FREELANDMEN DROP ONE TO CHRISTIANS

Matadors Weakened By Injuries and Unable to Win

Handicapped by the absence of several of their first string men, and fighting a psychological battle against the old grads of Abilene Christian College, the Matadors lost a slow game to the A. C. C. Wildcats in Abilene Friday. The final score of 6-3 in favor of the Wildcats came after an injury to Floyd Woolridge, Tech calculator, had put him out of the game.

Powell, A. C. C. passer par excellent, was the greatest individual star of the fray. He led A. C. C.'s only brilliant attack, which netted them a touchdown, and their only score late in the third quarter.

Immediately after Woolridge had been injured, after he had generated the Matadors into a pretty position, Hardy replaced the injured quarterback, and Brothers kicked a field goal from Abilene's 34-yard line.

Except for these two brilliant flashes, the game was slow and rather devoid of interest. The Wildcats were able to whip over an even dozen first downs while Tech only managed to glean three. The Wildcats also made a bit more progress with their aerial work than did the Matador gridsters.

The lack of Al Jennings, who is off stock-judging, Percy Walker, who is out with an injured knee, and Raymond Westerfeldt, who will probably not be able to play in the Canyon game, coupled with the loss of Woolridge, was more than the Matador team could stand. Their defeat is not so bad, considering that the Matadors had the hardest schedule according to team-age, of any other eleven in Texas. They have lost only five games in three years, three of these defeats being administered by Southwestern Conference eleven.

Dean Miller Elected Committee Chairman

Dean J. M. Miller who attended the committee meeting on relations of electricity to agriculture, last week at College Station, was appointed chairman of the sub-committee on rural lines for the coming year. The Dean will, in a measure, direct the work along this line in West Texas.

Lorenzo Ladies Meet In Granbery Home

The ladies of the Lorenzo Woman's Study Club were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. John C. Granbery at their home, Friday afternoon. Dr. Granbery is conducting a series of lectures before the club and the ladies heard the third of the series at the Granbery home. The subject of the lecture was, "Greece". Dr. Granbery drew on his first hand experiences in that country for material for the talk of the day.

Miss Dorothy McFarlane and Mrs. Myrtle Morrison assisted Mrs. Granbery in entertaining the ladies.

DO IT NOW!

Today is the last day to have that picture made for La Ventana, according to announcements made by Mr. Ferral Roark, Editor-in-Chief, of the college annual.

Go down to the photographers today (The Daniel Studios) and have that sitting made. You may not be the most beautiful girl nor the most handsome man in college, but your "mug" in La Ventana will add to the general attractiveness of the College Year Book.

Eastern-Western Ideals Contrasted By Hindu Scholar

Syud Hossain Expresses Self as Satisfied With New American Civilization.

Telling his hearers of the tremendous age of Indian Civilization, Syud Hossain began his lecture on "Eastern and Western Ideals: A Contrast and Comparison" at the Gym Wednesday night.

Indian civilization was old at the time when Greek civilization was flourishing. India was a contemporary of ancient Babylon, Phoenicia, and Troy. These have all perished and disappeared from the earth but India goes on just as it did thousands of years before Christ.

Western Materialism

Western civilization is a material thing. The statement made by Bismarck "every man for himself, and the devil take the hindmost," was typical of the 19th century, in which Europe ruled supreme. European civilization died with the advent of the Great War, and we are living in an age of American supremacy. The speaker brought out the point that the 19th century was a century in which the world was dominated by the countries swept by the Atlantic, the 20th century finds the East and America swept by the Pacific coming into their own estate.

Eastern Philosophy

The speaker accounted for the meek submission of the eastern countries by referring to their philosophy, in which they took things as they came and submitted to the basest indignities rather than proceed to violence.

Mr. Hossain pointed out that, whereas India has been growing and building for 5,000 years, the United States is a new country, having been in existence for only 150 years.

Social Gathering Held at Churches During Past Week

Tech students were entertained by two churches Tuesday evening. The class of H. D. Woods, joined by the Senior Christian Endeavor of the First Presbyterian church gave a party at the church which was attended by about thirty-five people, costumed as children. Ice cream cones were served to the juveniles.

Tech students of the Baptist church were feted by a "harvest" social in the parlors of the church. A play, "The Farm Kitchen," and a reading by Mrs. J. H. Hankins, supplied the diversions for the evening to the dozen, five students attending. Appropriate decorations carried out the motif of the affair.

Members of Faculty See "Moving Bodies"

All along the highway between Lubbock and Amarillo passed the caravan of automobiles, bearing the sedate faculty of Texas Tech. Fords and Buicks, Nash and Edges, all passed and repassed in the grand rush.

A Physiology professor was heard to remark that she felt it absolutely necessary to attend the show, as it would be of infinite aid to her in the study of the Human Anatomy.

Education and pleasure go hand in hand for our Physical Education teacher, who deemed it important that she see the show, in order to study the rhythm of moving bodies.

"All for art," sighed Miss Cox, as she remained at home to practice the Little Theatre play, "Dulcy".

The men of the faculty, including Mr. Reese were abnormally silent concerning the matter of going up to the spectacular performance, and it as generally understood that a goodly sprinkling of them were present.

Many and varied were the remarks made as to the quality of the program, but somehow the returned faculty didn't look any different to us. And it's all because the Follies showed in Amarillo Thursday night.

Cambridge Men Who are to Debate Tech In International Contest Here Saturday

H. M. FOOT, A. B. KING-HAMILTON, H. L. ELVIN
Members of Cambridge University, England, Debating team, who meet Tech's squad composed of Alton Hutson, Clarence Whitesides and Hal Lary, with Wilbur Edelman as alternate, at the Tech Gym Saturday, November 19th.

Remarkable Find Made by Tech Man In Geology World

The sensation of finding and examining something that the eye of man has never before seen, is reserved for a favored few of the world's scientists. But, a member of the Tech faculty, Dr. Stainbrook, a new member of the Geology Department, has experienced this sensation many times.

In making geological research in the Cedar Valley Beds of the Iowa Devonian, Dr. Stainbrook has made preliminary descriptions of some 65 new species of the Brachiopoda, heretofore unknown to science. According to Dr. Patton, head of the Department of Geology, "Inasmuch as the description of a single new species is considered a distinct accomplishment among scientific men, this is an enormous contribution." The results of Dr. Stainbrook's findings are to be published soon by the Iowa Geological Survey.

Y Secretary Now in Roomy New Office

Roy McCullough, Tech Y. M. C. A. secretary, is established in his commodious new office on the third floor. Mr. McCullough called together several committees the past week to confer with, both he and Claude Nelson, state Y secretary, who visited in the college some four days last week.

Armistice Observed At Convocation Hour

In commemoration of Armistice Day, the hour of Convocation was devoted to patriotic observance, last Wednesday. Appropos talks and songs featured the hour.

Trumpets sounded, announcing the hour of meeting and when the students assembled in the Gym, "America" was sung. Roy McCullough gave the invocation, to be followed by Dean J. M. Gordon who led responsive reading. Dr. Jackson read a portion of the constitution. Dr. Paul W. Horn made the principal address of the hour.

Scholarship Society to Meet Friday Night

Mr. H. B. Carroll, President of Tech Scholarship Society announces a meeting of the society to be held Friday night. The president of the society says that Key Cards have been received and urges all members of the group to meet at the Administration Building, Friday night at 8:00.

Bi Plane Crashes; Two Tech Freshies Seriously Injured

Two Tech freshmen, Anna Burson of Silverton, and Clinton Reese, of Ballinger, were injured Wednesday afternoon when a biplane owned by the El Paso Airways and operated by Leo Amoretto of Wyoming, crashed near the campus. It seems that the plane was about 200 feet from the ground and the pilot was unable to avert the crash.

Eye-witnesses assert that the plane was about to land when the accident occurred. The plane, and another, owned by the same company, had been on and near the Tech campus for several days preceding the accident, taking up passengers. On Tuesday Dr. Horn requested the pilots of the planes to refrain from using the Tech Campus for a landing field. This action was taken by the President, who feared that some accident might occur.

It is said that young Reese exhibited tremendous fortitude after the accident, telling rescuers to extricate his young lady companion before making efforts to get him from the mass of wreckage.

Miss Burson was the most seriously injured of the three occupants of the plane. Reese suffered a fracture of his left leg and the pilot was seriously injured.

Y Groups Interested In Detroit Meeting

Groups of men and women have been meeting at various times during the past week in the interest of the Y Convention which is to be held in Detroit in December.

The theme of the December meeting is to concern Foreign Missions, and it is hoped that Tech will have a delegation present at the convention. Mr. Roy McCullough, local Y man, and Mr. Claude Nelson, State Y secretary, have been working together during the past week, on this and kindred matters concerning the future of the work on the Tech campus.

Mr. Qualia Addresses Woman's Study Club

Mr. C. B. Qualia addressed a meeting of the Athenaeum study club, Tuesday afternoon, on the social classes and laws of the Indians of New Mexico. The club had as its subject, "The Mexicans," and Mr. Qualia's address furnished an interesting insight into one phase of the topic.

Tech Stock Judges Take Many Honors At Kansas Shows

Tech Judges Split Honors With Texas A. & M., but Win Many Individual Firsts.

In their first out of the state judging contest, the Tech stock judging team came in for fourth place honors at Wichita, Kansas Thursday. Texas A. & M. obtained first honors. Texas Tech was only fifty seven points below the first team, Iowa and Kansas coming in for second and third place honors, respectively.

Besides taking fourth honors, men on the Tech team came in for individual awards. F. G. Blackmon received second high individual score, closely following Nyall of A. & M. Besides scoring second high, Blackmon was high in horses and tied with Sam Chatham, of Tech, in hogs. Al Jennings, who took high individual honors at Ft. Worth last year, was high in sheep judging.

Tech scored second in hogs, fourth in sheep and fifth in cattle and horses.

The Tech team left Wichita, Thursday night, where they participated in the intercollegiate contests at the American Royal Livestock show at Kansas City, Saturday.

The Tech team experienced a setback when they judged at the American Royal, at Kansas City, finishing well down the line. Buck Weaver was high point man for the Tech aggregation.

Men making the trip were entertained with a pig roast, on the eve of their departure. Those making the trip were F. G. Blackmon, of Shallowater; Sam Chatham of Idaho; Al Jennings, of Lubbock; Elton Mimms of Water Valley; R. C. Reed of Stanton; Lonnie Starr of Palestine and C. L. (Duck) Weaver of Levelland, with Ray Mowery, faculty sponsor, who has trained many victorious judging teams.

Many Activities Interest Girls In W. A. A. Prog.

The work of the Women's Athletic Association formally opened the year with an all college girls party. At the party the schedule for the year was announced, and the girls were given a chance to decide on their course for the sports year. A great variety of sports are to be offered.

Among these are tennis, baseball, basket ball, hiking, horseback, and several others. Girls will be sure to find sports which will interest them, and all girls who are interested are asked to participate.

Miss Gilkerson has posted a list of the sports and the time which they come on the bulletin board in the rotunda, and girls are asked to decide their sports from these.

W. A. A. sponsors the giving of all awards. Girls can win letters, sweaters, and blankets through their work in it.

Math Club to Meet Wednesday Night

On Wednesday night, Nov. 16 at 7:30 in room 206, there will be a meeting of the Math Club. A constitution will be adopted and the organization completed.

Students taking Sophomore work in mathematics department and faculty members of the department are eligible for membership.

The program for Wednesday evening is in charge of Cal Willingham and Mr. Reese, and includes discussions on "De Moire's Theorem and It's Applications," and another on "Non-Euclidean Geometry."

Tech Student Roster Contains Complete List

Misses Iva Burlison and Merle Williams have a few more copies of the Student Roster for sale. This Roster contains the name and address of each student in the institution.

DEBATE TEAM READY FOR CAMBRIDGE

Hutson-Whiteside and Lary to Meet English Team

Tech's representatives in the Cambridge-Tech debate have been chosen, and Cambridge University, England, is scheduled to meet Tech's team here next Saturday night, November 19, in the Gym.

The three men selected by Tech to represent the school against the Cambridge team from England are all under 24 years, and show promise of being able to compete with the wily Englishmen in their quick wit and easy, informal speech, which the English style of debate calls for. The British method is to heckle opponents, deal in personalities, and be ready at any time to make the opponents ridiculous with witticisms, rather than to beat down the foe with cold logic.

Alton Hutson, Lubbock, 23, and an experienced debater, has twice debated Clarendon, bringing glory to Tech, and is a polished speaker. Hutson is a Junior Pre-law student.

Clarence Whiteside, 19, also of Lubbock, is a Pre-law student, and although he has never debated in Collegiate debates before, he is known over the state for his ability as a public speaker. Whiteside is state secretary of the Student Federation this year, and last year held the office of vice president of that organization.

The third member of the team, Hal Lary, is a 17-year-old Freshman of Clovis, N. M., but formerly of Gorman, Texas. Lary has had four years of experience in declamation and has debated for three years as a representative of Gorman. Lary shows much promise and ability as a collegiate debater.

Wilburn Edelman, 21, of Plainview, and a Junior Pre-law student, has been selected as first alternate.

The Cambridge debaters are typi-

INDIGNATION

With sixty-one persons at the pep-meeting, out of a student enrollment of over fourteen hundred, Texas Tech made ready, Tuesday evening, for the Abilene Wildcat-Tech Matador struggle. Such a pit-gathering, from the entire student body, who are willing to give thirty minutes of their time to cheering on the Bullfighters, is worse than a shame—it is a down right disgrace. College citizens are supposed to have the mental ability to decide questions for themselves. If the pep meetings are not worth while it is high time for the administrative authorities to refuse permission for holding such yell-fests on the college campus.

If the turnout, Tuesday night, is at all indicative of the true Tech spirit, the cheering squad should be dispensed with, the Matadors should disband, and Tech should console herself with a fond vision of "what might have been."

A true college citizen will support his school, and his team, win or lose. Victory does not always lie in the larger score. When Texas Tech played A. & M., we were defeated, by a 47-6 score. When S. M. U. rated as one of the eight best teams in America, played the Aggies they were defeated by practically the same score. The Matador line held, and only by resorting to the air were the Bilemen able to whip over a win. Reports have it that the Aggie offense was able, at will, to break the Methodists' line.

But not being satisfied with the Matador's showing, "loyal" Tech fans spent the week following the Aggie encounter, giving vent to various exclamations of anger, discontent, and 57 other varieties of fault finding.

After the Matadors had administered a decisive defeat to the Waniel Baker squad, one would think that the true Tech spirit would again come into evidence. The last two games on the schedule are hard ones, and it should have been the business of every student in the institution to see that they were victories. And then came the disgraceful showing of last Tuesday night.

The attitude of the school seems to be, "Let the Matadors work, fight and win—and we will gather up the praise that victory brings for ourselves. Let the Matadors work, fight and lose—or even if they win—we can get the praise without any effort on our own part. Yell-meeting tonight!—Oh, there is a picture at the Palace I can't miss. There will be enough out at the Gym without me."

Now what are we going to do? If college students have the mental ability to decide for themselves—their decision seems to be that Texas Tech does not need, does not appreciate a football team, and further that they are not going to back the Red and Black, in any way, shape or form.

The whole matter must be decided by the students. If Tech wants major athletics, and is willing to support the teams, the student body as a whole must do their part in rendering such assistance as they can. Pep meetings are but one way of showing the team that the whole student body is behind them in their every effort to win. Either we should entirely do away with such meetings or else the entire student body should get behind them, body and soul.

Think it over and back the Matadors to win, but back them even stronger when they lose. They need your help more when downcast in defeat than when they are jubilant in victory.

"Dulcy" Again Given Appreciative Crowd

The play, "Dulcy," first given in Lubbock October 25, was repeated under the auspices of the American Legion, Nov. 11. The play was given with the same cast as in its previous rendition, save for one change, Mrs. E. E. White playing the part formerly taken by Miss Ernestine Wilson, who was out of the state.

Tech people in the east included Mr. E. W. Provence, Miss Eunice Cox, Mrs. E. E. White, Horace Gaddy Moore, Jimmie Allen and Edgar Shelton.

Harry Lemaire's orchestra, consisting of Mr. Lemaire, Mrs. Lemaire, Miss Lois Mangum, J. G. Thornhill and Fred Moore, furnished music before the opening and between the acts.

the thing up, and has been here ever since. "If the editor makes mistakes folks say he ought to be hung; but if the doctors make any mistakes he buries them, and people doesn't say nothing because he can read and write Latin. When the editor makes mistakes there is law suits and swearing and a big fuss, but if a doctor makes one there is a funeral, cut flowers and perfect silence. A doctor can use a word a yard long without him or any one else knowing what it means, but if the editor uses one he has to spell it. If the doctor goes to see another man's wife he charges the man for the visit, but if the editor should go he gets a charge of buckshots. Any college can make doctors to order, but an editor has to be born."—Exchange.

MR. HOSSAIN. DR. STAINBROOK.

"While in the West emphasis is placed on things material, in the East emphasis is placed on things spiritual," the speaker continued. He however, did not speak disparagingly of the American ideal, saying that he felt that America was destined to erect a newer civilization far superior to the civilization dominated by Europe for so many years.

Mr. Hossain was introduced by Dr. John C. Granbery, who referred to the magazine, "The New Orient," of which Mr. Hossain is editor, as having one of the most brilliant staff of contributing genius of any magazine in existence today.

Such is the personnel of the Cambridge debating team, and knowing this much of the respective merits of the members of that team, every

When interviewed in regard to his contribution to human knowledge, Dr. Stainbrook modestly declined any praise for his discovery, saying that it was merely because of the lack of investigation in his field that he had been able to find so many, heretofore undescribed, species of the Brachiopoda.

Dr. Stainbrook refuses to acknowledge anything particularly unusual in the results of his research, pointing out that the strata he investigated as some fifteen miles wide, one hundred miles long and one hundred feet thick in places. He also, is quite unassuming in discussing his find but with the true scientific attitude said that he "hoped it would be a contribution to the existing knowledge of the world."

In addition to the 65 new species, Dr. Stainbrook has made preliminary descriptions of some 50 varieties, heretofore unknown.

The term "preliminary description" is used at Dr. Stainbrook's request, but in justice to him it may be explained that he has made a complete description of the Brachiopoda. But, inasmuch as his findings have not yet been published, he takes the scientific attitude, that without publication the species and varieties he has described are not truly reported to the scientific world.

Immediately following the debate, an informal reception will be held, in order that the audience may have the opportunity of meeting the debaters. Student tickets may be had for 25 cents; the general admission price is 50 cents.

Mid-Term Grades Disturb Freshmen

THE SINISTER MORPHEUS HAS TAKEN THE OLD GENTLEMAN FOR QUITE A TUMBLE

"Mid-Term reports are out!" This statement struck no terror to the heart of the no-nonsense, boyish, worldly junior, it did disturb Senior, but the announcement that the reckoning day has come and passed and they are to be separated into the two great classes, they who fail and they who pass, spells down many a lowly, not to say lazy, Freshman.

During the past week the cloisters have fairly seethed with a great mass of green hatted Freshmen, each approaching his fellow with a question, "Did you make it?"—to be answered with a disgusted, "I busted two courses," for the grades showed that Mathematics and English and the other subjects so often pursued, but never attained by the whole group of any Freshman class, had given their respective quotas to the great mass of "bustees".

Despite the great quantities of mid-night oil burned in a last desperate attempt to glean enough knowledge to pass those exams, many of the class of '31 have found, to their dismay, that the race is not always to the swift, nor to the fast.

As usual, on such occasions, many efforts are made to isolate the "wheres and wherefores," but as usual the numerous answers given are so varied that no definite conclusions have at this time been reached.

The "burning wrecks" are the cause of it," bemoans one Freshman, when confronted by a full deck of failures. This excuse does not have much weight, however, when the man is shown that failures have been rife among the first year men since time immemorial; yea—since long before the days of Haynes—or whoever it was that visited the curse of the motor car on this benighted age.

After all has been said and done, after all good resolutions have been made and broken, as resolutions usually are, one is prone to advance the theory, stereotyped as it may be—"Burn the mid-night oil from the first to the last, but burn it to advantage." The gentleman in the picture is surely not burning the candle, nor is he allowing both ends to be consumed by the flame lest it burn the wings of the little moth—or whatever that legend is. The book is not in evidence, yet he has lost all interest in the words of the printed page and has allowed himself to be wooed and won by Morpheus, that sinister old bird always on the alert for ambitious but unwise Freshmen.

Bold sonnets on the garter have been heard,
And lyric odes to satin slippers small,
And camisoles the poet's heart have stirred,
To write immortal verse about them all.

The females' duds have been the theme for long,
The muse has always sung of women's fads;
But no bum poet ever made a song
About the old suspenders that were Dad's!—California Pelican.

One Night

Beneath the cold gray moon
The earth in stillness lay,
Lay bathed one night in June
By many a silvery ray.
The moon saw grief untold
Where, by a spotless pane,
A maiden fair as gold
Had long in sorrow lain.

It saw a quivering lip,
And bathed a fevered brow;
Stood still like a mighty ship
Rescuing a sinking scow;
Looked in those big blue eyes,
That shone like tears of love,
Like Oriental skies
Beyond the Heaven above.

Her soul embraced the night,
That seemed to understand;
Reclined that comfort might
Embrace the tear-stained hand.
She closed her big blue eyes,
And went to Heaven above,
Where her sweetheart beyond the skies
Embraced her with fervent love.

TOREADOR SCRIBE POKES FUN AT EFFORTS OF NEW YORK COACHES

There is a tremendous difference between the East and the West, as was brought out by Mr. Hossain, recently. This difference lies, not only between countries and between continents, but between customs in Eastern and Western colleges.
 An example of this difference is brought home in the statement that comes to us from New York University, regarding the wearing of hats on the campus.
 "Not a single hatless sheik is to be found among the forty men comprising the current season's football squad of the New York University, the team that is battling its way to the highest honors among the football teams of the east. An iron-clad rule—"Keep your hat on!"—has been issued by Chick Meehan, who as coach of N. Y. U. men, has been largely responsible for the remarkable football history made by that organization.
 "Chick has met and overcome all sorts of baffling conditions in his trying work as coach, first for the Syracuse eleven, and in the past three years, for N. Y. U. But this year there developed something new to his experience. In mid-season, with his men in the best condition, members of the squad began reporting sick. Several minor colds—a most unusual ailment among men at the peak of physical fitness—handicapped the work of training. Then Frank Briante, who to date holds the yardage record of all eastern teams, had to take to his bed. Next day little Dud Hornell, track champ, and speediest of half-backs, turned up with a cold.
 "A good coach has to be doctor, lawyer, detective, father, mother and executioner, so Chick looked into it. What he located has nothing wrong with the course of training, but rather something new in conduct outside

This game helped put Sul Ross on the map as a football aggregation. As a whole, the Alpine backers are mighty well pleased with the showing made by the Lobos. Tech is considered as one of the strong teams in Texas and is bidding for a berth in the Southwestern Conference next year. Well, we hope they land it, and make good. They have a colorful team, composed of husky gridsters from the Plains who know no defeat, who give their best in every game, and make a team fight. Although we lost to the Matadors, we feel that we won a victory; for, without fear of contradiction, the Lobos were morally victorious. We are sorry that the results of the game were not different, but glad that the victors were such a worthy team.—Sul Ross Skyline—on the Lubo-Matador game.
 Thanks! Those kind words are like firing coals of fire on our hearts, Sul Ross. While Tech is mighty grateful for that victory, there is no doubt that the Alpine lads showed the Matadors a thing or two about the game.
 The current number of the Engineering News Record of New York carries a two page layout of the Texas Technological College. The article devoted to the college contains pictures of the two main buildings, floor plans of the textile building and a good write-up on the school. The article bears the head, "New State Technological College at Lubbock, Texas."—The Toreador.
 In its three years of existence the Texas Technological College has enjoyed a mighty growth, far beyond the dreams of those who were instrumental in establishing this institution. It is this sort of publicity that brings students from all parts of this nation and even from foreign countries to this school in our state. For a number of years A. & M. has received nation-wide publicity, and that institution ranks as one of the best institutions of that type in the country today. It appears that Texas Tech will follow in A. & M.'s footsteps. Texas Tech has those qualities behind it that justifies publicity. During the war our sister wrote her name on an egg and sold it to the grocer. A few days later she got the nicest letter from the nicest soldier boy at San Antonio. We thought we would do the same thing, so we wrote our name on an egg and sold it to the grocer. The egg must have been had for no one has written us yet, as we said it takes those qualities that justify success and we had no such qualities. A school or firm that is representing itself to the public to be something that it isn't, generally doesn't get far. As Tech now has more students than it can care for, we are of the opinion that it has not been misrepresenting itself, and that institution will do much toward the promotion of education in our state, something we are all doing our dead level best to do—and are doing.—The CAMPUS CHAT—North Texas State Teachers' College.

of training hours. Some of the men, having observed college youngsters flirting with the fad of appearing on the street with nothing on the head but a slick hair-comb, had thoughtlessly done likewise. The result, of course, was an epidemic of coughs and sneezes.
 "At the next football meeting the bomb was exploded. Said Chick, 'Any sane and adult person, who wants to keep his health, ought to know enough to wear a hat out of doors. If these other lads want to plaster themselves with bear's grease and look like comic-strip sheiks, we can't stop them. But you can't do it and stay on the team!'"
 And herein lies the difference between Tech and the New York University. Not a single man on Freeland's squad has been bothered with a serious cold during this entire season. Neither, do we in this expanse of the balmy West Texas, feel that those who appear hatless are "sheiks"—plastering themselves with bear's grease." Nix—Those members of the Matador squad who do not wear a hat, are like the remainder of the great hatless masses of Texas Tech. Namely, they simply do not fail to wear the headgear from choice but from necessity—the direct necessity of financial insolvency.
 Naturally the cold bleak winters of the northern state would make one hustle to some form of headgear, all of which makes one proud to be a Texan.
 Here the little birds sing in the spring—tra-la, but they also manage to keep up a rather nice chord throughout the long months when New York is shivering under the icy blast of Old Man Winter.
 Moral: You do not need a hat, you do not have a hat, hence you do not wear a hat. To continue further—that is it is it not yes it is.

Gamma Pi Alpha Bridge Guests at Home Jane Mast

Miss Jane Mast entertained the Gamma Pi Alpha Club at her home last Thursday at her home, with a delightful bridge party. Cut flowers were used in decorating and dainty tallies carried out the color scheme of yellow and green. After three games of bridge were played high score went to Miss Anna Belle Collins and low to Miss D'Ann Sammons. A salad course was served to Misses Alma Spikes, D'Ann Sammons, Mary Frank Nickel, Rachel Cole, Ulla Houston, Kathryn Bryarly, Novelle Hemphill, Anna Belle Collins, Faye George and the hostess.

Sophomores Announce Dance for the Class

Thursday night after the pep meeting the Sophomore class held a short class meeting to announce the plans for the class dance to be given on December 9 in the gymnasium.
 The dance is to be an invitation affair and only those who receive and present their invitation at the door will be admitted. The invitations will soon be available and those who wish to send them to their friends may receive them for that purpose upon the payment of 50 cents. This payment will be used for decorations and other necessary things and will be deducted from the regular admittance fee on the night of the dance.
 Mr. Cecil Horne, the sponsor of the class, made a short talk encouraging the class to keep up its high standard which was set during its first year.

Central Texas Group Plans a Club Picnic

The Central Texas Club met last week at the regular meeting time in room 310 of the Administration building.
 Eight new members were initiated into the club. Three of the candidates for admission were Seniors. The initiation called for humorous speeches on various non-sensical subjects. The club plans to have like humorous speeches at each meeting of the club.
 The Central Texas Club is to be represented by a page in the annual. Plans have also been made for a picnic to be held next Thursday night, November 17th.

Mr. Elmer Davenport and Mr. David Dennis went to the home of the latter at Olton for a short visit Friday.
 Miss Ann Hartson returned from Dallas, the early part of the week, where she had been visiting her parents for several days.

A SHOE WITH EVERY FEATURE A COLLEGE MAN LIKES

The College Man knows how he likes his shoes—he has very definite ideas. Style must be snappy—shapes must be just right—leathers must be heavy enough without being too heavy—the fit must be correct.
 All these features are so evident in NUNN BUSH shoes that College men have adopted them. Then too, the exclusive Ankle Fashioned feature—that fit around the top without any hint of bagging—is a feature that all demand.
