

Jury List For Ruby Still Short

DALLAS (AP) — Jack Ruby's murder trial jury still was short two members Monday after a wild day of outbreaks in and out of court. One defense lawyer was fined $25 for contempt and a mistrial motion was denied.

Two women and eight men thus far have been sworn in to try Ruby for the shooting Nov. 24 of Lee Harvey Oswald, President Kennedy's accused assassin. The trial began Feb. 17.

149 QUESTIONED

By the end of the day, a total of 149 prospective jurors had been questioned. Most of them were disqualified for legal reasons by the court. The case resumes Tuesday.

TEMPERS ROSE in the steamy courtroom with the thermometer, which hit a mid-afternoon high of about 90 degrees.

The mistrial motion, which would have forced a new beginning of the already lengthy trial, was made by the defense because of literature distributed outside the courtroom. The pamphlets denied that psychomotor epilepsy could be a factor in the 52-year-old Ruby's shooting of Oswald.

The heart of Ruby's defense is that he suffers from psychomotor epilepsy which was triggered into a blackout state of temporary insanity by Ruby's shock at President Kennedy's assassination.

BELLI SAYS MISTRIAL

Ruby's chief defense attorney, Melvin Belli, made a formal motion for a mistrial after a wild shouting scene in Judge Joe B. Brown's chambers during a recess.

THE LAWYERS claimed that the pamphlets, intended as guide material for newsmen covering the trial, also were being distributed to prospective jurors.

Judge Brown turned down the motion, and told Belli:

"None of the prospective jurors received any of these pamphlets."

DISTRIBUTED BY OFFICIAL

The literature was distributed in the courthouse by an official from Chicago of the National Epilepsy League Inc. It purported to be a defense of 1.8 million Americans who suffer epilepsy and who might be falsely depicted by trial testimony as menaces to society.

BELLI, USUALLY sartorially immaculate, wound up the day with his steel-gray hair mussed, his tie askew and his shirt collar open.

Band Finalists Compete For Sweetheart Crown

The 1964 Texas Tech Band Sweetheart will be crowned today during halftime activities at the Tech-Rice basketball game in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

THE THREE finalists are Barbara Sperberg, Odessa; Pat Martin, Hale Center; and Carole Brashear of Petersburg.

SELECTED BY BAND

The finalists were selected after balloting by members of the Tech Band.

Miss Sperberg of 2803 Eastover, Odessa, is a 19-year-old junior majoring in music education. She is a member of Phi Mu, social sorority; Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's organization; first vice president of Tau Beta Sigma, honorary band sorority; Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music sorority; and Junior Council, junior women's honorary organization.

MISS MARTIN of Hale Center is a 19-year-old junior majoring in elementary education. She is a member of Tau Beta Sigma, honorary band sorority.

Miss Brashear of Petersburg is a 19-year-old junior majoring in home economics. She is a Tech majorette.

Formby On Retreat . . .

BSO RETREAT SPEAKER — Clint Formby, 1949 president of the Tech student body, makes a case for responsible student leadership in this keynote address to more than 100 student leaders during the annual Board of Student Organizations' retreat at Santa Fe, N.M. Formby urged the delegates to evaluate their organization's goals and to set new goals to make Texas Tech a greater university.

Houston Coed Named Tech's Best Dressed

Susan Manning, Houston junior, was named Tech's "Best Dressed" woman student Saturday night.

Selected from a group of 30 fashion-minded coeds, Miss Manning will be featured in the Mademoiselle section of La Ventana, and will automatically be entered in "Glamour" magazine's Ten Best Dressed College Girls contest.

Pat Hamilton was master of ceremonies for the contest. Contestants modeled in three outfit divisions — casual campus wear, dressy off-campus ensemble and formal evening attire.

Other participants in the contest included Donna Lawson, Linda Pharr, Karen Harrison, Molly Torrans, Linda Loehman, Kay Eudy, Camella Moore, Kathy Merkt, Shell Dougherty, and Judy Kay Fite.

Also entered were Sharon Bogan, Janita Kinard, Mary Beth Diers, Susie Halsey, Sharron Reynolds, Nan Taylor, Dee Dee Drury, Harriett Maxey, Sugie Gayle, Cindy Branch, Orphie Parrish, Jan Weaver, Lyn Waggoner, Holly Hunt, Suzanne Hightower, Julie Parkinson, Michele Stephens, Kay Thompson, and Marilyn Mingus.

Ex Speaks On Retreat

By BRONSON HAVARD
Toreador News Editor

A "strange harmony" on the Tech campus was cited in the keynote address of Clint Formby at the annual Board of Student Organizations' Leadership retreat.

More than 100 student leaders are back on campus today after the weekend trip to Santa Fe, N.M., where they discussed current campus problems.

TELLS OF VISIT

Formby, who was president of the Tech student body in 1949, told the delegates, "I enjoyed visiting the Tech campus last week and talking with various campus leaders and visiting several organizations . . . Everywhere I went I tried to ask this question: What's your problem . . . having any difficulties this year?"

"WITHOUT EXCEPTION, I was told that there are no great problems on the Tech campus, everything is going fine," Formby said.

He continued, "If things are going fine, everyone is happy and harmony prevails, am I to assume that this is your goal for the year? Is harmony your sense of achievement?"

"Surely, with 12,000 students and over 160 organizations harmony is desired, in fact it is a must, but I can't imagine that it would be your only goal or that you would not experience problems."

THIRD NOT MEMBERS

"Not one student mentioned to me that one third of the students on the Tech campus do not belong to a personal organization. Perhaps this isn't a problem. There may be 4,000 students that are either disinterested, need the time to study or must use their time for work; but this thought is worthy of mention at least," Formby added.

THE STUDENT leaders also heard Formby cite another possible campus problem — "Are you making definite efforts to integrate the younger students into campus life and leadership?"

Formby then asked, "Do you encourage excellence at all times in your organization and do you speak out on vital subjects?"

The former student leader said he thought student leadership at Tech was improving and had accomplished much since he was a student.

During the retreat the delegates were broken into small discussion groups. Key points of the discussion were the need for better communications and co-ordination among student organizations, the need for asserting greater student leadership and initiative into new Tech projects and the problems in creating a university atmosphere.

Journalists Will Hear Panel Talk

Theta Sigma Phi and Sigma Delta Chi, journalism honoraries, will present a panel discussion on "Press Prejudice" at a joint meeting Saturday.

The meeting, open to all students will feature, as members of the panel, W. G. Garets, Journalism Dept. head; Dr. Nimmo, of the Govt. Dept.; Bill Hams, Avalanche-Journal night side city editor; and C. W. Ratliff, of KCBK.

The discussion of press position in an election year will follow a Union lunch and should last until about 2 p.m., according to Travis Peterson, president of Sigma Delta Chi.

The meeting will be at noon, in the Mesa Room of the Tech Union. Those who wish to eat the 75 cents lunch should sign up on the list on the bulletin board in the lobby of the Journalism Bldg.

Cotton Maid To Tour Campus

KATY SUE MEREDITH

Miss Katy Sue Meredith, the 1964 National Maid of Cotton, will visit the Tech campus tonight and Wednesday.

Miss Meredith will make an appearance at the halftime of the Tech-Rice game tonight where she will be presented an honorary citizenship certificate by Lubbock Mayor Jack Strong. Miss Meredith will also crown the 1963 Texas Tech Band Sweetheart.

The Cotton Maid will be taken on a short tour of the campus from 2 to 3 p.m. Wednesday including stops at the museum and library. She will be honoree at a tea sponsored by the AWS in the lobby of Dorms 6 and 7. All women students are invited.

While in Lubbock, Miss Meredith will be featured with her all-cotton wardrobe in a fashion show sponsored by a Lubbock department store. The fashion show will be Wednesday night in the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

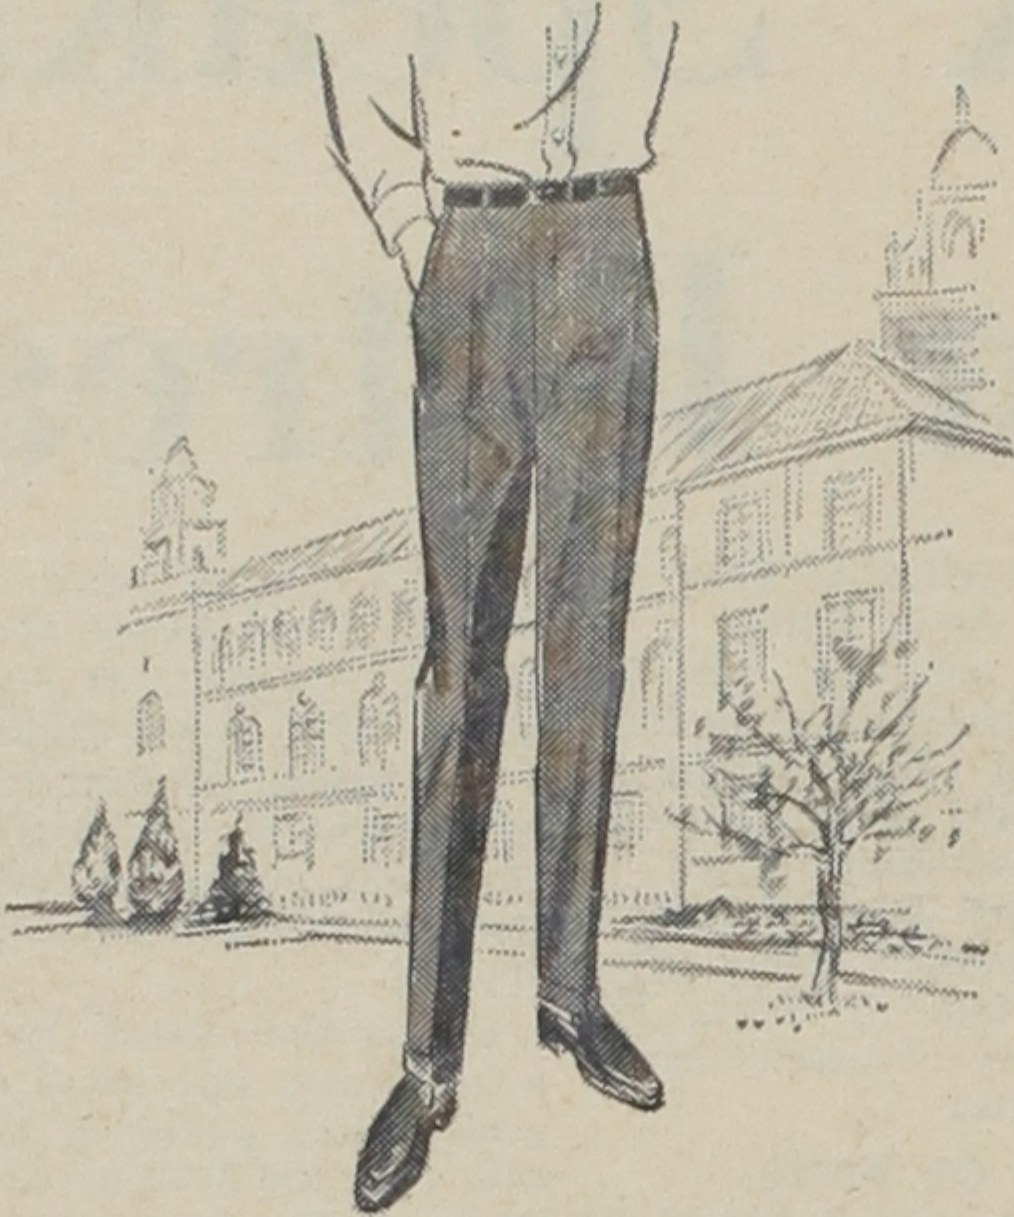

The beauty was chosen from 20 finalists in the annual Maid of Cotton pageant in Memphis, Tenn. The Maid of Cotton is chosen annually to serve as fashion and goodwill ambassador for the American cotton industry.

After winning the national title, Miss Meredith appeared at the Cotton Bowl game in Dallas and then flew to New York where she spent a month preparing for her national and international tours.

How About That . . .

By LANE CROCKETT

Have you ever wondered what books would be like if the personalities of the day (those which periodically appear on newspapers' front pages) wrote them all?

This in itself gives rise to great speculations. This column will endeavor to interpret for you what might have been. Let's call it "That Was The Book That Was."

RASH OF BIOGRAPHIES

1963 saw a rash of personal biography best-sellers. Perhaps the most successful was that of Liz

Taylor, beautiful screen star, entitled "Love With the Proper Stranger." Not to be outdone, another of the screen favorites gave forth with his biography — it was that instantaneous smash "Does It Make Into A Bed" by Richard Burton.

BOBBY BAKER, Washington personality, entered the writer's circle with at favorite "How to Win Friends and Influence People." Also, from the capital came the moving novel by Richard Nixon called "The Power of Positive Thinking."

"Mirror, Mirror On the Wall" by Barry Goldwater and "The Conscience of a Conservative" by Adlai Stevenson made their bids for the best-selling charts.

The sports world turned in two of the year's better novels — "After the Fall" by Sonny Liston, fighting personality, and "The Once and Future King" by Cassius Clay.

IS HISTORICAL FICTION

In the realm of historical fiction there was the long-time best-seller by Gary Powers entitled "The Spy Who Came in From the Cold."

ALONG WITH the Powers novel, was the controversial book by Manuel DeBusk—"The Group."

Christine Keeler, English beauty, hit both the British and American charts with her autobiography "Love's Labour Lost." Along with Miss Keeler's candid memoirs were those of Dallasite Jack Ruby—"My Life in Court," much like his earlier hit "Vengeance is Mine."

Another courtroom drama was that of Henry Wade called "I, the Jury."

COLLEGIATES PICK

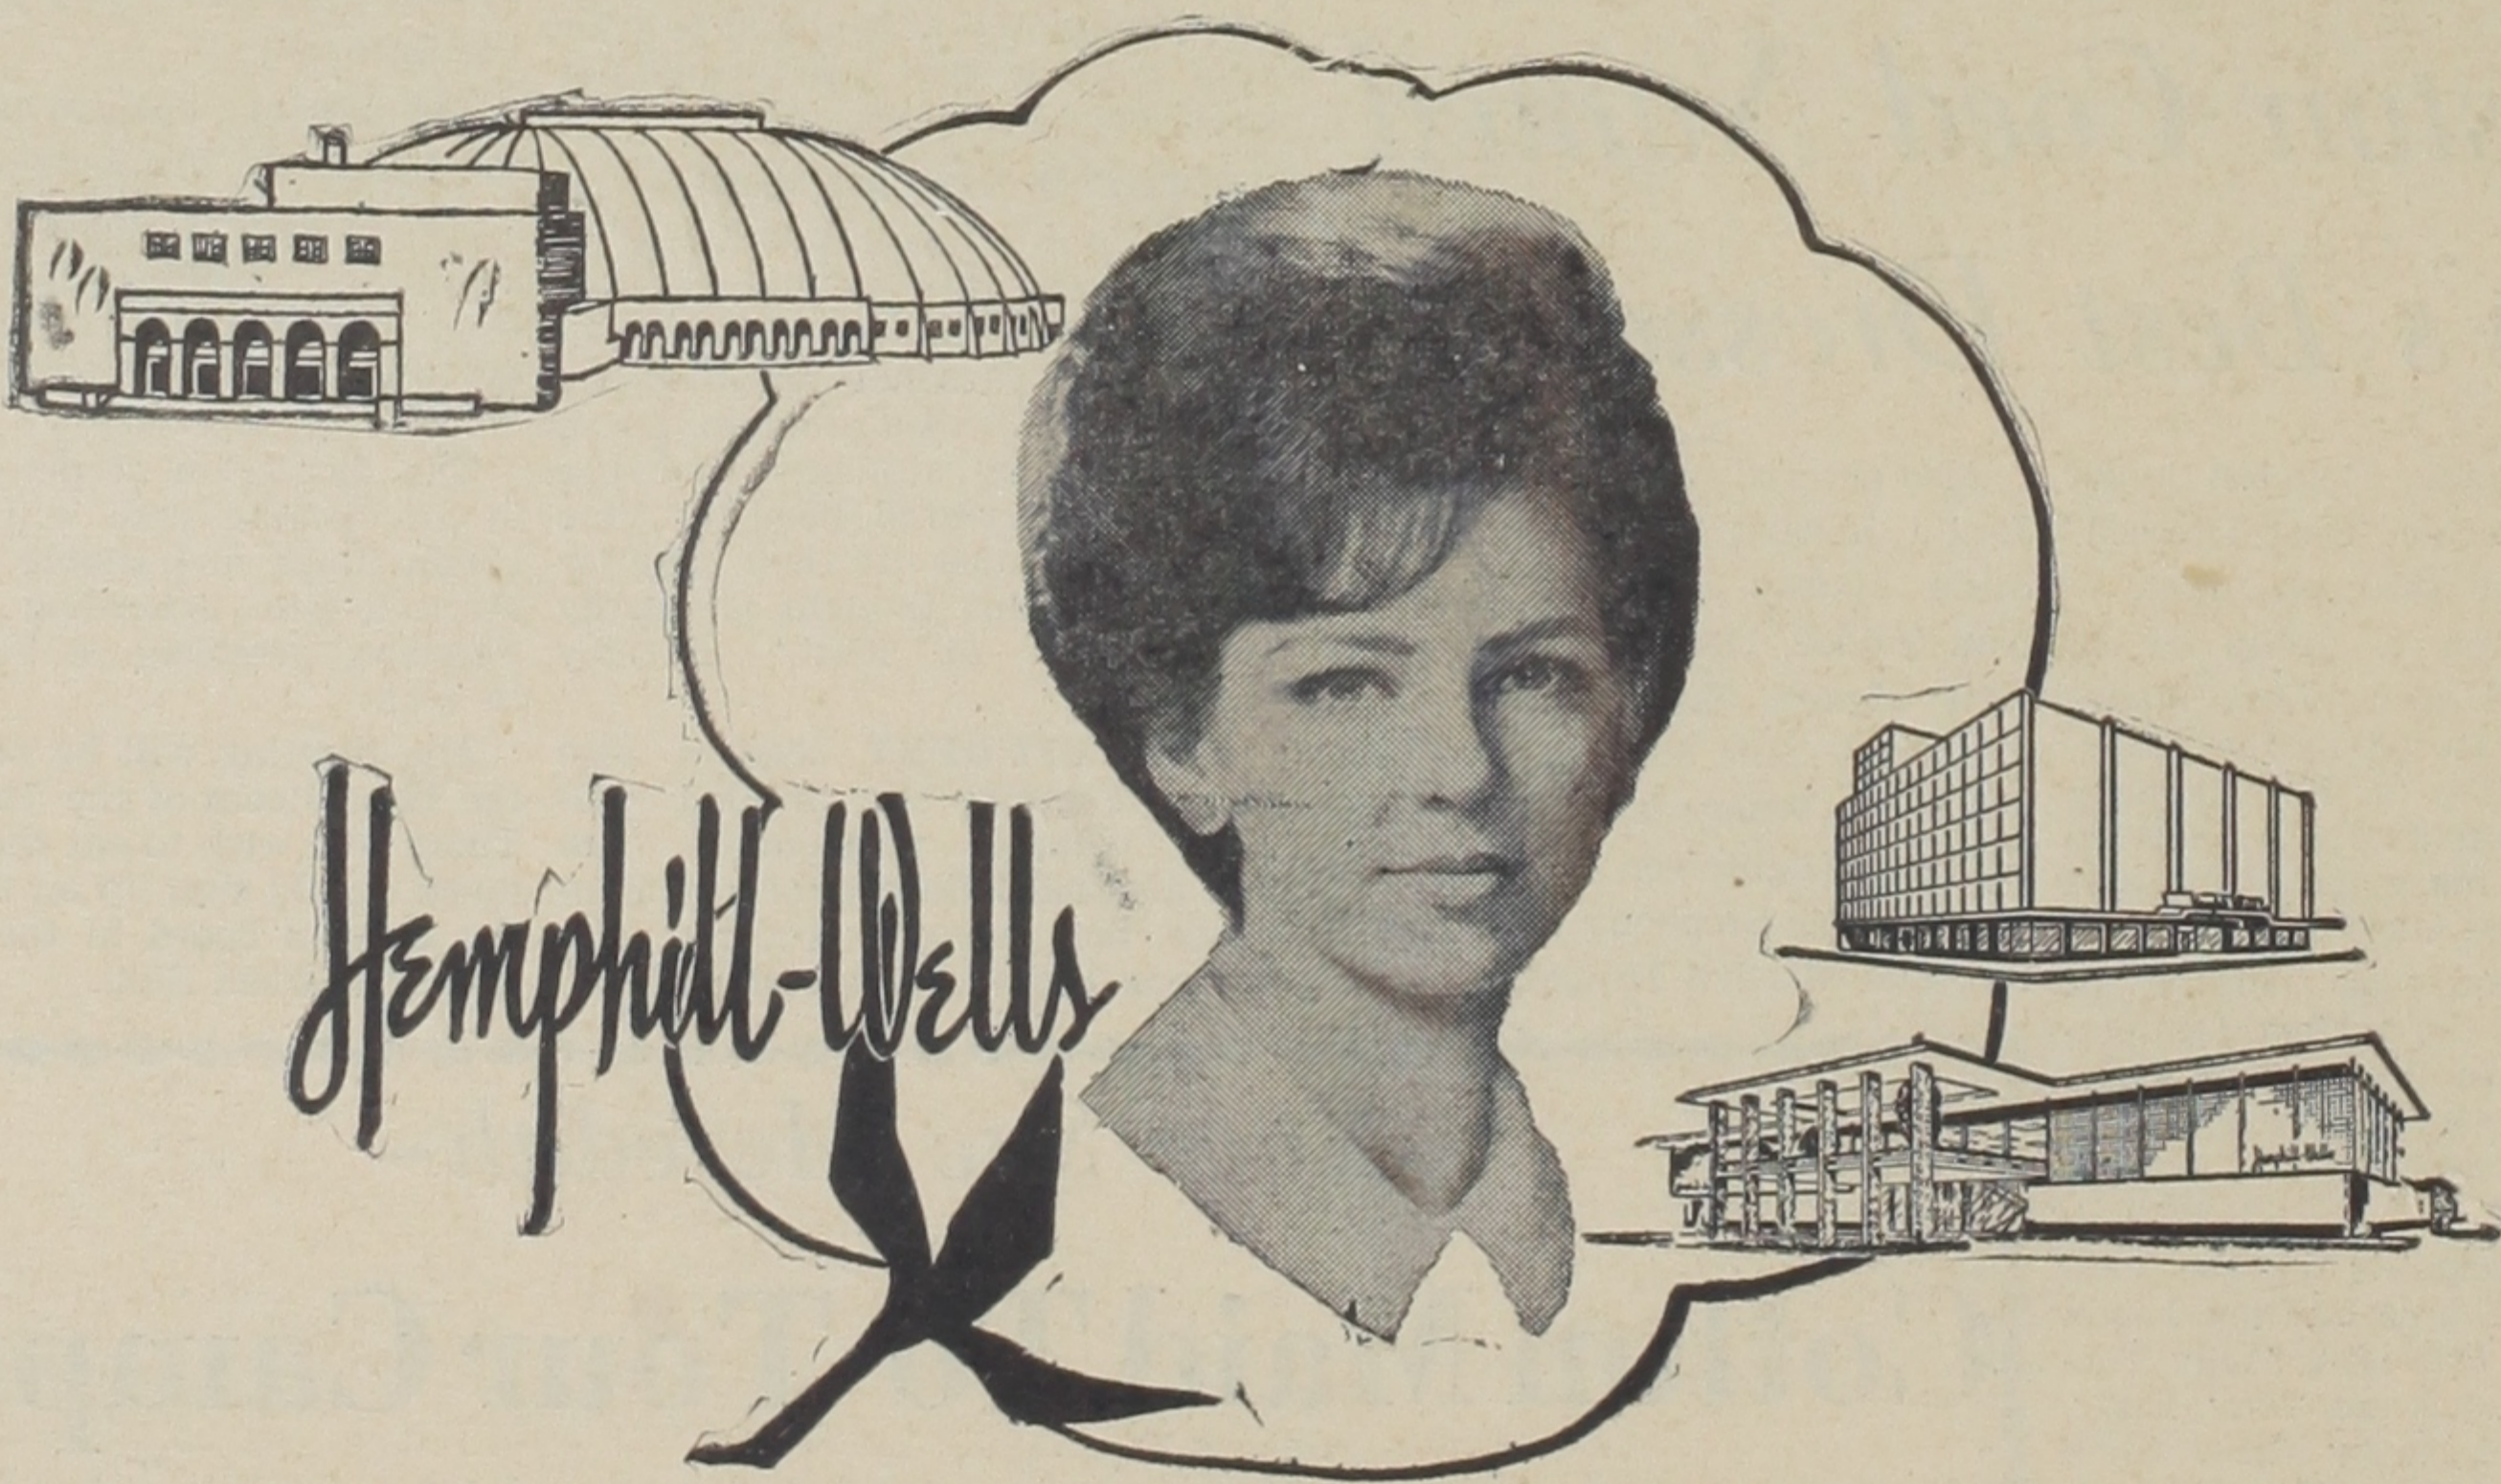

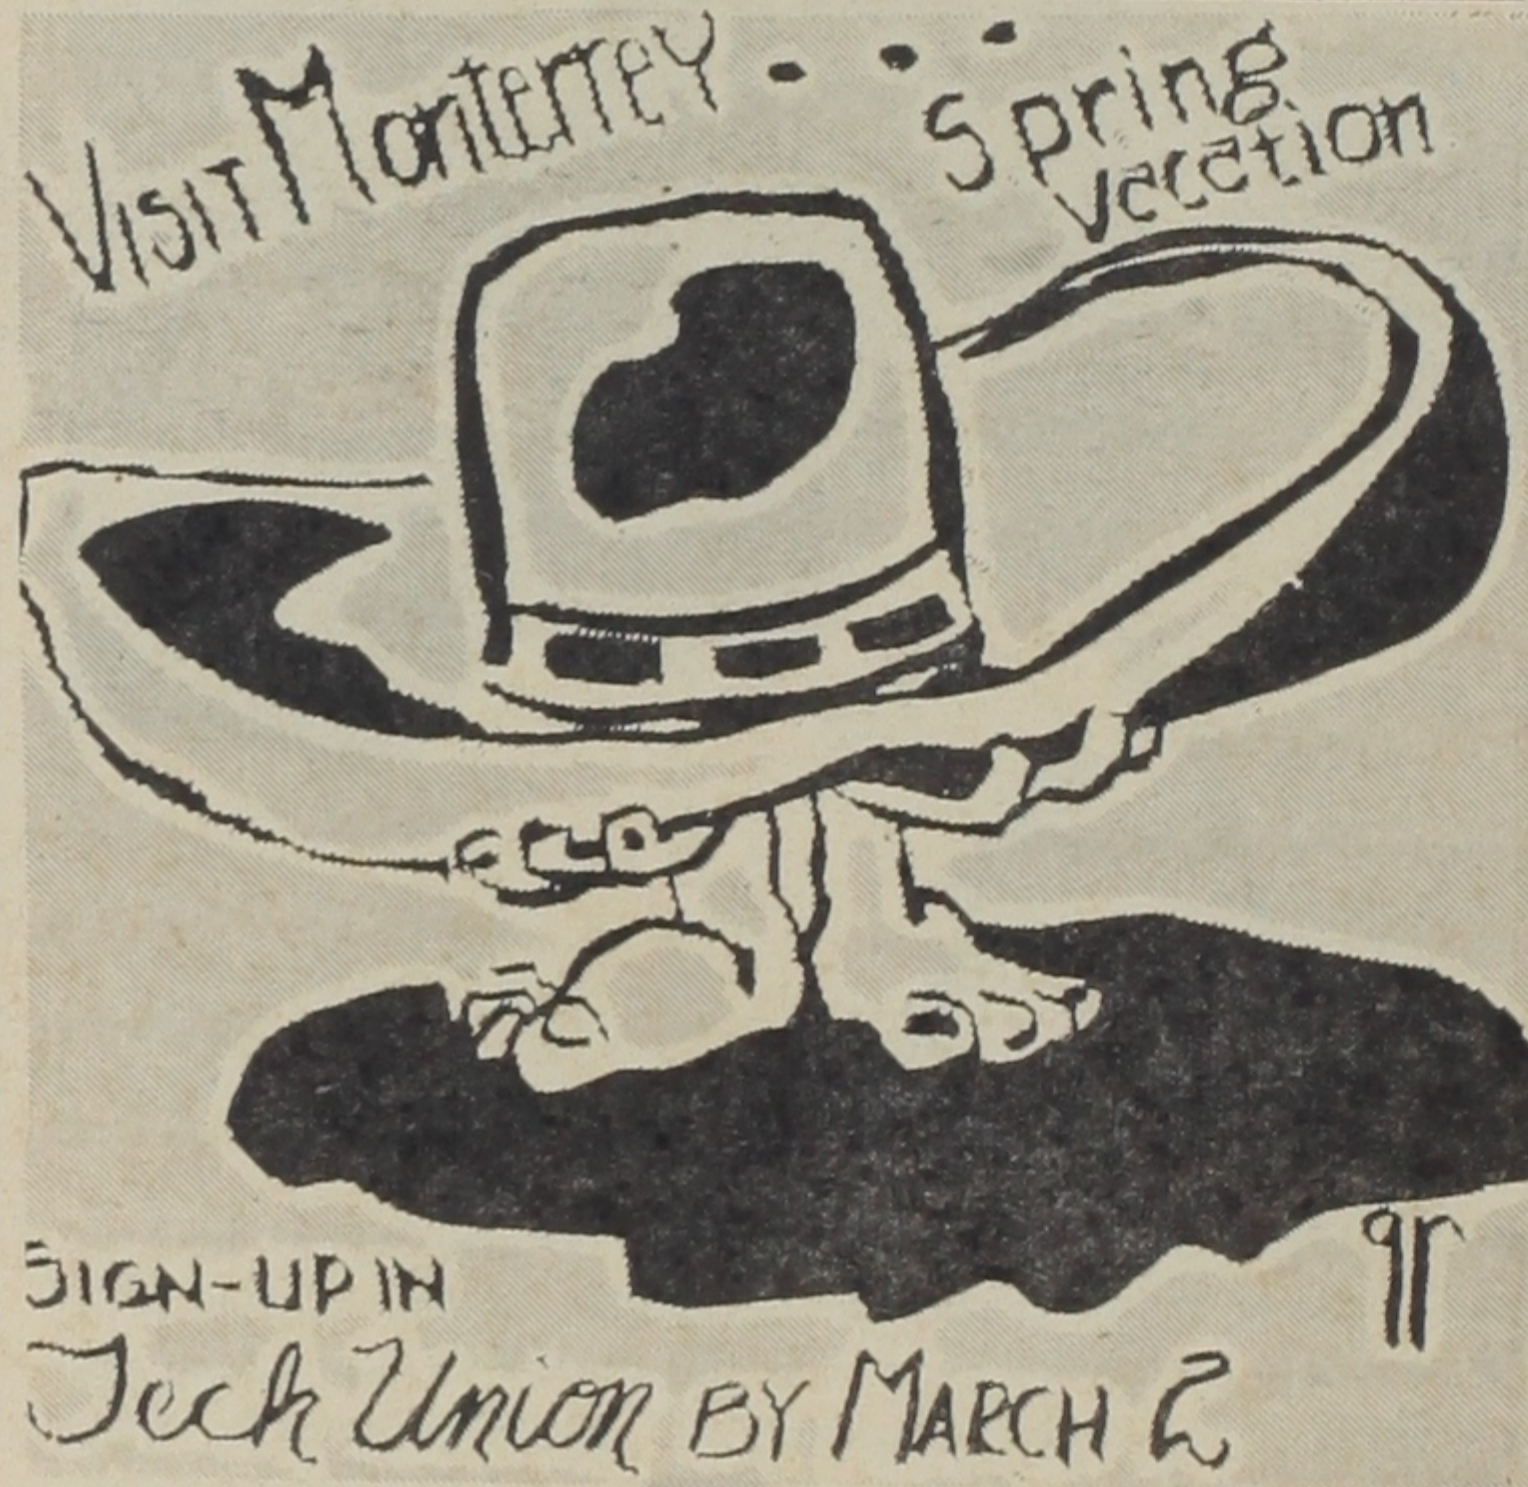

In college circles, two of the most widely read novels were "Winter of Our Discontent" by Tech Student Council and "Please Don't Eat the Daisies" by Elo Urbanovsky.

MARGARET CHASE Smith, a leading Republican, came out with her 1963 hit "The Long Wait." Also, in the political vein was the Democratic success "The Fun House" by Lyndon Johnson.

Our own state of Texas turned in one of the year's successes by the Texas Legislature "All's Well That Ends Well."

On the international scale was the novel by Ludwig Erhard — "West Side Story." And from the Kremlin came the long-selling novel by Nikita Khrushchev "The Snake Has All the Lines."

That was the year that was—1963, and wasn't it a swinger!

Peace Corps Bill Gets Senate O.K.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed by voice vote Monday a bill authorizing a $115-million expenditure to finance an expansion of the Peace Corps during the fiscal year starting July 1.

The measure was passed with little debate in a nearly empty chamber on a routine call of the Senate calendar. The House is expected to act today or Wednesday.

The $115-million authorization, which is subject to a later appropriation to provide the actual money, contemplates an expansion of the Peace Corps from the present 7,300 to 14,000 volunteers sometime in 1965.

Education Board Raises Standards

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Education approved higher standards in the training of school administrators and teachers.

The board adopted an estimate of $555 million for the 1964-65 foundation school program. Of this, local school districts would pay for $111 million. The total estimated cost was the same as the 1963-64 estimate.

Chairman W. W. Jackson of San Antonio called the changes in the requirements for teachers' graduate work, professional teachers' certificates and the school administrator's certificates "one of the most significant things the board has done in some time."

U.N. Receives 4 Applications

The Model U.N. Steering Committee announced Monday that applications had been received from four candidates for president of the General Assembly.

The four candidates who had their applications in are Jan Justice, John Moeser, Habib Jam and Tommy Watt.

The presidential election will be at 7 p.m. Wednesday, when all delegates will meet together to select the president.

Resolutions from the delegations must be turned in to the Program Office by 5 p.m. Thursday.

The Steering Committee also decided that the South African delegation should be allowed a long position paper. Because of its unique position, South Africa will be considered separate from the Western bloc of nations for the presentation of position papers.

The committee announced that Philip Deane, director of the United Nations Information Service, will speak before the Assembly Saturday morning, March 14, but he will not be able to be present for the Model U.N. banquet Saturday evening.

Committee Seeks Help In Student Recruiting

The Student Council Academic Recruiting Committee is looking for students interested in recruiting high school graduates during spring vacation for the academic program at Tech.

Jerry Gibson, head of the committee, announced that a meeting of interested persons will be held Thursday at 7 p.m. in room 260 in the Administration Bldg.

TECH'S ACADEMIC recruiting program was, until last year, centered primarily around extending invitations to high school honor societies to visit the campus.

This year a visitation program will be continued. Techsians will be speaking to students from their home town high school during spring vacation.

An orientation program will prepare the recruiter for his talks with high school students, according to Gibson.

LETTERS OF introduction have already been sent to Texas high school principals, asking them for cooperation in the visitation program. The committee is making plans for high schools in nearly every metropolitan area of the state to be visited by one or more Tech students.

Each volunteer will visit his home town high school during the holidays and speak to honor societies, science clubs and other special academic groups — as well as individual seniors — on the advantages of attending Texas Tech.

Gibson said that the object of the Student Council-sponsored program is to attract the "better" student — not just more students — to Tech.

WRECKAGE FOUND

TAHOE VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — A helicopter Monday found the wreckage of a big airliner strewn over a snowy peak where 81 passengers and four crew members crashed to their deaths.

Beauty, Beast Named At Saturday Dance

Lynne Holmgreen and Ken Fritz were named "Beauty and the Beast" at the dance sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega in the Tech Union Saturday night.

MISS HOLMGREEN, a freshman elementary education major from San Antonio, was sponsored by Wells Hall. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha.

Fritz was sponsored by Zeta Tau Alpha. He is a senior industrial management major from Lubbock and a member of Kappa Alpha.

THE WINNERS were chosen from a field of 10 contestants, six beasts and four beauties. Other contestants were Carole Brashear, Dixie Thomas, Carole Barnes, Clark Pfluger, Wells Teague, Roger Camp, Sid Wall and Harold Denney.

Votes were cast by students for a penny apiece. Proceeds, which amounted to more than $300, will go to the fountain entrance fund.

MOST PREFER NON-FICTION

Upsurge In Reading Noted By Lubbock Booksellers

By BETTY LINN NOLL
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

A cloak of generality shrouds the reader of the printed word, and not even the bookseller can identify his customer.

"Everybody reads, it doesn't matter much what their vocation is," said one Lubbock book salesman. "I can't even tell you what type person reads what type book."

But there are some general observations on which both booksellers and librarians in the Hub City agree. The book - reader prefers non-fiction over fiction and he is reading more than ever before.

"At Texas Tech 15 years ago the average student borrowed four books a year," said R. C. Janeway, Tech librarian. "Last year the figure was 16 books per student." Janeway estimated that reading among Tech students had increased some 400 per cent.

The increase in reading and buying among the general public is also apparent but, as City Librarian George Sandy said, "I don't know whether people are reading more or more people are reading."

The explosion in paperback books is credited with part of the increase, and television has stimulated reading to some degree, according to several book book salesmen and librarians.

"A lot of people who could never afford to read before are now given the opportunity with the coming of paperbacks," one salesman said. "Almost any book can now be found in paperback."

Those interviewed agreed that television played a part in the increase, but not all agreed on what the effect of television was. Some say certain programs popularize certain books. Others say the public is getting tired of television and is now turning its attention toward the printed word.

Aware Of World Events
Sandy pointed out, "People are more aware of world events and events in out - of - the - way places than they were 10 years ago," he said.

Most agree that movies help sales to some extent because people enjoy reading a book from which a movie was made, such as "Hud," "Horseman Pass By" "Lawrence of Arabia" and "To Kill a Mockingbird."

No one thing can be credited with the increase in sales and reading, but both are definitely increasing.

Just exactly what this growing reading public is borrowing or buying with their dimes and dollars is as big a mystery as why he is buying.

Waits For Paperback
He reads the best sellers, but much of the time he waits until the best sellers come out in paperback form. He reads classics, books about religion, biographies, poetry, westerns, scientific books and technical books. In this city of two colleges he also reads text books . . . or at least, he buys them.

And while he's buying, he doesn't always choose the most inexpensive path to reading. Paperbacks have flooded the market, but sales in hardbacks haven't shown a great decline with the birth of this more economical sister.

"A person who wants a hardback will buy a hardback anyway," said one book merchant. And he who made this observation also noted that many people will buy a hardback for their libraries after reading the same book in paperback form.

True, it matters not what your vocation, the book you want may be found among our large, complete selections from leading publishers and by outstanding authors.

← Paperbacks are what you want? In the more popular titles? Then, your choice again will be found here, where perhaps more than 4500 titles are easily accessible.

← Books in these categories are among our best selections — and there are others like history, government, humor, interior decorating, food recipes and numerous contemporary titles.

People who are buying the types of books mentioned in this article are already among our favorite customers. Wouldn't you like to join this "reading" group?

FROSH PLAY SEASON'S LAST GAME

Raiders Meet Rice In Last Home Tilt

By MIKE WALL
Toreador Sports Editor

The Texas Tech Red Raiders host the Rice Owls for the Raiders' last home game of the 1963-64 season, with five Raider players making their final appearance before the home folks.

Only starter to be lost from Tech squad will be Tom Patty from Carlsbad, N. M., but two other regulars will be lost along with two reserves.

Bill "Bones" Murren from Atlantic City, N. J., who started for Tech at the beginning of the season and who was a regular starter last year, will be making his last appearance.

Murren has collected 150 points in the 20 games in which he has appeared this year and leads the Raiders in field goal percentage, hitting over 55 per cent of his attempts from the floor.

ANOTHER TECH regular to be seen no more by the home fans will be Sid Wall from Dallas. Wall was the second high Tech scorer last year, but has seen only limited action this year due to a knee injury for which he underwent surgery this last summer.

Two Lubbock players will also be lost from the Tech lineup after this season. Mike Gooden, a graduate of Lubbock Monterey, and Mike Farley of Lubbock High will be making their last appearance in a Raider uniform in Municipal Coliseum.

Farley was Tech's sixth man last season, but has seen able to get into only seven games this season, the same number of games in which Gooden has seen action. Gooden was also a regular last year, taking high point honors for the Raiders in one game, collecting 22 against UCLA.

PATTY IS currently the third high Raider scorer, hitting for a 13.3 season mean and collecting 127 rebounds. He has also been high point man for the Raiders in three Tech victories.

Patty was a member of the first Tech SWC championship team in 1961 but was red-shirted the next season and didn't break back into the Raiders lineup until the spring semester last season.

Rice brings to the game a memory of an upset 61-60 victory over the Raiders in the two teams first outing in Houston and the SWC's leading point-getter in the form of 6-10 Kendall Rhine.

RHINE IS sailing along with a 25 point average and is one of the most feared rebounders in the Conference.

Other probable starters for the Owls will be Larry Phillips, 6-6, 13.7 points per game, Herb Steincamp, 6-1, 9.1; Barry Rodrigue, 6-1, 6.3; and Don Siegmund, 6-7, 3.7.

Coach Gene Gibson will go with his usual starting five of Dub Malaise, 5-11, 18.8; Harold Denney, 6-8, 18.3; Tom Patty, 6-5, 14.3, Norman Reuther, 6-4, 13.7; and Glen Hallum, 6-5, 10.3.

Denney set a new season high for the Raiders with the 33 points collected against Arkansas and overtook Malaise for the season scoring record with 363 to 336 for Malaise. Malaise still leads the 6-8 junior in SWC play, however, collecting 225 points to Denney's 220.

The Raiders cinched a tie for second place in the SWC with the Arkansas win, while the Owls are tied with SMU and Texas for the third place position, all three teams boosting a 6-5 record.

IN THE FRESHMAN contest preceding the varsity tilt, Coach Charlie Lynch's Picadors play a return match with the Rice freshman in their last game of the season.

Friday, Bob Glover lead the freshman to their first victory over the West Texas State freshman in Canyon since 1960 and their second win over the Buffs this year.

The Pics beat the Rice frosh earlier in the season on their home court, 85-77.
