London, Pollard Are Candidates For Sun Princess

Student Election Nov. 11
Chooses Representative
To Carnival In El Paso

Joan London, Circle, Montana, and Judy Pollard, Lubbock, both freshmen arts and sciences students, are candidates for Sun princess, according to Bill Nugent, president of the Student council. A special all-college election Tuesday will decide which of the girls will represent Tech in the El Paso Sun carnival during the New Year's holidays.

Both of the girls have been certified as eligible by the Dean of Women and the registrar, Nugent said. The parents of both girls have also agreed to assume expenses for the trip to the carnival. Booths for voting will be set up in the main buildings on the campus, Loy Catherine Barnett, chairman of the Elections committee, said. Voting will be by divisions, and will be from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Ag Department Is Given Bid To Hear Bromfield

Members of the Aggie department have a special invitation to attend the 7:30 p. m., Thursday, Nov. 13, lecture of Louis Bromfield in the high school auditorium.

Bromfield, noted author, and a group of business executives from all over the U. S. will visit Tech's campus Thursday while on a week's tour to promote soil conservation. The group will attend a luncheon at 1 p. m. at the Recreation hall, at which Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president emeritus of Tech, will act as master of ceremonies. Bromfield will speak at 3:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. at Lubbock High school auditorium, with students admitted to both.

The group will arrive at 7:30 a. m., Thursday, aboard a special train. They will make a tour of farms, state experiment station, Mackenzie State park, gins, Tech farms and various other places of interest.

The public is invited to a soil conservation exhibit to be held in the baggage car on the train. The exhibit is free and will be open all day, A. B. Davis, secretary of Lubbock chamber of commerce, said.

Writer's Workshop Scheduled Tuesday

All persons interested in creative writing are invited to attend the creative writers workshop to be held Tuesday, at 7:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Margaret Cobb, 3207 Twenty-fifth.

The workshop is being held as part of the adult education program of the Lubbock chapter of American Association of University Women. Louise Battin, arts and sciences senior, is chairman of the writers group and William Raffanelli, instructor in the English department, is program chairman.

The program will include reading work of the members.

Law School Requirements To Be Discussed By Davis

Dr. J. William Davis has just returned from Baylor and Southern Methodist universities where he visited law schools and checked with deans as to new requirements for pre-law students.

A meeting at 8:15 p. m., Monday, Ad-302, has been called by Dr. Davis for all pre-law students who plan to attend law school. Dr. Davis will give the new entrance requirements and the preparations which should be made by all pre-law students.

Veterans Give Circle Official Name In Honor Of Techsians Killed In War

Memorial Circle is the official name of the circle on Tech campus as a result of a vote held Tuesday night by the Tech War Veterans association with the approval of the Tech board of directors, reports Joe Meador, commander. The circle was so named as a tribute to the men from Tech who gave their lives in World War II. A committee was formed to investigate the cost of a plaque or some other suitable memorial to be placed in Memorial Circle which will include the names of all Tech students who were killed in action

NEAR YOU?—Many Techsians are finding that just the place for a couple of hours of entertainment is the Recreation hall with its facilities for dancing, cards and reading. AWS Honors Raiders At Reception Sunday

Rec Hall Committee Co-Sponsors;
Student Center Officially Opens

Red Raiders will be honored from 2-4 p. m. Sunday at the annual reception given by the Association of Women Students, and jointly sponsored this year by the Recreation hall committee. This reception will officially open the Recreation hall, according to Dean James D. Allen.

"Everyone is invited," said Pat Lively, AWS vice-president in charge of the reception.

In the receiving line will be: the Red Raiders, President and Mrs. W. M. Whyburn, Dr. and Mrs. Clifford B. Jones, Dean W. L. Stangel, Dean Allen, Coach and Mrs. Dell Morgan, Coach and Mrs. G. B. Morris, Coach and Mrs. Polk Robinson, Coach and Mrs. Tippi Mooney.

Faculty husbands and wives are invited to the reception honoring the Red Raiders, to be held 2-4 p. m., Sunday at the Rec hall, said Pat Lively, AWS vice president in charge of the reception.

Through error the invitations were addressed only to faculty members.

Coach William W. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Morley Jennings, Maxey McKnight, Miss Mabel Smith, AWS sponsor, Jackie Lewis, AWS president, and members of the AWS council.

Others in the house party will include: Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brad-

Katherine Keith Attends National 4-H Congress

Ella Katherine Keith, freshman home economics major from Whiteface, will attend the National 4-H club congress in Chicago from Nov. 30 to Dec. 4. The trip is a State 4-H club achievement award for Katherine's seven-year clothing record for which she made all her own clothes, as well as clothes for other members of her family. Spool Cotton company is donor of the award.

$5.00 to WSSF will buy three books for a European university whose library has been destroyed.

$5.00 to WSSF will keep two tubular students for a week at the International Student sanatorium in Switzerland.

To Err Is Bad

Last week The Toreador said editorially, "At mealtime on previous trips, Raider athletes have occasionally been cautioned, to 'Keep your check under 80 cents, boys.'" Because of its context, this statement was interpreted as referring to football trips.

The reference was not intended to apply to football trips, and we sincerely regret that it was so understood, or was so ambiguously worded as to leave this false impression.

—The Editor.

Tremor Detector Will Be Located On Tech Campus

Tom Pearce, representative of the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey, was on the Tech campus for three days making tests and investigations for the proper location of a $15,000 seismograph station, Dr. L. T. Patton, head of the geology department, said.

Local vibrations caused by cars, trains, and even strong wind acting on the loose top soil may be recorded on the sensitive instrument, Pearce said. In order to minimize these local disturbances the top soil will be removed and the seismograph station set on a solid rock bed.

A portion of the equipment for the station has arrived and the remainder is on order. The Tech seismograph station will be ready for operation in about three months and will rank with the finest in the United States, Pearce stated.

The Tech station, estimated to cost $15,000, will have both long and short period instruments. The long period instruments, capable of recording the slightest earth tremors from any place in the world, will be a part of the world-wide network of seismograph stations which will fit into a similar network for recording tremors in the Gulf states.

Funds for the establishment of the Tech station were taken from a research fund accumulated by donations for that purpose over a period of six years, Dr. Patton said.

ROTC Drill Field To Be Constructed

Work on the new ROTC drill field northwest of the Engineering building began today, said Lt. Col. L. C. Adams, professor of military science and tactics.

The field is now being graded and leveled through the courtesy of the county, reported Col. Adams, who hopes to have grass planted on the field.

The field is to be 500 feet by 600 feet and will offer ROTC trainees more room and privacy for drill formations and for development of the voice, Col. Adams stated.

Col. Adams said that all drills and parades will be held on the new field in the future.

Tech Band Salutes Coaches And Team

Matador band will salute the Texas Tech coaches and football team tomorrow afternoon at halftime performance of the Texas Tech-Arizona football game.

To the tune of "Fight Raiders Fight," names of the coaches will be spelled out on the field, followed by "team" formed as the Matador song is played.

This morning Tech band will go to Brownfield to participate in the Harvest parade, Prof. D. O. Wiley, director, said.

Open Door Policy From SWC, As Well As Richard, Favored

Radio commercials received their not-unusual share of lambasting Saturday when radio football fans heard an advertisement instead of a full broadcast of Matador band's halftime performance at the Tech-Elio game in Houston. Most of the stunt was broadcast, but the surprise climax did not get its due spotlight on the air waves.

The peak of the performance was the formation by band members of those important letters, SWC (for Southwest conference). Tech's three male cheer leaders, Joe Arrington, Andy Williamson and Lamar Jackson, came on the field carrying a large door which received a severe thumping from the baton of Drum Major Hubert Burgess, jr., as Matador band played "Open the Door, Richard." Meanwhile, a row of band members fell to their knees and bowed to the ground praising Allah.

Treat To Houstonian Hailed by a Houston sports writer as "the best stunt I've seen here in years," formations prior to the stunt included the spelling of "Rice" and "Owls," and the playing of Vic Williams' arrangement of two Rice songs. The stunt was culminated with the spelling of "Tech" and playing of the Matador song.

President W. M. Whyburn this week commended the band highly for this "very clever stunt," in a letter to Prof. D. O. Wiley, band director, and Wayne MacDonald, president of Kappa Kappa Psi, national honorary band fraternity. President Whyburn accompanied the band on the special train.

Editorial . . .

The practice of Techsians generally for the past several years has been to let all financial drives flop dismally by failing to donate to the programs. Whatever the reason for this failure, it is inexcusable. Techsians could have assisted by giving both of their time and means.

Don't let the WSSF drive fail.

The future of man rests in the minds of the students of the world. Money from students here does not assist a foreign student through college; it puts him through college.

Five dollars will buy you a new shirt—it will feed a Greek student for ten days. And don't stop at thinking about WSSF. Do something about it.

'Family Portrait' Presented Nov. 11, 12

"Family Portrait" by Lenore Coffey and William Joyce Cowen is to be presented by the speech department at 8 p. m., Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 11-12, Lubbock High school auditorium. Tech students will be admitted on activity tickets, announced Lucien Upshaw, director.

This play was first produced at the Morocco theatre in New York city, with Judith Anderson in the leading role. Taking for its theme the Master's own words, "A prophetic is not without honor, but in his own country and among his own kin and in his own house," "Family Portrait" elaborates in terms of an ordinary family which acts and speaks as we do today. Lucien Upshaw says that the play is not the usual historical pageant of the life of Christ, but rather, one feels His presence through the reactions of His family. In its entirety, the story encompasses the last three years of Christ's life.

In a review, the New York World-Telegram said, "It is pitiless in its exposure of the blindness and faithlessness even of some of those who professed to follow Him."

Cast Announced

29 Floats Entered

Campus social clubs, societies and organizations have entered 29 floats in the parade and there is space for 10 more, Bill Nugent, president of the student body, reports. Nugent said educational floats, symbolizing peace promotion or historical events, are particularly desired.

Entries in the parade are from: Tau Beta Sigma, Gargoyles, APO, Kappa Kappa Psi, Pre-Med club, the Junior, Sophomore and Freshman classes, Pre-Law club, Sigma Association, Casa Linda, Plant Industry, Sigma Gamma Upsilon, Block and Bridge, Home Ec club, ASCE, Saddle Tramps, Aggie club, Socii, Silver Key, Wranglers, Centaurs, DFD, Los Camaradas, Ko Shari, Las Chaparritas, Las Vivaruchas, Kemas and Sans Souci.

Record Crowd Expected

"All previous Homecoming records will be broken this year with approximately 4,000 exes returning," states McElroy, who added that a few seats are still left for the game, but all of them probably be sold by Nov. 15. The ex-students will occupy seats on the west side of Jones stadium.

Headquarters for ex-Techsians will be in the Recreation hall. Jimmy Witt, senior engineer, and Bill Nugent are making arrangements for the registration of exes. The exes names and hometowns will be written on Double T shaped identification cards.

Tech Chapter Of Phi U Assists NT Installation

Gladys Dawson and Mrs. Betty Devin, senior home economics students, and Miss Martie Poindexter, head of the applied arts department, left today for North Denton, Texas, to assist in the installation of the Alpha Iota chapter of Phi Upsilon Omicron, national home economics fraternity. Others participating in the installation are the members of the Alpha Alpha chapter at Texas State College for Women, Miss Dawson is president and Mrs. Devin is chaplain of the Omega chapter at Tech.

Homecoming festivities for Tech alumni will begin at 10 a. m. Saturday, Nov. 29, with a parade presented by Tech students, D. M. McElroy, executive secretary of the Alumni and Ex-Students association, announced.

Tech ROTC color guard will lead the parade with the 107-piece Matador band providing the music, McElroy said. The Hardin-Simmons Cowboy band has been invited to participate with its rope twirling cowgirls and famed "Sherriff."

Cast Announced

15,000 Veterans Get Nov. Checks

About 15,000 veterans attending West Texas colleges or taking on-the-job training in this region have received their Nov. 1 checks according to reports from the veterans administration. H. A. Anderson, veterans coordinator, stated that probably 80 to 90 percent of the Tech vets have received last month's check.

A special representative from VA will be in the veterans training office next Wednesday and Thursday to interview all veteran students whose first subsistence checks have been delayed. VA Regional Manager Robert W. Sisson announced.

To lessen the correspondence and enable the VA to get vet checks out faster, veterans are requested not to report non-receipt of checks by letter or other means until they have talked to the special representative sent out by VA.

Vets wishing information on their checks immediately may contact the training officer, veterans coordinator announced. The veterans training office is located in the buildings south of the Aggie building.

Dr. Strout Editor Of Book On Controversial Letter

Dr. A. L. Strout, professor of English, is the editor of "John Bull's Letter to Lord Byron" which was published Oct. 21. In the book Dr. Strout discussed the century-old literary controversy of the authorship of "John Bull's Letter."

For the past 15 years he has contributed to various literary and scholarly journals. This is the fourth of Dr. Strout's books to be published.

$5.00 to WSSF will finance a French student for six days at a French university.

Council Supports Foreign Aid Plan

Baumgardner To Head Steering Committee

By AUBREY SHOUSE
Toreador Staff Writer

Beginning Nov. 12, the World Student Service fund, sponsored by the Student council, will start its campaign on Tech campus to raise funds for needy students in foreign countries.

WSSF was organized in 1937 when the needs of students in China's colleges first became critical, its activities extending to Europe when the war began in 1939.

Student-To-Student Aid "In speaking for the Council," Bill Nugent, student body president, said, "I feel it to be one of the most important considerations to come before the student body, since it is a program of help from student to student. WSSF has the full support and encouragement of the Council."

In supporting the WSSF drive, Nugent appointed a steering committee to guide the actions of all WSSF activities. Robert Baumgardner was appointed chairman of the committee and set up a canvassing plan to raise funds for the world organization.

Other members of the committee and the clubs they represent are: Katherine Nelson, Forum; Avis Fuchs, Home Economics club; Earl Sears, Aggie club; Tom Hassell, Engineering society; Pat Garrett, APO; Joe Meador, TWVA; Turner Kimmell, MCCC; Mary King, WCCC; Floyd Lawhorn, Double T association; Hubert Burgess, TCC; Jackie Lewis, AWS; Wayne McDonald, Kappa Kappa Psi; and Jerry Sides, Student Religious council.

Canvassing Committees Presidents of each of the campus organizations will appoint soliciting committees to canvass the members of their individual clubs. During the campaign a canvass will be made in the five dorms. (Continued on Page 4)

Juniors To Choose Queen To Reign For Homecoming

Homecoming queen of the junior class will be elected at a meeting, Tuesday at 5 p. m., in C101. The girl elected queen will be presented on the class float in the Homecoming parade, Nov. 29, says James Malone, class president. Three runners-up will be attendants on the float.

The election will be made in the presence of a Student council representative, by secret ballot, with a plurality vote winning. A picture of the queen will be featured in the 1948 La Ventana, according to Malone.

Outlines for other plans of the year are to be discussed, committees appointed and the junior class sponsor, Miss Emma Phelps, will be introduced. This is to be the first organized junior class meeting of the year.

Baxter Concludes Religious Lectures

Dr. Batsell Barrett Baxter, minister of the Trinity Lane Church of Christ in Nashville, Tenn., and head of the speech and homiletics department of David Lipscomb college in Nashville, concluded his series of four lectures last night.

Dr. Baxter was speaker for the Fall Religious Emphasis Week sponsored by the Student Religious Council.

About 600 students and townspeople attended the nightly services held in the Recreation hall. Titles of his lectures were: Monday night, "Finding the Formula;" Tuesday night, "Daring to Believe;" Wednesday night, "E Pluribus Unum;" Thursday night, "The Scientific Approach in Religion."

Tech Graduate To Serve On New Placement Service

Mrs. Harmond Jenkins, former Jean Ayres and a 1935 graduate of Tech, has returned to the college after an absence of four years to assume her duties as secretary of the Placement Service of Texas Tech. Organization of the service is now in progress by a committee of college deans.

Mrs. Jenkins left the college in 1943. Prior to that time she held positions as secretary to dean of women, secretary of the division of arts and sciences, and secretary to the registrar.

Construction Of Tech Rodeo Arena To Increase Intercollegiate Activities

Additional intercollegiate activities will begin after completion of a rodeo arena which is to be built by the Tech Rodeo association. Site of the rodeo activities will be chosen by W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture and sponsor of the Rodeo association, following instructions from Tech board of directors. Construction will begin in the near future, states Charles Hudson, president of the association.

As member of the Western Intercollegiate association, this group will compete against college teams in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Colorado and Wyoming. Tech's teams, sponsored by the association, with expenses paid by the association, will be picked by elimination from members of the group.

The entire construction on the five-acre site will include a 25 stall stable, additional chutes and bleachers. Financing of the building will be done by the association and practice stock will be bought and used for contestant elimination.

Further activities of the association will be sponsoring the All-College rodeo in the Spring. Several matched roping contests are planned with other colleges of the WICA.

All Work, No Pay

"Work for the love of work" is a good principle, but so is payment of good and valuable consideration for service rendered.

Student association officers should receive remuneration for their work. If they were paid on the basis of today's standard hourly wage scale, the Student Council might become bankrupt. But it is entirely reasonable that officers receive at least a token payment for the long hours they serve in carrying out their duties—and from which they acquire very small thanks and very large headaches.

Last year (after the adoption of the constitution now in effect), officers received no payment, but for a number of years prior to 1946-'47 they had small salaries. The new constitution does not provide for such payment.

Salaries of $50 per month for president and $10 each for vice president, secretary and business manager seem to us to be within reason, though these sums are offered only as suggestions.

Although the provision of salaries would have to be set up through a constitutional amendment, the sums need not necessarily be stipulated. These could be set by the Budget committee, subject to approval of the Council. If the sums should prove to be excessive in later years when the dollar is once more worth 100 cents, the committee could make necessary adjustments.

Notwithstanding The Toreador's past criticisms of the Council (and its possible future comments), we here go on record as commending our student governing body as sound in its overall policies and actions. In comparative tests with other schools, Tech's Council has shone admirably. We can pat ourselves on the back for that.

And we can show some monetary appreciation to those who head that government.—W. L.

We Stand -- Disgruntled

To be an alumni, to sit on the west side of the stadium, to look back with nostalgia on the days when you sat on the east side of the stadium, to remember the things you would like to have said—those must be wonderful experiences.

But what about the things you did say?

Was there a better method to express your disgust at factions who insisted on having their own cheering way at football games?

Could you have persuaded the groups to meet on some common ground to discuss their differences and form a general understanding?

From their advantageous position, the Saddle Tramps never deter from spoiling the grid day for most people seated around them, behind them, and to the side of them. And from any place they may find themselves, other persons, in the opposite manner, disrupt friendliness in their own inimitable way.

With no regard to other holders of athletic tickets, the Tramps stand at the slightest provocation, necessitating everybody to rise en masse, while the opponents stand, of their own volition, only when either the National Anthem or Matador song is played.

Unquestionably, most students like to stand at the kickoff, during yells, and when the Matadors are rolling. If the sit-ees had their way, no one would ever stand; if the stand-ees were in power, no one would ever sit.

Cheer leaders, it is within your power to serve as mediators in this dispute. Before tomorrow's game, determine the occasions when standing and sitting will be the order of the minute. It could save some harsh thoughts—and words.

I-Don't-Like-Your-Looks Week Seeks Revived Tech Frankness

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Toreador Staff Writer

Next week, Nov. 10-15, has been designated "I Don't Like Your Looks Week" for Tech campus by a self-appointed committee recently formed to bring the spirit of frankness back to the college.

Jay McVay, freshman from Quitaque who was chosen chairman of the committee, has urged all Techs with Blue Cross coverage to participate in the campaign.

The idea behind "I Don't Like Your Looks Week," McVay explained, is to allow individuals to get off their chest all grudges which they have formed against fellow students or professors in the past.

Frankness Emphasized

"If there's a person whose looks—or anything else—you don't like," McVay stated, "then this is your big opportunity to let him or her know about it. Just walk right up and tell him so to his face. On the other hand, this will not necessarily be a one-way matter. If there's a boy, or girl, whose looks—or anything else—you DO like, then you should also make known your feelings. The main thing is to revive the spirit of frankness for which Tech students have long been renowned."

McVay, deploring the mildness of manner which has of late been evident on the campus, continued,

"Tech has been criticized recently because its students seem to be losing some of that 'get-the-hell-outta-my-way' spirit that they once had. Let's show that Tech is still the same old Tech—where social standing means nothing, and where your classmates don't fail to let you know it. Please understand that our purpose is not to nullify the effects achieved by our recent 'Howdy Week.' It's still quite permissible to extend a greeting of 'Howdy' to someone you meet on the campus. But don't be two-faced about the matter. If it's a person you don't like, then follow through with 'I don't like your looks' or a similar remark—just to set the record straight."

Coronation Planned

The annual week of emphasis on frankness will be climaxed with a gala party at the Reparation hall at 8 p. m. Friday, Nov. 12. At this event, Tech's most unpopular boy and girl students for 1947 will be elected by a popular vote of those attending, and will be crowned as "Queen Disasteful" and "King Repulsive," respectively, by McVay, who will use a baseball bat for the purpose. Pictures of the king and queen will be taken by ace photographer Sherm Wormly from Hermleigh for use in The Toreador, and possibly in La Ventana—and, maybe, if good enough, even in The Muleshoe Mirror or Shallowater Sentinel.

From Where You Sit

HANDLE WITH CARE

Dear Editor:
This is to serve as a warning to people who have copies of last week's Toreador to be careful with them. Surely anything with a red hot article in it, like the story concerning the difficulty between Charlie Reynolds and Coach Dell Morgan, constitutes a real fire hazard.

But, you're so right. However, how about holding off on starting an editorial bonfire around this sort of tinder until after football season is over? It could lead to a real conflagration.

W. C. Slay.
We call'em like we see'em.—The Editor.

IS ANYBODY HAPPY?

Are you unhappy? Why, you poor downtrodden Techs! You grips because a campus car jockey startled you out of a pleasant daydream recently. Just disconnect your brakes and we'll see if the situation improves elsewhere in the city. I'll give odds you never get back. No parking space? Just try to make the bank downtown before it closes, and be sure to start at 20 minutes 'till.

You don't like food poisoning? Who does? I can show you plenty around town—and it will cost you plenty. You'll eat worse, less frequently and suffer more before you die.

The faculty takes a perpetual beating from selfish, uncompromising, and inconsiderate students whose minds are as receptive as a brick wall and whose spirits are as free flowing (almost) as the mud they throw. It would capsize the most stable mind to face the contemptuous, vacant stares of these coldly indifferent personalities year after year.

One word more; school spirit may be lacking but the inability of the individual personalities on this campus to project even the most casual greeting without a severe strain is really conspicuous. Personally, I'm happy but not because I'm bent on reform. I just think that most of the campus criticism is extremely short-sighted. School spirit isn't to be blamed on the school. We aren't supposed to be ushered into the classrooms with fanfare. School spirit is made up of the individual's enthusiasm. The student body's cooperation functions in direct ratio to the individual's willingness to cooperate. The end we would like to attain here is a happy Utopian existence while acquiring an education. The means to that end rests with our willingness to help and to understand that the element of time is essential to progress.

Howdy, by Gawd,
R. C.

We welcome letters from our readers, but suggest that when possible, they be kept short. The Toreador retains the right to omit portions of long letters before publishing them.

All letters must be signed in order to be published. Under rules of the Publications committee, signed copies of published letters must be kept on file for a year. Initials will be used or name omitted on request.

TWVA Sponsors Lion Minstrels In All-Tech Night

Tech War Veterans association will sponsor the Lion's club Minstrel show Dec. 15, at the high school auditorium, according to Joe Meador, commander of TWVA.

In an executive meeting of the veterans, plans were laid for the coming event. The minstrel show will be of the old time blackface comedy type and will have a cast of approximately 75 local Lions as well as a large amount of Tech talent. During intermission and between acts, several Tech students will give specialty numbers. Dec. 15 has been set especially as all-Tech night, which will be exclusively for the Tech students.

Last year the old-time minstrel show proved to be a great success and was presented in Lubbock and surrounding counties and finally in Ruidoso, N. M.

Tickets will cost $1 and are expected to go on sale sometime around the middle of November, says Meador.

Press Club Elects, Hears Pharr Speak

Bill Carpenter, senior journalism major, was elected second vice-president of Press club, Tuesday afternoon. Guest speaker of the club was E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney.

Pharr, introduced by R. C. Hankins, Avalanche-Journal city editor, served on the prosecution in war crimes for more than a year in Japan. Appointed to the prosecuting staff of 21 officers who had civilian experience in the legal field, Pharr helped draw up the U. S. S. "and probably the world's"—first set of rules for the trial of war criminals, he said.

Tech Nursery Affords Training For Pre-Kindergarten 'Students'

By BYRDEAN ROBERSON
Toreador Staff Writer

Sixteen Lubbock residents, ranging in age from two to four and a half years, arrive on the campus every morning at 9 a. m. for their classes in pre-kindergarten education. These children attend the Tech nursery school from 9-12 a. m. five days a week.

Immediate inspection by a nurse to check on communicable diseases is followed by a free outside play period. After one and a half hours of supervised activities, they are served lunch at 11:30 a. m. A full time cook and housekeeper prepares wholesome and nutritious meals for the youngsters.

Inside the three room nursery, low tables and chairs, a small piano, and low hung pictures make a childlike atmosphere. Age ranges in comparative development even in the varied selection of educational toys. There are puzzles and blocks to help muscle coordination, with outside toys for larger and stronger muscle development.

"Routine activities are planned according to the child's needs and development, physically, mentally, socially, and emotionally," stated Miss Charlotte Ballow, assistant professor of child development. Purposes of the child development labs are to train children in acceptable habits, to serve as laboratories for students, and to educate the parents, she added.

In their daily study of the activities in the nursery, the girls learn how the body and mind of the child develops. Approximately 105 girls are enrolled in the child development courses, according to Miss Ballow.

How about this score? Texas Tech 39, Notre Dame 0. That is correct, only it was the Notre Dame "B" team that journeyed to Lubbock in 1932 to take that licking.

Larrymore
DANCE
STUDIO
1405 Ave. R.
Ph. 2-9254

Dear Buck:

All right, all right, so I haven't written in a long time. Instead of telling you what my excuse is, though, I'm sending you a picture of it—namely, one Jimmy Carter. Let me explain before you get wildly and passionately jealous (or am I being optimistic?) He teaches dancing for Lewis Larrymore Walker down at the Larrymore Dance Studio, and can that man dance!! I've been taking lessons in ballroom technique, but nothing as old-fashioned as that stagnant jitterbug routine—you know, that step everybody and his dog has learned and can't seem to change. Not by a long shot—Jimmy gives out with some of that slow, slinky, boogie beat that really makes you feel professional. All that, Buck, and he's free, white and 22! Of course, you're my one and only, but still...

Another person I'm always running into down there at Larrymore's place is Tech's own virtuoso of the baton, Hardy Matthews. Things he can't do with a "twirlin' stick" just can't be done. And there's others, scores of them, but most of them are men. The classes for college kids need a few girls, but no doubt that will soon be remedied—what with this man shortage—I've heard so much about and all.

Wish you were here, Buck, to take my rumba lesson with me! However, I guess I'll just have to be content to dance with Jimmy Carter (Humm-mm!) But I still love you best.

Wing.
P. S.—I didn't mean to give you the idea that Jimmy can't teach anything but boogie steps. He's got more steps than an engineer major has math, including "straight" ballroom dancing such as fox-trot and the waltz. It would really do you good, Buck, to see him in action.—Adv.

ON THE TELEPHONE, TOO!

This is broadcasting as you see it.

What you do not see are the thousands of miles of telephone wire and cable that link broadcasting stations from coast to coast... that make national networks possible.

The administration of these vast broadcasting links requires the varied skills of college-trained men.

And this is but one of the many interesting phases of the telephone business. There's opportunity and adventure in telephony.

Life Exhibition To Be Displayed Nov. 15 - Dec. 15

"The Age of Enlightenment", a photographic exhibition prepared by the editors of Life, will be shown on the second floor of the Engineering building from Nov. 15 till Dec. 15, according to F. A. Klein Schmidt, head of the department of architecture. The exhibition is based on the articles which appeared in a recent issue of Life in its series of essays on the development of western culture. The intellectual and social ferment, called Aufklarungszeit by the German philosopher Immanuel Kant, is revealed in the exhibition. Organized under three main sections, Versailles, Paris and Age of Crisis, the exhibition presents a pictorial analysis of one of the great epochs in the history of western culture. The first section is a symbol of Bourbon glory, the second presents the resurgent vitality of Paris, and the third reveals the impact upon "the people" of the conflict between the ideas of the enlightenment and the old regime. The exhibition closes with the "Oath of the Tennis Court" and "The Coronation of Napoleon."

Among the artists and architects whose works are included are: Boucher, Fragonard, Nattier, Rigaud, Watteau, Moreau le Jeune, David, Drouais, Dubucourt, Greuze, Ledoux, Delamare and Bonfflot, as well as many engravings, prints and miscellaneous photographs.

'Improving Toreador' Contest Offers Cash Prizes To Winners

Cash prizes for letters on how The Toreador may be improved will be awarded in a contest announced this week by a student seeking information in a class survey.

Under the plan announced cash prizes of $5, $3 and $2 will be given students writing the best letters. The contest sponsor requests the answer to these questions:

"If The Toreador were to be enlarged, which would you prefer: 1) To increase the number of pages? 2) To enlarge the present pages? 3) To retain the present size, but publish twice a week?"

"In case The Toreador were enlarged, what suggestion have you for its further improvement?"

"In answering the last question, state your suggestion and tell in 100 words or less why you think it would improve The Toreador." Rules setting forth answers must be sent The Toreador Survey, Press Building, by Nov. 18; all answers must be written legibly or typed, with neatness counting; no answers will be returned; and decision of the judges will be final.

It was announced judges will be students and faculty members, and that prizes will be mailed winners just as soon as all entries are judged.

Wall New Kemas Prexy; English, Vice President

George Wall, former vice-president of Kemas social club, has been elected president to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Floyd Read, according to B. J. Cook, Kemas reporter.

Hugh English was elected vice-president to succeed Wall, Cook said.

$5.00 to WSSF will furnish food for ten days to an undernourished Greek student.

WSSF---

Baumgardner stated, and those students who have not had the opportunity to make their contributions to WSSF solicitors personally, may make their donations in the Student council office, J-201.

Unless immediate relief is given 400,000 students in Europe and Asia, an entire generation of students will lack adequate education to do its best in building a better tomorrow. Baumgardner pointed out. These students must receive material education this year or else abandon their college training. The world's future will reflect such a great loss. Without our aid, there would be even a greater shortage of doctors, engineers, teachers, scientists, clergymen, and other professional people when they are needed so badly to tighten the bonds of peace. With the $100,000, representing the United States' 50 per cent of the entire program, WSSF will be able to provide sufficient aid for only the most desperate, he said.

"World Student Service fund provides direct, personal relief to students in 18 needy countries, and gives aid on an international, interracial, non-sectarian, non-political basis. This is the American student's bridge to the future leaders of Europe and Asia. This is your contribution to your colleagues in every nation for the future," student leaders say.

$5.00 to WSSF will supply notebooks and paper for two Chinese students for one year.

Weekend Social Calendar Features Fun Night, Picnic, Three Dances

Social activities at Tech this weekend include two dances and Fun Night tonight and a dance and picnic Saturday.

College Club will hold its nineteenth annual fall formal dance honoring new members and pledges from 9-12 tonight in Hotel Lubbock with the Varsitians playing for dancing. Special guests will be alumni of the club. Black and gold decorations are to be centered around the College Club emblem.

Phi Eta Sigma, freshmen men's honor fraternity, will hold an all-college dance 9-12 p. m. tonight in the gym. Dr. and Mrs. W. M. Craig will be special guests and Bailey Ireland's orchestra will provide the music, Newell Reed, president, said.

All students are invited to attend Fun Night 8-10 p. m. tonight in the Recreation hall. Juke box dancing, a travelogue movie, Bingo with prizes, and group singing are scheduled by Director Francis Bearden.

SATURDAY FUNCTIONS

Weekly campus-wide Rec hall dance will be held tomorrow 8:30-11:30 p. m. Ted Cramer's orchestra will furnish music.

Gargoyle, architecture and allied arts society, is to hold its annual "get-together" picnic tomorrow night at Mackenzie State park barbecue pit. Members and dates will meet at 7 p. m. at the Engineering building. Prof. and Mrs. R. L. Lockard will be special guests.

INFORMAL DANCE TONIGHT

Tech Army Signal association informal dinner-dance will be from 8:30-11:30 tonight at LAAF cafe, according to Maj. J. M. Goodman, sponsor. Special guests at the club's first social function of the year will be Mr. and Mrs. Byron J. Bennett.
