has been a remarkable tacit agreement among those who were ready to welcome the spread of Communism and those who were mortally opposed to Communism.

There are the best of reasons for thinking that it is extremely improbable that Europe, beginning in the east with Poland, could be organized in a Soviet system. If the worst happened, Europe might possibly sink into anarchy, and amidst general anarchy local dictators might appear here and there. But to organize a Soviet system in Poland, Italy, and France, and even, in Great Britain, is an undertaking which is almost certainly quite beyond the power of Moscow.

A Soviet Europe is either a nightmare or a Utopian dream: it is in any case an imaginary idea. Every attempt to impose the Soviet system upon Europe evokes resistance and reaction which would only grow stronger the more strenuous the effort to overcome them.

There is now an accumulating mass of evidence that the fundamental issue in Europe is not whether the Soviet system is going to expand westward to the Atlantic, or even to the Elbe, or even to the Vistula. No election anywhere has yet shown that the Communists have even a bare majority, much less the kind of overwhelming majority which would be necessary if a totalitarian state were to be established by popular consent. The fact also that the Kremlin is sponsoring not Communist but popular front governments—that is to say coalitions is additional evidence that even within the zone of the Red Army, they know they cannot rely upon the Communists to provide a government.

In the European countries, which are fully independent, there is not the slightest reason to suppose that the mass of the people think of the Soviets and the Red Army as their saviors. It is certain as anything can be that the great majority have no intention of trying to buy relief from their economic misery by surrendering those liberties which are more precious than life itself.

Finally, there are many strong indications that the discipline of the Red Army and of Soviet officialdom is tending to break down as a result of their contact with countries which are not Russian, and have not been subject to the indoctrination and discipline of the Soviet system. The reports are too circumstantial and too numerous to leave any doubt that underneath all the smoke of the stories about indiscipline and even desertion there is a substantial fire.

There is, I believe, a tendency for the Soviet power to disintegrate in Europe; our own is certainly diminishing and so also is the British. It would be only natural then that the Kremlin, especially if at the same time it is concerned with the succession to Stalin, should feel that it cannot now make firm agreements, and that it must re-examine its whole foreign position.

So also must we re-examine ours. The belief which has played so great a part in our own policy, that a Red tide was moving irresistibly westward, was a natural enough hypothesis in the days when the mighty Red Army was moving forward so majestically. But the hypothesis was untrue. It assumed falsely that the prestige of the Red Army, which was so high when it liberated eastern Europe, would continue and would even grow during the occupation.

With The AEF: Human Fly Attaches Self To Reporter

By HAL BOYLE

TOKYO, Nov. 1 (AP)—I am being haunted by a grownup atabrine pill with black hair.

He is a Japanese hotel room boy named Tetuo Umeko. He is 18 years old and about three inches taller than the hub of a jeep.

One week ago the hotel management assigned him to clean my room, and now I can't scrape him out of my life. He has left the room momentarily and that has given me this chance to slip the word of my plight to the outside world. Help! Help!

It is all my own fault. It began seven days ago when there came a knock on the door and Tetuo poked his head in. He was singing an old Japanese folk song and sounded like a porcupine with ingrown quills. He was laden with mops, brooms, rags, brushes and a ball of water.

"Hello," I said tentatively.

Tetuo bowed and answered pleasantly, "where is the toilet?" He didn't know what toilet meant; some American had taught him that the phrase was a polite good-morning greeting.

"Please, may I clean room?" he asked—and without waiting for a reply began swarming all over the place. By the time I had leaped out of bed and into my pants he had mopped the bathroom. By the time I had buttoned my shirt he had washed the window. I grabbed my shoes and escaped into the hall by wading through inch-deep water as he swabbed the floor.

He had done such a good job when I got back from breakfast I gave him a candy bar. That was my big mistake. Tetuo immediately adopted me, engulfed me with Japanese terms of praise, and at once set out to become my honorable valet, my honorable slave, my honorable mother and father, my patron and my business counselor.

For seven days now I have been trying unsuccessfully to break out of this human corral, this amber ocean of devotion. He is worse than seven times seven devoted wives.

Washington—

McKellar, The Horse Opera Fan

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

(Subbing For Jack Stinnett)
WASHINGTON—Senator Kenneth McKellar (D-Tenn.) has a chance to make some history just by serving out his nearly four-year term as acting vice president.

But he told me he was not interested in that although he thoroughly enjoyed this job.

McKellar, 76, took over the vice presidential duties more than six months ago, when President Truman moved to the White House. He already holds one Senate record—dean with 28 years service. To set the record for acting vice president, he must be reelected to the Senate next year, then be re-elected to the job by the Senate.

"I guess I enjoy this because I have always enjoyed work," the senator said. "I have been working since I was seven years old."

Senate veterans say the added responsibilities of vice president have tempered and mellowed McKellar. Before he became president pro tempore and later acting vice president, McKellar was a fiery opponent in many rough and tumble debates.

"I have not changed," he said, his eyes glittering. "The Senate has changed. It seems my way oftener now."

McKellar has some advantages over vice presidents. He can turn the chair over to a colleague and take part in debates or other activity. He always votes, and a mere vice president votes only in case of a tie.

President Truman invited him to attend cabinet meetings.

"The cabinet meetings are something new to me," he confided. "I have found them extremely interesting after all the time up here."

McKellar also wields powerful influence in the Senate legislative machinery. He has been acting chairman of the powerful Appropriations Committee for several years. Senator Glass (D-Va.), regular chairman, has been absent because of illness. McKellar also is chairman of the Post Office and Post Roads Committee.

In this latter role he demonstrated some of his oldtime form when he stepped down from the rostrum and explained legislation that will start a $3,000,000,000 road building program.

"It went through unanimously," McKellar recalled as he toyed with his Phi Beta Kappa key.

Only one thing about the vice presidential spot bothers McKellar.

"Some people said I wanted to be president pro tempore so that I could get the extra money as acting vice president," he said. "That's not true. I did not even know the law provided an increase."

McKellar's salary jumped to $15,000 when he became acting vice president, a $5,000 raise. He also acquired the two vice presidential autos, one a long limousine with chauffeur. The vice presidential offices, just off the Senate chamber, also are his. But he seldom uses them, preferring his old quarters in the Senate.

One of the hardest workers in Office Building.

McKellar seldom attends social affairs now. He does not smoke nor drink but relaxes now and then at the bridge table. "And I like the movies," he chuckled. "Every Saturday I drive out to a neighborhood theatre. They have the western shows. I like them with lots of shooting and riding."

Prince Edward Island is the smallest of Canada's provinces.

Washington Merry-Go-Round—

Pacific Boys Didn't Enjoy Navy Day

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Navy Day was a thrill for thousands here at home, but not for a million others going to seed on Pacific islands or twiddling their thumbs in Europe waiting for transportation home.

Transportation has come to be the biggest bottleneck of the whole discharge system. And what burns men up is to see transportation squandered by officers while they are powerless to get home. Here are some illustrations:

1. A total of 650 German horses were loaded on the SS Stephen Austin at Bremerhaven for transportation back to Fort Riley, Kas., the army's cavalry school. Many of them were race horses. Not only did the horses take up valuable space on a ship which could have carried G.I.'s, but an airplane load of brass hats flew across the Atlantic from Fort Riley to make sure their steeds got safely aboard. The boys who loaded the horses remained on in Germany.

2. Last weekend, top Air Transport Command officers gave No. 1 priority for three army planes to carry football personnel from Nashville to Washington. Of course, this was in connection with the ATC football game, but the boys sitting on Eniwetok or Saipan can't enjoy football, and airplanes could help to bring them home. (Many combat veterans discharged from Fort Lewis, Wash., have to ride 3,500 miles in day coaches.)

3. The other day a Liberty ship, the Connie L. Kluxton, arrived in Baltimore from Germany bringing only 47 soldiers but 15,000 tons of sand ballast. It's true that Liberty ships are not equipped as troop-carriers, but soldiers don't care much how they travel if they are coming home.

4. At San Mateo, Calif., two race horses were flown from Los Angeles. This was a commercial trip, but the boys overseas wonder why airplanes can be spared for such unessential travel when they can't be spared for them.

5. Down at MacDill Field Fla., Col. E. G. Simenson used two big cargo planes on a trip to his home in North Dakota to shoot pheasants. One of the planes was used to fly to the rescue of the other when the first went bad at Terre Haute, Ind. The colonel even carried a jeep inside the first plane to scare up pheasants after he got to North Dakota.

6. Simenson had been in Europe for a long time, his parents live in North Dakota, and nobody would begrudge him a visit home—especially since General Marshall and Gen. Hap Arnold also flew out to shoot pheasants.

But the thing the brass hats don't seem to realize is the effect all this flying around in big planes has on the men who would like to use those same planes to fly home. Until rank favoritism is eliminated, the generals will have a hard time building up the new 4,000,000-man army proposed by George Marshall—unless congress rams it down the G.I.'s throats.

10,000 Robinson Crusoes

Eniwetok atoll in mid-Pacific is just two miles long, one-half a mile wide. On it are crammed nearly 10,000 U. S. sailors and marines, falling all over each other, sitting on the beach, hunting shells, waiting, waiting for ships or planes to take them home.

On the island, Seabees are building a 3,000-man laundry, though no more than 500 men will ever be stationed on Eniwetok in piping days of peace. They are also building a 3,000-man ice-cream plant, a gigantic garage, a huge hospital, and luxurious Quonset huts for senior officers, with flush toilet.

A conference of officers was held the other day to encourage men to join the regular navy. A senior Annapolis officer gave a pep talk. Among other things he said: "Any enlisted man who does not wear a complete uniform at all times will be put on 10 days bread and water." (This after they had been allowed to wear any type of clothing for 19 months. Witness MacArthur's and Halsey's open collars.)

"Where can you get a better job than in the navy," he urged. "I am going to be pensioned at $4,500 a year from now."

But the boys on Eniwetok don't want to join the regular navy. They want to get home. They collect shells and look for ships, watch high-ranking admirals fly home in special planes and hear about U. S. harbors crowded with idle ships on Navy Day. Most of all they wonder what's become of Admiral King's "Magic Carpet."

With Navy Day it seems to have stopped moving.

Congressmen At Vatican

When house appropriations committee investigators stopped off to see the pope in Rome on their way home from a recent round-the-world tour, the pontiff received them cordially and inquired about the health of his visitors.

"We're all fine," replied stocky, fullback-built Representative Albert J. Engel, Michigan republican. "Not one of us has been ill on this tour and the same applies to our families—with one exception."

Engel pointed to Brig. Gen. W. L. Mitchell, who accompanied the committee on the 36,000-mile trip. "The general's wife presented him with a baby girl yesterday."

The pope congratulated General Mitchell and said that in addition to giving his blessing to those present, he would extend a special blessing for the well-being of the child, born in Washington, D. C.

"That's the longest one I have ever given," said his holiness, who impressed committee members by his modesty and informality.

Note—Aides of Myron Taylor, U. S. emissary to the Vatican, informed the committee that the pope had given shelter to more than 6,500 Jews, disguised as priests, nuns and brothers, in the Vatican during the war.

Tennessee Atomic Energy

A friend asked Representative Percy Priest of Tennessee, who graduated into politics from the city room of the Nashville Tennessean, how far the awesome atomic bomb factory at Oak Ridge, Tenn., was from his home.

"About 170 miles," replied Priest.

"Doesn't it make you nervous to be that close to the crucible of the most destructive weapon in the world?" asked the friend.

"Not at all," chirruped Priest. "This bomb doesn't frighten us. People in Tennessee have always been noted for their atomic energy."

"That may be true," wisecracked young Congressman Oren Harris of Arkansas, "but judging by some recent elections in your country, the Tennessee politicians are keeping things about as split-up as the atoms in that Oak Ridge plant."

Cotton Pickers' Revolt

It's been known for years that the south would be faced with a major industrial revolution as a result of the mechanical cotton-picker, but nothing has been done toward planning a program to combat the huge unemployment problem this machine is beginning to create. Inside of 10 years, according to an estimate made by the department of agriculture, 5,000,000 new jobs will be needed in the south—1,800,000 for families replaced by the cotton-picker, 1,800,000 for the number of pre-war unemployed in the south and the rest because of anticipated population increases.

Already the cotton-picker is on the market, with the department of agriculture encouraging its use in order to enable U. S. plantations to turn out cotton cheap enough to compete in the foreign market with Egyptian, Indian and South American cotton. But no provision has been made for finding employment for the estimated one-third of the farm families of the south who will be replaced by the machine.

Only bill now before congress to meet this problem is one by Representative Brooks Hays of Arkansas and Senator Josiah Bailey of North Carolina, providing for a study program to encourage new industries in the south. A $5,000,000 fund would be set up to provide technical assistance to new southern industries.

Hard-hitting Maury Maverick of the Smaller War Plants Corporation has been doing some thinking about the problem, too. Feeling that the Hays-Bailey bill is totally inadequate, Maverick is working out a program for widespread government-insured loans to industry necessary in order to assure wage levels which will maintain purchasing power in the south, without which local industries cannot flourish. Maverick is convinced that technical information will not solve the problem. Only solution, he feels, is action to make the south an economically sound section which can support the thousands of small business enterprises that are essential if disastrous depression is to be avoided in the south—and, eventually, throughout the entire country.

Year-Round School
Woods Planning
Summer Months'
Regular Program

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 2 (AP)—State Superintendent of Schools L.A. Woods, is advocating that "school keep" the year around.

He believes that putting children under continual supervision will prevent their using idleness to get into mischief, and cut down on juvenile delinquency.

The Summer months, said Dr. Woods in an interview, would be devoted to handicraft, physical training, fine arts, nature study and reading; an expansion of the present "recreation centers" held in most school districts.

By emphasizing recreational pursuits, children who are now truants would be attracted to return to school and teachers could keep closer tab on them during the balance of the school year, theorizes Dr. Woods.

There are 100,000 children not attending school in Texas and it is out of this group the delinquents grow, maintains Dr. Woods.

He stresses the need of arousing public sentiment to the point of demanding that school superintendents and boards of trustees enforce the compulsory attendance law.

"The United States last year spent fourteen billion dollars on crime conviction and only two billion on education," says Dr. Woods. "If we spend more on education we will have to spend less on crime."

Lakeview Rolls
Over Odessa
With Ease

Easily the masters, the Lakeview school Black Lions defeated the Odessa Black Broncos, 25-0, Thursday night at Steer stadium to record their fifth triumph in six starts.

Frank Miller's crew refused to bear down at any stage of the game. Otherwise, the score would probably have skyrocketed. As it was, the invaders, a docile clan that seemed awed by the surroundings and the opposition, were never in the ball game.

The Big Springers rushed across a pair of touches in the initial stanza, did nothing but repel a couple of mild threats in Round Two, then came back after intermission to tally in each of the final two stanzas.

Junior Crockett, who played a whale of a game all night, intercepted for the initial six-pointer when he split the line from inside the five-yard stripe.

That advantage was doubled shortly thereafter when Edward J. Wrightsall intercepted an enemy aerial and galloped 30 yards unmolested to pay dirt.

An alert Harry Dooley seeped through to gather in one of Seth Morgan's attempted laterals in the third quarter and waltzed some 35 paces across the double stripe.

The Lions added another to make sure of victory when C. P. Cooper found a weak spot in the Odessa forward wall and churned eight yards into the end zones. Claude Tucker added the point.

Lakeview had a decided edge in the statistical battle, rolling up 160 yards rushing to 55 for the foe. However, the Lions' passing game was an utter washout. The Broncos picked up 4 yards by going overhead but the homelings did not complete a pass.

The Odessans composed enough offense to negotiate successfully for seven first downs, as against six renewals for the resident eleven.

W. Wolf Death
Still A Mystery

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 2 (AP)—The death of William Wilson Wolf was still a mystery today, more than 48 hours after his body had been found at the foot of the seawall near the Galveston County fishing pier.

The Alvin, Tex., man was identified by a cash sales receipt through which Galveston police traced the victim's family.

One man has been arrested and another one is sought in connection with the death, attributed to a fall or by being struck by a broad object with homicidal intent, in Justice of the Peace James L. McKenna's inquest report.

Pope Blames Nazis, Not German People

FORT WORTH, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Nazi party, not the German people were termed by Dr. Kenneth Pope, pastor of the Austin Methodist Church, as being responsible for the "origin and perpetuation of the (Europe's) tortures."

Speaking before the Texas Methodist conference here last night, Dr. Pope, who recently toured Europe, said that America should "not question what people have done to us in the past. We should feed all of Europe."

Other speakers last night were Rev. Walter H. McKenzie, executive secretary of the United Texas Drys; Law Stone, President of Texas Wesleyan College at Fort Worth; Bishop A. Smith of Houston; and Rev. Dawson Bryan of Houston.

AMARILLO GIRL SIGNS TO PLAY IN LUNT-FONTAINE LATEST SHOW

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff
To the ladies:
Latest Texas beauty to hit the headlines in show business is Miss Ann Lee of Amarillo.

She has signed a contract with Lunt and Fontaine in New York and will have one of the leading roles in "Oh Mistress Mine." The Texas girl will play Lunt's wife.

Ann Lee has played with Gertrude Lawrence in "Lady in the Dark"; with Zazu Pitts in "Ramsackie Inn"; with Franchot Tone in "Hope for the Best." She has also appeared on radio.

Her only complaint is that she doesn't get home often enough. She likes to ride horses, cook, and help with cattle branding.

According to state law Texas A. & M. is not co-educational. But a lot of girls are living on the campus in a dormitory.

They are members of the A. & M. Ex-Servicemen's Wives club and live in Walton hall, a dormitory converted into apartments for veteran students. The girls' classes are in the form of club-sponsored lectures, demonstrations and projects.

Mrs. Marie Reynolds, the Australian wife of Norris T. Reynolds, is not one of those temporary Texans who go home and spread the rumor that the Lone Star state is fit only for Texans and rattlesnakes.

Mrs. Reynolds has written the Fort Worth Star-Telegram that she appreciated the "unlimited kindness and hospitality" shown her by Texans.

Capt. Bob Ward On Way To States

Capt. Bob Ward is confident enough he will soon be home that he has written Mrs. L. A. Eubanks, in whose home he once resided, to secure tickets for the TCU-SMU football game Dec. 1.

Capt. Ward, a former employe of Cosden Petroleum Corp., is due to leave soon from Bremerhaven for the States. He entered service in August of 1942 and has been overseas for approximately two and a half years.

Gordon O'Neill, another former resident in the Eubanks home, has been released from service after four years service in the signal corps, about three years overseas, and has returned here.

Over 250,000 Tex.
Vets Discharged

By The Associated Press
More than 250,000 Texas war veterans have been discharged from the services to date, Lt. Col. Paul L. Wakefield, Chief of the veterans division, State Selective Headquarters, announced.

The Colonel said the Texas figure represents approximately 10 per cent of the nation's total discharged to date.

In Dallas with a staff of officers from State Selective Service headquarters for a training conference with Dallas board members, Wakefield explained the high rate of discharged Texans over other states.

He said that the number of voluntary enlistments in Texas had exceeded the quotas assigned by the war department. Some 750,000 Texas men and women have served in the armed forces.
