Lobos To Meet Matadors For Today's Event

Football Game This Afternoon Is Main Attraction For The Annual Homecoming Celebration

Starts At 3

Today's Tilt Is First Home Game For Matadors This Season To Be Played In Sunlight; Fish To Play

A typically "western" football team representing the University of New Mexico will meet the Texas Tech Matadors in the Homecoming game on the local gridiron this afternoon. The kick-off starting the game will be called at 3 o'clock sharp.

New Mexico's colorful eleven includes all manner of westerners. Indian braves, cowboys, muckers-men of all types are listed on the Lobo squad. Five former Haskell Indian players are regulars on the invaders' eleven. These men, Cross, Charles, Powless, Ward and Hendrick are former team-mates of the famous "Little Rabbit" Weller whose feats in the Tech-Haskell game this past fall will long be remembered by the Matadors.

Cross Ace of Backfield
"Buster" Charles, number 23, towers six feet three inches to tip the scales at 190 pounds. Charles shifts from tackle to fullback as the occasion demands. Chief Cross, quarter-back, and according to "Dutchey" Smith, the ace of the Lobo backfield, weighs 175 pounds. Cross wears number 4 into battle. "Horse" Powless, stubby guard, tumbles out onto the gridiron packing 200 pounds of sinew. Number 37, who you will find is "Monty" Ward, weighs 210 pounds to fill his position at tackle. "Tepee" Hendricks, fullback, crashes the line with full force of his 185 pounds. These five Indians are assisted by an Albuquerque boy, "Buster" Brown, who carries number 19 into play from a halfback. Smith rates this fellow Brown as one of the Lobos' chief scoring threats.

Fish To Play Saturday
This afternoon's game is not the only gridiron feature booked for the entertainment of the alumni. Tomorrow afternoon Freshman coach Del Morgan will send his galloping Picadors against the Simmons Cowababies. Jimmy Hahn, who deserted Picador ranks to join the Abilene crew, will perform against his former team-mates. The "Fish" defeated the Canyon Baby Buifs last week to the tune of 40 to 0. Last year the Tech freshman took a 25 to 6 verdict in the Cowababies.

About 200 Attend Aggie-Home Economics 'Kid' Party
The gymnasium was temporarily transformed into a zoo and toy store Friday night when the Home Economics club entertained the Aggies and faculty members with a "kid party."
Stunts and games were the entertainment for the evening.
Maecia Mounts was chairman of the social committee.
About 200 attended.

Staniel Bagwell, who is teaching in Amarillo, will be here for the homecoming. Bagwell graduated from Tech last year. His home is in Lubbock.

Jewel Bolton spent Sunday with her parents in Crosbyton.

Successor To Dean Miller Expected To Be Named Soon
Although no one has yet been selected to fill the place of Dean William J. Miller who resigned as dean of the engineering school recently, President Paul W. Horn expects to make some announcement soon, he said Monday.
Dean Miller who has been with the engineering school since the opening of the college in the fall of 1925 will join the faculty of the University of North Carolina as head of the electrical engineering department.
His resignation becomes effective January 1.

Library Will Close For Thanksgiving Holidays
The library will close Wednesday evening, November 25 at 10 o'clock for the Thanksgiving holidays. Reserved books may be checked out, as usual, after 9 o'clock and will be due Monday, November 30 at 8 o'clock.
SIDWELL TEACHES COURSE
An extension class in human geography is being conducted each Monday night at Meadow, by Dr. Raymond Sidwell. There is an enrollment of 13 members, three of whom are expected to enter Tech next term.

Grade Books Are Due In Registrar's Office Now
Grade books are due in the registrar's office this week. If the student has misplaced his grade book, he may pay $1 at the business office and bring the receipt to the registrar's office where a new book will be made for him, it has been announced.
TEACHES EXTENSION COURSE
Dr. W. P. Fry, of the department of Bible, began an extension class at Ropes, last Wednesday evening of the "Life of Christ." The enrollment is expected to be composed of teachers and church workers.

State Puts "Alkali Trails" On Approved Library List
Dr. W. C. Holden, of the history department, has been notified by publishers that his book, "Alkali Trails," has been placed on the approved library list by the State Board of Education.
This will give the book a chance to be circulated over the entire state of Texas by being placed in the school libraries. Several schools over the state have placed orders for the book. The Abilene schools have ordered 20 copies.
Charles Lee Bolton was a visitor in Quanah on Armistice day.

Hundreds Will Gather Today For Big Event

Fourth Annual Homecoming Attraction Expected To Draw Students From Many Sections; No Banquet Planned

Letters Mailed
E. W. Eagan, President of Alumni Association; Welcomes Extended By Maddox And Horn And Others

Today belongs to the graduates and former students of Texas Technological college.
Several hundred alumni joined with students to launch the Homecoming festivities last night at a "pep" rally around a large bon-fire on the campus. Following the celebration on the campus the merry-makers advanced on the business district.

Today's Homecoming is the fourth in the brief history of the college. Forty of seven hundred graduates were mailed invitations to attend the event. Miss Mamie Wolfarth, secretary of the alumni association, was in charge of the Homecoming announcements.

Game Is Main Attraction
Ethridge Eagan, president of the Alumni association, announced last week that the Homecoming banquet will be postponed this year due to the inability of alumni who have teaching positions to arrive here in time for the event. This afternoon's football game with New Mexico university and the all-college dance to be held in the gymnasium Saturday night are slated as the outstanding features of the week-end.

Plans are underway for the assignment of a special section in the stadium for the visiting alumni. Cheerleaders of by-gone days will lead the alumni in cheering the Matadors.
Plan Special Section for the student president, Don Maddox, the college publications, and Dr. P. W. Horn appear in this "special" edition of the Toreador. A large amount of space has been devoted to acquainting the alumni with the new-comers in Matador athletics and to recording the activities of former Tech students.

Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner Speaks To Tech Journalism Classes
Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner of Claude, widely known writer of newspaper articles spoke to Cecil Horne's beginning journalism class Wednesday morning.
Mrs. Warner stressed the importance of learning to spell and the use of correct grammar if much is to be accomplished in the journalistic field. She also told some of her experiences in trying to sell articles to syndicates when in New York city recently.

Will Leslie, who graduated from Tech in '29, is working with a utilities company in Pampa. Ross McDonald, also formerly of Tech, is working with him.
Elera Struve, Tech ex-student, is teaching in Cottoncenter this year.

AWS Council Is Elected

Members Are Selected From Four Classes; Purpose Is Explained; Activities To Be Limited

BY EMMAJEAN DOUGLAS
Toreador Staff
Members of the A. W. S. council were elected Thursday evening at the first All-girls convocation of the year. The council consists of two representatives from each class and from the various women's clubs on the campus.

The seniors elected Hilma Bartlett and Louise Hardy, the juniors are to be represented by Wilma Bartlett and Cecile Horne. Ruth Douglas and Ruby Rae Williamson were chosen from the sophomore class and Jerry Durham and Martha Alice Penney were selected by the freshmen.

Purposes Explained
Some of the purposes of the A. W. S. as explained by Mrs. Mary W. Doak are to furnish a means by which the girls may express their wishes and opinions, to work out problems and policies, and the right to make recommendations.

Hazel Gruver, president of the organization, told of the point system that is being worked out by Forum girls in which all women students will be limited in the number of their outside activities.
All clubs have been requested to elect their representatives at their earliest meeting.
Regular prices of seventy-five cents for complex and $1 for stags will prevail. Stags will be limited to 75, however.

ALL-COLLEGE SATURDAY
Homecoming students as well as registered students will have an opportunity to attend the all-college dance at the college gymnasium Saturday night, according to a late announcement by Lou Edwards.

Maddox Welcomes Grads And Exes

In behalf of the Tech Student Council, I wish to welcome back to the campus the several hundred grads and exes gathering in this city today. We hope you will have a great time and the student council is at your service. Feel free to call upon us.

You will note many changes on the campus today. You will find new faces. But all of us are trying to carry on the good traditions set up by you older ones and at the same time establish ones to be followed in years to come.

Make yourself at home today. We welcome you!

Pre-Law Students Hold Annual Feed

The annual banquet of the Pre-Law club was held Wednesday night in the chitino room of the Hilton hotel. Benjamin Kucera was the principal speaker of the evening. He made a very interesting talk of interest to the members.

Another speaker was Clarence Whitesides, former student in Tech, but who has been attending the law school at New York university. Ray Thompson, accompanied at the piano by Miss Lucille Hagan, gave a solo. Also interesting talks were made by several members of the club. About fifty were in attendance.

Evans Backed For President

Movement Launched To Elect Dr. A. W. Evans President Of The State Teachers Association

When the Texas State Teachers' association convention gets underway on November 27, 1931, one of the candidates for the presidency of the association will be Dr. A. W. Evans, head of the department of education in Texas Tech. During the second part of the summer session, members of the Tech graduate class, under the leadership of Bruce Shulkey, president, announced that they would support a movement to elect Dr. Evans to that position. A committee was formed for this purpose and funds collected for the campaign.
Dr. Evans received his M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from Texas university and has been connected with the Tech department of education since the opening of the college.

To Give Trophy Matadors Will Be Presented Cup

Coach Pete Cawthon and his Matadors will be presented with a large loving cup at the all college night at the Lindsey theatre tonight. James Lucas, publicity manager of the theatre said this week.
A special program has been arranged for tonight. Lucas said. The cup is being presented by the theatre in token of the good work done by Cawthon and his Matadors this year.
A special football picture, "The Spirit of Notre Dame" is being featured.

Thomas Chapman, graduate of 1931, is employed by the United States department of agriculture in Calexico, California.

Tech Graduates And Exes Work In Various Parts Of Country; Many Following School Professions

BY EVA ROB WATKINS
TOREADOR STAFF
What becomes of Tech graduates is a question that is always of interest to every Tech grad and those who are still in school but who wonder what those who have finished are doing.

Most of the graduates of the agriculture school are now vocational agriculture teachers. Ethel Brown, the school's only girl grad, is teaching science in Vera R. L. Burdett, teaches vocational agriculture in Fort Sumner. John Burrough in Clovis; L. C. Dalton, Lake Arthur;

T. C. Weaver, Dimmit and Taylor White, Tahoka.
A number of the boys are now quarantain inspectors. R. W. Alexander is in El Paso. Thomas Chapman, Calexico, California; J. M. Dunham, Brownsville; W. P. Griffith, Buckeye, Arizona; and Guy Orr, Valenline.

Still others are doing graduate work in other schools. Elmer Hartman, who graduated last year, is doing graduate work in floriculture at Ohio State university. Leon Havis

What They Tell The Editor

Dear Editor:

It is not often that we have a time when a college does not engage in all sports, but last year Tech did not have either tennis or track. What was the matter? It was not because there were no participants, for we have some fine material in each sport. Sports are a fine thing for every college but I do not think one sport should be emphasized more than another.

The crime is that Tech is not one year behind, but two or three in these sports now. Other colleges think that Tech will not have much this year because we didn't even have a squad last year, and this is true. If we had not had a football team last year would we have the team that we do have this year? I think not.

Many of us have gone to a country school where only baseball or basketball was played the year around and then we have come to college and find the same situation exists. We do not want Tech to be behind in anything; however we do want education first, but why not begin thinking about a track and tennis squad as well as a football squad this year?

L. G. Dear L. G.—Frankly, lack of finances was the reason Tech had no track and tennis team last year. But the good news already has been broadcast that Tech will put out strong teams in both sports this spring and several of the best prospects in the state are enrolled in school. You can begin now telling your friends, especially in other colleges, that Tech will be "right there" next spring. Write again. —The Editor.

Dear Editor:

How does it happen that an "ex-student" of Tech can never read anything of Tech's gridiron activities in Sunday's sports news? Every college, junior and senior, manages to get something on the sport page somehow or the other. Why can't Tech?

Tech is large enough to have a publicity manager, and it seems I have heard something to the effect that Tech did have one, but if there be one he is either mythical or very inactive.

Every Sunday I grab a sport page, eagerly searching for a report of Tech's game, but so far I have only found a report of two of your games. One with Haskell, and the other with Baylor.

It makes my blood boil to know that a school of Tech's size, and with as many possibilities as it has, receives no more publicity than an "insignificant Junior college."

Who is to blame for this? Certainly it isn't the fault of the various sports editor, nor a fault of "Petey" Galloway. I dare make the assertion that it is the fault of the student body of Texas Tech more than anything.

The student body "howled" for a better coach two years ago. It got one, one much better than it deserved. What is the student body doing to support that coach? Nothing, absolutely nothing. He is doing everything within his power to produce for Tech, and he is off to a fair start, but can he continue without the whole-hearted, loyal support of his student body? Positively not.

In my two years at Tech I heard lots of expostulation on what should be done for Tech, but the students have never been in accord to perform any of the said practices. Theory is a good thing when things are running smoothly, but practicities are the better when Tech is as it is now.

Mr. Editor, can't something be done to enthrone the students of Tech? Can't something be done to stir the sentimentality that is necessary to the success of a great school? Surely "opportunity knocks but once." You have the opportunity to devise a stimulant very much needed to keep alive the student body of your school. Take advantage of it.

Give us "ex-students" some means

The Lucky Seven Of The Week

A freshman from Houston, Texas. She can be found in front of the administration building on M. W. and F's waiting for a certain engineer. Just call her "Chunky" and see what happens.

He has black curly hair and brown eyes. He is known as "S. A." and knows all about Crowell, Texas. Does he know how to faint? If you want this question answered just ask the 031 speech class.

Just one look at him caused many girls to spill their coffee when he worked at the Waffle shop. No luck girls, the Baylor university coeds get all of his breaks.

Can she dance? She's one of the best dancers in school. She is Isora Adams rival in a beautiful hair contest being sponsored by coconut oil Shampoo company.

Does she have those "sea blue eyes"? She is a member of Las Vi-varachas and seems quite attracted to a girl with red hair.

He was found in the hall crying the other day. When asked by several students why he was shedding tears he replied, "Mother and dad are paying for me to go to school and my Prof. did not come to class." Therefore you all can get an idea of his studiousness.

He is on his road to being a doctor. He has received several applications late from girls wanting to be his office nurse. He has the reputation of being one of the neatest boys on the campus.

Argentina has been selected for the theme of all Spanish club programs for the year, the club president, Faye Bumpass, announced Tuesday. A book club was organized within the Spanish club at the last regular meeting, and the book chosen to be read was Las Grimas, a drama on the life of the immigrant into Argentina. This book especially stresses the life of the Italian there; and at each club meeting there will be a report made on the drama by some member of the book club.

In addition, reports from the following committee heads were made: Esten Day, program; Geneva Adamson, finance; Genevieve White, publicity; Lois Freeman, music, and Alice Muse Rogers, entertainment.

At the close of the musical program Spanish games were played and refreshments were served to thirty-eight people.

Katie Walker and Avenelle Boyd spent the week-end with their parents in Quitaque.

Life In Dormitories At Tech Isn't As Dull As Rules Make You Believe

Certain Things Are Frowned Upon; Two Halls Full Here

BY LOIS JACQUES
Avalanche-Journal Staff

TRADITIONALLY, girls' dormitories are one of two things—a place devoted to be slumped, or the setting of the most glorious memories of college days. The latter conception is by far the most popular one, for the former probably arises from reading rules for conduct in the dorms, which necessarily seem stern when seen in cold print.

Texas Technological college has two official dormitories for women students, Lovell Hall and College Inn, both located on College avenue. Rules which govern girls living at these halls are lenient in comparison with many other schools. Here students are allowed three dates a week, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday; on Sunday nights they must return home by 9:30, but on the other nights they may remain out until 11, and if they attend a dance they are to check in at 12:30.

Quiet Hours Observed

On week nights the girls must return to the hall from the library, club meetings, etc., at 10 o'clock. Quiet hours, when girls are supposed to be studying in their rooms, are observed in the afternoon, and again in the evening, beginning at 7:30. During the quiet periods no one is allowed to answer telephone calls, except long distance, and visitors are not received. Playing of portables, singing in the halls, and loud conversations are also frowned upon.

College Inn, whose matron is Mrs. J. M. James, is larger than Lovell Hall and is strictly a boarding house, while several of the students residing at Lovell Hall do light housekeeping. Miss Edna McGregor of Knott is assistant matron at College Inn and Miss Martha Temple of Fort Worth assists Mrs. Lovell.

Kitchens Always Full

It's nice to have all your meals prepared and served for you without any worry on your part, but still the girls who do their own cooking at Lovell Hall say they enjoy it. Sometimes it takes a great deal of research work at the last moment to think of something to fill an empty stomach, but they always manage, even if it's nothing more than bacon and eggs and an apple. The kitchens at meal-times are always full of girls who borrow each other's cup towels and use someone else's dishes in return for

Riding Class Will Go Into Winter Quarters

A lot has been said about hot-house plants, indoor sports, and such things, but always before horse-back riding has been thought of as a wild chase across "rolling" acres and into the great open spaces.

Such jaunts, however, do not thrive so well during the long, cold, winter months, when soft, white, tapering fingers, and extensively perfect waves and coiffures are concerned. So Tech ladies will no longer be exposed to the perils of clinging for dear life to frozen saddle horns which brace them against howling, winter blasts, while astride galloping mounts.

Oh no; for the girls' riding classes are soon to go into their winter quarters, when they will prance up and down underneath the warm, yellow glow of western electric light bulbs.

Barn To Be Used

The largest barn on the fair grounds is to be turned over as a race track for the "nags" who cater to the fair sex. A sunny, Florida atmosphere is guaranteed, and rumor has it that a shipment of artificial palms are soon to arrive, which will complete the effect.

This is a marked forward step in the famous, cultural move, which is being fostered by American women—"keep that school girl complexion!"

Tenth Olympic Plans Given

Los Angeles To Be Scene Of International Athletic Contests; All Sports Have Place On Gigantic Program

(Special to Toreador)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 20.—First announcement of the final and complete official program of the Games of the tenth Olympiad to be held in Los Angeles from July 30 to August 14, inclusive, 1932, was made by the Los Angeles Organizing committee, following receipt of a cable of confirmation from Count de Baillet-Latour, president of the International Olympic Committee from Lausanne, Switzerland.

The program will open in Olympic Stadium (Coliseum) on Saturday afternoon, July 30, with the historic opening ceremony, a part of which will be the impressive Parade of Nations, in which 2,000 sons and daughters of 33 nations, led by their respective national flags, will participate in the March past the Tribute of Honor.

One athlete will then step from the drawn-up ranks to take the Olympic oath for all the teams of the participating nations. As the torch is administered the Olympic flag will be raised; the Olympic torch will blaze forth atop the massive peristyle of the Stadium and in the presence of representatives of foreign countries, world-wide Olympic organizations, and officials of the state, the Games of the tenth Olympiad will be declared officially opened. Many other beautiful features of pageantry will mark the Opening Ceremony.

The Olympic Games will bring to Los Angeles the greatest gathering of dignitaries ever to assemble on the Pacific coast. Members of royal houses from all parts of the world will attend the opening ceremony as will official delegations from their governments. In accordance with Olympic traditions that the ruling head of the nation pronounce the Games opened, President Hoover will be officially invited to open the Games of the tenth Olympiad.

Miss Gruver Entertains Las Leales Club Members

The Las Leales club was entertained in the home of Miss Hazel Gruver, 2134 19th street, Monday evening.

Nine new members were received in the club. They were: Misses Wilma Bartlett, Ruth Thompson, Maetta Mounis, Christova Sawyer, Eva Rob Watkins, Ena Armstrong, Ruby Ray Williamson, Lyra Arming, and Evelyn Baker.

They later attended a local theater. Mrs. L. H. Gruver and Miss Helen Gruver were guests. Members present were Misses Mary Jo Cagle, Geraldine Cleveland, Edna Bartlett, Lizzie Belle Clemente, Liah Gaye Rodgers, Pearl Harrison, Alice Beckett, and Hazel Gruver.

It was estimated that the average college girl had more money to spend than the male. It seems that there is a danger that the "great American date" may lose much of its color unless this plan is adopted.

Ed Joseph, Frank Neal, and Louis Zimmerman spent the week-end in Brownfield.

Regina Rhea, Rhoma Gause, Jarell Rhea, and Melvick and Trice Flake attended the District League rally at Slaton recently.

Tech Choral Club Working On Cantata, "Rose Maiden"

The choral club is now working on the cantata, "Rose Maiden" from Cowen, and Mendelssohn's oratorio, "The Hymn of Praise." These two compositions are among the best known ensemble arrangements.

Professor N. D. Moulton, of the French department, is pianist this year, and the organization is under the direction of W. R. Wagborne, head of the department of music. Meetings are each Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the engineering auditorium.

Bertha Lieske was a visitor in Crosbyton during the week-end.

Opal Farmer, former student, visited in Lubbock during the week-end. She lives at Miles.

Ralph Wyatt visited his parents in Lovell Sunday.

Walter Burns, Tech graduate, was a visitor here last week-end.

TIME AND TIDE

BY WILL BRISBARTON

GRAYBEARDS

TODAY is the day the graybeards come back to the scene of their youthful endeavors. It is hoped that every student of the campus will use his company manners and show the proper respect for age. We must do nothing to make the grads feel less out of place than they actually are. If today you see some old gentleman struggling to get up a flight of stairs, take him by the arm and help him along. Remember you may be an old grad yourself someday. If some of them look a bit ragged and down at the heel, don't be too contemptuous. Money isn't everything. You might be like that some of these times after you have been looking for a job as long as they have.

"I know it is a sin
For us to sit and grin
At them here,
But the old worn-out hat
And the breeches and all that
Are so queer."

STRANGERS

GOING back to one's alma mater after a few years of absence is like going back to one's home town and finding it peopled with strangers. We know that student bodies move swiftly. A short four years and all are gone but a few stragglers. But somehow one is never quite prepared for the uprush of strangeness that greets him on his return.

If thoughts could be bought with the proverbial penny, I would sally forth with a pocket full of the coin very soon today. I imagine I would grow very rapidly in wisdom between now and nightfall as with each transaction I discovered the thoughts of some post-collegian. But since no one will sell me their thoughts for a penny, and I can't pay more, it's just as much fun to speculate as to what those thoughts are.

REMINISCENCES

Some are likely recalling their sojourn here as a time of zealous courtship. In the minds of some dances and parties are uppermost, with some football, long hours of grilling toil, or the drama and pageantry and uproar of a game. Others perhaps reminisce of friendships and bull sessions while still others find their greatest delight in recalling club affairs, politics, hazing, or a game that lasted far into the night.

Watch some alumnus as he ponders. He stands at some old familiar spot and looks with unseeing eyes at the strangers who mill about him, re-people the scene with the eager life of another day. The glamour of the past settles over all. Associations cling mutely to rooms and corridors and stairways and campus touch to life in his mind our predecessors and bygone events. While the old school bustles with its ever youthful activity, he listens to our cracks and sallies and laughter as one among strange kinsmen, and sees mostly the Tech that is gone forever. If he is fortunate, he may find a sufficient number of his old cronies in the homecoming crowd to make the occasion one of jolly reunion, but he is far more apt to be wearing a look of hurt disappointment, as though he expected to meet somebody here who didn't come.

WORTH

I dare say that the man who finds genuine pleasure in returning to his old haunts, yet with no desire to live his college days over again, is the man who made the them it is a real homecoming—their intellectual home. Here it was that new horizons opened to them, new visions were beheld, new dreams dreamed. These classrooms, these halls, this library will suggest to them hours when they gazed into the pure realm of knowledge and caught the spirit of scholarship and awakened a wanderlust to explore and explore and explore.

TURN BACKWARD

You will not have to look very closely to see a wistfulness on the faces of many. How they would like to be here again and live their college days over! They tell themselves that they would avoid many of the errors they made while they were here. One perhaps tells himself that he would study more and go lighter on extra-curricular activities, while another thinks he would study less and go in for more extra-curricular activities. A student who plunged into affairs of the heart with a will tells himself, no doubt, that he would let girls alone and pay more attention to his books and other activities. On the other hand, some chap who did avoid girls, either because it never occurred to him to seek their company or because of the embarrassing lack of funds, dress suits, automobiles, etc., spends his reminiscence moments regretting having missed "romance" or some wholesome friendship where opportunities for both were so great. Someone will return to find the friends he had cultivated grown into strangers while a casual acquaintance may welcome him with the eager handclasp of a long lost friend. Such is the irony that dogs the steps of men.

SHRINE

THERE will be a few who will return to Tech as to a shrine. To most of his time while here and is making the most of it now. He doubtless didn't go in for grades while he was here. The person who does go in for grades is not a real scholar but an imitation. He does not learn for the love of knowledge, but is just a child seeking his mother's praise or trying to prove himself not so inferior as he feels. No, the person who is content to leave his college days behind him when he is graduated, probably studied, and studied systematically, and enjoyed it, and didn't give a rip whether or not the registrar was able to keep books on how much knowledge each instructor had apportioned into his brains. He probably had time to make a number of friends and made friends because he loved friends and not because they were "contacts" he expected to stand him in good stead at some later date. He probably found a friend or two on whose integrity and loyalty he would stake his life and that in itself is worth his years in Tech.

Thanksgiving Theme Carried

Out At San Souci Party

The Thanksgiving theme was used in appointments Saturday afternoon when Miss Anna Lou Bennett entertained San Souci club members and several other guests with a bridge party in the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. Hooper Styles, 3002 22nd street.

Club members who attended were Misses Dorothy Rushing, Virginia Bacon, Wanda Butler, Frances Snyder, C. L. Thelma Mitchell, Effie Smith, Roberta Myrick, Rosemary Leaverton.

CAMELS are FRESH

in nature's own mild way!

EVERYONE knows now that Camels are the fresh cigarette.

If inquiry went deeper, it would reveal that Camels are the natural moisture cigarette.

That's important, because in handling fine tobaccos, when you process out natural moisture, you sacrifice freshness and flavor too.

Camel smokers needn't worry about that, because Camels are blended of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos that are never subjected to violent processing. They need no parching or toasting to make them smooth, palatable, cool.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack is such a boon to Camel smokers—it preserves the freshness, flavor, natural moisture, fragrance that are in this fine cigarette to start with.

Camels are fresh in nature's own mild way, and if you want to see what that means in unalloyed smoke-enjoyment, switch to them for just one day—then leave them, if you can!

Many Veterans Will Return To Tech For '32 Season Matador Cagers Plan Trip To Northern Schools During Xmas Holidays

Cawthon Fortified With Long List Of Eligibles For Tough Schedule Booked By Matadors

Practically Entire 1931 Team Will Return Next Fall To Face Aggies, Bears, Miners, Pioneers, Cowboys, And Notre Dame

By Toreador Staff Writer
Texas A. and M., Baylor, Arkansas, Denver, Colorado Mines, and Notre Dame "B"—that's the program for next fall as announced recently by "Dutchy" Smith, line coach and business manager of the athletic department.

Why such a heavy schedule has been booked can be answered by the potential strength of this fall's freshman squad, particularly among the Pileuger backs, and the presence of a dozen or so sophomores on the Matador eleven. Football minded alumni quite naturally are interested in the future strength of their Alma Mater's eleven—that is why The Toreador takes pleasure in introducing the under-graduate members of the 1931 eleven. All players are listed in the following paragraphs with the following paragraphs will be eligible, barring scholastic difficulties, for varsity service next fall. Add the strength of the freshman squad to this array of power and you will—well, let's wait until next fall to make our guess.

Here's the low-down on many of the boys who will see action this afternoon:

"LES" TRIBBLE—hails from Sherman—is known as the "Terrible"—to date has outplayed all opponents at center—weighs 165 but makes up for lack of weight in fight. He'll be back for two more campaigns.

"WHACKER" BARTON—a former Westerner—slapped a horse-collar around his broken collar bone and came back out for more—a center candidate weighing 152. Two more years for Barton.

"STUD" TURNER—the big Indian from Claude—former Wayland star—plays either guard or tackle—tries the beam at 175—weighs 175 and his silence—Turner has another year or two of eligibility.

"SHORBY" FRANCE—if you've read accounts of past games you've heard of France—splendid punter—elusive broken field runner—threatens to desert college for minor league baseball—he'll have another year in the backfield if baseball doesn't get the best of him.

"MALTBY" MALTBY—the pride of Desdemonia—a veteran guard who'll see service again next fall—weighs 168—is a blonde—and is one of the "big shots" of the engineering school.

"BRIGAM" YOUNG—crack tackle from good old Ralls High school—deserted the cow barns for the gridiron and has been burning up the field with good performances in the line—weighs 195 and towers above the six foot mark. He'll be back for two more campaigns.

"LEFTY" SOLLIS — runs like "Red" Grange when he runs but doesn't get the chance to run very often—stepped 95 yards for a score against Colorado Mines—usually gets the call at one of the halves on the "shock" troops. Two more seasons for "Lefty."

"BUFFALO" NICHOLS — best looking man on the squad (so the girls say)—plenty good fullback and has two more years to go—came out of De Leon High—is fancy skater—weighs close to 180.

"SLICK" CLOSE—the big "way" to touchdowns for Wayland last fall—stepped right into a regular job with Pete's outfit and has been going nicely—somebody accused him of coming from Shamrock—"Slick" will give his big brother at Vanderbilt a race for family honors in another season.

"TOBY" GREER—the Comanche Chief—a fighting guard with 180 pounds of muscle to use in battle—another of last year's "fish" who sent a regular to the bench—expert delirium—worth watching for a few plays if you care for an exhibition of real football.

"LADY" AYERS — hero of last week's game in El Paso—one of the fightingest men on the squad—letted last fall will letter this fall, and may get in a bid next fall—weighs 180—and used to cut capers for dear old Curo.

"SQUAT LOW" TEAL—the original tough luck man—"Bill" will be with us this afternoon but a broken leg sustained in the Rusk game will keep him on the side-lines—has witnessed home games from an ambulance—another year for Teal.

"MOODY" FULKS — has nearly forgotten Oklahoma and the tiny town of Lawton—plays end and does a nifty job of catching passes—170 pounds in weight—and will be with us for another year or two.

"HITCH" HITCHCOCK — the famous camper of West Texas—dropped 150 pounds while lost in Wyoming last summer—plays end for "Pete" and good old Joe High of Cameron—rated as an intramural football star last winter but now bids well for inter-collegiate stardom—we don't know how many more years Mat has left.

"BENNIE" McWILLIAMS—Bill's little brother and what a brother—stepped up from last year's "fish" squad to gain a regular place at tackle—heavy, yes, about 193 pounds and—well, you ask the Baylor Bears. Bennie has two more campaigns to look forward to.

"JIMBO" BAKER—heaviest man on the squad—an Abilene product who used his head when looking for a college—plays either tackle or guard—has two more years at Tech—will be at his best Thanksgiving when Cawthon takes his team to Simmons field.

"SPEED" MOFFETT — lightest man on team and one of the fastest—lettered last fall in the backfield and will again this year, at quarterback—Stanton claims him—curly black hair and will be back next fall.

"ROSEY" CRITES—the boy with the pink cheeks and the football heart—played on "fish" eleven last year after having lettered the previous year—fullback on regular—weighs 175—is one of teams hardest workers—and we hope he'll be back next fall.

"JUICY" OWENS—that 200-pound sophomore tackle you've heard so much about—another Sherman boy—likes his football rough—you can tell him by the tape he wears—should be a sensation before he graduates.

"JIM" O'LEARY — a McAlester, Oklahoma boy—looked twice before he selected his Alma Mater—used to play with Dallas academy—only married man on squad—a good passer and steady quarterback, has another year to play for Tech.

"SIS" PRICE—only a sophomore, but has already gone down in Tech history as one of those things that are scored two touchdowns against A. C. C.—crossed Texas Miner line once—catches passes like Clements catches "A" grades—oh yes, he's a football boy, and has two more seasons ahead of him—weighs 175 and has been clocked at 87 miles per hour.

"AND" HOWELL—letter-man at end, comes from Brownfield but has forgotten that—supposed to have his feet in the Aggie tail—not busy listening to the Aggie tail (turkey, chickens, and cows—only weighs 159 but makes up for this in spirit. He'll be back next fall.

"COW" COWAN—built like a real end and plays one, too—stands up six-foot-two and weighs 220—says he's from Seymour—carried bod and pushed wheel-barrow last summer to get in shape. Two more years await the mighty George.

"ELLI" HARRIS—here's a real fighter for you—short and stocky to tip the scale around the one-nighty mark—rumored to be from Ralls—plays guard and when paired off with Greer makes a combination that is hard to beat. He'll get his diploma in 1934.

EDITOR'S NOTE—That's all we can give you this time. Sorry.

Horned Frogs Show Clever Ideas

FORT WORTH, Nov. 19.—Weight, 175 pounds; height, 5 feet, 11 inches; age, 20 years.

With these figures one has a description of the average football player on the 1931 squad at Texas Christian university.

If you don't care for averages, you may take the squad as a whole and find that the average player weighs 198 pounds, measure 250 feet and 11 inches in height, and are 873 years old. Not a single member of the squad fits exactly the description of the average. The nearest to it is Wallace Myers, end from Jacksboro, who weighs 180 pounds, is 6 feet tall and 20 years of age.

In Heaviest
Lon Evans, guard, is the heaviest man on the squad, weighing 220 pounds; Ernest Brown, quarter, is the lightest, tipping the scales at 140 pounds. Both are from Fort Worth.

Charles Casper, quarter from San Antonio, is the youngest man on the squad, being only 18 years old. Twenty members of the squad are freshmen numeral men, seven have been squad members before without lettering, while 15 of the old letter men are back to try for a second football championship for T. C. U.

Virgil Rowland, senior student from Anton, has withdrawn from college.

Glynn R. Coker and Charles A. Spencer visited in Snyder last Saturday.

Wait for the big event. It's coming.

The Lobo pack will bare its teeth here this afternoon. The above huskies form a part of the powerful New Mexico university football machine. The Mr. Pileuger you see pictured above is reputed to be one of the best tacklers in Lobo football history. Mr. McGuire—END. CRIST—END. CHURCHILL—COACH.

What The Matadors Are Saying Students And Football Players Comment On Today's Game

Basel Hill: "Everybody is going to help Donk Durham in his last home game."

Slick Close: "They'll be plenty tough."

Jack Durham: "The Matadors are going to show the ex-grads some real Matador fight."

George Langford: "All the boys realize that we are going to have a tough game. We intend to keep a clean home slate."

Bill Teal: "I know the Matadors will be fighting even though I can't be in there with them. I feel like I am the twelfth man on the team and one of them."

Speed Moffett: "We are going to try and give the students who are returning a real show."

Murray Nichols: "If we can rock'em and sock 'em like we did A. C. C., we'll win."

Shorty France: "I'll be a tough game. We'll give all we've got."

Juicy Owens: "Those Indians are going to make it plenty tough for us."

Bennie McWilliams: "It will be a job to beat the university."

George Cowan: "We consider the game one of the toughest on our schedule."

Ross Ayres: "It's going to be a tough game but we are going to play it for the men who are playing their last year, we are going to do our best to win it for them."

Terrible Tribble: "We are going to do our very best to win this game, if we do, we will have a perfect record so far as our home games are concerned."

Ed Young: "If all the Matadors battle like I know Captain Jack will, I feel certain Tom Churchill will have to look other than to Haskell for material next fall."

Jay Timmons: "I hope the Matadors average an old score 14 against Churchill, the New Mexico

scrapping bunch of Matadors. I think we are going to win our next two games."

Earl Hobbs: "I think Tech is going to win by a good margin. My money will be on them."

O. C. Corry: "I look for a good game. The University of New Mexico has a strong team, but Tech is plenty capable of holding her own."

Mondal Hughtest: "It's going to be a hard fight but I think the Matadors will win for the ex-grads and for Donk Durham."

Lowell Dalton: "I've seen Buster Charles in action several times; if the boys stop him, we'll win."

Earl Dodd: "I predict a hard fight but with the students back of them I think the Matadors will turn in another victory."

Gerald Geyer: "No matter who N. M. U. brings down here the Matadors and the student body are going out to win. Then we are going to throw the Cowboys."

Claude Barker: "It looks tough, but we are tough, too."

Virginia Craighead: "I think the game will be the best played in Lubbock this year. The Matadors are the best team."

Aleen Brown: "I am sure that the Matadors are going in there to win for us and the ex-grads."

Lois Jacques: "To win this game will be the best thing we can do for the ex-grads."

Oolie Abraham: "I am for our team, they are going to win, and I am going to be there to see them do it."

Allie Rae Collins: "Tech is going to win, but they are going to have a hard game. I think the students are going to do everything possible to help the team."

Allison Self: "I feel sure the Matadors will give us a real game against the Lobos."

Ed Young: "If all the Matadors battle like I know Captain Jack will, I feel certain Tom Churchill will have to look other than to Haskell for material next fall."

Home Of New Mexico University Lobos Is Very Picturesque City

New Mexico Lobos—football representatives of one of the most interesting universities of the Southwest, will trot out on Matador field this afternoon to assist Texas Tech in the Homecoming celebration. The occasion will be the first meeting of the two schools on the gridiron. Last winter the Matadors called in Albuquerque for a two game series of basketball. An even better result. Established in Albuquerque in 1888, the University of New Mexico has made rapid strides forward in the field of higher education. Probably one of the most unique architectural themes in college buildings is carried out on the Lobo campus in pueblo style edifices. Today the campus stretches across over three hundred acres of attractively foliaged mountain slopes.

In Largest City
Albuquerque, home of the university, is the largest city of New Mexico, and a noted health resort. In a picturesque setting on a plateau overlooking the Rio Grande valley, the buildings of the campus rise. Here extremes of temperature are hardly ever experienced. Students attend classes the year round with slight variation in amount of wearing apparel.

As to the grading system—A means from 92 to 100; B from 80 to 92; C from 71 to 84; D from 70

Miners Blast Scarlets With Andrew's Play

Heavy Mucker Quarter-back Leads Saxons' Eleven To Win Over Matadors With Points After Touchdowns

(Special to The Toreador)
EL PASO, Nov. 11.—The Texas College of Mines gridiron team place-kicked its way to a 14 to 12 victory over the Texas Tech Matadors here today. The Miners featuring a spectacular running and passing attack, with Andrews and Keys alternating, scored two touchdowns. The first center came early in the initial period, and not only did the Matadors gain the lead.

The defeat of the Cawthomen was their third loss for the year. All the games that they have lost were played away from home. The Haskell Indians beat in Dallas, 8 to 0, and two weeks later Baylor handed them the worst trouncing of the year, winning 32 to 0.

The Miners, led by Andrews, sewed up the game early. Tech kicked off to Keys, Miner half, who returned the ball to the Matador 45-yard line. Shortly Key, took the ball again on the first line play of the game and charged through the Matador forward for 35 yards, placing the agate on Tech's 10-yard line. Quarterback Andrews, called himself back, took the ball, and sidestepped though tackle for the first tally. Key's kick from placement went true to its mark, making the score 7 to 0 in favor of the Miners.

Regulars Sent In
Coach Cawthon sent in his regulars in almost 10 minutes after the game had started. In the second quarter they came back strong, with Crites doing the heavy end of the ball lugging, they marched down the field on four successive line plays. The two teams then exchanged punts and Tech intercepted a Miner pass placing the ball within scoring distance. Speed, Moffett, Tech quarter, gave the call to Yankey doing the heavy end of the ball from his end position, to take the ball on a fake from Close, and go the remaining twelve yards for the touchdown. Close's try to convert the extra point failed.

Score On Pass
The third quarter opened with the El Pasos still leading with a one point margin, but trying desperately for another score. Andrews filled the air with passes to no avail until late in this period, when he shot a bullet-like pass which traveled fully twenty yards in the air and finally settled in the arms of Meagher, who had a clear field ahead of him and crossed the goal line 30 yards away, untouched. Key booted the extra point with very little exertion.

Both teams played ragged football in the last period, falling almost entirely in their attempts through the air and through line. Near the end of the game Close caught a pass from France and stepped the remaining distance for Tech's final counter, and the last touchdown of the game.

Only a few times did the Matador team function; then they looked like the team that marched overwhelming victorious over the Colorado Miners and Abilene Christian college.

Debate Featured At Club Meeting

The subject discussed at the regular meeting of the Debate club Tuesday evening was resolved, "That education is a failure." Georgia Mae Smith and Manuel Debusk upheld the affirmative while Eleanor Simmons and Riley Millard were the negative speakers. The chairman was Charles O'Neal.

Shakespearean Actors Coming

Sir Phillip Ben Greet and his troupe of Shakespearean actors will be presented here on December 2, in the high school auditorium. The performance will consist of "Twelfth Night" to be played in the afternoon, and "Julius Caesar" at night. Elizabethan versions of the plays are to be given.

The American tour of this company each year makes such universities as Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Smith, "Hamlet" was their presentation on the Tech campus last year.

Extends Welcome

The Texas Technological college through its President extends heartfelt greetings to its graduates and ex-students who will be again on our campus on November 20. It is hoped that they will enjoy the football game between our college and the University of New Mexico. This will be the first time that the two football teams have met. It is hoped that the meeting will be both pleasant and profitable for all concerned.

Sixth Meeting With Cowboys Closes Season

Matadors To Journey To Simmons Camp For Annual Battle With Les Cranfl's Wild And Woolly Cowhands

For the sixth time in as many years the Tech Matadors will meet the gridiron warriors from Simmons university at the latter's home grounds on Thanksgiving day. This is to be the third Turkey day event, and incidentally promises to hold the spotlight on the West Texas gridiron stage.

Between five and six hundred Matador fans will probably board the special train leaving Lubbock at 8 o'clock Thursday morning for Abilene, and several others will drive through in their cars. The game is to be called at 2:30 o'clock at Parramore field on the Simmons campus. The Matador coaches have not announced definitely when they will leave the heavy end of the ball on Wednesday, and have a light workout in Sweetwater before completing their jaunt to the home of the Cowboys. The Tech gridsters are expecting a tough game with the Cowboys, following the many reports that have come in from the view of the splendid showing made by Simmons this year.

Is Climax
The game Thursday is to climax a series of celebrations attendant with the annual Simmons homecoming, and the Tech gridsters are no little for the Matadors. Both teams will be fighting to establish their supremacy over the other, and the Simmons crew will be striving to uphold the Purple and Gold before their eyes on their own field.

Approximately 100 spectators are expected to jam the Cowboy corral for the last big feature of the football season.

Being the two outstanding contenders for a berth in the Southwest conference, the Matadors and Cowboys will engage in what will probably prove to be a thrilling and close clash Thursday. This game continues the series of Turkey Day games between the two most powerful team-producing schools in West Texas.

Whether or not the Matadors will be able to enter the game this fall depends on the outcome of today's game with the Lobos. Right now every man is in the best of condition, Tribble's shoulder injury has healed, and Whacker Barton's injury which kept him out the majority of the games, has healed. It is almost certain that either the "shock troops" or the regulars will be able to start the game.

Head Of Applied Arts Has Varied Experience

Miss Harriet Tilden, new head of the department of applied arts, has had a varied experience in her work besides the teaching that she received in college. Since receiving her B. S. degree from Iowa A. and M. and her M. A. from Columbia university, Miss Tilden has been both stylist and buyer for a large department store. She was also with Carson, Pirie, and Scott, retail merchants, in Chicago.

Holiday Trip Being Planned For Matadors

Possibilities For Northern Invasion By Tech Appears Bright As Veteran Squad Returns For Season

With the return of all of last year's quintet which won over half of its games and with several freshmen luminaries bidding for a place on the team, Coach Del Morgan will have adequate material from which to mould his 1932 quintet. Captain J. H. Tadlock, the veteran Fisher, Moody, Dunn, Crews, and Darr are reporting in this night's weekly along with a large number of last winter's reserves and freshmen.

Will Extend North
The proposed tour, planned for the Christmas holidays, will extend as far north as Chicago. Although nothing definite has been announced relative to Tech's opponents on this tour it is likely that Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma of the Big Six conference; Washington, and Creighton of the Missouri Valley; Knox, Monmouth, and Bradley of the Little Nine; and Chicago, Northwestern, and Illinois of the Big Ten will be invited to consider games with the Matadors. On the other hand, Coach Morgan may be content to play the lesser colleges of the middle-west, who, incidentally, are unusually strong in basketball. In this event, Tulsa, Westminster, St. Louis, Concordia, St. Victor, James Milliken, Loyola, De Paul, Belmont, and Missouri Mines will be included on the schedule.

Team Looms Strong
Captain Tadlock, three years a star on the Tech quintet, and Bud Fisher, scoring ace, will form the nucleus around which Morgan will build his team. Moody, a clever forward, and Crews, sophomore ace, should add scoring strength to the Matador team in event Clarence Hodges, last winter's sensational scorer, is back. The Tech quintet, who last winter experienced hard luck as the result of injuries, will be a comber this winter. Dunn, an all-state guard from Ralls who last year was a power in the Tech defense, will couple up nicely with Tadlock in forming a strong defense.

Cowboys Have Edges
Past encounters of Simmons and Tech give the Cowboys a decided edge. Simmons has won four and tied one. Tech has won one and tied one. Last year a large delegation from Abilene visited Lubbock to see the Cowboys in action. Those who saw the game then and have seen Tech play this year know there is no comparison with the Matador team then and now. The Scarlets and Black will not be likely to let the Purple and Gold slip up on them.

Head Of Applied Arts Has Varied Experience
Miss Harriet Tilden, new head of the department of applied arts, has had a varied experience in her work besides the teaching that she received in college. Since receiving her B. ## Tech Picadors Run Wild To Defeat Canyon Yearlings Here Friday

Flashy Picador Backs Run Wild To Score Forty Points Against Canyon Baby Buffs

Freshmen Thrill Local Fans With Brilliant Exhibition Of Broken Field Running And Defensive Play

BY LYLE HOLMES
Toreador Sports Editor

Competing with an eleven of more their class, the Texas Tech Picadors chalked up their first victory of the season Friday when they met and defeated the West Texas freshmen with a 40 to 0 win. With two sets of backs, the Picadors dashed here and there as they liked, to furnish spectators one of the most interesting and thrilling games of the year.

Until this game the Tech team had been drilled to almost perfection on the defense but offensive play seemed to have been lacking. Although the same strong defense, which held the tiny Buffs scoreless last week, probably made the score stand as it is. The pass defense of the Tech Frogs was above par, with many intercepted passes accounting for long gains.

First Comes Early

The first Picador counter came early in the first quarter. Tech gained possession of the ball in mid-field when Morris intercepted Colvin's pass. Rowe and Tech carried the ball on a series of line plunges to the Yearling two-yard line. Rowe then went straight over center to tally first for the Picadors. McElroy's kick from placement was perfect.

Coach Morgan started the second quarter off by sending in a string of substitutes, and with each substitution the team seemed to gain strength. Anderson went in for Tuck, Curfman for Trice, Dowell for Moore, Clark for Rowe, and Crittenden for McElroy. Clark immediately showed that he was no amateur in handling the ball, on the first play kicked from his 50-yard line out on the Yearling six-yard line. The play was called back but he again kicked a 50-yard boot and placed the ball over the goal line. Colvin kicked from his 30-yard line to mid-field. The yearlings received a 15-yard penalty. Then on a play through the line, Dowell raced across the end line unopposed for the second tally of the night. Clark kicked extra point.

The third counter for the Picadors kicked by Pool replacing Clark, took the ball on two tries at the line, his first run was for 15 yards and the second for 10. Martin carried ball over on an end-around. Try for the extra point failed. The half ended with the score; Picadors 20 and Yearlings 0.

Intercepted Pass

Crittenden, Pool and Turner furnish the entertainment in the third period. Immediately following the kick-off Crittenden took a lateral from Miller and crossed the tape to score again. Pool, on a punter, stiff armed and sidestepped his way 25 yards for six more points. In the latter part of the quarter, Turner intercepted Colvin's pass and ran 30 yards for the final score.

Rain Interferes

The last quarter was played in a down pour of rain, with neither team scoring. The ball was slippery and fumbles frequent. Officials called it short because it was physically impossible to continue.

The tradition that it is had luck to play on Friday the 13th run true to form. Two players were carried from the field to the hospital. Alvin Morgan, Yearling, was injured on the initial play when he received the opening kick-off and was tackled by Tech Fishmen. Curfman, for the Picadors received a knee injury that will probably keep him out the remainder of the season. Before he was removed from the game, Curfman, thrilled the crowd time after time with his kicks from placement for extra points, and on kick-offs. He will be sorely missed by Coach Morgan.

Colvin Is Outstanding

Colvin, fullback for the Yearlings was outstanding. Besides tossing many passes and doing the punting, he crashed the Picador forwards for many gains. Once as a result of his passing, the Yearlings marched to within scoring distance. Three of his passes sailed accurately and bullet-like for 17, 11, and 9-yards to Boyd. The first year Tech men held

Under The Double "T"

BY LYLE HOLMES
Toreador Sports Editor

Tech's 1931 football record reads like a chart of the generations of a rubber ball—all ups and downs. The Matadors have been up to form on alternate week-ends this season, winning and losing by turns from week to week. And the Matadors are on the upward bounce this week against the New Mexico university Lobos.

The Matadors took Canyon and N. M. Aggie, lost to Haskell, beat the Colorado Miners, dropped to Baylor, won from A. C. C., and were downed by the Texas Miners in alternate games. Like the man who was told to run zig-zag when the angry farmer caught him in his watermelon patch, Tech will have to be careful not to zig when zig should be done, or the New Mexico Lobos will catch up with them.

Superstition has invaded the Matador camp. Just ask Harold Crites, Terrible Tribble, or any of the boys what they think of potatoes. They have it all figured out why the Matadors have lost the majority of their games away from home. The trip to Las Cruces was the only one which the Matadors did not partake of potatoes. It was the only one they won. The Matadors are sincere in their vows that there will be no potatoes for them when they go to meet Simmons.

Blame the defeat of the Matadors by the Miners to whatever you like, but first consider that it was the second game they had played in five days, without any practice in between, that a goodly part of the time was spent traveling, and the altitude is considerably higher there than it is here.

Friday the 13th, was plenty unlucky running true to the ancient belief that precaution is the word for that day. Morgan and Curfman, the former a player on Canyon's team, and the latter on the Picador team, were both injured and had to be carried to the hospital. Friday night, neither are in a serious condition, but it is possible that they will not get to play any more this season.

Bill Teal, varsity end, who received a broken leg in the game, is able to get around now with the aid of crutches. He will be on the Matador bench and giving every bit of his moral support to help his teammates win over the Lobos.

Did you know that New Mexico university led the University of Arizona, last Saturday 7 and 7. This fact alone just goes to show that our homecoming game will be far from a set-up. The Haskell transfer must be doing their stuff.

Homecoming students take note of the late change in faces of the Matadors. Possibly you can find some faint recollection of former fish that will bring back old football memories and tried it another time. The team now is made up entirely of sophomores, and good ones, too.

From the looks of things some of the present varsity players are going to have to fight, and fight plenty hard, if they keep their positions with the varsity next year. Some fish loomed up mighty good in the Picador Yearling game, just drop around and take a look at Adrian Clark, Poole, Tuck, Fortner, Martin, Curfman and a few others.

The famous end-around run made famous by Yancey Price, still seems to work. The Matadors scored on it the first time they tried against the Texas Miners and tried it another time but failed to gain because of a mix-up of signals. Wonder why we don't have more of this play? The Matadors have made the material two having been tallied in the last two years. The 53 against A. C. C. in 1930 and the "O" this fall against the Colorado Miners.

Stars Are Many

To present the individual stars of past Matador eleven can not be accomplished without undue injustice to men who gave the best they had for Tech and yet failed to break into print. Needless to say, the name of Ransom Walker is still biased high across the Matador gridiron. Others whose name generally crops out in football gossip are "Chubby" Dewitt, "Red" Reid, "Big" Knowles, "Charlie" Woodbridge—brother of the older school, and "Buddy" Brothers, "Woody" Woodridge, "Iron-Man" Hodges, and "Rip" Vinant of our own period.

1931 Freshmen Football

The present campaign, one of brilliant victories and humbling defeats, can best be viewed as a stepping stone to greater glory. The 1931 squad is made up almost entirely of sophomores. These, mixed with the power of the freshmen squad, should give Coach Cawthon an array of material undreamed of by any West Texas coach. Since next fall's tentative schedule calls for games with three Southwest conference teams and two representatives of the Rocky Mountain circuit, it can be said that Cawthon and his staff are introducing "big time" football to the Texas Tech followers. Only recently the 1931 "fish" ran rough shod over the Canyon yearlings by a 40 to 0 score while early in the season they threw a scare into the varsity only to see it fade in the final minutes of play when the Matadors scored a 13 to 7 victory.

William Now Leading In Chess Club Tournament

Arrangements in regard to play-offs in present and future tournaments will be considered at the next regular meeting of the Chess club to be held next Wednesday night at the home of Frank Ward, 2105 Thirteenth street.

Luther Williams, winner of last year's tournament, was awarded a set of chessmen at the last meeting. A beginners tournament to start November 25 was also announced at this time.

The present standings of the players in the senior tournament are as follows: Williams, 77; Luce 76; Millard, 67; Mast, 67; Casterlin, 56; Vickers, 44; Ward, 33; Paul Patton spent the week-end in Lorenzo with his parents. Patton is a transfer student from Simmons.

Curtain For Jack

Jack Durham - Captain

The curtain drops on Captain Jack's football days on the Matador gridiron this afternoon. Four years of hard work for the glory of Texas Tech's football reputation will be nearing its close when the time-keeper blows the final whistle on the homecoming game. Durham will have completed his fighting on the local gridiron and will have only the Simmons game in Abilene next Thursday left in which to lead his second command of scarlet jerseyed Matadors.

Hamilton High school turned Jack loose in the spring of 1927. It didn't take Durham long to select Texas Tech as his Alma Mater. The husky young high school graduate packed his belongings and grabbed a ride to Lubbock. Without stopping to find a rooming house, Durham scampered out to the Tech gridiron and announced to Coach Freeland that he was here to make the team.

Jack broke into the line-up sufficient number of times during the fall of 1927 to win a Double "T." At the close of the 1929 season the former Hamilton ace was elected to captain the 1930 Matador eleven. Last fall Durham led his team during their first season under the Cawthon coaching regime. Although his 1930 record failed to appear with regularity in the win column, Captain Jack kept his charge fired to high spirits in every game.

Coming back for his final year under the scarlet and black, Jack was again elected to lead the Matadors. This past fall the popular leader has been shifted from his regular stand at center to a guard position.

THIS afternoon Captain Jack Durham, president of his class and a leader in all student affairs, will make his last tackle in an intercollegiate contest on the Matador field. Jack will end a career that has not been equaled in Tech football. Four Service stripes on his letter sweater and twice captain of the eleven testify to this statement.

By winning the game the Cawthonmen will have a perfect home slate. So far as the people know here in Lubbock, the Matadors have a perfect club in every game that has been played here they have won by an overwhelming score. That what makes the whole thing so puzzling and so hard to believe, that the team we have seen work to such a perfection here, can be beaten.

Let's all go to our homecoming game, the Matadors are sure to show us a real game as they have done in the past. We don't want the ex-guards to think that there is no spirit left. We have more spirit than has ever been shown before. Why not be there and show it?

Resume of Matador Football Given

Curve Of Texas Tech Football Takes Upward Trend As Present Season Nears End

BY TOREADOR STAFF WRITER

In discussing the history of Texas Tech football it will behoove the reader to hurry over the paragraphs relative to the campaigns between the opening year of the college and the present season. Unfortunately those five years are written in terms of defeat on an occasion such as home-coming one likes to point to "what they used to do" instead of "what they will do."

Without question the 1925 campaign has been the most agreeable for Tech students to discuss. During the first year of the college the football team piled up a total of 210 points—a record that has hardly been half-way equaled since. In one game—that famous 120 to 0 victory over Wayland—the 1925 Matadors scored as many points as did the 1926, 1928, 1929, and 1930 seasons during their entire schedules.

Trend Goes Up

In terms of points scored, the 1929 season with a total of 31 points represents the most disastrous experienced by a Matador squad. Since that year the trend of Tech football scores has been on the increase—the 1931 eleven having scored three times the total 1929 score already.

A mere compilation of past scores is of little value to the reader unless such figures are arranged in a manner that would create a feeling of optimism. In that connection it might be mentioned that Tech has averaged 13.5 points per game during the seven years of the college's existence. It has been recorded that zero scores are most prevalent in the Matador records and so it can be readily understood that when Tech scored the score was usually rather large. Twenty-four scores between 6 and 9 are on the books. Fifteen games found the Matadors scoring between 6 and 12 points while on eight occasions the scarlet clad eleven piled up between 13 and 17 points. High scores are represented by 120, 63, 53 and 46. The regular stand at-center to a guard position.

THIS afternoon Captain Jack Durham, president of his class and a leader in all student affairs, will make his last tackle in an intercollegiate contest on the Matador field. ## Engineers Hold Society Dance

Members of the Engineering society entertained guests with a dance at the Uptown Dance palace Saturday evening.

A lattice canopy of blue and gold was lighted at the end over the orchestra pit by the emblem of the society which was arranged on a black and scarlet star. Inscriptions on the emblem were in gold on a blue background and symbolized the various departments in the school.

This was the fifth annual ball given by the society. Frank S. Maddox, of Waco, president of the Engineering society, and Miss Mozelle Gable of Lubbock, led the grand march.

Frank Stone's orchestra furnished the music for the occasion.

Special guests included the sponsors of the organization and their wives. They are Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Brandt, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mordough, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Kienschmidt, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Godeke and Dean W. J. Miller.

Approximately 200 guests attended. Invitations were sent to graduates and former students in the school.

Tech Grads

has a fellowship in clericulture at the same university. Warren Huff is still at Harvard university doing graduate work in business administration. Ogden King '29 is studying in the University of California and S. R. Senter is at A. & M.

John Wherry is with the United States dry land experiment station at Lawton, Oklahoma, and Lonnie Starr is with a similar station at Tucuman.

Home Ec Follow Profession

Likewise, in the school of home economics most of the graduates are now teaching their particular line of work. They are: Mrs. E. M. Barnett, Lubbock; Fay Brooks, Jacksboro; Ella Brown, Hope, N. M.; Ella Lyle, Lubbock; Rena Smith, Ft. Stockton; Mabelle Shephard, who is now Mrs. S. M. Ly-

Dorothy Glesson is dietitian at St. Joseph's Hospital in St. Louis and Merle Williams is dietitian at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis. Nena Roberson and Faye Kemp are home demonstration agents.

Graduates of the engineering school are stationed in various parts of the United States doing the particular line of work they studied for here in Tech. A number of the boys are with the Tuscon Steel company in Youngstown, Ohio. They are Elmer Davenport, Robert Hastings, Ted Sams, N. B. Graham and H. C. Hewett. The Good-year company of Akron has employed C. C. Williams and R. R. Thomas, while Wmifred Wardell is with the same company at Rockmart, Georgia. James Lloyd Russell, and H. M. Hancock are in Washington, D. C. with the Interstate Commerce commission. Edd McDonald, R. L. Taylor and W. M. Tucker are in Pittsburgh with the Westinghouse Electrical manufacturing company, and Andrew Allen is with the General electric company in Schenectady, New York.

A. C. Stulls is an assistant forest ranger at Carlsbad, New Mexico. Cary Lodal is working for a textile company in Dallas, and R. H. Archibald is with the Missouri highway department.

Practically all the graduates of the school of liberal arts who are working now are teaching school in this part of the state. E. W. Camp is in Oxford, Georgia teaching in the junior college there. Martha Pfaltz is head of the English department at Kidd Key college, Sherman. Margaret Trigg is technician at the West Texas hospital here. Margaret Turner is on the staff of the Avalanche-Journal, and I. W. Capp is in Austin working on his Ph. D. degree and doing clerical work for the Supreme court.

Mrs. M. E. Ogdon, wife of Tech professor, returned from the Lubbock hospital on Saturday of last week, after a brief illness there.

Tech Judgers Place Ninth

Snyder is Tech High Point Man; Dominy Places Third In Swine Judging; Team Is Fifth In Cattle Judging

Livestock students from Texas Technological college, entered in the American Royal Livestock judging contest at Kansas City, Saturday, placed ninth and were but 103 points below Iowa State, the leaders, according to a message to W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department, from Ray C. Mowery, coach of the team at Kansas City. Tech teams scored 4,441 points while Iowa State scored 4,544.

B. E. Snyder, Moran, was again the high man of the Tech team. He won the same place last week at the Kansas National show at Wichita.

James Dominy of Paducah placed third in the contest in hog judging.

Team Wins Fifth

The team was fifth in the judging of cattle and hogs.

Members of the team are: James Dominy, Paducah; Jason Gordon, Albany; Euel Limer, Lubbock; W. T. McKinney, Gordonville; Fred Nix, Lubbock and B. E. Snyder, Moran.

Ranking of the teams and score of the teams placing ahead of Tech at Kansas City were: Iowa State, 4,544; Michigan, 4,539; Nebraska, 4,526; K. S. A. C., 4,524; Oklahoma, A. and M., 4,507; Missouri, 4,494; Ohio, 4,491; Texas A. and M., 4,486; Tech, 4,441; Wyoming, Wyoming, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Wisconsin and Purdue. The latter scored 4,214 points.

At the Kansas National show the Kansas Aggies led, with Oklahoma following. Wyoming and Minnesota, which placed behind Tech at Kansas City, were next, with Colorado, Iowa, Texas and Tech in the order.

Professor Mowery advised Prof. Stangel by letter that he would remain at the American Royal until Tuesday night and then return to Manhattan, Kas., for further work. Later the party will go to Iowa State at Ames and from there to Chicago, stopping at several farms in Iowa and Illinois on route.

Football Picture Is Mostly Fact

The story of "The Spirit of Notre Dame" is ninety per cent fact, ten per cent fiction. That is one of the reasons why this football picture is not only true to life in its football, but more important still, it is the kind of picture that any college student will enjoy because it is the real thing. It comes to the Lindsey theatre this week, showing through today and tomorrow.

The incident where "Truck" McCall, lying dangerously ill in the hospital, asks the boys to score a touch-down for him, has two original incidents that are known to every Notre Dame student. The inspirational story of George Cipp, who in his last hours, said to Rock at his bed-side, "Tell the gang when the going is tough, tough, tough, to go out there and get one for the Gipper." The other incident is when Rockne himself lay dangerously ill in South Bend when the team was playing the Army and talked over the phone to the team.

"The Spirit of Notre Dame" in most of its essentials is the story which had been approved by Rockne as a vehicle in which he himself was to play. He was on his way to California to sign the contract with Universal Pictures when the plane cracked up. J. Farrell McDonald plays the role that Rockne would have played in the picture, and Lew Ayres, who was Rockne's personal selection, is its star. Beautiful Sally Eblane, sister of Loreta and Polly Ann Young, supplies the principal feminine appeal.

"They keep tasting better and better to me!"

Every Chesterfield is like every other one. No matter how many you smoke, the last Chesterfield of the day is just as smooth and sweet—as cool and comfortable—as the first. They're milder, too! Chesterfield uses only mild, ripe, sweet tobaccos—the smoothest and ripest that grow. Notice, too, how white and fine the paper is. It's the purest that money can buy. All this care...to make Chesterfields taste better—to make them milder. And millions of Chesterfield smokers say it in their own way—"They Satisfy!"

GOOD...they've got to be good!
