

New Stadium Will Not Be Completed For 1947 Season

Bids Give October First As Early Completion Date Jennings Said Wednesday

Texas Tech will not have a new football stadium for the 1947 season, nor were definite even the cost and date of completion decided after Tech Foundation opened bids from 10 contractors Wednesday. Foundation directors will meet again Thursday, March 6, to further discuss the problem, according to Dr. Clifford B. Jones, chairman of the board of directors.

Minimum time posted for completion was 210 days, or about the first of October if construction is started immediately. That date would permit all home games to be played in the stadium, but the contractor offering that date did not offer the low cost bid.

Low bid was $502,000 submitted by Mid-west Old Construction company of Dallas. Even with elimination of items such as paved parking, sidewalks, street paving, heating, plumbing and electrical working, the company lowered its estimates only $100,000, still $102,000 more than original estimated cost. Mid-west asked 365 days for completion of its work.

"Some how or another, this stadium will be built," declared Dr. Clifford B. Jones, chairman of the board of directors of Tech Foundation. "We aren't giving up hope that the cost can be pared considerably in revision of plans and elimination of certain phases of the construction."

The foundation's directors and the stadium committee, composed of local business men, continued consultations Wednesday with architects and engineers in the hope a way could be found to lower cost and speed building. They were considering the excavation of the playing field along the line of the Cotton Bowl in Dallas so as to reduce the cost of structural support of the lower supporting sections of the stands.

Efforts to build a stadium for Tech were started last year when Jones pledged purchase of $100,000 in interest-bearing bonds, eventually to be willed to the college. West Texas grid fans raised $150,000 and the Tech board of directors provided $50,000. Funds were subscribed last fall, but only last month did the Civilian Production Administration give its approval.

Whether an effort will be made to raise more funds or pare the cost of the stadium as now planned was to be decided at a later date, according to Morley Jennings, Tech athletic director.

Museum Receives Bone Collection From Abilene Man

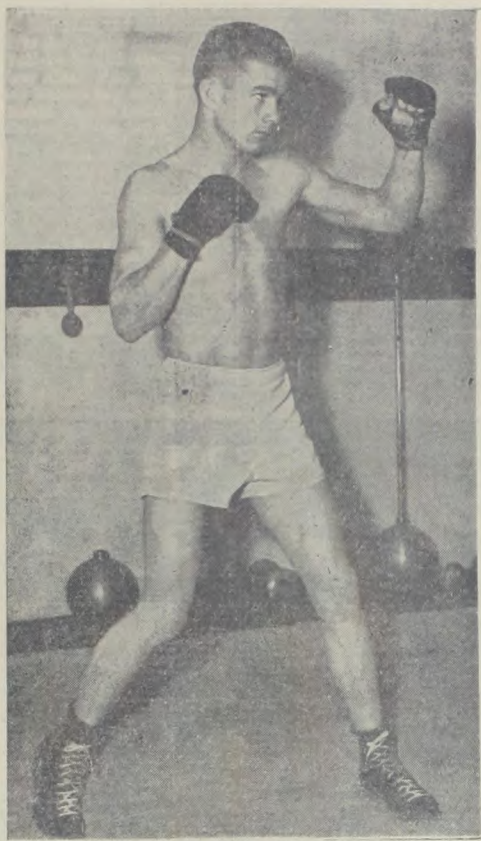

The archeological collection of Dr. Cyrus N. Ray of Abilene, representing a comprehensive complex of the culture of the prehistoric Abilene Man, has been presented to the West Texas Museum at Texas Technological College, it has been announced by Dr. W. C. Holden, museum director.

The collection, probably the most scientifically valuable of its kind in the state, will be used principally for research work, with only a small portion of the collection on display, Dr. Holden stated. Specimens of the collection will remain on exhibit in the Museum of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, in Abilene.

Dr. Ray became interested in archeology in 1926 as the result of discoveries at Folsom, New Mexico, where beautifully made projectile points were found associated with the bones of an extinct species of bison. Dr. Ray reasoned that if evidence of such a man could be found in New Mexico, it might also be found in the Abilene region.

He began a search for such evidence in the banks of gullies, canyons and streams of the area and accumulated evidence that man has existed in Central Texas since the late Pleistocene era. Sometime ago Dr. Ray decided that his collection should go to some institution which could assure its permanent maintenance. He presented the collection to Tech in order that it might be kept in the state of its origin.

ROOT SPEAKS
"Teaching in the Atomic Age," was the subject of an address delivered Wednesday night by T. C. Root, assistant to the president and dean of the division of commerce. The address was made to members of the Home County Teacher's Association at a banquet held in Plainview. He will also speak at a meeting of the coaching association to be held in Big Spring tomorrow night.

BIL HENDERSON

Bill Henderson Loses Torrid Quarterfinal

Techsans Tom Adams, Gene James Defeated In First Chicago Fights

Battlin' Bill Henderson was finally stopped. The Texas Tech sophomore from Levelland was the victim of Connie Stamps, Kansas City, Mo., Negro, who won by a technical knock-out Wednesday in the first round of the Chicago quarterfinals in Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions.

For Henderson, it was the first defeat in his ring career—15 fights. He had fought only four times previous to the Lubbock District Golden Gloves tournament. He took three wins here, four at Dallas, and had belted out three victories in Chicago before falling under the onslaught of Stamps.

Tom Adams, freshman from Brownfield, lost his first fight at Chicago Tuesday night to John Tucker of Columbus, Ohio. Adams, a light heavyweight, staggered his opponent near the end of the second round, but the ball stopped him from following up his momentary advantage. The third round was all Adams', but Tucker had won the first round and was ahead in the second until the Tech freshman player hurt him with a hard right.

Gene James, former Techsan, was also defeated in his first fight as R. W. Martin, Indiana Golden Gloves Champion, outpointed him. The Lubbock heavyweight made a fight of it over the route, but his ring-wise opponent managed to garner enough points throughout the three rounds to eke out a close nod by the judges.

James had entered the Lubbock district fights, and had advanced to the finals before J. D. Kirkpatrick of Petersburg defeated him. Kirkpatrick won his fight in Dallas, but Golden Gloves officials refused to permit him to continue fighting because of a hand injury. James, after losing here, went along with several other local losers to Clovis, and there entered the New Mexico Golden Gloves Championship. James copped that tourney and continued on to Chicago under New Mexico colors.

Henderson had taken one win in Lubbock by TKO, one in Dallas by the same route, and had belted the Columbus, Ohio, champion for a second round knock-out in the Tech slugger's first Chicago fight. In later bouts, Bill decided the Moline, Ill., champ and Grover Masterson, the star of the Nashville, Tenn., squad who was favored to cop the flyweight division.

Henderson has been under the tutelage of Bert Kahn, local trainer, since last fall. Kahn taught the Levelland boy the ways of the ring and made him pull his weight down from about 140 to 126, light enough to get among the flyweights. Kahn accompanied Henderson to Dallas and was in his corner there, but had no hope of attending Bill in Chicago until Levelland fans chipped in money to send Kahn with the Texas fighter. The Lubbock trainer was in Chicago for two nights, but illness in his family called him back to Lubbock and he missed Henderson's final fight.

Famous Rubinoff To Play for Tech Students March 6

Convocation Committee To Sponsor Half Hour Program In Tech Gym

David Rubinoff, famous Russian violinist, will be presented by the Convocation committee in a 30 minute program in the gym Thursday, March 6, from 9:15 until 9:45. Rubinoff's performance at Tech is through the courtesy of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Kiwanis Club, under whose sponsorship he is being brought to Lubbock.

Rubinoff will present a concert at Lubbock High school auditorium Thursday, March 6 at 8 p. m. Tickets for the concert are priced at $2.40, $1.80, $1.20, and may be purchased at the Adair Music company, South Plains Music company and the Woody Tire company, according to Travis Key, promotion chairman for the concert.

Rubinoff and his violin, long a favorite American combination, are well known to millions both from his current concert appearances, nationwide radio broadcasts with Eddie Cantor, and his motion picture engagements. A conductor and composer of note, the popular maestro has retained unanimous public approval through his constant rendition of selections the 1946-47 tour is heralded as a concert "in tune with the times."

The American press praises Rubinoff's genius. The Chicago Tribune expresses his rendition of Chopin's Polonaise as "breath-taking." The Los Angeles Examiner states that the Rubinoff version of Warsaw Concerto was "thrilling." The famed musician will bring here for his concert the fabulous Stradivarius violin which, insured for $100,000, is reputed to possess the most beautiful tonal qualities in the entire world; and a brand new program of famous favorites loved by the American people, such as Warsaw Concerto, Chopin's Polonaise, Debussy's Clair de Lune, and Beethoven's Rhapsody in Blue. He also plays "Don't Fence Me In" in nine different styles.

Tech Teams Enter Debate Contest

Seventy-nine debate teams from 26 colleges represented Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Louisiana and Kansas in the Baylor Forensic Tournament in Waco February 21 and 22. The teams debated the international collegiate debate question. Resolved, that labor should be given a direct share in the management of industry.

South eastern College, Durant, Oklahoma, senior men's team taking part in its sixth tournament with no defeats, won the senior men's debate, while the senior women's title was won by North Texas Teachers College at Denton.

Three teams represent Tech at the tournament, each winning one debate. The tournament was the first Tech has entered this year. Plans are being made to enter a tournament March 7 and 8 in Durant, Oklahoma, which is the biggest tournament in the southwest, according to Annah Joe Pendleton, head of the Speech Department.

Tech Beautifiers Are At Work

By HALCYON POLLARD
Toreador Staff Writer

So you think you've lost your 50c? So you think the Campus Beautification Program is all a hoax? Tell you what they're going to do!

Mammy's little baby may be eating shortening bread without the use of teeth if, some fine day while hurrying to class, he stumbles over the wire cable that is to be laid along College Avenue. The cable's purpose is to encourage, if not impel, students to use the corners for crossing the street. Later, trimmed hedges will replace the cables. Cables, it seems, get along beautifully without the use of water; hedges do not. Any right-thinking philanthropist who wishes to contribute a sprinkling system to the cause will be remembered always.

Texas Tech's wandering boy will wander back to the old Alma Mater next Homecoming, aided and abetted by the permanent lighting system in the Tower. The lighting system will be bright and beaming, not the dim lights that even the motns shunned.

Approximately $1800 is still in the Campus Beautification fund, said Jim Humphries, chairman of the Program. Any other suggestions for the use of the money will be appreciated and used.

Western V. S. Theme Selected For 1947

Dorothy Carmack, Terry Sanders Cast In King-McDonald Script

"Law West of College Avenue" by Mary King and Sarah McDonald has been chosen as the script for the 1947 Varsity Show, according to Jamie Trainer, general director. The show will be presented April 15-17, in the High school auditorium.

Dorothy Carmack will play the part of exotic Belle Moon, the sultry singer who adds glamor and gaiety to the "Roaring '47," setting of the show. Rascal Red, an ex-Double T toughie, will be played by handsome and talented Terry Sanders, a new sensation on Tech campus. These are the only characters who have definitely been chosen, Trainer announced.

"There are several parts still open in the show. We need more male dancers. If you are interested, or know anyone who is, please contact any of the directors or report to the Varsity Show rehearsal and extended tryouts in the Aggie Auditorium Sunday afternoon at one o'clock," Trainer stated. Stage manager and assistant will be Richard Dickey and Claude Burrus. Directors previously announced are: Joan Cabtree and Mary Francis Brashears, dramatists; Buddy Sprague and Jimmy Carter, dance; Jessie Day, music; Jack Cooper and Roy Grimes, lighting; Virgil Miers, Bea Green, and Joe Meador, publicity managers; Bob Watson, program chairman; Hoyle Moss, art; Wesley Hamilton, business manager; Elizabeth Schmidt, set designer.

Costume and make-up directors have not been chosen, Trainer stated. "There will be a Variety Show call board in the foyer of the Ad building on which names and rehearsal hours will be posted. All students who were at tryouts, please watch this board," Trainer said.

The rest of the cast will be announced in next week's Toreador.

Athletic Council Gives Dell Morgan Confidence Vote

Full support of head football coach Dell Morgan was given by the Athletic Council Friday in the fifth of a series of meetings held last week. The announcement of its action ended a week-long "oust Morgan" campaign which was spearheaded by anonymously sponsored petitions asking Student Body President Troy Davidson to request that the proper authorities take action to remove our football coach.

A seven-point statement released by W. L. Stangel, chairman of the Athletic council, read:

1. We are convinced that conditions are abnormal and unprecedented on athletic fields throughout the nation.
2. We appreciate that Texas Tech played the hardest football schedule in her history from the standpoint of competition and length of schedule. This was naturally trying on both coaches and players, resulting in undue tension.
3. The record of Coach Morgan during the war period was commendable and highly satisfactory. The 1946 record, with eight wins and three losses, was the third best in Texas.
4. We find perfect unanimity and cooperation among members of the coaching staff.
5. While there has been dissatisfaction expressed by some individuals of the football squad, we do not believe it will be carried over into the 1947 season.
6. A petition addressed to the president of the student body requesting the removal of the head football coach was presented to the Athletic Council by Elmer Hargrove, student member of the council at the request of the student body president. This petition was considered and evaluated by the council.
7. The information obtained does not justify a recommendation for the removal of Head Football J. O. Morgan.

The petitions, with about 670 student signatures, began circulating while Morgan was in Fort Worth with the Lubbock Golden Gloves team. The council heard complaints of students and interviewed members of the football squad and coaching staff during his absence. Morgan met with the council on his return and the report of approval was released the following day.

Diamond Lectures To Be Delivered

Gladys Babson Hannaford, noted lecturer on diamonds, will speak to Tech students on March 4 and 5. She will discuss the history of the diamond, methods of mining, and the art of diamond cutting, which became an important American industry during the war. Her lectures will be illustrated by screen pictures which will tell the story of the diamond from the time it is mined to the finished gem or the industrial diamond tool.

Mrs. Hannaford is an authority on lore and traditions of diamonds, and she has a fund of stories about the diamond in history and literature. Through work with cutters and dealers she has had extensive first-hand experience with diamonds, including some of the most famous gems in the world. Her exhibits contain replicas of the Cullinan, the largest diamond ever found, the Koh-i-noor, the Hope and other historic stones.

There will be three lectures at the college, Tuesday, March 4, at 9:00 a. m. Mrs. Hannaford will speak to Home economics students in HE 102. The other two lectures will be given to a group of engineering students in RE 208 on Mar. 4 at 4 p. m. and on Mar. 5 at 3 p. m. Visitors are invited to attend the lectures in the engineering building. There will be no admission charge.

Petition Flops, Morgan Stays

And another good petition bit the dust! The athletic council after a conference with Morgan decided that there was nothing to the student unrest on the campus that concerns the coaching.

Whoever or whatever was circulating the petitions have zipped their lips and blown away with the dust, so far as the students are concerned, and Techsams are settling down to the conviction that administrators at Tech are against the students, and that our next football season will have no better team and school spirit than our last.

The Toreador feels that either the matter should be settled between the students and the Board of Directors of the college or it should be forgotten. The present feeling of resignation and smouldering disapproval is discouraging.

The persons who passed out petitions, if they have anything to back themselves up with, should come out in the open right now and carry their fight to the Board.

If these people were merely trouble mongers who ended up holding their own petitions, they should retire and try to do what they can to smooth over the breach between the students and the coaches.

Until some definite stand is taken by the students who think there is need for a change, we will consider the matter dropped, and the sooner it is forgotten the better.

Seniors Face Sheepskin Crisis

The peoples of the world will eventually be divided as sheep and goat nations, the Good Book tells us. But some of the graduating seniors seem to be the goat already, and all because of the skin of the sheep.

Since we are not a graduating senior, the matter of $3.75 (price of a leather booklet with sheepskin diploma) has no personal influence. Perhaps for that reason we are qualified to consider both sides of the question impartially.

First, it is to be sincerely appreciated that President Whyburn and the college administration were concerned about providing Tech graduates with a diploma that will last a lifetime. Purchasing Agent S. T. Cummings went to a great deal of trouble to locate this scarce material for the traditional diploma. And we are sure that the engraving company did us a favor by offering its supply to Techsams, because the world-wide sheepskin shortage is not a mere fantasy. Personally, we would like to have a sheepskin diploma.

But the weight of evidence seems to be on the other side of the question.

The principles of democracy are involved in this dispute. The Pollard-Fee Bill was passed by the state legislature to prevent state school graduates from being required to pay for their diplomas which, in days past, cost from $10 to $25. It is true that the letter of the law is not being violated if the seniors vote to buy diplomas. But, considering the spirit and intent of the law, we believe this to be exactly the sort of situation that bill proposed to eliminate.

Graduating seniors were told that the class would have to be in unanimous agreement on the purchase of sheepskins in order to make the undertaking worthwhile for the engraving company. The vote taken at the called meeting Feb. 4 was not unanimous. Even if it had been, what about the vast majority of seniors not present at the meeting? A minority can't vote $3.75 out of the pockets of the rest of the class. The question of taxation without representation is not unheard of in our country's history, nor is it accepted by the unrepresented.

The possibility of a unanimous vote either way at the meeting next Tuesday seems unlikely—nay, impossible! Theoretically, perhaps, all the graduates should go along with the majority, in the democratic manner. And perhaps a majority will vote to buy sheepskins. But what about those who are simply not going to hand over the pecuniary consideration, no matter how the votes go? Call them obstinate, or say they are standing up for their beliefs; the fact of their existence is enough. The existence of some on the campus who can't afford three meals a day is something that the well-fed don't like to think about, but that, too, is a fact—and some of them are graduating seniors. What about them?—W. L.

The Know

By TWO WHO DO

The Music Makers: Kappa Kappa Psi made a good move by sponsoring KARL HANSEN and his band in the Friday night concert. SUE SON was all glamour in a low, black dress and DEAN BAKER hit a new high with the low down when he laid 'em in the aisles with "St. James Infirmary" . . . With RAYBURN JONES at the organ and the chorus making with the hymns, even the dirty old gym took on a go-to-meetin' look during a religious emphasis week. DR. BLITZ took a bow at the last convocation, but we can't remember whether it was when DR. SMITH made the crack about the music Prof. or the one about the woodpecker and the bald head . . . VIC WILLIAMS' arrangement of that song about the door has, shall we say, a unique approach to the subject matter. Hub, Richard? . . . And while the concert is still on our mind the drummer boy, made it worth the price of admission. If we had a column two weeks long, we'd tell you about JACK BOONE, his trombone, and the rest of the boys. We will say that they sure make music good.

Sounds In The Night: CABOT DYSART with his Chloe routine—looking for CARMACK at the reserve officers' dance . . . BUDDY SPRAGUE clapping his hands as he crossed the circle—figuring out the beat for a Varsity Show dance . . . Chalk freezing on the sidewalk as College Club and Silver Key pledges marked their weary way like a lot of bad little boys around the circle, up and down the avenue, and all over the campus.

Home Life: ABELL, WALL and WATSON were almost ex-inmates of Sneed when the dietitian had to be on the wall at 4:30 p. m. for a little peace and quiet . . . NORA FAYE LONG was out in the hall at Drain Hall the other day, having a few.

The Women: BEA KEELING carries a torch for WALT SCHLINKMAN . . . Did FRANCES SENTELL and CILE MOORE have a hair pulling over HOWARD AXTON or was there just a slight misunderstanding? . . . FRANCES KING believes in the woman's right to change her mind when it comes to GEORGE SCHULTZ and JEEP JARRETT. . . Two gals visited JOE TERRY JACKSON last week end and all was confusion. (Isdale was all excited over the rumor that the home town was being attacked by the Mexicans. Where did you say you were from, MARJORIE?)

The Bells Again: JUNE BUSSMAN and DON CORNELIUS will be married but soon . . . March 7 is the happy day for BETTY McDONALD and DON BROOKS . . . RUSS GILL and JOY ROARK have set the date for June.

BMOC: TED WHITE was chosen outstanding Socel of the year. COTTON NELSON was trouble shooter for the telephone company one night last week. At least he was having a lot of trouble with one of their feminine employees.

Hawkins To Study Course At TCU

Jack V. Hawkins, sophomore student and local representative of State Reserve Life Insurance company has been selected to study a special course in "Life Insurance Marketing" at Texas Christian University beginning March 10, according to information yesterday by C. N. Kennon, South Plains Agency manager.

Hawkins was chosen for this course by S. H. Weatherford, president of the company, for an outstanding production record in the local agency for the past several months.

"Through the facilities of this course," Weatherford commented, "the agent is qualified to continue his career as a skilled professional basis. The life underwriter is indoctrinated with the desire to render a better service and to work in such a manner as to bring credit to the Life Insurance profession."

After satisfactory completion of the extended course, Hawkins plans to return to Tech where he will finish work on a degree in the Division of Commerce.

Many a woman thinks she bought a gown for a ridiculous price when in reality she bought it for an absurd figure.

Caught With Our Crest Down: Believe it or not, Texas Tech has no standard crest at this time. Although, all Tech crests seen are similar in places, none of them are exactly alike. For comparison, look at the crests on the senior rings purchased from the College Bookstore an dthose on the rings from the Varsity Bookstore. But have cheer, for already President Whyburn has discovered the fact, and has declared that something will be done about it in the near future.

Back To The Good Ole' Days: One of the men's social clubs are now making plans to have their own house sometime this spring. Frat houses have been absent from the college scene since 1943.

We Ain't Intellectual, Either: The age-old problem of some Tech talent not having a C average has arisen early in this year's Varsity show. The man that Tech directors had decided upon as the male lead does not have the required average.

What! No Hips?: This past week we've been checking some figures on the campus and the result is the following statistical data. The 16 Tech beauties have the following average measurements: weight, 115 pounds; height, 5 feet, 5 inches; bust, 33.3 inches; waist, 22.8 inches; thigh, 18.9 inches; and calf, 13.5 inches.

Gotta Date Tonight, Professor?: We know of at least two people on the campus who will welcome the news that as far as we can find out, there is no official law in this college stating that teachers and students can not "fraternize." One official commenting upon it, said,

Journalism Reading Room

The Iona Hutchinson Reading Room on the second floor of the Journalism building will be opened soon with a large selection of magazines, periodicals, and newspapers, says Cecil Horne, head of the Department of Journalism.

The reading room is named in the honor of Mrs. J. T. Hutchinson whose donation will finance the material needed.

"Our instructors may do anything, as long as it will not bring discredit to the college."

The Males Dood It Again: For once, it seems, women have finished a thin gland the men have finished it—in proper style. A prominent example on the campus nowadays is bridge. Most of us can remember when bridge was mostly a woman's game, and played atrociously. But meanwhile, men have found the game interesting, and are literally beating the heck out of the fairer sex in games every day on the campus. For those young ladies whose mascara will practically fall off upon reading this, we might add—look at Hoyle and Culberson. (P. S. To the Women: Don't try anything—the Toreador has furnished us with a body-guard for the remainder of this week.)

Setting a blistering pace throughout 40 thrill-packed minutes of basketball, the Red Raiders uncorked every trick in the bag to unseat the high-flying U. of Arizona Wildcats 61-49 to the roaring approval of a capacity crowd in the Tech gym Feb. 21.

Starting off at a brisk pace the two teams matched basket for basket until the closing minutes of the first period when a brief scoring spurt put the Arizona quintet out in front 24-21 at half time.

Big Don Grove, Raider center, unleashed a one-man scoring exhibition in the opening minutes of the second half to give Tech a lead which they never relinquished. While missing 10 of 17 free throws, he managed to ring the hoop with 6 field goals and 7 free throws for point honors for Tech.

Even in defeat Link Richmond, Wildcat forward, wracked up a total of 27 points to maintain his lead as top scorer for the Border conference.

Fencing Instructor Wins Tech Saber Exhibition

George Beakley, student fencing instructor, won the saber exhibition during halftime of the basketball game last night. After Sammy Self had scored four touches, and only lacked one of ending the match, Beakley scored a thrust that drew blood and ended the match. But we are sorry to tell that it was only red ink and a putup job. But the match did serve its purpose of better acquainting Tech students with the art of fencing.

Sammy Self won the intramural foil tournament 2-5 over Jack Drain of Dallas, in the finals held at halftime of the Tech-Arizona game last week. Mark Smith was third in the tournament.

Buffalos Defeated At Tech, 57-41

Playing before the largest home crowd of the season, Texas Tech's hustling Raiders downed the West Texas State Buffalos Tuesday night 57-41.

The Raiders continued to play the same inspired driving brand of ball that overpowered the Arizona Wildcats last Friday. Superior retrieving and polished floor play along with an airtight defense bottled up the rangy Buffalos. Defensively the Raiders played a flawless game. Not once did a Buffalo player break under the goal for a shot.

Ardis Barton, dwarfed by the tall West Texas five, turned in the top defensive performance of the game, and one of the best of any Raider all season in stopping the 1945 all-American J. W. Malone. To mention only Barton for defensive honors, however, would be doing an injustice to Don Grove, Garland Head, Roy Williams and Gene Hardey, all of whom played superbly.

Offensively, Garland Head and Don Grove were standouts. Each scored 15 points to share top scoring honors. Ardis Barton scored seven points and Gene Hardey six. Hank Decker and J. W. Malone led the losers with 12 and 11 points respectively.

The Raiders took a commanding lead after the first five minutes of play and never again relinquished it, and at one time led by 20 points. Halftime score was Tech 28, West Texas 14.

Raider Quintet Play Last Game

The Raider basketball team will ring down the curtain on the 1946-47 season against the University of New Mexico Lobos tonight at 8 p. m. in Tech gym.

The University of Arizona has the championship already wrapped up but the past week New Mexico has been waging a three-way stretch fight with Arizona of Flagstaff and Texas Mines for the runner-up position. Tonight's contest will have a bearing on the outcome.

Coach Berl Huffman's charges, who made a late season surge after a poor start, will encounter one of the finest performers in the loop in New Mexico's L. C. Cozens, potential All-American forward and contender for conference scoring honors. Other classy performers for the Lobos are Ned Wallace and Kay Hafan. In a previous meeting at Albuquerque which New Mexico won 51-49, Cozens scored 22 points.

Coach Huffman has indicated he will start practically the same team he used against New Mexico A & M last night.

Muchas Gracias, Blitz And Chorus

By KING AND TRAINER
Toreador Staff Writers
Contrary to our usual practice, we are about to say something NICE about somebody, in fact, several somebodies. If you attended any of the Religious Convocations, (they were held in the gym, not in the Book Store...uh oh, we forgot we were gonna be nice) you were no doubt impressed by the music of Dr. Julian Paul Blitz and his college chorus. Four hundred voices blended to make the old barn resound like a cathedral organ.

Evidently, Prof. Blitz has some military training, because "eyes were right" on him, chins were moving in rhythm of a can-can line, and each voice responded to the slightest variation of the Prof's direction.

In case you think it just an accident that their performances were to such a degree of perfection, let us give you the word. That didn't just happen; they worked! (if you know Dr. Blitz, you know that's true). Every Monday night, rain or hail, those four hundred chorus members stroll to St. John's Methodist Church and sing for one hour of credit and three grade compensation for this effort...one hour of credit and three grade points if you attend every time (not that this is of great importance to anyone, grade points, we mean).

Thanks, Dr. Blitz and chorus, for making Religious Emphasis Week outstanding this year. Sorry you can't add to the beauty of Easter by presenting "The Seven Last Words" again this year.

J. M. STINE DIES
James M. Stine, father of June Stine, died Friday morning, Feb. 21, in Archer City. Mr. Stine was a district gauger for an oil company. June is a junior Journalism major and is a member of the Toreador staff.
