

War Dept. Adopts A New Policy Designed To Curb Land Speculators' Profit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Estimating that land speculators had cost it nearly $500,000 in two months, the war department inaugurated a new purchasing policy today to enlist the weight of public opinion against profiteering on defense factory sites.

The $500,000 "take" which speculators have realized, an official said, was on the land for the only seven plants for which contracts thus far have been signed. The plants, valued at $111,000,000 will be privately built and operated, but government-financed and owned.

With more than $500,000,000 yet to spend on increasing production facilities for munitions and airplanes, the department has feared that continued operations of the speculators eventually would chisel a multi-million-dollar slice from the funds urgently needed for buildings, machinery and tools.

In the future, a spokesman said, the intended locations of new army-financed factories will be announced as soon as selected, with the hope that public announcement will forestall land scalpers.

In the past, efforts were made to keep plant locations secret. Invariably, news of the location leaked out. Congressmen, government officials and civic organizations, eager to report good business news for their communities, often disclosed locations prematurely.

CROSBY FIELD, CINCINNATI, Oct. 7 (AP)—Bucky Walters put on a one-man show today as he pitched and batted the Cincinnati Reds back on even terms with Detroit in the world series. The tall moundman shut out the Tigers, 4 to 0, allowed only five hits, and batted in two runs, one on a homer over the left field wall. The win clinched the series at three victories each, with the final coming up Tuesday.

The National leaguers started off with a bang, getting two tallies in the first with four blows off Schoolboy Rowe, who was replaced by John Gorsica. Werber doubled, was advanced on M. McCormick's sacrifice, and tallied on Goodman's single. F. McCormick and Ripple got safeties to score Goodman.

The Reds added another score in the sixth, Wilson making the tally after he had singled, and was advanced by a walk. He beat a throw home on a fielder's choice, when Walters topped one to third.

Bucky Walters kept the Tiger hitters well sufficed, allowing only scattered hits.

The score by innings:

Berlin Sends Armed Troops To Rumania

Purpose Is To Forestall 'Sabotage' At Oil Centers

BERLIN, Oct. 7 (AP)—Entry of German troops into Rumania to make sure that the Balkan kingdom "won't go wrong" was disclosed today by authorized Nazi sources.

Although they gave no estimate of the size of the German armed contingents, these sources readily explained the purpose of the infiltration:

First and foremost, uninterrupted delivery of oil and gasoline from Rumania is essential to the German war machine, Nazis say. Germany is afraid British agents may commit sabotage at important oil centers. Planning to help build a large naval and air base near Mamaia on the Black sea, also to help in construction of a wide highway east and west across Rumania and in enlarging the submarine factory and base at Galati.

(British reports, quoting Bucharest sources, that Italian troops also had entered Rumania were not confirmed in Rome.)

"We haven't forgotten British designs on Baku and other oil points," these sources commented, thereby hinting that military protection of oil fields is perhaps the prime motive in sending troops into Rumania.

"We don't do these things for fun," these sources said, referring to Germany's guarantees of Rumania's frontier after the Vienna award.

TO BOLSTER DEFENSE

BUCHAREST, Oct. 7 (AP)—Wide-spread evidence existed in Rumania tonight that all branches of Germany's defense forces as well as German industry were planning to aid and buttress the defense of Rumania.

It was learned reliably that this aid was on the way although official German and Rumanian quarters insisted that reports that large numbers of Nazi troops, with tanks and guns, already had arrived in the country were "premature."

Jas. A. Nelson Dies At Age 91

One of the West Texas pioneers who came to Howard county before the turn of the century, James Allen Nelson, passed away early Sunday.

Mr. Nelson, who would have been 92 years of age November 7, succumbed at 6:30 a. m. at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Emma Smith, 110 Nolan street.

Mr. Nelson came to Howard county 45 years ago, and for many years farmed in the Center Point community. He had made his home with his daughter since retiring from active work. He had been ill for an extended period.

The funeral service was conducted at 2:30 Monday afternoon at the Eberly chapel, with Rev. Homer Sheats, pastor of the Assembly of God church, officiating. Burial was made in Mt. Olive cemetery.

Grandsons of Mr. Nelson served as active pallbearers. Honorary pallbearers were B. O. Jones, S. A. Hathcock, John Wolcott, T. S. Currie, B. Reagan, Joyce Fisher, Bernard Fisher, Ira Driver, M. H. Morrison and Arthur Woodall.

Besides Mrs. Smith, Mr. Nelson is survived by a son, Allen Nelson, and two other daughters, Mrs. E. R. Braubers and Mrs. J. H. Harper, all of Big Spring. There are also 31 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Struck By Car Man Is Injured

A. B. Winslett was in a local hospital suffering from a fractured leg as the result of being struck by a car at the eastern edge of town Sunday.

N. E. Glendenning and J. L. Brewer, Tarzan (Martin county), occupants of the car which struck Winslett as he walked eastward along the highway, stopped to give aid and reported to police.

Officers said Winslett had sustained a broken leg. Glendenning, driver of the car, told police he had passed a car just before going up Coleman hill and stopped when he thought he had struck something.

'Did Not Want One So Beautiful To Go To Dust'

Keeps Body Of Girl In Room For Seven Years

KEY WEST, Fla., Oct. 7 (AP)—Officers arranged a hearing today for a 70-year-old man, who, they charged, kept in his bedroom for seven years the body of a young woman with whom he fell in love before she died.

"I did not want one so beautiful to go to dust," Deputy Sheriff Ray Elwood quoted the man as saying.

Booked as Karl Tansler van Cosel, he was placed in jail in default of $1,000 bond on a charge of removing the body from a vault without permission.

The officers said Van Cosel explained that he removed the body from a vault two years after the 19-year-old woman died, took it to his isolated home and used wax to repair and preserve it.

Elwood said the body, clad in a silk robe with a veil over the face, lay in a single bed near a bed on which the elderly man slept. Gold bracelets were on the wrists and an artificial rose in her hair.

Hundreds Of Planes Take Part In Renewed Mass Assaults On London

SERIOUS FACES AS AXIS DIRECTORS MEET—Here are Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini, with Germany's foreign minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, as they met in Il Duce's armored railroad car at the Brenner Pass. Authoritative Berlin sources hinted that they had decided upon a definite plan of action for a knockout blow against England.

Congress May Recess Until November 18

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Congress met today hopeful of reaching some decision on whether to take a recess until after election.

Speaker Rayburn said he would offer a resolution for a recess until Nov. 18, and senate leaders said that if the house so voted, they believed their chamber would quickly concur.

The temper of the house was uncertain, however, and some thought that a long recess might be defeated in favor of a series of three-day recesses under an agreement that no business be transacted on the days congress reconvened to extend the recess another three days.

The latest threat to the elusive recess was the controversy which has developed over the informal ruling of Attorney General Jackson that decisions of the national labor relations board were "binding and conclusive" on all government departments.

Critics charged that such a rule might mean that firms convicted of violating the Wagner act would be denied defense contracts, to the detriment of the department program.

Taber (R-N.Y.) said he thought congress should act to overturn Jackson's informal ruling.

The house was expected to give quick approval during the day to a compromise version of the Ranspeck civil service bill and send it to the president.

WOMAN AND SON FEARED DROWNED

HOUSTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—The Brazos river, three miles from the Richmond bridge, was dragged to day in an effort to locate the bodies of Mrs. Edith Marie Kendrick, 26, and her 5-year-old son Gerald, believed drowned yesterday.

Mrs. Kendrick, with her son, went to the river to wash some clothing. Footprints were found leading to the river but none leading from it.

RALPH BAKER NAMED COUNTY SURVEYOR

Howard county had a new county surveyor Monday.

County commissioners court accepted the resignation of V. V. Strahan, who had held the post for many years, and appointed Ralph W. Baker, veteran Big Spring civil engineer and surveyor to the post. Baker posted the required $1,000 bond and was installed.

Strahan is moving to Lamesa where he has acquired the Sinclair bulk station agency.

Morgan Awarded Postoffice Work

Work order for developing and improving the basement of the federal postoffice building here was expected soon by Postmaster Nat Shick following an announcement Monday in Washington of a contract award on the job.

The public buildings administration announced that J. M. Morgan & Co., of Big Spring had been awarded the contract on a $11,615 bid for the job. Morgan was allowed 90 days to complete the job.

His bid was 107 among 147 bids submitted and opened in Washington two months ago.

Improvements contemplated include the finishing of the east half of the basement, converting it into office spaces, and installing a stairway to the basement on the north side of the building.

Federal agencies operating in Big Spring likely will be quartered in the offices provided by the building program.

Farmer Found Fatally Shot

STANTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—O. W. Flannigan, farmer, was found dead of wounds inflicted by a heavy gauge shotgun at his home ten miles northwest of Stanton this morning at 10 o'clock.

Justice Lynn White returned a verdict of accidental death. It was found that Flannigan had stumbled at a gate while going out to his cow lot to kill a hawk.

S. Hightower, employed by Flannigan, heard a shot about 9:30 a. m. but did not discover the body until thirty minutes later.

The charge entered Flannigan's left side and coursed upward.

Flannigan is survived by his wife and three daughters, Doralene, a student at Texas Technological college, Mary Frances and Mattie Lou.

Governor Horner Of Illinois Dies

CHICAGO, Oct. 7 (AP)—The political temper of a presidential election year simmered today as a whisper in Illinois today as the body of the late Governor Henry Horner lay in state for a military funeral tomorrow.

The 61 year old only two term democratic Illinois governor died of a heart and kidney ailment early Sunday at suburban Winnetka after a two years illness.

Official mourning for ten days, with flags at half staff on all public buildings, was proclaimed as the first official act of the new governor John Stelle, who banned a discussion of politics until after the funeral.

STEAMER AFIRE

THOMASTON, Maine, Oct. 7 (AP)—Mackay radio intercepted a message here today reporting the British steamer Wearwood afire in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

Some Of Raiders Reach Heart Of British Capital

LONDON, Oct. 7.—Droves of German bombers hammered the war-scarred London front with renewed mass assaults today, and some of the 450 planes were estimated to have been used in penetrating to the central city.

Twelve of the raiders were shot down, the air ministry announced in ferocious air battles in which the Germans were balked from reaching the capital in three of their five determined stabs.

Eight British planes went down.

There were some fatalities and property was demolished by explosives dropped in parts of London outside the central area.

Dover, Eastbourne and "certain other towns" in Kent, in the southeast, also were damaged the air ministry said.

The intensified attacks followed London's first quiet night in a month. Newspapers played up the "big news" that residents got a good sleep.

Brilliant sunshine succeeded channel storms and clouds which ground out both British and German fliers last night.

However, the air ministry said its bomber squadrons made daylight attacks from the northern coast of the Netherlands to Boulogne, France, yesterday and did much damage among shipping, barges and airfields in a steady unfolding of the "master plan" to destroy Germany's ability to make war.

Some counteraction is to be expected in the Far East, too, informed sources said, indicating opening of the Burma road to Chinese war supplies may be announced soon as a result of Japan's joining Britain's enemies in an axis alliance.

Continuing preparations for a steady winter of war on the London front, Health Minister Malcolm MacDonald announced a plan for comprehensive removal of women and children to billets in the country.

Two more landmarks, Westminster Abbey and Lambeth Palace, have suffered from German bombings of London, it was disclosed today.

Westminster Abbey, ancient burial place of the famous and setting of the brilliant coronations of British kings and queens, was damaged by a bomb which exploded across the road near the entrance to the House of Lords a few days ago. The concussion caused damage to the Henry VII's chapel.

Lambeth Palace, residence of the Archbishop of Canterbury was badly damaged by the collapsing of the central wall, the archbishop disclosed at a diocesan conference.

Daylight raids, starting with attacks by single or small groups of planes, broadened into a series of thrusts with large numbers taking part.

The third daylight alarm was sounded in the London area as German planes, flying singly, by twos and threes, flew over the southeastern part of the city and also over the southwest coast.

Bursts of machine gun and anti-aircraft fire told of brief battles during the second and third raids, and apparently the bombers were driven off.

But later they returned over a southwestern London district, and were met by ground fire and British fighters.

Some yellow-nosed Messerschmitts dived on the balloon barrage at Dover, and shot down two of the big sausesages.

The Germans took advantage of bright sunshine which succeeded thick clouds and storms yesterday and last night, when air activity was greatly reduced.

Enough Help Has Volunteered For Registration

County Clerk Lee Porter said Monday that virtually enough people had volunteered their services to insure speedy handling of registration under the conscript plans for Oct. 16.

At noon Monday a total of 126 persons had listed their names as available help during the day, and there were many others on the courthouse staff prepared to assist in the registration of males from 21 through 35 years of age.

While it appeared that the number volunteering to assist was large enough to permit the working of short shifts, it was felt that the number registering in the county might be considerably larger than normal conditions would indicate.

Cotton pickers, now flocking to this section, will be required to register if in the proper age bracket, possibly swelling the county total considerably above the 3,000 figure.

What's In A Name

Garden Flower Club Organized In 1926 By Pioneer Resident

By MRS. J. M. MORGAN

Everyone who is interested in community beautification should know of the Garden Flower Club of Big Spring, of how it came to be; what it has done, and the very positive results of its influence and activity.

The idea of the Garden Flower Club was born in the mind of one person.

Mrs. J. M. Morgan, pioneer civic and church worker of Big Spring, who organized the Flower Garden Club on January 25, 1926.

The idea had been growing in Mrs. Morgan's mind for a long time. As a little girl, Mrs. Morgan loved flowers. Like her mother, who pioneered this country, she carried seeds and cuttings from her old stock, each time she moved to some new place, to beautify the new place. When she came to Big Spring, she brought seeds and plants and cuttings to start a new yard and home. She began to plan and plant and to interest her neighbors in planting flowers, by dividing her plants and seeds with them.

Seeing the need of much improvement in the city, along the lines of home and yard beautification, Mrs. Morgan suggested to members of the City Federation, the idea of a flower show.

It was out of this, the first Flower Show ever held in Big Spring, in October 1925, that the Flower Garden Club had its beginning. Mrs. B. Reagan and Mrs. J. M. Morgan were appointed as a committee to make plans for the show. In a clipping from the Big Spring Herald in October 1925, it stated:

"Mrs. J. M. Morgan, mother of the City Federation's Flower Show, very anxious to organize a Home Garden Flower Club. She wants to urge every woman in Big Spring to become a member of this club. There will be no dues for membership, but everyone is invited to enroll in the club and state your intentions of cultivating beautiful flowers."

At last, the Garden Flower Club was organized on January 25, 1926.

Important for Women

A weak, run-down condition often gives a foothold to functional dysmenorrhea, causing much periodic distress from headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain for women. CARDUI so often helps in such cases, for it sharpens appetite, boosts flow of gastric juices; so improves digestion, helps build physical resistance. CARDUI, if taken a few days before and during "the time," also helps to relieve periodic distress. Used 50 years.

Miss Laneous Notes

By MARY WHALEY

Sometimes we discover definite traces of Mr. Miquelot in our independent nature.

When it comes to notices like "close cover before striking" that warns on the match covers, we can ignore it with deadly calm. When signs say "slow down, curve ahead," we do or we don't, depending on how the matter strikes us at the moment.

But when it comes to magazine stories that say, "reading time 10 minutes, 14 seconds," we feel honored to make the story in the allotted time. Not too fast or not too slow.

We feel it would be letting down the fellow that went to all the trouble to check the time if we read to find if boy gets girl or cop gets criminal and our time doesn't jibe with his.

Sitting with an eye on the clock, we read by fits and starts, slowing up if the going seems too fast or speeding down a column if time is getting short.

When the miracle of ending up on time happens, we feel pleased all over as if we have kept faith with the time checker. If we don't finish the home stretch according to his figures it seems as if his is a wasted life and his job in jeopardy.

But the concentration on making the deadline is usually so intense that the details of the story often remain vague in our mind.

It's a defect in our character that we can't just ignore the time tabulation but so far it has been beyond our control to stop.

Angela Adams had to have a pair of silver slippers for a party. She wanted low heels, loads of style, size 7AAA and she didn't want to pay more than ten dollars.

Angela Adams went down town to "look." She dashed here and she dashed there. She stuffed her protesting feet into seventeen pairs of silver slippers. Some were too high at the heel, some were too expensive few of them fit. Finally, in desperation, she took a pair of gold ones, with high heels, size 7AA.

Angela Adams had a horrid time at the party. She was too tired to be gay. She couldn't dance because her feet were killing her. She retired to the dressing room, and took off the offending shoes. A sympathetic maid gave her a paper to read.

Angela Adams dropped to the floor with a low moan the paper spread open to an advertisement which read:

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

General Provisions

1. Q—I now have a job. If I am called for training and give up my job, can I get it back after my training is completed?

A—Congress, in the selective service law, seeks to insure that men called for training will regain their jobs. If the job is with the federal government, its return is guaranteed. If the job is with a private employer, it must be returned unless the employer's circumstances have changed so as to make it impossible or unreasonable to do so. If the job is with a state or local government, congress advises that it be restored.

2. Q—What must I do to get my job back?

A—If you have completed your year's training and are still capable of holding the job which you gave up to enter training, you must make application for re-employment within 40 days after the training is completed.

3. Q—If the employer will not re-hire me, what can I do?

A—You can take your case to the U. S. district attorney who, if he believes you are entitled to re-employment, will file suit in federal district court against your former employer to force him to rehire you and compensate you for any losses due to his failure to comply with the reemployment provisions of the law. The district attorney will act as your attorney, and no court costs can be assessed against you.

4. Q—Will I lose my seniority and benefits such as insurance, by giving up my job to go into training?

A—The law provides that all persons who give up a job to enter training shall be reemployed in the same position, or in a position of like seniority, status and pay, without any loss of seniority or benefits such as insurance.

5. Q—I have already enrolled in college for the school year 1940-41. Will I have to drop out of school to report for training?

A—You can be called for training, but you will not have to report before July 1, 1941, giving you a chance to finish the school year.

6. Q—What will the men called for training be paid?

A—The base pay for those called under the selective service program will be $21 a month for the first four months, and $30 per month thereafter.

AN ANALYSIS OF THE WAR DEVELOPMENTS

By DEWITT MACHENZIE

Those who have been wondering why the remarkably efficient British Royal Air Force hasn't devoted more energy to reprisals against Berlin for the fierce bombing of London have a complete answer in England's disclosure of her strategy of industrial and military destruction in Germany.

The fact is that the killing of civilians has no military value whatever, unless public morale is shattered in the process. By the same token the damaging of such hallowed monuments as Westminster Abbey serves no military purpose.

On the contrary, civilian bombing is costly in airplanes, in the gasoline which is so valuable as to be like liquid gold, and in the loss of pilots who cannot be replaced excepting with men who have had long training.

So the British have adopted their strategy of concentrating their attacks on purely military objectives and especially on industrial targets like the vast Krupp munitions works at Essen which were bombed again over the weekend.

This line of counter-attack is calculated to serve the double purpose of crippling the enemy's vital resources and through that of shattering the morale of the population. It is based on the certainty that no matter how great a war-machine a country may possess, that machine can't be made to function if the nation's industries have been shattered.

This strategy is emphasized by the British air ministry in an accounting of its stewardship to its people. More than 700 bombing attacks against enemy objectives are covered in a lengthy pamphlet. Much attention is devoted to the vital oil industry, German oil plants having been "continuously and heavily attacked." This is especially important because both gasoline and lubricating oil are involved. Machinery can't run without lubrication and Germany is said to be very short of oil for this.

One purpose of this disclosure undoubtedly is to explain to the long-suffering Britons why raids against Berlin aren't more frequent when London has to live under a rain of death. To an understanding people like the English, this explanation will be ample.

N'Ark Attempts To Cop Series Tonight

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 7 (AP)—The Newark Bears, intent on showing up their Kansas City cousins, will send George Washburn, ace of their pitching staff, to the mound tonight in an attempt to register their fourth victory over the Louisville Colonels and snare the little world series trophy.

Confronting the International league playoff winners, however, will be the ominous figure of Cecil (Tex) Hughson, Colonel hurler who was credited with the American association's only victory thus far in the four games played of the best-of-seven series.

Newark gained its third victory over the Colonels 6 to 2.

Plane Mishap Fatal To Seven

By the Associated Press

Seven persons were killed and another was injured in three Texas airplane accidents over the weekend.

Claude Eure, 60-year-old pilot, and four passengers in his plane fell to their deaths after an air collision late Saturday near Velasco. The other ship in the collision was piloted by Eure's 21-year-old son, Willard, who managed to land safely despite the loss of a propeller.

The fatally injured passengers were Dave S. Crowley, about 60, of Velasco; his son, J. P. Crowley, 21; T. J. Knowles, about 45, Freeport; and Hugh Jolly, 40, Freeport.

Scott Strauch, 29, N. Y. A. instructor at Roy Inks dam near Burnet, and William Jordan, 26, of Katemey, Mason county, were killed Sunday when Strauch's plane crashed in a field near Katemey.

Frank Graves, 18-year-old private flying student at Beaumont, suffered a cracked pelvis Sunday in the third mishap. Graves pulled his ship out of a spin but was forced to land in a wood.

Bill Dehlinger, Jr., left Sunday for Marshall hospital and Mrs. William Dehlinger, Sr., will leave Tuesday to be with him.

Operator Of Bonnie Lee Shop Is Beautician Of Long Experience

Twelve years as a beautician, with nine of these spent in Big Spring, is the way statistics stack up for Mrs. Bonnie Lee Coburn, owner of the Bonnie Lee Beauty parlor at the Eouglan hotel.

Mrs. Coburn, who has lived in Big Spring practically all of her life and is a native Texan, began her present shop with a partner whose first name was Lee. They combined their two first names to give the shop its name.

It was then located at 211 Runnels where they stayed for a year, and then Mrs. Coburn moved the shop to its present location on April 25, of this year.

There are five operators including Mrs. Coburn at the shop and these are Kitty Hall, Lilly Pachall, Fay Morgan and Maida Carper.

The shop is equipped with seven dryers, manicuring tables and all equipment found in a modern beauty shop. It offers both machine and machineless permanent waves.

With an original hair style created by Mrs. Coburn, the shop was recognized as first place winner in a show held here last September with 120 models competing. The show was sponsored by the Beauticians club and was a district convention.

Mrs. Coburn has never done any other type of work to "amount to much," she says and really enjoys the work of a beautician.

Sterilizing Unit Conforms To Quarantine

With new sterilizing equipment installed and equipment overhauled virtually complete, the Big Spring Cotton Oil company plant here is preparing to go into its second season of production, possibly this week.

While machinery has been in the process of reconditioning and the sterilizing unit installed to meet requirements of handling seed in a plank bollworm quarantine area, the company has been laying in stores of seed for the beginning of operations.

The plant has a 60-ton daily capacity with its four high-debitay presses which can squeeze 2,800 gallons of oil and leave kernels enough for 600 sacks of cake and meal each day. By products of these are up to 18 bales of lint and approximately 17 tons of cotton seed hulls in capacity runs.

45 Pct. Protein

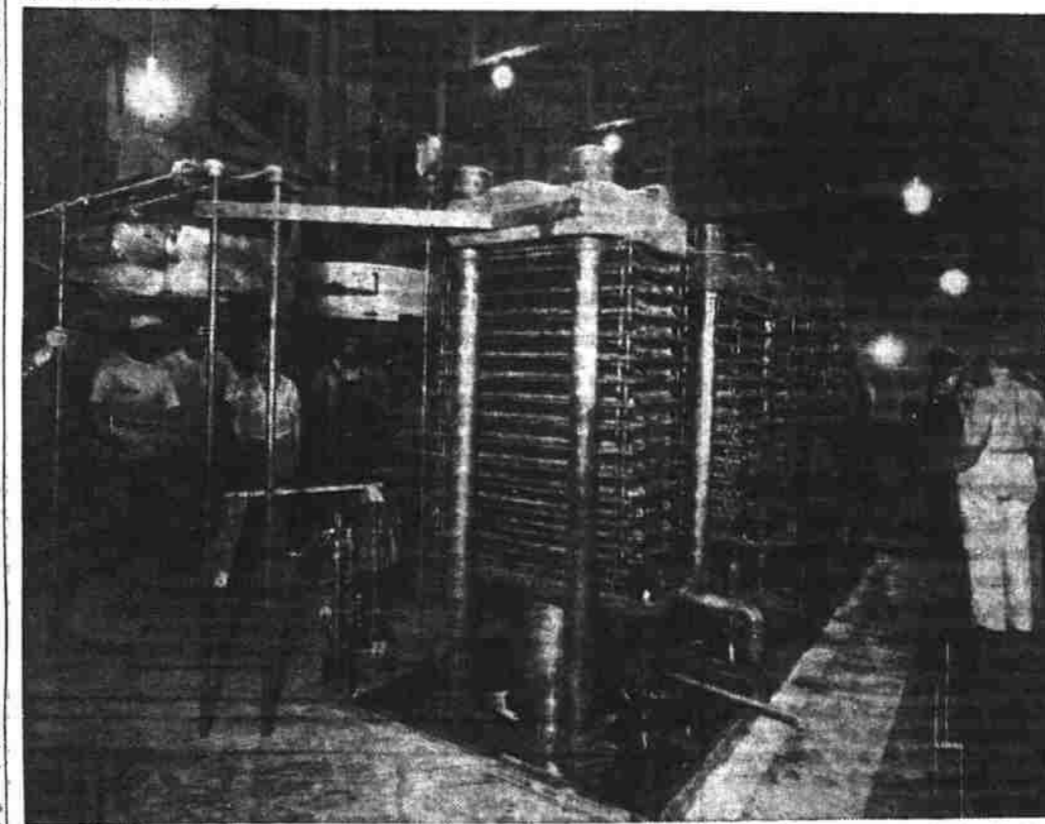

Products are 43 per cent protein and have found ready markets in this area.

Seed brought to the mill are first sterilized, cleaned, de-linted, cracked, cooked and then pressed. Initial production comes from lint—the fuzz on the seed—which has many and varied uses, not the least of which is gun cotton in a time such as this. Hullers shell the kernels which are shunted into cookers, from whence they are delivered to hydraulic presses with hair mats. The oil is extracted under 4,000 pounds pressure to the square inch and the refuse is processed into either pellets, cake or cottonseed meal. Cotton seed hulls also remain as an important by-product.

How long the mill operates is dependent largely upon the amount of seed available. This year the supply is problematical with heavy cotton yields indicated in some areas and comparatively light returns elsewhere.

But as last year, the plant is ready to take seed from over a large area and will swing into operation this week to start turning out the rich vegetable oil and meal.

FREE FROM FUZZ are cotton seed after they pass through the linters room at the Big Spring Cotton Oil plant here. These batteries of whirling maw strip all but the thinnest layers of short lint from seed before they are cracked for the cooker. Linters, totaling several bales a day at the mill, have many uses.

SEED KERNELS PART WITH OIL under terrific pressure of 4,000 pounds per square inch at the Big Spring Cotton Oil Mill. Oil is stored and shipped to refineries in tank car lots, while the remainder is made into cake, pellets or cottonseed meal for livestock feeding.

Low-Lucas Station Is Modern, Well Equipped

Three factors combine to put Low and Lucas service station in a position to deliver on the slogan—"The place where you get the job done right."

The station has a new building along modern designs, complete equipment, and more important than these it has experienced operators, Bill Low and Arch Lucas.

Located at 509 E. 3rd street, the station is situated on one of Big Spring's busiest thoroughfares and on the Broadway of America highway.

An authorized Phillips station, the concern offers either Phillips 77 gas, an extra quality, high performance gasoline, the familiar and time-tested Phillips 66 and the Phillips Unique gasoline, and fine motor oils.

In addition, the station carries a line of accessories and utility parts such as fan belts, tank caps, light bulbs, etc. Besides these, Lee's tires are sold by Low and Lucas.

Other than giving service to cars, the plant is so arranged for quick, efficient lubrication jobs. Adjacent to this compartment is a specially arranged place for washing and polishing automobiles.

Big Halloween Event Planned At Seagraves

SEAGRAVES, Oct. 7—In anticipation of the gigantic crowd expected here for the gala Halloween celebration and Herbie Kay dances Oct. 31, an additional 2,000 feet of floor space is being made to the north side of the building and will accommodate about 125 couples.

Advance ticket sales for the dance are brisk, Jack Stewart, manager of the Seagraves chamber of commerce, sponsor of the event reported.

Four prizes for features in the celebration have been announced as plans progress for the celebration. A prize will be given for the best man's costume, a prize for the best woman's costume, and a prize for the best juvenile (under 14 years of age) costume.

In addition, an old fiddler's contest will be held early in the evening as an extra feature and a handsome prize will be awarded the winner. Persons desiring to enter the contest are required to leave their name and address at the Seagraves chamber of commerce office.

Research May Eliminate Bomber's 'Wing Flutter'

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UP)—Harvard engineers soon may solve the plagues of high-speed dive bombing—the "wing flutter." Findings are being kept secret.

Dr. William Bolloy, who is working with factory engineers, says further experimentation is needed, but they have "a fairly good idea as to the solution."

Dr. Bolloy explains that "wing flutter" develops at speeds of about 500 miles an hour from the effect of wind. No country has invented devices whereby a plane can reach the 600-mile-an-hour limit in horizontal flight without flutter," he reports.

Harvard uses models in wind tunnels to study the problem.

White Population Rises To 25 At Point Barrow

POINT BARROW, Alaska (UP)—A white population of 25 persons, largest on record at this Arctic outpost, is making Point Barrow a bit "crowded" for Charles D. Brown, self-styled "king of the Arctic."

An operator of the trading store here, Brown is one of Alaska's best known pioneers. The white-haired trader is known to thousands of Eskimos, miners and fishermen.

"There was a time when I was the only white man north of Nome and the only law west of the best and white," Brown recalled.

Brown is nearing 80. He settled at Point Barrow when a youth.

New 'Safety Rim' Wheel Reduces Blowout Hazard

Always one of the industry's leaders in discovering new ways to improve safety of the modern automobile, Plymouth Division of Chrysler Corporation again introduces a new "four-star" safety development for 1941. Jones Motor company is a Big Spring dealer showing the new Plymouth models.

Latest achievement of Plymouth's researchers is a new "Safety Rim" wheel design, that by gripping and holding a flat tire securely on the rim, even at high speeds, greatly reduces the hazards of blowout or puncture. The new type wheel is standard equipment for 1941, on all Plymouth models throughout the line.

Secret of this newest safety advancement, value of which must be measured in terms of accidents prevented and possibly actual saving of life, lies in the special formation of the rim that securely locks the tire in place on the wheel.

This formation prevents the head of the tire from working loose when air pressure inside the tube is suddenly released. On the new Plymouth wheel, at speeds above 40, a completely flat tire gives the same driving effect as having about 10 lbs. air pressure left in the tire.

Bodies retain all the safety features for which Plymouth received the 1940 National Award from Safety Engineering Magazine, and in addition present important additional safety design details.

Automatic door checks on the new 1941 Special Deluxe models prevent doors from closing while driver or passenger is entering the car. Trunk lids are counterbalanced, move easily up or down at a touch or remain in any position without support, thus preventing accidental falling of the lid.

This year's new "Safety Signal" speedometer has a translucent needle designed for better night visibility of the warning light that changes color—green, amber or red for different driving speeds. Above 30 miles per hour, this translucent needle changes from green to amber, and above 50, changes again to a warning red.

On the new, restyled instrument panel, all instruments and controls are again grouped back of the wheel, out of the way—with the rest of the board smoothly rounded and free from dangerous protrusions of any kind.

Other important safety features are retained in the latest models from previous years—among these special Plymouth developments for which the company was honored with this year's Safety Award.

Ab Jenkins Collects Outmoded Racing Cars

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UP) For "sentimental reasons," Ab Jenkins, Salt Lake City's racing mayor, would like to recover an old racing car he built in 1905.

And for "reasons more practical" the Ogden, Utah, fire department is more than willing to turn the car over to Jenkins.

The racer, built to travel better than 100 miles an hour, is always first at a fire, but city officials who build it to their fire department say it is "practically worthless" because it carries two men but no equipment.

Jenkins will add the car to his collection of outmoded racers.

Editorial

There are folks who are prone to declare that newspapers usually sell their "influence" to politicians and corporations and to anyone else who has money. This declaration presupposes that newspapers have "influence" that they can parcel out like a storekeeper does merchandise, and that they do this for the benefit of the person or organization to which they have sold themselves.

Newspapers have no such influence. Everybody knows that in the presidential campaign four years ago more newspapers that are considered influential supported Mr. Landon than supported Mr. Roosevelt, yet Mr. Landon was slaughtered by the voters. The alleged influence of the newspapers was at any rate not great enough to overcome the influence of subsidy payments, WPA and other emergency employment, and favor the unknown, untried ability of a candidate trying to oust one who had been distributing patronage four years.

The sensible editorial policy of a newspaper does not expect nor want to influence people. That policy publishes the news, knowing that people are influenced by news—by accounts of what is being done, has been done and will be done—rather than by editorial expressions. Editors do give their ideas of what results certain things recounted in the news of each day will bring, but they do not expect those editorials to change the minds of readers of the news in their columns. The candidate who has numerous newspapers opposing his candidacy need have no fear if his record is clear and his character decent. Nor can an unfit man be elected because he may have the support of several newspapers if the voters are aware of his actual character and unfitness.

Newspapers do not sell influence. They sell news and advertising and leave it to the people to do what they think is best. Newspapers often advise, but like all other advice there is no compulsion to follow it.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—Capital chatter: Census figures recently released put Washington, D. C., 37th in the list of states in the matter of population. That leaves 12 whole states which haven't as many people as the District and makes more laughable than ever that legislative quirk which doesn't permit residents of the District to vote, to have representatives in either chamber of congress, or to govern themselves. The District population exceeds the combined population of Delaware, Wyoming and Nevada. These states, together, have six senators, three representatives and nine electoral votes for president and vice president. But the District can't even elect its own dog-catcher.

I'm not trying to start anything, but the same blueprints that served as model for the 1936 inaugural stands will be used in 1940. The secret came out the other day when the joint congressional committee in charge of inaugurations told David Lynn, capitol architect, to get busy. That put Mr. Lynn on the spot. Should he build Roosevelt stands or Willkie stands? Being something of a philosopher and nothing of a politician, Mr. Lynn got out his 1936 plans, dusted them off, and decided they would do . . . in any event. The '36 stands were uncovered, provided accommodations for 17,000 persons. President Roosevelt approved of them four years ago, so Mr. Lynn, without even looking at the national polls or holding a moist finger in the political wind, figures he couldn't possibly be more than half wrong.

Here's the story about Rep. Sam Rayburn's gavel. It was given to him six years ago by two youths who made it in a Dallas, Texas, high school. When it was presented, Mr. Rayburn expressed his gratitude and added that he would use it when he became Speaker of the House. The late Henry Rainey was then speaker and there were 13 representatives in point of service (always an important matter in selection of the speaker) between him and Rayburn. But Mr. Rayburn did become Mr. Speaker and when he dropped his order in his first day in the speaker's chair, he was swinging the gavel which six years ago he promised Charles and Clary Bates would be used for that purpose. Incidentally, the Bonham, Texas, representative is now the third ranking member of the government the outranks the cabinet members, the chief justice of the supreme court and governors of all states), which, with Vice-President Garner back in town gives Texas something of an edge in ranking around here.

Don't think there was anything funny about that resolution of Senator Thomas of Oklahoma calling for a national survey of air-raid shelter possibilities. The senator's telegrams to 26 governors and 17 mayors of coastal and border states and cities have brought a swamp of approving replies. And now it leaks out that the war department will be out soon with a pamphlet on how to prepare bomb shelters and air raid warning systems. The pamphlet will be preceded by a statement or foreword explaining that it is not meant as even a hint that there is any likelihood of any city being attacked from the air . . . but that this is just part of our defense program.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Quick now—and no guessing—which is stronger, heredity or environment? We don't know, and maybe this won't get us anywhere, but during a visit with Bette Davis the other day we saw a jug of cider and a box of big red apples on her table . . . Even ten years in Hollywood couldn't get New England out of her.

Here is the sad story of Captain Eugene LaBarre of the N. Y. Police department. The captain also is conductor of the World Fair and New York police bands. After rehearsing 18 hours with his band for the big police show at Madison Square Garden, he strolled across the fair grounds and got into his car, which was parked on the side of the road. Hitched to the windshield wiper was a police ticket for over-parking.

Another traffic offender of the week was Doris Dudley, the blond actress, who was due to go on the air for a "Meet Mr. Meek" broadcast and had only a few minutes to get there. When the cop finally herded her car into the curb he got off his motorcycle, took off his gloves, strolled over and said bluntly "What's your name." She told him. Instantly he brightened.

"Aren't you really going to eat me alive?" asked Doris incredulously.

"Not this time," he replied, "my sister is your cook."

This started out to be a column about Bette Davis but it seems to have trailed off into anecdotes. We're apologizing and skipping right back to Miss Davis tonight, the reason being that she impresses us as being a very determined person. The way she shakes hands is impressive. She really shakes your hand. The way she moves through a crowd is also impressive. When you see her start from one side of a room for the other you know she's going to get there. She isn't a young woman who is easily dissuaded.

An example of this innate confidence in her convictions, which sometimes runs counter to the convictions of her employers, is to be found in a play that she bought a couple of years ago. Miss Davis read the play, liked it, and saw great possibilities in it for herself, either as a stage presentation or a motion picture.

But her studio, Warner Brothers, didn't share her enthusiasm. It attempted to dissuade her. Finally the studio agreed to permit its production on Broadway (with some other actress) with this provision: If it clicked as a stage play, Bette could then portray it on the screen.

It didn't click. It opened on Broadway under the title of "The Woman Brown" and proved an abrupt failure. As I recall, it ran about a week. That seemed curtains for the idea as a film, but Bette still thinks otherwise. She thinks it would make a superlative movie, or even a play. And maybe she's right—if she played the leading role. The quality of performance that went into "Of Human Bondage" couldn't put just about anything over.

This eastern vacation, no win its sixth week for Miss Davis, has been one of frequent commuting between her farm at Franconia, N. H., and Broadway. Her escort to all the new shows and the night clubs has been her good friend and ex-husband.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

EN ROUTE FORT WORTH, Tex.—Stream of unconsciousness:

A rose is a rose and Gertrude Stein can jolly well fly if she likes to and who said she likes to but what in heck am I doing sitting here with the ground falling down and away. Away down South in Dixie is where Fort Worth is.

Shut up, you know better than anybody what you're doing. You're going to see a movie in Fort Worth because Sam Galdwyn made one and in a weak moment (weak like a 24-sheet) decided to gale premier-whoopia it in Fort Worth. It's a movie called "The Westerner," and that's why you're up in the air and your stomach is down on the ground and you wonder what weak moment sent you up in the air.

That's Walter Brennan down the aisle, and Mrs. Brennan, and they say it's fine when you get used to it, and that's Gary Cooper. Gary's standing in the aisle talking about how smooth the air is and about the time he took a trip and it wasn't so smooth. Look away, look away. The management will not be responsible for lost articles. But look here—it is smooth, so let's forget the whole thing and talk to Lillian Bond across the aisle. Lillian is Lily Langtry in "The Westerner," and what a pity she has such a little role when the story is practically wrapped around the character of the Jersey Lily.

Phonix, Down, out for coffee. In, up again. Gary Cooper is loquacious—he's on his favorite subject, boasting. Doris Davenport, the Cinderella girl, is listening in. She's Gary's leading lady. Few years ago she was an extra. Went to New York, was "discovered," brought back.

"But it wasn't all a dream," she says, "there was plenty of hard work that wasn't in the original Cinderella story." Chill Wills, the "Boom Town" boy. He's from Texas—Seagoville. In show business since he was 13. Gettin' along fine in vaudeville until talkies. "Then I had to turn handsprings for hamburgers." Chill's sleepy. Gary's sleepy. Wait and Mrs. Wait are sleepy. Everybody's sleepy.

This train has stopped. El Paso. It's off again, and it's not a train, it's a plane. Sleep some more. Sunrise. Wow—pink on the Texas plains and hills. Breakfast with Mrs. Brennan, early riser. Gary says he'll sleep some more, never mind breakfast. Texas in review below, patterns and figures. The snaky Brazos river coiling in the plain. . . Weatherford, home of Mary Martin and fine watermelons. . . Pretty little toy town. . . Fields and greenery. . . Lakes and woods. . . Then buildings, many of 'em, and tall, like an art director's model sets for a metropolitan movie, so far below. . . The model town gets bigger and cheery stewardess says fasten up for the landing and it's Fort Worth and here we are and they are—Fort Worth, out early and waiting with yipples and glad hands and autograph books and this Cooper lad is amazing, in there grinning and shaking hands and signing books and having his picture taken—and so are all the stars and it's a big day ahead for everybody.

Memory Of The Moon

Chapter 13
Confidential Conversation
Constance heard herself pleading. "The cow wasn't there last night, I know, Lamson, my very own man, watches this one." Dr. Wing shook his head. "You know the law," he said. Constance sank down on the edge of a trough. She knew Slaughter of all diseased cattle. Loss of the herd. A check on the outflow of milk from El Cabrillo Dairies until a test had been run on the entire place . . . and even then the stigma.

"Doctor Wing, there's a good chance they didn't contract it in this very short time, isn't there?" Michael Mahoney had never bargained more eagerly. "Give them a chance. Let me have the whole herd driven to the inner valley. We can isolate them for the period of quarantine. It isn't just the money and the reputation of the ranch, it's—" She looked at the nearest cow regarding her with patient eyes. "Oh, I like the fool things," she explained. "I just can't have them slaughtered for nothing."

Doctor Wing thought for a few moments. "You've been having a lot of subversive activity lately, haven't you, Miss Cabrillo? I came here on a tip telephoned the office. I'd like to find out who's doing this. Call your man and we'll see about it."

Lamson came forward. "See anything unusual about that herd?" Doctor Wing asked him. Lamson looked them over, then turned to Constance. "Hi say," he burst out, "ow did she get in here?" And he cut the stranger from the herd.

Wing was satisfied. "Remember, Miss Cabrillo, this quarantine means dry cows. Is it going to be worth the feed?"

"Yes!" "All right, I'll stay with the drive. But first let me telephone for some men. They might as well do the disinfecting you'll need at the old cattle barns."

Pedersen took Wing to the telephone, then came back to Constance. "I won't be able to learn anything from anyone," he said with the slow anger of his race. "There's something queer about this place. It seems to close in against strangers. To keep on, means eternal vigilance, and—"

Constance knew what he meant. Pedersen was beginning to wonder if it was worth it. So was she, with the best-producing herd on the place in quarantine. Slowly she went back to the ranch house, stepped into the patio and stopped short. Juliana was dressing a gash on Don's cheek. Nadine was crying softly and Donna was hysterical. "That damned horse of yours," shouted Don.

Constance wheeled and ran to the stable. A high shrill whinny greeted her. And then the stable door opened and the stall, tearing streaming down his face. "He's had hurt," he sobbed. "Your brother was mad at him. . . see...this leg here." Constance saw the leg and other marks—"Get Doctor Wing, he'll be at Barn Three. Tell him to hurry." She soothed the horse, ran a caressing hand down his neck and along the flanks where muscles twitched, and when he quieted she leaned her head against him. Don had tried to break Pancho. . . He had broken her. When her enemies struck at her through defenseless animals, she was whipped.

"The Key Turns
"Nasty gash on his leg here, and some other nasty things," Doctor Wing pronounced after his examination. "Whoever did this ought to be horse whipped." Constance nodded. But who would do the whipping? Neither Don nor Donna had ever been corrected for any wrong they had greeted her. And then the stable door opened and the stall, tearing streaming down his face. "He's had hurt," he sobbed. "Your brother was mad at him. . . see...this leg here." Constance saw the leg and other marks—"Get Doctor Wing, he'll be at Barn Three. Tell him to hurry." She soothed the horse, ran a caressing hand down his neck and along the flanks where muscles twitched, and when he quieted she leaned her head against him. Don had tried to break Pancho. . . He had broken her. When her enemies struck at her through defenseless animals, she was whipped.

Taylor would buy in. Pedro would come home to Peter. She had a little money left over, she could offer it to the family if they would leave. She'd find work some place where she could board Pancho nearby. Pedro had said Michael Mahoney wouldn't give up until he'd been thrown in the Bastille and the lock had been turned on him, and even then he'd hope his luck would turn at the zero hour.

Constance, leading Pancho to his new quarters and coaxing him to eat, felt she was in the Bastille; the key had turned, but she had no hope. There simply wasn't any way out.

Dr. Wing's farm lay on the opposite side of Beachport. Reaching town again, Constance remembered she had had no lunch. She didn't feel like dining with the family or Peter Taylor, but where in Beachport could she go looking as she did? The little waterfront cafe?

It was early. She went through to the last booth and drew the curtains of dull green baize. She had just given her order when she felt the shock of someone sitting down in the opposite booth; a heavy, tired body.

And then she heard voices, and from her weary, defeated pose, sat up alert. Pedro and John Raskthorne were in the next booth.

At the sound of Pedro's voice, Constance found her unruly heart picking up its beat. Pedro, in Beachport. She hadn't known where he was. By mutual agreement, his name hadn't been mentioned to her at the Taylor's.

And now he was here in the booth next to her; only a thin sheet of laminated wood between them. But he was with John Raskthorne.

"All right, Raskthorne," Pedro's voice was inclusive. "Why do you want the ranch to fall?" John laughed easily. "It isn't the ranch I want to fall, Taylor. But, man to man, would you want to marry a girl who was more interested in the percentage of butter fat in milk than she was in you?"

"I wouldn't marry a girl who loved land better than me," snapped Pedro. "I waited for Constance for six years," Raskthorne went on. "At first I thought it was the ranch that lay between us, a psychological rival, something she couldn't understand. And then, quite by accident, she let me know she looked upon the ranch as a means of keeping her family in funds so they wouldn't be dependent upon the man she married; namely, myself.

"That's why I backed her; gave her a chance to put it over." "Of course," he admitted, laughing. "I'd made a pretty thorough investigation of it before I turned the money over. I'm not in the habit of backing the losing horse." "Stick To Business" Constance wondered exactly what Pedro saw that made his voice so crisp, so . . . so contemptuous. She wondered that she could sit there, listening, when she felt as she felt, or was it that the day had given her so many shocks she was numb?

"You found," Pedro went on, "that Miss Cabrillo's interest in success had passed the point of providing for her family, and that if she succeeded you would never be able to separate her from the ranch."

"Something like that," John conceded. "I felt if I could get her away, knowing she couldn't run the place herself, she'd be a little less . . . independent."

"And so," suggested Pedro, "you stirred up an insurrection among the loyal Cabrillo employees; the men who were steeped in Cabrillo tradition; children who liked to lay in the sun and let the Cabrillos provide their food and shelter and occasional wine."

John Raskthorne's answer came in a voice like a silver of ice. "I have done nothing of the kind."

"Didn't you," pursued Pedro, "when you knew the itnessa feeling over the discharge of the first employee, say in the presence of Juliana that the loss of the hay would cripple Miss Cabrillo? Didn't you say it was lucky there were no electric storms here to set fire to it?"

"And haven't you right along suggested everything that has happened, even to telling, last Sunday, about a ranch that was forced to close down because tubercular cows were found among the herds?"

"You have an excellent imagination, Mr. Taylor. Are you sure that you were not the one to make these suggestions?" "Quite sure," retorted Pedro, "because I have the word of someone present on each occasion, that you spoke as I said."

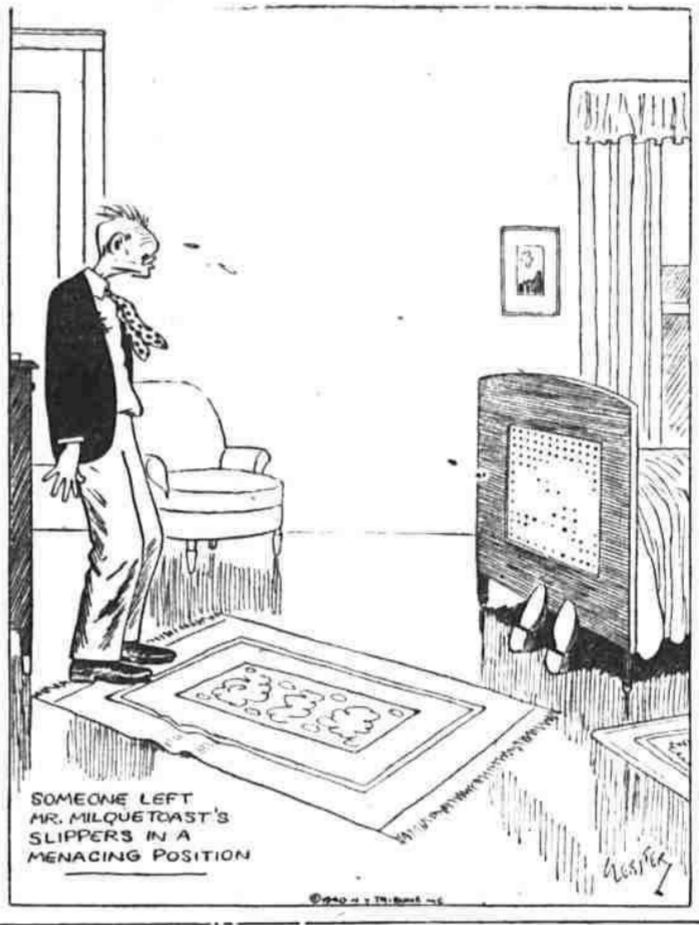

Constance clung to the edge of the bench. John had wanted her to lose. John who had first protected his investment so that he couldn't lose. And he wanted her to marry him, expected her to. "I didn't know you had been seeing Miss Donna right along," offered Raskthorne gently. "Midnight rendezvous?"

Constance didn't hear Pedro's reply because . . . because she knew, suddenly, that Donna had been seeing Pedro; Donna, excited, mysterious, had been slipping out of the house at night. And that was that.

"Personalities will not help us," Pedro was saying, "suppose we stick to business. You want to rid Miss Cabrillo of the ranch, and I want to buy in."

"Can we compromise?" "To be continued."

Scenic Mountain may be getting a little unsafe in the wee hours. Another report of robbery on the mountain was received by police at 1 a. m. Sunday by police. W. D. Ellison, LeRoy Hanks and Jeff Bressendine told officers that a man, whom they could not describe, had stepped on the bumper, broke the back window of their car and relieved them of $5.

Mrs. Una Covert, who suffered a fractured hip at her home in Lone Beach, Calif., about a month ago and who was brought to a local hospital shortly thereafter, has been removed to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nat Shick. She is doing as well as could be expected.

A hold burglar removed a screen and snatched a five-tube radio set just inside the window at 705 Runnels street at 3:30 a. m. Sunday, said police who answered a call to the address by Evelyn Gossett, nurse, who was awakened by the noise.

Texas To Get Housing Units For Military

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—Allocation of $45,762,500 to the public buildings administration for construction of 70 defense housing projects for the army to provide at least 13,000 dwelling units was announced today by John M. Carmody, Federal Works administrator.

Construction contracts will be negotiated on a cost-plus-limited-fixed-fee basis.

Eight of the projects consisting of 1,950 dwelling units will be for occupancy of civilian defense workers and the balance for married army personnel.

The act under which the housing will be constructed gets a limit for each unit of $3,500 for land, utilities and services.

The average unit will consist of living room, combination dining room and kitchenette, two bedrooms and bath. They will have refrigeration and cooking facilities.

The following list shows some of the projects, their location and number of dwelling units (project unless designated civilian): Fort Sill, Okla., 150; Fort Bliss, Texas, 200; Fort Clark, Texas, 50; Ellington Field, Houston, Texas, 200; Advanced Flying School, San Angelo, Texas, 100; Brooks and Kelly Fields, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, 200 and 300.

Hague Called 'Puny Hitler'

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 7 (AP)—Describing Mayor Frank Hague in Hague's own Jersey City as a "puny Hitler," Wendell L. Willkie appealed today for preservation of civil liberties as an important part of national defense.

The republican nominee for president called Hague, democratic national vice chairman and state leader, "the principal promoter of the third-term draft, if such it is," and said his city was the site of "the greatest bunch of corruption and racketeers that ever appeared in America."

Speaking under heavy police protection in Journal square—where Norman Thomas was "deported" when he tried to talk in 1938—Willkie told a throng estimated by supporters at 15,000: "I call on you in the interest of the cause we represent to bring civil liberties to their full functioning in Jersey City. If we do that and the people do that in every community, our precious rights will remain."

For seven and a half years, the candidate said, "the new deal has preached to our people a doctrine of bitterness."

Associated with it, he declared, "are men like this puny Hitler here who says who shall and who shall not be received courteously in this great state."

TELLS OF BUND MILITARY TRAINING—Richard Werner, above, 36-year-old New York chef, told the Dies committee in Washington that the German-American Bund in New York City had been trained for "the day" when a government similar to Germany's would take over the United States. Werner, who said he joined the bund in 1938, showed the committee a leather strap such as he said was used "in combat" in a New York City disturbance which he did not identify. Werner said he resigned from the bund last February.

Three car collisions near Big Spring were reported over the weekend, but only property damage resulted. One was on the north highway, another on the cotton oil mill road and a third east of the airport.

Cotton picking season is definitely here. Four of the eight cases for drunkenness filed in corporate court Monday were against Mexican pickers, obviously celebrating the harvest by having to pay fines amounting to more than they make in a week.

The largest attendance ever recorded by East 4th St. Baptist Sunday school was realized Sunday when 591 persons attended the classes, according to assistant pastor, Rev. A. B. Lightfoot. And to make it a record day, 36 persons attended the mission services that are conducted by W. R. Puckett.

Jimmie Miller, a Cross Plains product, has moved to Big Spring and is now employed at Walker's pharmacy, boosting the population by one.

After a business trip to Illinois that lasted for several months Sam Goldman has returned to Big Spring. Misfortune beat him just outside St. Louis, when he was in a car collision and suffered concussion and other injuries. He's still weak and shaky but glad to be back home.

Says Wealth Destroyed By Carelessness

CHICAGO, Oct. 7 (AP)—Col John Stilwell, president of the National Safety Council, said today that "those who destroy the country's wealth through negligence which leads to accidents" were as much a menace to the nation as fifth columnists.

In an address written for presentation to the 29th National Safety Council, Col. Stilwell said that America was "threatened from within as well as from without" and the "internal enemies—not all of them foreign agents—are by far the more dangerous."

"Along with the fifth columnists we might include those who destroy the nation's wealth through negligence which leads to accidents. Employers who are indifferent to conditions in their shops which lead to accidents and occupational diseases are giving actual aid to the enemy, as are those whose driving menaces other users of the highways."

Col. Stilwell, who is vice president of the Consolidated Edison company of New York, Inc., said that the world today "is seeing the destruction of untold billions of wealth, the aftermath of which will require penny-saving economies for years to come. Accident losses, which seem trivial in contrast to the destructiveness of war, will not be regarded as tolerantly as in the past."

Physician Killed, Mother Injured In Collision

FORT WORTH, Oct. 7 (AP)—Mrs. Eugene M. Amerson of Hillsboro was in a serious condition today at a hospital here of injuries sustained yesterday near Alvarado in a crash which claimed the life of her son and that of a negro riding in a truck which figured in the crash.

Funeral arrangements for the son, Dr. Young Amerson, 25, a Roscoe physician, are pending. The body was taken to a Hillsboro funeral home.

The negro victim was H. T. Henderson, 19, of Marlin, one of seven negroes injured when a truck loaded with negro cotton pickers collided with the car occupied by Dr. Amerson and his mother. There were 18 negroes in the truck.

The body of the negro victim was brought to Fort Worth and the six negroes injured were treated in a Cleburn hospital and then transferred to their homes in Marlin.

Mrs. Amerson is suffering from a head injury, cuts and bruises.

MARKETS Wall Street

NEW YORK, Oct. 7 (AP)—Stock market leaders slipped in the final hour today after early attempts at a rally brought little response.

While weakness was rarer, and modest plus signs were to be seen here and there, declines were well distributed at the close.

Today's turnover of around 400,000 shares was the smallest for a full session in about two weeks.

ELLIOTT TO DAYTON

FORT WORTH, Oct. 7 (AP)—Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, and his wife left by automobile today for Wright Field at Dayton, Ohio, where he will report for duty as a captain in the procurement division of the army air corps.

SUPREME COURT OPENS NEW TERM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 7 (AP)—The black-robed supreme court justices marched slowly into their marble-columned chamber today to open a new 1940-41 term that may produce far-reaching decisions on national defense problems and on constitutionality of the wage-hour act.

Refreshed by their summer vacation, the jurists appeared to be in excellent health.

U. S. CORRESPONDENT MUST LEAVE ITALY

ROME, Oct. 7 (AP)—Herbert Matthews, Rome correspondent of the New York Times, has been asked to leave Italy, Stefani, official Italian news agency, reported today.

The dispatch for which Matthews was expelled was that read Friday by President Roosevelt at his press conference. Matthews said he was asked to leave not so much for what he wrote as for the political use made of it.

(President Roosevelt read without comment a Rome dispatch to the New York Times which said "the axis is out to defeat President Roosevelt because of the president's foreign policy and because of everything for which he stands in the eyes of the Italians and the Germans.")

FOR YOUR DANCING PLEASURE, the West Texas Fair presents Johnny "Scat" Davis, above, and his famous orchestra! His band and floor show will be featured in dinner dancing at the Supper Club the nights of October 10, 11 and 12. The clowning Davis was fame and success as a movie star before organizing his orchestra, which in the past two years has rocketed to a position of prominence in the nation's leading dance spots. Today... America depends on the Telephone

"One, if by land, and two, if by sea." better method of communication—the telephone.

Today America needs no midnight rides like Paul Revere's. For this country now is protected by a vast telephone system owned by more than 600,000 American people, employing nearly 300,000 skilled men and women, and used by Americans from coast to coast.

In emergencies today, Americans turn to the telephone, knowing they will receive fast, dependable service—a telephone service backed by the nation-wide resources of the Bell System.

One hundred years later, in an attic only a few miles from the starting point of history's most famous ride, Alexander Graham Bell gave the nation a faster, better method of communication—the telephone.
