Furgeson Outlines 'Saving' Problems

Vol. 39 Lubbock, Texas, Thursday, February 6, 1964 No. 76

Interest in the seating problem at basketball games has raised several questions, according to student inquiries at the Daily Toreador and Student Council offices. The question most often asked was: Why does the saving of seats cause a problem?

'Best-Dressed' Contest Opens

Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism fraternity, in a meeting Wednesday set Feb. 29 as the date of their annual "Best-Dressed Coed" Contest.

According to Jody Allen, president, entry blanks will be sent today to all campus women's organizations. Blanks should be returned to the Journalism Bldg., room 211, by 5 p.m. Feb. 20.

All coeds entered in the contest must have at least a 2.0 grade average for the fall semester and must be currently enrolled for at least 12 semester hours. A $1 fee will be charged for each entry, according to Miss Allen.

Entrants will be judged by three local fashion experts, and will appear wearing a typical campus outfit, an off-campus daytime outfit and a party dress (full or cocktail length.) The winner will be featured in the 1964 La Ventana and will also be entered in the national "Glamour" magazine competition through photographs.

All photographs used in the national contest will be taken by a professional photographer at the expense of Theta Sigma Phi.

National judging will be conducted by a panel of "Glamour" editors. They will first select a group of semi-finalists and from these the 10 winners will be chosen.

The top 10 will be photographed in the spring for the annual August college issue of "Glamour" and will be flown to New York in June for a visit as guests of the magazine. Honorable mention winners will be featured in a fall issue of the magazine.

Baylor University's entrants the past two years were both chosen as one of the top 10 winners, according to Miss Allen.

YOUNG POLITICIANS — Mike Read, left, president of the Young Democrats, and Glenn Looney, president of the local Young Republicans, confer on plans for the upcoming Mock Political (Republican) Convention scheduled on Tech campus this spring.

NOON FORUM PANEL — Zamael Zahawi, senior architecture major from Iraq, William Igal, senior math major from Jordan, and Saadallah Saadallah, junior geology major from Palestine, will make up a panel speaking on the "Second Decade of Palestine Problems," at the Friday noon forum in the Tech Union.

The problem, according to Royal Furgeson, student body president, is not the saving of a few seats by a small number of students, but rather the domination of entire rows of seats by a small group.

"THE SAVING of seats is such a problem because one student tries to save an entire row or at least five or six seats. Ten such students can easily tie up an entire section. This obvious abuse has made it necessary to take prompt action," said Furgeson.

Furgeson also explained the position of the Saddle Tramps, a campus spirit organization which is allowed to sit as a group during home games. Some students are reported to feel that the Tramps are receiving special privileges which other groups are being denied.

Furgeson said the Saddle Tramps were allowed to sit together as a group and to reserve seats in a designated area for a number of reasons. He said the chief reason is that the Tramps act as a "spirit squad" which serves to boost the team's moral.

CONSTANT LOYALTY

Furgeson also pointed out that the Saddle Tramps were constantly loyal to the team even during poor seasons. "This fact is evidenced by the way the group supported the Red Raider cagers during last year's dreary campaign," he noted.

"ASIDE FROM promoting school spirit, the Tramps serve as ushers, sell programs, and provide constant examples of good sportsmanship both during and after the ball games," he added.

Furgeson said that the Student Council is devoting considerable time to the seating problem at athletic events and said the existing situation can be controlled in a sensible manner.

"I feel that the student body is mature enough to recognize the existing problem and will give the Student Council full support in correcting it," Furgeson noted.

ENFORCEMENT PROBLEM

He went on to say that the Council is considering various methods of enforcement concerning students who insist on saving more than one seat for their date.

THE MOST drastic move would be to revoke the offender's ID and thereby prevent him from attending student functions until he had resecured the ID from the dean's office.

Furgeson was quick to point-out that, "this would be a very drastic measure taken only as a last resort."

The Student Council voted Tuesday to establish a policy allowing the saving of only single seats for dates and banning the saving of whole rows.

IFC 'Moves Ahead' On Building Lodges

A step toward future construction of fraternity and sorority lodges for Texas Tech Greeks was taken Wednesday night by the Interfraternity Council.

"The fraternities have decided definitely that they want to move ahead on the lodge project under any circumstances necessary to bring it about," Gary Lawrence, president of IFC, said.

DELEGATES FROM the nine fraternities represented signed statements that each fraternity would provide the funds necessary for utility improvements on fraternity-sorority land west of the Texas Tech campus within 60 days after notification. The remaining two fraternities at Tech did not have representatives at the meeting and will consider the statement of intention at a later date, Lawrence said.

Next step in the efforts toward construction is a vote by fraternities and sororities on whether improvements will be made on the land. This vote is expected at a meeting of the Housing Corporation scheduled for March 13, according to Lawrence.

"THE FRATERNITIES certainly hope the sororities will not hold them back by voting against the improvements," Lawrence said.

A current evaluation of the rush system was postponed by the IFC. At a later meeting a possible new system will be presented for consideration. Questionnaires have been sent by IFC to more than 50 colleges and universities to obtain information on rush systems.

Orientations Scheduled For U. N. Delegations

Tech's Model United Nations has scheduled a mass orientation meeting for all delegations with their bloc leaders and faculty advisers. This meeting marks the start of delegation activity.

"This meeting is probably the most important meeting prior to the Model U.N. itself," says Alan Henry, secretary-general of the Model U.N.

All delegates to the model U.N. are to attend the meeting, and about 200 delegates should be present. The Steering Committee and bloc leaders will also attend. Packets of necessary materials will be given delegations, and the contents of these packets will be explained.

This year's Model U.N. discussion topic is Human Relations and Apartheid in South Africa. In keeping with this topic, a 30-minute film will be shown. This film, "Black and White in South Africa," is critical of the South African position; it will be followed, at a later date, by a film presenting favorable comment on South Africa's stand.

Orientation will start at 7 p.m. today in the Union.

Tech - SMU Cage Game Set On TV

The Texas Tech-Southern Methodist basketball game will be televised from Dallas on Saturday, by KCBD-TV, Channel 11, at 2 p.m. The game with SMU in Lubbock on Feb. 22, will also be televised.

The Student Council with the cooperation of Coach Gene Gibson and Athletic Director Polk Robison, will present the half time program. According to Robison, the program will be centered around different phases of campus life at Tech.

The casting, Tech against SMU, has been the same on two previous occasions. Before the cameras in 1960, SMU edged out the Raiders 49-44 in Dallas, and two years later the Raiders' triumphed 71-69 over SMU to decide the Southwest Conference playoff representative. This game was telecast from Fort Worth.

'Firebugs' Extended

Tech Speech Department's production of Max Frisch's "The Firebugs" has been extended to performances today through Saturday with performances at 8:15 p.m. in the Speech Auditorium.

Three Cigaret Companies Operate On Short Week

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Three Louisville cigaret manufacturers are operating on shortened schedules because of slackened market demands.

The four-day week went into effect last week at Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., Philip Morris Inc., and P. Lorillard Co.

Walter Tatum, a vice president of Brown & Williamson, said he felt the reduction in sales was temporary.

Tax - Cut Bill Moves Near Senate Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate gave the administration a clean sweep on all key issues in the $11.6-billion tax-cut bill by refusing Wednesday to repeal excise taxes on jewelry, handbags, cosmetics and furs.

Even on lesser issues, the administration's batting average was high as the Senate drove toward quick passage of this top priority legislation. However, there could be reverses in the final voting or in working out Senate and House differences in a conference committee.

THE VOTE against a Republican effort to repeal the excise taxes was on a 48-45 hairline, with Democratic leaders scrambling for support. Many Democrats held back until the last minute to see if their votes were needed.

Two senators who originally announced "yes" votes, Vance R. Hartke, D-Ind., and Clair Engle, D-Calif., switched to "no" before the voting closed. Several other Democrats who had expressed sympathy for the repeal voted "no" the first time when it became clear their help was needed by the leadership.

DEMOCRATIC Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana voted against the amendment but after the victory withdrew his vote and paired with absent Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

The Illinois senator, in the hospital for treatment of an ulcer condition, has been the major sponsor of the repeal amendment. Mansfield's move enabled him to be listed for the proposal.

ALL 31 Republicans present voted for the amendment with help from 14 Democrats. The only Southerner not among the 48 Democrats against it was Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee.

The three-vote difference was the same margin by which the administration was victorious Tuesday on two other key issues. It beat out then 47-44 an effort to knock out House repeal of the stock dividend credit and defeated 48-45 a move to give special tax deductions to parents with children in college.

The 10 per cent excise taxes at the retail level were imposed in World War II and repeated efforts to repeal them in recent years have failed.

Coed Clad In Mink No Oddity

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Students at Northwestern University no longer stare when they see a book-laden brunette hurrying across campus in tennis shoes, slacks and a mink coat.

The girl is Jacqueline Mayer, 21, of Sandusky, Ohio, last year's Miss America who turned in her crown five months ago to return to Northwestern as a sophomore.

JOINED FRED WARING

She left school after her freshman year in 1961 to join the Fred Waring Chorus.

The mink—worn only in sub-zero weather—a new convertible and a $10,000 scholarship are among the rewards from her year-long reign, which ended September 1963.

Miss Mayer still is in demand for appearances at banquets, parades and conventions.

"I came to school simply to be a student," said the coed in an interview, "but it's not so easy."

WOULD HAVE TROUBLE

When she decided to return, Miss Mayer said, she knew she would have trouble from celebrity seekers as well as old friends.

"Everyone was watching for me," she said. "Some of my friends have told me they were afraid at first to even talk to me."

"She was in an awful tough position," said Pat Rusk, 22, South Bend, Ind., a graduate student who is a counselor at Northwestern Apartments, where Miss Mayer shares quarters with three roommates.

"A lot of men used to come in just to look at her," Miss Rusk said. "Now the novelty's worn off and she's just another popular and well-liked girl."

36-22-36

Miss Mayer, whose award-winning statistics are 36-22-36, agreed: "I didn't have much trouble with the kids on campus. Most of the problems came from bachelors in Chicago."

The problems with suitors dissolved over the Christmas vacation when Miss Mayer announced her engagement to John Townsend, 25, of Bridgeville, Pa. He is a junior at the University of Pittsburgh Law School.

Registration Underway In Mock Political Meet

Keith Strain, national chairman of the Mock (Republican) Political Convention, has announced that registration activity for the April event is now underway.

Strain said that there has been much "behind-the-scenes" activity by the Tech Forensic Union, sponsor of the convention. He added that, in preparation for the MPC, the Tech Forensic Union is contacting all campus organizations.

He announced that the two largest delegations to the convention already have been chosen by the two campus political organizations. The Young Democrats, first to choose a delegation, will be responsible for the 92-member New York delegation and the Young Republicans will represent the California delegation.

Representatives of Tech Forensic Union met with the Young Democrats Wednesday to discuss the role of that organization in the convention. Today TFU representatives will meet with the Young Republicans to discuss the other large delegation to the convention.

The Mock Political Convention is presently scheduled for April 23-24 in the Tech Union.

Alabama Mayor Sets Integration Showdown

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—Invoking a 10-day-old fire safety ordinance, the mayor of an east Alabama town turned away six Negroes from a white school and set up a new showdown with the federal government.

Mayor James Rea of Notasulga told the Negroes their entry into Notasulga High School would fill the building above its capacity.

SIX ADMITTED

At nearby Shorter High, six other Negroes were admitted without resistance. The 12 pupils were ordered into the two schools by federal court after a third formerly white school closed.

IN WASHINGTON, both President Johnson and officials of the Department of Justice kept in touch with the situation.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the President talked with Justice Department officials, but declined further comment except to say that the department was handling the matter.

A small crowd of angry white men yelled curses at the Negroes and scuffled with some cameramen when the bus carrying the pupils drew up at Notasulga High.

CAMERA SMASHED

A white youth on the bus was ejected and his camera was smashed by a man identified as a city policeman by Col. Albert Lingo, state public safety director.

REA STOOD on the steps of the gray plaster school building. He was flanked by about eight city policemen.

When the bus reached the steps,

Rea informed the Negroes of an ordinance adopted Jan. 27 prohibiting anyone from entering a public building that held the maximum number of persons allowed.

"I have determined that the maximum safe capacity of Notasulga High School is the present enrollment," Rea said.

"The school cannot safely accommodate any more pupils."

As the bus drove away, a small group of pupils stood on the school porch and cheered.

WHEN THE BUS first stopped the white youth, identified as Vernon Merritt III, was ordered to get out. His camera was smashed and Merritt was hauled off the bus and hurled to the ground.

Marina Oswald Sticking With Earlier Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren said Wednesday that Mrs. Marina Oswald, in her third day of questioning by the presidential investigating commission, has given an account completely in line with her earlier statements to police and federal agents.

Those statements, bearing on the movements and actions of her husband, were basic to the FBI's conclusion that Lee Harvey Oswald was the sole and unaided slayer of President John F. Kennedy.

Although the commission headed by Warren had planned to present the supposed assassination weapon to the 22-year-old widow for identification as the gun bought last March by Oswald, the laborious questioning of Mrs. Oswald through an interpreter delayed the sched-

THE INNER MAN

College is fun and frolic and fulfillment—except for one melancholy omission: we don't get to enjoy Mom's home cooking. (In my own undergraduate days, curiously enough, I did not undergo this deprivation; my mother, a noted cross-country runner, was never home long enough to cook a meal until her legs gave out last Arbor Day.)

But most of us arrive at college with fond gastric memories of Mom's nourishing delicacies, and we are inclined now and then to heave great racking sighs as we contemplate the steam tables in the campus cafeteria. Take, for an extreme example, the case of Finster Sigafos.

Finster, a freshman at one of our great Eastern universities (Oregon State) came to college accustomed to home cooking of a kind and quantity enjoyed by very few. Until entering college, Finster had lived all his life in Europe, where his father was an eminent fugitive from justice. Finster's mother, a natural born cook, was mistress of the haute cuisine of a dozen countries, and Finster grew up living and eating in the Continental manner.

He arose each morning at ten and breakfasted lightly on figs,

My Mother was a noted cross country runner hot chocolate, and brioche. (It is interesting to note, incidentally, that brioche was named after its inventor, perhaps the greatest of all French bakers, Jean-Claude Brioche (1634-1921). M. Brioche, as we all know, also invented croissants, French toast, and—in a curious departure—the electric razor. Other immortal names in the history of breadstuffs are the German, Otto Pumpernickel (1509-1848) who invented pumpernickel and thus became known to posterity as The Iron Chancellor; the two Americans, William Cullen Raisin (1066-1812) and Walter Rye (1931-1932) who collaborated on the invention of raisin rye; and, of course, Hans Christian Andersen (1805-1875) who invented Danish pastry).

But I digress. Finster, I say, breakfasted lightly at ten a.m. At eleven a.m. his Mom brought him his elevenses. At twelve she brought him his twelveses. At 1:30 she served his lunch: first a clear broth; then a fish course (porgy and bass); then an omelette; then the main course—either a saddle of lamb, an eye of sirloin, or a glass of chicken fat; then a salad of escarole; and finally a lemon soufflé.

At three p.m. Mom served Finster low tea, at five p.m. high tea, and at ten p.m. dinner—first a bowl of petite marmite (she trapped the marmites herself); then a fish course (wounded trout); then an omelette of turtle eggs; then the main course—either duck with orange or a basin of farina; then a salad of unborn chicory; and finally a caramel mousse.

And then Finster went off to college, which reminds me of Marlboro Cigarettes. (Actually it doesn't remind me of Marlboro Cigarettes at all, but the makers of Marlboro pay me to write this column and they are inclined to get surly if I fail to mention their product. Mind you, I don't object to mentioning their product—no sir, not one bit. Marlboro's flavor is flavorful, the filter filters, the soft pack is soft, the Flip-Top box flips, and the tattoo is optional. Marlboros are available wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states of the Union. Next time you're in the U.S.A., try a pack.)

But I digress. We were speaking of Finster Sigafos who went from Continental dining to dormitory feeding. So whenever you feel sorry for yourself, think of Finster, for it always lifts the heart to know somebody is worse off than you are.

© 1964 Max Shulman

We, the makers of Marlboro, can't say whether European food beats ours, but this we believe: America's cigarettes lead the whole world. And this we further believe: among America's cigarettes, Marlboros are the finest.

Seat Of Problem

Conduct's The Key

Just think, no longer will you go to a crowded Tech basketball game and have to hear, "I'm sorry, this seat's saved."

At least you won't be denied an empty seat if the Student Council's new plan works.

The Council voted Tuesday night to curb seat-saving in the student section at home basketball games. The only exception is a Techsan reserving a seat for his date.

Enforce Ruling

And evidently Council members plan to see that the new ruling works. They are going to police the student section during games and have said disciplinary action will be taken against Techsans who won't cooperate.

The need for such a rule had become glaring this year as more and more students packed into the coliseum for cage games, only to find more and more seats were being saved.

Now maybe if you eye a couple of seats at the top of an aisle, you won't climb the long stairway for nothing.

Occupancy of seats in a student section at any athletic contest should be on a first-come-first-serve basis. It's just common courtesy.

Of course, seat-saving hasn't been the only problem. Even if seats aren't saved, sometimes there just aren't enough chairs for all the students who go to games.

May Expand

But fire marshalls will allow only so many students in the coliseum. Polk Robison, athletic director, says a study is being made into the possibility of expanding seating in the coliseum.

There just aren't always enough seats for student spectators. And evidently, some of the students who do get seats don't deserve them.

That is, any student — especially one who attends the school winning the Southwest Conference sportsmanship award this year — who has no more self-control than to throw things onto the basketball court, just because he doesn't like the referee's decision, doesn't merit a seat in the student section.

Granted, referees sometimes do make obvious blunders in calling a game, but this doesn't give the students the right to let fly with riff-raff onto the court.

It's great that Techsans do have so much school spirit and go out to support the Raiders. But throwing trash onto the court is not supporting the team. It's degrading to the basketball players and to the school.

'My Gosh'

Surely Techsans can restrain themselves enough when they disagree with a referee to just bite down harder on their cigarette butts or to mumble a disgruntled, "My gosh."

It was obvious at last Saturday's night game between Tech and Texas that Coach Gene Gibson was more than just a little disgusted with students who pelted the court with litter. Coach Gibson stood up three or four times to motion students to stop throwing things.

Surely we Techsans can employ a little self-discipline. It's dangerous to our players and to visiting team members for students to scatter junk onto the court.

So there seem to be dual problems for Tech students who are basketball fans—finding a seat and, once they get there, acting like adults.

We hope both these problems can be solved by students and administrators working together.

Plans Reviewed On The Soapbox ... young demo speaks

By MIKE READ
Young Democrats President

As a new semester gets started, a new series of columns gets underway. As president of the Young Democrats, I have been chosen to write the first column of the series. An officer of the Young Republicans will have his say next week.

MIKE READ
DEBATE SET

The president of the Young Republicans has consented to debate "Conservatism" with me in April. This should be a truly enlightening encounter for all involved or present.

THE YOUNG DEMOS also plan to show the film "Operation Abolition." But, as we feel that this film is a gross misrepresentation of the situation it purports to report, we plan to follow it immediately with "Operation Correction" — which, although not quite accurate either, at least presents another point of view on the problem.

The Young Democrats were the first organization to choose a delegation to the Mock (Republican) Political Convention. We have the 92-member New York delegation. The Young Democrats are an open-minded group; we will fully support the MPC as long as it retains its educational purpose and does not become merely a publicity device for the Republican Party.

CANDIDATES TO SPEAK

As this is (just as a point of information) an election year, the Young Demos will try to have all of the Democratic candidates from the local area speak before the club. Club meetings are, of course, open to all who would like to attend.

THE YOUNG DEMOCRATS—in spite of widespread rumors to the contrary—are not (repeat—NOT) a subversive organization, seeking the ruin of both American government and way of life. We are not a hotbed of radical political activists.

Although the "middle of the road" is considered treasonous by some, most members of the Young Democrats are politically situated in this area. Most of the remaining members could be politically classified as "liberal"—liberal and not radical. There is a difference.

OPPOSE EXTREMISM

The Lubbock County Young Democrats stand opposed to political extremism. There is nothing wrong in differing views—so long as those who hold one view recognize the possibility of legitimate differences.

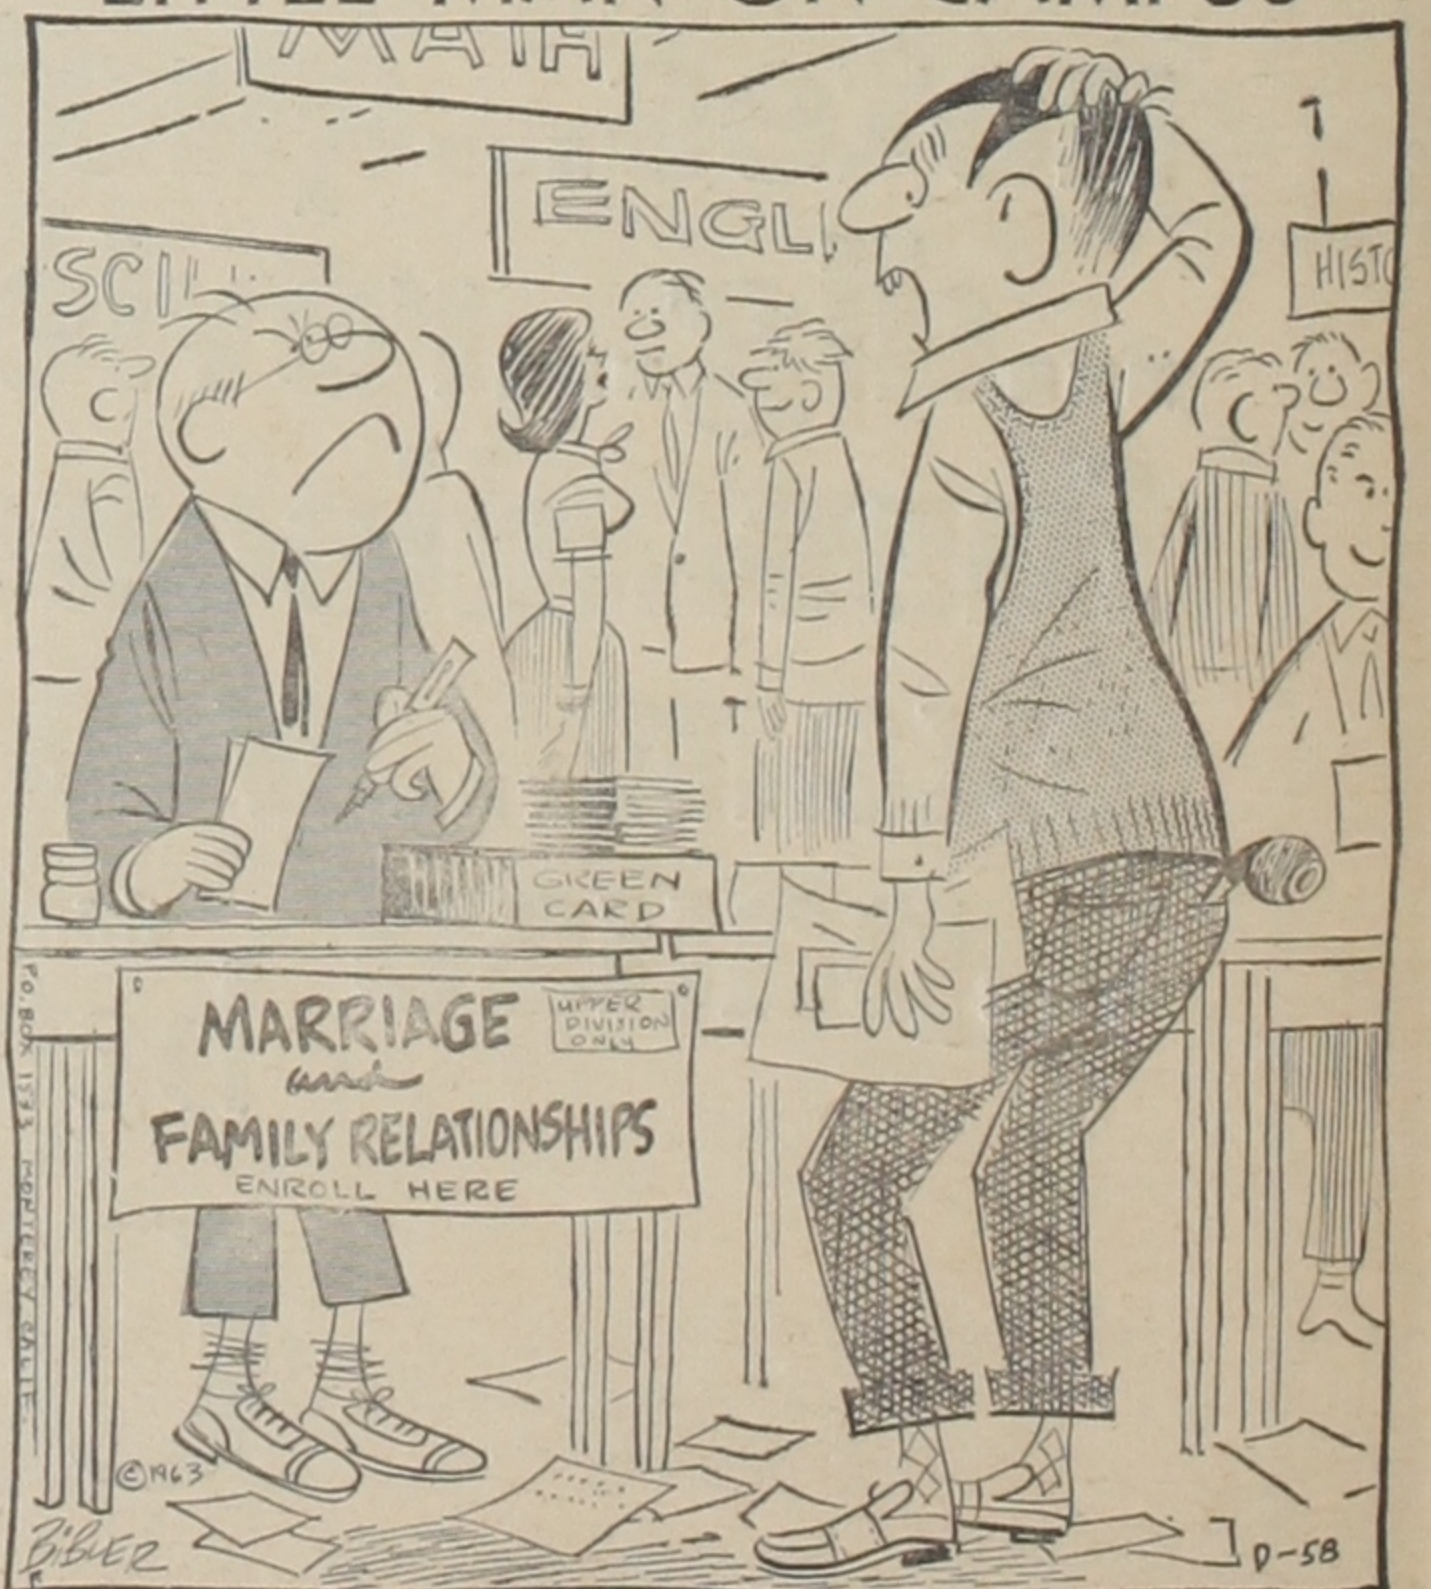

The danger in extremes—either politically right or politically left—is that they can sink the boat. I classify any code extreme that equates disagreement with disloyalty, or any person as an extremist who claims to hold the ONLY correct view on how the political system should operate. I instinctively distrust such extremes.

In future columns I shall cast barbed comments in the direction of the Young Republicans and their current idol—"Sen. AuH₂O."

Presently, my comments will be confined to the following description of the typical Republican (young or otherwise). This Republican is the guy who has just driven home from an Italian movie in his German car, is sitting on his Danish furniture, drinking Brazilian coffee from an English china cup, writing a letter on Irish linen paper with a Japanese ball-point pen—screaming to his Congressman about too much American gold going overseas.

UNTIL NEXT TIME—ALL THE WAY WITH LBJ.

Last 'Camelot' Performance Set Tonight

By LANE CROCKETT
Toreador Fine Arts Editor
The lavish Lerner and Lowe musical "Camelot" goes into its last performance today.

Bad weather on the South Plains delayed the Camelot cast from arriving in Lubbock in time for the musical's Wednesday performance. Two productions are to be given at 6 and 9 p.m. today. Holders of tickets to the planned Wednesday performance will attend the 6 p.m. show today. Tickets range from $2 to $4.50 for the show in Municipal Auditorium.

Created by the musical team who gave Broadway the phenomenal success "My Fair Lady," now gives the theatergoers a taste of fantasy—the legendary court of King Arthur in Camelot.

The musical based on the novel "The Once and Future King," stars Jeannie Carson as Queen Guenevere, Biff McGuire as King Arthur, Melville Cooper as the bumbling King Pellinore and Sean Garrison as Sir Lancelot.

The plot revolves around Queen Guenevere's ill-starred romance with the dashing Lancelot and the repercussions when the romance is exposed to King Arthur.

"Camelot" is scored with many melodious lyrics such as the love song of Lancelot and Guenevere "If Ever Would I Leave You," the comedy song "The Seven Deadly Virtues," King Arthur's lament "I Wonder What the Simple Folk Are Doing Tonight" and the haunting melody "Follow Me."

Perhaps the biggest drawing card of the musical is its setting and costumes, reputed to be the most lavish ever presented on Broadway.

Miss Carson is no stranger to Lubbock audiences. She appeared last season in the touring company of "The Sound of Music." In "Camelot" she will appear opposite her husband Biff McGuire.

Johnson Hails JFK In New York Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — President Johnson, paying tribute to the memory of John F. Kennedy, said Wednesday night, "We shall finish his fight" against every foe "of the land he loved and the people he served."

Johnson flew to New York for a 29-hour stay that included an appearance at the annual dinner of the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation.

From Kennedy Airport, Johnson made a 14-minute helicopter flight into Lower Manhattan's Wall Street Heliport, and then traveled by closed limousine to his headquarters at the Carlyle Hotel. It was the first time a chief executive had ever traveled by helicopter on a visit to New York.

In his prepared text for the dinner, Johnson had this to say about his assassinated predecessor and the future of the efforts Kennedy had begun:

"With his memory and spirit to inspire us — with his words and his works to guide us — we shall conquer mental retardation, and mental illness, and poverty, and every other foe of the land he loved and the people he served."

The Kennedy Foundation devotes itself primarily to the conquest of mental retardation — an affliction visited upon one of the late President's sisters, Rosemary. The foundation was created in memory of John Kennedy's older brother, a bomber pilot killed in Europe during World War II.

Johnson noted that John Kennedy had planned to attend the dinner, originally scheduled for last Dec. 4 but postponed after the Nov. 22 assassination.

"No cause was closer to his heart," the President said. "Humbly I shall carry on for him here, as I intend to carry on the great efforts he started for lasting peace."

SPRINTER PREPARES FOR FORT WORTH MEET — Walter Cunningham, senior track man from Galena Park, dashes down the Tech track while preparing for the Will Rogers Indoor Games Saturday in Fort Worth. Cunningham ran a 6.3 in the 60-yard dash for a fourth place finish in the Lubbock Indoor Meet Monday.

Tech Track Man Sets Two Marks

Noel Carter, senior track man from Seminole, has set two school records already this season and hopes to help the Tech track squad set a few new ones when the team runs in the Will Rogers Indoor Games in Fort Worth Saturday.

Carter, entered in the 600-yard dash for the Fort Worth meet, established a school mark in that event at Albuquerque last week with a 1:14.0 mark.

This week Carter set another school mark when he ran a 61.2 in the 500-yard event in the Lubbock indoor meet.

Coach Don Sparks also will enter his mile relay team in the Fort Worth games. The team set another Lubbock meet record earlier this week with a 3:27.4 clocking, but the school record currently stands at 3:25.4.

This record was set in Fort Worth last year by two men who are currently on the track team, Carter and Walter Cunningham, and two Tech graduates, Norman Donelson of Stanton and Gary Don Bove of Happy.

Entered in the meet in addition to Carter and Cunningham are Ronnie Biffle, Anton, in the 60-yard hurdles, Jerry Brock, Fort Worth, in the mile, Ronny Davis, Brownwood, in the 1,000-yard run and Larry Lee Booker in the broad jump.

Biffle finished third at the Lubbock meet with a 7.3 time and Lee won the Texas Relays freshman broad jump last spring, but has yet to jump indoors.

Marks Fall In Meet, Olympian Sets Pace

Despite the bad weather, the Lubbock Invitational Track and Field Meet saw five records set and two tied.

Olympian Ralph Boston set two new marks as he won his specialty, the broad jump, with a leap of 25-7, and then came back to set a new high jump record, soaring over the bar set at 6-8. Earlier Boston had also won the hurdle race.

In addition to Boston's performances, the Texas Tech mile relay got into the record breaking act with a 3:27.3 time and Oklahoma's two mile relay team set a new mark of 7:53.9 in the two mile event.

The other record to fall was a 4:24.0 performance by Richard Romo of Texas in the mile run.

As for the records that were tied, Southern Methodist's Billy Foster tied both the Coliseum and world record in the 60-yard dash with a 6-flat clocking.

Swim Team Sets Two New Marks

Despite losing their eighth meet of the season to Eastern New Mexico University at Portales Tuesday, the Red Raider swimming team broke two school records.

Co-captain Bob Smith of Houston, who against Southern Methodist last week toppled Tech's oldest swim mark, the 200-yard breast-stroke, shattered his own new mark by swimming the distance in 2:36.4.

Before the SMU meet, the mark was 2:38.4 set by Bill Farrar in 1960.

Ron Grim of Houston followed Smith's lead in the 500-yard free-style, both in the SMU meet and again against ENMU. Grim broke Kurt Lemon's 5:58 mark with a 5:51 clocking against SMU and smashed his own standard against ENMU with a 5:48.3 time.

Diver Jesse Marsh of San Angelo is still sidelined with an injured back muscle. Marsh was injured while practicing a dive that Coach Jim McNally said Marsh had practiced "a thousand times."

The Raiders strengthened their lineup at mid-term with the scholastic restoration of George Steele of Houston, a backstroker and freestyler Glyn Day of Odessa. Day established eligibility following his transfer to Tech.

Tech's meet here with the University of New Mexico has been rescheduled for 4 p.m. Friday instead of that night.

Because of snow in New Mexico, the Lobos have switched from auto to air travel for the trip and must be able to leave Lubbock early Friday night to make their next connection.

After the match with New Mexico, the Tech swimmers take on Denver University at 3 p.m. Saturday.

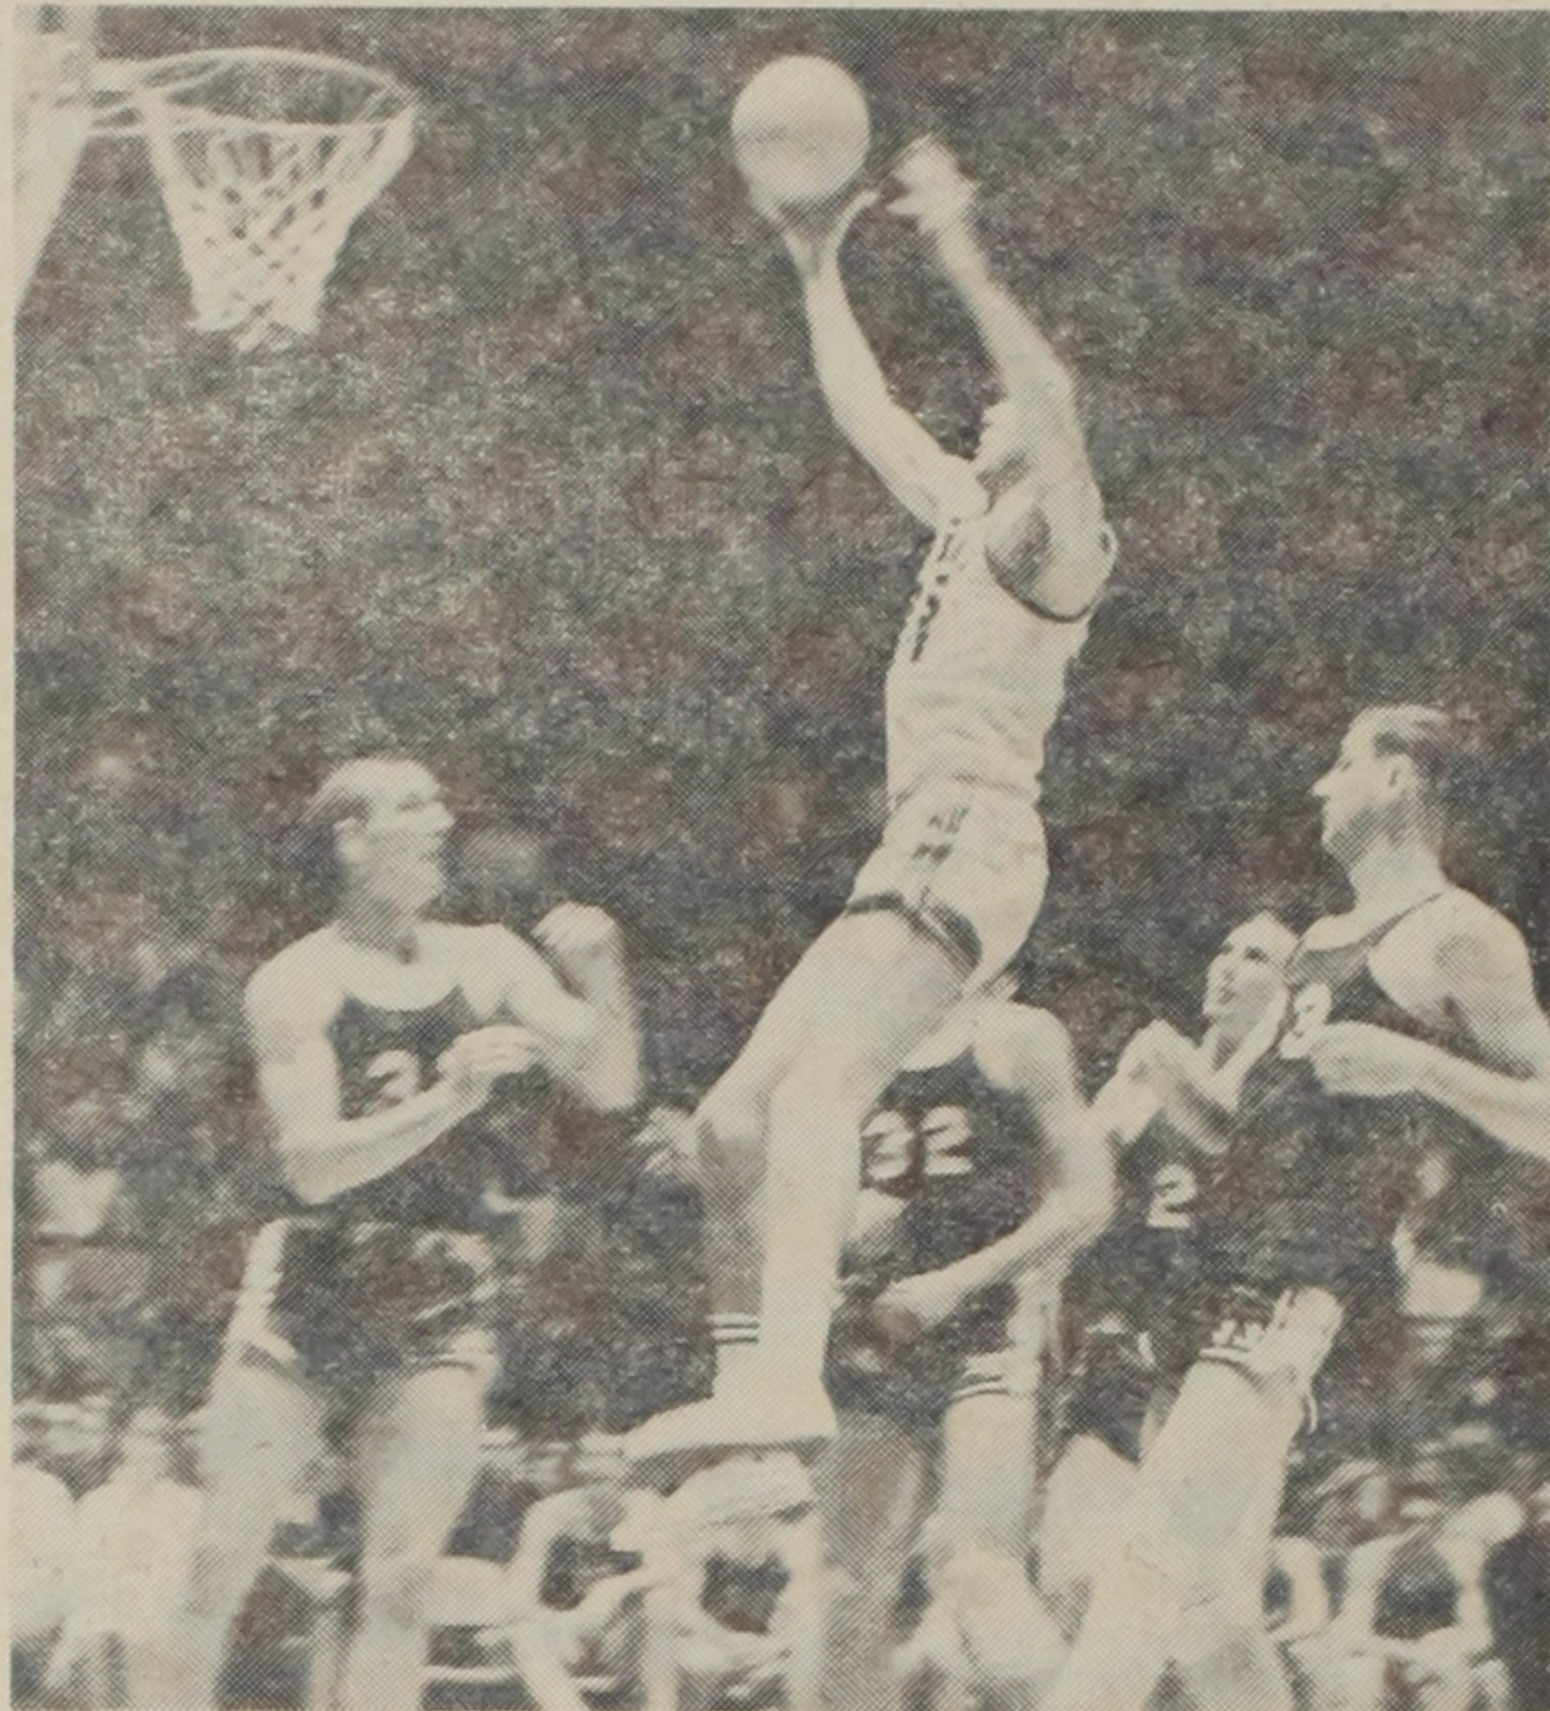

A scheduled exhibition between the Tech freshmen and Midland High School originally scheduled for Saturday has been postponed.

Glover Leads Pics Against San Angelo

Texas Tech's freshman basketball team, unbeaten in six games, carry an 81-point scoring average into their game with San Angelo College there today.

Coach Charley Lynch's Picadors were held to their season's lowest score in their 66-55 win over Midwestern last week. The Midwestern score also equaled the season's low for an opponent as Tech in its opener beat Lubbock Christian College, 90-55.

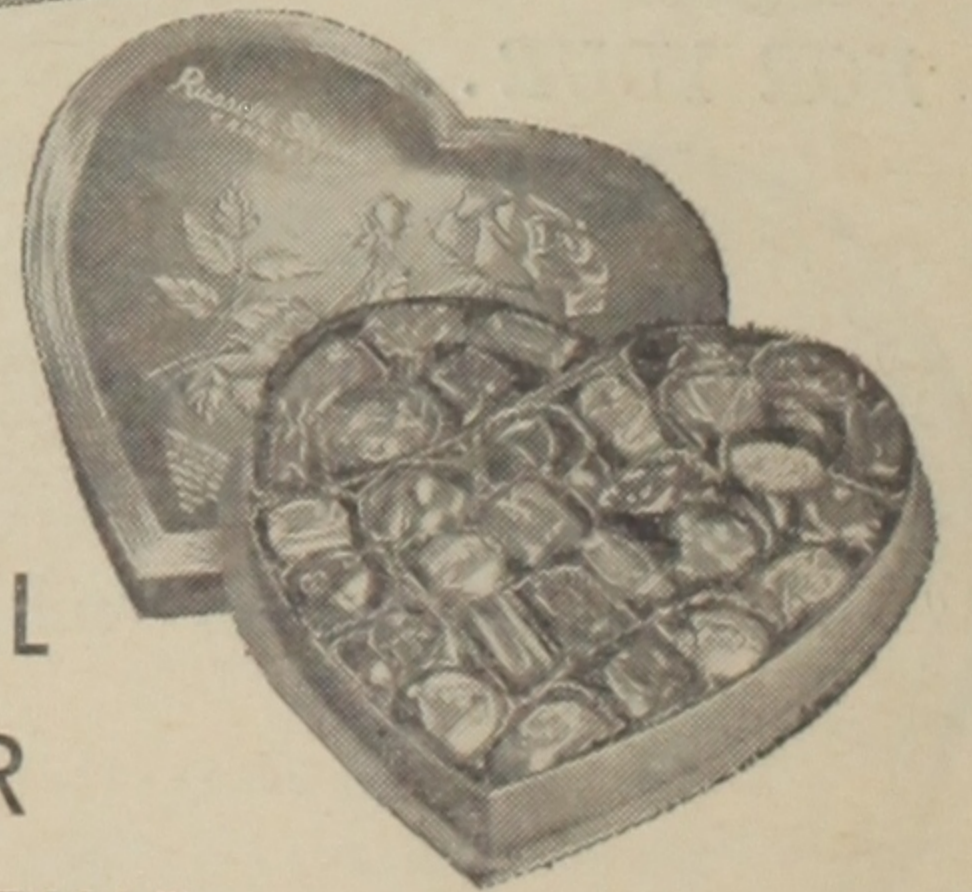

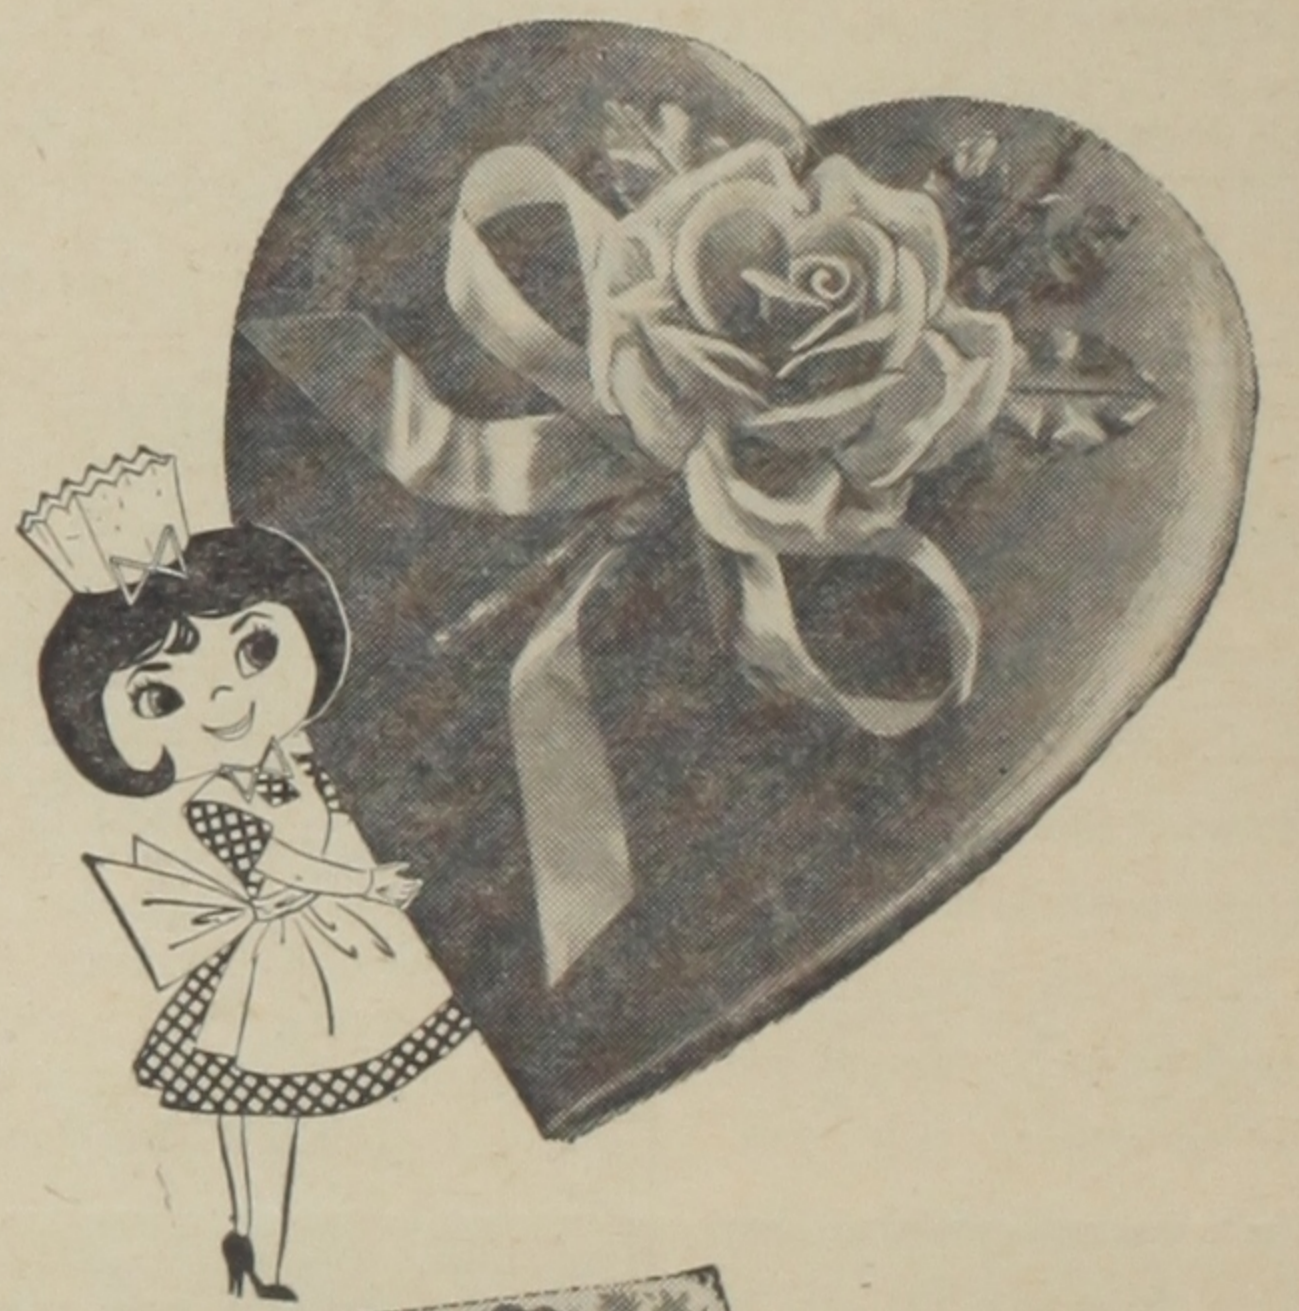

San Angelo, in its 93-87 loss to Tech in December, scored the most points garnered by a Picador foe this season. The Tech defense has allowed an average of only 67.8 points a game.

Bob Glover, 6-7 all-stater from Dallas Jefferson, continues to lead scoring, rebounding and field goal percentage for the Picadors. So far, he's averaged 24.7 points and 19.8 rebounds a game and has hit 58.5 per cent of his field goal attempts.

Lubbock's Danny Davis is the most accurate Picador from the free throw line, missing only two of 23 tries for a 91.3 percentage mark.

Besides Glover, three other freshmen are averaging in double figures. Graham's Trenton Bonner has been hitting at a 16.3 clip; Davis, 12.2, and Lubbock's Jimmy Fullerton, 11.0.

Tech has thus far defeated South Plains College, 79-69; Midwestern, 73-64, and Rice, 85-77. They have also defeated the Tech redshirt team three times.
