Christmas holiday season flourishes with rich Tech traditions

The Texas Tech campus will come alive with the spirit of Christmas Dec. 1 when more than 15,000 red, yellow and white Christmas bulbs outlining ten buildings set the campus' distinctive Spanish architecture aglow the warmth and beauty of the holiday season.

Although the annual Carol of Lights began 30 years ago when former Board Regent Harold Hinn donated the first 5,000 lights for lighting the west engineering, social science, chemistry and administration buildings, the tradition did not adopt its current name until 1961.

Gene Hemmle, who co-founded the event, said he and several other professors decided it would be nice if a group of students and faculty members could gather at the circle and sing Christmas Carols.

The ceremony now includes special dinners, music by several choirs, instrumental ensembles and the audience singing as street lights dim and the magical night bursts into a kaleidoscope of color. Luminarios lining the streets and the unusual walkways of Memorial Circle along with a silent procession of torch-bearing Saddle Tramps enhance the solemnity of the Carol of Lights ceremony which has become an important part of the Tech Christmas tradition season not only for campus community but for the entire Lubbock area.

Following the Carol of Lights ceremony, wassail and Christmas music will be provided in the University Library's Croslin Room as a brass quintet plays Christmas tunes. Sponsored by the Friends of the University Library/Southwest Collection, the event is open to the public and free of charge.

The University Choir and the University Singers from the School of Music will perform a free concert in the Hemmle Recital Hall of the Music Building.

The campus will remain illuminated from 6 p.m. to midnight through Jan. 1, so the community can continue to enjoy the fantastic visual presentation the campus presents.

Another Tech holiday tradition is the 13th annual Madrigal Dinner, a holiday event featuring a feast of boar's head, figgy pudding and more.

Set in medieval times, the dinner brings the spirit of the 16th century to Tech Dec. 2 as the University Center Ballroom is transformed into the hall of a great castle.

Candle-lit tables decorated with pine boughs will seat honored guests of the king and queen. The king of the festivities greets his guests before trumpet fanfares signal the beginning of the entertainment.

Singers, jugglers and musicians as well as other entertainers dressed in 16th century costumes provide an air of authenticity to the evening.

The 13 year-old Madrigal Dinner was adopted at Tech by Claire Mackey, wife of then Tech president Cecil Mackey.

Mackey had been a guest at a similar dinner at a Florida college prior to introducing the idea to the Tech campus.

The evening's entertainment includes a performance by the Tech Madrigal Singers. Performances are divided into two segments — one preceding the dinner that deals with love and one following that consists of traditional Christmas carols.

For ticket information call the University Center Ticket Booth at 742-3610.

Tech Christmas traditions also are carried forward at Christmas at the Museum and Candlelight at the Ranching Heritage Center.

Christmas at the Museum provides yet another opportunity for visitors to enjoy music, dance and exhibitions by various individuals and organizations from the university from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Dec. 2 at the Museum of Texas Tech. The "Story of the Star" planetarium program will be shown free of charge every hour on the hour during the festivities.

"The Story of the Star" will be presented through Dec. 28 at the Moody Planetarium of the Museum of Texas Tech. The program will be shown from 2 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, at 7:30 p.m. Thursdays and at 2 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and children over five years old. Adults over age 60 are admitted free.

Candlelight at the Ranching Heritage Center allows visitors to travel back in time and experience the old-fashioned Christmas' of early South Plains settlers. Paths are lined with illuminaires and lanterns which pave the way to Christmas celebrations of days gone by as volunteers dressed in period costumes perform traditional activities — making crafts for gifts, baking, decorating Christmas trees and singing carols.

Holiday fads you should know

Christmas is love and a Seifert's card

With only 28 shopping days until Christmas, Seiferts is the perfect place to find quality name-brand clothing to fit any lady's individual style.

Conveniently located in South Plains Mall, Seiferts has a wide variety of clothing with name brands such as Liz Claiborne, Laura Keefe, Kenar, Leslie Lucks and Anne Tobias.

The store offers fashions from formal and social gowns to daring leather attire to Kasper business suits.

"Tech girls who are beginning to interview for jobs need business suits that set them apart from everyone else so employers will remember them," said Lynda Evans, store manager. "Our business suit collection is 80 percent quality Kasper suits that come in a variety of colors and styles."

In addition, the store carries its own exclusive line of clothing. "Sportables" — Seiferts holiday '89 designs — provides a winter collection of novelty sweaters, fashionable trousers, fun-to-wear skirts and patterned shirts.

From light pastel colors to splashy purples and reds, sportables' colors accommodate everyone's tastes.

Aside from Seiferts up-to-date fashions, the store specializes in personal service.

"The whole company was built on customer service," Evans said.

"We're not just trying to make a sale, we want to be honest with our customers. All of our fashion consultants are knowledgeable on make-up and clothing coordination to help customers find just the right look," Evans said.

After a purchase, customers are put on a preferred mailing list to stay up-to-date on the latest fashions and special sales.

Seiferts also offers fashion shows about four times a week. Working with Katie Keifer, news anchor for KAMC-TV, Seiferts has given corporate wardrobe seminars in almost every residence hall on the Tech campus.

Seiferts employs Tech students to help with fashion coordination for the shows. Not only do students gain invaluable experience in fashion coordination, but they also get an inside look at what goes on behind the scenes, Evans said.

Especially for the gift-giving season, Seiferts is offering the special Holiday Plus Money Card. Through December 25, customers can use the credit card to purchase anything in the store and do not have to make payments until February. Also, if customers pay off the credit by April, no finance charges will be added.

Seiferts is now offering a Sacrifice Coat Sale through November.

Lubbock's ski hot spot...Ski Lubbock

Specializing in ski equipment and apparel, Ski Lubbock has the largest inventory in the New Mexico, Colorado and West Texas area.

Nineteen years of service has provided Ski Lubbock management with the knowledge and understanding to truly serve the needs of the most avid skier. Manager Mitch Monte said the Ski Lubbock staff is unique.

"We are skiers serving skiers," he said. "Because we ski, we know what skiers need."

Ski enthusiasts appreciate the advantage offered by the experienced Ski Lubbock staff.

"Most people would rather buy from a specialty shop for a better purchase," Monte said. "At Ski Lubbock we are service oriented. We offer service after the sale."

From socks to underwear to goggles, Ski Lubbock sells a full line of ski apparel by namebrand makers such as Columbia Sportswear Co., Serac, Fera, Spyder and Sun Ice.

The shop carries brands offering the young look in ski and summer wear.

The full service shop sells not only quality skis and ski apparel, but also is the only windsurfing dealer in Lubbock. During the summer months, waterskis and beach wear are available.

Ski Lubbock will sponsor the Warren Miller 40th Annual Ski Movie, "White Magic," which will be shown at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Allen Theatre. The $4 tickets for the presentation will be on sale at Ski Lubbock and at the door.

If you have a ski lover on your Christmas gift list, Ski Lubbock of-

What should you buy

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas at THE shopping spot:

KINGSGATE CENTER

Following a very special open house, Kingsgate Center is beginning to look a lot like Christmas as merchants of the center continue a tradition begun last year to usher in the holiday season.

Located at 82nd Street and Quaker Avenue, Kingsgate Center welcomed in the 1989 Christmas season with an open house Nov. 24 at 7 p.m. when Lubbock Mayor B.C. "Peck" McMinn turned on the lights of a 25-foot Christmas tree as well as lights and other decorations on the 250,000 square foot retail project.

Karen McCay and Abner Euresti of KCBD-TV served as special Masters of Ceremonies for the event, which featured free horse-drawn carriage rides, favorite Christmas carols provided by the First United Methodist Church Carolers and refreshments.

Shoppers can enjoy traditional holiday music at Kingsgate Center at 3 p.m. each Saturday through Dec. 16. Christmas carolers from local elementary schools will lend their talents to enhance Christmas shopping at the center.

Those who have often reminisced about customs of old can enjoy horse-drawn carriage rides each Friday from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m., from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. each Sunday beginning Nov. 25 and continuing through Dec. 23.

Carriage rides also will be provided from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday Dec. 18-22.

Kingsgate Christmas Center, located east of United Supermarket, will provide professional gift wrapping and a mailing center throughout the holiday season. Parents will have the opportunity to capture the magic of Christmas as their little ones visit with St. Nick. Expert photographers will capture the magic moment forever for those who desire momentos to treasure.

Two new merchants — Pinocchio's Pizza and Sugar Baker's, a new restaurant — will join the Kingsgate family in time for Christmas shoppers to enjoy their taste tempting goods.

The Spirit Shop: Tech's 'ultimate' college store

If it has Texas Tech on it, the Spirit Shop has it!

"We try to have everything you can think of with Tech on it," said store manager Sherry Dukes. "We want to be the ultimate college store."

Located across the street from the campus at the corner of Broadway and University Avenues, the Spirit Shop specializes in the largest local selection of quality merchandise to serve the basic Tech student.

Namebrand sweatshirts from Russell and T-shirts from Hanes, the most requested items, are available in every color imaginable.

The Spirit Shop offers custom lettering on more than 200 fabrics purchased at the market each season. Dukes said store buyers purchase fabrics in bulk which allows the specialty shop to provide different designs as well as the popular styles seen on campus.

Patrons can bring in their own shirts and store personnel will assist in creating a unique design or will provide custom lettering for individuals or groups.

The Spirit Shop has just introduced a kid's shop which carries a full line of Tech fashions for your favorite little person.

In keeping with the resurgence of enthusiasm and school spirit Tech is experiencing, Dukes said specials are available each game weekend during football and basketball season to help boost school spirit.

Items found in the Spirit Shop include cards, posters, hats and stuffed items like footballs and animals. Russell 100-percent cotton sweatshirts are available as well as windsocks, mufflers and knit caps.

Unique items include the Texas Techpoly game, Tech dominos as well as a complete selection of cups, glasses and other Texas Tech monogrammed items.

The UP lifestyle: uptown living and fun, fun, fun!

When cold, winter weather with it's chilly winds, snow and ice hit the Texas Tech campus, University Plaza is the only place to live.

Whether students are looking for quality living quarters and lifestyle, the best food and management or the amenities of uptown living, all elements can be found at University Plaza.

The management at University Plaza understands students' lifestyles and consider it their job to help students enjoy reaching goals and realizing dreams.

The facility offers large furnished rooms with private baths between each two rooms. All quarters are fully climate controlled for heat and air conditioning. Even renovated rooms assure tenants of quality accommodations and comfort.

In UP's co-educational environment, students have the freedom and privacy of apartment living along with the convenience of a home next to the campus.

The UP management is dedicated to providing tantalizing meals and outstanding customer service to all residents by responding to students needs and requests.

The Dine Anytime program offers extended operating hours, so students don't have to worry about conflicts in class schedules and meal times.

Besides the quality meals served day-to-day, UP also hosts special occasion events like luaus, cook-outs and frequent buffets.

An added feature of UP living is a friendly housekeeping staff that cleans rooms weekly.

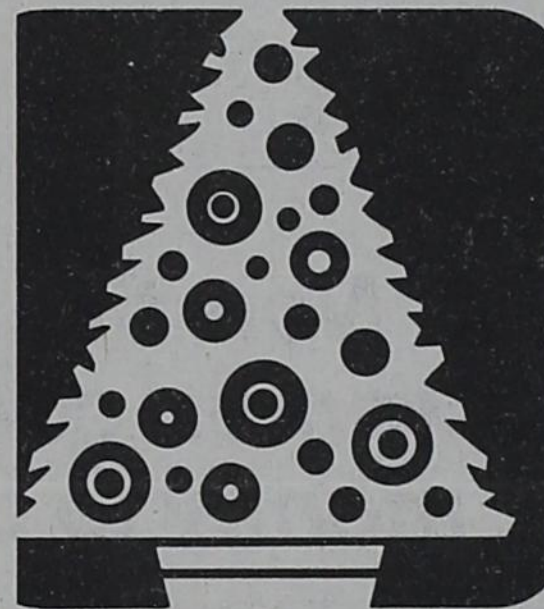

Students don't have to go far from home to have fun. With two swimming pools, a game and fitness room, frequent parties and lots of intramural sports planned, residents can get into the swing of things without leaving home.

UP also has a complete laundry facility, a large vending machine center and special places to study.

Tech students are becoming more disciplined so the apartment living offered at UP presents greater opportunities to party while campus dorm living restricts social interaction.

Students need an environment that is conducive to hard core studying and stress-release socializing.

University Plaza strives to provide this type of atmosphere. So, try the UP lifestyle!

Computers make ideal Christmas gifts

Just in time for a late Christmas, Zenith is sponsoring the second Masters of Innovation Competition to seek out special campus achievement by offering more than $150,000 in prize credits in personal computers (PCs).

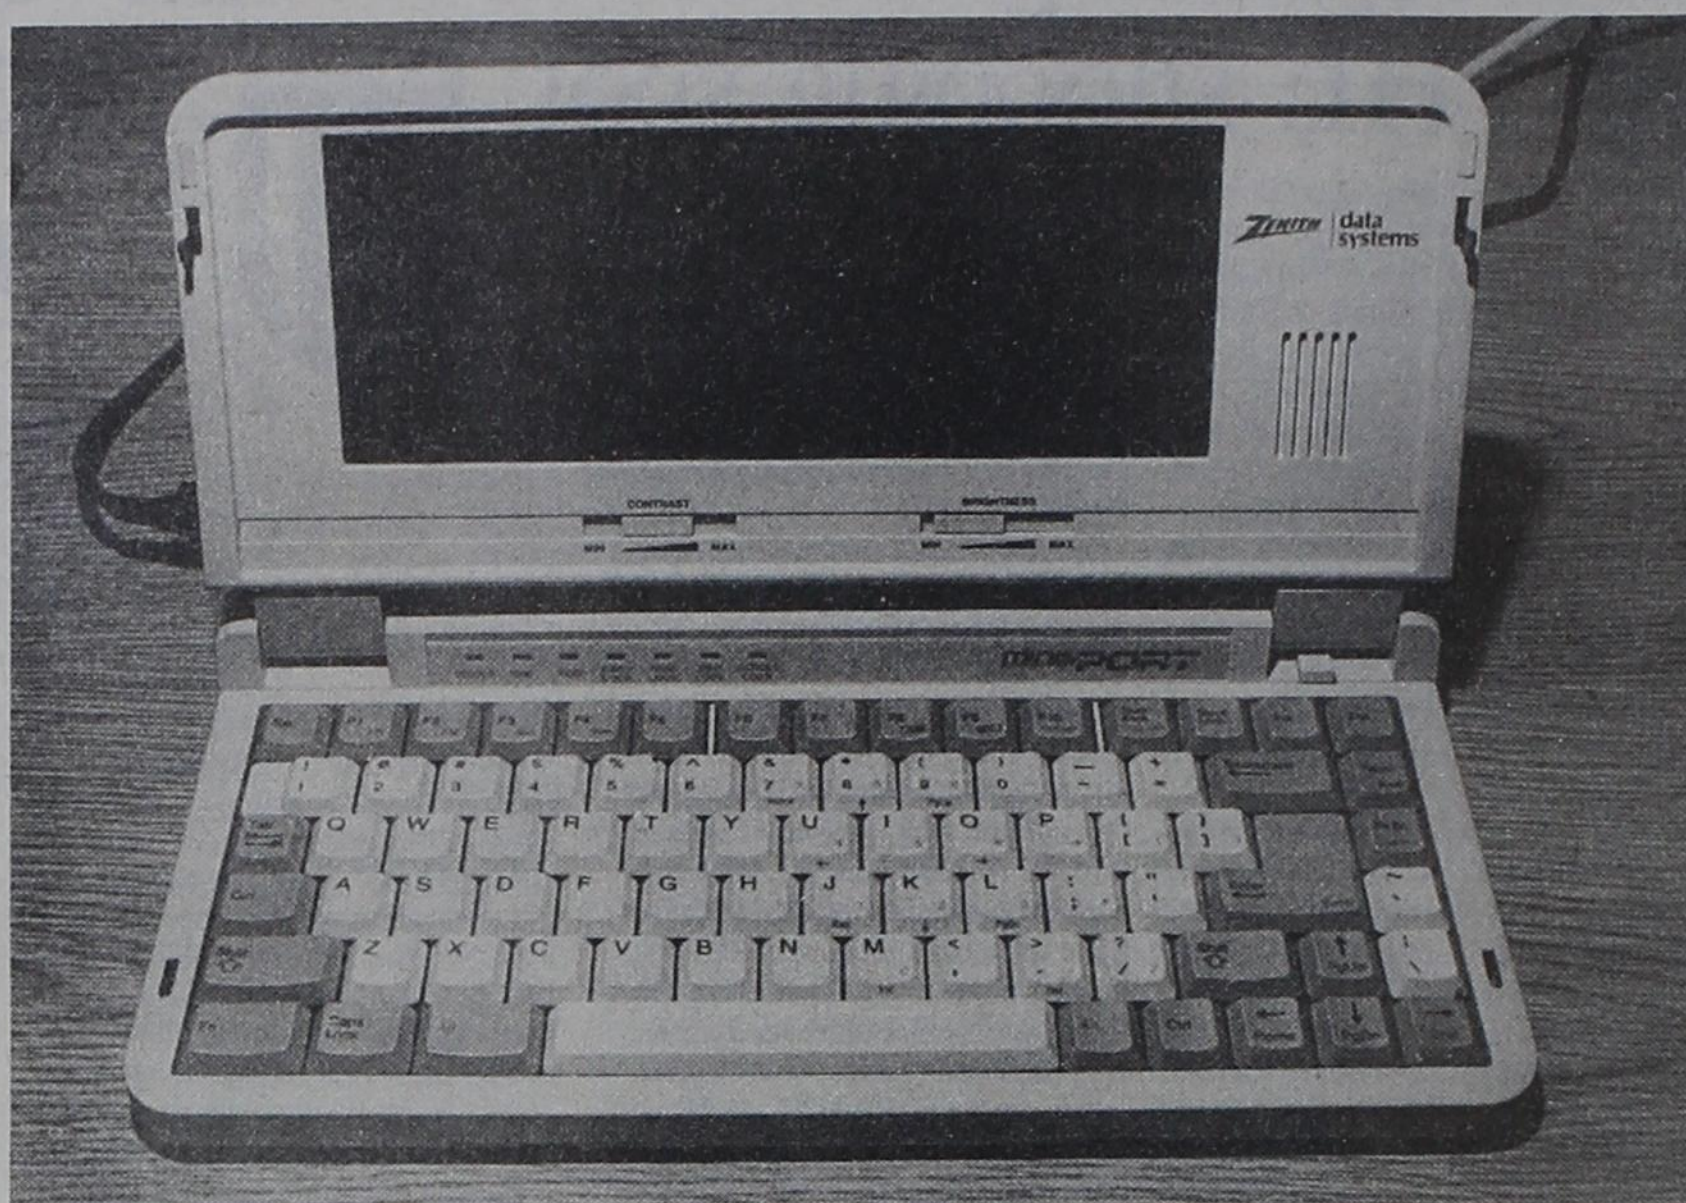

The competition begins Oct. 16 and ends Jan 15, 1990. Students, faculty and staff at universities across the United States may submit papers describing how they use their PC-compatible application to assist educational study. Entry forms are available at participating campus bookstores and computer centers.

Entries will be judged in five fields of academic study — business, education, liberal arts and sciences, fine and applied arts and engineering and computer science. Applications must run on a Zenith Data Systems (ZDS) PC.

ZDS will award credits toward the purchase of Zenith PCs and monitors to three students and three faculty/staff winners in each of the five academic categories. First-place winners will receive a $5,000 credit toward ZDS products of their choice. Second- and third-place winners will win $3,400 and $2,000 credits respectively. In addition, ZDS will recognize each first-place winner's school with $5,000 in ZDS products.

A screening panel composed of three educators from each of the five academic areas, will review the papers and select finalists in each category. A final judging panel composed of members of the academic community, computer industry and media will judge the finalists entries in March.

Unisex shop offers classic hairstyling

In the tradition of its name, Andropolis offers upbeat, classic hairstyles for men and women.

Andropolis, which means human populus in Greek, reflects the reality of hairstyling — that there is no difference in men's and women's hairstyles. The Andropolis philosophy is based on the belief that all hairstyles are created with geometric cuts that are designed artistically and creatively.

Customers are number one with the Andropolis staff who are available to communicate with clients.

"If they want ideas, we are here to share ideas. We want our customers to feel they are really being taken care of," said manager David Everett. "They are here to find a look for themselves — looks that are classic but that have a modern approach."

The 1989 fall season ushered in a new look in both men's and women's hairstyles. Everett said overall, hairstyles are shinier — the healthy look is in.

Mid-range to shorter are trend lengths for women this fall. Styles will boast subtle waves or will capture sleek, swinging cuts that are full of fluid motion.

Women's styles also will capture light with soft layers and texturing that creates new sensations.

Men's styles will capture classic designs with short sides and longer lengths on the top giving hair new character. Some of the new looks for men sport subtle waves or sleek sculptured styles that make strong statements.

In addition to offering a full staff of trained stylists, Andropolis has recently expanded to provide better service for clients — better than in the past. The spaciousness of the new surroundings is more conducive to art and creativity.

Although Andropolis caters to mid-range clients, stylists also can satisfy the most ultra conservative client to those wanting a wild, liberated style. Whatever the client wants, Andropolis' stylists will create.

The newly remodeled Andropolis now offers an expanded line of retail merchandise that is more approachable for clients. Customers will be able to choose from an expanded line of Paul Mitchell products.

Andropolis offers classic haircuts at affordable prices. Haircuts for women range from $14 to $20 depending on the stylist and the cut. Haircuts and styles are priced from $18 to $27 and perms begin at $45.

Men's haircuts range from $12 to $15 and a haircut and style are priced from $14 to $18.

Located across from the campus at 1315 University, Andropolis is an appointment salon, but walk-ins are always welcome. The shop is open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday and later by appointment.

Yes, Virginia! There is a Santa Claus

Yes, Virginia, there was an editorial about the credibility of Santa Claus, appearing more than 100 years ago in The New York Sun. It was written by Francis Pharcellus Church, an assistant to the paper's editor.

A true Christmas classic, it has outlived its writer, the recipient, and the newspaper that gave it life. Its most famous phrases are often recalled and sometimes parodied:

"We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of The Sun:

"Dear Editor:

"I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, 'If you see it in The Sun it's so.' Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus.

"Virginia Hanlon

"115 West 95th Street"

"Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except what they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world around him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

"Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus!

Christmas Toy Trivia

Monopoly sales pass 100 million

Since being introduced in 1935, Parker Brothers has sold more than 100 million sets. The game, invented by a man named Charles B. Darrow during a spell of unemployment in 1933, now is distributed in 35 countries and in 19 languages.

Silly Putty developed by accident

Silly Putty was invented accidentally in a General Electric Company lab during World War II, when scientists were trying to develop synthetic rubber for the war effort. Besides providing an instant medium for fledgling sculptors, this substance has been used to pick lint, clean typewriter keys, level wobbly furniture, help the Apollo 8 astronauts fasten down tools during weightless flight, and to take hand and foot prints of the gorilla population at the Columbus, Ohio Zoo.

Yo-yo: weapon turned toy

One of the oldest toys is the yo-yo, with origins in a primitive weapon used by prehistoric Filipino hunters. The original version had a sharp piece of flint attached to a long thong. If the hunter's aim was poor, he could retrieve the weapon and try again.

Teddy bear named for president

The Teddy Bear, a namesake of President Theodore Roosevelt, originated in 1902 when the president refused to kill a bear that his hunting party had captured and tied up for him to shoot. Roosevelt said it would be unsportsmanlike to take advantage of the defenseless animal.

Political cartoonist gives Raggedy Ann life

Like a true waif, the original Raggedy Ann was a castoff found in an attic and adopted by 8-year-old Marcella Gruelle in 1914. Her father, John Gruelle, a political cartoonist for the Indianapolis News, drew a face for the stuffed, faceless doll, and her mother, Myrtle, added a candy heart inscribed, "I love you."

New York hails tallest Christmas tree

The Christmas tree in New York's Rockefeller Center lights up (with 18,000 colored bulbs) in midtown Manhattan. It joins a long line of memorable trees that began with a simple tree put up by construction workmen grateful for work during the Depression. The tallest tree in Rockefeller Center, which went up in 1948, was a 90-foot Norway spruce from Mt. Kisco, N.Y.
