Marshall told a Senate-House inquiry that the Pearl Harbor attack was "a slash but not a proposed invasion at all."

He added that the main Japanese offensive was aimed to the south, just as the Intelligence division had estimated.

Biggest Community Asset

We have contended always that the chief asset of this city, and of any community, is its people. Whatever difficiencies we have may be more or less' overcome by an aggressive, militant type of oforward-thinking people. No matter what else we might have of advantage, it would amount to little were it not for people with vision enough to exploit

There can be little doubt but that a transformation has taken place here within the past year. Pros-. pects are brighter now for material and other gains than would have seemed possible a year ago. o The key to this is largely a manifestation of unity and determination among the people. In the main, this spirit still exists.

Only one shortcoming is noteworthy. It is the fact that we have, like so many other communities, a disparity of leadership. There is nothing but, high praise due the spartan characters who have assumed places of leadership in our community? but the hitch is that we have too few of them, compara-

We venture that to remove a certain sone hundred citizens from Big Spring would render the city and the county to such a state of suspended antimation that soon people would avoid the area animation that soon people would avoid the area

It is not that these people desire or even hold a any special grip on the community life, but that they are unselfish enough to give generously of their services. Most of them are persons of very modest means, but they are sold on the ides that service to others is something which they can give in lieu of great abundance.

Our greatest need today is more and more people who will give expression to just such a feeting, This is not to say that there should be a replacement of leadership, or that new faces are needed necessarily in high places. On the contrary, the real opportunity exists in the legion of small places,

For instance, Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops are crying for leaders. Scores and scores of youngsters want to be Cubs but cannot because women cannot be found to be den mothers. Sunday School programs are retarded for lack of teachers., Humanitarian agencies and institutions in our city fall short of their maximum posisbilities because they cannot find people to serve. Many times we do not get best talent for office because best talent will not consent to the sacrifice of service. Civic undertakings are thwarted most consistently for lack of manpower. "

A group of women workers, under the direction of Mrs. Ray Clark, started working today through all city schools. Letters are being sent to parents, containing full information about the "Y," and with pledge cards enclosed.

These workers are concerned primarily with securing donations for the $15,000 operating fund for 1946. However, they will also receive gifts for the building fund. Bill Dawes, chairman, said totals on receipts to date will be ready this afternoon after the various workers report.
