"Harvest Week" Campaign Is On; 50 Students Solicit

"Hired Hands" Begin Work To Raise Y Funds

Houston Hinson And Geraldine Clewell Are Bosses Of The Crews; Drive Starts Tuesday Evening

Need Is Cited

Funds Are To Be Used For General Expenses And Not For Salaries Of The Two Secretaries

Tech Christian Associations launched their financial campaign at a "Chuck Wagon Feed" of all "Hired Hands," Tuesday evening at the First Methodist church. The campaign this year is to be known as "Harvest Week" and it is planned that it shall become an annual affair. Houston Hinson is foreman of the Red Triangle crew and Geraldine Clewell is boss of the Blue Triangle crew. Fifty students hired hands are engaged in the work of solicitation which will continue through next week.

The budget of the YWCA totals $300 and that of the YMCA is $500. These budgets include expenditures for actual camp programs and do not include salary or executive expense which is being taken care of by other contributions. Itemized budgets are being distributed on the campus to explain just how the money is to be spent. The budget contains provisions for activities both for the members of the YWCA and YMCA and the student body as a whole. Funds are needed for social service, Y room furniture and equipment, emergency needs of students, books, magazines, special speakers, conferences social and athletic programs, contributions to national and world service, and general expense.

Activities increased. The activities of the YWCA and YMCA have greatly increased this year over previous years. They sponsored the all-freshman mixer, attended by three hundred students on orientation night. The YWCA sponsored All-Women's night for college women, especially to acquaint freshmen girls with campus leaders and organizations. The YMCA has sponsored 49 meetings this year with an attendance of 952, and the YWCA has held 40 meetings with 650 people present. These meetings include specifically religious programs, Bible study groups, discussions of personal, religious, campus, and social problems, and meetings of the Fresh Y council, which is the special organization of the YMCA for work among first year men. The YWCA and YMCA offices are open from 9 o'clock to 5 o'clock the day for meetings, discussions and conferences with the secretaries.

No Membership Fee. There is no membership fee in either association. Membership is based entirely on fees acceptance of the purpose of the organization. Any student or member of the faculty who declares himself in sympathy with the purpose of the association may become a member. Activities are not limited to members but an endeavor is made to include all students in the various programs.

Special speakers are brought before the student body by the associations each year. Miss Fern Babcock, traveling secretary of the National YWCA is visiting the campus this week. Harry Eong, of the National YMCA council, will be here later in the term. Negotiations are going forward for visits from Kirby Page and A. J. "Dad" Elliott.

The YWCA and YMCA are directly affiliated with the World's Student Christian Federation which is composed of the national movements of 40 countries.

Mrs. O. C. Corry is the general secretary of the YWCA, and Jack E. Boyd is the secretary of the YMCA.

Plan "Send-Off"

Timmons Calls For Pep Meeting

Football players will be given a send-off at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon in front of Chert Casa, J. W. Timmons, Perryton, head yell leader, said last night.

"We are especially anxious that all the students be on hand to give the Matadors an excellent send-off," said Timmons. "All students are requested to be on hand as the coaches are also anxious for a good short pep rally."

The Matadors will meet the Baylor Bears at Waco Saturday afternoon.

Chas. Houston Is Winner Of Paper Contest

Student In The Tech School Of Engineering Wins First Place On Paper Dealing With Sandstorms

First award in a contest sponsored by the Southwest Institute of Electrical Engineers, which convened at Kansas City recently was given to Charles E. Houston of the Tech engineering school. Engineering students in the university and colleges of Oklahoma and Texas were the contestants. G. Scott Hammonds of the University of Oklahoma won second and J. V. Melton of Southern Methodist university was awarded third place.

On Sandstorms. The content of Houston's paper was "The Effect of Texas Sandstorms on High Power Transmission Lines." The material contained in the copy was obtained by actual experiments in this section of the state.

Hammonds' paper was a description of a way to measure the intensity of a radio station's field of broadcast.

Melton outlined a method of controlling the hot-cathode thyatron, which is a sensitive vacuum tube.

Fish Tickets Now On Sale

Party For Students Of The First Year Class Will Be Held At Tech Gym On Next Friday Night

Plans for the fish "get together" party to be held tomorrow night, were discussed at a meeting of the freshman class Monday night at the gym.

The purpose of the party will be to give the freshmen a chance to become acquainted with their classmates. Both boys and girls are urged to come without dates, but the boys will make dates to take the girls home after the party has started.

Starts At 8 o'clock. Beginning at 8 o'clock, there will be one hour of entertainment. Also there will be eats, drinks, and dancing. A good band and orchestra has been provided.

This is to be strictly a freshman party, although the presidents of the three upper classes and various deans have been invited.

The tickets are twenty cents for one or two for thirty-five cents. They can be bought from the following: Russell Brown, Jeff Murphy, Virginia Wester, J. E. Smith, Fred Williams, and Helen Suttle.

Students May Lunch Together At Home Economics Tea Room

Groups of students who wish to lunch together may do so at the home economics tea room, according to Miss Joanne McCreary. Table reservations should be made in advance by calling Miss Margaret Weeks at 1280.

The tea room, which is under the management of Miss Maymie Wyford, serves lunches each week day from 12 to 1 o'clock. Individuals need not make reservations.

Team Will Enter At Least Three Contests On Northern Jaunt; Ray C. Mowery Is Coach

Members of the senior livestock judging team for Texas Technological college for 1931 are B. E. Snyder, Moran; Fred Nix, Lubbock; Euel Liner, Lubbock; W. T. McKinney, Gordonville; Jason Gordon, Albany, and James Domy, Paducah. Announcement of the selection of the team was made Saturday afternoon by Coach Ray C. Mowery.

The team will leave Lubbock on November 10 for northern points where it will enter at least three contests. Contests will be entered at Wichita, Kansas first, then the team will take part in the American Royal contest at Kansas City, following this the Tech students will go to Chicago where they will participate in the International show.

Back In December. The members will arrive back in Lubbock sometime during the early part of December.

The team which will represent Tech this year is exactly the same one that represented the college last year as a junior livestock judging team at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show at Ft. Worth.

The funds raised by the recent Tech Aggie rodeo will go toward paying the members' way to the contests.

Culver Hill Is Elected Head Of MacDowell Music Club

The MacDowell Music club, at its initial meeting Monday night, in the club room of the Hotel Lubbock, paved the way for a successful year with the election of officers and the assurance of annual musical programs for each meeting. The MacDowell club is sponsored by the Lubbock Music club, having as its purpose the fellowship of all students who are particularly interested in better music.

The club will meet again next Monday after which the regular meeting night will be the first Monday of each month. At the meeting last Monday officers were elected with: Culver Hill as president; Ellabel Tillery, 1st vice-president; Esten Day, 2nd vice-president; Secretary, Marjorie Drake; Treasurer, Fred Fairley; Reporter, Carroll Thompson, and Parliamentarian, Mary Frances Akard.

PLAN LOAN FUND

The Phi Psi is planning to establish a loan fund for needy students. Each member of the chapter has agreed to give $5 a year for three years after leaving school.

Torador Staff. Butcher, baker, candlestick-maker. Tech knows 'em all. The much-heard-of "repression" is felt on the campus perhaps as keenly as in the stockbroker's office. But of the 1850 students now enrolled in Tech, 740 are fighting out their own battles from skirmishes with kitchen routine to the conflicts of bank office duties.

An attitude of determination and sobriety has within the past year stamped itself upon that prodigal generation, perhaps to a greater extent than its gay, young soul has ever before realized.

With lab fees and general college expenses continually gnawing at a pocket book with an income of $31.24, which is the average for working students, there is little attraction for the squanderer. This is proved the

Mme. Clare Clairbert, above, will open the 1931-32 Tech artist course when she appears in the High school auditorium tonight. Tonight's number is the first of four offered on the season ticket for student this year. Tickets are on sale at Professor W. R. Wagborne's office for $1.00 each.

Many Honored Baptist Plan At WAA Event

Members Of Women's Athletic Association Entertain 200 Freshmen At Party In Tech Gymnasium

Honoring about 200 freshman girls, members of the Women's Athletic association were hostesses at a party given in the gymnasium Wednesday evening.

It was arranged as a cabaret affair with program numbers between periods of dancing. Music was furnished by Frank Stone's Collegians. Twins entertain.

Program numbers included a song by Estelline and Evelyn Jeffreys, twin sisters who are freshmen. Lucile Heggin accompanied them and also gave a piano solo. Lewis Walker and his dancing partner, Babe Estell, danced and his pupils Marie and Susan Tyson were presented in a tap dance. Beulah Anderson gave a reading.

Jo Cowser, president of W. A. A. introduced managers of the various sports, who include: Irma Lois Harris, bowling; Mary Jane McGee, tennis; Rose Lee Blackburn, soccer; Ella B. Addison, volleyball; and Virginia Wash, basketball.

Margie Smith visited friends in Slaton Saturday.

Seventeen Tech Students To Attend Annual Student's Conference At Baylor College At Belton

Seventeen Tech students are planning to go to Baylor Belton Friday morning to the eleventh annual Student's conference October 30th to November 1st.

Fifteen hundred delegates from 40 Texas colleges are expected there. Similar conferences are being held in every Southwestern State.

Tech students who are going are: Juanita Poole, Phyllis Poole, Raymond Dunn, Frances Winn, Jim O. Hill, Georgia Knight, Ruth Dunn, E. G. Pharr, Rose Daels, S. W. Damon, J. C. Ewing, Fred DeLashaw, Elwyn Walling, Henry Elder, Patti Hopping and Hazel Kokenour.

Red Huff And Cooper Plan For '32 Book

Most Of Contracts For The 1932 La Ventana Have Been Let And Work Is Well Under Way, Staff Says

Plan 336 Pages

Selection Of The Eight Beauties Will Be Made Sometime In February, According To Huff

The 1931 Tech yearbook, La Ventana, will be a record publication if plans being worked out by Red Huff and Jesse Cooper, business manager, have announced.

With all plans well under way, the contracts let and most of his staff selected, Huff plans for one of the best annuals in the history of the college. The book will contain 336 pages and will be 8 by 11 inches in size.

Brown's studio of this city has the contract for student pictures. The Fort Worth Star-Telegram Engraving company has the engraving contract and a company in Iowa City, Iowa has the printing contract. Huff and Jesse Cooper, business manager, have announced.

Cooper has been working for some time on the sales and advertising for the 1932 book.

All students expecting to have their picture in this year's La Ventana must have them made by November 10, the staff has announced.

Selection of the eight beauties will be made next February, according to Huff, although definite plans for this have not yet been worked out.

Theme of the book will not be announced until just before the book is given out next spring.

1932 Seniors Plan Annual Fall Party

Plans for the annual fall party for members of the 1932 senior class were discussed at a meeting of the class Tuesday night. President of the class, Jack Durham, appointed a committee to work out plans for this affair.

Durham also appointed committees to work out plans for the senior invitations and to see about an open date on the social calendar. The party is to be held before Christmas.

Wiese And Stoops Bryant Star In Intramural Games

The army and the Y. M. C. A. chalked up wins over the liberal arts fish and the band last week in the only games played in the intramural basketball tournament.

The Y. M. C. A. beat the band to the tune of 24-10. Wiese, coach, and also player on the Y team, was the high point man of the game with 10 points.

The army stopped Bud Darr's fish 33-12. Stoops Bryant, army forward, ran wild in this game and scored 13 points, to garner high point honors by a wide margin.

A Lucky Strike? All Goes Wrong In Practice House

A match that wouldn't strike is probably all that kept the home management house from going up in smoke a few nights ago.

While the girls were preparing a special dinner for Miss Holden and Dr. League, the gas suddenly went off. When it did come on again, the 15 pound pressure blew the hose off the dining-room heater. The girls were unable to stop the escaping gas, when some one tried to light a match. It was then that Miss Mayme Twyford called a near-tragedy the match wouldn't strike, the fire truck didn't come, and the gas finally got down to its normal pressure.

Rifle Club To Hold Meeting Friday Night

First meeting of the men's rifle club of the college will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 in room 220 of the administration building. At this time Bob Rodgers, secretary of the club, will read a report on the accomplishments of the team last year.

Every member of the faculty or student body who is interested in rifle marksmanship is especially invited by L. W. Chapman, president of the club, to attend this first meeting.

Chapman Says That Prospects For Winning Rifle Team Is Good; Girl's Team Will Be Started Soon

Prospects Good. Chapman also stated that prospects for a winning team were good as most of the old members of the team have returned to school this year and there is an abundance of new material.

Work on the .30 calibre and sub-calibre ranges will start immediately, as challenges for postal rifle matches have already been accepted from five northern universities.

The girls' rifle team will again be started in the near future and it is thought that their team will this year become affiliated with the National Rifle association.

Coed Students Taking Course

General Knowledge Of Textiles Offered In Course Intended For Women Of The College; Good Cited

Three coeds are enrolled in the special textile course offered this term for women, according to Professor C. D. Brandt, of the textile department. A general knowledge of textiles is taught in the course which will be offered for coeds during the winter and spring also, Professor Brandt said.

The first term's work in this course consists of a general study of the machines and manufacturing of thread from the bale of cotton. The second term's work covers designing and the study of the making of different fabrics. The third term the girls dye the fabrics and study the dry cleaning and laundrying of the finished product.

Associated With H. E. Courses. This course is closely associated with a course in home economics as it gives the girls a thorough knowledge of the materials they work with.

Flora Gortforth, '31 graduate, who took this course last year said, "I enjoyed my work in the textile department, and it gave me an insight to one of the world's largest industries."

KIRKSEY IS VISITOR. Milton Kirksey, former student, was here Friday night for the Technological football game. Kirksey, who was a student three years in the school of agriculture, is now manager of a produce house in Meadow.

Soprano Will Be First Of Four Numbers

Singer From The Chicago Grand Opera Company To Appear In High School Auditorium

Is Second Tour

Season Tickets For Students And Town People Are Now On Sale By Professor W. R. Wagborne

Mme. Clare Clairbert, Belgian soprano with the Chicago Grand Opera company, will open this year's artist course program when she appears in concert tonight at the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Mme. Clairbert will be accompanied by Frances de Bourguignon, pianist, and Carl Achilz, flutist. Mr. Bourguignon will play two piano solos and Mr. Achilz a flute solo, in addition to accompanying Mme. Clairbert.

Is Second Tour. This is the second American tour the youthful Clairbert has made. While of the cities where she has given recitals, she has been highly praised. Her voice has been compared favorably by critics with that of Galli-Curci, Tetrazzini, and Mary Garden. Among her selections tonight she will sing the Aria from Lucia by Donizetti.

This is the first of a series of four programs to be given on the artist course. The second will be given November 16 when San Melo, the violinist from Panama, will be here. Doris Kenyon, soprano, actress and singer, will appear in concert February 1. The final number will be given in March by Harold Krentzberg, the dancer, and his troupe of girls.

Season tickets are on sale at the music office, and Professor W. R. Wagborne says that all students who have already purchased tickets should come to the office today and get their reserve seat tickets, which are free. If they do not, they will have no choice of a seat until tonight.

Day Is Elected Vice President

E. Esten Day was elected vice-president of the Tech Spanish club, Capa Y Espada, at a meeting held last week. Following the business meeting a special program was conducted on "The Life of Columbus" and "La Fiesta de la Raza."

Talks were made: "La Vida de Colon," by Agnes Klein, and "La Biblioteca Columbiana," by Jewel Bolton. Special songs were sung and afterwards an initiation program was conducted under the leadership of the president, Faye L. Bumpass.

The following people have been made members of the club: Mrs. Florence Ashmore, Mrs. Charles Bacon, Christine Ballard, Jewel Bolton, G. V. Bostie, Willis Mae Brown, Douglas, Arlene Conroy, E. Esten Day, Lucille Pezzer, Arthur P. Fisher, Willie Mae Grundy, Euel Hall, Mary Elizabeth Hogan, Sarah Haynes, Janie Lou Jackson, Garvice Johnson, Dorothy McFarland, Warren Medlin, Carl Patterson, Bernice Pray, Mildred Price, Alice Muse Rogers, Christine Settle, Jewel Simpkins, Floyce Snodgrass, Mrs. Mabel Sowell, Kathryn Sowell, Kathleen Watkins, and Mary Virginia Whalen.

Dean Margaret W. Weeks Is Chairman Of H. E. Workers

Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of the school of home economics, is chairman of the home economics workers of West Texas who will have a luncheon at the Hilton Saturday.

Miss Weeks is anxious for all persons interested in home economics to attend, for a West Texas association of home economics workers is to be organized.

Mrs. Sybil Thomas, district supervisor of high school home economics, and Miss Myrtle Murray, district home demonstration agent, will speak at the luncheon. "The proposed organization," says Miss Weeks, "will help all home economics workers to keep in touch with the different phases of their work and encourage a closer fellowship among themselves."

theory that an army of earnest, young humanity has accepted, with open mind and level head, the challenge which is at present baffling the economic and financial world.

Salaries Are Low. But jobs are scarce now, and salaries unusually low. In fact, of the 1233 students who applied for loans through the college, 500 were turned away and unable to enter school.

Various means of meeting the situation have been adopted—many through the ideas and initiative of students themselves.

For instance, 12 boys have brought cows which they feed and milk in exchange for board and room. Another boy bartered a truck-load of beans on similar terms. Forty thirty collegians bring $400 out of the Lubbock county fair, and a hundred of the military-inclined are receiving $22 quarterly for National Guard drill. A co-ed conceived the rare notion of bringing her horses to school, renting them to riding classes.

112 Work For The College. Besides there is the following list of those who have found regular employment. Of these 112 are working for the college.

There are 58 men receiving regular salaries of the following services: advertising 9, athletic trainers 2, bakers 3, bank clerks 2, barbers 2, bell boys 7, bookstore clerks 4, bus boys 4, cashiers 2, checkroom assistants 3, clerks 2, store clerks 66, compress and gin workers 12, cotton grader 1, cotton pickers 21, dextrymen 36, doormen at theatre 2, electricians 5, engineers 5, farm workers 19, floor surfacer 1, garage men 17, groom 1, keepers' grounds 23, hatcher 1, housework 45, ice-men 2, janitors 24, jeweler 1, laboratory assistants 23, laundry helpers 15, library assistants 5, manufacturers 2, mechanics 5, mimeograph operators 2, National Guard caretakers 5, newspaper drill men 5, nurserymen 2, orchestra members 6, paper carrier 1, plumbers 2, produce house 4, program concession 3, publications 4, printers 3, projectionist 1, radio repair men 3, salesmen 10, shine parlor managers 2, hotel stewards 2, tailors 12, teachers 4, telegraph operator 1, truck drivers 4, undertaker 1, waiters and dishwashers 92, window-cleaner 1, yard work 4.

The 182 girls who are working are thus employed: assistant matrons 2, clerks 13, housework and care of children 148, nurse 1, reporter 1, seamstress 1, stenographer 12, telephone operators 3.

ON TO SIMMONS!

Why not a special train on Turkey day to Simmons? Every since last Thanksgiving, the Matadors have been pointing towards the Simmons game. For the past several years the Cowboys have been too much for the Matadors—this year it looks different.

There is always a colorful game when Tech meets Simmons. The two schools are on friendly relations, and the Toreador is sure the Tech boosters would be well entertained on their Abilene trip.

In view of the fact only a handful of students were able to make the trip to Dallas, and that a very special rate could be obtained for the Simmons trip, the Toreador suggests that students begin planning right now to sweep down on the Simmons campus on Turkey day and bring home a victory.

TT SAY 'HOWDY'

Some Tech students are becoming too conceited! For some of the new comers, the Toreador informs you that it's an old custom around here that people speak to each other whether they are acquainted or not. Lately, however, some of the students are disregarding this custom. And sadly, the old students in most cases are taking the lead.

In Texas Tech there are very few millionaires, few social lions, and not a person in school who has a right to be conceited.

It takes only a twist of the lip to say, 'Howdy' and the good it does can not be estimated.

TT A REAL DOLLAR'S WORTH

One of the biggest dollar bargains now available, thinks The Toreador, is the dollar ticket to the Tech artist course numbers.

The first number is tonight in Lubbock's new high school auditorium. Three others will follow. Six hundred tickets have been placed available for students for $1 each. They are selling much higher to those other than Tech students.

The value of the artist course programs can not be questioned. Some of the world's famous stars are being brought to Tech for this season. Professor Wagborne has made a special effort to bring an excellent group of programs here for this year.

A dollar spent for an artist course ticket is a dollar well spent. And only 600 students will get the opportunity.

Practice Home Is An Attractive Place, Thinks Toreador Reporter

BY K. JENNINGS
Toreador Staff

There was a tatum of footsteps on polished floors as someone came to answer the knocker's frantic appeal. The door swung open, and I stepped into the only house on the campus that belongs in its entirety to women.

What did I expect to find? I didn't know. Long ago the idea had come to me that a practice house was built only for demonstration; that it was a model of convenience; and nothing more; that it would lack interest and atmosphere; and that it must know nothing of the wild disorder that often comes to every real home.

Not True, However
I didn't find my idea a true one. Instead, I found a living-room that was made to live in. The sofa was soft, and the cushions sank down invitingly when they were sat upon. Lamps and light fixtures were placed just where they would be needed; a chaise long, in evident use, occupied a corner. Books and magazines were scattered about the room for those who wanted them.

The piano stood open, ready for the jazz tunes that must be played from it. And the room did not look embarrassed because of a misplaced chair.

After the living-room I saw Miss Twyford's study, the girls' study, and the laundry. Anyone whose pet aversion is a wash tub I can assure you is on in the practice house. Hot water may be had without building a fire, and a wooden, adjustable clothes-line that hangs from the ceiling saves frozen hands in cold weather.

The kitchen, also, did justice to its name. Shelves upon shelves, and then some more! Sink, stove, and electric refrigerator were all conveniently placed, and I must not forget the mirror that hung over the kitchen table.

The butler's pantry joined the kitchen and dining-room. It is here that the china and silver service is kept and, incidentally, the dirty dishes cleaned between courses.

Since there is no breakfast room, the dining room serves triple duty. But it is just as cheerful as any breakfast room could be, so I'm sure no one minds it must be a pleasure to see your friends across that beautiful walnut table.

Two Stairways
There are two stairways. One leads directly from the entrance hall; the other leads from the pantry. The latter was built for the cook, so that she might slip up stairs to change her apron without being noticed by visitors.

I used the front one, and it was quite easy to imagine myself descending it in stunning attire to meet a handsome swain (as one often sees done in the movies and toothpaste advertisements).

At the top of the stairs there is a landing, an ideal place to read—and iron, if one wishes.

The five bedrooms, which open on the landing, are both sleeping-rooms and studies. Each one has its own color scheme, and its charm is enhanced by the personal touch of its occupant. In one room I found a Japanese print whose colors furnished the plan of decoration. In another two Godsey fashions hung upon the wall to assure our modern girls that they are superior to the ones of a century ago.

I haven't mentioned the closets, but there were plenty large ones. The only things lacking were the children to be frightened in their darkensses.

I spent a most pleasant hour in that practice house, and I believe that I saw everything there was to be seen. My only disappointment was that I was not asked to write my name in the guest book which lies on the table in the entrance hall.

Miss Doss Named T. C. U. Sweetheart

PORT WORTH, Oct. 29.—Miss Rowena Doss, senior from Weatherford, has been elected "Band Sweetheart" for the Horned Frog Band of T. C. U. this year. She is a major in piano and will appear several times during the school year as soloist with the band.

The Horned Frog band made its first trip this year to Abilene, when the Frogs played the Simmons Cowboys a night football game there Oct. 23. The band will also accompany the team to Austin Nov. 14 and to Waco Nov. 21.

A drive is on now by members of the band to raise funds to finance a trip to the Chicago World's fair in 1933.

LIVES AT SPUR
Mr. and Mrs. Jake Twaddell are now making their home at Spur. Twaddell was a student in Tech during 1929-30 and 1930-31. At present he is assisting his father in the grocery business there. He was married during the summer to Miss Hazel Harris of McAdoo. Mrs. Twaddell's brother, Cloris Harris, is a former student of Tech.

Geology Students Take Trip To N. M.

E. A. McCollough, geology graduate, accompanied by Macon Smith, Homer Roberts, Carl Rogers, Howard Hopkins, Everett Perkins, and John Locke, geology majors, spent the week-end in New Mexico. McCollough, who is working on his M. A. degree, gathered material for his thesis and laboratory work.

The party went to Roswell and visited several locations east of the city where they studied the extensive outcrop of igneous rocks. McCollough's thesis will be on "Petroleum of the Hypaualssal Rocks of Eastern New Mexico."

Matadors Hopeful Of Victory Over Bears Saturday

Colorado Miners Go Down Before Powerful Matadors By Score 46-0

Orediggers Are No Match For Powerful Matadors As 5,000 Fans See Tech Men Win 46-0

France, Close, Nichols and Moffett Makeup Powerful Backfield; Sollis Makes 95 Yard Run For Last Tally

Displaying the most effective offense that a Tech team has uncovered in the last few years, featuring terrific power on off tackle and reverse plays through the middle, well mixed with sweeping end runs and an assortment of stock passes, the fighting Matadors thrilled 5,000 spectators at Tech Field Friday night when they pounded the Colorado School of Mines into submission, 45 to 0—sixteen points more than the highly regarded Colorado University team was able to beat the same team in a game a couple of weeks before. Allen's and Elmer Wynne's Orediggers were easy for the most promising looking band of Matadors in the history of the college, making only five first downs to 23 for Pete Cawthon's gallants and gaining from scrimmage only 90 yards to the amazing total of 325 for Tech. The Matadors completed ten out of twenty passes for 145 yards, while the Orediggers negotiated none out of nine attempts.

Colorado fought with all the wild fury known only to Miners but Moffett, outstanding quarterback for Tech, played with the invaders as if they were kittens. He pushed them out with aerial attacks to enable Close and France to tear through their tackles and pulled them in when he found a situation that called for a pass.

Score Early
The first Tech score took less than three minutes and resulted from an aerial attack carried on by Cawthon's "shock troops." The Matadors had kicked off and recovered but the Miners gained possession of the ball on downs and kicked out on Tech's 35 yard line. A pass O'Leary to Crites placed the ball on the Miner 30 yard line and a second pass, Crites to O'Leary, netted the first touchdown.

Shortly after the first touchdown the first string was run in for Tech. The Miners made a desperate attempt to get their attack going. They picked up a few yards on tackle thrusts but lost the ball on downs and Tech began a 60 yard scoring drive, Close and France doing most of the ground gaining. After two successive first downs France passed to Close, placing the ball on the Miner 20 yard stripe. Fullback Nichols, softening the center of the opposing line, carried the ball to the 3 yard marker, and here Moffett called for the most thrilling play of the night. Price, newly shifted to end, took the ball on an end-around play and crossed the goal line untouched.

Score Four More
Four more touchdowns were scored against the Miners before the Matador regulars were replaced by the "shock troops" late in the fourth quarter. Shorty France dived off tackle and with dazzling speed coupled with brilliant side-stepping, evaded three Miners and raced 40 yards for a score. A few seconds later, Slick Close broke loose and raced 55 yards before being run out of bounds on the Miner 12 yard line, where the Matadors lost the ball on downs. Bond's kick was blocked by Nichols and the ball recovered by Baker. Huge Tech tackle, behind the goal line for another tally. Price, playing end for the first time this year, personally accounted for three touchdowns. Twice on beautifully executed end-around runs he crossed the tape, and another time in mid-field he scooped up Bonds' attempted punt and raced 45 yards for a touchdown.

Durham Is Star
Captain Jack Durham again playing guard was one of the high lights in the Tech line, coupled with Tribble, center, he broke through the Miner line to stop play after play. Baker, Hitchcock and Young loomed up well in the line.
In the last minute of play, Lefty Sollis, playing halfback for the "shock troops" intercepted a short line and raced down the sideline beyond from Ericly on Tech's 5 yard line perfect blocking, untouched, for 95 yards and a touchdown, capping off the result of a mighty Tech offense.

'SPEED' MOFFETT - HALFBACK

Playing regular quarterback for the first time on the Matador squad Milton Moffett, above, of Stanton, handed the Tech team like a veteran Friday night. His plays were very largely responsible for Tech's 46 points. The end-around plays he called were too much for the Orediggers.

Tech Golfers Now In Annual Tech Tourney

Qualifying Matches Started Yesterday And Will Continue Through Today; Matches To Start Tomorrow

Picadors Lose To Terrill At Dallas, 31-19

Tech Freshmen Rally In Last Period To Score Three Touchdowns But Too Late; Last Is Played In Darkness

(Special To The Toreador)
DALLAS, Oct. 28—Coach Del Morgan's Texas Tech Picadors from Lubbock unleashed a belated offensive and galloped through the shadows of night for three touchdowns in the fourth period of their game with Terrill School of Dallas this afternoon, but lost. The rally was too late and Terrill won the game, 31 to 19.

The freshman offensive began to click in the last quarter, but it was only a heroic gesture of a losing club, the handicap being too much to overcome although they crept to within five points of Terrill.

Darkness Falls Over Players
When the final whistle sounded players were unable to recognize their teammates in the darkness. Gastmeyer broke the crust for Terrill as he took a looping pass and skirted the left wing for 30 yards and a touchdown.

Long passes gave Terrill two more counters. Heaves to Harris and Myers, a substitute back, being good.

Gilmore accounted for two Picador touchdowns in the fourth period. He nabbed a pass to count his first one and then knifed through the Terrill line to recover a bad pass behind the goal line.

Gastmeyer then grabbed a kick-off and scampered through the Picador line for 80 yards and a touchdown.

Mendal Hughett, holder of the present course record and runner-up in the Tech tournament last year, Billy Holmes, Texas Tech champion, Clark, par golfer, Pendleton and Jolly Kelly.

Tech has a promising array of golfers that could easily compete with the teams in the Southwest conference, as shown by the fact that Hughett and Holmes are two of the state's leading amateurs. In important tournaments over the state they have competed with the best and on many occasions won.

The date of the tournament was changed this year from the spring to the fall so that students might have the advantage of playing while the course is in good shape. The change in date will enable details

Under The Double "T"

BY LYLE HOLMES
Sports Editor Toreador

At last the students in Tech are getting the real college spirit. The monster pep rally in the gym and the parade downtown before the game probably had more to do with the way that the Matadors trounced the Miners than most of us realize. For the first time in the history of the college the students show pep and for the first time the Matadors show us an offense to be marveled at, and worthy of any college team. We have a team, let's stay behind it and "take" Baylor, Simmons and the rest of them just however they come.

Pete Cawthon must have experienced somewhat of a thrill, over the way his men performed after the shake-up of the first string. The shift shoved Price and Close in positions at end and half which they had held down before this year, Baker at tackle, and Moffett at quarter. Cawthon was rewarded by each change Friday night. Price scored three touchdowns to clinch his position. Close re-tallied with run after run for long gains, his longest being 55 yards. Moffett kept the Miners guessing as to what would be his next play and twice called for unique plays which completely fooled the opponents and resulted in touchdowns. His kick-offs were the best witnessed on Tech Field in several days. Big Baker did his share scoring one touchdown by covering a blocked kick behind the Miners goal.

After witnessing the game Friday night it is our prediction that not only Baylor but Tech will have a passing attack that someone is going to have to cope with Saturday. It is something unusual for every member of the backfield to be a capable passer but this happens to be the case with the Matadors. Any of the eight members of the backfield of the first and second string can pass; in the game with the Miners this became an established fact.

Coaches Pete Cawthon, Weir to be obtained for La Ventana.

Qualifying began Wednesday and will continue through today. Matches start tomorrow and will terminate Sunday.

Coach Cawthon And His Tech Matadors To Invade Baylor's Camp Saturday; Given Chance

Is Probable That Tech's Famous 'Shock Troops' Will Begin Game; Matadors Have Lost One Game This Season

BY LYLE HOLMES
Toreador Sports Editor

Coach Pete Cawthon and his Matadors will invade Waco Saturday and make a supreme effort to vanquish the Baylor Bears of Morley Jennings and Botchey Koch.

For the first time in history, Tech is rated an even chance to down a Southwest conference team. The Matadors have an edge in reserve strength and stack up about even in experience, both teams being composed largely of sophomores. Tech, thus far in the season, has surpassed the highest expectations, losing only one game, and that to the mighty Haskell Institute team, 8 to 0. Last Saturday Tech featured a change in line-up, three ten-second men coupled with a fast, hard charging fullback, ran rough-shod over the strong Colorado miner team.

Bruins Likely To Pass
Passes, long and short make up the Bruins strongest mode of attack. In every game played by Baylor this year a passing barrage has taken place featuring Alford on the hurling end, with James, Petty and Harris as the receivers.

The Bears thus far in the season have lost one game and won one game in the Southwest conference, losing to A & M and winning from Arkansas. In both contests they scored only from passing, and in the last quarter completely bewildering Arkansas with a relentless

Washam, and Dutchey Smith scouted the Baylor-A&M game. It is our guess Coach Pete will come back home with the data for stopping the noted aerial attack of the Bears.

Did you know that Baylor has scored one or more touchdowns in every game they have played this year and that every touchdown has been made by a pass?

Word comes to us that the Picadors made a mighty good showing down at Dallas against Terrill Prep but were lacking in

Scores Three Times

Being recently shifted from backfield to end, did not keep Yancy Price, above, from continuing making touchdowns. He made three in the game Friday night with the Colorado Miners. Price played end with the Lubbock High school Warriors, and with the Tech freshmen last year.

W. B. Rushing Is Winner Of Fall Tourney

Champion Wins From Cecil Bickley In Final Matches Last Week; Roberts And Taylor In Semi-finals

The fall tennis tournament came to an end last week when W. B. Rushing turned back Cecil Bickley in the finals, 1-6, 6-3, 10-8, 6-2. It was an interesting, hard fought match throughout.

To enter the finals, Rushing defeated Taylor while Bickley beat Homer Roberts in one of the best matches of the tournament.

This tournament was sponsored by tennis players, for the purpose of seeding the players for positions on the varsity tennis team. It has been a great help in determining the relative ability of each man, for the varsity, there were about 18 students to enter the tournament.

The annual Tech tennis tournament will be held some time next spring, it has been announced.

What They Tell The Editor

Editor's Note—Letters from students are welcomed so long as they are reasonable and held down to 250 words. These letters contain the opinion of the writers, however, and are not to be taken as the policy of the editor or paper.

WHAT ABOUT THIS?

Dear Editor: Get this—a "special" to a high school game and not one word about backing the Matadors in their game against Baylor. Lubbock supports Texas Tech? Now you tell one.

This fall Pete Cawthon has given the football fans of the city the finest eleven in the history of Texas Tech. Four thousand came out to see them whip the Buffaloes and three weeks later another "large" crowd gathered to see the boys in scarlet mess the grass with Colorado Miners. And they say Lubbock is behind the Matadors. Eddie Cantor tells better jokes than that one!

And here we are—facing a chance to knock the pants off a Southwest conference eleven and they—get a load of this—they (the business men) back a "special" to Pampa to see a high school game. Yes, and the old Plainsman, (a college man, too), is one of the originators of the "high schoolish" idea.

Well, what can we do about it? Nothing. Just sit back and gripe. But "gripping" is lots of fun, isn't it? Yours truly, A Fan.

Dear Editor: Will you kindly run the following expression of deep thinking in your "Telling It To The Editor Column?"

Thanks. "I have often wondered if the boys of Texas Tech will be forever forced to learn their table manners in boarding houses or will the time eventually arrive when we can proudly boast of a few national fraternities?"

Texas Tech is now old enough to tear down the foolish barriers that prevent the influx of culture, high ideals, and college spirit. Only fraternity life can rescue the men of the college from the rut of self-satisfaction they now occupy. The "fake" badge of brotherhood that now graces the soap spotted vests of so many of Tech's collegiates will sooner or later give way to its true meaning—namely: a chance to rate an occasional dance. Surely the spirit of brotherhood and good fellowship on the Tech campus cries out for a chance to develop.

"Give Texas Tech fraternities and Texas Tech will give the State real men—think it over, fellow students." Yours truly, Y.

an offense. These fish will be out for the varsity next year and, not like this year, they will have some time to develop some plays of their own. With material like this coming up Tech can't help but have a real team for several more years.

The last of night football games has been played. The rest of Tech games will be played in the afternoon to the relief of many fans. The cold night is almost unbearable, and for this reason the coaches decide that the light can no longer be used.

We wonder if this was a slam or compliment: Following the game Friday night one of the Colorado boys asked for a piece of soap and being told that the Matadors did not use soap with their showers, said: "Just regular ol' Texas boys down here huh?"

Believe it or not, the Matadors are getting religious, every last one of them attended church Sunday.

Here goes for the second prediction made by this column. We missed the first when we picked the Picadors to beat the Badgers; this time we pick Tech to beat Baylor by at least one Matador and maybe two. It is also our prediction that Simmons not Baylor is going to be the hardest game remaining for Tech. Saturday Simmons held T. C. U. to a 6 to 0 score; it was only in the last minute of play by a desperate pass that the Christians were able to score.

Several New Mexico teams are questioning the eligibility of five of the players on New Mexico university's squad. The players are transfers from last year's Haskell Indian team. We don't blame them much if they have any grounds to do this, because those Indian players sure can fight. However when they play Tech we want them to send in their very strongest team, because no alibis will be accepted. The Matadors take N. M. university for their Homecoming Day tilt.

Home Economics Organization Holds Initiation Party Tuesday

The Home Economics club gave its initiation party last Tuesday night in the practice house, and each freshman girl lighted her small candle from an officer's large one, she became a club member.

No program was given, but Ruth Thompson as the Spirit of home economics explained the purpose of the club, and Janie Ruth Shepard gave a welcome address.

A short business meeting was held at which the president appointed a committee to revise the club constitution. Refreshments were served
