

Eight Persons Die As Huge Plane Wrecks

United Airliner Hits Ground While Trying Chicago Landing

CHICAGO, Dec. 5 (AP)—The death early today of two men brought to eight the number of persons killed in the crash of a United Air Lines plane near the Chicago municipal airport.

Eight others were injured. From the lips of survivors and an examination of the wreckage, investigators sought an explanation for the accident which occurred when the 21-passenger airliner, inbound from the east, plunged nose first into a vacant lot a scant 200 yards from the airport about 6 p. m. last night.

Witnesses said that the big craft apparently lost flying speed when coming in for a landing and dropped from a height of about 150 feet. The plane grazed a three-story apartment building, broke an electric power line, smashed the gable of a bungalow, and demolished a frame garage before coming to a stop.

Flames shot out from the smashed nose of the plane as it struck the ground. City firemen extinguished the blaze which was confined to the pilots' compartment. The pilot, co-pilot and four passengers were dragged from the wreckage dead or dying. Of the survivors only one was reported in a critical condition.

J. H. Herlby, vice president in charge of operations for the line, scouted the theory that ice formation on the wings might have caused the crash. He said that pilots are required to radio reports of icing and that none had been made by the plane crew. Investigators for the Civil Aeronautics Authority withheld announcement of their preliminary findings.

The dead: Capt. Phillip C. Scott, 34, Chicago, the pilot.

First Officer George S. Young, 30, Oak Park, Ill., the co-pilot.

Stuart W. Moore, U. S. ordnance engineer, Cleveland.

Wilbert J. Austin, 64, Cleveland, president of the Austin Company, a firm of industrial engineers and builders.

Miss Jane Selby, 27, Akron, O., employe of a Chicago candy company.

Les F. Haneline, 38, Downers Grove, Ill., eastern division superintendent of reservations, United Air Lines.

Keller F. Melton, 40, Chicago, WPA safety engineer.

Charles W. Manville, 38, Cleveland, general sales manager National Refiners' company.

The flight began at New York and stops were made at Philadelphia, Akron, O., and Cleveland. Dissatisfied with the performance of the motor, Capt. Scott was given another plane at Cleveland to which crew and passengers were transferred.

A light snow was falling when the plane reached Chicago. Weather reports put the ceiling at 1,300 feet and visibility at one mile. Planes had been landing in routine fashion.

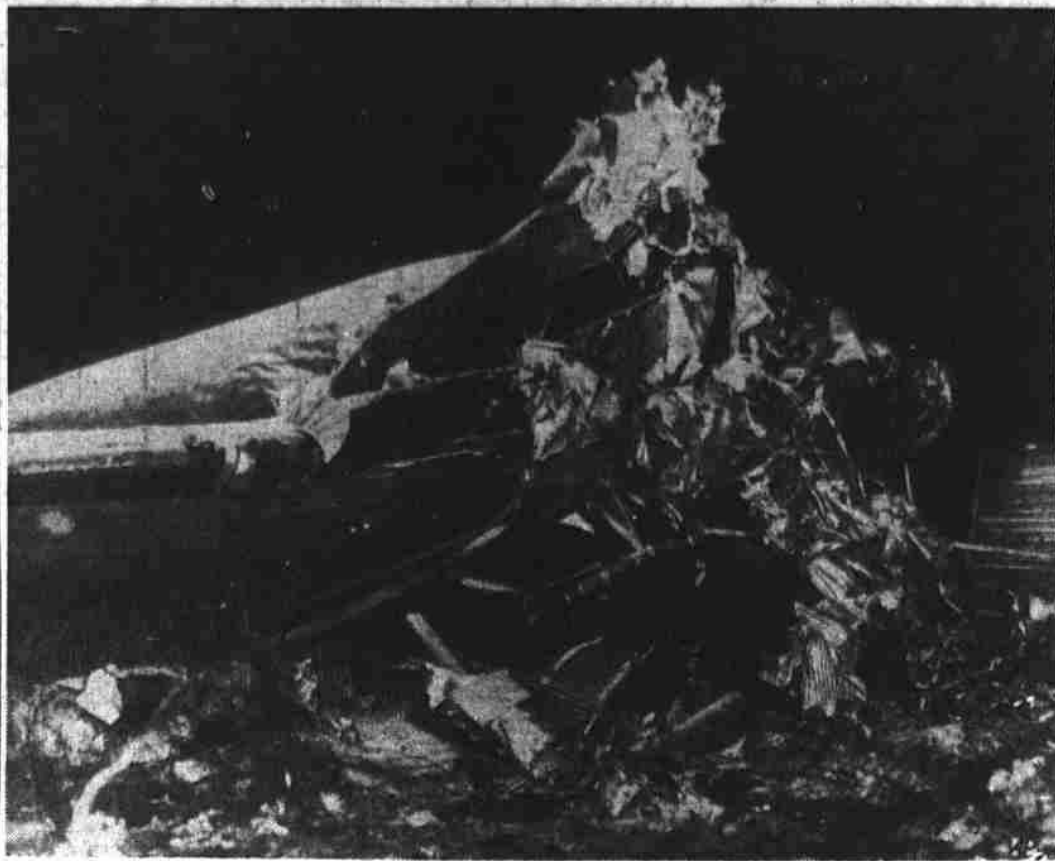

The airliner circled the airport for 25 minutes awaiting landing orders from the traffic control tower. It headed in from the southeast after getting clearance orders and Co-Pilot Young radioed that the ground could be seen.

Richard Rocas, an employe at the airport, said the plane was making a "perfectly normal" approach to the field when suddenly the motors roared as if the pilot tried to attain height.

"The plane's nose dipped down and it turned slightly to the left," he said. "Then it hit the ground and broke into flames."

SUCCESS FOR SOLDIERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP)—The army changed official regulations today to provide that occupants of tanks and other combat vehicles need not get out and salute when the national anthem is played.

GIANT AIRLINER CARRYING 16 CRASHES—Here is a view of the shattered wreckage of a United Air Lines transport plane which last night crashed in a vacant lot a block and a half from the Chicago municipal airport. One wing was partly sheared off, the nose was pushed back into the fuselage as the plane struck the ground. At least eight persons of the 16 aboard were killed.

Sheriff-Elect Rowan Settles Is Gravely Ill

Rowan Settles sheriff-elect of Howard county, was in a grave condition at the Malone & Hogan Clinic-Hospital Thursday afternoon.

At the hospital it was reported his condition was unchanged. Nature of his illness was not learned immediately.

Settles, 42, has resided in Big Spring and Howard county all his life and for years was associated with his father, B. H. Settles in operation of a transfer company.

He was elected to the office of sheriff in November after winning in the democratic nomination in the run-off primary. It was his first time to run for office.

Always a husky individual, Settles first became ill about a year ago. Between the two primaries he suffered a brief illness, but recently when he returned from the peace officers training school at Austin, he told friends he felt the best he had in months. This week he suddenly became ill and his condition rapidly became serious.

GEORGIA CO-ED WINS TUMMYACHE AND CURE

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 5 (AP)—Jessie Christie won all her bets on the Georgia-Georgia Tech football game but she's taking her time collecting.

Winning by the University of Georgia co-ed were: Thirteen steak dinners, ten soft drinks, three movies and $6 cash (which will buy a lot of bicarbonate of soda).

BRITISH CREDIT GETS OKAY OF MORGANTHAU

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today that he, like Jesse H. Jones, the federal loan administrator, believed that the British government was a "good risk" for loans.

The treasury chief made the comment at a press conference after arranging to meet tomorrow with Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the British treasury, who arrived in the United States yesterday.

Asked when the British would need credits, Morgenthau replied: "If I knew the answer to that question it would not have been necessary for Sir Frederick to have come over."

"He has been here twice before," Morgenthau said, "and he has never asked for anything before."

Phillips was in Washington today, but Morgenthau said that he was not coming to the treasury until tomorrow.

Porto Edda, Argirocastro Due To Fall

LATE BULLETIN BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Dec. 5 (AP)—Greek troops entered Porto Edda today and were expected to occupy Argirocastro tomorrow.

ATHENS, Dec. 5 (AP)—Greek forces launched dawn attacks today on Porto Edda and Argirocastro, Italy's last remaining big bases in the southwestern corner of Albania, according to a Greek report from the front, and the two cities were reported about to fall.

The main road from Porto Edda, Albania, was said to be under Greek control, but this left open escape by a tortuous coastal route, less improved than the main road running through Argirocastro.

One report, however, said Porto Edda was completely cut off from communication with the rest of Albania. Porto Edda, formerly called Santi Quaranta (Forty Saints), was renamed for Premier Mussolini's daughter, wife of Foreign Minister Count Ciano.

A dispatch from the Argirocastro area said that the Argirocastro radio station had been silent since last night shortly after it was officially stated in Athens that the Italians were withdrawing from Argirocastro toward Tepelini.

The Greek army earlier announced the capture of the key town of Premet on the central Albanian front.

The fall of Premet followed fierce fighting in which the Italians suffered heavy casualties and the loss of considerable equipment, the high command reported. More than 500 fascist troops were said to have surrendered.

Premet is about 15 miles inside the Albanian frontier.

Reports received here said Mr. Walker, 34, was asphyxiated by escaping gas fumes in his bedroom, and that Mrs. Walker was made seriously ill. She remains in a hospital at Cutbank and will be unable to attend the services here.

Mr. Walker, reared in this county, had been in Montana for the past five years. He was a drifter.

Besides his wife, survivors are his mother, Mrs. J. W. Walker of Knott; and two sisters, Mrs. Jake Spalding and Mrs. Roy Phillips, both of Knott.

Crude Prices Lowered And Gas Goes Up

Unsettled Conditions Prevail Over Much Of Oil Industry

HOUSTON, Dec. 5 (AP)—Headlining the oil industry's tumultuous price situation today was the announcement by Republic Oil and Refining company here of a cut in crude oil prices averaging 20 cents a barrel in 10 Southwest Texas fields, all in coastal areas.

Meanwhile, oilmen watched the gasoline price situation. Following the Texas Company's lead Monday of increasing gasoline prices, an average of one cent a gallon, all major companies, with one exception, had announced they were meeting the Texaco increase. No announcement had been made by the Gulf Oil corporation.

The Republic crude price cuts were effective at 7 a. m. today and affect about 28,000 barrels of oil daily or more than 600,000 barrels a month. Republic announced it would pay $1.13 cents a barrel for 40 and above gravity crude in the Saxe and Minnie Bock fields of Nueces county and in the Plymouth, Midway and East White Point fields of San Patricio county. The new schedule calls for a one-cent differential for each degree of gravity down to 93 cents a barrel for 20 to 20.9 gravity oil.

The company will pay $1.08 cents a barrel for 40 and above gravity oil in the Benavides, Longhorn, Southland and Sweden fields of Duval county and the Heysler field of Calhoun and Victoria counties. This schedule, also, calls for a one-cent differential for each degree of gravity down to 88 cents for 20 to 20.9 gravity oil.

Chamber of commerce officials estimated there would be several thousand visitors in town for the double-barrel attraction. Jake Douglas, in charge of the parade, reaffirmed his determination to start the parade promptly at 1:30 p. m., asserting "we will start on time if none but the highway patrol and my crew are ready." The early start is planned to avoid conflict with the football game, slated for 2:30 p. m.

He announced that all out-of-town entries—schools and bands—would assemble on Nolan street, south of 3rd, where Joe Pond and Ray Ogden would take them in hand. The El Paso band and delegation, along with Big Spring band, school and Santa Claus, will assemble on Austin, south of 3rd.

Douglas will be in charge there. The parade ends on Runnels street past 4th and children will double back to the alley of the 300 block between Main and Runnels where Santa Claus will watch Burke Summers and his workers pass out 5,000 sacks of candy provided by T. J. A. Robinson's committee.

At 6 p. m. there will be a program of entertainment under direction of Malcolm Bridges, city recreational supervisor, and some carol singing by the choral club and the crowd. Then comes the Treasure Hunt, followed at 9 p. m. by a street dance on Main between 3rd and 4th streets. This street will be blocked after store closing time, and E. 4th between Main and Runnels will be blocked from noon until after the parade.

Eleven out of town entries had been received by Cliff Wiley and his committee at noon Thursday and most Big Spring schools were competing for $60 in cash prizes.

The parade route will be as follows: From Nolan west to Runnels, north to 2nd, west to Main, north to 1st, west to Scurry, south to 2nd, east to Main, south to 3rd, west to Gregg, south to 4th, east to Main, north to 3rd, east to Runnels, south past 4th.

British Reject Plan For Seeking Peace

Toys And Food Admit Kids Labor Group To Saturday Benefit Show

Repairable toys, new toys, and food are the prices of admission for a toy matinee at the Ritz Theatre Saturday, J. Y. Robb, theatre manager, announced.

Toys and food are for the benefit of those youngsters who might otherwise miss out on their share of what Christmas has to offer. More fortunate kids are urged to turn out in full force with whatever they can bring.

This feature of Big Spring's holiday preparations was used to good advantage last year and should reap even greater returns this year.

The picture to be shown Saturday at the Ritz is taken from incidents in the life of Geronimo, one of the most famous Indian war chiefs, whose name is used as the title of the show, "Geronimo."

Labor Group Asserts War Victory Sure

Supporters Of Idea Muster Only Four Votes In Assembly

LONDON, Dec. 5 (AP)—A silent, disapproving house of commons rejected by an overwhelming vote of 341 to 4 a motion by three members of the independent labor party today that British state her war aims and seek peace immediately, "if necessary in a spirit of compromise," because they said there is no certainty of a great military victory.

The vote followed quickly the presentation of the motion by J. McGovern, Campbell Stephen and James Maxton, all from Glasgow.

Supporting the trio, Samuel Silverman, Liverpool laborite, declared the moment defined by Prime Minister Churchill as the time for the statement of peace aims—"When we have convinced the world of our capacity to survive"—had now arrived.

The authors of the motion are members of the extreme leftist wing of Britain's labor movement.

The four members voting for the motion were Maxton, Dr. Alfred Salter, laborite, William Gallacher, the only communist member of parliament; and David Kirkwood, another laborite, McGovern and Stephen were named tellers, hence could not vote.

Declaring that peace efforts are "not discreditable," J. McGovern asserted:

"If the war goes on—as it is likely to do if the forces in operation today have their way without any attempt to end it—until February of next year, I expect that there will be intensive bombing from this country, and if that is so the large reserves which Germany has been piling up will be utilized for the purpose of subjecting every industrial city in this country to a Coventry raid."

Prime Minister Churchill was absent as the three independent laborites, McGovern, James Maxton and Campbell—all from Glasgow—demanded that Britain's war aims be stated and called for "restoration of freedom in each country, the establishment of a new social order which would mean the end of German, British and other imperialism and provide a decent home and standard of life for each family in every country of the world."

"No opportunity should be lost to end the war," contended McGovern, "if necessary in a spirit of compromise."

City Gets Ready For Big Doings

Big Spring today squared off for a big celebration Friday, preparing to inaugurate the Christmas shopping season and turn out for the first bi-district football game ever played here.

Even as all committeemen announced they were ready for the parade and other celebrations, the weatherman completed the pictures with predictions of continued good weather.

El Paso high school football players arrived Wednesday evening and worked out on the local field today as fans rushed to buy up tickets for the grid classic.

Chamber of commerce officials estimated there would be several thousand visitors in town for the double-barrel attraction.

Beware of CRAMPED TOES

Children's feet grow fast. Therefore, mothers should always be on the alert to see that the children do not wear shoes that are too small. When the shoes are too small, deformities and ailments may result. Such painful foot ailments as hammer toes, bunions, corns, ingrown toe nails and other ailments can be prevented if the proper shoes are worn during the formative years. Remember, the shoe should be one-half inch longer than the great toe.

Key Colors To Your Personality

Brunette . . . or . . . Blonde?

By BETTY CLARKE AP Feature Writer

Time was when all you considered probably was the color of your hair (and maybe your eyes) in buying the right color clothes. No red for redheads. No green for green eyes.

Today you probably choose a green dress, that makes your eyes look greener. That used to be out of the question.

You've had specialists in department stores and beauty salons tell you that there is a shade of red a red-head can wear.

You've learned to avoid white powder and get a powder that blends better with your skin.

Your rouge is supported to complement not only your skin but your hair and eyes.

Basically your lipstick is chosen according to your type as a red-head, towhead, mouse-colored hair, black or brown. And because your skin likely corresponds in tone-color.

But you may be one of the lovely women whose black hair shines above a pale skin. Then you've got to think of that, too.

Lately the word has gone around rapidly that your home is at its best if it also has interior decorations according to your color personality. Your draperies and walls ought to be the colors that show up your blonde beauty, experts are saying.

For some time you've heard the advice to match your jewelry, nail polish or lipstick. And costume jewelry is appearing in powder tins. If you are a blonde with Dresden skin and want to twine pearls in your pompadour, you can get pearls in a rose hue.

Interstate Oil Group Meets

TULSA, Dec. 5 (AP)—The giant oil industry, facing a growing threat of federal control, turned its attention to the interstate oil compact commission meeting today for a possible preventive.

Commission officials declined to comment on what action might be taken but they met amid rising demands that they seek regulatory powers over oil production in an effort to forestall federal intervention.

Representatives of the seven compact member states—Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas, New Mexico, Michigan, Colorado and Illinois—arrived last night and observers from most of the other oil producing states were expected.

Gov. Leon C. Phillips of Oklahoma, compact chairman, asserted the states were able to regulate their oil production "without federal help."

But official statements were lacking on whether the commission, which now makes recommendations for oil conservation but has no regulatory power, would seek broader influence.

The present compact expires next September and a new one will be drafted at this meeting. Proposals that more "teeth" be put in the new contract came from many independent producers.

Committee meetings are scheduled today, followed by general sessions Friday and Saturday.

State's Deficit Drops Slightly

AUSTIN, Dec. 5 (AP)—Although registering a slight drop from two weeks ago, the $26,839,137 deficit in the state's general revenue fund today stood more than $3,000,000 higher than last year at this time.

The treasury, however, had an overall balance of nearly $20,000,000 despite the deficit in the big fund.

Treasurer Charley Lockhart announced all general revenue fund warrants issued prior to Jan. 23 last year would be paid, the new call number being 93,501.

The gradually dropping deficit in the Confederate pension account was placed at $1,506,129.

Barbara Hutton's Father Succumbs

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP)—Franklin L. Hutton, broker and father of Barbara Hutton, Woolworth five-and-ten cent store heiress, died at 12:30 p. m., today at Charleston, S. C., his attorneys announced here.

His daughter, the countess Haugwitz-Reventlow, flew to Charleston from the west coast recently because of Hutton's illness. Their relationship had been very close and several times she returned home from great distances to spend Christmas holidays with him.

Aircraft Plants Hire 5,000 Men

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP)—American factories turning out aviation equipment will have about 500,000 employees on their payrolls when the current plant expansion programs are completed next June, a spokesman for the industry reported today.

Other sources estimated that factory forces of that size could make possible the production of more than 350 warplanes a week, or in excess of 18,000 a year.

Roosevelt Pushes St. Lawrence Job

DETROIT, Dec. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt announced today he would ask congress, convening in January, to approve a treaty with Canada providing for completion of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project "on which so much of our national safety and welfare depend."

The president's announcement, presaging another battle in congress over the long-debated project (defeated in 1934) was made by A. A. Berle, Jr., assistant secretary of state, in an address before the Great Lakes seaway and power conference.

President Roosevelt, in a message to the conference read by Berle, emphasized that the St. Lawrence project would provide millions in new horsepower urgently needed to speed up defense production, and create a safe haven and waterway for construction of ships to replace tonnage sunk in the war.

Early Buying Trend Indicates Average Prosperity In Area

Big Spring merchants believe Christmas shoppers will divide their money about half and half between luxury gifts that indicate good times and necessities that indicate scarcity of money this season.

A slight upswing in volume of trade is evidenced by the amount of business in clothing stores last Saturday. One women's shop owner said he had turned over a larger volume than he had in four years.

At the present, sales of practical goods are leading in respect to gifts for Christmas. Leather jackets, suits, hats, shoes, coats, household appliances, and radios are being purchased and put aside for the coming holidays.

Most shop owners expect luxury sales to pick up later in the month, that being the time when men start buying. Things that are not normally bought by the user, such as women's frilly nightgowns, handkerchiefs, ties, smoking jackets, and dressing robes, will start moving at that time.

Although sales are not expected to be like they were in 1931-33, when a suit of khakis and a coffee pot were considered Christmas gifts by majority of the buying public, the trend is toward mixing types of gifts, signifying that people are willing and able to splurge with their purchases but are keeping within bounds.

Lamesa Stores Pay Fines Of $2,000

Three Lamesa drug stores were assessed a total of $2,000 in fines and costs Wednesday on pleas of guilty of liquor violation charges, Billy McElroy, deputy supervisor of the Texas Liquor Control Board's district 9, said Thursday.

Five charges were filed against the establishments. Two stores were fined on two counts each, with one charge calling for a $500 fine and the other $200. The third store entered a plea of guilty on one charge and was fined $500 plus costs.

Roosevelt's Ship Calls At Jamaica

ABOARD U.S.S. MAYRANT AT KINGSTON, Jamaica, Dec. 5 (AP) (via radio)—President Roosevelt today arrived at this British West Indies possession—site of a new U. S. defense base—on his cruise in waters south of the United States.

Except for word that the island's governor would lunch with the president aboard the cruiser Tuscaloosa, no announcement was made of Mr. Roosevelt's plans.

Champion Typist Shows How To Write 141 Words Per Minute

Keys rattled against the carriage with rapidity as machine gun fire Wednesday afternoon as Albert Tangora, world's champion typist presented a program at the high school gymnasium.

After warming up (as he called it) at 80 words per minute, he took a short speed test averaging 132 words per minute with no errors.

Tangora pointed out that in one hour, the carriage of his typewriter is shifted 700 times, with each shift taking out an eighth of a second.

The most interesting part of his exhibition was taking a one minute speed test typing from copy, and at the same time adding four columns of figures which were called out to him.

In 1937 he was acclaimed the world's fastest typist with a record of 141 words per minute for one continuous hour.

For the past 10 years he has been typing, and when he began the study in high school, was determined to become the champion and with that idea in mind he achieved his goal with stiff competition in the national contest which takes place every few years.

Slow motion pictures have helped him to correct certain things about his typing which save time and add to his speed. Tangora was brought here for the free demonstration by the Thomas Typewriter Exchange.

Jack Haynes is to take over the leadership of Boy Scout Troop No. 6, composed largely of boys in the western section of the city. Haynes succeeds the late E. J. Case as scoutmaster. Another scouting change is the replacing of Al Jordan, who is transferring out of the city, by Dr. Clyde Thomas as skipper of the Sea Scout ship.

And some boys who drove a car through the city park the other night, tossing spoiled eggs and using naughty language, had better watch out or authorities will spank their little hands and wash their mouths.

This is Highway Week in Texas. It is a period when all Texans are being made better acquainted through activities of the state highway department and the Texas Highway Association...

Texas is making a good record in the matter of highway construction and improvement, but a lot of work remains to be done. The state-maintained system of some 22,000 miles is only about one-half completed to modern standards...

The state highway department receives about $30,000,000 a year in revenues for construction; thus it is estimated it would take 19 years to do the job needed to bring the road system up to the standard set.

The need of additional modern highways in Texas has been emphasized because of the nation's defense program. The state's road network holds a featured place as one of the key links in national preparedness...

Highways Are Important

The south and the extensive coastline on the east. Texas' many training camps and military centers of one sort or another, too, need adequate connecting highways.

Proper national defense agencies have designated 6,370 miles of this state's highway system as part of the nation's strategic military network...

It is important that Texas be permitted to continue a full road construction program. Defense routes should come first, but other highway needs of the state should not be overlooked. One main purpose of Highway Week, in showing the benefits of the present system, and the need of further road development, is to build public sentiment against further diversion of the motorist's gasoline taxes to purposes other than the building of roads and highways...

This may be the safest way to prevent such diversion, but it possibly could be an unnecessary procedure. The fact remains that gasoline taxes should go for road and highway purposes, and the people of Texas ought to stand staunchly against improper diversion. Our roads are too important.

High School Student Writes Safety Essay After Offending Law

Sometimes punishment of traffic offenders may bring about more repentance than repentance. Such is not true in the case of El Alexander, Big Spring, high school student, who was recently arraigned before City Judge Tracy T. Smith for a traffic law violation.

Instead of being the youngster, Judge Smith instructed him to write an essay on "Obeying the Law." The high school student did so in a manner that should win an "A" grade in any English composition class.

The essay follows:

By EL ALEXANDER. Everyone who drives a car should know the rules of driving and should obey them. There are many people who break these rules in town and in school districts where there is really no need for doing so. Boys and girls of high school age, driving cars usually want to show off a little bit and that is the time when they usually have their accidents, which not only bring harm to them but to others, too.

Speeding is not the only way people break the traffic law when they drive. There are many other things, such as talking on the phone, or long chances, when there is no need. Many do not realize the speed at which the modern cars are traveling and do not have the judgment to determine the distances between cars and between their own and other drivers. But, if the drivers would use a little caution and slow down instead of speeding they would get there in one piece. This old proverb is true here, "It is better to be safe than sorry," or to make it apply to the drivers of the new, modern, streamlined cars, "It is better to be slow than sorry."

Of course there are always some people who will not obey the traffic regulations, or speed laws, but at least we can obey them ourselves, and the best we can do is to trust the other drivers about us will obey them. Reckless driving in that case would be to take the attitude that if the other drivers do not obey signals and other regulations neither will we; but every driver would use a little common sense and take into consideration that every other car on the road is likely to be a danger to him, if he isn't watching and obeying the laws himself. Accidents will happen to the best of drivers, but if you, while driving, are doing the right thing, when something happens and someone gets hurt, you can say, and know, it is true, that you were in the right, and therefore be in blame and maybe not to blame at all.

It is true, as I have said, that accidents happen to the best of drivers, but it is most unlikely to happen to the good drivers that obey the laws and who know he is doing right. In Big Spring, I have noticed, there are a number of reckless drivers, and I have seen my share of it. There is a certain age of young people who will always drive carelessly, because at that age they naturally do things like that for the looks of it, not to attract attention to their own abilities. Some do these things without hurt or harm to anyone, that is they get by without trouble and never have what we call hard luck, on page for it,

Reputation Of Texas Officers Puts Easterners In Jail Here

With tales about Texas officers not only landed one easterner in jail here Saturday, but it took a couple of companions with him. As a result of a unique situation, A. A. Galina, Bridgeport, Conn., and Leon Fary and Louis Ruscito, Brooklyn, N. Y., were in the Howard county jail awaiting transfer to FBI agents Wednesday on charges of moving a stolen car into-state.

Carl Mercer, constable arrested the three shortly after midnight Friday when he became suspicious of a car. As he trailed it, Galina kept motioning for him to pass. Mercer rounded his siren and the car pulled to the curb as Galina jumped out.

"Where are your papers on this car?" asked Mercer. "I haven't got 'em," the officer quoted Galina as saying. "I confess. It's a stolen car. I confess. I've heard about Texas officers."

According to Mercer, he went over further and impounded his companions in a Brooklyn burglary. Later Galina signed a statement admitting the car belonged to Florence Testard of 2627 14th St., Bridgeport, Conn. Fary and Ruscito also made statements about a service station burglary in Brooklyn.

Yule Holiday Dates Changed

A change in dates for the local school system's Christmas holidays was authorized by the board of trustees Friday night. Dates were altered so that New Year's Day would be included in the complete school year.

Under the new schedule, classes will be dismissed on Friday afternoon, December 20, and will be resumed on Thursday, January 2. This holiday period is one day longer than had been set up originally. To make the school term complete, the closing day of the term next spring was moved back a day. The current session thus will close on May 27.

Soldier Swallows Watch To Save It From Juarez Cops

EL PASO, Dec. 5.—It took an operation to recover a U. S. army private's large watch watch.

The Fort Bliss soldier was picked up in Mexico by Juarez authorities. He thought they might take his watch so he put it in his mouth.

An officer began lecturing him in Spanish. The private, not understanding, feared they wanted the watch. So he swallowed. The officers, sensing something was wrong, started him home.

An operation was performed at an El Paso hospital.

In addition to a large number of farmers, the territorial agriculture class of Colorado inspected the demonstration sponsored by the soil conservation and extension service.

Masonic Conclave Draws Big Crowd

WACO, Dec. 5 (AP)—Election of officers featured the closing program here today of the grand lodge of Texas A. F. and A. M.

The largest opening crowd in history of the lodge was present last night as members moved from their temple to the Baylor auditorium to hear Dr. George Truett of Dallas, who told the lodge the standard of physical power, the belief that might makes right cannot survive.

Earlier, Grand Master Leo Hart had reported an increase in net membership of 2,173 in Texas. Three thousand Masons had registered by 5 p. m. yesterday.

Washington Daybook

WASHINGTON—Answering the mail column: R. de C. New Orleans, La.—It is no talk at all to put you in touch with Edward Bacon, head of the section of fine arts, Public Building Administration, 7th and D streets, Southwest, Washington, D. C., but I'm sorry to report that the deadline already has passed on the water color competition for paintings for the government representation at Caracas, La.

If you, or any other artists, wish to get on the fine arts section mailing lists for future competitions, I believe a brief letter, setting forth your qualifications, would do the job.

In connection with this particular competition, there are some facts in which you may be interested. The fine arts section received the staggering total of almost 10,000 water colors and every state, several insular possessions and the territories were all represented. Not only were there works by well known artists, whose paintings sell for far more than the $50 apiece offered in this instance, but the submitted paintings ran the whole gamut down to painfully asophisticated dabs.

As you may remember, the competition provided for the purchase of 200 water colors at $30 each, or a total outlay of $9,000. But here's the tripper: Mr. Bruce estimates that the total cost to the artists of packing, insuring and mailing in the paintings, plus the cost of getting the rejected ones back, C. O. D. will amount to something like $40,000!

I don't like to be Mr. Gloom about any profession, but that seems to me a simple lesson in practical economics that should be an elementary course in every art school. When it costs artists nearly $40,000—not counting their labor—to absorb a $9,000 market, there's something radically wrong somewhere. The fine arts section sees this as an example of magnificent spirit on the part of American artists and I don't disagree with that a bit, but gambling against more than four-to-one odds is a good deal more like playing ing the ponies, than merchandising a salable product.

F. L. Gainesville, Ga.—Undoubtedly more vital defense matters have overshadowed the defense training week of the Civilian Conservation Corps but just because you haven't read or heard much about it lately, don't think that the CCC isn't making strides along this line. When billions are being spent on new and old factories and hundreds of thousands of men are marching into camp to form our greatest peacetime army, it's not easy to make exciting copy or startling conversation about a going project that is gradually keying its aims and routine to national defense.

If you want a few facts and figures, I can pass along some recent comments by Director James I. McEntee that certainly ought to be eye-openers to those who think the C-boys are the forgotten men of national defense.

Mr. McEntee says, for example, that 60,000 drivers of tractors, tractors and other automotive equipment and 10,000 mechanics now are being turned out by the CCC yearly. Another 60,000 get training in road construction, 5,000 in blasting and 7,500 in bridge building. About 5,000 cooks and bakers reach a qualified degree of proficiency each year.

To list the figures on carpenters, masons, plumbers, electricians, radio operators, surveyors, draftsmen, welders, and other trades necessary to industrialize defense would be only to prolong this item. Just how efficient all these CCC graduates are I don't know, but Mr. McEntee also has a list as long as your arm of the men and boys who have been taken into defense industries, the army and navy in the last six months. Just one example is that on Jan. 15, 309 more CCC boys will report to the United States Maritime commission, bringing to a total of 1,400 the C-men who have been accepted by the commission for sea training. Nine to ten months more and these boys will be full-fledged seamen.

How To Torture Your Wife

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK—Ben Bernie, a thoughtful chap with the softly flowing drawl of the lower East Side in his voice and a passion for anonymity and reticence in his soul that would shame a recluse, shifted his 52 cigar to the other side and reluctantly submitted to our candid interview.

"It is my belief," he said, "that it is in poor taste for any man, however successful, to sing his own praise. If you have talent, others will do it for you.

"However, since you are adamant, I suppose I shall have to give you a few grudging details. I love acting; I also love birds, books, bees, flowers, Hedy Lamarr, red neckties, horses, guns, judge sundries, and sleep-walking. You have no idea how much fun sleep-walking can be. Why, once when I was walking in my sleep—but no matter. . . .

"I also ride, hunt, fish, play polo, golf, baseball, tennis, and box. When I was in college I was captain of the track team, swimming team, baseball and football teams. I also starred in the college plays as well as other things they do around universities.

"But you probably are more interested in my present work than in flashbacks on my undergraduate days," he continued, growing more reluctant to discuss himself with every flashback.

Man About Manhattan

"You see, in real life I live my color. I never touch alcohol in solid form. All my pictures require the largest sets as well as the most unusual yet constructed in Hollywood. Naturally, my type of art requires this. As to my make-up. . . well, that call me Bernie, the man of a million make-ups."

But let me tell you about my collection of objects d'art. Since you are sandbagging this information out of me, I will have to admit that I probably have the finest collection of cigar bands, tin foil, string, paper bags, and aspirin bottles in the country. My wardrobe also is said to be unparalleled.

"Lunch is a favorite hour with me. Spying a group of Japanese, Chinese, French, Arab, Swiss, Hottentot, and Japanese refugees at lunch the other day, I had the satisfaction of greeting each one in his native tongue.

I forgot to mention that I also was known as something of a linguist at college. Odd how these silly little campus reputations follow a man through life. They're worse than reporters. They chase you like an insidious rumor. Well, that's life. But if you're trying to get any information out of me you're wasting your time, brother, wasting your time. No, Bernie, we don't know from nuthin."

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

HOLLYWOOD—For an index to the off-screen character of Eddie Albert, consider the fact that he is now sporting a beautiful set of plain, old-fashioned bolts.

Eddie, maybe you didn't know, has a medicine man. Eddie brought him back from one of his jaunts into Mexico. Found him in Chihuahua, working with herbs. Eddie is crazy about herbs. This medicine, the medicine man said, had long been used down there as a quack cure for one of those diseases which only recently has been mentioned in polite circles.

Eddie, with a streak of Dr. Ehrlich in his make-up, brought him to Hollywood to perfect the remedy and see what could be done about it. Nothing to worry about, he says cheerfully. The medicine man assured him this is merely part of the remedy's blood-purifying action. Eddie thinks maybe the medicine already has been outmoded by later discoveries he's read about—but then the medicine man has a perpetual motion invention, too.

"Maybe something'll come of that," says Eddie. "Wouldn't it be funny?"

It would, but it all gives a pretty good idea of what Eddie Albert does with the money he earns in pictures. He doesn't talk about it, but right now he's backing a professor who is writing a serious work on economics. He thinks having an actor's name connected, even in a small way, with such a work, would discredit it somewhat.

Eddie is a scientific swashbuckler, a scoundrel.

an explorer, a member after knowledge—and he's chancing his money doing the things he's always wanted to do. That's why he's a now-you-see-him, now-you-don't actor. That time he was supposed to have "disappeared" down in Mexico, he hadn't. He'd just taken a trip on his boat.

He has a new boat, a 54-foot ketch (the Cynthia), the better to travel in. He's a pal of the traveling Lambs, Dana and Virginia. He dreams about getting down into the old Mayan country, to explore and dig up ruins. Eddie's dreams are practical—he makes 'em come true. He likes to hunt buried treasure. There's a vast one he knows about, but he isn't much interested. What intrigues him in that direction at present is a single hidden chest of silver pesos—"the other would be too much like a business expedition." He hears about these things from "guys I have out and around." He wants to get down on the Amazon and find out about some herbs he's heard about.

He wanted to find out how it felt to be alone in a cage of lions. That's why he angled himself into the lion-tamer role in "The Wagons Roll at Night." He says, "The world's so full of fascinating things to do that you can't do 'em all."

And you take a quiet fellow who talks like this without affection, and you have the fellow Stanssens was talking about when he wrote: "The world is so full of a number of things. The same we should all be as happy as kings."

Music And Mystery Merged In Kay Kyser Film At Ritz

'You'll Find Out' Has Funny Men, Horror Men

The screen's first mystery musical is the claim for Kay Kyser's new film, "You'll Find Out," which combines sweet trills with thrill shrieks and shivery mystery with silvery melody. The picture is at the Ritz today and Monday.

Featured with the O' Professor of the College of Musical Knowledge are the three foremost merchants of menace in pictures today, Peter ("M") Lorre, Boris ("Frankenstein") Karloff and Bela ("Dracula") Lugosi, along with a notable supporting cast that includes Dennis O'Keefe, Helen Parrish, Alma Kruger and Kyser's famous band with Ginny Simms, Harry Babbitt, Ish Kabibble and Sully Mason.

The story deals with the exploits of Kyser and his crew in a haunted house. Not an ordinary haunted house, but a costly mansion built years before in a lonely section by an eccentric explorer, who is now dead. The place is occupied by the explorer's wacky sister, Aunt Margo, a firm believer in spiritualism; his pretty daughter, Janis, and Prince Sallano, a fake medium who keeps the occult fires burning.

Kyser and his band have been engaged to play for the daughter's big birthday party. The girl is in love with Kyser's manager, Chuck Deema. Several mysterious attempts have been made on Janis' life, and another is made soon after the band's arrival. Kyser distrusts Sallano and Aunt Margo's dour family adviser, Judge Mainwaring, and trusts Prof. Fenninger, whom Janis has engaged to expose Sallano. But Fenninger, also, is a fake and an accomplice of Sallano and the Judge in their scheme to kill Janis and get control of the old explorer's wealth through Aunt Margo. Complications ensue, with two fake seances and Kyser's accidental discovery of Sallano's tricks, plus endeavors of the unmasked conspirators to destroy the mansion and its occupants. It all leads to a musical climax in which Kay Kyser and his band are back at the studio wowing the air waves with the new novelty number, "The Bad Humor Man."

This is one of five new melodies by James McHugh and John Mercer introduced midst mirth and madness. The other songs are "I'd Know You Anywhere," "You've Got Me This Way," "Like the Fella Once Said" and "I've Got a One Track Mind."

Student in Quiz Calls Blitzkrieg a Dachshund
PHILADELPHIA (UP)—German town's Friends school conducts an information test every year to determine students' knowledge of the outside world. This year's examination revealed some interesting definitions. They were: Blitzkrieg—a dachshund. Ivory Tower—when a person is in love; also a woman's neck. Ideology—the study of idiots and the worship of idols to another. Ferdinand the Bull—Don Quixote. Skoda—Japanese building. Author of Kitty Foyle—Darwin. Ann Sheridan received two votes and Hedy Lamarr one as America's most prominent woman.

The draft board at East Liverpool, O., has the same telephone number as the first selective service number drawn—158.

YOUTHFUL ENTERTAINMENT—Jackie Cooper and Bonita Granville have leading roles in "Gallant Sons," a story of the high school age, which plays today and Monday at the Lyric. The teen age youngsters turn detectives to mingle thrills and heart interest with comedy.

Youth-Sleuth Film Booked At Lyric

Jackie Cooper And Bonita Granville In 'Gallant Sons'

Youth goes on parade again in "Gallant Sons," dramatic story of a high school group who turn detectives to mingle thrills and heart interest with hilarious comedy. The picture plays today and Monday at the Lyric theatre. Directed by George Seitz, of "Judge Hardy Family" fame, the juvenile cast is headed by Jackie Cooper, as a high school student leader. Bonita Granville and Gene Reynolds, and includes Jute Preisser and William Tracy of "Strike Up the Band," Leo Goody of the Dead End Kids and Tommy Kelly of "Tom Sawyer" fame. A hundred young players enact high school students. The adult cast is headed by Gail Patrick and Ian Hunter, who provide the mature romance, with El Brendel, Edward Ashley and Minor Watson also in important roles. Action ranges from a high school campus through criminal hideouts, a roaring newspaper office, a strange night club, to a gala high school play which suddenly shifts from broad comedy to smashing dramatic climax. An ingenious dramatic trick is the use of a mystery "musical clev," a bar of haunting music that provides the first clew for the juvenile sleuths. Highlights include a vicious fight between Jackie Cooper and Gene Reynolds on a school campus, a gripping trial sequence, and the dramatic farewell between Gene Reynolds and his father, played by Ian Hunter. Comicalities of El Brendel and the youngsters, thrills during their trailing of the criminal, and some shifting into comical predicaments, are among the bits of rapid-fire entertainment.

Metcalf To Suggest Latin Scholarships

HERALD AUSTIN BUREAU
AUSTIN, Dec. 7.—As a means of improving this country's ties with Latin America, Senator Penrose Metcalf of San Angelo will introduce a bill in the next legislature providing for the entry of five students from each of the Latin American countries into Texas institutions of higher learning without the payment of tuition charges. A similar bill by Senator Metcalf was passed by the 66th legislature, but it was vetoed by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel.

TEAMED AGAIN—The starring combination of Richard Arlen and Andy Devine has proved successful enough to warrant several repeat performances. Their latest picture is "The Devil's Pipeline," featured at the Queen theatre today and Monday. Janne Kelly is the lady.

Arlen-Devine Combination Here Again

Appear At Queen Action Drama, 'The Devil's Pipeline'

A rugged, action-packed adventure tale, Universal's "The Devil's Pipeline," brings film favorites Richard Arlen and Andy Devine to the Queen theatre today and Monday in the latest of their co-starring series. Bristling with drama, suspense and excitement, the story presents Dick and Andy as American petroleum engineers sent to a tropical island to investigate treachery and intrigue at their company's oil fields. Forced to assume the guise of oil workers, the two smash the corrupt rule of the island authorities in a spectacular battle in which cannon and dynamite are employed to wipe out the attackers.

Romantic honors in the film are shared by Arlen and Jeanne Kelly, blonde newcomer making her English-speaking film debut. Miss Kelly has previously appeared in Spanish-language films.

Other supporting roles are enacted by John Eldredge, James Flavin, Francis McDonald and Mala. An original story by Paul Huston, "The Devil's Pipeline" was directed by Christy Cabanne. Ben Pivar was the associate producer and John Boyle, the cameraman.

Notes

By MARY WHALEY

Back in the "good old days" when the family car went out only on Sundays and Mother cooked for a week or two before December 25th getting enough food together for the children and the relatives who descended for a visit, hanging up stockings was as much a part of Christmas Eve as trimming the tree.

Over the real fireplace that burned logs instead of gas, black socks, white socks and brown socks of various sizes and lengths hung where Santa Claus wouldn't have any trouble dropping in the gifts.

And as tired childish heads touched the pillow on the night of the 24th, they knew those shapeless stockings would be bulging the next day.

Usually nuts of two or three kinds, an orange and a jumping jack could be counted on and if Santa were especially generous, maybe there would be another small gift and a candy cane that tasted better than anything else.

Exploring the sock was the first thrill of an eventful day.

While in some few homes, the practice is still continued, the majority of children don't even wear long stockings now and Santa would be hard put to it to get much in these ankle socks that streamlined children wear now-a-days.

They bound out of bed these December 25th mornings and want things like air rifles and radios and an orange is something they set every morning for breakfast.

Bewildered Shopper Finds Out A Few Things About Her Gifts

By HELEN POOL

Shopping in the downtown stores is more exciting than going to a movie and more wearing than a hard day's work. The people hustle and bustle about as they try to find things for Uncle John or Aunt Susie.

A baby cries, cash registers ring, and a mother tries not to slap at Johnny in front of everyone when he insists on pulling at her sleeve while she is trying to select some materials.

Children crowd around the toy counters handling toys, blowing whistles and wheezing on French harps, and to top it off customers battle like an army to be waited on next.

Christmas tree balls are somewhat different this year and the usual festive design work is lacking. The reason for this is because they are American made and workers haven't quite mastered the art of blowing the delicate things. At the same time it also is interesting to note that the American worker's life is not endangered by the process as in Japan.

Christmas rope is now made here at home, and it is even prettier in cellophane than it is in plain paper.

At the toy counter the dolls are no longer tagged "made in Japan" and manufacturers have gotten away from the baby dolls to a certain extent and have replaced them with various modern ones such as the doll with the embossed organically evening dress and silver sandals; the pajama doll with the sleepiest eyes you can imagine!

Another popular type are the dolls of all nations, each in colorful native dress.

At the Christmas wrapping counter, red, white and blue paper, stars and ribbons are the most popular schemes for wrapping while blue and silver hold a close second. Another good combination is bronze and red, but color has had its fling even in Christmas packages.

This year, department stores are featuring more gift shops, and counters have been set aside for the display of unusual but useful gifts for the home and family in general.

On The Vanity Of Human Glory

The Herald's Serial Story

Who Killed Aunt Maggie?

By Medora Field

Former Kaiser William Second of Germany is reported to be ill and the doctors in attendance are said to be worried. No wonder. Any man of 81 has a rather tenuous hold on life, and furthermore, maybe the one-time monarch has lost his will to live. For his career shows how fleeting is human power and glory.

Even so, William's life cannot have been a bed of roses to a man of his temperament and upbringing. "Haus Doorn" is a comfortable place in itself, but to look from its windows is to get the shivers, especially in the bleak Dutch winter. Deep snow on the ground. Wind moaning its melancholy song in the dark pine trees. Lonely roads deserted by human beings.

Chapter 15 THE GUN "Oh, Dear, I'm so sorry," I lamented. "And it was my great-grandmother's mirror that I lost. But what can we do about your head?"

wardly, "Just happened to have it in the car. One of the waiters at the Atlantic Club wanted to borrow some money and gave me the gun for security. You know how they are when you start lending them money. Thought I'd have a better chance of being paid back if I took the gun. Found it when I went looking for a flashlight to-night."

"But we saw nobody. We went and looked all around, but still nobody. Except Plutarch. And he may be a smart cat but I don't believe he is smart enough to turn doorknobs."

It seemed to me we were working right back to the point where it was all my fault for coming downstairs, so I hastily suggested coffee and sandwiches and we went back to the kitchen en masse to prepare them.

Kirk insisted that he would see to this, and as Bob and I started up the stairs we left him picking up broken glass.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—In spite of the Dies committee reports and the statements of the department of justice and the federal bureau of identification, a lot of folk, official and unofficial, are taking the "fifth column" with two grains of salt and a sniff.

longer than necessary to order men stationed in Washington back into civies.

UNIFORMS SMACK OF WAR

An alternative, in the case of the officers in civies, would be to put them back in uniform, an order which the war and navy departments hesitate to issue because it always is considered the final sign that peace is over and war is at hand.

Nobody here is pooh-poohing this vigilance but it certainly is not being duplicated at the other end of Pennsylvania avenue. The White House grounds, closed a few weeks ago, again are open to visitors, as is the White House.

Man About Manhattan

By George Tucker

NEW YORK — Well, Pais, I'll bet you can hardly wait to hear what the boys over on Broadway have got cooked up for your New Year's Eve entertainment. They've figured out a little scheme that practically doubles their admission prices, and when I think how right Barnum was it makes me want to toss this typewriter right out the window and get over on Broadway myself.

This ticket agency business is a part of the New Year's adventure not easily appreciated by outsiders unless the Long View is taken. This view includes tolerance and an attitude of leniency toward the world in general and the middle men in particular who stand between you and the box office. Live and let live is the idea.

The Thrill That Comes Once In A Lifetime

"Well, I ask, what now? Echo answers why and I decide to take a look. My matches have given out and it is pitch-black in the hall, but I feel my way to the stairs and get down all right. Then just at the foot of the stairs I am run into by a baboon or gorilla or hairy ape and "

Who Killed Aunt Maggie?

"I checked up on them when I went after the alcohol," said Bob. "Alice was dead to the world, but Claire came to the door. Said the noise waked her but she thought it was thunder. I guess those two drinks I gave Alice helped to put her to sleep. Anyway, she and Claire are in the same room, told Claire to keep the door locked and not to open it without the pass word."

SANTA GIANT-KILLER

THE PEOPLE LOOK BEWITCHED. NO ONE LAUGHS OR EVEN SMILES! THE STORY SO FAR: Three giants have bewitched the kingdom of the good, gray Queen. But Santa suspects there is trouble and plans to help.

CHAPTER SIX THE MAGIC PEARL IS CALLED UPON

The good gray Queen had been completely deserted by her people. She ran through the whole castle trying to find some one. But the fires in the kitchen were cold. The shades were still drawn. The doors stood open, the courtyard was empty. On the courtyard stones lay two dead robins. That was all the Queen found.

Market Shows Little Gain

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—The stock market today shook off some of its lethargy and finished a generally do-nothing-week with a selective rally centered on steels, shipbuilding and industrial specialties.

Active favorites were up a point or so at the close and a few showed advances of 2 to 3. There was nothing particularly outstanding in the news and brokers attributed the rally mainly to the feeling of traders that, after about 12 weeks of slanting downward, the list was entitled to at least a technical comeback.

Tickets Go On Sale Soon For Colorado City Chamber Drive

COLORADO CITY, Dec. 7 (SpI)—Sale of tickets for the annual banquet of the Colorado City chamber of commerce on December 17 will begin early this week.

er interested in breakfast. They didn't open their Christmas presents. Mothers walked away when their children cried, and fathers frowned. They all wandered out of their houses to do what the giants wanted. At noon the three ugly giants came down from their mountain chattering. The giant who thought he was the sun paraded the roads so the silent people could admire him. The giant who wanted to build a wall as high as the sky sat on a knoll and shouted at the people who hauled stones to make the wall. And the giant who had no heart stood on another knoll in the center of town and sang like a crow. The people he had bewitched ran around shooting any unhappy birds that flew through the sky. But Santa had a plan for helping the good gray Queen. He suddenly remembered that it was the very Christmas Day on which the young prince was twenty-one and the day on which he was to set out on his adventures. "The very thing," said Santa slapping his knee. "I must find him. He will help the Queen." So Santa jumped into his sleigh and rode to the hill behind Saul's and Inga's cottage. From there he sent the reindeer home. He changed his clothes to the rags of a beggar and sat down on a rock to wait. TOMORROW: The fisherman's son.
