

Gulf Storm Heading For Texas Coast

Disturbance Is 275 Miles From Corpus

Warnings Are Issued From Brownsville To Matagorda Bay

WIND IS REPORTED GAINING INTENSITY

Vessels Cautioned, Island Residents Told To Seek Safety

(By the Associated Press)
The United States weather bureau at New Orleans Saturday night warned residents of the Texas Gulf coast from Brownsville to Matagorda bay that danger exists of more northerly movement of a tropical storm which was central at 6 p. m. about 275 miles southeast of Corpus Christi.

The disturbance, first reported Friday night, has been moving slowly northwestward. During the last 12 hours with increasing intensity, northern storm warnings were ordered north of Corpus Christi to Matagorda bay.

All vessels in the northwest portion of the gulf were warned to use caution and persons on coastal islands were urged to "seek safe locations."

Coast guard stations all along the Texas coast sent out boats this morning to warn persons living or vacationing on low islands or exposed parts of the shore to seek better protected locations.

Coast guardmen on duty at San Luis Pass said the tide was very rough and that the tide was higher than normal. A northeast wind of about 15 to 20 miles velocity was blowing.

Berger Benson, district commanding officer of the coast guard at Galveston, said campers and others in exposed places were being warned to leave.

The tide from Port O'Connor to Galveston is rising, Benson said, and the barometer is falling slowly. At Port O'Connor, the reading was 29.85 or 15 points below normal. The barometer in Houston fell three points to 29.95.

BROWNSVILLE, June 20. (AP)—Little fear was felt here today that a disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico would strike this city.

Observers said the storm, if it followed the course assigned by the weather bureau, would strike the Texas coast at least 100 miles north of here.

During mid morning there was no indication of the disturbance moving nearer. The barometer rose two points since an early morning reading, the sky was clear and there was a light northeast wind.

Chain Store Bill Signed

Is Designed To Protect Independents In Price Competition

WASHINGTON, June 20. (AP)—President Roosevelt dipped into a batch of 150 last-minute bills today and signed one intended to protect the independent merchant from price advantages allowed large competitors.

The measure, known as the Robinson-Patman chain store bill, would tighten the anti-trust laws to prevent unfair price discriminations through allowances of fake discounts and rebates for services not actually performed.

The federal trade commission would be authorized to determine the point beyond which discounts for quantity purchases could not go. The commission would be directed to prohibit discounts for purchases so large that competitors would be unable to match them, thus tending to create monopoly.

It embraces the Borah-Van Nuys amendment which would enable persons who believe they have been discriminated against to seek action in federal courts.

Six other bills were approved by the president in the forenoon, including one authorizing the treasury to permit the transportation of bonded merchandise, under certain conditions, by other than common carriers.

DISTRICT FINANCING TAKES A BOND ISSUE

Govt. Believed Ready To Share 45 Percent Of Cost Of Project

Indication that the Public Works Administration is ready to complete a grant to the Big Spring independent school district toward construction of a new high school building and gymnasium—provided the district wants to go forward with its part in the project—was given in a telegram received Saturday from Julian Montgomery, state PWA director.

In a message to Supt. W. C. Blankenship, Montgomery asked if the district had completed arrangements for financing its share, or if it could give definite commitment on such arrangements.

In Favorable Position
School officials interpreted the query as meaning that the project is in favorable position for a final grant. The application is in Washington with state approval.

The school board was expected to meet some time this week to consider next steps on the project. The PWA application has been amended to seek only a direct grant from the government of 45 per cent of the total cost of the $300,000 project. That would be $135,000, leaving $165,000 for the district to raise.

Up To The People
A bond issue would be necessary, and school officials have indicated that the question of issuing bonds to finance the district's share of the cost would be left up to the people. The board is not disposed, it was understood, to push the subject unless general opinion is favorable.

The application has been pending for some time, officials making the move for more buildings because of present crowded conditions and inadequate facilities. A 46-acre tract of the Birdwell land southeast of the city recently was purchased, and this would be the site of the new plant. In event the new building were constructed, the present high school building would be used as a junior high plant.

Felon Slain In Attempt To Escape Farm

Posse Lose Trail Of Trio Who Made Getaway Friday Morning

EASTHAM PRISON FARM, June 20. (AP)—Jim Barrow's attempt to ride a plow mule to liberty from Eastham farm ended today when a bullet from a dog-sergeant's rifle felled the forger as he tried to flee across a cornfield six miles from the farm.

Capt. B. B. Monzingo, manager of the farm, said Sergeant Earl Small opened fire and killed Barrow when he failed to obey a posse's command to halt.

The posse had trailed Barrow three or four miles after the confinement of the trio on Friday morning.

Capone Denied His Plea For Parole
WASHINGTON, June 19. (AP)—The justice department said today that Al Capone, former Chicago beer baron, had been denied a request for parole from Alcatraz Island penitentiary.

Capone might ask that his parole application be considered again later, officials asserted. He was eligible for parole at the expiration of one-third of his sentence on Sept. 3, 1935.

Capone was sent to prison for violation of the income tax laws on a 10-year sentence which he began serving May 4, 1932.

Girl Contest Will Attract Many To City

West Texas Preliminary In Queen Event Slated July 4

Adding impetus to plans for a mammoth celebration here on July Fourth, when Big Spring stages its first annual sports and water carnival in the dedication of the new municipal swimming pool, was confirmation Saturday of arrangements to stage a West Texas elimination here in the Queen of the Centennial contest.

Sponsors of the event, including the Dallas News and Journal radio station, WFAA, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, and Chrysler, Dodge, De Soto and Plymouth dealers of Texas, advised the local chamber of commerce that a zone preliminary will be held here on Independence Day, for girl entries from all towns in a region from Mineral Wells to El Paso and from Amarillo to San Antonio.

Any number of girls may enter from each town, and in the elimination here, one representative from each town will be picked for the state final at Dallas on July 10. These representatives will have all expenses paid to the Centennial exposition. Sponsors of the contest announced that Jean Harlow, famed platinum blonde of the movies, had been tentatively booked for an appearance at the Dallas contest. Ginger Rogers will be there on a later date.

Big Spring girls who wish to enter the contest may secure blanks at the chamber of commerce or from the Chrysler, Dodge, De Soto and Plymouth dealers here, it was announced. Miss Charlene Fallon was the first entrant.

The Centennial Queen contest was expected to be an added attraction for the July Fourth program that will bring in many more visitors from a wide section of Texas. Arrangements are being made for entertainment of the girls here for the event.

Plans also are going forward on other features of the holiday program. A meeting of all citizens has been called for 9 o'clock Monday morning, at the chamber of commerce, when plans will be discussed for a series of advertising trips to neighboring towns. J. Y. Robb of the local theaters has secured the R&R sound truck from Dallas to make these trips and the truck will be here Monday.

All chamber of commerce members and others have been urged to attend the meeting.

STATE OFFICIAL TO ADDRESS MOTOR UNIT HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Frank B. Johnson, vice-president and general manager of the Texas Motor Transportation Association, will address the Howard county chapter of the Texas Motor Transportation in the county court room Monday 8:30 p. m.

All men interested in trucking are urged to attend the meeting. O. L. Williams, president of the local unit, said. Farmers and ranchmen have been given a special invitation.

EX-GOVERNOR ASKS IDAHO SENATE SEAT

BOISE, Idaho, June 20. (AP)—C. Ben Ross, Idaho's lean ex-cowboy governor, announced today for the democratic nomination for the United States senate seat William E. Borah has held 30 years.

Thus a Ross-Borah battle in the general election—a conflict looked forward to since Ross long ago hinted of senatorial ambitions—became a possibility.

Senator Borah told Idaho Republicans Thursday he would be "willing" to run again.

Camp Routine Keeps Scouts Well Occupied

Activities Varied, Interests Maintained To Suit All Tastes

CAMP FAWCETT, Barksdale, June 20. (AP)—With almost half of the camp period gone, scouts are thoroughly into the routine of the day. Inspection is growing more rigid and the food even better.

Activities are varied, there being something going to suit any taste. For example, there are classes in first aid, signalling, nature study, mapping, pioneering (which includes building a bridge capable of carrying a load equivalent to a wagon and team), ping-pong, volleyball and soft ball.

For those who want to create something of their own, there is wood carving, plaster casting, leather work and metal work. In the line of sport archery and rifle ranges are available for daily use. Of course swimming is the big sport.

By the time meals roll around, every person in camp is ready to have at the food. A typical meal includes food in proportions such as this: Meat, 35 pounds; bread, 20 loaves; tea, 20 gallons; sugar, 20 pounds; corn, 4 1/2 dozen ears; watermelon, 10. And often times the proportions run heavier.

After lunch each day the camp schedule calls for a rest period of one hour. Alfred J. Siles, area executive, is seeing that his lieutenants enforce it and during the hour from 1 p. m. every boy must be in camp and on his cot.

Hart, well-known in Big Spring railroad circles, had been with the railroad for about fifteen years, starting out as a steward in the dining car service.

New Party Seeks Long's Following

Lemke's Friend Attacks Farley's "Deal"

WASHINGTON, June 20. (AP)—The newly launched union third party of Rep. William Lemke today made an apparent bid for support from remnants of Huey Long's share-the-wealth group.

The bid came in a vitriolic attack by Rep. Usher Burdick, R., N. D., close associate of Lemke, upon an alleged "deal" between Postmaster General James A. Farley and Long's political heirs.

Burdick asked Long's Louisiana followers to repudiate the "deal" and remain faithful to share-the-wealth ideals. An open invitation to join in the third party movement was expected.

The bid to the share-the-wealthers came a few hours after Lemke had announced his third party candidacy on a platform which was quickly approved in a nationwide address by the Rev. Charles Coughlin who put the strength of his national union for social justice behind the union party.

Senate Group Fights Price Fixing Plan

Big Revenue Proposal Is Given 42-29 Vote Of Approval

HOUSE ENDS WORK AND MARKS TIME

Other Major Bills Before Congress Sent To White House

WASHINGTON, June 21. (Sunday) (AP)—The 74th congress adjourned sine die early today when the house adjourned at 12:30 a. m. (EST). The senate had adjourned just before midnight.

WASHINGTON, June 20. (AP)—The senate, impatiently straining for adjournment, bumped hard against an unyielding filibuster tonight after safely stowing the battered compromise tax bill in the White House.

The filibuster, directed at the defeat of the Guffey-Vinson substitute coal control bill, held both the senate and the house in night session that threatened to run to midnight or later before the adjournment goal could be achieved.

Soon after the senate had adjourned, the conference report on the revenue measure, estimated to produce $800,000,000 in new income and sent it to the president, the coal bill was called up and the filibuster was on.

House Marks Time
The house, meanwhile, was virtually marking time, every now and then passing legislation of a minor nature. Early in the afternoon, it adopted the customary adjournment resolution and sent it to the senate. Later it took a brief recess for dinner.

The senate filibuster was a drab affair aimed at slowly killing off any chances of enactment this session of the coal price-fixing measure designed to replace the original Guffey act outlawed by the supreme court.

An effort by Senator Frazier (R-ND) to attach the Frazier-Lemke farm refinancing bill to the coal measure was defeated, 35 to 17. It would have provided for the issuance of $3,000,000,000 in new money to refinance farm debts.

Other Bills Passed
When the tax bill had cleared the senate, ending a long and bitter bi-partisan tussle, leaders hailed it as signaling the end of the session.

Two big hurdles on the road to adjournment had been cleared earlier.

Chief Points In Tax Plan

New Rates On Corporate Income, Undistributed Earnings

WASHINGTON, June 20. (AP)—Here are the major features of the new tax bill:

1. New tax rates on corporate income in place of the present rates which range from 12 1/2 per cent to 15 per cent. The new rates are: 8 per cent on the first $2,000; 11 per cent on the next $13,000; 12 per cent on the next $25,000; 15 per cent on all above $40,000.

2. A new system of taxing undistributed corporate earnings in addition to the levy against all income under the above schedule. The new tax on undistributed income:

- 7 per cent on the first 10 per cent retained.
- 12 per cent on the next 10 per cent.
- 17 per cent on the next 20 per cent.
- 22 per cent on the next 30 per cent.
- 27 per cent on all retained above 30 per cent.

(Corporations earning $50,000 or less would have to pay only 7 per cent on the first $5,000 retained, regardless of how large a percentage it might be of total income.)

3. Subjection of all corporation dividends to the normal income tax of 4 per cent. They are now subject only to surtaxes.

4. Reduction of the capital stock tax on corporations from $1.60 per $1,000 to $1 per $1,000.
5. Reduction of present exemptions of 30 per cent of inter-corporate dividends to 25 per cent.

6. Flat tax of 15 per cent on bank and insurance companies with no surtax on undistributed earnings.
7. "Windfall" tax of 50 per cent on refunded or unpaid processing taxes under the old AAA.

8. Import taxes on certain fish and vegetable oils to close loopholes in the present laws.
9. Repeal of the jewelry tax.

Three Featured Players Presented In Dramatic Film Opening Today At Ritz

Miriam Hopkins, Joel McCrea, Merle Oberon Co-Starred

The havoc wrecked in the lives of three innocent adults by a lying spiteful child provides the theme of Samuel Goldwyn's powerful drama, "These Three," which brings Miriam Hopkins, Merle Oberon and Joel McCrea to the Ritz theatre for Monday and Tuesday.

The film is adapted from the prize-winning stage play by Lillian Hellman. Briefly the story is that of two college girls, Martha (Miss Hopkins) and Karen (Miss Oberon) who, with the help of a young doctor, Joe Carden, (Joel McCrea) establish a school for girls.

A romance develops between Karen and Joe, so Martha conceals her own love for him. The school prospers, but there are two disturbing factors. One is Martha's spending aunt who has established herself as an instructor; the other is Mary Tilford, a vicious, lying child, who bullies the other children and goes to any length to escape her school duties.

One night Joe falls asleep in Martha's room while waiting there for Karen. Martha's aunt sees him leaving and the children, eavesdropping, overhear the aunt's insinuations. On these, the cunning Mary bases her plan to get away from school.

She succeeds in convincing her grandmother that evil is afoot at the school, with the result that an ugly scandal ensues and all the pupils are taken away. Martha sues Mrs. Tilford for libel, but the case is lost and the romance between Karen and Joe broken.

After a time, however, Martha succeeds in winning a confession from a playmate of Mary's, the latter is uncovered and the lovers are reunited.

The film introduces 12-year-old Bonita Granville, who, as the trouble-making child has been given as high honors for her characterization as any of the featured players. Others in the cast are Catherine Donnet, Alma Kruger, Marcia Mae Jones, Carmencita Johnson and Walter Brennan. William Wyler directed.

LAWMAKERS CALLED BY LANDON TO VOTE SECURITY MEASURES

DETROIT, Kan., June 20 (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon has issued a call for a special session of the Kansas legislature to convene July 7 to initiate a proposed constitutional amendment to enable the state to participate in all phases of the federal social security program.

Governor Landon's call will bring the legislature to Topeka the day following his return from a vacation in Estes park, Colo.

The republican nominee for president announced today he would leave Wednesday, returning July 6. No speeches were planned en route and the governor said he did not expect to receive any callers while away.

FORCED TO FIGHT SCANDAL

Merle Oberon, Joel McCrea and Miriam Hopkins, as they appear in the dramatic story, "These Three," in which they, as innocent people, are forced to fight a shaming scandal started by the lies of a malicious child. The picture is at the Ritz Sunday and Monday.

March Of Time Misses Real Spirit Of Centennial, In Presenting It Only As A Fort Worth-Dallas Fight

Interesting enough, but hardly satisfactory to Texans, will be the treatment given the state's Centennial celebrations in the newest episode of the "March of Time," which is playing at the Ritz theatre Sunday and Monday as an added program attraction.

The film narrator remarks in his description of Texas that the citizens' fierce pride in their state is an outstanding characteristic. For that very reason, Texans who are proud of the great exposition at Dallas won't appreciate the fact that the March of Time devoted practically the entire film footage to playing the Centennial shows as the outcome of a fight between Fort Worth and Dallas.

The Fort Worth-Dallas strife has been going on so long that it's not news to Texans. It may be to residents of other states, but in presenting this rivalry, the March of Time neglected to present in the pictures the truly remarkable buildings, displays and educational and cultural features of the central exposition at Dallas. Indeed, the film editors assert that the two cities have made the 100th birthday celebration a battle of leg shows and honky-tonks. Presenting into its exposition such attractions as the Street of Paris and the apple dancer.

'Wife Versus Secretary' To Be Seen At Queen Beginning Today

A starry new triumvirate composed of a subdued Jean Harlow, a handsome Clark Gable and the always good Myrna Loy greets theatre goers when "Wife Versus Secretary" plays at the Queen theatre for three days starting Sunday.

Clarence Brown directed the filming of Faith Baldwin's novel. The story, presenting a society "eternal triangle" from a new viewpoint, casts Gable as Van Sanford, the successful business man very much in love with his wife, Linda, played by Miss Loy. Jean Harlow as Whitey, the secretary, is the "other woman" who brings about an emotional crisis in the life of her employer.

As the secretary who has become indispensable to her publisher boss, Miss Harlow is very much in love with him. However, she realizes he loves his wife deeply and is very careful to keep her emotions concealed. Goaded by a mother-in-law who is suspicious of Whitey, Linda also becomes suspicious of the secretary and an exciting climax is reached when Van, called to Havana suddenly, finds it necessary to go alone after promising Linda she could accompany him as a sort of second honeymoon. Finding on arrival in Havana, he has left some important papers, he calls Whitey to bring them to him. After a day of hard work they make a round of night clubs and return to Van's rooms. The phone rings, Whitey answers, it turns out to be Linda who hears Whitey's voice and is convinced that her suspicions are well founded. The secretary who caused the trouble smoothes it over into a pleasing end for a very entertaining picture.

Supporting this remarkable trio of such stars are such screen headliners as May Robson, George Barbier, James Stewart and Hobart Cavanaugh.

Death Claims Aged Woman

127 Direct Descendants Among Survivors Of Mrs. Sarah Reeves

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Saturday in a many cemetery, near Moody, Texas, for Mrs. Sarah Jane Reeves, 88, relative of Howard county residents who succumbed in Big Spring Thursday night. Mrs. Reeves leaves 127 direct descendants.

She died at the home here of a granddaughter, Mrs. Jimmie Lovelace, 1111 Sycamore, where she was brought for treatment after suffering an injury in a fall at the home of a son, J. H. Reeves, in the Salem community. She received a broken hip in the mishap, which occurred two weeks ago. She had been visiting her son for some time.

The body was shipped by the Eberly Funeral home to Moody, and burial was made in the Bethany cemetery beside the grave of her husband, who died in April, 1923. Mrs. Reeves was born in Georgia Aug. 11, 1847.

Survivors, besides the Howard county residents, include a son, L. F. Reeves of Weir, Texas; three daughters, Mrs. Eula Curry of Hazlett; Mrs. Eliza Fitzpatrick of Waco, and Mrs. Mary Cook of Waco. Other survivors are 47 grandchildren, 78 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. Two brothers and two sisters reside in Georgia.

NO LOSS REPORTED IN PANHANDLE QUAKE

Earthquake shocks were felt over a broad area of the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles last night, alarming the populace but apparently causing no property damage.

Dishes were rattled in homes and one man, George Bishop, an oil worker at Whittenberg, reported the quake knocked him down. The first shock was felt at 9:25 p. m. in Amarillo, Pampa, Borger, Panhandle, Whittenberg and Claude, considerably more distinct than one experienced by the same areas several years ago.

In the Oklahoma panhandle, furniture and walls swayed gently at Guyton and nearby towns at about the same time. D. O. Hissell, Guyton meteorologist, said the quake was the first there in ten years.

One might suggest that the editors visit Dallas and see the mighty exhibits and the beauty of a real world's fair. It might bring them to forget Mr. Carter, his friends and their Fort Worth protestation.—B. W.

Colman Is Featured In Film At Lyric

Is Supported By Loretta Young In Drama, 'Clive Of India'

One of the most beautiful love stories ever shown on the screen will be brought to the Lyric theatre Sunday and Monday when "Clive of India," with the popular Ronald Colman in the starring role, begins its two-day run.

Colman, more dashing and exciting than ever, is supported by the lovely Loretta Young who plays the part of the English girl who was courted by mail by the poor young clerk who had fallen in love with her picture which her brother carried in a pocket.

The love story of this heroic pair is one of the most beautiful and moving the screen has ever shown. The woman's loyalty to the man she loves and her sacrifice to his career—until, in a desperate attempt to check his craving for power she refuses to go on with him, only to return to him at last in his hour of bitterest need—are as great and stirring as the bravest deeds of this powerful man.

Rich in historical reproduction, every scene is made memorable. Among the most impressive are the reproductions of the Battle of Plassey, Clive's and England's most brilliant victory; Clive's trial in the house of commons, and the horror of the Black Hole of Calcutta. The story of the trial and of accomplices testimony he took part in a robbery.

UPTON AND ECTOR CO. POOLS EXTENDED BY NEW PRODUCERS

Gaines Wildcat Being Watched; Glasscock Block Unitized For Wildcat Test

SAN ANGELO, June 20.—Pumping of 298 barrels of oil in 18 hours by O. S. (Red) Brewer and Forest Smith's No. 1 Cordova Union Land Co., indicated 1 1/2-mile southeast extension to the Hurdle pool in Upton county, to rate 447 barrels a day naturally at 2,072 feet, and the flowing of 475 barrels of oil in 24 hours by Stanolind No. 1-B E. F. Cowden, 1 1/2-mile northwest extension to the Foster pool in Ector county were among West Texas oil developments of note this week. The Keyes (Kermitt) and Sayre pools in northern Winkler county led in the number of large completed producers.

Attention at the close of the week was focused on Landreth No. 1 W. H. Kirk, southern Gaines county wildcat, which was scheduled to test at 4,789 feet after drilling plugs from 7-inch casing cemented at 4,350 feet and running 2 1/2-inch tubing to around 4,500 feet. Between 4,703 feet and the total depth No. 1 Kirk cored lime that showed streaks of saturation but little porosity. At 4,789 feet it was 1,518 feet below sea level and 674 feet past the point picked by some as the top of the gray lime. Location is in the southwest corner of section 22-A21-pal. For the second week in successions outnumbered locations, 24 to 31, but the number of locations was restricted, especially in Winkler county, by a rig builders' strike. Ward county gained nine of the 31 locations, Crane county five, Pecos and Upton counties four each, Ector county three, Howard and Winkler counties two each and Scurry and Taylor counties one each.

Plans were in the making for a new wildcat each in Edwards and Glasscock counties. The Plateau Oil Co., drilling branch of the Peerless Oil & Gas Co., within 45 days intends to spud a scheduled 4,750-foot test on the A. G. Morris block in northeastern Edwards county. Tentative location is in the southwest quarter of section 66-D-HE&WT.

The California Co. and Honolulu Oil Co. have unitized section 25-35-3-T&P in Glasscock county for the drilling of a wildcat on a block of 15 sections. The test probably will be in the northeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 25. It will be the third scheduled since Fleetborn No. 1 Floyd C. Dodson, in the southeast corner of section 13-34-3-T&P, missed the salt and showed oil above a high lime top, but failed to produce in drilling to 3,247 feet.

Dawson Test Halted
Ray Albaugh, northwestern Dawson county wildcat, which recently resumed drilling after a long shut-down, was credited with showing some saturation at a steel line corrected depth of 4,940 feet and halted there to do title work. It is in the center of the northwest quarter of section 46-M-EL&RR.

Brewer & Smith have offset their Upton county discovery well on the north and Perry Fox is drilling 1 1/2 miles to the northeast, in the northwest quarter of section 17-1-MKT. The indicated southeast extension to the Hurdle pool is 330 feet out of the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of section 19-1-MKT.

George Farley's No. 1 A. M. Mayhew, one mile southeast of Ward-Ray's No. 1 Cordova-Union, discovered well almost three miles southwest of the Hurdle area, failed to respond to acid treatment and was scheduled to plug back from 2,363 feet and treat again. It is 1,980 feet from the north and east lines of section 8-B-GC&SF.

Falvey & Smith No. 1 Reece, in the Sherk-Lane producing area, pumped 807 barrels of oil in 19 hours, a rate of 1,020 barrels daily, for completion at 2,183 feet after treating with 2,000 gallons of acid. It is 330 feet out of the southwest corner of section 2-3-MKT. Rhodes & Ward No. 1 Lane, in the southeast quarter of section 3-GC&SF, drilled ahead below 2,108 feet, unchanged, after yielding 24 barrels of oil daily at 2,098 feet following acid treatment.

Gulf No. 2 Tubb in the Sand Hills district in western Crane county struck five barrels of sulphur water hourly from 3,435-58 feet and drilled ahead below 3,485 feet in hard gray lime. It is 440 feet out of the northeast corner of section 12-B27-pal, immediately west of Humble No. 1 Tubb, a producer from the deeper Permian lime.

To Run 8 1/4 Casing
Moore Bros. No. 1 T. C. Barnsley estate, scheduled Ordovician test in the center of the southwest quarter of section 43-82-pal, was strengthening the derrick preparatory to running 8 1/4-inch casing. It was bottomed at 4,874 feet, with sulphur water it has been carrying since 4,585-70 feet standing within a few hundred feet of the top.

Gulf No. 135 McElroy in the McElroy pool, in the center of the southeast quarter of section 202-F-CO&D&RNG, was swabbed in, flowing 490 barrels of oil in 13 1/2 hours, having been shot with 300 quarts from 2,742 to 2,919 feet.

Stanolind No. 1-B E. F. Cowden, 1 1/2-mile northwest extension to the Foster pool in Ector county, was completed for a flow of 475 barrels of oil in 24 hours by heads through casing after having been shot the week before with 345 quarts from 4,020 to 4,135 feet. It is in the northwest corner of section 14-43-2s-T&P.

Largest well completed in Ector county this week was Atlantic-Skelly No. 1 Wight in the North Cowden field, which flowed 1,014 barrels of oil in 24 hours at 4,292 after a shot. It is in the northwest quarter of section 2-43-1s-T&P. Tide Water and Atlantic No. 2 T-P Land Trust, in the northwest corner of section 11-45-1s-T&P, flowed 558 barrels of oil through casing the first 24 hours after being shot, bottomed at 4,222 feet.

Flows 455 Barrels
R. G. Jennings and others No. 1 E. H. Blakeney, broadening the northwest part of the North Cowden field to the south, flowed 455 barrels of oil in 24 hours with four million cubic feet of gas daily at 4,222 feet after shooting. It is 2,200 feet from the north line and

Wildcat Test Is Spudded In Jones County

Another Location Staked; Two Completions In Hawley Field

ABILENE, June 20.—One Jones county wildcat was spudded this week, location was staked for a semi-wildcat and two wells were completed in the Hawley field as features for this area.

The E. F. Robbins, W. K. Wood et al, No. 1 W. C. McCreight was drilling below 500 feet late this week on one of the first rank wildcat tests started in Jones county in several months. It is three and a half miles northeast of Anson, and is located in the south half of section 14, Orphan Asylum lands. The test will drill to 2,900 feet on a try for production in all known Jones producing sands and for the horizon which produces in northeastern Fisher county field.

Location was staked this week by Operators Knight & Ewing of Breckenridge for a half-mile southeast extension test to the Sandy Ridge field in eastern Jones, and will drill to the King sand if production is not found in the regular Sandy Ridge producing horizon. Location is on the L. W. Steffens land, in the northwest corner of the northeast quarter of section 32, block 15, T&P survey.

Completions
In the Hawley field, the N. H. Martin & Son of Wichita Falls No. 3-C Dorsey completed in lower Hope sand from 2,211 to 2,216 feet and flowed 700 barrels in three and a half hours through three quarter company's No. 10 Rhoton was drilling below 1,500 feet and was to set 6-inch casing Saturday night. Sam Goldman's No. 1 Denman, in section 10, block 30, had cemented 6-inch casing at 2,365 and Saturday was to start drilling plug.

Ennisbrook Well Makes 925 Bbls. On Test After Shot

Ennisbrook Oil corporation's No. 8 Rhoton in the East Howard county field, made 925 barrels on test, following a shot of 650 quarts last week end. The well was bottomed at 2,750 feet.

It is located in section 4, block 30, T-1-S. In the same section, the 440 feet from the east line of section 28-43-1s-T&P.

Gulf Pipe Line Co. will start probably next week the laying of a 4-inch line to connect with Wm. H. Dunning, Jr., No. 1 H. E. Cummins, which recently opened Ector county's tenth producing area, flowing 406 barrels of oil in 24 hours, bottomed at 4,252 feet. The well is 2,200 feet from the south line and 440 feet from the east line of section 33-45-1s-T&P.

Tide Water No. 4-B Walton in the Keyes pool northwest of Kermitt in Winkler county was completed at 2,868 feet, flowing 1,277 barrels of oil in 24 hours following a 240-quart shot. It is in the southwest quarter of section 24-26-pal. Sinclair-Prattie No. 2-B Walton, in the southeast corner of section 24-26-pal, flowed 1,047 barrels in 24 hours at 2,993 feet after shooting with 160 quarts. Sinclair-Prattie No. 3-B Walton, in the northeast quarter of section 24-26-pal, was shot with 240 quarts and flowed 1,478 barrels of oil in 24 hours, bottomed at 2,997 feet.

inch choke. It is in the east half of section 5, Bueno survey No. 197, Martin No. 4-C Dorsey was staked late this week following completion of the 3-C and will be spudded this week-end. It is to try for Bluff Creek production 200 feet from the north and 208 feet from the west line of the east half of the east half of section 5, Bueno survey No. 197.

Second completion was the Thomas D. Humphrey No. 15 Dorsey, in the northwest corner of section 19, Manual Bueno survey No. 196. It flowed 415 barrels from lower Hope sand topped at 2,222 and drilled to 2,224 feet.

Drilling Past 2,045
Eight miles north of Abilene, the Condon Petroleum company No. 9 Henry Sayles was drilling ahead past 2,045 feet after casing off 16 feet of saturation in the regular pay sand of the field. As an experimental test in the proven limits of the field, it will be continued to the King sand or 2,200 feet. If no better production than the regular pay is found in the lower horizons, it will be plugged back. Sand was cored from 1,912 to 1,929 feet.

Three miles north of Abilene the George Callins No. 1 S. J. Winter, 300 feet south of the Jones county line, was delayed as pipe collapsed when 23 feet of water sand in the Bluff Creek horizon was drilled. It found sand from 2,003 to 2,026 feet. Location is in the Alexander Thompson survey No. 20.

In Fisher county, the Tide Water & Berry Brothers and Perini No. 3 Mary Howard was being treated with a second load of 1,000 gallons of acid after a nitro shot and the first 1,000-gallon treatment increased production to an estimated 200 to 250 barrels per day. It had originally drilled into water at a total depth of 3,703 feet, but was plugged back to 3,668 feet. Top of pay sand is at 3,640 feet. It is in section 150, block 2, H7&C survey.

TOM'S PRESCRIPTION 6000 AGAIN BRINGS RELIEF

POPULAR FORSAN WOMAN UNABLE TO DO HOUSE WORK

Mrs. G. B. McAllen, Forsan, Texas, Says:
"It is a pleasure for me to tell you how much Tom's Prescription has done for me. Before taking this prescription I was in a very run down condition, sluggish, listless and gas on my stomach. My stomach was very acid and sour. I could hardly eat a thing. I was so exhausted that I simply could not do my house work and all that I wanted to do was stay in bed or lay around."

"Tom's Prescription 6000 was recommended to me and from the very first day I could see results. It was in a few days I was back on my feet, felt good, could do my house work. I was not sluggish, gas disappeared from my stomach and my sour stomach was gone, which had caused me so much heart burn. My tongue was clear and I have not felt better in years than I feel now."

"One thing about Tom's Prescription 6000 it did not gripe, upset or tear my stomach up. In fact I could not tell that I had taken any thing, only that I felt so much better."

"Another thing, every time I would eat any thing, it would upset my stomach, cause terrible pains, and bloating caused from sour stomach. Now I can eat any thing with ease knowing that all my pains and troubles are gone."

"I hope that every one that reads this letter and has the same trouble that I have had will try one box of Tom's Prescription 6000."

Tom's Prescription 6000 should not be confused with ordinary 25c laxatives, it should be looked upon as a treatment.

TOM'S PRESCRIPTION 6000 RELIEVES GAS ON STOMACH
TOM'S PRESCRIPTION 6000 IS SAFE! It does not contain calomel, aloes senna or habit forming drugs.

STUDY WAY TO GIVE STATE OWN SOCIAL SECURITY TAXES

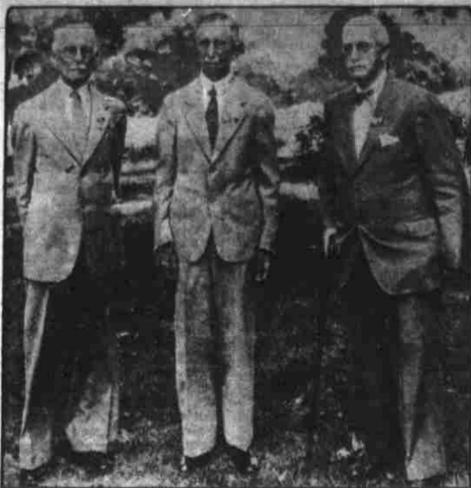

Special Legislation Planned So That Payroll Levy Might Be Retained

By RAYMOND BROOKS

AUSTIN, June 20.—Federal and state officials are at work on the form of legislation, and on procedure that will give Texas back 90 per cent of this year's payroll for social security purposes. Oscar Powell, newly-appointed federal social security administrator for Texas, informed state officials that Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, is drafting the form of a state statute under which Texas can have its payroll taxes allocated to its program, but that the legislation must be passed before the end of the year. That would necessitate a special session of the legislature this fall. The Texas planning board will review and report the legislation within two weeks. Powell conferred with Wallace C. Kelly, chairman of the social benefits committee of the state planning board here, and it was agreed, at this discussion, that the committee will meet and take up the proposed measure as soon as it is transmitted by Secy. Perkins to

LAST CIVIL WAR MINISTER VETS

These three United Presbyterian ministers are the last remaining members of the ministry among living veterans of the civil war. They met at the 80th anniversary commencement of Monmouth college at Monmouth, Ill. Left to right: Rev. G. W. Mitchell, Kansas City; Rev. G. I. Gordon, Oklahoma City, and Rev. J. A. Barnes, Monmouth. (Associated Press Photo)

Mr. Powell and by him to the planning board. One of the issues in the political campaign is that Texas, unless it takes action, will lose the 1 per cent payroll taxes collected on this year's business, and that the money will be given other states. Unless the special session ends before mid-November, the troublesome question will arise whether new legislators, elected in November, will be able to take over their seats from the outgoing members. Dan Moody, an attorney general, ruled that as soon as the general election returns have been canvassed and the victorious candidates officially determined, the new members of the house and senate are entitled to their seats.

Powell is preparing to open his temporary social security administration headquarters in San Antonio. He did not, in Austin, discuss plans of the social security board as to the permanent headquarters. Reports have indicated that space is being set aside in the new federal building, now being completed at Austin, to house this agency.

The establishment of unemployment insurance benefits under the payroll tax is only one phase of social security on which the legislature will be asked to pass enabling acts. Mothers' pensions, for care of destitute children, and several forms of disability benefits will be included.

The prospect of a special session of the legislature this fall, probably soon after the August 22 second primary, appeared considerably strengthened by the fact that state agencies are pushing forward the work of preparing and reviewing the necessary legislation for it to act upon.

35 BAKERS ATTEND CONFERENCE HERE

About thirty-five bakers from the West Texas area, including Big Spring, Midland, San Angelo, Lamesa, Lubbock, Colorado and Sweetwater, attended a bakers' school held at Hotel Settles Thursday evening. The school was held under auspices of the General Mills, Inc., of Minneapolis, Minnesota. Bill Doty, Miss Katherine Couch and Ralph Gaylord, all of Minneapolis, conducted the school, giving outlines in modern bakery problems and suggestions to solve them.

Following the school a banquet was served. During the next sixty days Miss Couch and Mr. Gaylord will return to this area to conduct a bread campaign, it was announced by R. C. Pyent, representative in this section for General Mills, Inc.

LOCAL MAN'S FATHER INTERRED IN KANSAS

Funeral services were to be held Saturday afternoon at Newton, Kansas, for A. C. Golden, father of Glenn Golden, manager in Big Spring for American Airlines.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Golden went to Newton by plane Friday on receipt of word of his father's death. Although in failing health for two years, victim of an illness that had necessitated the amputation of both legs, Mr. Golden died unexpectedly.

Constitution Issue Marked By Confusion

GOP Platform And Landon Differ; Roosevelt Remains Silent

By BYRON PRICE

(Chief of AP Bureau, Washington) The present confused status of the much-advertised constitutional issue has stirred a chorus of "I-told-you-so's" from those who have doubted all along whether constitutional questions would figure in any clear-cut manner in the campaign of 1936.

Certainly no other political subject is surrounded, at the moment, with greater popular befuddlement. Even if a sharp line of disagreement between the parties had developed heretofore—and none did—the supreme court decision in the minimum wage case would have raised much questioning and uncertainty in the public mind.

On the one hand is the silence of Mr. Roosevelt, and the hesitant attitude of the democrats generally. Some of them want to amend the constitution, and some still are developed heretofore—and none did—the supreme court decision in the minimum wage case would have raised much questioning and uncertainty in the public mind.

On the other side is the expression of the republican platform that no amendment is necessary, and the declaration of the presidential nominee, Governor Landon, that he conditionally favors an amendment.

How can such a criss-crossing of the issue be translated into a democratic-republican issue which will mean much to the ordinary voter?

League Leads Attack The chain of events which led up to the present situation is so interesting and so extraordinary that it is well worth reviewing.

Early in his administration, Mr. Roosevelt began to be accused by some of his political foes of seeking to circumvent and nullify the constitution. The American Liberty league was founded, said its charter, "to defend and uphold the constitution."

The NRA decision, followed by the President's "horse and buggy" observation, led to widespread supposition that the democrats would favor some sort of amendment. Several cabinet officials hinted broadly that an amendment might be considered necessary.

Yet the project fell far short of an authentic party declaration, and the "horse and buggy" talk gave way to efforts to pass new and acceptable legislation under the constitution as one after another of the new deal laws was rejected by the supreme court.

Throughout this period ranking republican leaders spoke often in eulogy of the constitution and the courts as the palladium of liberty—a sentiment incorporated, in fact, in one section of the republican platform adopted at Cleveland.

Courts Tangles Issue Then, just on the eve of the Cleveland convention, came the supreme court decision invalidating New York state's minimum wage law. It was read by many as a denial of the right of the states to deal with that subject.

It took the republicans, then already on the way to their convention city, completely by surprise. After much telephoning between Cleveland and Topeka, the Landonites offered a plank for a constitutional amendment empowering the states to pass labor legislation.

Incidentally, they also presented a second proposal to amend the constitution to permit the president to veto individual items of appropriation bills; so that, insofar as they could speak for him, Governor Landon's friends had put the prospective republican nominee in the position of being the first to advocate, not one, but two, amendments.

Both of these proposals the platform committee rejected, amid great protest that the republican party hardly could go on record, under the circumstances, as the only party favoring constitutional changes. To which Mr. Landon rejoined in his celebrated telegram, saying he might want an amendment anyway.

Meantime, in the southwest, Mr. Roosevelt was throwing out some suggestions that he liked the constitution, and that the only trouble was with its interpretation.

Will the Philadelphia democratic convention do something to make all of this intelligible, or will it only make matters worse?

"Dress Up" Trend Of Smart Beach Wear Sounds Death Knell Of Nudist Effects

Young America seeking to achieve allure is turning to beach outfits like the one pictured above which combines a "dressmaker" swim suit having fairly full trunks and a fitted top, with a dress of the same material for lounging hours. It is made of soft blue green rayon patterned in brown and white circles and is worn with a brown scarf.

By ADELAIDE KERR

NEW YORK, (AP)—When smart young America goes to the beach this summer, it will cover up more skin than last year and "dress up" more than ever before. The 1936 suits for swimming and lounging blouse an independent trail.

Gone are the nudist effects achieved by a bandana around the bust, another about the hips, and a wide expanse of epidermis in between. Most of the suits have a bare sun-tan back cut out to the waistline, but they are "all there" in front and are not too abbreviated as to trunks.

They follow a "dress up" trend which is both new and smart. The days when Mademoiselle put on any convenient bathing suit and headed for the water are no more. The 1936 idea is to "dress" for the beach in a suit which shows off its wearer to the best advantage. Suit, figure and face unite to achieve the desirable allure.

Rich cravat silks, bright flowered challis, soft figured rayons and gay pebbled cottons are used to make the new suits, cut with short, fairly full trunks or designed as a mallow topped by a brief skirt. Tops fit the figure in front and are often bare to the waist in the back. Some of the suits are made over thin wool material to give them weight.

Crinkled rubber suits and elasticated satin suits which cling to the figure in shimmering sleekness like a mermaid's scales also are much "in the swim." Standard wool suits remain in favor. They are shown in a low backed mallow often topped by a detachable skirt with crinkled elasticized waistline.

Fitted full length coats, often made of the same material, and finished with trim revers and buttoned fairly close about the figure are worn with the swimming suits. There are also short loose toweling coats in white, bright colors, dark hues of striped effects which are as multicolored as Joseph's coat.

Slacks are shown in great numbers for lounging hours on sunny sands. They sometimes appear with cuffed trouser hems and tailored tuck-in shirt tops—all made of navy shantung or one of the crisp new canvas-like rayons in white, beige or yellow. Culotte (divided skirt) beach frocks of linen and shantung also are much in favor.

Close fitting rubber turban caps, rope and raffia sandals and canvas pouch beach bags comprise the rest of the beach paraphernalia.

Life Saving Work Planned By Red Cross

St. Louis Man To Be Here On June 29 To Assist In Program

Roger C. Plaisted, representative of the Red Cross' Midwestern Area Headquarters in St. Louis, will be here on June 29 to assist the local chapter in its efforts to reduce the hazards of aquatic, Walton Morrison, chairman of the life saving service of the local chapter, said Saturday.

In announcing the visit of Plaisted, Morrison called attention to the appalling death toll from drowning. Each year, he said, about 7,400 persons are drowned. These fatalities exceed by hundreds the number of lives lost in steam, railway accidents and explosions combined.

"In spite of the forward strides the National Red Cross had made in life saving," he added, "the annual loss of life from drowning continues to be staggering. The death rate from this cause climbed seven per cent between 1920 and 1930 because in more recent years additional millions have answered the call of the surf, lake or pool.

"The worst of it is that the majority of the deaths are avoidable and generally can be traced to lack of knowledge on the part of the victim. Aside from the tragedies involved, drowning, which is the second most important cause of accidental death among men and boys, is extremely costly to industry. The wage loss, medical expense and overhead insurance cost involved in accidental deaths and injuries in 1932 exceeded two billion dollars."

Morrison stated that since Big Spring had secured a fine pool, it was important that swimmers learn something about life saving.

"While the life saving examiner's course will be offered for the purpose of instructing and qualifying teachers of the Red Cross Life Saving course," Morrison said, "the public is cordially invited to attend these meetings in order that they may acquaint themselves with the Red Cross methods. The course of instruction will be interesting to everyone, especially those who swim or who are around water a great deal."

Swimming Kept On Safe Basis At Boy Scout Camp In Edwards County

CAMP FAWCETT, Barksdale, June 20—The safest place in the world to swim is at this scout camp.

Seventy scouts and 10 leaders have the natural advantage of swimming in the Nueces river where the water is almost crystal clear. Were any to go to the bottom, they would be quickly spotted from the bank.

Real safety precautions come from the enforcement of buddy system. No scout can go in swimming unless he has a "buddy" to swim by his side constantly. Without warning and at irregular intervals Will Hubbard, director of the waterfront activities, blows his whistle and every scout must hold up his buddy's hand. If he can't do this, he and his buddy must get out of the water.

Before scouts are allowed to enter the pool they must take their number off the white side of a big board near the river and place it on the red side with the number of their buddy along side. When they have finished, they must take the numbers from the red side and place them back on the white.

A few times the camp has had a good laugh at the expense of some scout when Hubbard announced that he is officially drowned because his number has been left on the red side of the board.

Scouts may go into the water only at fixed hours for swimming. They are also classified as swimmers (non-swimmers), beginners and swimmers. Each have separate periods or pools.

Texas Crude Quotas Cut

Allowable 57,000 Barrels Lower; West Texas Is Reduced

AUSTIN, June 20 (AP)—Allowable oil production in Texas was approximately 57,000 barrels lower today as a result of a new production order by the state railroad commission.

The new allowable figure was 1,127,843 barrels daily, compared with estimated authorized production of 1,184,556 barrels on June 15. The basic allowable set by the last previous order on May 20 was 1,143,996 barrels.

The commission acted after operators had asked that their production be cut in order that the market might be kept firm. The reductions were spread fairly well over the state except in the north Texas and Panhandle districts, which contain a large number of marginal producers. The allowables of 69,880 barrels for North Texas and 61,890 for the Panhandle were not changed.

Production of East Texas wells was reduced from 26 per cent of hourly potential to 2.32 per cent. The commission said the field allowable under the new order was 425,000 barrels compared with 438,000 barrels on May 20 and 439,933 on June 15.

V. E. Cottingham, commission engineer, testified at the monthly hearing that pressure in East Texas has dropped seven and one-half pounds the past month and asked that the allowable be cut.

The allowable for East Central Texas was reduced 3,075 barrels to 49,041. Southwest Texas 562 to 148,115. Gulf Coast 2,368 to 175,769. West Central 547 to 63,294, and West Texas 1,275 to 150,179.

Production in the Texas portion of the Redessa field was limited to 4,675 barrels daily, which was in line with the Louisiana schedule of 275 barrels per well.

The United States bureau of mines estimated demand for Texas crude in July at 1,146,500 barrels daily. Ernest O. Thompson, commission chairman, called attention to the fact that Texas is keeping beneath the bureau's figures. He said the basic allowable effective today probably would remain in effect until August 1.

FORD V-8 ECONOMY MEANS HIGH "Dollar Mileage" [MORE MILES PER DOLLAR]

- ONLY THE FORD V-8 GIVES YOU ALL OF THESE FEATURES
- 1 V-8 ENGINE PERFORMANCE WITH ECONOMY
 - 2 SUPER-SAFETY MECHANICAL BRAKES
 - 3 WELDED STEEL BODY—STEEL STRUCTURE AS WELL AS SURFACE
 - 4 SAFETY GLASS ALL AROUND AT NO EXTRA CHARGE
 - 5 CENTER-POISE RIDING COMFORT

NO MATTER how you classify your expenditures for car up-keep — it's your total expenditure that counts. How much "dollar mileage" is your car giving you?

Dollars do go farther in the Ford V-8. Modern improved carburetion gives you unusual gasoline mileage with brilliant V-8 performance. Most owners of today's Ford change oil only at 2000-mile intervals and never add a drop between changes. And after the first few thousand miles you know what Ford V-8 "dollar mileage" really means.

It gives you more miles per dollar because it gives you all-round economy — low first cost, low up-keep cost, low depreciation and long life — as well as low gasoline and oil consumption. All these help to make the Ford V-8 the most economical car.

Around And About

The Sports Circuit By Tom Beasley

JOE LOUIS, the Alabama-born, darkly labeled the Detroit Destroyer by ambitious fight promoters, folded up Friday night before a vicious attack by the game German, Max Schmeling.

IF YOU study carefully a blow-by-blow account of the fight, you easily find that Schmeling waged a smart fight. He took a small amount of punishment the first three rounds as he studied his mechanical-like opponent, and then shot devastating rights to Louis' jaw in the fourth that turned the tide.

LIKE ALL of the rest, we picked Louis to win. It was an astounding upset. Out of eight hundred sports writers and fight experts, only one picked Schmeling to win.

DON BUDGE WINS QUEENS TITLE

LONDON, June 20. (AP) — Don Budge, United States Davis cup ace, today won the Queen's club tennis championship, defeating David Jones, former Columbia university star, 6-4, 6-3, in an all-American final.

Jedwiga Jedzejowski of Poland easily won the women's singles title, beating Susan Noel of England in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4. Miss Noel was erratic until near the end when she rallied, but it was too late.

Budge returned to the court with his Davis cup partner, Gene Macko, and turned back Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn to win the doubles title in straight sets. The scores were 6-3, 6-4.

Van Ryn dropped his service in the first set and Budge and Macko broke through Allison in the second to give the Davis cup combination a lead which they never relinquished.

SCHMELING-BRADDOCK TITLE FIGHT IS PLANNED

Owens Captures Individual Honors In National Collegiate Meet

MAX BACK IN THE TOP DIVISION

By ALAN GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor) NEW YORK, June 20. (AP)—Max Schmeling and James J. Braddock, who have now combined to spill more fistic dope than any other brace of boxers in heavyweight history, will fight for the world championship in a long shot play-off this September at the Yankee stadium.

There are a flock of arguments to be waged, contracts to untangle and differences to smooth out between rival promoting interests, but Mike Jacobs, representing the 20th Century Sporting club, declared today he expected to reach an agreement with all concerned and conduct the match.

Jacobs already has Schmeling's signed agreement for a title bout, a precaution he took despite the solemn assurances that it was just a fancy gesture and wouldn't mean a thing after Joe Louis finished operating on the German veteran.

Braddock is under contract with Madison Square Garden for the first defense of the title he won from Max Baer a year ago. The Garden has until August 1 to name the challenger but Schmeling automatically became the No. 1 contender by his 12-round knockout of the erstwhile brown bomber.

It's now up to Jacobs and the Garden to get together. The betting on Broadway today was odd on that the hatchet will quickly be buried in the vicinity of 49th street, and that the two cinderella men of boxing will square off three months hence.

It's one of the strangest turns in all sport, in fact two complete somersaults, that finds Braddock and Schmeling as top men in the heavyweight fight industry scarcely two years after each was rated just a "washed up" veteran, his future behind him and no place to go except oblivion, so far as the ring was concerned.

Turn back the pages to 1934. Schmeling by then had profited handsomely from the ring, married the beautiful Anny Ondra, film star, and returned to his German estate, while Braddock was struggling to get preliminary fights so that he could earn enough money to keep his family from actual privation. Beyond this contrast however, they were in the same bracket so far as the fight critics were concerned.

Schmeling had been knocked out by Max Baer, beaten badly by Steve Hamas, but he continued to fight at intervals in Europe. Evidently the German, like Braddock, but for different reasons, refused to concede the verdict he was "through."

Perhaps the one inspired the other, for it was following Braddock's surprising triumph over Baer for the title, just a year ago, that Schmeling took more interest in a comeback himself.

Schmeling, for the asking, could have had a title match with Braddock this year without first encountering Louis. In fact the Garden at one time announced it had clinched a Schmeling-Braddock match. It clinched now, all right, but only because the German insisted on doing it the hard way.

He has Schmeling signed already and if the champion can adjust his contractual difficulties with Madison Square Garden, the fight will be staged in the Yankee stadium in September.

Braddock said he would be delighted to fight the German. The stunning upset was a tremendous disappointment to Louis and his handlers, but they accepted it as a temporary reversal only, and promised the bomber will be back on the fistic big time before another year has passed.

Sprayed thumbs one of Joe's managers, attributed the defeat to Louis' sprained thumbs. From the fourth, when he injured his digits, the negro was not able to land a good punch. In fact, his thumbs, a badly swollen jaw, the result of the smashing right that spilled him for the first knockdown, pained so he doesn't remember what happened from then until the finish.

Roxborough and Julian Black, Joe's other manager, praised Schmeling's courage and sportsmanship highly, but they give a large slice of the credit to Little Joe Jacobs, the schlager's manager. In his past fights, Louis always had used a lot of soft gauze and six feet of tape for hand bandages.

Words Used By Frank Frisch Puzzle To Player-Writer Ripper Collins

ST. LOUIS, June 20 (AP) — "James A. Collins" by-lying a newspaper article has proven an effective combination with "Collins 1B" in the lineup of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Dapper Ripper Collins makes it pay both ways. After batting away at baseballs for the Cardinals in the afternoon, he bats away at his portable typewriter each evening for a newspaper (The Times-Union) in Rochester, N. Y., his home town.

He started his journalistic venture with the typewriter and two dictionaries. "But those dictionaries haven't done me any good at all," he says.

"I've pondered through both of them," he explains, "but I've never run across any of Frank Frisch's language. So that has given me another idea. I now plan to write a ball players' dictionary. I'll gather all the pet words and answers from the players around the league. That book ought to be a best-seller."

In his hotel room, which resembles a miniature newspaper office, papers and files strewn about Ripper bites his tongue, reaches for the keys and pecks out such items as this one: Pepper Martin's Conscience

....Pepper Martin came up to me today and popped an old query. "Did you evah," he wanted to know, "do anything that made your conscience trouble you, Rip?"

I told him I couldn't think of anything off hand, and asked why. "Well," he said, "Ah promised a fellow a baseball. So, when nobody was looking, Ah stole one out of the ball bag. Ah've had a funny feeling ever since. Something inside of me keeps ordering me to put it back."

He showed me the ball. It wasn't a new one. So I sez to the colonel (he is a colonel back in Oklahoma), "Colonel Martin, if you feels that way, theahs' only one thing to do—put it right back in that thar bag." (I always talk to Pepper like he talks to me.)

So, over he went, put the ball in the bag, dragged out a brand new one and hot-footed it for the clubhouse. I was only a few steps behind. "What's the idea?" I demanded. "Well, Ripphah," he answered, "Ah couldn't bear to give mah friend a scuffed up ol' ball."

Refiners Clash With Sweetwater

Bob Baugh, S. Greer Golfers Play Odessa Today

By HANK HART Spike Henninger and his Cousin Ollers, rated as the top ranking independent team of West Texas, will try not to let team records or big names ruffle their confidence when they take the field against the Sweetwater Southsiders today at 3:30 p. m. on the East Third street diamond.

Among the ranks of a team that has compiled a great record against aggregations of Nolan and Taylor counties, Manager R. R. Huddleston has two infielders who should go great. One is Bob Baugh, brother to "Slingin' Sam" of TCU, and the other, Charley Greer.

Bob played football on Newman field along with brother Samuel and was considered on par with the youngster who was later to make football history in Fort Worth, but Robert frowned on a college education when a job with a Sweetwater oil company popped up, and went to work.

At the present time, it is Sam who is the "pet" of the sports writers, both in football and basketball, but big Bob is a harder hitter and plays second middle to none. Greer, if he measures up in any way to his brother's ability, will be a flashy player.

The Goldwaite Prize, John Hill, will toss for the locals, with the veteran, "Mileaway" Baker as a battery mate. Hill, in five appearances this season, was given the verdict in two games, but has lost a brace to come up with a 500 win and lost average.

The curly headed right hander, whose art of baffling the opposition has been a mystery because he boasts of nothing but a fast ball and a sweeping curve, has struck out 19 men in the 36 innings he has worked, and allowed nine runs and 44 hits.

Hill will have the full team to bank on. Wallin, Spikes, Moffett, and Morgan will all be there in the infield, and Harris, Martin, and West are expected to show up for Garden duty.

Pap Payne will be around for extra duty. The veteran beat Loraine last week in a beautifully pitched ball game and has earned his day of rest, but may do some pinching.

AMERICANS WIN IN POLO MATCH

HURLINGHAM CLUB, London, June 20. (AP)—America retained the international polo cup against England's challenge today, winning the second and deciding match, 8 to 6. The cup-defenders won the first match, 15 to 9, played ten days ago.

Roadrunners, Oilers Play First Game In Last Half Softball Card

COSDEN IS WINNER OF FIRST LAP

Play in the last half of the Many softball league will get underway Monday with the Settles Roadrunners meeting the Cosden Oilers.

Six teams are in line for the final chase which will end August 13. Teams entered in the last half are Settles, Cosden, Continental, Shell, Cosden Lab, and Frost.

The "north" team—composed of Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Fort Worth, and Dallas players—has six candidates for the job. The "south" half has four, but the choice here is likely to be harder than for the opposing ballot casters.

Jim Stroner, Dallas, stands well above his competitors thus far. Stroner may not be the best fielder of the six candidates, but his powerful hitting furnishes crowd appeal and runs for the league's top team.

The herd representative was batting .340 at the time statistics were compiled last week. His 15 home runs were good for first place. Oiler honors held by Stroner were second place in the number of runs scored, with 55; third place in the number of hits with 87; second place in the number of runs batted in, with 57.

Joe Bilgere, the polished third baseman of the Oklahoma City club, probably surpasses his rivals in fielding, but his weakness at the plate caused his displacement recently by Karl Kott.

Roy Grimes, Fort Worth's eligible for the third-base choice, has handled more chances than any of the other five. His weakness is in handling runners coming down from second base.

Marty McManus of Tulsa, veteran of almost 20 major and minor league campaigns, is one of the craftiest third basemen in the race. His age, however, is a handicap in covering the field.

Bob Allaire, McManus' alternate, plays an all-around good game as utility infielder for Tulsa. The fans backing Houston, Galveston, Beaumont and San Antonio, find the choice of a third baseman much more difficult.

Dan Harshany, versatile guard-in of that position on the San Antonio team, doubles well as well supported at the polls. He leads the class in hitting.

George Binder, the Galveston representative, will draw many votes for his excellent fielding ability. He is a fair hitter. Herbie Schuble of Houston and Mart Christman of Beaumont will draw many votes, particularly from hometown fans.

The four candidates offer little to choose from in a defensive way, with the possible exception that Binder may cover a little wider range.

George Binder, the Galveston representative, will draw many votes for his excellent fielding ability. He is a fair hitter. Herbie Schuble of Houston and Mart Christman of Beaumont will draw many votes, particularly from hometown fans.

White men and negroes fought four brief, short battles in two hours after Schmeling laid out the negro champion. One white man was shot, two lost their front teeth and two were severely beaten. A negro who boasted he had won a 12-1 bet on Schmeling was stabbed and his skull was fractured by a mob.

Six hundred uniformed patrolmen and 100 plain clothes detectives stationed in Harlem for just such developments had been partially demobilized when the violence occurred.

Disorders occurred in three places. Bands of negroes stoned street cars, breaking windows in two of them.

Many Players Bid For 3rd Base Position

Clipper Smith Out As Santa Clara Coach

Resignation of Maurice J. "Clipper" Smith as football coach at Santa Clara university to become head coach at Villanova college was announced today by Father W. C. Gianers, president of the Santa Clara board of athletic control.

Smith submitted his resignation effective immediately, at a special meeting of the board here last night. The appointment of Smith to the Villanova job fills a vacancy created when Harry Stalderer moved to University of Wisconsin.

SAN JOSE, Calif., June 20 (AP)—Lawrence "Buck" Shaw will succeed Maurice J. "Clipper" Smith as head football coach at the University of Santa Clara, the board of athletic control announced today.

Smith resigned last night to go to Villanova college as head football coach. Shaw, known as the "Silver Fox" because of his grey hair, will have a free hand in selecting his staff, the board said.

He was graduated in 1923 from Notre Dame, where he was chosen all-time tackle, then coached at Nevada for two years and at North Carolina for a year.

Shaw returned to Nevada in 1925, staying there until Smith made him assistant coach at Santa Clara in 1929.

ROLAND ROMERO SETS NEW HOP, STEP, JUMP RECORD

DALLAS, June 20. (UP)—Roland Romero, hop, step and jump artist from Loyola university at New Orleans, held a new record in this event today.

Romero set a new record of 57 feet—one half inch better than his former mark in the 100-meter track meet held last night at the Texas Centennial exposition.

This was the only new record set at the track meet, which was unique in Texas sports events because white boys and negroes competed together for the first time in the state's history.

Ralph Metcalfe, former Marquette university star, was credited with a time of 10.4 seconds for the 100-meter dash. The negro flash's time was only a tenth of a second under the world record, and was made on a dirt track.

Eddie Tolson, Michigan negro who won both the 100-meter and 200-meter events in the 1932 Olympics, ran the 50 meters in 6.2 seconds, in an exhibition. Because of some doubt about his amateur status since he returned from the Australian tour, Southern A.A.U. officials, who sponsored the meet, suggested that Tolson run against time instead of participating in a regular race.

Jack Torrance, young giant from Louisiana State university, who holds the world shot put championship, threw the shot 51 feet 8 1/4 inches today.

Centennial Asks For Heavyweight Battle

NEW YORK, June 20. (UP)—The Texas Centennial put in a bid today for the heavyweight title fight between Jimmy Braddock and Max Schmeling when William Hitzelberger, chairman of the athletic commission, conferred with Mike Jacobs of the 20th Century Club and Jimmy Johnson of Madison Square Garden.

He told promoters that the Centennial would like the fight in Dallas in September. After listening, Jacobs said they would study the situation if given the guarantee of a million dollar gate.

WORLD RECORDS ECLIPSED

By CHARLES DUNKLEY CHICAGO, June 20. (UP)—Winning four first places, Ohio State's dusky star, Jesse Owens, galloped away with individual honors in the national collegiate track and field championship today, with the team championship going to the Trojans of Southern California in a sweeping victory. Two world records were eclipsed.

The Trojans, scoring in fourteen of the sixteen events amassed 104 1-3 points, with Ohio State second with 73. Indiana was third with 42, and Stanford fourth with 32.

Owens, winning the broad jump, the 220-yard low hurdles, the 100-meter dash and the 400-meter dash, bettered the existing world record in the Olympic century. He sprinted the 100 meters in 10.2, clipping a tenth of a second off the accepted world mark of Percy Williams, Ralph Metcalfe and Eddie Toian. The time equaled Metcalfe's NCAA record which never obtained further recognition.

Ken Carpenter of Southern California was another world record breaker when he hurled the discus 173 feet, to beat the old mark of 171 1/4 inches made by the Swedish athlete, Harald Anderson in 1934.

STAGG FIELD, Chicago, June 20. (UP)—Two American records fell today as final events in the 15th annual national collegiate track and field championships.

Alton Terry, Hardin-Simmons javelin star, threw the spear 235 feet on one throw, bettering his own American record of 222 feet, 8.8 inches. Ken Carpenter, Southern California discus thrower who set a new N. C. A. record yesterday, had one throw of 171 feet. Paul Jessup, Washington, holds the accepted mark of 169 feet 7-8 inches.

GEORGE RENSA IN VOTING LEAD

DALLAS, June 20. (UP)—Husky George Rensa, the Dallas Steers' first string catcher, continued to hold the lead in voting for the northern division team of the Texas league all-star game in latest tabulations issued by the league office today.

Rensa has rolled up 424 votes for the July 25 game to be played here with Jim Stroner, Dallas, third sacker, close behind with 402.

Pitchers—Fullerton, 386; Baker, 300; Glatto, 200; Parker, 204, all of Dallas; Johnson, Fort Worth, 198; Milledge, Tulsa, 188; Klesner, Oklahoma City, 134.

Catchers—Rensa, Dallas, 424; Susec, Fort Worth, 178. First base—Cobb, Tulsa, 258; Stebbins, Fort Worth, 88. Second base—Mallon, Dallas, 396; English, Fort Worth, 46.

Third base—Stroner, Dallas, 402; Grimes, Fort Worth, 40. Shortstop—Levey, Tulsa, 196; York, Dallas, 150.

Utility infielders—English, Fort Worth, 198; Montague, Dallas, 77. Left field—Harvel, Dallas, 240; Easterling, Oklahoma City, 77. Centerfield—Tauby, Dallas, 388; Shelley, Fort Worth, 36.

Right field—Mosoff, Dallas, 340; Weis, Fort Worth, 75. Utility outfielder—Easterling, Oklahoma City, 110; Harvel, Dallas, 74. Manager—Gaston, Dallas, 60; Nishoff, Oklahoma City, 74.

DALLAS, June 20. (UP)—Average choppers handled every day in an interest comparison for the Texas league all-star game July 25 here.

On this basis, this is the way the third basemen rank now: North—Bilgere, Oklahoma City, 3-4 Grimes, Fort Worth, 3-3; Ott, Oklahoma City, 3-3; McManus, Tulsa, 3-1; Stroner, Dallas; Allaire, Tulsa, 3.

South—Binder, Galveston, 3-4; Christman, Beaumont, 3-2; Harshany, San Antonio, 3-1; Schrubbe, Houston, 2-8. When it comes to hitting, however, there is a change. In the north, Stroner is among the leaders, his heavy clouting giving him a lead in the northern voting. In the south there is little to choose between the hitting of Harshany, who is a clean-up swatter, and Binder, regarded as an excellent craftsman in the art of third base play.

Play in the last half of the Many softball league will get underway Monday with the Settles Roadrunners meeting the Cosden Oilers.

Six teams are in line for the final chase which will end August 13. Teams entered in the last half are Settles, Cosden, Continental, Shell, Cosden Lab, and Frost.

The "north" team—composed of Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Fort Worth, and Dallas players—has six candidates for the job. The "south" half has four, but the choice here is likely to be harder than for the opposing ballot casters.

Jim Stroner, Dallas, stands well above his competitors thus far. Stroner may not be the best fielder of the six candidates, but his powerful hitting furnishes crowd appeal and runs for the league's top team.

The herd representative was batting .340 at the time statistics were compiled last week. His 15 home runs were good for first place. Oiler honors held by Stroner were second place in the number of runs scored, with 55; third place in the number of hits with 87; second place in the number of runs batted in, with 57.

Joe Bilgere, the polished third baseman of the Oklahoma City club, probably surpasses his rivals in fielding, but his weakness at the plate caused his displacement recently by Karl Kott.

Roy Grimes, Fort Worth's eligible for the third-base choice, has handled more chances than any of the other five. His weakness is in handling runners coming down from second base.

Marty McManus of Tulsa, veteran of almost 20 major and minor league campaigns, is one of the craftiest third basemen in the race. His age, however, is a handicap in covering the field.

Bob Allaire, McManus' alternate, plays an all-around good game as utility infielder for Tulsa. The fans backing Houston, Galveston, Beaumont and San Antonio, find the choice of a third baseman much more difficult.

Dan Harshany, versatile guard-in of that position on the San Antonio team, doubles well as well supported at the polls. He leads the class in hitting.

George Binder, the Galveston representative, will draw many votes for his excellent fielding ability. He is a fair hitter. Herbie Schuble of Houston and Mart Christman of Beaumont will draw many votes, particularly from hometown fans.

The four candidates offer little to choose from in a defensive way, with the possible exception that Binder may cover a little wider range.

White men and negroes fought four brief, short battles in two hours after Schmeling laid out the negro champion. One white man was shot, two lost their front teeth and two were severely beaten. A negro who boasted he had won a 12-1 bet on Schmeling was stabbed and his skull was fractured by a mob.

Six hundred uniformed patrolmen and 100 plain clothes detectives stationed in Harlem for just such developments had been partially demobilized when the violence occurred.

Disorders occurred in three places. Bands of negroes stoned street cars, breaking windows in two of them.

Detroit, June 20 (UP)—"Little Harlem" was broke and dejected today.

All Hastings street—local Lenox avenue—persons who knew Joe when he was a preliminary boy and later dubbed him "unwounded heavyweight champion," still were dazed. Hundreds who bet every cent of their newly received bonus money lost it.

ATKINSON IN FINALS 3RD FLIGHT

HAMLIN, June 20. (Sp.)—Obie Bristow, a favorite from the first round, continued to show fine form in all departments to win his semi-final match with Buddy Wheeler of Stamford, 5 and 4.

Farmer, Texas Tech student who took medal honors, won from D. Tully, 5 and 4.

In the first flight, Frank Johnson of Hamlin will play Rocco Turner of Stamford. Grogan Turner of Hamlin meets McCarty of Knox City in second flight finale. In the third flight, O. L. Henry of Hamlin will play Hollis Atkinson of Big Spring.

PITTSBURGH AND PHILLIES SPLIT

PHILADELPHIA, June 20. — Pittsburgh beat the Phillies, 6-0, behind the four-hit pitching of Cy Blanton in the first game of a doubleheader here today, but the Quakers came right back to take the nightcap, 7-1, on five hits.

The Bucs knocked Joe Bowman out of the box in the opener with a five-run attack but Orville Jorgens and St. Johnson scattered eight hits to take the second.

First game:
Pittsburgh ... 050 010 000—6 13 0
Philadelphia ... 000 000 000—0 4 2
Batteries: Blanton and Todd; Bowman, Pausan and Grace.

Batteries: Weaver and Padden; Jorgens, Johnson and Atwood.

TAKES NEW DUTIES

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 20. — Honus Wagner, high commissioner of semi-professional baseball, who will leave the Pittsburgh Pirates July 1 to assume his new duties, believes the program of the National Semi-Pro Baseball congress will do more for the national pastime than any movement the game has experienced since its inception.

Wagner will be the guest of honor at a number of the state tournaments affiliated with the National congress, including the Iowa meet at Forest City; Nebraska at Omaha; Oklahoma at Tulsa; Montana at Deer Lodge; Alabama at Montgomery; South Dakota at Corsica; North Dakota at Devils Lake; Indiana at Terre Haute, and Ohio at Youngstown.

The Texas state tournament will be held at Waco. A. H. Kirksey is state commissioner.

TEXAS WOMEN'S MUNICIPAL GOLF TOURNEY STARTS TODAY

By FELIX R. MCKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, June 20. (AP)—Five names comprised the favorite's list as a small band of 50 women golfers prepared for the start tomorrow of the sixth annual Texas Women's Municipal Golf Association tournament over Tenison Park's rugged par 37-35-72 links.

Only the absence of Mrs. E. R. Hury of San Antonio prevented the journey from having all of Texas' outstanding women municipal players entered.

Mrs. Hury, terrific hitter off the tee, is trying her luck in a men's tournament at the San Felipe

Country club at Del Rio, and physicians advised against her hurrying here to play. She holds two course records at San Antonio and only recently was defeated in the finals of the Houston Country club invitation and the San Antonio city tournaments.

However, such stars as Mrs. E. I. Wohlfahrt of Dallas, defending champion; Mrs. J. Lee Wilson of San Antonio, twice champion; Mrs. Nancy Tarver and Miss Virginia Raffledge of Dallas and Mrs. E. P. Hemphill, San Antonio, were present.

Mrs. Wilson, who dropped her title last year, toured the long lay-

Jacobs went before the boxing commission this week and demanded that both fighters be limited to regulation bandages—six feet of gauze and two feet of tape.

"This isn't protection for a man with large hands," said Roxborough. "Joe sprained his thumb before the fight was well under way. It surprised us that he wasn't knocked out long before the 12th."

For a time it looked like it would be the same old story—that Louis would fiddle around for three or four rounds and then go to town.

There wasn't much to choose between two cautious boxers in the first two heats. Joe turned on the steam in the third and appeared headed for his 28th straight victory. From then on, he won only one round.

Schmeling and a roaring audience discovered in the fourth that Louis could be hit with a right. Louis fired a stinger flush to the side of Joe's head. The bomber crashed to the canvas, but bounced to his feet before an official count was taken.

There was a look of utter surprise and bewilderment on Joe's face as he went down. What they had told him could not happen, had happened. He had been hit, he had been hurt and he had been knocked down.

That was the turning point. From that moment on, Louis absorbed a terrific beating, but in doing so proved that he can take plenty of punishment and still stay on his feet.

Superbly conditioned, the 30-year-old Schmeling fought a smart, careful, well-planned battle to make his spectacular comeback.

Once he found that Louis could be reached with a right, Max made that his weapon. Throughout the evening he willingly took two lefts in order to get home one good right. He connected with plenty of them.

As Schmeling piled up round after round, it became obvious that the bomber's only chance to win was to maneuver into position and slip in a haymaker.

His efforts toward the end were pitiful. Battered and mauled, aching all over from head and body punches and almost helpless ofensively because of his injured hands, Joe reeled and suggested about the ring.

Twice prior to the 12th it appeared Schmeling would score a knockout, but Max explained his failure to follow up his advantage in these instances by the fact that he was slowed up temporarily by low blows.

The fight was marked by fouls and charges of foul. Referee Arthur Donovan warned Louis three times for hitting low and once, in the 11th, the bomber's hands leaped into the ring demanding that Max be penalized for slipping in a right after the bell rang. The claim was denied.

The boys were so wholly intent upon butchering each other that twice they failed to hear the bell and continued to slug away after the round had ended.

BROWNS UP-SET BOSTON RED SOX

ST. LOUIS, June 20. — Lefty Grove was batted for the second successive time as the St. Louis Browns upset the Boston Red Sox 7-5, here Saturday and left the Millionaires a full five games behind the league leading New Yorkers, who lost to Detroit.

Jimmy Foss came through with his 18th home run of the year in the second frame.

Nation's 7th Ranking Player in Finals For Natl. Clay Court Title

CHICAGO, June 20. — Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, a former title holder and the nation's seventh ranking player, will match strokes Sunday with Robert Riggs of Los Angeles for the national clay courts single title.

Parker swept through the semi-finals by whipping Johnny McDiarmid of the University of Chicago, 1-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-2.

Riggs, seeded sixth compared to the top ranking Parker, scored over Vernon John of the University of California, 6-4, 7-5, 6-4.

Charles Whiteside Is Dismissed From Harvard

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 20. (AP)—Harvard won the big boat race with Yale but lookee today for a successor to the man who coached the Crimson's victorious varsity eight, Charles Whiteside.

Whiteside, head crew coach at Harvard for the last seven seasons, hardly had time to congratulate his triumphant oarsmen last night when he was informed by Athletic Director William J. Bingham that he would not be re-engaged.

Harvard officials would not comment on Whiteside's dismissal but it is known that there has been much dissatisfaction among the rowing-minded alumni over his inability to develop a fair share of good springing crews.

Even before the season opened Whiteside realized he would be ousted if he failed to turn out a varsity that could beat Yale in the four-mile classic here on the Charles. He directed all of his own and his oarsmen's efforts to gain that objective, and it is likely that his dismissal, which turned his greatest Harvard triumph to ashes, came as a rude shock.

BRIDGES HURLS FIVE-HIT BALL

DETROIT, June 20. —Tommy Bridges pitched five-hit shutout ball to snap the Tigers' losing streak at six straight games as the Detroiters scored a 5-0 victory over the league leading New York Yankees here Saturday.

The Bengals chased Johnny Branch from the hill in the opening frame with a three-run attack and tallied another pair off Walter Brown in the fifth.

CARDINAL LEAD CUT FULL GAME

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—Dick Coffman relieved Carl Hubbell in the ninth to keep the New York Giants out in front of the St. Louis Cardinals as the Gothamites evened the series at one all by winning today's game, 7-6.

Coffman came in to take command of the situation after the Red Birds had come within one run of defeating the score.

The defeat cut the Misourians' advantage by a full game in the National League.

SKEETERS WINS AT RIVER CREST

FORT WORTH, June 20 (AP)—Rallying to win two of the last four holes, Big Bill Skeeters of Dallas capped the 18th annual River Crest country club golf tournament today by beating Johnny Dawson of Chicago, 2 and 1, in a torrid match slated to go 28 holes.

Skeeters, former S.M.U. grinner, playing in his fifth big tournament, this was his first major triumph in a brief but spectacular golfing career.

He was 18 strokes under par for the six rounds he needed to win medalist honors and the championship.

L. J. McCray of Denton won the second flight from Gilbert Ward of Fort Worth, 5 and 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Merrick have returned from several days' visit to the Centennial exposition in Dallas.

Jack Munger Grabs Amateur Golf Title

MEMPHIS, June 20. (AP)—In a striking display of competitive spirit, Jack Munger of Dallas, 22-year-old S.M.U. student, won the Southern Amateur golf title today.

To the acclaim of 1,000 periphrastic spectators, the stockily built boy led throughout the 36 hole final to defeat Fred Haas, Jr. of New Orleans, champion two years ago, by a 3 and 2 count.

Plans Matches

Making plans to start a series of week-end golf contests soon, Charles Worley, country club pro and manager, asks that all country club members turn in three eighteen-hole cards to be used in arranging handicaps for 4-ball foursome matches.

Carl Blomsheld returned from Camp Fawcett near Barksdale on the Nueces river, where he attended the Boy Scout encampment.

BIG SPORT PROGRAM PLANNED

Big Spring will offer its sports facilities on July 4 to hundreds of West Texas sportsmen. A check-up Saturday showed that plans are going forward for golf, tennis, softball, roque, swimming and diving, pistol and gun shoot, and baseball.

The first annual Muny course invitation golf tournament is due to be one of the biggest and best in this section of the state this year, despite the fact that the course is only nine holes. Invitations have been mailed to seventy-five West Texas golf clubs, and many of the section's stars have indicated they will compete here.

Many local golfers have been practicing the Muny. Pro Charles Key plans to start top-dressing the greens next week. A great deal of other work will be done on the course, including changes in the traps.

Trophies for the softball tournament arrived Saturday and are on display at the chamber of commerce. M. L. Kirschbaum of Colorado has entered an all-star Colorado team. Muny league teams here will compete.

Spike Henninger will strengthen his Couden Oler line-up for a baseball wrangle here after the opening of the 4th with the San Angelo Ellis Parts team of the Concho Basin league.

Swimming and diving contests are scheduled to start early with Dorothy Poynton Hill, Olympic diving champion, one of the feature attractions.

The tennis tournament promises to be one of the best in West Texas. Lubbock will send twelve entries.

Also on the July 4 sports calendar is a pistol and gun shoot and match play for women on the country club golf course.

Roque addicts will clash in a tourney at the city park.

lie in the day when congress stamped its approval on the ship subsidy bill and the treasury-post-office appropriation measure. Opening up on the tax bill in behalf of a group of republicans and democrats, opposed to a high tax on undistributed corporation profits, Senator Byrd (D-Va) called the measure a "mongrel, hybrid compromise."

Arguing that it would prevent corporations from building up surpluses, the Virginian roared that the bill "will do more to entrench the monopolies of this country than anything else we have ever done."

Wind-Up Is Calm

Rarely has a congressional wind-up been so calm. The fireworks and the fast parliamentary maneuvering were last night. Congressmen today were anxious to go home, even at the cost of sacrificing pet legislation.

Galleries were comfortably filled, but not packed as they usually are for adjournment.

Democratic congressmen anxious to get away to Philadelphia for next week's convention began the rush to the trains even before the final adjournment was voted.

It had been a trying week of negotiation and compromise to wind up the session. Everybody was tired.

House approval of the outright ship construction and operation subsidies earlier in the day had removed the threat of a senate filibuster to force such action.

Along with the new ship subsidy bill the senate sent to the White House the treasury-post office appropriation bill, which carried $26,550,000 for continuing the present ocean mail contract system if the subsidy system were not enacted. It was a filibuster threat against this appropriation that persuaded the house to act on the subsidies. It contained appropriations to totaling $392,820,872.

Oilers Lose Practice Game To Freezers, 10-8

Ocean's Oilers lost a practice game Friday night to the Frost Freezers, 10-8, in an affair that saw the Henningermen come up on the short end of the score for the first time this season.

Boles Henning was on the bill for the Condorites and was hit hard throughout the contest. Bill Reed, regular fliker, played outfield in place of Pepper Martin.

To Try Again

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Mike Jacobs plans to put Joe Louis back to work in August.

"I don't know who his opponent will be," declared the promoter of last night's fight. "But now that Joe has been licked by Max Schmeling they'll be a lot of guys who'll want to fight him."

Louis remained in seclusion.

NEW YORK, June 20 (UP)—Max Schmeling will leave for Germany Tuesday aboard the Zeppelin Hindenburg, his manager, Joe Jacobs, announced today. Max will travel alone.

He will remain in Germany for the Olympics and then return to America to begin training for a September title fight with Champion James J. Braddock.

CHICAGO, June 20 (AP)—Hollywood, Hal Price Headley's speedy brown colt, turned on the steam to win the $15,000 added Chicago derby Saturday.

GARNER SELECTED TO HEAD GROUP TO HIGHWAY OPENING

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—Vice-President Garner has been named to head a United States delegation at the opening July 1 of the Pan-American highway at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico.

The state department, in making the announcement, said other members of the delegation probably would be named tomorrow. Ambassador Josephus Daniels, already has been designated by President Roosevelt.

Through its embassy here, the Mexican government last week invited United States participation in ceremonies which will mark the formal inauguration of the highway, now completed from the Texas border to Mexico City.

mittances as soon as possible. It was noted by the tax officials that at least eight persons said they would pay their tax bill as soon as their bonus checks are received.

Despite the month's campaign, a large number of delinquents did not respond, and it is against these school officials will move next. It was expected that many accounts will be turned over to an attorney for collection, or later court action. Definite action on these cases was expected at the next board meeting.

"The board is very appreciative of the fine spirit of cooperation of such a large number in collecting of the delinquent taxes," a member said Saturday. "The board regrets very much that it will be necessary to use legal steps to collect some of the remainder of the accounts, but such steps appear to be the only alternative when delinquents decline to make any effort toward making arrangements for payment."

SEARCHERS expressed the opinion the convicts either captured a passing motorist or met a confederate. The convicts were Luke Trammel, 28, serving sentences totaling 162 years for murder, burglary and robbery by firearms; Forest Gibson, 27, serving 10 years for theft under the habitual criminal law, and T. B. Atkinson, 26, life term convicted as an habitual criminal.

Prison officials said the trio seized a shotgun from Guard R. L. Steele and killed Felix Smith, 43, another guard. The convicts then mounted Steele's horse and a mule and fled into the thick underbrush bordering the prison farm.

Scenes were made of the Texas & Pacific railroad property, and street views were taken. The committee planned to finish the camera work in a few days, and the scenes will be edited into narrative form.

Candidates To Be At Forsan Tuesday

The Howard county political campaign was due to center on another of the major voting centers outside Big Spring again this week, when speakers gather to present their arguments in a rally at Forsan on Tuesday night.

That is the chief meeting scheduled for the coming week. Candidates rounded out an active week with appearances at Vealmoor Friday night and at R-Bar Saturday night. Earlier in the week they had been at Coahoma.

Interest began picking up in the county judge's contest, picked by observers as potentially the most torrid of the races. At Vealmoor Friday night the candidates began making more personal references, Judge J. S. Garlington taking issue with one opponent, Charley Sullivan, on need of legal experience and training for the office. Former Judge H. R. Dehenport is the third candidate in this race.

Hospital Notes

Big Spring Hospital
 Woody Wood, son of Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Wood, underwent an operation for removal of tonsils Saturday morning.

Robert Lloyd of Midland underwent an emergency operation at the hospital Saturday afternoon.

The condition of R. V. Hart remained critical late Saturday.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edwards, born Friday evening at a local hospital, died Saturday morning.

ROAD WORK IN THIS AREA IS LIMITED TO THAT ON HIGHWAY 9

State highway work in this section has practically reached a standstill and will be dull until federal money is received on July 1.

The only highway project in this section is on No. 9 from Fairview to the Dawson county line. The highway is open from here to Fairview.

Bonds Perfected To Release Injunctions Against Roadhouses

Defendants in two injunction suits instituted against operators of two roadhouses on Highway 9 near the Howard-Dawson line Saturday had perfected bond fixed by Judge Charles L. Klapproth of 70th district court, to permit them to re-open the establishments. Bond of $1,000 in each case had been filed with the district clerk.

Temporary writs closing the places were issued Wednesday, and were served by members of the sheriff's department Wednesday night. The closing injunctions had been sought by county officials on the allegation that defendants were "maintaining a nuisance."

Defendants in one case were W. M. Whitlow, Otto Thompson and A. B. Winslett. In the other, C. C. Dollins and H. P. Adams were co-defendants.

COLLAPSE OF HOUSE TAKES SEVEN LIVES

NEW YORK, June 20 (AP)—Four bodies were recovered today from the wreckage of the collapsed Bronx apartment house, and two others were discovered in the ruins, bringing to seven the known dead.

Police and fire squads searched for five others believed buried in the debris. Eleven workmen were in a hospital, eleven in a serious condition.

The bodies of three workmen were uncovered as another portion of the second floor collapsed this morning.

More than a score of workmen were working in the unfinished seven-story structure when the center wing fell in yesterday afternoon, piling wreckage from the basement to the third floor.

Twelve men were injured.

Last-Half Taxes Due In Ten Days

County taxpayers who are following the split-payment plan have only 10 more days to make remittances for the last half of their 1935 bill, before penalties become effective on July 1.

Collections have been good, and picked up considerably last week, it was announced Saturday from the office of Tax Assessor-Collector John F. Wolcott. Exact figures had not been compiled, but it was estimated that some $15,000 of the last-half 1935 taxes had been paid in. Approximately two-thirds that amount was collected during the past week.

Funeral Held For Edwards Infant

Funeral services were held from the Eberly Funeral chapel at 11 a. m. Saturday for the infant of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Edwards, who succumbed at 5:30 a. m. The baby was born at 11 o'clock Friday night. Dr. D. F. McConnell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, conducted the rites, and burial was made in the New Mt. Olive cemetery.

Edwards is manager of the Wacker's store here.

MAHON IS DUE HOME ABOUT JULY FIRST

Rep. George Mahon of the 19th district probably will not reach home until around the first of July, he advised The Herald in a letter received Saturday.

Although he was terminating his duties in Washington in connection with the congressional session, Mahon was to go from there to Philadelphia this week to the democratic convention, at which he is a way department is replacing a deputy north of Fairview. Sixty men are being used on the No. 9 project.

Man Held For Alleged Extortion Plot Against Mrs. Will Rogers

LOS ANGELES, June 20 (AP)—An aged ex-cowboy, Joseph E. Snyder, 76, was questioned by department of justice agents today on charges he tried to extort $1,000 from the widow of the late Will Rogers by threatening to expose the actor-humorist as a cattle rustler.

Snyder was taken into custody yesterday and turned over to federal officials after police had booked him.

Six feet tall, unshaven and long-haired, the ex-cowhand was arrested at the Los Angeles postoffice by Detective Lieutenant L. W. Lyons who had kept vigil there for three days, since Mrs. Rogers turned over a threatening letter to police.

"You can't arrest me," Detective Lyons quoted Snyder as saying. "I haven't done anything crooked. I just made Mrs. Rogers a business proposition. I offered to sell her a manuscript."

Mrs. Rogers received the letter June 12—a nine-page epistle in which the writer said he had known Rogers well in Oklahoma in the years between 1889 and 1895.

"Rogers started stealing cattle for which he was notorious in 1892," the letter said.

In 1892, Rogers was 13 years old. The author of the letter said he had written a manuscript telling of this, and offered Mrs. Rogers a reasonable length of time in which to consider his price of $1,000 for the manuscript.

He would have his story published if a money order was not forthcoming, the writer said.

Moving Day Eased

DENVER (UP)—Residents on the east side of this city were a bit upset when they came home and discovered that their houses had been moved one block nearer the center of the city. The situation was righted when the city highway department discovered that it had made a mistake in painting street signs.

Gossip Along Main Drag

By ONA B. PARSONS

Vacation trips have never been as varied or as interesting to listen to as they have been this summer. One would think that Dallas and the Centennial exposition would draw the whole state. It will undoubtedly before it is over but other vacation spots are not being ignored, especially by Texans who know how hot Dallas and Fort Worth can be in the summertime.

How Smartest of all the new equipment for vacation traveling is the new factory-built trailer purchased by Dr. Amos R. Wood for his and Mrs. Woods' annual trek northward. It is the only one of its kind in town and the Woods can hardly wait to try it out.

Their vacation begins next Saturday, when they will set out for the southwestern corner of Colorado—the Gunnison river and on up to Medicine Bow, Wyo., then to Salt Lake City where they will visit with friends for a week. Homeward via the Grand Canyon—a five weeks' trip.

The trailer will have ample opportunity to be tested, for they will be in the land of running water, shade trees and ideal camping spots, far from hotels much of the time. The trailer is the coziest little bungalow you ever saw. It has a breakfast room set that will make into a bed and a davenport, nine windows, its own electric plant so that Mrs. Wood can use an iron or turn on the electric fan, an ice box, etc., etc.

Where The most exciting destination was known to be Alaska, to which the Bob Eberleys are going. They will leave Monday or Tuesday. From all accounts they are taking one of America's most popular tours because they have had a hard time getting passage on a ship. Mr. Eberley wanted to leave later in the summer so they would not have to return in the heat, but it was impossible to get booked; in fact it took pull to get passage on June 20.

They will go up on the west coast and will spend 14 days on the ship from Seattle, two weeks there and two weeks back. They expect to visit in Vancouver and go sight-seeing in that superlatively sight-seeing country before coming back to Texas. The whole trip will fill two months.

They are first Big Springers to go to Alaska since Mrs. J. I. McDowell and Miss Andre Walker blazed the trail several years ago.

Why The Dallas exposition is still the talk of the town. Everyone who possibly could make it attended last week in order to see the president. Mrs. Charles Koberg who saw him at close range said he looked much older and more tired than his pictures showed but that he had the same magnetic personality on the platform that he had over the radio. Her niece attended the luncheon for Mrs. Roosevelt and was favorably impressed with her simplicity of manner and graciousness. Even though the Centennial grounds are not entirely ready and the Cavalcade of Texas is still in the making, those who listen to these who went catch the fever. The stock of adjectives necessary to describe it runs out long before the visitor has finished. . . Which reminds us of the March of Time.

The unique experience of living in a palace was that of Mr. and Mrs. Shilne Phillips upon their recent trip to Monterrey, Mexico. They returned from there last Monday.

The palace was an authentic palace, if size meant anything, said Mrs. Phillips. It was owned by an Italian senorita whose father had lost his various homes during the depression and most of his money. The senorita owned this particular residence and was taking in a few roomers and boarders at a price so little that Mrs. Phillips could not see how she ever broke even.

It is located downtown and was a huge old two-story building opening onto the street. A long corridor led to the patio. This had no grass but plenty of flowers in pots, ferns and palms. It was tiled with blue tiles that were kept waxed to prevent weather damage and had a fountain in the center. An upper balcony opened into the bedrooms and overlooked the fountain.

The bedrooms were so enormous that the senorita had strung up a curtain and partitioned them off in a simple manner. She said only part of the house she said she had moved much of her furniture because her tenants defaced it, but there were enough tall mirrors in gold leaf and massive pieces around to give the visitors an idea of the former grandeur of the place. The cabinet in the dining room was so tall that it would have pierced the ceiling of a modern Big Spring house, said Mrs. Phillips.

This handsomely carved cabinet alone bespoke wealth and added o' the thrill.

Not all tourists are admitted to this palace boarding house, only those who come with recommendations. The party with which the Phillips traveled had a Mexican in the group whom they nicknamed the Interpreter and through him they obtained concessions they could not have obtained as strangers.

In addition to sight-seeing in Monterrey they took the newly finished mountain road to Saltillo. It was such a road as would put Texan road-builders to shame, said Mrs. Phillips. They visited in Saltillo a cathedral built in 1555, which was less than a century after Columbus sailed the ocean blue.

The second thrill of the trip was a stop at the new home of a Mexican woman who turned out to be the mother-in-law of a Mexican general. Whether THE general or just a general, they did not know exactly, but since generals were scarce in Monterrey while they were there, the home was an impressive sight.

Details Of Wedding Of Miss Holmes Given

The marriage of Miss Mary Holmes of Dallas to Walter Newberry Darby, son of Mrs. Emma P. Darby of Cameron, Mo., was solemnized Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist church, read the ceremony in his study.

The bride was gowned in a navy blue tailored sheath with matching accessories. She wore white gloves and her shoulder corsage was of roses and lilies of the valley.

The couple left shortly after for a wedding trip to the Ozarks. They will be at home after July 1st in Cameron.

Mrs. Darby is a graduate of Simmons university of Abilene and has taught in the public schools in Dallas for a number of years. Mr. Darby graduated from the University of Michigan.

Informal Bridge Club Entertained

Mrs. W. W. Inkman entertained six members of the Informal bridge club and six visitors Friday afternoon at her home.

Mrs. Cunningham scored highest for the members and Mrs. Broughton for the guests.

A pretty refreshment plate was passed at the close of the games. Guests of the club were, Mrs. M. Joe Fisher, Bernard Fisher, Albert M. Fisher, Walter H. Broughton, Ben Carter and A. E. Service. Members were: Mrs. C. W. Cunningham, J. B. Young, Verd Van Gieson, J. D. Biles, Homer McGee and Shilne Phillips.

Mrs. Cunningham will entertain next.

V. F. W. A. Trio To Go To State Encampment

Members of the V. F. W. A. trio will leave today for San Angelo to take part in the state encampment. The convention begins this evening with a memorial service and will continue through Wednesday. The trio will sing on a number of programs.

Mrs. Allen Hall, a member of the administrative council, is going to San Angelo with them. Two members of the trio are state officers. Mrs. R. E. Blount is musician and Miss Ruby Bell assistant to the chief of staff. Mrs. Willard Reed, third member of the trio, will be in the party.

CHARLES GOODNIGHT: COWMAN AND PLAINSMAN

By J. Evetta Haley
(Houghton Mifflin Co.)

A nice big book, 467 pages plus an index, in which the history of West Texas is so thoroughly summed up that one feels no more need be said when he has laid it down. More will be said and why, but Haley will remain among such authors a pioneer himself in the Goodnight class.

Haley is the second professor in the history department of the University of Texas who has had a book published this year by an Eastern publisher, a book of which Texas can well be proud. Dr. Walter Prescott Webb was the other.

Texas do not need to be told who Charles Goodnight was. Every West Texan has heard of this famous resident of the Panhandle, especially of his interest in buffaloes.

When a man is known as Goodnight, it stands as an inevitable fact that he was a master among men, else he could not have impressed his life and interests so indelibly on the succeeding generations. But until one reads his biography the extent of his greatness is hardly realized. One person knew him for this; another for that. The man himself is the sum of these things. In a striking paragraph Haley has summed up his greatness as follows:

"He (Goodnight) rode bareback from Illinois to Texas when he was nine years old. He was hunting with the Caddo Indians beyond the frontier at thirteen, launching into the cattle business at twenty, guiding Texas Rangers at twenty-four; blazing cattle trails two thousand miles in length at thirty; establishing a ranch three hundred miles beyond the frontier at forty, and at forty-five dominating nearly twenty million acres of range country in the interests of order. At sixty he was recognized as possibly the greatest scientific breeder of range cattle in the West, and at ninety he was an active international authority on the economics of the range industry."

We recommend that the book be read in this order: First the foreword in which Haley pays his stirring tribute and indirectly states his own credentials for authorship of such a book. "Cutting for Sign" is the title of the foreword.

Skip the book to the last chapter, "At the End of the Trail." Then go back and read the book through.

By taking it this way a reader will get the idea of the man somewhat as he appeared to Haley, the greatness of Goodnight in old age dominating the whole story—a rugged individualist relating his biography (much of the telling is in Goodnight's own words) under pressure, but stamping it with his character so that between the printed word and the reader's eyes the stalwart old pioneer is ever present and his shadow ever on the page.

Hats off to Haley for the excellent deed he has done for West Texas as only a West Texan could have done it. O.R.P.

"FAMOUS TEXAS FEUDS"

By C. L. Douglas
(The Turner Co.)

"One of the chapters in Texas history was written not with the ink and pen but with the lead of the Winchester and the slugs of a double-barreled shotgun."

This is Douglas' introduction to his newest book, "Famous Texas Feuds."

Chapter one sets the stage. Douglas relates how, in the year 1837—after Texas had won her independence—a ferryman on the Sabine

Miss "Big Spring" Married To Eddie Morgan Last Night At 8

Miss Big Spring was married last night among a group of the city's loveliest girls and given a trip to Fort Worth. There she was accorded a place in the race for Texas and Mrs. J. M. Morgan, persuaded Sweetheart and was offered a flat, Miss B. G. Spring—who in private life was, until last evening, Edythe Cordill—accept the offer of marriage instead of a place in the Billy Rose's Fort Worth show.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. Charles Taylor, priest of the church at 8 o'clock. Eddie L. Morgan, one of the twin sons of Mr. Morgan, Eddie's twin brother, and his sister, Mrs. Kathleen Williams, sang in the young people's choir. The groom is also a local man, a son of a well known family. He attended the University of Texas and was employed by General Motors in Kansas City, Mo. He is now a member of the line crew of the Texas Electric. Last year he was local golf champion.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan will make their home at the Lester apartments at Third and Main streets.

City Has Its Own Centennial Show In Varied Collection At Museum

Big Spring has a contribution to the Centennial that is, in its way, as worthy as anything else to be seen in the state. It consists of paintings by the late H. W. Caylor, whose work will also be on display in Fort Worth, and a collection of articles dealing with early Texas history.

The museum interior has been recently remodeled in honor of the year 1936, announced Mrs. Mary Bumpass, director. Miss Mary Helen Astens and Carl Hill, taxidermist, helped her with the transformation.

New card markers replace the faded and soiled ones. The H. W. Caylor collection of horns has been remounted and polished by Carl Hill and hung over each Caylor painting. The large steer horns now hang above the beautiful memorial picture, "The Trail Herd," over the mantle of the fireplace.

The Albert M. Fisher collection of wild bear, deer and antelope heads have recently been placed on the second wall panel. This group is outstanding because of its size and mounting. It forms the first nucleus of the natural history department.

The west end has been reserved in part for the recent exhibition of birds made possible by the Taxidermal club. On the crown shelf of the cabinet a big white pelican with outstretched wings that measure eight feet from tip to tip occupies the center of the bird group. This was presented by Carl Hill. The length of the ten-foot shelf is covered with this bird collection interspersed with rocks.

The porcupine perch from the Caribbean sea presented by Ray McMahan has been placed in a prominent nook near the birds.

The seven-foot rattler mounted by James Driggers hangs upon the right wall near the bird group.

Prominent among the case exhibits is the Lucille Reagan case containing smoothly woven mats, baskets, a beautiful hand-carved calabash and other articles made by the natives of Nigeria, West Africa.

Another popular case is the Shilne Phillips collection of weapons and knives made by the natives of the Philippines. They are rare and unique among their kind.

The old spinning wheel and cotton cards donated by Mrs. Shilne Phillips and Mrs. Frank Ramsey retain their places by the fireplace.

Firearms Across the room from the fireplace is a collection of firearms

Delegates To Short Course Are Named

Members of the home demonstration clubs of Howard county met at the district court house Saturday afternoon and selected delegates to be sent to the A. & M. short course in July.

Mrs. Ed Carpenter, Vincent, secretary of the council, was elected to represent the council. Mrs. Charles Koerber, Lomax, was named as clothing demonstrator.

R-Bar and Highway clubs have not named their delegates. The following have selected theirs: Coahoma, Mrs. J. M. Rowe; Center Point, Mrs. Herbert Fletcher; Elbow, Mrs. Clarence McMurtry; Luther, Miss Anna Hanes; Fairview, Mrs. J. W. Wooten; Overton, Mrs. Ralph Barnett; Lomax, Mrs. W. F. Coates.

The college has made a new ruling in the matter of delegates, limiting the number to 10 this year.

FEDERATION POSTPONED

The fourth Monday meeting of the Federation of Women's church auxiliaries has been postponed from the fifth Monday in June until the next fifth Monday, announced Mrs. C. A. Bickley, president.

donated by T. L. Johnson of Ranger, Miss Fannie Stephens, Jack Cook, J. Y. Robb and the American Legion post. They tell the story of the horrors of war. These guns date from the American revolution, the War of 1812, the Texas revolution, the Civil war, the Spanish-American and the World wars. The latest donation to the artillery department is the old double-barreled shotgun used by Andy Truett, Shelby county, in the battle of San Jacinto. He was a great-uncle of Fannie and Fred Stephens.

The Indian collections have increased from time to time until three large show cases are already too crowded for good display. The association will appreciate a loan or gift from anyone with a case to let.

It is rumored that an Indian club will be formed next fall to study the Indian, his arts, habits, etc. The museum will be invaluable for such study.

Among the prominent exhibits is the Bruce Frasier's Alaskan headwork. These expensive pieces are beautiful in color and design. They include a horse's halter, a pair of moccasins, bags, hand bands headed in many colors.

The Harris-Garnett case of Indian relics consists of grind rocks, hammers, tomahawks, arrow heads, spear points, and many interesting stones. Rev. W. S. Garnett and O. H. Harris gave this display to the museum last fall.

Pretty Black and Gold Party Is Given For Three Tables Of Players

Mrs. Mae Battle was hostess Friday morning for a pretty black and gold party for three tables of bridge players. She carried out this same color scheme in all her accessories and in the prize wrapping. The refreshment plate reflected it delightfully.

Among those playing were: Mrs. J. B. Young, Verd Van Gieson, J. H. Kirkpatrick, W. R. Ivey, W. D. McDonald, J. B. Hodges, Sr., J. L. Terry, E. C. Boatler, Charles Koberg, Sam Baker, Rose Snow of Long Beach, Calif., and Miss Evelyn Merrill.

Unique wooden gifts were presented three of the groups. Mrs. Koberg received a wooden sandwich tray for making the highest score. Mrs. W. R. Ivey a powder box for winning high in cut and Mrs. Kirkpatrick a similar prize for winning high in bingo.

Personally Speaking

W. B. Currie left Saturday afternoon for Dallas, where he will spend several days on business.

N. B. Hardeman of Henderson, Tenn., spent Friday here with his niece, Mrs. Charles Davis. Mr. Hardeman was en route to San Angelo.

Mrs. Charles Davis will leave Sunday night for Dallas, where she will visit her mother, Mrs. J. E. Ledbetter of Henderson, Tenn. They will remain in Dallas for a few days, after which Mrs. Ledbetter will accompany Mrs. Davis here for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mayborn of Temple passed through Big Spring Friday afternoon, en route to their home, after spending two weeks at New Mexico points. Mr. Mayborn is publisher of the Temple Daily Telegram.

Marvin Frost of Longview has been visiting his brother, Charlie Frost, en route to Odessa and other points of West Texas where he will be located during the summer. He is connected as an architect with the firm of Peters, Strange and company.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stephens expect Mrs. Stephens' brother, J. V. Hansen of Pomona, Calif., to arrive for a visit next week. He will bring his wife and daughter, Mary Louise. His mother, Mrs. Clara Hansen, will return with the party to Big Spring.

Mrs. W. W. Pendleton and her nephew, Otto Carter, Jr., left Sunday for Los Angeles. Mrs. Pendleton will spend the summer there, while Otto will remain to make his home with his father.

A group of local fishermen left Sunday for Sabina, Mexico, to fish on the Don Martin lake. In the party were Charlie Frost, Roland Swartzbach, Frank Segel, Dallas, Buckner Hair and George Choate.

Accompanying her were her daughter, Mrs. Mary Roper and her granddaughter, Betty Zue Roper, also Winston Garth. The party left Saturday for Los Angeles, Calif., where they will visit Mrs. McDonald's oldest son.

Dr. John L. Pilecher arrived Saturday from Galveston to visit Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Rogers. Mrs. Pilecher, the former Maurine Rogers, will return to Galveston with her husband Sunday after a visit here with her parents.

Herbert W. Whittney, city secretary, has returned from San Antonio where he acted as a first lieutenant in a two weeks' R. O. T. C. training camp.

Local Man Married To Miss Falls of Ira

Miss Ethel Verle Falls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Falls of Ira, and A. J. Young of Big Spring were married in a pretty home setting Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Ethel Eiland, 2511 1/2 Avenue S.

Rev. W. W. McGaha, pioneer West Texas Baptist minister, who performed the wedding ceremony of the bride's parents 25 years ago officiated. Miss Margaret Dell Prim played the wedding march and also played softly "At Dawning" during the service.

The bride wore a frock of navy blue net trimmed with white organza and white accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of pink and white gladioli tied with pink and white tulle. Her traveling costume was a brown plaid jacket dress worn with brown accessories.

Mrs. Young was born and reared at Ira, and for the past three years she has taught primary work in the Ira schools. She is also a graduate of Snyder high school and has attended North Texas State Teachers college, Denton. Mr. Young, the son of Coleman ranch people, is connected with the Magnolia Petroleum company at Big Spring as a driller.

The two left Snyder immediately after the wedding ceremony for Monterrey, Mexico. They plan to visit in Coleman, Houston, Galveston and Dallas during their two weeks automobile trip. They will be at home in Big Spring after July 1.

PLEA FOR THE OPPOSITION

Now that candidates for public office are making speeches, the everyday Texan has a fine chance for a mental train and whose arguments you endorse.

It is perhaps twice as valuable to listen to one with whom you disagree as with one whose policies you support and whose arguments you endorse.

It can hurt no one to know as much as possible about a campaign, or as many facts as possible about its controversy. The facts are that this candidate makes this statement and this promise, not that the statement necessarily is unbiased, or the promise impossible.

It is good mental exercise, and it is fun, to listen to a candidate when you don't believe a word he says. It tests your mental agility to answer in your mind his arguments, to pick flaws in his claims and promises. There is that comfortable feeling of being unconvinced.

Since there are four or five candidates in each of the races that will involve campaigning and speech-making, the opportunity is about four to one to hear someone you don't prefer, rather than the one you do.

This is a plea for the opposition. It proposes that you hear all the political speeches. It suggests you may find a stray fact or two, bedded in the mass of words and phrases. Basically, it points out the advantage in the widespread knowledge by citizens and potential voters, of what a campaign is about. For the citizens of Texas have their only share in governing the state in listening to and deciding between the respective merits of campaign speeches in democratic primary races.

★ Man About Manhattan ★

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Down 48th street and into the dressing rooms of the Vanderbilt theater:

Leonard Sillman—Before he became a producer he used to be a professional epileptic fit thrower. . . . Gave Henry Fonda his first Broadway assignment. . . . He is the producer of the current revue at the Vanderbilt, "New Faces."

Jean Bellows—You'll like Jean. . . . She is the petite brunette who whisks across stage so adroitly in those flimsy—you know. . . . Jean is the daughter of the late George Bellows, the noted artist who came from Ohio. . . . One of Bellows' best-remembered canvases was of the Dempsey-Firpo brawl, sketched at that highly dramatic moment when Firpo whaled Jack out of the ring. . . . In this one he humorously included his own bald head.

Marian Martin—Here's a lass who doubles in greasepaint every night. From 8:40 until 11 p. m. she is a fairy God Mother to Cinderella and several other pleasant and tuneful things in the revue, but after that she becomes a ravishing nude at the Hollywood restaurant. . . . It's put on and take off for Marian. . . . After the last curtain at the Vanderbilt she takes off her costume, puts on a street frock, moves over to the Hollywood, and undresses again. . . . This profession may be a tiring one but it's lucrative.

Harry Smith—This fellow also goes for the double take. . . . It's show business for him after dark each day, but during the afternoons he teaches biology in Brooklyn.

Marian Pierce—This little gal started the Cuban revolution. . . . At least, she contributed $5,000 to the lads who were after ex-President Machado. . . . She used to be married to Conkey Whitehead, the soft drink king.

Irene Moore—Irene, the program says, is an interpretive dancer. . . . Reading further, "her dances have baffled the world's foremost linguists, who could never figure out what she was trying to interpret."

Richard Maney—This is the pleasant Irishman who got me back-stage in the first place. . . . He is Broadway's outstanding public relations man. . . . Ben Hecht and Charlie MacArthur immortalized him in "Twentieth Century" when they included in the script the character of a crazy press-agent who went around calling people double names, the first of which was always the adjective foul. . . . In one breath he would dub his employer a Foul Corsican, the next a Foul Sioux, or maybe it was an Aztec.

But what is more important, Maney is Billy Rose's impresario and concocts the ballyhoo for all of that wild man's burdy-gurdy stunts. . . . One of Dick's favorite stories is about Lucius Beebe, the rich boys reporter, who decided to take in a Very First Night when he arrived in Manhattan. . . . Decking himself out in tails and white tie, Beebe arrived at one theater boxoffice where quite a mob had assembled. . . . This, he thought, must surely be a first night. . . . Hastily purchasing tickets and sailing in Beebe discovered he was attending the 200th performance of "Broadway," one of the long-run hits.

Busiest lower Manhattan has at least one bit of rural atmosphere. A large shop displays vegetable and flower seeds designed to tempt the swirl of busy commuters hurrying to their Jersey homes across the Hudson.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—If you read through the length and breadth of the republican platform you will find nothing in it regarding neutrality, although this has been one of the most important questions before congress.

Behind this omission were some interesting behind-the-scenes events at Cleveland.

The writing of the foreign affairs plank was given to Senator Borah in an effort to keep him in line. After they were submitted to the platform committee, a delegation of peace advocates called on the senator and said they understood the platform advocated American aloofness from the world court and the league of nations.

"That's right," replied Borah. "Well, what about neutrality?" they asked. The senator looked a little blank. "Well, is there anything in the platform favoring the control of munitions?"

"No." "Is there anything in it regarding an embargo on raw materials to belligerents?"

"Well, that's all right, senator," concluded the peace spokesman, "but it may cost a lot of peace votes to the republican party. You oppose all the machinery of peace, and favor complete isolation, yet at the same time you don't provide any means for keeping us out of war."

Pro-Munitions Senator Borah then explained that this was an oversight, suggested that they get Senator Nye, chairman of the munitions committee, to draft a plank on neutrality and he, Borah, would see that it got into the platform.

The delegation immediately saw Senator Nye. He said he had been hammering at the platform committee all day trying to get a neutrality plank adopted.

It may or may not have been that the reason for the omission was that chief drafters of the platform, ex-Senator David A. Reed of Pennsylvania, attorney for various big steel manufacturers; ex-Senator Hiram Bingham, long a champion of the Connecticut brass and munitions plants; and ex-Senator Edge of New Jersey, in whose state are located several powerful munitions interests.

At any rate, no neutrality plank was adopted.

Frank Hogan A dinner was being given to Frank Hogan, famous Washington attorney for Harry Sinclair, Andrew W. Mellon and other wealthy clients.

Hosts at the dinner were Hogan's fellow legalists, and the entertainment consisted of a good-natured razzing of their honor guest.

One scene, occurring during the dinner, was Frank Hogan's allegedly going through the Mellon art gallery with his wealthy client. They came to a statue of the Venus de Milo, her arms (for thousands of years) severed at the elbow.

"You know, Mr. Mellon," said the alert Hogan, "if those arms were broken in transit, we can sue and collect damages."

Eighteenth Amendment The author of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution is up for re-election for the first time since that amendment was repealed.

He is Sen. Morris Sheppard of Texas, small, unobtrusive, grey-haired who rates the title dean of congress, having served in the house and the senate through 34 consecutive years.

In all that time, Sheppard has never had a severe contest for his seat in congress. He was first elected to the house to fill the unexpired term of his father, John L. Sheppard, who died in 1902.

He was elected to the senate in 1912, to fill the seat of Sen. Joseph W. Bailey, who was not a candidate to succeed himself.

Sheppard has held aloof from battle on Capitol Hill, has never made enemies, and has painstakingly answered all mail from constituents.

Sheppard will be opposed in the primaries by Rep. Joe Eagle of Houston, five years his senior. But Texas politics predict Sheppard will again have a walk-away.

The author of the eighteenth amendment will sit for another six years in the senate.

Cost Of Congress The session of congress now closing will cost the taxpayer several billions in appropriations, but it will also cost about $14,000,000 for the actual operation of congress.

Most of this is in salaries, but $100,000 is for free mail, $1,700,000 for maintenance of the capital, and $500,000 for the printing of the Congressional Record. This costs $50 a page for every day during the session.

The house of representatives draws the big salary bill—$4,380,000—because of its much larger membership. The senate draws only $975,000, members on both sides getting $10,000 yearly with $-5,000 to the vice president.

In addition to this, another $5,000,000 is paid to clerks, stenographers, bill drafters and other congressional officials. All stipends are on an annual basis and are paid whether congress is in session or not.

Contingent Expenses One of the biggest congressional expenditures is for "contingent expenses," in which are lumped mineral water, barber service, funerals, restaurants, furniture, stationery, folding congressional speeches for mailing, etc. They total about half a million dollars for each house.

There is one other important item—mileage. Although railroad fares recently dropped to two cents a mile, congressional mileage allowances have been boosted from 50 cents to 40 cents a mile. The sole pocket the difference, which is those living outside Washington can be a sizeable sum. Mileage is paid whether a member goes home or not. It is also paid whenever congress adjourns, even though it reconvenes in a few days. Thus the cost of adjourning congress on May 3, 1933, when Hoover left office, and reconvening the special Roosevelt congress one week later, was about a quarter of a million dollars.

Stationery Plus No member of congress ever has to worry about the stationery problem. He gets an annual allowance of $125, and if he does not use this full amount in paper actually purchased from the stationery room, he can, if he desires, pocket the balance.

Should they elect to use cash instead of stationery, they will not, however, be reduced to writing their constituents on the backs of envelopes. For each committee supplies unlimited stationery to each member, and every congressman is a member of at least one committee.

Apparently this was what two members of the senate did—Sheppard of Texas and Thomas of Oklahoma. For they drew the full amount of their $125 stationery allowance in cash. Sheppard is chairman of the military affairs committee, while Thomas is chairman of the Indian affairs committee.

Free Marriage Offered To Couples During June

PARKIN, Ark., June 20 (UP)—Free marriage ceremonies during June is the inducement made to north Arkansas couples contemplating matrimony, by W. G. Cook, justice of the peace here.

Cook's only requirement for the free ceremony is that the couple must buy their license in Cross county.

The special offer came after a justice of the peace in a nearby county reduced marriage ceremony fees to $1.

Chapter 25
SPANISH CIGARETS
 Mary felt no particular loyalty to Martin.
 "Wait till Mister Rupert comes back. She'll be right as anything. You'll see."
 Dirk spoke to Mary about the heat. Bernard, who had charge of the furnace, must stoke it a bit more heartily.
 "Bernard's doing all he can, Mister Dirk. The tower-room's not really cold. She can't get warm for worrying. I've been thinking of getting an electric stove. If she could see the red glow of it..."
 Dirk approved the idea. "By the way," he said, "what brand of cigars does Mrs. Joris smoke? I mean to get her some."

worried about her, as a matter of fact. I'm afraid she's right ill."
 "I'll call a doctor," Dirk said at once.
 Mary shook her head.
 "A doctor, if she'd see him, wouldn't do any good. I'd almost say she wanted to die. And yet something keeps her up, makes her eat the things I bring her. Something happened... while she was away, or since she came back. I try to think... the rest of the help do think... that it's Mister Rupert she's grieving about. I'm not so sure. But if it was the noise the other night..."
 "Well," said Dirk, as she paused.
 "If it was the noise, why won't she leave the tower-room?"

The revolver was unloaded, Dirk discovered.

"Now that I couldn't tell you, sir. She hasn't smoked at all till lately. But she smokes now," persisted Dirk.
 "Well, yes, sir. I notice the odor now and then. However, I never see any lying about, so I wouldn't know the brand."
 Dirk watched her go, saw her knock on Hope's door. He went to his room, had just lit his lamp, when Mary came to him there.
 "Mrs. Joris has mentioned her brand of cigars, sir, I told her you wanted to know. I've written it down."
 Dirk took the slip of paper, and read in Mary's painstaking script, "Hermosos."
 "It's a Spanish cigar, she says, sir. She doubts if you can find them here."
 "I can try, tell her."
 Mary came inside the room. She closed the door behind her.
 "Mister Dirk," she said, "couldn't talk free to you just now. We were just outside her door. I'm father were here, or at least apprised of her condition.

 Why had he not thought of this before? Because Hope had seemed to him to have no more ties than a wandering gypsy might. She had drifted into his house, into his life, with no background but the street, the rainy night. And now... she might be drifting out again, might be really ill...
 He encountered Nora on his way to the telephone. She had found the revolver.
 "On his desk, sir. Not tucked away at all, but laying under a growl pile of papers, sir. I almost touch his desk... niver. Would you mind, sir, comin' and gettin' it, if ye want it?"
 Dirk went into Rupert's room and found the revolver. It was unloaded, he discovered. Rupert, no doubt, had attended to that. Hope was not visible when he returned to her room. Her dinner had been placed on a small table beside the lamp, and there was a light on in her dressing-room. He called out his errand to her.
 "I'm putting your cannon in the wall-pocket."
 She thanked him, and he went out, wishing he might have seen her again, if only for a moment.
 He telephoned first to Old Forge and talked with Dr. Graves who he knew would be there that night. Rupert was doing as well as they could hope, and Graves was returning in the morning. He would come at once, on arrival, to see Hope.
 This, Dirk felt, was imperative. Even if he could not help her, he might be able to tell them what had stricken her.
 The name of Hope's father was in Dirk's note-book... How much he knew? How little did he know?
 The Rev. Silas Devine, El Paso, Texas, Hope ill here at Lowrie Wood. My brother away, and too ill himself to be told of his wife's condition. Feel it imperative that you should come at once.
 Dirk Joris appended the address to the telegram, and felt that it conveyed all that was needful.

Members of the New and Chas. club of Foran entertained their husbands and children with a basket lunch picnic Thursday evening at the Big Spring city park. At a previous meeting of the club it was decided to alternate the regular meetings with picnics. All members and their families met at the park at 6 o'clock for a delicious supper, afterwards many enjoying the swimming at the municipal pool. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thompson, Dora Jane and James Thompson, Mrs. Paul Sheedy and Frances, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Payne and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams, John Camp, Charles, and Darrell, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Jones, Marie, Frances and Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. McCaulin, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Thompson, John Kubecka, Miss June Rust, James Madding, Miss Elizabeth Madding, and Miss Grace Alkire of Odessa.

The W. M. U. of the Foran Baptist church met this week at the home of Mrs. E. T. Sewell in the Amerada camp. The regular mission book, "Soul Winning," was studied. The following members were present: Meses. W. C. Devers, Alfred T. Thieme, J. C. Scudday, L. C. Alston, H. L. Moody and Miss Estella Moody.

The Overton home demonstration club met for its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. E. T. Sewell of the Amerada camp, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. G. L. James gave a very interesting talk on "Malnutrition." Those attending the meeting were: Meses. Alfred T. Thieme, Earl Lucas, G. L. James, H. W. Bartlett, Ralph Barnett, J. O. Shaw, G. H. Green and Miss Phyllis Green.

Mrs. R. M. Brown and daughter, Mary, of the Superior camp near Foran left Thursday for Kansas where they will join another daughter, Ruth, and spend the summer at the home of Mrs. Brown's parents.

Charles Adams is spending the summer on his grandfather's farm at Coahoma.

Mrs. John Kubecka and daughter, Coleen, who have been visiting points in Florida and Georgia, are now in Nashville, Tenn., at the bedside of Mrs. Kubecka's sister, who is seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Streety and children, Gene and Bernice, who have been spending their vacation in West Seminoe, Okla., returned Friday morning.

Mrs. N. P. Condry and daughter, Virginia Lee, of Conway, Tex., have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Jones and family the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Carpenter of the Continental camp near Foran have had as their house guests the past three weeks Mrs. Joe Overcamp and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Jaack of Toledo, O. During the first week of their visit Mrs. Jaack, Mrs. Overcamp and Mrs. Carpenter drove to Electra, Tex., for a few days stay. Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter honored their guests with a barbecue supper including guests from Big Spring: Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Earnest, Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Malone and Mrs. Kirkpatrick. On Wednesday of this week, Miss Lucille Overcamp, Edward Ward Overcamp of Toledo, O., and Miss Virginia Groman of Hilldale, Mich., arrived at the Carpenters to complete the party. Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter again honored their guests with a barbecue supper including the following from Big Spring: Mr. and Mrs. Willard Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Earnest, Dr. and Mrs. Malone, Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lester, Mr. L. G. Talley and Mrs. Schmitzer. The Carpenter house guests left Friday morning for a trip through the west including the Grand Canyon and Salt Lake City.

The girls' 4-H club of Foran met this past week at the home of Mrs. C. C. Kent in the West Field. Mrs. Frank Tate, the sponsor of the club, demonstrated cutting and sewing. Two new members were added to the club, Miss Dorothy Green and Miss Joella Eudy. Lemonade and cake were served by the hostess, Miss Eloise Kent, to the following: Miss Norma Barber, Miss Bebe Johnson, Dorothy Green, Miss Joella Eudy, Mrs. Tate and Mrs. Kent.

Mrs. Floy Norman and Miss Minnie Lee Campbell were joint hostesses Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Norman in Foran honoring Miss Grace Tennyson with a bridal shower. 455 MILLIONS PAID IN BEER AND LIQUOR TAXES IN 11 MONTHS

WASHINGTON, June 20 (AP)—The treasury disclosed today that it had collected $455,235,398 in liquor and beer taxes during the first eleven months of this fiscal year which will end June 30. This amount is $84,685, 182 greater than the revenue collected in the Business Expansion is Aided

—by the proper use of bank credit.

A LOCAL merchant may decide to go forward with plans to expand his business. A new line of goods, purchase of larger stocks at more advantageous prices, plans for reaching out into a wider trade area, more aggressive sales and advertising effort—such policies as these may bring him gratifying results.

He may feel that the general outlook in his community, or in his particular line, justifies an expansion of his business with the aid of bank loans.

Whatever your business plans may be you shall be glad to discuss them with you, and give you the benefit of our information, advice and assistance.

Gossip

This week's show at the Ritz in which the March of Time is a feature, tells of the battle between Fort Worth and Dallas, stressing the battle aspects and ignoring the wonderful show at Dallas. Those in the know (and by that we mean show experts) say that the Fort Worth show is not even a good side show compared to the Dallas sights.

Point With Pride
Jumping back from East Texas to West Texas, we heard something the other day that gives us much pleasure. One of Big Spring's ministers is listed in "Who's Who in the Clergy of America." Three guesses and you'd never hit it, because he is so quiet and modest and so completely concerned with his work instead of his honors that Big Spring people are only gradually learning the depth of his character and the extent of his religious activities. (You know this is a town in which the bally-hoo-er goes a long ways). He is the Rev. C. Alonzo Bickley, pastor of the First Methodist church. He has no idea why his name got in such a book. (Very few Texans are in it, I am told). It is quite a lengthy write-up, giving an account of his life and the boards he has served on and his many achievements. We think it is really the nicest honor Big Spring has ever had along this line.

Steak Barbecue At Park Given By Group

A group of friends went to the City park Friday evening for a steak barbecue served with plenty of trimmings. After the supper they listened to the prize fight, then entertained themselves with group singing to the accompaniment of a guitar. In the party were: Messrs. and Mrs. J. C. Loper, Roy Cornelison,

Fred Stephens Party Back from Northwest

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stephens returned from their vacation trip Thursday. With them went their daughter, Rozelle and two of her friends, Cornelia Frances Douglass and Julius Neel.

They traveled by car as far north as Portland, Ore., via Yellowstone park and Salt Lake City and went through a lot of snow. They said that when they crossed the Texas line a hot blast of wind struck them—Texas' welcome when the state is feeling hot-tempered.

They plan to spend the remainder of the summer here entertaining relatives from California, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Hanson and daughter, Mary Louise of Pomona.

Services Sunday, 11 A. M., Settles Hotel, Room 1.

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, June 21.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding hath He established the heavens" (Proverbs 3:19).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "He that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new. . . . And He said unto me, It is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end" (Revelation 21:5-8).

The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is infinite, therefore ever present, and there is no other power nor presence. Hence the spirituality of the universe is the only fact of creation" (page 471).

Pattern No. 311. It takes someone like Freddie Bartholomew as Little Lord Fauntleroy to show us how becoming a wide lace collar can be. Here's one you can crochet yourself and wear with the opening at the back or the front. You'll find it very flattering. It can be made to fit the neck of any dress and is done in No. 20 mercerized crochet cotton, which works very quickly.

The pattern envelope contains complete, easy-to-understand illustrated directions, with diagrams to aid you; also what crochet hook and what material and how much you will need.

To obtain this pattern, send for No. 311 and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to cover service and postage. Address Big Spring Herald, Needlework Dept., P. O. Box 200, Station D, New York, N. Y.

HOME BUILDING IN SOUTH GAINS

WASHINGTON, June 20 (UP)—Single-family and two-family homes were largely responsible for the increase in home construction during March and April, according to the Federal Home Loan Bank Review, monthly publication of the Federal Home Loan Bank board. An analysis of building permits reported to the bureau of labor statistics, revealed that one and two family homes accounted for 80 per cent of all dwelling authorized for construction during the two-month period. Construction of apartment buildings to house three or more families amounted to only 20 per cent as compared with 33 per cent for the corresponding period last year.

States in the Southeast and South led the country in April in rate of residential construction, the review said. The board's Los Angeles district, which includes Arizona, Nevada and California, led all other sections in construction with a rate of 51 new family units per 100,000 population. The Winston-Salem district, comprising the District of Columbia, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Alabama closely followed with a rate of 32. Every district in the country, the board reported, showed an increase over the corresponding period of 1935. Small home construction in cities of 10,000 population and more was reported better during April than any month since May, 1931.

—yet new!

WEST CHESTER, Pa., June 20 (UP)—Divorces are psychical childish, according to Dr. Edward S. Lindeman, leading New York social worker.

Dr. Lindeman numbered divorces among the characteristics in American conduct which, he said, proves that many adult people are "still in their childhood," in urging a local audience to trap their children to be responsible citizens.

The divorce-desire, he explained, was one of three crimes a person encounters during a life-time, and occurs between the ages of 35 and 45, when people begin to realize they are growing old.

Married couples who have "grown up," according to Dr. Lindeman, have settled down to regular living at this time while those that have grown weary of each other and desire a change are "still childish."

"So long as you find people seeking something outside themselves," he said, "they are childish." The following members: Meses. S. R. Johnson, M. C. Knowles, L. Y. Moore, B. N. Ralph, Herbert Fox, W. O. Wasson, J. T. Allen, H. J. Feteish, E. Frazier and E. M. Stinson. J. T. Byers, W. L. Buebee, C. A. Schul, N. R. Smith, E. C. Hicks, Frank Powell, Miss Myrtle Stamps and Jamie Lee Meador.
