An election will be held by the student body on Tuesday, Oct. 17, between 8 a. m. and 5 p. m. to select 16 girls out of the remaining 32. December has been designated as the time when a celebrity will choose the top eight.

Matador Band To March At Game

The Matador band will give its first marching performance of the year between halves at the Tech-Ola, A&M game with 88 musicians taking part.

The first event will be the forming of the letters "OAMC" while playing the opponent's school song and facing the visitor's side of the stadium.

In honor of Parent's Day, the band then will march about-face to the east and form a heart, with first "MOM" spelled out inside it and then "POP." During this procedure, the music will be "Let Me Call You Sweetheart."

The performance will end with the forming of the traditional "Double T" and playing of the Matador song.

Lt. Terrell Williams, Lubbock, and Lt. J. H. McElroy, Dallas, were visiting here last week before going to their new station at Camp Claiborne. Both are former civil engineering students.

Last Of Tech's Military Trainees Leave Campus

Departure of the 152 members of the ASTRP unit last Saturday night marked the end of the military training programs on Tech campus with the exception of the ROTC unit, which is open to all civilian male students.

In August Pres. Clifford B. Jones asked the Army to terminate its contract with the college for training reservists, due to lack of space. The group was split into three sections. One part went to the University of Minnesota where they will study the Japanese language. Another went to Nebraska university to continue fourth term work in engineering. Others went to New Mexico A&M college to study engineering below the fourth term level. Eight members of the class who had reached the age of 18 were assigned to active duty with the Army.

Under the program the government furnished equipment instruction, food and quarters to 17-year-olds. Courses studied included mathematics, physics, chemistry, geography, history, English, military science, and physical training. Maj. C. F. Hartman, head professor of military science and tactics, was commanding officer.

Publications To Submit Budgets, Associate Editor

Budgets of the Toreador and La Ventana will be approved and an associate editor of the Toreador named at a meeting of the Publications committee at 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon in J210.

La Verne Henderson, business manager of the Toreador, and Eleanor Cotton, associate editor of La Ventana, were selected at the last meeting of the committee. Handbooks were distributed and the photographic contract for annual pictures with Palace Studios was confirmed.

Prof. A. B. Strehli was again elected chairman of the committee and Mrs. J. G. Allen and R. A. Mills were re-elected sponsors of the Toreador and La Ventana, respectively. Anna Baker was elected secretary.

Faculty members are Professors E. Y. Middleton, Gussie Teague, Cecil Ayers, R. I. Lockard, Strehli and Allen. Students members include Charles Senning, Nancy Everline, Troy Caldwell, Virgil Miers, Ed Boaz, and Miss Baker. Maxine Craddock is an ex-officio member of the group.

New Faculty Wives Honored With Tea

A faculty tea was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of President and Mrs. Whyburn to honor new members of the faculty. The tea was held at the regular meeting time which is the first Wednesday of each month. Mrs. C. V. Bullen, president, said,

Pres. Whyburn Asks Support Of All Techsians

Student And Faculty Cooperation Needed For School Growth

"To the President of this college, its faculty, and student body I am saying that the America of which we dream can be real only through social discipline and spiritual renewal," said Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of the Methodist Episcopal Church, St. Louis, in his address at the inauguration of Dr. William Marvin Whyburn Saturday.

"If others are to know happiness, we must be concerned about that happiness," typifies the cooperative thought needed for world improvement, Bishop Holt emphasized.

The Hon. Charles C. Thompson, chairman of the board of directors, invested the presidential authority upon Dr. Whyburn. In acceptance President Whyburn said, "I beseech the support of you and every other friend of higher education to the end that this college may continue to grow in importance among the leading educational institutions of the country."

He is particularly concerned with the philosophy of education that grew up in the period after World War I and with possible consequences which he hopes can be avoided in the future.

"A good college faculty member should know much about good teaching methods and must have the poise and personality needed for effective instruction," he pointed out.

He commended Texas Technological college as "alert on matters of future expansion and development."

Dr. Clifford B. Jones, retiring president of Tech, acted as master of ceremonies. The title of president emeritus was bestowed upon him by Chairman Thompson with unanimous vote of the board of directors.

Visiting delegates representing 30 colleges, various academic societies, the board of directors of Tech, and the U. S. Army with the Tech faculty formed the procession.

"Pity the Poor President!" was the title of the address by Prof. Eugene C. Barker of the University of Texas at the dinner honoring President and Mrs. Whyburn and visiting delegates which was given in Women's dormitory No. 2 after the inauguration.

"I offer congratulations and sympathy—congratulations for the attainment of an ambition, sympathy because you wanted it," said Professor Barker. "Your faculty will regard you as a possibly necessary evil. One part of your public will be forever urging you to make speeches on subjects about which you necessarily know little and care less.

"In a more official capacity, you are expected by outsiders to 'keep the faculty in order,'" he said. "But the most disturbing obligation of your office is that of getting appropriations from the legislature."

Amendments Are Proposed By Student Council

The Student council has proposed the following amendments to the constitution, which will be voted on by the students at the pep rally tonight:

ARTICLE 7: Sec. 1 (g)-(former read)

Any officer, elective or appointive, of any campus organization or student representative, elective or appointive of the college in any official capacity, excluding beauties and queens, must have at least a C average in all his college work and must have passed a minimum of nine semester hours with at least a C average for the semester preceding the one in which he serves. A C average is based on the quality point system and must be maintained for each semester during the tenure of office; the quality point system being an average of at least one grade point for every hour for which the student has enrolled.

The proposed revision will be as follows:

Any officer, elective or appointive, of any campus organization or student representative, elective or appointive of the college in any official capacity, excluding beauties and queens, and assistant yell leaders, must have at least a C average in all his college work and must have passed a minimum of nine semester hours with at least a C average for the semester preceding the one in which he serves. A C average is based on the quality point system and must be maintained for each semester during the tenure of office; the quality point system being an average of at least one grade point for every hour for which the student has enrolled. Assistant yell leaders, who are appointed by the respective head yell leaders, must be approved by both the Double T association and the Student council before assuming their positions.

ARTICLE 7: Elections (former read)

Section 1: Eligibility of candidates.

(a) Candidates for the offices of president, vice president, secretary, and business manager of the Student association, the student representative to the Athletic council, and the yell leaders must have at least a C average in all their college work, and must have passed a minimum of nine semester hours with at least a C average for the semester preceding the one in which the election is held. This provision, which requires attendance at this institution the preceding semester, shall not apply in the case of ex-service men and women who were attending Texas Technological college prior to their entrance into the armed services, providing the said students possessed all other qualifications necessary for holding office in their last semester of attendance at Texas Technological college. Candidates for the offices of president and vice president must have at least 90 semester hours at the time of assuming office. Candidates for the offices of secretary, business

Informal Reception To Begin Activities

Awards, Raider-Aggie Game Highlights Of Celebration

A reception in the lounge of Women's Dormitory No. 2 will be the initial event of the traditional Parent's Day celebration to be held on the campus tomorrow. The reception will be from 3 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon and students are asked to accompany their parents to this affair. Registration of all attending will take place and parents' identification tags will be issued.

Students Named To Serve On Committees

The Student council has recently appointed student members to various campus committees to serve during the coming year, according to Student Council President Maxine Craddock.

Publications committee student representatives named are: Anna Baker, Troy Caldwell, Edgar Boaz, Charles Senning, Virgil Miers and Nancy Everline.

Student Campus Beautification committee members named include Jane Oliver, Josie Lee Barnett, and Paul Payne.

The Student council president serves as ex-officio member of all three committees.

Norma Cleavinger has been appointed to represent students on the Chapel committee.

In the absence of nominees last year for student representative to the athletic council, Bob Boyd has been tentatively appointed by the Student council.

Toreador Issued To Ticket Holders

All students who bought activity tickets are eligible to receive issues of the Toreador. Copies will be placed in the following designated places on Friday morning of each week. Names of students who are qualified to receive a Toreador are listed in the respective office.

Students belonging to the division of agriculture will call at the office of Dean A. H. Leidigh. Engineering students may get their copies from Miss Dorothy Rylander in the engineering library. Miss Vivian Johnson will issue Toreadors to home economics students; and arts and science and commerce students may obtain copies in the east lobby of the Administration building.

Ensign Byron Bennett, Lorraine, writes friends on the campus that he has completed indoctrination training at Ft. Schuyler, New York city, and will go to Princeton university for further training. Bennett was an electrical engineering graduate in 1943 and later served as instructor for the ASTP.

Egyptian Flies Halfway 'Round World To Attend Tech; Husband Stationed With AAF In Cairo making her first trip to the United States and was the wife of an officer, he decided that circumstances created a state of emergency, so she was able to get a Pullman for the second night of travel.

Mrs. McKnight is the daughter of a Turkish father and French mother. Her father is engaged in the jewelry business in Cairo where diamonds shipped from Johannesburg are cut. Cairo has become an important center for this trade since the famous Dutch market at Amsterdam has ceased to function due to the British blockade of German-held ports.

Mrs. McKnight's elder brother is a pilot instructor for the Egyptian Air line. A sister's husband works for the American Army base in Cairo and a younger brother is in college there.

Mrs. McKnight began her school career at the age of four and spent seven years in a French Lycee, then six more years in St. Clare's college, Helopolis, and English school. She knows French, English, Arabic, and Italian, explaining that Cairo is a cosmopolitan city where nearly everyone speaks at least two languages. After finishing school she worked two years as a secretary at the Army Base in Cairo. It was here that she met her husband.

The war has had a very serious effect on living conditions in her homeland, she says, to an extent which Americans can hardly realize. Since Egypt has never been a self-sufficient country, both food and clothing have always been imported and are consequently very expensive now. White bread has not been available for more than two years and meat is also very scarce. American-made dresses which can be bought in Lubbock stores for around $15 are worth $60 to $70 in Cairo. The result is that residents of Egypt are much more careful of their wardrobes than Americans.

When the German armies reach ed El Alamein, 40 miles from Cairo, in their attempt to take Egypt from the British, residents of the city were panic stricken. Mrs. McKnight said Jewish people fled either to Palestine or the Sudan, and great was the relief when General Montgomery's troops were able to stop the German advance.

Egypt is learning to be more nearly self-sufficient since war has cut off their source of manufactured goods. Sugar mills, textile mills and other industries have sprung up, partly financed by private capital and partly by government subsidy. However, the quality of materials is still doubtful and most residents prefer imported goods when they are available.

"Egypt produces many goods of great beauty and value, however," says Mrs. McKnight. "Notable are the silver filigree work, beautiful tooled leather, wooden articles with inlay or pearl inlays, and carved ivory objects. These are made mostly for the tourist trade by skilled native craftsmen. Before the war, Egypt exported a great deal of cotton."

Helopolis is an oasis about half an hour's ride from Cairo on the Metro, which from Mrs. McKnight's description, would probably be called an interurban here. There is a modern asphalt highway running through the desert on which no vegetation of any kind grows. Private homes have their own gardens where trees and grass are grown by means of irrigation.

Schools in Egypt have less of a social club atmosphere and professors are much more aloof than here. The courses are heavier and students entering universities must know at least three languages. French is the most popular language since Egypt was under French domination for many years. Boys and girls do not attend the same classes in secondary schools, many of which are Catholic institutions. The government maintains Azhar university for Arab students but there are no free schools as we know them.

Newspapers from all countries and printed in many languages are readily available in Cairo and this encourages the citizens to learn foreign tongues. Political matters are not discussed in the press and Mrs. McKnight expressed surprise that so many Americans are interested in politics.

American food is quite different from that found in Egypt, which is usually highly seasoned, but contrasting tastes are never served in the same course at a meal, as salty and sweet foods.

Sandstorms in Egyptian desert would put to shame anything known in this country, even in the worst of the dust bowl era. Mrs. McKnight states.

When asked about her impression of the United States, she explained that she had written a six-page letter home about them, but found her English vocabulary entirely inadequate to express her feelings. She added that she "liked it."

Tech Pledges Support

WITH the impressive and formal inauguration of President William Marvin Whyburn, Tech has taken another step toward making a place for herself among the leading colleges of America.

Although Dr. Whyburn is the fourth president of Tech, this is the first service of its kind to be held on the campus. At the suggestion of Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president emeritus, arrangements were made for the ceremony which was attended by delegates representing 30 colleges from five states, state and government officials, members of the Tech board of directors and representatives from branches of the armed forces. Many leading educators visited the campus and by their presence helped set the stage for higher academic standards.

Now that the first step has been taken, it is up to us, the students, to lend our support and help our new president attain his goal—that of making Tech a better college.

The friendliness and sincerity of Dr. Whyburn have already won him the admiration and respect of students and faculty alike. He is a human, down-to-earth person, interested in giving Tech students a fuller education and interested in every individual who belongs to the Tech family.

Tech's student body is going to get all the help President Whyburn can give. He has already taken the lead in helping us adjust our educational program to fit the needs of returning veterans as well as the needs of students who are entering college for the first time. He has also taken steps in planning for postwar education.

We Techsians, wish to express our approval, pledge our support and help to him in his new job.—B. D. R.

Saddle Tramps

NEWS that the Saddle Tramps have elected officers and are planning an active revival of their organization sounds good to old time Techsians who remember them as a colorful and enthusiastic section at Tech athletic events.

The Saddle Tramps were originally organized in 1936, when sophomore, junior and senior men were given credit in physical education for membership. The club became inactive in 1939, but was reorganized in 1941 and set an all time record in increased school spirit. It died out again during 1943 and 1944, when so many of the members left school to join the armed forces.

Renewal of the Saddle Tramps now is significant because it marks the beginning of a new phase of Tech's history. We are preparing for peacetime by building a strong school spirit and sense of loyalty that returning veterans can be proud of.

Members of the Saddle Tramps learn all football yells and college songs, and turn out en masse to pep rallies and games, where they circulate among the students to keep fish cheering, and to encourage others. They wear red shirts and sit in a reserved section next to the band at all home athletic contests. Members' dates, who sit with them, usually don red coats or jackets for the occasion.

The reorganization of the Saddle Tramps gives much needed unity to Tech school spirit. It affords all boys except freshmen, who have their own cheering section, an opportunity to support Tech by becoming members of one of the most widely known clubs on the campus. It's not too late to apply for membership by writing to Hugh Rowland, president of the club. There's no better way to back the Raiders in this year's football season; so how about it?—K. P.

As The Saying Goes

MAN'S desire for immortality sometimes exceeds his love for beauty and respect for other people's property. That is why some students leave initials on the walls of college hangouts and in all the fresh concrete poured within walking distance. It explains the delicately carved names of past loves ingrained in college furniture and fixtures. Portraying the thought of the age, crude as the drawings are, the tendency is somewhat parallel to the cave man's desire to leave something for posterity. This man of olden times covered the inside of his cave with scenes which depicted the life of the day.

We, as college students, may take a lesson from the cave man. From the drawings within the cave, historians conclude that they expressed the manner and trends of the age. May the day never come when such a deduction will be made from the drawings on the walls of this college and student activity center.

Resist the urge to dabble in the wet concrete that is being run on our campus and use chalk and pencils for constructive purposes for true to the proverb, "Fools names, like fools faces, always appear in public places."—V. M.

Beauty Election

CANDIDATES for Tech beauties were nominated Tuesday. Were you one of them? The nomination was open to the entire student body; therefore, every coed had the same equal chance just as she will have when she makes her appearance before the judging committee on Oct. 15.

Tech is and always has been a democratic school so far as it is possible for any college to be. The students have their own nominations, elections and run-offs, and every Techsian has the right to participate in these activities.

If someone had enough admiration for you to place your name on the LaVentana beauty list, then by all means the only

HELEN PEMBERTON and HOPE CADE were seen riding around in a convertible Monday night. Who were the dates, girls? It looks like a bad situation when a girl has to call up a freshman for a date.

There are only two ways JIM WANNER can think these days. One is to jazz music, the other is talking out under the moonlight. In the wind last night—DICKY BUCKLES, transfer from A & M, has a speedy Ford car. Girls! Girls! FRANCES CLONNINGER should stay in her room when her date buzzes.

NORMA CLEAVINGER, how are those Johns coming? Isn't it confusing to go with so many Johns?

MONNA LOU STIVERS is wearing a diamond these days—and since CAPTAIN WAYNE SMITH came home from England, too.

Rumor has it that JANE OLIVER has the taffy on Bob Lindsey. HELEN POPE seemed very happy this week after receiving a letter from STORES B. CLOUGH.

To help keep the dorm cheerful this week, BUD WILEY sent ANN COX the most beautiful flowers. We understand that NED McCLESKY and JACK WALDREFF are one for the other and t'other for one these days.

Among the steadies this week are MELBA BUTLER and GERALD HENDERSON.

"WHISTLE" BANKS came 500 miles to see NITA HALE. And was she thrilled?

Questions can be misleading. "Do you like cookies?" asked LANELL KING. And when VICKY MARTIN eagerly answered yes, she said, "Well, come look at my home economic recipes."

No wonder BERNICE NIX was smiling so happily at J. W. Miller, naval air cadet. We hear he's somebody special.

Nothing could worry MONA STOUT now, because Lt. H. S. HUDSON is here on a furlough after being in England.

MARY EASTMAN's temperamental car wouldn't cooperate at all the other night when she and HELEN BRINSON were trying to hurry back to the dorm. It seems it would only go in reverse.

Let's all remember to try out the new sidewalks. Incidentally they made their appearance at a nice time, just before it rained.

Techsians who went to San Antonio to the Tech vs. A&M game last week say they had a wonderful time in spite of the score.

SAM NOLAN and GENELLE PATTY seemed to be having a good time on the Avenue the other night.

LAVERNE HENDERSON is wearing a new engagement ring. H. E. PARKS gave it to her and they say this time it's definitely definite.

MARJORIE STREET had as her week-end guest her sister LOUISE, who is teaching school in Plainview. We heard it was quite a reunion.

Now, the Count wishes to reward any readers who have struggled along with him this far with a choice bit of surrealistic poetry:

I wish I wuz a little fish
I wish I wuz a bass
I'd climb upon the rocks and trees
And slide down on my hands and knees.

The butterfly fish frequently swims backward, so that its tail appears to be its head. If trouble looms, it reverses and swims normally, all speed ahead, bewildering pursuers.

The maximum weight of a football is 15 ounces.

Stay On The Sidewalk!

sportsman like thing to do is appear before this committee of 11 men.

Some may say, "Oh, I don't have a chance. I don't belong to a social club or know the right people."

If you feel this way, then of course you won't get anywhere. The committee selects 32 girls on the basis of their beauty and not because of who they are on the campus or to what club they belong.

True, many of you will appear and not be selected in the final number, but certainly your friends, your classmates and Tech will think a lot more of you if you consider the nomination important enough to make an effort to be on hand when the committee decides "Who's Who" among beauties on Tech campus.—L. Life With The Exes

Richard W. Ragsdale was commissioned an Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve when he graduated recently from the Naval Reserve Midshipman's school at Abbott Hall, Northwestern University.

Sgt. Tom Pat Glass was reported killed in action on New Guinea on August and posthumously awarded the Purple Heart.

Ensign William H. Tinney was recently selected the outstanding officer of his class which was training for amphibious warfare at Landing Craft school, Amphibious Training base, Coronado, Calif. Formerly, Ensign Tinney was an instructor in the dairy department at eTch. He is married and has a son and daughter.

Lt. Henry R. Hastings, USNR, who is a flight instructor at the US Naval Air station, Lake City, Fla. recently received citation "for meritorious achievement in an aerial flight" for a bombing mission over the Northern Kuriles and for recognizing a newly discovered airfield on Central Shimushu.

Marine Capt. William M. Parks has recently been assigned to the Elite Infantry school of the Training command at Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif. He was a graduate of Tech.

Dean A. H. Leidigh received letters this week from three of his former students in the division of agriculture. First Lt. Lewis R. Price had completed 39 missions at the time the letter was written. He met two of his former classmates, Jimmie Qualls, Lubbock and Lt. Cecil Scott, Whiteface, in a hospital somewhere in Italy.

Lt. Bob Collier has been credited with one of the biggest kills yet scored in the offensive sweep of the Kurile islands. "Piloting a Mitchell, he accounted for the sinking of five or perhaps seven Japanese ships, according to a recent news released from Aleutian headquarters.

Jimmy Murchough, Thurman "Pinky" Pinkerton and Henry Luckcock, who were commissioned in Engineer Officer's Candidate school in '43, are now serving somewhere in France.

T/Sgt. Early J. Pelletier, former head of the state seed testing laboratory is now with the Eighth Air Force somewhere in England. He recently received the Airman's medal—three Oak Leaf clusters.

Distinguished Flying cross and the Presidential citation. A radioman and gunner in a Flying Fortress (B-17), he has completed 50 missions over Europe.

Pvt. Dewey E. Wells, ex-Techsian in the division of agriculture, is now stationed at Camp Robinson, Ark. He has been in the Army five months and was transferred from Ft. Sill, Okla.

Miss Ruth Craig, secretary to Dean A. H. Leidigh, received word this week that Lt. E. F. Havran is with a B-17 bombing squadron somewhere in Germany.

Four former Tech students are now living together in the WYCA in Washington Ensign Winifred Wood of the WAVES, Mary Jo Ryan, Sarah Jones and Mary Menon Stangel, occupy rooms there. The latter is connected with the signal corps and the other two are engaged in war work.

Eugenia Harper is in Washington, D. C. and is connected with civil service work. Her brother, Carl Harper, is Regional Attorney for social securities, Atlanta, Ga. Ensign Robert Weddle is on a Navy Patrol yacht somewhere in the Pacific. W. N. Weddle, a brother, is a dairy health inspector at Riverside, Calif. Another brother, Charles Weddle, is a plant breeder with the W. Atlee and Burpee Seed Company at Doylestown, Pa. Two sisters, Erlene and Nora Lee Weddle are ex-Techsians. Erlene is a home demonstration agent at New Madrid, Mo., and Nora Lee is in the Army Nurse's corps somewhere in New Caledonia.

Maj. Carl S. Menger, special services and physical training officer at the Ogden Air Service command, Ogden, Utah, has been ordered transferred to the San Antonio Air Service command at Kelly Field, as was announced by Col. Paul W. Wolf of Hill Field, Ogden. Major Menger was formerly with the physical education department.

Capt. E. G. Owens, jr., who has flown 35 combat missions against the Luftwaffe, received the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf clusters. Captain Owens is now awaiting reassignment at the Army Air Force Redistribution station in Santa Monica, Calif.

Second Lt. William Henry Hatcher has been graduated from the Seventh Basic Aviation Officers class, Marine Corps schools at Quantico, Va. Lieutenant Hatcher is a graduate of Tech. He was formerly engaged as a ground instructor for the 308th Army Air Force Flight Training detachment, Stamford. His wife, the former Patsy Lou Thornberry, resides at Wichita Falls.

Capt. Wilson Ralston has been promoted to the rank of Major at the AAF Central Flying Training Command's advanced pilot school at Eagle Pass Army Air Field, Texas, as announced by Col. John H. Bundy, commanding officer of the Field.

Marine Capt. Elmont G. Honea of Tulsa is conducting courses in diesel and motor vehicle mechanics in the Motor Transport school at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Sgt. David H. Carson, graduate with the degree of Bachelor of Science in animal husbandry, recently graduated from the Aviation Trainer Instructor's course, and advanced Air Forces school at Bryan Field, was made member of the school's "Upper 10 Club." The club includes 10 men from each class having the highest grades for the course.

Toreador Takes Student Poll On Trimester Plan

Since the trimester plan has been considered for Tech, a student poll was taken to see what Techsians think of the idea. Twenty students were asked their opinions of the plan and although there were many different attitudes on the subject, most of them agreed that it was a pretty good idea, at least during wartime and while ex-veterans are catching up on their education.

Students who favor the plan include Billie Anderson and Willy Braxell. P. L. Payne reminds us that other colleges have used the trimester plan successfully. Kathryn Patterson says, "I definitely approve. It enables those who want to work to get through school much sooner."

Troy Davidson, Lela Craddock, Betty Hare, Betty Jane Morris, and Gwen McGuire all agree it would be a good thing as it would speed up getting a degree. Barbara Leonard believes it would be better in the long run than our present school program, and Oscar Lechridge says, "In wartime I think it is the best thing, because the government is urging everybody to finish their education."

Jack Dillon adds, "I think it is a very good plan for war veterans whose education is being paid for by the government," and Mary Eastman gives the general viewpoint of those who favor the plan by saying, "I think it would be a fine idea."

Others said they were satisfied with school as it is now. In this group were J. T. Dunford and Mac Smith. Polly Montgomery admitted that the idea of going to school all year round didn't especially appeal to her.

Maxine Craddock said, "The plan is all right, but I believe it gets students through school too early to accomplish their jobs after graduation."

Wanda Chastain said, "I don't think it is a good idea because students are too young when they graduate as it is."

Virgil Miers added, "I think that the third and added semester takes out some of the college spirit, although it is fine in wartime for those boys who want to finish sooner."

Beavers live together so harmoniously that colonies persist for centuries. One in the Midwest is actually believed to be 1,000 years old.

Red Raiders To Play Oklahoma A & M Tomorrow

Raiders Improved, But Cowboys Tough

WITH their record blemished by two defeats, Texas Tech's much-improved Red Raiders seek revenge and their first win of the season Saturday night at the expense of undefeated Oklahoma A&M, led by highly touted Bob Fenimore.

In losing to the "Whiz Kids" of Texas A&M at San Antonio last Saturday, 27 to 14, the stubborn Men-in-Red proved how far they had come along since the Lubbock Army Air field game the week before.

A pass offensive, of which few people believed the Raiders capable, materialized to throw quite a scare into the Aggies, and at one time Tech was in the lead. However, the Aggies' great manpower and frequent substituting wore the Raiders down and the Farmers were able to come from behind to win the ball game in the last five minutes.

Leading 13 to 0, the petrified Aggies saw their lead evaporate like a soap bubble as Tech's Gene Hardey took to the air lanes in the third quarter.

Hardey, all-state back from Kansas, tossed the pigskin 35 yards to Arthur Shahan for a six-pointer and Walter Schlinkman kicked the extra point. A few minutes later, the Red Raiders took a one point lead when Hardey again threw a touchdown pass to End Don Dudley, with Schlinkman once more booting the ball squarely through the uprights.

However, the Aggies stormed back in the fourth stanza with a ground offensive of their own and scored twice on the exhausted Raiders in the final minutes of the game.

Schlinkman, Hardy, Shahan and Ed Orr played a bangup game for Tech, with the rest of the team showing improvement over their play in the first game of the season against LA&F.

The powerhouse which Oklahoma A&M will bring to Lubbock is a well-rounded outfit starring "bullet Bob" Fenimore, one of the classiest triple-threaters to come out of the Sooner state since the war began to cramp the gridiron style of most colleges.

Fenimore was great as a freshman last year and is greater this year as a sophomore, from all reports. He weighs 188 pounds and plunges, passes and punts in a manner calculated to drive opposing players and coaches crazy with the power he generates in his offensive.

Fenimore was largely responsible for the Oklahoma Aggies' route of Tech in Oklahoma City last year. Tech racked up a two touchdown lead early in that game, but Fenimore came in to toss the ball over the field and defeat the Raiders almost single-handed, 26 to 14.

Along with Fenimore, the Oklahoma Aggies have plenty of weight, experience and football know-how elsewhere in the lineup. The Cowboy backfield will average 185 pounds easily, while the line will tip the scales at well over the 195 mark.

The Aggie prowess is attested by two victories by top-heavy scores—49 to 6 over West Texas State and 19 to 0 over highly-regarded Arkansas.

Two standouts in the line for the Aggies are Neill Armstrong, a 190-pound pass-catcher end, and J. C. Calhauer, 200-pound guard. The big, rugged Cowboy line is reported hard-to-handle.

The Raiders aren't paying too much attention to the tales about the big, bad Cowboys, however. They have been hard at work all week, smoothing out kinks in their offense, brushing up on pass defense and preparing a double dose of poison for the Oldhans.

With payoff passes such as Hardey chunked over the Texas Aggies clicking, the Raiders might be more than an equal match for the Sooner aggregation and Coach Dell Morgan intends to pull every play in the book to put the Raiders on the winning side of the ledger.

1943 Raider Star Plays For Tulane

Tech can bask in reflected glory this season as former Red Raider football stars continue to brighten the gridiron sportsways.

For instance, popular Buster Melton, a Tech grid standout last year, is a top candidate for the powerful Tulane University Green Wave football team.

Buster starred at a fullback post at Tech in 1943 and his passing and punting was instrumental in most of the Red Raider wins.

Tulane fans are reportedly high on his tossing and booting and Buster is a strong contender for a starting backfield post on the Tulane outfit. Tulane Coach Monk Simons earlier this year declared that he had "the best backfield in the nation," but Melton is said to be crowding the starters for a berth in the quartet who will start the game against Notre Dame in South Bend Saturday afternoon. The game will be broadcast over all major networks and is the top game of the day in the entire nation.

In any case, Buster likely will see some action against the Irish, it is reported.

Ed McKeever, another Tech favorite in his backfield days with the Red Raiders, will be coaching the Notre Dame team, taking Coach Frank Leahy's place while Leahy is in the Navy.

Officials for the game include: Referee, C. L. "Stony" Wall (Kansas); umpire, Prentice Walker (NTSTC); head linesman, L. K. Anderson (Oklahoma); and field judge, George Gardner (Southwestern).

Kickoff is at 8:15 P. M.

Probable starting lineups are:

Dillon	72	LE	56	Armstrong
Snodgrass	65	LT	69	Foster
Harper	44	LG	64	Calhauer
Lawhorn	37	C	47	Gattis
Lawson	40	RG	58	Fulk

Murphy	70	RE	46	Moore
Cox	27	QB	54	Watson
Shahan	15	LB	55	Fenimore
Norris	10	RH	44	Hankins
Schlinkman	21	FB	68	Spavital

Ex-Tech Player Now Head Coach At Notre Dame

Ed McKeever's gridiron debut at Texas Tech was as auspicious as his acting head coach role at Notre Dame, says J. Ray Hunt in his article, MCKEEVER IN T O LEAHY'S SHOES, in the October issue of Esquire magazine. He got into his first game as a substitute on the first play of the fourth quarter against Baylor, hauled in a flat pass and ran 35 yards for the winning touchdown. He played right halfback and called signals in his junior and senior years, and did most of the team's passing. During his playing career, Texas Tech won 30 of 35 games.

Now McKeever has taken over the Fighting Irish for the duration while Frank Leahy, the head man of Notre Dame athletics, is on leave of absence, serving as a lieutenant in the United States Navy. It was in the summer of 1938 that McKeever's path first crossed that of Frank Leahy, then line coach at Fordham. They met as instructors in their specialties at the coaching school at Lubbock. From the outset they went together like adjoining pieces of a jigsaw puzzle.

In 1939 Leahy signed as Boston College coach and lost no time in summoning his friend McKeever from Lubbock. Together they were ready for the opportunity as their record of 20 victories in 22 games shows. But if, while wandering through the narrow, twisted streets of Boston in the Spring of 1940, you bumped into an otherwise quite-all-right fellow muttering to himself about "the one that got away," he was a long and lanky kid by the name of Angelo Bertelli.

Everybody in Boston knew about the schoolboy in West Springfield, Massachusetts, who played baseball well enough for the Red Sox to cast longing eyes at him, who played hockey well enough for the Bruins to offer him a contract, who threw a football well enough for a dozen colleges and universities to send him prospect and matriculation blanks.

Bertelli went to Notre Dame and "the one that got away in the New England stream was hooked by McKeever in the Midwest when he came along with Leahy, called by his alma mater to replace Elmer Layden. Bertelli had natural talent for throwing a football. McKeever developed the talent to perfection, and Bertelli became perhaps the greatest forward passer in collegiate history. He was the key to the Irish offense from that September afternoon in 1941 when he completed eleven of fourteen passes to defeat Arizona 38-7 until that October Saturday in 1943 when he threw three times for touchdowns, scored one himself and added two points after touchdown as the Irish romped over the hitherto unbeaten Navy team 33-6 for its sixth straight victory of the season.

When Bertelli joined the United States Marines last November, McKeever had another passer ready to step into his shoes—Johnny Lujack who went from the gridiron to the hardwood court to the cinder path and to the diamond to become the first sophomore in Notre Dame history to win four major monograms in one year.

Last year the Raiders met the Aggies in Taft Stadium again for another defeat, 21 to 13. Co-Captain "Buck" Gillenwater played his last game with the Raiders for the duration that day. Among the Aggies returned the compliments, defeating the Raiders for the first time 9 to 6. The Raiders were suffering from injuries received in the Texas Aggie game the week before, and many of the regular starters were missing from the line up.

In 1942 the Aggies returned the compliments, defeating the Raiders for the first time 9 to 6. The Raiders were suffering from injuries received in the Texas Aggie game the week before, and many of the regular starters were missing from the line up.

Probably the greatest thing that could happen to a football player happened to Bob Hayes last Saturday. Bob, a one year letterman at guard, returned to play against a school that he once attended. He served as co-captain for the game against A&M.

Bob hails from Burk Burnett where he was a four year letterman in basketball as well as football. He played on two regional championship teams and on other invitation teams. At the present Bob has more high school awards than any other football player and also the coveted "Double T" which he earned last year. Bob's greatest thrill last year came when he blocked the kick for extra point which beat SMU to the tune of 7-6.

Harry Alderson, Lubbock, former civil engineering student, is now with the Army engineering corps and is located at Greenville, Pa.

The Sideline--

Saturday night the Red Raiders meet the Oklahoma Aggies for the eighth time. This series of games has always drawn a great amount of interest both here at home and in Oklahoma. In the seven previous games the Raiders have rolled up a total of 81 points to the Aggies 48, defeating them four times, tying with them once, and losing to the Okies twice.

In 1935 the two teams met for their first clash. At this time the Raiders, coached by Pete Cawthon, handed them a decisive 14 to 0 defeat.

In 1936 the Raiders continued the rivalry with the Aggies and again ran over them for two touchdowns. The final score was 12 to 0.

In 1937 the Aggies succeeded in scoring their first touchdown against the Raiders. This mighty Tech team was not to break the precedent however, they trounced the Aggies 14 to 6.

After omitting the Oklahoma team from the schedule for the next few years, the Raiders met them next in 1940. In this game the two teams battled to a 6 to 6 tie.

In 1941 the Raiders traveled up Oklahoma way under the tutelage of Coach Dell Morgan. There in Taft Stadium the Tech team evened up the last year's tie by a 16 to 6 victory.

In 1942 the Aggies returned the compliments, defeating the Raiders for the first time 9 to 6. The Raiders were suffering from injuries received in the Texas Aggie game the week before, and many of the regular starters were missing from the line up.

Officers For Year Announced By Clubs

Several campus clubs have selected officers and appointed committees to serve during the following year. Officers of the College Chorus, Men's Dormitory association, Saddle Tramps, and Texas Tech War Veterans have already been announced in the Toreador. Time and place of meeting are given, if announced. Clubs which have announced officers this fall are:

Chamber of Commerce
The Tech Chamber of Commerce elected P. L. Payne, president; Bill Murfee, vice president; and Charlene Taylor, secretary. Committees appointed were: recreational, Troy Caldwell, Lafara Harbison, Jo Pete May, and Jackie Wilkinson; promotional, members of the commerce division who are on the Student council; creative, Jimmy Williams, Dean Ellsworth, Miss Lucille Robinson, Mrs. Luta Eaves, and Frank Graydon; program, Roy Hall, Mary Wells, Miss Taylor, and P. L. Payne. The club will meet regularly on the second and fourth Thursdays of each month in C101 at 1:10 p.m.

Capa y Espada
Officers chosen to serve Capa y Espada, the Spanish club, are: Jane Watson, president; Doris Clifton, vice president; Doris Clift, secretary; Laura Lou Johnston, treasurer; Anne Hurt, reporter; Nancy Everline, pianist; and Doris Higley, song leader. Professor Eunice J. Gates is the sponsor.

Capa y Espada will meet the first Tuesday of each month at 7:15 p.m. in room 220 of the Administration building.

Alpha Phi Omega
Don Sloan was elected president of Alpha Phi Omega at the first meeting of the fall. Other officers elected were: Jim Wanner, first vice president; Charles Hajek, second vice president; Mack Saied, secretary; and Henry Pederson, treasurer.

Friday night at 7 p.m. has been established as the regular meeting hour. Meetings will be held in the Administration building.

Gargoyle Club
Thirty-seven new members were initiated into the Gargoyle club last Friday night at a meeting held in the Engineering building. Officers who will serve for the year are: Hugh Rowland, president; Luween Putman, vice president; and A. D. Anderson, secretary-treasurer. Plans are being made for a hayride and picnic to be held in the near future at a date to be announced later.

Phi Upsilon Omicron
Norma Cleavinger was elected librarian, and Eula Mae Watson was elected historian of Phi Upsilon Omicron Monday evening to fill vacancies from the spring election. After the business meeting Miss Weeks discussed Phi U standards and plans were made for a book review.

Sock and Buskin
Kidy Cole of Lubbock was elected president of Sock and Buskin at the first meeting of the year Tuesday. Other officers are John Ewing, vice president and Mary Findley, secretary.

Thirty old members were present at the meeting. New members will be initiated at the next meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 17. Applicants for membership are urged to get application blanks and sign up for try-outs. Try-outs will be held Tuesday and Wednesday from 2 to 5 p.m.

Alpha Psi Omega
Newly elected president of Alpha Psi Omega is Jimmy Honson. Joe Woffard will serve as vice president, and Anita Hale was chosen secretary treasurer.

New pledges will be announced soon.
Liederkrantz
Liederkrantz (Song Circle) elected the following officers Tuesday night: Alice Bell, president; Bobby McFarland, vice president; and June Cox, secretary-treasurer. Meetings will be held the first Tuesday of each month at 7:15 p.m., in room 220 of the Administration building. Professor Carl Henninger is the club sponsor.

Aggie Professor Attends Meet

Cecil Ayers, assistant professor of plant industry, attended a meeting of the Texas Water Conservation association in Austin Monday. Discussion of the conservation of the natural resource of water was the main issue. This subject was divided into five divisions of water uses, namely, irrigation, municipalities, industries, rivers and harbors, and navigation.

Each division elected seven officers, making a total of 35. Included among these are Harry Roberts of Lubbock, on the municipalities committee; and Capt. Winfield Holbrook Plainview, who is to represent the irrigation division from this section of the state. Others attending from Lubbock were Messrs. Wesley Read and Durwood Bradley, representing Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. Ayers represented Texas Tech.

dent; Ted Crager, vice president; A. D. Anderson, secretary; Mickie Sweeney, treasurer; Carl Jensen, sentinel; John Ewing, reporter.

Plans have been made for the acceptance of new members and for a social next Friday.

Alpha Epsilon Delta
The honorary pre-med fraternity, Alpha Epsilon Delta, elected officers and initiated new members last week. Officers named were: Donella Bucy, president; Jean Gibbons, vice president; and Myrtle Knoohuizen, secretary.

AIEE
Jack Horton was elected president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers last week. Other officers named were: W. D. Blankenship, vice president; Hollice Pruett, secretary-treasurer; and Jim Wanner, publicity manager. Edward Turrentine, Durwood Corley, Royce Blankenship, and Tony Price were named as program committee for the year.

Future meetings will be held on the first and third Mondays of every month at 7 p.m. in E152.

Press Club
Jane Watson will serve as president of the Press club during the year. Other officers who will serve are: Betty Ricks, vice president; Vicky Martin, secretary; and LaNell King, program chairman.

Future meetings will be held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. Arrangements are being made for a party to be held at 5 o'clock Tuesday in the basement of the Press building, to which all journalism majors will be invited.

Book Reviewers Club
Pat Smith was elected president of the Book Reviewers Club at the first meeting of the year Tuesday. Other officers are: LaNelle Doshier, vice-president; Marjorie Street, secretary, and Merle Johnson, treasurer.

Dean Mary W. Doak gave suggestions to the club and discussed the books that would be reviewed. This year books on the war and conditions in the different countries of the world will be studied to promote a better understanding of our allies and enemies.

The quota of fifty members has not been filled yet, and anyone interested may write a letter to Marjorie Street. The club meets twice a month, and a book review will be given at each meeting.

Film Library Adds War Reels

Tech film library announces the arrival of seven new programs to be used in the Texas War Film program. These programs are: "Brazilian Quartz Goes to War and Atacama Desert," "The Bridge," "Wealth of the Andes," "Housing in Chile," "Young Uruguay" and "Jungle Patrol and Double Duty Dollar." This latter program will be used in the drive for the Sixth War Loan.

"These programs are free," Mrs. Janet McDonald, film librarian, said. "Clubs and individuals will be loaned these films anytime they make a request for them."

The picture, "Jungle Patrol and Double Duty Dollar" depicts the life and action the men in the service, and their experiences in jungle fighting on the South Sea islands. These special Government programs have been a feature of the film library service for the last two years, and will be continued for the duration, according to Mrs. McDonald.

WRA Organize Athletic Program; Volleyball And Basketball Featured

You may not be Patty Berg, Esther Williams or Babe Didrikson, but if you are a sports-loving coed, you will see plenty of action as a member of the WRA recreational teams. These teams have been organized from interested girls to play in a tournament, but more players are needed for additional teams and to complete present ones. Be sure to show up for volleyball Tuesday afternoon from 5 to 6 o'clock and for basketball Friday afternoon from 5 to 8 o'clock.

If you prefer dancing, graceful waltzing or fancy-free jitterbugging, gather at the gymnasium Wednesday night from 7:15 to 8:15. An admission of 9 cents is charged for dancing which is open to all students, male and female.

Speech Clinic To Stress Improved Voice Qualities

Anyone with a speech difficulty is invited to attend the speech clinic which will meet Thursday for the first time this year. Hereafter meetings will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. each Thursday in room 205 of the Administration building. The clinic is open to everyone without charge regardless of age. Individual help is given to each pupil.

In the past persons hindered with indistinct enunciation, such as lisping and baby talk, poor voice quality, learning the English language, cleft palates, poor hearing, studdering, stammering, spastic paralysis, and faulty breathing, have been aided.

Tech's speech clinic, one of the few in the Southwest, has been helping persons with speech problems since 1934.

Annual Howdy Party Given Band Girls

Tau Beta Sigma gave its annual "Howdy" party for band girls last Thursday, at the home of Emma Gene Tunn, 2206 Brdwy. Table games were the source of entertainment. Name tags were blue music notes with the names printed in white ink, in keeping with the club colors. Refreshments were served to the 38 girls.

Ensign R. L. Lindsey, former ASTP instructor and civil engineering graduate in 1941, was a recent visitor on the campus. Lindsey has just completed his indoctrination course at Hollywood, Fla., and will go to New York city for assignment.

Mrs. J. N. Michie has been asked to serve on the nomination committee of Texas Home Economics association for this year.

Senning Heads War Veterans

Club May Sponsor Memorial Stadium

Charles Senning was elected commander of the War Veterans association for the third time. Other officers who were elected at the meeting Monday night are: Hugh Rowland, vice commander; Billy Sams, secretary; Wiley Braswell, finance officer; and Bill Kennedy, chaplain.

The club members discussed sponsoring the construction of a memorial stadium for Tech. After the last war the veterans of Texas university raised money for a stadium there, and Tech veterans see no reason why they couldn't contribute funds to build a much needed stadium for Tech.

They decided to hold club meetings on the second and fourth Mondays of each month, and discussed plans for a club party. There are 55 members in the organization now.

HE Club Initiates New Members

New Home Economics club members were initiated and old memberships renewed in the candle-light ceremony Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 8:30 in annex G of the Home Economics building. Seven members, each carrying a candle, represented the Seven Lights of the Home. Each of the candle-bearers gave a talk before having her candle lighted by Club President Margaret Leonard. Others who participated in the ceremony were La Nell Doshier, vice president; Margaret Hiatt, secretary; Margaret Leggett, treasurer. Each initiation candle was lighted as members with lighted candles walked down the aisle.

Following the initiation ceremony there was a business meeting, at which club council representatives were elected as follows: Frankie Cummings, freshman; Betty Boulter, sophomore; Veda Nell Pierce, junior; Betty Huckabee, senior. Sara Anderson was elected AWS representative.

AWS Sponsors Big-Sister Little-Sister Dance

AWS is sponsoring a Big Sister-Little Sister dance Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the gym. All freshmen girls who attend the dance will have 10 o'clock privileges. Features of the entertainment will be the introduction of all club presidents and a tumbling act by Polly Utz of WRA. Refreshments will be served afterwards.

Raiders on this season's team that saw action in that game is Don Dudley, end from Wichita Falls.

This year the Raiders are suffering little from the Texas Aggie game of last week, so are apt to show the Oklahomans a good game. The starting gun will sound in Tech Stadium at 8:15, all you old Tech boys and girls turn out and really yell for that team.

Speaking of yelling, the Saddle Tramps will be there as always. It is still doubtful whether their red shirts will be in for this game, but if not they are sure to be here in time for the next home game.

Last Saturday the Red Raiders scored against the Texas Aggies for the first time since 1927. There is no doubt but what we would have beaten them if the game had been played in our accustomed altitude. Six good fish were on hand to ring the Victory Bells, and I know of several upperclassmen who would gladly have rung them themselves. There will be another Bell Committee appointed this week, let's all hope we'll hear those bells ring out Saturday night.
