

U. S. Agents War On Stills In Southwest

Arrests Reach 8,000 In 21-Month Drive By Revenue Men

HOUSTON, June 6. (UP)—Federal agents are raiding almost as many whisky stills as they did during the prohibition era, according to James M. Shields, New Orleans, assistant supervisor of enforcement for the alcohol tax unit.

"Of course, our men work almost exclusively on stills," he said, "whereas prohibition agents had to work on beer joints, liquor cutting plants and the like."

"But repeal has not made illicit whisky manufacture unprofitable," he said in punishment for alcohol.

Prevalence of moonshiners is the result of high liquor prices, and tax evasion, he said.

Court Sentences Vary

"Courts sentence moonshiners to varied terms," he continued, "I find that where punishment is severe stills and moonshiners are few."

"An example is the Western district of Louisiana, where the judge's regular sentence is a year and a day or more. You can hardly find a still in the whole district."

Shields said the old-time alcohol and liquor smuggler is disappearing from the Gulf Coast.

"Very little stuff is coming into Texas from the Sabine river to Brownsville."

"One reason is that legal liquor can be obtained. The second is that a treaty between this country and Cuba, by which Cuba will not permit alcohol to be shipped here from that country without letting American officials know about it. Third, is the new law giving officers the right to arrest smugglers 50 or 60 miles from land, whereas the old law was 15 miles. This keeps them from hugging the coast with schooners and shipping small fast boats through with contraband."

The old days when agents shot smugglers or were shot themselves are gone, he said.

"In my 21 months as chief for Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, more than 8,000 persons have been arrested for violating revenue laws."

He explained this by saying that the "cream of the crop" of prohibition agents were chosen to become alcohol tax investigators when repeal became effective.

Byrd Pledges Self To Work For Peace

NEW YORK, June 6. (UP)—Convinced by six months of meditation in an icebound Antarctic but that civilization is plunging toward destruction, Admiral Richard E. Byrd has dedicated all but two years of the remainder of his life to working for peace.

The famous explorer announced his resolution last night at a dinner in his honor.

Byrd said he intended sometime to take two years for another trip of exploration—he did not say of what region—but for the rest of his life he intended to speak, write and organize for international amity.

If the present "great madness" of the world is not arrested, he said, "I do not see how our civilization will survive."

RED SOX MOVE UP ON YANKEES

BOSTON, June 6.—The Red Sox swept their second straight game from Chicago here Saturday and moved to within one and one-half games of the league leading Yankees by trimming the Pale Hose, 10-6, despite two home runs by Zeke Bonura, hard-hitting Chicago first sacker.

A six-run outburst in the first two frames enabled the "Fenway Millionaires" to coast to victory.

MANY ARE IN REVOLT AGAINST MEXICO EDUCATION POLICIES

MEXICO CITY, June 6. (UP)—Rebels in five central Mexican states fought against the government's program of socialist education today.

Their total number amounts to approximately 1,000, declared Gen. Luis Bobadilla, chief of staff, but the rebel bands are unorganized and lack central leadership.

The general dismounted reports crediting Lauro Rocha, the "Mexican Robin Hood," with leadership of the guerrilla warfare. Rocha, he said, rates no better than fourth in his own state.

The most recent of many attacks on rural school settlements occurred at the small town of Tepeicolo in Northern Puebla.

A band of ten rebels swooped down on the village, burned the school house, but were repulsed by the courageous defense offered by Maria Hernandez, the young school teacher.

Press reports told how she stood off the raiders for 30 minutes, shooting at them from the top of her house until she killed two and wounded four. Federal troops later captured two others.

General Bobadilla said many of the rebel bands have been in the field since the bloody "Cristero" revolt of 1929 against the anti-Catholic measures of former president Plutarco Elias Calles.

Many of the rebels, the general said, are bandits or outlaws, men with prices on their heads whose criminal records will not allow them to take advantage of the government's offer of amnesty.

"All of them are scattered and dispersed into small groups whose activities are without military importance," he added.

War department estimates show 190 outlaws in Durango, 97 in Zacatecas, 277 in Jalisco, 139 in Guanajuato and 286 in Colima.

Baptist Group Will Convene

Workers Conference Slated At Bethel On Tuesday

A meeting of the Big Spring Baptist Workers conference is scheduled for Tuesday of this week at Bethel, 18 miles north of the city. Program has been completed for an all-day session, beginning at 10 a. m.

Sermon for the conference will be delivered by Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church of Big Spring. A report of the Southern Baptist convention will be given by Rev. Winston Borum of Midland. Rev. Willis J. Ray, district missionary, will talk on "Evangelism," and a discussion of Sunday school work will be given by Clark Crane of Midland. Rev. Cone Merritt of Snyder will give the devotional.

A session of the WMU will be held simultaneously.

A general meeting of the Big Spring associational Sunday school is scheduled for 2 o'clock this afternoon at the First Baptist church here. Rev. Day will bring an inspirational message and Rev. Ray will outline the five-year plan. There also will be departmental conferences.

Record Crowd Expected At Scouts' Camp

Leaders Making Final Arrangements For Session Opening June 16

Advance reservations and inquiries indicate a record breaking number of Boy Scouts in the annual summer camp this year at Bar'sdale on the Nueces river, Carl Blomstedt, chairman of the camping committee, said Saturday.

A group of leaders including John P. Howe and Wallace Wimberly of Midland and Scout Executive Alfred J. Stiles of Sweetwater were at the camp site Saturday night checking on final arrangements for the first contingent of boys which will arrive June 16.

Program

Program of the camp will feature swimming, life saving, marksmanship, scout advancement, archery, campfires, hiking, handicraft, nature study, first aid, stories, songs, games, and plenty of free time. Camp honors will be given for camp craft achievements and a regular court of honor will be held at each camp period so that scouts advancing may receive their advancement awards.

The eats, always a big feature of camp, will again be prepared by Sonley Jones, for six years camp cook. The menu is being planned in accordance with a schedule of meals outlined by a government dietitian.

After two years at Merton, scouts and scouters of the Buffalo Trail council voted to go back to Camp Fawcett on the Nueces. Located in the Nueces canyon, the camp is nestled among a forest of young pecan trees and towering sycamores and is on a plateau overlooking the river. The swimming hole, biggest attraction of any camp, is so clear that small fish can be seen swimming on the bottom of 20 feet of water.

Three periods of one week each will be included in the camp tenure. Most of the Big Spring scouts and leaders will attend the first two weeks. They will make the 265-mile trip by truck.

ELECTRIC RATE IS LOWERED IN DALLAS

DALLAS, June 6. (UP)—Dallas citizens were expected to save $360,000 from a seven per cent electricity rate reduction announced today for domestic and small industrial users.

The proposal, submitted by Utilities Supervisor Joseph F. Leopold, was adopted Friday by the city council. The reduction was approved by the Dallas Power & Light company after several weeks of negotiations.

Leopold first asked a six per cent cut in rates to small consumers. The company agreed to eliminate a one per cent minimum charge fee.

City councilmen had considered levying a four per cent gross income tax on electric utilities before the rate reduction was made.

Lease maps show that 80 per cent of the land in Stevens county, Kansas, is under oil and gas leases. The original charter of Georgia, adopted in 1733, has been redrafted with important changes nine times.

Secrecy Helps 'Stop Landon' Rumors Grow

Nobody Knows Just Where Such Movements Start, How They Progress

By BYRON PRICE
(Chief of AF Bureau, Washington)

Tom's Prescriptions 6000 Has Already Brought Relief To Big Spring Man

Amazing New Medicine Brings Relief In One Week; Read How C. M. Harrell, 700 East 15th Street, Praises Tom's 6000.

"To My Friends and the Public in General:

"I am writing this testimonial because Tom's Prescription 6000 has helped me so much in one week that I want all who are suffering to know about it. One week ago I was all run down, bilious, gas on stomach, that caused me to have heart trouble, very nervous and in a very weak condition. I was so run down that at times I could not ever go to work and had to stay at home. Several times my work called me out of town and I would refuse to go because I was afraid to be away from medical attention on account of my heart. My bowels were moving but I could tell that my upper and lower bowels were not moving as they should.

"Tom's Rx 6000 was recommended to me and I tried one box. Before I could not walk one block, and now I am walking 7 to 8 miles a day. My bowels are now clean, but my stomach used to feel like there was a brick in them, and now they are clean and easy. I eat all I want. I am not nervous, my heart does not bother me. I feel fine and I am thankful to Tom's Prescription for all that it has done to me. I have been in this condition for years, and have been under the doctor's care for some 20 years and to think that I have found a medicine that has done so much for me in exactly one week."

You have my permission to use this testimonial in any form of advertising that you wish. Also I am not paid to write this testimonial and did not receive one cent for it but gladly give it of my own free will.

leading aspirant's hope of victory. The moment that is accomplished, they again fall to fighting among themselves.

There was an open "stop Hoover" movement in 1928, but it collapsed when Governor Lowden refused to go along with it and released his delegates. The "stop Roosevelt" movement in 1932 was less frankly spoken of, but it was no less real. It fell apart when the Garner delegates, chiefly William G. McAdoo, pulled out and went over to Roosevelt.

In some other years, "stop" movements have been entirely successful. McAdoo himself was stopped both in 1920 and in 1924 after he became leading man. Lowden helped stop General Wood in 1920, and then himself fell victim to the stop system.

Spurs Opposition
On thing which is happening now is that a considerable number of prominent republicans are beginning to wonder where they will be left if the quiet-working and somewhat mysterious Landon boom turns out to be all that is claimed for it.

Even Governor Landon's best friends do not dispute that this is a natural impulse. Most of the old leaders of the party, and some of the younger ones, know little about the governor personally. They appear to have no faintest notion what he might do, if nominated, to the party organization.

If a formidable "stop Landon" movement develops at Cleveland, this consideration undoubtedly will have much to do with it. There may be other causes, to be sure, but from the viewpoint of many of the prominent republicans aforesaid, it will be essentially a "stop, look and listen" movement.

U. S. Deficit Now Is Over 3 Billions

Treasury May Go In The Red By Twice That Amount

WASHINGTON, June 6 (AP) — The treasury's deficit for the current year today passed the $3,000,000,000 mark.

The daily treasury statement, as of June 4, showed the government had spent since July 1, 1935, $3,019,532,358 more than it collected. Total expenditures for the period through June 4 amounted to $6,754,109,090. Revenues came to $3,734,576,731.

President Roosevelt's revised budget estimated a deficit of $3,224,507,892 on June 30 next, but this was before enactment of bonus payment legislation. Recently Secretary Morgenthau, in an appearance before the senate finance committee estimated the deficit on June 30 might reach $5,966,000,000.

Morgenthau based this estimate on the assumption that all bonds for veteran payments, amounting to $2,237,000,000, would be issued during the current year, while he added $495,100,000 of expenditures due to loss of processing taxes invalidated by the supreme court. The deficit at this time last year was $3,201,379,534.

PRIDE SPURS GERMAN HEAVYWEIGHT TO COMEBACK EFFORT

HOPES TO WIN FROM JOE LOUIS

By CHARLES GRUMICH
NAPANOGH, N. Y., June 6 (AP)—The faint chance of becoming the first man ever to come back into the heavyweight title championship moved Max Schmeling to tackle the all but hopeless task of trying to stop Joe Louis.

A triumph over the Brown Bomber from Detroit would win him the shot at Jim Braddock's heavyweight crown—and the experts rather like Schmeling's chances against the reigning champion if they ever should happen to meet, which is extremely unlikely.

Schmeling has plenty of money and a movie-actress wife who undoubtedly has a fortune also.

What caused him, then, to undertake the fight with Louis at a time of life when a fistie career is supposed to be ended?

"It's His Pride," answer the men up here in the Catskills who have watched Schmeling's totally serious tune-up for his bout with Joe Louis in Yankee stadium on the night of June 18.

"Max wants to be the first ever to regain the heavyweight title. He is concentrating intensely on his training."

And he seems intent on the business as he whistles and trades real wallops with sparring partners in the outdoor ring.

In striking contrast to the bally-hoozy atmosphere of the Louis camp down at Lakewood, there is little folderol as Max goes through his paces. He smiles and does the old Dempsey weave—learned from the Manassa Mauler himself—for the patrons.

Trade Real Wallops
They trade real wallops and Max has a genuine respect and regard for the fellows who are serving as targets for the right uppercut that is being groomed for Joe Louis.

"Excuse it," smiles Max when he belts a mate a bit harder than is considered cricket in a tune-up match. At other times, Schmeling makes friendly remarks in a guttural undertone.

Both his serious manner about it all and the brisk workout win applause from the visitors who have paid 55 cents—just half what it costs to see Louis.

The action is quick and rather convincing. Max's stomach is flat in contrast to Louis' as he mixes it up with his mates and he got away to an earlier start on training than the Brown Bomber did.

All in all, Max Schmeling looks pretty fair—but he won't on the night of June 18.

"Cracking," or the smashing of the hydrocarbon molecules in oil under tremendous pressure and temperature, has resulted in the production of nearly twice as much gasoline from the same amount of crude oil.

RINGSIDE

By JIMMIE WAYNE

They say that boxing, or the art of knuckle-pushing, is the third oldest sport and that foot racing followed by wrestling won the statistical handicap by a nose or should I say foot.

I didn't see the first contest but you can take it from me that Eve first swung a haymaker at Adam and then the old boy invented foot racing.

All of which is by the way of saying that many thousands of years later we are about to see a shuffling brown menace, tagged Joe Louis, climb into a ring in Yankee stadium in the Big Town to do dirt to a Nordic invasion from across the sea dubbed Maxie Schmeling.

Maybe we all won't see it but Senor Mike Jacobs who inherited Tex Rickard's chairmanship of the cauliflower industry is preparing to play host to over 90,000 guests. I might add paying guests starting at $5.75 an invite and working up to $10 for near-sight fans.

But if we don't see it we'll hear it and hear it called by Clem McCarthy who's a handy man at the microphone whether he's calling Bold Venture by a nose or Joe Louis by a left to the button.

Mr. Jacobs and his gladiators may play to a gate of $1,000,000 but if Buick Mac doesn't hit an audience of more than a million rooting, rooting fight fans, far from Yankee stadium, we'll be badly fooled.

On paper, and looking at the records, it should be Shuffling Joe's fight in two heats, but this boy Schmeling can hit, he can take it, and he can box. Whether you watch the fight with your eyes glued to the ring or let Buick Mac's crisp voice tell you about it, you'll know there's been a fight.

SHORT NOTES AT LONG ODDS
June is the bridal month but if Schmeling thinks there'll be a bride on Joe Louis he is playing the wrong rodeo.

Max Schmeling can mark down June 18 in his diary as the night of the brown skin putch.

James J. Braddock, the former PWA man, says he knows how to trounce Louis. Maybe he wants to

News Notes From

Mrs. Beryl Loper entertained the Contract club at her home in Forsan on Wednesday afternoon. High score prize, a needle-point luncheon set, was won by Mrs. Hermann Williams and second high score prize, an Italian art work towel, was won by Mrs. W. K. Scudday. After two games of bridge were played punch and cheese niblets were served. Later peach melba was served and flags were used for plate favors. Playing were: Mmes. Hubert Madding, Earl Stanton, C. W. Harlan, Frank Tate, Hermann Williams, W. K. Scudday, J. L. Gault, W. B. Dunn, Loyd Burkhardt, Bob Thomson, I. L. Watkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson and daughters, Mary Ellen and Olga Kriston of Forsan, are leaving soon for their new home at Coleman. Peterson has bought half interest in a machine shop there.

Mrs. J. I. Caslin entertained the Chat and Sew club on Thursday afternoon at her home. Each member brought her own sewing. Peach melba and iced tea were served to Mmes. Charles Adams, R. M. Brown, E. W. Payne, Calvin Jones, Paul Shedy, Earl Thompson, Hubert Madding.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Limbocker and family leave within 10 days for their future home at Wink. Mr. Limbocker has accepted a position with Hoffman-Paige Drilling contractors.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis and family of the Continental oil camp are spending their vacation in Brady, Austin, San Antonio and Brownwood.

The 4-H club met with Norma Barber of the Humble camp on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Frank Tate, sponsor, taught the girls how to make French seams and to cut out slip patterns. Miss Parr, county agent, visited the group and gave them thimbles and tape measure.

bring his pick-axe in the ring with him.

Max Schmeling rode a five-day boat getting over here but he can get home in 46 hours on the Hindenburg.

When the Brown Bomber meets the Berlin Blunderbuss there's bound to be an explosion but Mike Jacobs will pick up all the pieces.

The league of nations should investigate this fellow Louis. He's knocked the socks off the best contenders from Italy, Spain, Africa, Russia and now he's taking on Germany. Oh yes. We mustn't forget Max Baer, the boy from Hollywood.

There'll be five men busy Thursday, June 18. Joe Louis, Max Schmeling, the third man in the ring, Buick Mac at the Mike and me, listening in.

St. Louis Browns Get Even Break in Twin Bill

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—Earl Childwell hit a homer in the ninth inning of the nightcap here Saturday to win his own ball game, 5-3, and gave the St. Louis Browns an even break in the twin bill.

The A's had won the first game, 5-5, scoring all their runs in the seventh stanza.

Rabbit Warbler hit a home run for the Philadelphians in the seventh frame of the opener with two mates aboard to give Herman Fink his victory.

GRIFFIN SIGNS BAER

DALLAS, June 6 (AP)—Dickie Griffin, fight promoter, said today he had signed Max Baer, former world's heavyweight champion, for his first comeback appearance in a six-rounder here July 2.

Griffin said Baer's opponent had not yet been selected but admitted Tom Brumpe, Dallas youngster, was being considered.

JACK MOAKLEY IS VETERAN OF 37 YEARS TRACK COACHING

NEW YORK, June 7 (AP)—Jack Moakley, 72-year-old veteran coach, has experienced many thrills in the 37 years he has been tutoring track and field athletes at Cornell university, but it is extremely doubtful that any of the triumphs which has charges accomplished in the past pleased him more than the winning efforts of his courageous little band in the recent Intercollegiate A.A.A.A. championships at Franklin field, Philadelphia. Nine of his athletes scored 29 1-2 points in eight events to win the point trophy at the sixtieth annual championship meeting and to give Moakley his tenth such triumph since he took over the reins at Ithaca.

Moakley warmly congratulated each point scorer, but he was really thrilled as he watched Herb Cornell, a sophomore, sprint furiously in the last furlong of the 3,000-meter run to come from the tenth position and snatch first place by inches. It was a gallant and determined drive, one which merited the championship medal which went to the youngster. Moakley was waiting at the door of the dressing room when the tired but happy athlete came along after the race.

"That was a dream of a finish," gushed the coach.

"I've been dreaming about a finish like that for weeks, Mr. Moakley," replied the smiling youngster.

"Well, you just go on dreaming finishes like that one, and you'll get somewhere before you wind up your running career."

Herb Cornell's excellent showing in the 3,000 meters was a bit of a surprise to Moakley. The coach admitted that the youngster had not showed anything to lead him to believe that the sophomore runner could be counted on for more than a point or two.

"Here he lad steps out and wins an intercollegiate championship in his first important race—that's going some," commented Moakley.

Manhattan Menopoly
Cornell, the runner and not the university, held the private school cross-country title in the Metropolitan district when he was competing for Poly Prep of Brooklyn two years ago. He was expected to develop into a capable distance runner under Coach Moakley, but few expected him to blossom out as a champion in his first year of varsity competition. He is likely to prove a very handy runner to have around when Moakley goes a-seeking more track and field titles.

Manhattan college, winner of the indoor I.C.-4A title the past three years, did not develop into the threat which its admirers had hoped for. But one of the big thrills of the afternoon's activities was reserved for Coach Peter Waters, of the Jasper team.

The 800-meter run presented the unprecedented spectacle of three Manhattan runners crossing the finish line in one-two-three order.

Doug Jones Wins

RISEING STAR, June 6.—Doug Jones, sharp-shooting Big Spring star, defeated Tulley, 2 up, in the quarterfinals of the annual Phil-De-Co Golf tournament to advance into the semifinals along with J. T. Hammett of Eastland, the medalist, Alvin Harrell and Sam Conner.

Hammett, defending champion, made his way into the next to the semi-final matches by beating H. G. Boyd and Bobby Sikes. In his match with Sikes, he was five under par when he ended the match at the fifteenth hole.

Jones was also "hot" in his Saturday matches, defeating Wright, 9-8, before he got into the quarterfinal matches.

Cubs Bunch Hits In 6th For Win Over Brooklyn

CHICAGO, June 6.—The Cubs bunched their hits in the sixth inning for six runs and a 10-4 victory over Brooklyn here Saturday.

They were Lou Burns, Edgar Berck and Bill Ray—the first two being sophomores. Burns' time was 1.541 and the other two were close enough to him to justify the opinion that the trio was under 1.55. With three runners capable of such fast time any coach might indeed consider himself fortunate. That one race netted Manhattan an even dozen points. The Jaspers scored only three others, two when Johnnie Wolff finished fourth in the 100 meters and one for Dick Lundell's fifth place in the 200 meters.

COOPER IS DEFEATED BY STROKE

SPRINGFIELD, N. J., June 6.—Blatting all championship records to bits in a heart throbbing finish, dapper little Tony Manero, 31-year-old Italian-American pro, shot a great round of golf to snatch the open American crown from "Light Horse" Harry Cooper, the hard luck man of golf, by a stroke margin in the U. S. open.

Four strokes behind Cooper at the start of the final round, Manero came from behind like a "Man-O-War" to overtake the veteran.

Whereas only one man, Sam Parks, was able to break 300 at Oakmont last year, exactly 44 scored better than that this year over the difficult course.

Watson Clark was chased in that frame and his successors, Earnshaw, Jeffcoat and Leonard had little success.

Froy and Bogardus hit home runs for Brooklyn while Caverratta had one for Chicago.

"The Universal Car"

ONE NAME comes quickly to mind when you think of "The Universal Car." The description is distinctively Ford. No other car is used by so many millions of men and women in every part of the world. Everywhere it is the symbol of faithful service.

That has always been a Ford fundamental. Something new is constantly being added in the way of extra value. Each year the Ford has widened its appeal by increasing its usefulness to motorists.

Today's Ford V-8 is more than ever "The Universal Car" because it encircles the needs of more people than any other Ford ever built. It reaches out and up into new fields because it has everything you need in a modern automobile.

The Ford V-8 combines fine-car performance, comfort, safety, beauty and convenience with low first cost and low cost of operation and up-keep. It depreciates slowly because it is made to last. There is no other car like it.

Only the Ford V-8 Gives You These Fine-car Features

Geneva Labor Office Finds Effects Of Depression Disappearing

GENEVA, June 6. (UP)—An International Labor Office study on migration shows that the movement of European and Asiatic workers to the new world, which suffered a severe setback in the worst depression years, is being revived gradually.

The survey deals with the international movement of workers who are recruited in one country and placed in employment in another, and with the status and treatment of these workers during the time they are engaged in their first job in the country of immigration.

"Migration movements," the report states, "have undergone a profound transformation during the last decade. So far as total numbers are concerned, for example, while migration maintained a fairly high level until 1929 and in some countries 1930, with the coming of the depression it first diminished and then reversed its direction so that the number returning to their countries of origin became larger than those emigrating.

"Such a reversal of the stream of emigrants is not without precedent, as it has occurred in isolated cases in previous depressions, but never in history has such a reversal been so universal or lasting for so long a period.

Show Factors at Work

"It is of interest to note that by 1932 the return movement of migrants to their countries of origin showed signs of diminishing and that, as the depression slowly lifted, the number of outward-bound migrants began to increase. This tendency is still a very hesitating one. These facts show once more that migration is influenced more by a demand for labor in the immigration countries than by the situation in the emigration countries.

"It may be said without undue exaggeration that the economic recovery, which is taking place in many countries, is likely to lead to a modification of measures adapted to immigrants, who at that time would not have been able to find employment. This period of restriction should be succeeded by a period of co-operation between those countries which once again need foreign workers to develop their resources and those which have a surplus of labor available.

Argentina Farms Attract

Referring specifically to South American conditions, the report states that the principal countries of immigration are Argentina and Brazil and that most of the new settlers are agricultural workers.

In Argentina, the number of immigrants in 1927 was 132,000. It then fell to 129,000 in 1928, rose to 40,000 in 1929, and then fell rapidly to 26,000 in 1934. In Brazil there was a similar development, the figures being 98,000 in 1927, 8,000 in 1928, 96,000 in 1929, 22,000 in 1932, rising to 46,000 in 1933 and 1934.

"On the other hand," the report said, "the outward movement from Argentina steadily increased from 54,000 in 1928 to 68,000 in 1930, and then fell to 40,000 in 1933.

"In Brazil the outward movement (including nationals) steadily increased from 40,000 in 1928 to 54,000 in 1930, then fell to 23,000 in 1934.

"In Mexico no statistics were available for 1927, and the basis on which they are compiled has been changed more than once in recent years. However, the decline in immigration seems to have started there in 1929, and by 1933 the total number had fallen to 500."

Opportunities Still Exist

Passing to regulations governing immigration, the report states: "In America, and generally speaking in all areas open to colonization by white labor, governments usually encourage spontaneous immigration and show suspicion, if not hostility, toward inter-governmental agreements for migration and recruitment of workers under contract. In fact the natural resources of these territories are so vast, especially having regard to their relatively sparse population, that in normal times the immigrant finds an opening there more easily than elsewhere and has a better chance of getting out of the wage-earning class after a time by setting up on his account. Moreover, in these territories immigration of individuals or single families is the rule, and collective immigration the exception. . . . The American countries regulate their immigration on general principles relating to the race, means, age, health or morality of the immigrants."

In conclusion, the report considers that the central problem

Only Registered Owner Will Be Able To Collect Bonds For Bonus Payment

Wording on the three per cent adjusted service bonds which will be issued to veterans of the World War starting June 15 makes it clear that none but the registered owner can claim or cash them.

Issued in $50 denominations, the bonds are "not transferable, assignable, subject to attachment, levy, or seizure under any legal or equitable process."

If held until June 15, 1945, they will be worth $83.50 to the owner.

They may, however, be redeemed at the option of the registered owner or his estate at any time prior to 1945 at par and accrued interest to date of redemption.

Bonds will be dispatched from Dallas on June 15 and will be ready for distribution to veterans here the following morning. A special window has been opened at the post office to care for the rush and two desks will be set aside for those who wish to have their bonds certified for redemption.

Postmaster Nat Shick asked those who get their mail by carrier or route to plan to be home, with proper identification about on the morning of June 16 about the time the postman is accustomed to call.

State Accepts New Highway

Five Miles Of No. 9 From Fairview To Big Spring Surfaced

The state highway department Saturday accepted nine miles of new surfaced road on highway No. 9 south in Howard county. The road was actually opened to traffic the last week in May.

By Saturday evening five miles of highway No. 9 north from Fairview toward Big Spring had been surfaced. Contractors planned to stop shooting until Wednesday so that the rock supply could be placed sufficiently far in advance since it had only about half a mile lead when work was stopped.

First course of caliche base has been placed on the five-mile section of road from the north Howard county line to a point 17 miles north of here. Base will be placed soon on a mile and a half stretch in Martin county to the paved road in Dawson county.

With contract let for grading and structure work on the six-mile stretch in Glasscock county connecting the surfaced segments in Starling and a four-mile section in Glasscock, the local highway situation was in the best shape it has been in the history of the city.

UTILITY INCOMES UP 20 PER CENT

AUSTIN, June 6. (UP)—Utility incomes for the first quarter of 1936 had more than a 20 per cent gain over the corresponding period of 1935, tax records in the office of State Comptroller George Sheppard revealed today. The comparative figures are $21,678,844 for 1936 and $17,850,864 in 1935. Greatest increase was in natural gas. The records include also electric lights, power and water. The increase meant a tax gain to the state of $24,624.

DAD JOINER WILL EXPLORE FOR OIL NORTH OF RODESSA

DALLAS, June 6. (UP)—C. M. (Dad) Joiner, discoverer of the East Texas oil field, prepared today to try his luck in Miller county, Arkansas, about 17 1/2 miles north of the Rodessa area.

Joiner said he had purchased 8,000 acres and was drilling one well now. The contract calls for drilling to 5,500 feet unless oil is discovered before then. At that depth, he believes Trinity sand-producing stratum in the Texas-Louisiana Rodessa field—will be reached.

The 8,000 acres bought by the Fort Crockett guardhouse. Vickery, 31, lived at Full River, Mass. His widow and four children, living here, survive him. Military authorities were investigating.

East Texas wildcatter is about 10 miles south of Texarkana, near the junction of Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana. It was purchased from the Montana Realty company and the well now being drilled is designated as the C. M. Joiner No. 1 Montana Realty company.

Joiner said the project was undertaken on the theory that the Balcones fault, which extends through the new Talco field in Texas, continues into southwestern Arkansas.

YOAKUM AND GAINES WILDCATS HOLD INTEREST IN THE WEEK'S OIL DEVELOPMENTS IN AREA

Oil Saturation Shown In Landreth-Kirk; High Formation In Henard Test; 32 Locations In West Texas For Week

SAN ANGELO, June 6.—Slight oil saturation in Landreth No. 1 W. H. Kirk, southern-Gaines county wildcat, and an apparently high anhydrite top in Bahan, Rhodes & Fitzpatrick No. 1 Henard, Yoakum county wildcat, attracted most attention this week in the quest for more West Texas oil.

Humble No. 7 R. M. Means indicated broadening westward of the Means pool in north central Andrews county. Sinclair-Prairie and others No. 1 J. B. Tubb became the fifth producer from the deep Permian lime in the Sand Hills district in western Crane county. Tide Water Oil Co. and Merry Bros. & Perini topped pay in their third test in the Fisher county pool six miles northeast of Rotan. Biggest completed producer of the week was Marathon No. 10-D Yates in Pecos county, which flowed 4,999.82 barrels in 24 hours.

Wm. H. Dunning, Jr., No. 1 H. E. Cummins, northwestern Ector county wildcat and opener of the county's tenth pool, remained shut in for pipe line connection, bottomed at 4,282 feet, where late the week before it flowed 408 barrels of oil in 24 hours. Standard No. 1-B E. F. Cowden, indicated 1 1/2-mile northwest extension to the Foster pool in Ector county, struck sulphur water in drilling to 4,556 feet and plugged to shoot or acidize, possibly both.

32 LOCATIONS

Locations showed a slight gain, 32 being listed in eight counties compared to 29 in 30 counties during the preceding week, and again outnumbered completions. Three of 23 completions were abandoned locations. Ward county again led in locations last week, with nine. Winkler county gained eight, Pecos seven, Crane, Crockett and Upton two each and Howard and Kimble counties one each.

Slight oil saturation showed in total recovery of one foot of hard lime cored from 4,540-52 feet in Landreth No. 1 W. H. Kirk in southern Gaines county after outtings from softer lime at 1,537 feet revealed oil stain. There was no change as drilling progressed to 4,591 feet in very hard lime. Some picked the top of the gray lime at

Pike Test Is Drilling In White Lime

Depth 3,265 Feet; No Shows Recorded, Formations Running High

With a fishing job completed, the D. C. Read, C. T. Schmid, et al No. 1 Walter Pike wildcat test one and a half miles northwest of Big Spring was drilling ahead at 3,265 feet in white lime Saturday night.

Work was temporarily delayed when a line snapped Thursday but a quick fishing job had the hole ready for drilling late that night at 3,150 feet.

No shows have been recorded yet although the test is running from 115 to 150 feet higher than the nearest test, the abandoned Fuhrman No. 1 Read, just north of town on the cemetery road. Operators anticipate shows around the 3,500-foot level. Contact depth is 3,500 feet or sulphur water; but there is a possibility that it may be deepened if formations are encouraging.

Second Test

If good shows are obtained, the test may be shot and acidized. In addition, there may be a second test in the area since a large territory is blocked up by Schmid and associates.

The test, located 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 24, block 33, T-1-N, T&P survey, is midway between a test drilled on the Gular property in section 4, two and a half miles west, and the ried when an increase was noted at 6,168. Further tests of oil showings in three horizons from 5,905-20, from 5,690 to 5,710 and from 5,350-90, are likely as the hole is plugged, and acid may be run at some levels. Location is in the center of the southwest quarter of section 4, certificate 127, W. W. Russell original grantee.

Treated With Lime

Humble No. 7 R. M. Means in Andrews county obtained pay in drilling to 4,556 feet and was testing after treating the lime with 2,000 gallons of acid. It is 654 feet from the south line and 655 feet from the east line of section 15-A29-pal.

Sinclair-Prairie and others No. 1 Tubb in western Crane county swabbed and flowed 10 barrels of oil the last 10 hours before treating with acid, bottomed at 4,469 feet. It drilled to that level after developing small production on the pump at 3,164 feet. The unit test is in the southeast corner of section 3-E27-pal, 1 7/8 miles northwest of Humble No. 1 Tubb, a deep Permian lime well and 1 3/4 miles southeast of Gulf No. 1 Tubb, first producer from the Ordovician in West Texas outside the Big Lake field in Reagan county.

Moore Bros. No. 1 T. C. Barnsley estate, scheduled Ordovician test in the center of the southwest quarter of section 43-32-pal, Crane county, had drilled to 4,690 feet in lime, carrying 1,500 feet of sulphur water from 4,555-70 feet. It was due to run 8 1/4 inch casing shortly.

2,049-Barrel Flow

Humble No. 7 Howe, on the east side of the Sayre pool in northern Winkler county, became one of the largest wells in the area when it flowed 2,049 barrels of oil in 24 hours through casing following a 300-quart shot from 2,835 to 2,986 feet. It is 1,650 feet from the south and east lines of section 12-26-pal.

Sinclair-Prairie No. 3-E Cummins, 329 feet from the north line and 1,650 feet from the east line of section 11-36-pal, was completed at 2,994 feet, flowing 811 barrels in 24 hours through casing. It was shot with 300 quarts from 2,745 feet to the total depth.

Tide Water and Merry Bros. & Perini No. 3 Mary Howard in Fisher county topped pay at 3,640 feet, drilled in two feet and stopped to run five-inch pipe. The pay top was 17 feet higher than in No. 2 Howard, 588 feet to the north and 782 feet to the east, which initially produced 362 barrels daily, bottomed at 3,938 feet. No. 3 Howard is 2,208 feet from the north line and 2,332 feet from the east line of section 18-1-H&TC.

Gulf No. 6 Goldenmith in southwestern Ector county flowed 365 barrels of oil the first 12 hours after being shot with 140 quarts from 4,158 to 4,213 feet. It is a south offset to Wm. H. Dunning, Jr., No. 1 Schnrbauser, 1 1/2-mile northwest extension to the Goldenmith pool, and 2,300 feet from the north line and 1,520 feet from the east line of section 22-44-1s-T&P.

China Getting Ready To Hit Back At Foes

Spirit Of Nationalism Is Developing In Present Crisis

By D. W. HANCOCK (Associated Press Foreign Staff)

China, for 150 years a sprawling giant whose body was the battleground of trade rivalries of the world's powers, is getting to her feet and getting to hit back.

No longer will she turn the other cheek, spokesmen in Nanking politely intimate.

The work of Dr. Sun Yat-Sen, "father" of the Chinese republic, is slowly bearing fruit. It was his dream the nation could escape being "a colony of every great power."

ing out following a 200-quart shot. Continental No. 7-A Overton, 3,368 feet from the south line and 440 feet from the east line of section 6-32-2s-T&P, had drilled to 2,960 feet in lime. The first hole was lost at 2,085 feet and the rig was skidded 25 feet north. Continental No. 6-S Settles was standardizing while waiting for cemented 5 1/2-inch casing to set at 1,175 feet.

Continental No. 21 Settles in Howard county was in the process of completion following a 200-quart shot from 2,390 to 2,449 feet. It made six barrels of oil hourly before the shot. The well is 1,320 feet from the south line and 449 feet from the west line of section 133-29-W&NW.

TWO ARE KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

HOUSTON, June 6. (AP)—An unemployed farm worker and his stepdaughter were killed early today and the man's wife was burned critically when their car and a truck crashed near Stafford, Tex. The vehicles caught fire.

Perle D. Toms, 32, and Ona Lee Cantrell were killed. Mrs. Toms, 29, was burned seriously before she was dragged from the flaming wreckage of the car. The truck driver, Frank Cockrell, suffered severe burns on the hands and arms while pulling Mrs. Toms from the auto.

HASTINGS RESIGNS REPUBLICAN POST

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Senator Hastings, of Delaware, resigned today as chairman of the republican senatorial campaign committee, a position from which he has criticized the new deal for the past two years.

Hastings, who is retiring from the senate at the end of this year, directed his letter to Senator McNary, of Oregon, republican leader of the senate.

Pressure was brought to bear on the city officials who astutely called for definite commitments of support from the citizenry. Two weeks ago the city announced it would attempt to install the service if people were still interested. Many talked favorably of the idea but few took the trouble to sign contracts. More lip service.

Retiring G. O. P. Chairman Seeking A "Dug-Out" Where He Can Think

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—Handsome Henry P. Fletcher will be missed at the Republican national headquarters. As the time drew near for him to relinquish his post as pre-convention chairman, even the office boy scrubbed his hands and scribbled his name on a last message the staff wrote the boss. A handsome watch went with the message.

Fletcher automatically will relinquish his post as chairman at the end of the Republican convention. Then a successor will be chosen through agreement of the nominee and the new committee. Fletcher has announced he is not a candidate for the position.

Fletcher, himself smiled broadly over the vacation ahead.

"I'm going to my favorite dug-out," he said. "That's Greencastle, Pennsylvania. After the Cleveland convention, of course. I'll attend that. Then I'll go home, do a little reading, a little writing, and a little thinking. About all the reading I've done the last year are inter-office memos."

From the first small post at Cuba, Fletcher rose through the years, serving in American legations and embassies in China, Portugal, Chile, Mexico, Belgium and Italy, finally rising to the rank of ambassador.

Short Retirement

He resigned from the ambassadorship at Rome in June, 1929, but in 1931 he was appointed chairman of the U. S. Tariff commission, a post he resigned in December, 1932. In 1934 he was drafted as chairman of the Republican national committee.

He started the headquarters staff by appearing day after day at 9 a. m., often with notes for a speech he had made earlier at home. He took his duties as collector of a campaign purse so seriously that he erased the $200,000 deficit left by the 1932 campaign and is leaving $185,000 in the till.

He celebrated his release from his heavy duties by buying himself a present: a Gilbert Stuart portrait of George Washington. Somehow through the years the young court reporter from Greencastle has become, in addition to other things, an art connoisseur.

MIDLAND, June 6—Only 120 tax paying voters of Midland independent school district No. 1 went to the polls today to give approval, by a count of 91 to 29, to the issuance of $75,000 in bonds for the erection of a new elementary school building.

$4,080.08 in wages for the month. Of this amount, $1,573.98 went to patrons along the routes for dragging the roads after rains. Investigators find some interesting things in talking to oldsters who are applying for old age assistance. One found a man whose birth date was at variance on a marriage license and the family Bible. The latter had obviously been erased and changed, but the man explained the difference by saying he did not want his wife to know he was so much older than she, so he used a smaller figure on his marriage license. Then there is the story of how one woman proved her age by producing a letter her father had written during the civil war and had mentioned her. Some of the most disgruntled oldsters when first assistance is paid in July will be those who are well off. They are expecting a pension, not assistance.

Incidentally, July should prove one of the best months of the summer season. The old age money will help somewhat and first of the bonus money will be turned loose in that month. Farmers will have their crops in shape to come to town on Saturday and spend a few dollars they have managed to save or borrow from the bank.

City of Big Spring protested the proposed cut in the amount of PWA grants from 45 to 30 percent, and for good reason, too. The cut would mean that the city would have to vote $350,000 bonds instead of $275,000 in bonds if and when the $500,000 application for a dam and water lines to Big Spring is given an allotment. That $75,000 would make a lot of difference when people come to the polls to vote.

be thankful for the 100th birthday of Texas independence. Chief reason for the large amount of highway work in the county in the last 12 months is that the highway department is anxious to have principal traffic arteries ready for the influx of out-of-state visitors. The city would have been better off if the Centennial had come several years ago.

denberg from the vice presidential lists carried wide implications. It was the consensus of many here that the Michigan senator could have had a second place on the 1936 ticket for the asking.

The implication spread into the presidential field as well. How much, if any, the Vandenberg announcement hurt the Landon drive was a matter of speculation. Certainly, many Landon boosters had spread assertions that a Landon-Vandenberg ticket would be an attractive one.

Despite the uprolling claims of Landon strength as delegates poured into the city in ever-increasing numbers, all else was not completely serene in the Kansan's camp. It became more and more evident that a battle was in prospect—whether in private sessions or in the open—over the formation of a platform. Recent proposals sounded here of a liberalized platform appeared likely to draw fire from some Landon supporters in the East.

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the lesson-lesson which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, June 7.

The Golden Text is: "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth" (Psalms 121: 1, 2).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-lesson is the following from the Bible: "For as the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, shall remain before me, saith the Lord, so shall your seed and your name remain" (Isaiah 66:22).

The lesson-lesson includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Through many generations human beliefs will be attaining diviner conceptions, and the immortal and perfect model of God's creation will finally be seen as the only true conception of being."

To Sell Centennial Ticket Booklets Until Called For, Said P-T. A. Head

Ladies Auxiliary Has Business Meet

Although Friday was officially the closing day of the sale of Centennial ticket booklets, Mrs. C. A. Bulot, chairman of the finance committee of the P-T. A. council has announced that she will sell the few booklets left on hand until Mr. Fox of the Dallas exposition comes for them this week.

Those who want to take advantage of this saving are asked to get in touch with her at once. Shine Phillips has put his endorsement on the sale in the following pithy statement: "Dallas will get enough Big Spring money as it is. We ought to buy our Centennial tickets at home and help our schools."

The sale of these booklets, which offer five general admissions and five admissions to attractions for the price of the general admissions alone, is creating considerable interest and a substantial amount is accruing to the local P-T. A.'s as a result. A few more booklets remain.

PIGION HOO

By Frank Lushington
(E. P. Dutton & Co.)

Englishmen give their country homes such quaint names as the title of this book. Then they like to write about them. The results are usually a series of readable articles on the advantages of having a week-end retreat in the country. The most intriguing essays in this essayese era seem to deal with love of nature. Americans occasionally write them, especially if they have had a collection of unique experiences that have made good dinner table conversation.

The English, however, can write without having done more than bought a home. Let us take Mr. Lushington, for example, who is publishing his first book. He and his wife live in London. They had always talked about owning a home in country, but he had an idea of to help them remodel the yard and develop the grounds. Dr. Thomas Of Midland Author Of Book For After-Dinner Talks

Witty Sayings Of Doctor's Own Concoctions Included; Funny Stories And Aphorisms In Volume

Summer reading in Big Spring is not necessarily an occupation of youngsters although they seem to patronize the library more than their parents do. Publishers this year have turned out a more enticing fare than usual for hot weather.

Among those reviewed today is a book of unusual interest to Big Spring, inasmuch as it was compiled by a West Texas physician, the husband of a Big Spring girl—Dr. J. B. Thomas of Midland.

Personally Speaking

Mrs. Ralph Houston left Thursday for Fort Worth to attend the wedding of a friend, Miss Clara Haden. From there she will go to Llano to visit Mrs. Jack Hishop, thence to Robstown to spend a few weeks with her brother, Glenn McNew, and Mrs. McNew. The remainder of the summer she will spend in Austin.

BONUS MONEY

A proposition that is intriguing for the simple fact that it runs opposite to the generally current attitude on the bonus payments was presented the other day in an advertisement by a Dallas motor concern.

The motor company didn't deny that it would be glad to have the patronage of ex-soldiers who are in the market for automobiles, and its statement was merely a new psychological appeal in advertising.

Payments to be released this month reach a staggering sum; perhaps the largest single amount ever released in this nation at a single time. The total runs over two billion, fifteen million dollars.

This is not to imply that veterans will spend their money foolishly. Most of them will not, of course. Most of them will use their new income to retire debts, to purchase articles really needed, to replace necessities that would have been replaced, but for economic depression, several years ago.

Such procedure is proper; and in such purchasing and spending the business of the nation will benefit.

But with so many "offers" and "special deals" being made to veterans, one wonders who is really going to get the bonus money; the ex-soldier, or a lot of people who are trying to make him spend it before he receives it.

The bonus the average veteran will receive represents the hardest money anybody ever got—money won at the expense of hardship, privation, and in many cases, serious risk of life.

Bonus payments aren't going to be made every year. Savings and investments should be considered as well as immediate purchases.

★ Man About Manhattan ★

By George Tucker

NEW YORK—Bob Hope is one comedian who would rather play golf than Hamlet any day, which makes him practically unique in this bailiwick of Pagliacis and Melancholy Danes.

He dreams of golf and even argues it when he encounters such non-interested (in golf) individuals as Phil Baker.

"What do you mean?" indignantly demanded Hope. "I can name you a dozen songs dedicated to that most glorious Scotch game."

"I'm waiting," Phil told him. "Well," mused Bob, "there's 'Tea for Two,' 'Manhie's in the Cold, Cold Ground,' 'Caddy Me Back to Ole Virginny,' and 'Iron in the Mood for Love...'"

Despite the fact that late spring has witnessed a general exodus of celebrities from New York, the reservoir is apparently still untapped. In one evening I saw Earl Carroll, Joan Marsh (dancing at the Waldorf), Irene Dunne, J. F. Carlisle, Edna May Oliver, Mrs. Byron C. Foy, Prince George (Russia), Sir Robert Throckmorton ("the sleepy baronet"), Gloria Baker, Mrs. Walter P. Chrysler, and Mrs. Andre de Coppet.

Other tokens of abundance in names include a resume of those encountered near Grand Central Palace, where the motor boats are displayed. One saw Wallace Beery, who piloted his own plane from the coast, Richard Barthelmess, John Charles Thomas, Arthur Byron, Ruby Newman, Billy Rose, Dick Money, Ray Henderson, and John Peter Toohey.

El Chico is that Spanish restaurant whither most visiting bull fighters migrate when in New York... they like the crowd, of course, because a majority of the Spanish colony are habitués there, but most of all they like those frenzied paintings of matadors and Flamenco dancers on the walls by Usabal, the famous Spanish artist.

The Flamencos in reality are Spanish, Jewish, and Arabian and probably owe their origin to an early conquest of the moors. But what I started out to say is, by far the most interesting point to El Chico is the menu, a reproduction of a choice Usabal canvas which, though several years old, holds the latest political trend in Spain. It shows Alfonso, the banished monarch, lounging in a gay Paris café, his cigarette smoke vanishing lazily into a shadowy representation of his once (officially) royal self.

Dirt, just plain dirt rich enough to nourish growing flowers and plants, is exceedingly rare on Manhattan, and none too plentiful in other parts of greater New York. A bushel of soil for a flower box is expensive, as anyone who has tried to buy it can testify.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DEWE FEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Justice Roberts, author of many of the supreme court's anti-new deal opinions, was dining at the home of Mrs. Borden Harriman, whose dinner parties are famous for their frank debates.

Heywood Brown, arch-critic of the supreme court, also was present. During the general discussion which started over coffee and cigars, Heywood said to Justice Roberts:

"Do you know what you members of the court should do, Mr. Justice? Every seven years you should take a Sabbatical year and go out and get acquainted with the people. You ought to go out and ride in day coaches and in smoking cars. You ought to talk with farmers and filling station operators. Then maybe the court would get some economic and social philosophy."

To which Justice Roberts shot back: "But I haven't been on the court seven years."

Labor vs. Moley: There was a day when Professor Ray Moley wrote the famous Green Bay speech in which Roosevelt came out for social security, the rights of labor, etc., thereby throwing industry into a fresh case of the jitters.

But now, as editor of wealthy Vincent Astor's weekly magazine, "Today," Ray is having his own labor troubles.

Ever since it started, "Today" has been printed by the Art Color company, Dunellen, N. J., a 100 per cent unionized shop.

But several weeks ago Moley notified the company that "Today" would be printed by another firm. Quiet inquiry revealed that he was negotiating with the Conde Nast company, of Connecticut.

The organized printers hit the ceiling. The Nast firm is a non-union establishment and has engaged in some bitter wars with the printing unions, including resort to court injunctions. So Charles P. Howard, president of the International Typographical Union, wrote Moley a letter of protest.

Moley did not reply. Howard then took his complaint to Mayor George Berry, president of the pressmen's union, also federal coordinator for industrial recovery (without pay), also chairman of the labor non-partisan committee for Roosevelt's re-election.

Moley and Berry are personal friends. So Berry sent the professional telegram saying that Howard had complained and expressing the hope that he had been misinformed.

This time Moley answered. In a humorous letter tinged with sarcasm he asked Berry whether he was approaching the issue as the president of a union, as a politician, or as a government official.

The thrust got under Berry's skin. He replied with a stinging letter saying he was acting as a union official, and flaying Moley for talking Liberal and acting Reactionary.

Moley has not yet replied. Meanwhile the union leaders are wondering whether they can get a better deal from Moley's boss, may take the quarrel up with yacht-owning Vincent Astor.

Whiskey Experts: Senator Burton Wheeler, Montana liberal, was discussing alcoholic beverages on the senate floor when Senator Alben Barkley, Kentucky drut, interrupted, slyly asked: "What brand of whiskey is made out of wheat?"

"I can't say exactly. I am not as familiar with the making of whiskey as is my friend from Kentucky," "Oh," said Barkley hurriedly, "my question did not indicate that I knew anything about it. I was merely seeking information from an expert."

Ambitious Jesse Jones: One of the headaches Roosevelt constantly has with him is the rivalry in his official family for more and more power. Almost every one of his department heads is ever alert to take in more business.

Not the least of these is Jesse Jones, soft-spoken, hard-fisted head of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

It has not leaked beyond the senate appropriations committee, but the other day Jesse tried to pull a squeeze play whereby he would have taken over the Public Works administration of his old pal and colleague Harold Ickes.

Ickes was up against the fact that the relief bill, as originally drafted in the house, would have shut up most of PWA June 30. The bill gave him no money, placed it all at the disposal of WPA.

Senate Opposition: Over in the senate, Carl Hayden of Arizona opposed this, demanded that part of the $1,425,000,000 relief fund be earmarked for PWA. But Harry Hopkins objected, wanted all the money himself.

Then along came Jesse with a beautiful compromise. Behind closed doors he suggested that PWA's authority to finance public works be divided between his own RFC and Hopkins' WPA, with Hopkins given the power to make outright grants and he to make the loans. As grants are conditioned on loans, Jesse's neat scheme would have made him the real boss of public works.

A few smoothly Jesse worked is indicated by the fact that not only the printed transcript of the committee's proceedings, but the testimony of all the others is there. But not his.

Nazi Propaganda: Leo Mack, energetic American minister to Costa Rica, has uncensored a network of Nazi propaganda in Central America which, he says, is making that area Naziminded.

News broadcasts in Spanish were being from Berlin regularly at certain hours, giving the latest on Nazi developments. Every speech by Hitler or Goering is summarized through Central America either by radio or German legations. Meanwhile American radio does nothing.

Good Business: "Investor America," official publication of the American Federation of Investors, reads as if the end of all business were just around the corner. "Chaos Ahead," "Proposed 'Surplus' Taxes Impose Penalty on Thrift," "Mollycoddling and Boondoggling," "New Rayburn-Wheeler Bill Would Set Up American Cheka."

With all this doleful fuelland-are are mixed some very cheery facts. Here are those on the pick-up in the utility business:

Electric Energy Sales (kilowatt-hours): 1935... 77,855,000,000; 1934... 70,782,000,000; Number of Customers: 1935... 25,841,208; 1934... 24,808,237; Total Revenue: 1935... $1,923,500,000; 1934... 1,837,046,000

A silver "half-dime" minted 10 years before the Civil War, was found by Will Walcher of Welmar, Texas, while plowing.

VESSEL IS PICKETED AFTER CREW STRIKES

HOUSTON, June 5 (UP)—Union seamen picketed the American Tankers corporation's Caliche here today after a third of the vessel's crew walked out on strike yesterday because of wage and employment dispute.

W. W. Dickey, business agent for the Marine Firemen's union, said the seamen of the Caliche were receiving 10 per cent less than the union scale and that the company had employed Filipinos.

The Caliche is the only one of four tankers operated by the company, which does not sail under union contract, Dicket said. Approximately half the crew is Filipino, he added.

A patrol of policemen was sent to prevent violence when the ship tied up on the Houston ship channel and the company dispatched 10 special guards to the scene.

Chapter 18
TENSE EVENING

Dirk sat beside Isabel, watching the progress of "The Black Swan." It was a typical Webb play, written in a minor key, and asking as the curtain fell, "Cui bono? It was destined shortly to fail, because America was seeking answers now, not questions.

On Dirk's other side sat Ellnor. Gage Seymour next to her. Only a moment before Isabel had whispered to Dirk, "So that's the new sister!" He had followed her gaze to one of the lower boxes where Rupert was entering with Hope. Hope was in a slim gown of white satin, a small coronet of diamonds in her hair. She looked regal and dark and lovely.

Hope looked regal and dark and lovely.

When he could, Dirk glanced at all about her. Isabel's breathless query on the stage, but she was pale, and Dirk knew that she, too, had seen. Isabel whispered, "She has on Ellnor's bracelets, and Dirk noticed that Hope's rounded olive arm resting on the rail of the box was bound with something that glittered. There was glitter, too, on her breast—Ellnor's necklace.

when the final lights came on they were gone. "He's taking her somewhere to dance," Dirk thought, and wondered where.

They went themselves to the Continental Grill where Isabel and Seymour did most of the talking. Dirk felt abstracted, and sorry, in spite of himself, for Ellnor, who seemed to be giving a demonstration of how to be happy though drowning.

Had she really cared so much? Or was it simply her pride, her vanity that was hurt? . . . Everybody who had come back to town, everybody who counted, had been there tonight. They had all seen Rupert and his bride.

"Tell me about her, Dirk. Tell me about her," Isabel said. "I don't know her." "Where's she from? What's she like?" "How women can blossom out," she explained, "How they can believe their origins."

He asked what she meant. Hope's origin was all right. "Of course. But she doesn't look like a parson's child. Ellnor now?" "He agreed that Ellnor was different. Ellnor had always seemed like something from a stained-glass window.

"What's her name?" asked Isabel, and when he had told her, "I remember now. I liked it when I read it in the paper. I forgot it as soon as I saw her tonight. She ought to be named something else, something exotic and dangerous. Guinevere, or Phryne, or Salome."

"Hope suits her," Dirk said stubbornly. He was not certain of this, but he had no liking for Isabel's impromptu christenings. "But," said Isabel, "you can't imagine men fighting a duel over anybody named Hope. Call her Carmen, then. Something Spanish. She may be Spanish, mayn't she, coming from El Paso?"

"She may be," agreed Dirk. Was Isabel trying to pump him? Did she suspect something irregular in the marriage, doubt his account of Hope? He added, "She may be that, and everything else you suspect, and still be true to form as a parson's child. They aren't always stained-glass-window, are they? As a matter of fact, she's fine, and Rupert's in luck. You'll like her."

He felt her smiling at him in the dark. "But what have I said, Dirk? Only that the blue-ribbons-and-white-muslin name of Hope doesn't suit her. Only that she's the sort of woman men fight over. Certainly, Rupert's in luck, you poor dear. His understanding, and wondered at what moment that evening he had betrayed himself. Probably when, in amazement, he had seen Hope and Rupert enter the box. Probably a dozen times afterward as his eyes traveled to her, sitting there.

He left Isabel at her door, and rode toward home, curing the intuitions of women. Riding, he presently forgot Isabel, finding that her words still lingered in his mind, less as sounds he had just heard than as the echo of something else. Where had words like those been said to him before? . . . His fights for her. . . She makes trouble wherever there are fools. . .

Madame Chowdhury. He laughed, remembering.

Poor Hope. He saw her again, standing as she had stood last night, the big book of the Joris family in her arms. "My shield is scarred." And a moment later, in the door of the tower-room, the enormous bed behind her. . . She had been different tonight. Tall, dazzling, regal. Just before she had sat down Rupert had taken a black velvet cloak from her shoulders. She had stepped from it, snow-white, shining. . .

How women picked on one another! Isabel had seen Hope only as she was tonight. Madame Chowdhury had known her solely in that wretched life of the circus. Only he, perhaps, saw her as she was. Dirk stopped short, hearing those gates. It was a clear night as that other night had been, a full moon hanging low. As on that other night he saw—or thought he saw—a woman's figure standing in the gates. A mere instant she stood there, wrapped in a dark cloak. . .

Dirk begins a wild chase, Monday.

REDUCED FARES MAY HELP BRING AN END TO RAILROAD TRAVEL AS GRANDPA KNEW IT

WASHINGTON, June 6. (AP)—The old day coach, long a stuffy, cinder-laden symbol of American train travel, may be only a memory a few years hence.

Pushing their drive to regain lost passenger traffic, the railroads are replacing these old style coaches with "dirt-free, noise-muffled, air-conditioned cars with all the comforts of a luxurious living room."

Prospects of a banner travel season coupled with a reduction of fares under order of the interstate commerce commission have stimulated efforts of the rail carriers to cater to the passenger who can't afford sleeping or parlor car accommodations.

Cheap Meals They are offering the traveler 35-cent dinners, deep-cushioned, adjustable seats, foot rests, deep-plated carpets, smooth starts and stops, and the "gliding ride" on faster schedules.

Even those eastern railroads which have carried into the courts their fight against fare reductions by governmental mandate, particularly the flash in sleeping car rates, are making a bid for bare-fare passengers through improved equipment and service.

A western railway is introducing a new type of tourist sleeper train from Chicago to the Pacific coast which makes as fast time as the limiteds and provides a trained nurse as well as porter service.

Lounges for Ladies Fares are drastically lower on these tourist trains; there are deluxe women's coaches and ladies' lounges for those who do not want to pay the price of a tourist sleeper. Dining cars will serve breakfast for 25 cents, lunch for 30 cents and dinner for 35 cents.

An east-to-south railroad features salon cars designed to provide the "finest kind of standard fare transportation." These cars are air-cooled, have big easy chairs, modernistic reading lights and an attendant ready to supply additional conveniences.

Another road boasts of its reclining individual seat coaches "affording complete relaxation or sleep for the economic overnight traveler." These coaches are fitted up in living room fashion. Several of the new style coach-

INSECT EXTERMINATOR PLANS LONG DISTANCE 'DEATH RAY'

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6. (AP)—A "death ray" capable of ending life at a distance of one and a half miles is envisaged by Henry Fleur, who claims to have perfected a machine capable of killing insects and animals at close range. "A bombardment of ultra short electrical waves that I send down a beam of light does the work," he explains. "These are attuned to the normal bodily vibrations of whatever animal is killed.

The waves increase the vibrations to a degree that the individual molecules in the animal's body simply explode."

Evades Human Application Fleur, an electrician, recently acquitted on a charge of fraud after he demonstrated his machine before a judge and jury, declined to say whether human beings could be killed with his "ray."

He admitted, however, that he had found the "vibration rate" of every animal he had yet experimented with and had been able to kill it. He intimated the war department had looked into his invention but declined to give details.

The demonstration before the jury came during his trial for fraud on complaint of two men who had invested $1,600 in the "death ray."

How It Works In his basement laboratory Fleur adjusted an apparatus that looked like a giant searchlight and focused a beam of light on a small wire cage crawling with termites.

He turned to a complicated appearing cabinet connected by wires with the searchlight, and moved a dial. Hissing, spluttering electrical average passenger, lower rate, additional streamlined trains powered by Diesel, electric and steam locomotives is expected to bring the railroads the largest passenger volume in five years.

flashes began, but were stopped by another turn of the dial. The termites had expired. Experiments on a snake and a lizard brought the same result. Back in the courtroom it took the jury only three minutes to decide Fleur had perpetrated no fraud.

Fleur said he expects his machine to prove most valuable in killing insect pests in orchards. He believes with sufficient power the ray will kill at a distance of a mile and a half.

Susannah Wesley Class Holds Picnic

The Susannah Wesley class of the First Methodist Sunday school very much enjoyed a picnic at the City park Friday afternoon. The hostesses were: Mrs. Ratliff, Wilson, Flewelin and Olson.

Mrs. Ratliff gave the devotional and prayer. Various games were played. Mrs. Rankin drew the birthday bag.

Delicious sandwiches, cookies and bottled drinks were served to the following members: Mrs. Charles Morris, Ben Lovelace, W. A. Miller, Fred Arrington, C. Percy, Arthur Woodall, C. Rankin, Joe Faucett, H. N. Robinson, J. A. Meyers, F. D. Gates, D. Soley, L. W. Croft, Horace Penn, Logan Baker, D. F. Bigony, J. C. Waite, Sr., and a visitor, Mrs. W. W. Penn and small son.

Reports on the Ottawa, Kans., public school's cleanup week: 100,000 pieces of unburnable trash collected; 919 barrels of dandelions dug; 884 cockroaches killed.

There are 15,000 Banks—composing the present American banking structure. THEY are neighborly banks—their interests and their activities are based on those of the citizens of their Community. They have intimate, first-hand knowledge of local affairs, are responsive to local financial needs and are diligent to aid in maintaining sound local business conditions. In addition to this local touch which is characteristic of American banking, these 15,000 banks are bound together by many ties of common practices and voluntary working relationships and associations. Through these means they interchange information and experiences that promote and broaden scientific banking progress and render service reaching beyond their own localities. This bank participates fully in the field of inter-bank cooperation.

New Version Of Famed Musical Comedy, 'Show Boat' Is Presented At Ritz Today

Irene Dunne Heads The Cast Of Singing Luminaries

One of the most popular musical comedies ever produced on the stage has been revamped for a completely new screen production for the 1936 season; but changes are only in the interest of modernization, and the play of a few years back is filmed with its same plot, its same music—with additions—and many of its same characters.

Outstanding for its music by Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein, "Show Boat" presents the charming Irene Dunne in the leading role, with Allan Jones, Helen Morgan and Paul Robeson as others who add their voices in song.

The Story

The production is a musical romantic drama, centering on the love story of Magnolia, daughter of the owner of the show boat, and Raveland, dashing river gambler and heart breaker. Most of the action takes place aboard Captain Andy Hawks' Mississippi show boat, with some sequences in New York, Chicago and in France. The story tells of Magnolia's love and marriage to Raveland; their later move to Chicago, where he deserts her and she is forced to make her way alone; her experiences in a life of loneliness while achieving fame as a singer, and their ultimate reunion through their child. Irene Dunne wins new laurels in the singing role of Magnolia, and Allan Jones has the part of Raveland.

nal Charles Winninger, who was Captain Andy in the stage play and the Show Boat captain on the radio for three years, is the genial skipper in the motion picture. Helen Westley plays as the captain's stern wife.

Songs

Helen Morgan, as the girl who helped Magnolia in her time of trial, presents some of the songs she made popular in the stage play, as does Paul Robeson, outstanding negro baritone. Miss Morgan is heard in "Bill" and "Can't Help Lovin' That Man." Robeson sings his renowned "Old Man River," and a new offering, "Ah Still Suits Me."

Hit numbers of the play include "Make Believe" and "Why Do I Love You" duets by Miss Dunne and Jones. They also present "I Have the Room Above Her" and Miss Dunne sings "Gallivantin' Around." Other songs to be heard are "Old Fashioned Wife," "Cotton Blossom," and "After the Ball." One of the special features is a chorus of 200 voices. There are also several production numbers as presented on the show boat.

The supporting cast includes Sammy White, Queenie Smith, Sunnie O'Dea, Donald Cook, Francis X. Mahoney, Charles Middleton, J. Farrell MacDonald, Arthur Hohl, and Flora Finch.

New Excuse Frees Driver

LONGVIEW, Wash. (UP)—Jane Leaman won acquittal in police court on a reckless driving charge by testifying that she believed the officer who followed her was a "masher" and that she speeded to get away from him.

A SCENE FROM "SHOW BOAT"

Here are Allan Jones and Irene Dunne in a scene from "Show Boat," a new film version of the famous musical comedy success written by Edna Ferber and set to music by Jerome Kern and Oscar Hammerstein. The picture, which plays at the Ritz Sunday and Monday, also presents Charles Winninger, Helen Morgan, Helen Westley and Paul Robeson.

JEAN HARLOW, SPENCER TRACY TOGETHER IN FILM AT QUEEN

Presented in Romance Of The Waterfront, "Riffraff," To Play Three Days

AT THE QUEEN

Spencer Tracy and Jean Harlow, as they appear in "Riffraff," a story of elemental love with a waterfront setting. The picture is at the Queen Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

A down-to-earth drama of vital human emotions, with a new romantic team—Jean Harlow and Spencer Tracy—in the starring roles, is "Riffraff," which comes to the Queen theater for a Sunday-Monday-Tuesday run.

The supporting cast includes Una Merkel, Joseph Calleia, Victor Kilian, Mickey Rooney, J. Farrell MacDonald, Juanita Quigley, Paul Hurst, Vince Barnett, Dorothy Appleby and Judith Wood.

Love Comedy Is Offered At Lyric Theatre

Ross Alexander And Anita Louise To Be Seen In 'Brides Are Like That'

"Brides Are Like That," a rollicking comedy romance, is scheduled as the feature attraction at the Lyric for three days beginning Sunday.

The picture is based on the stage hit, "Applesauce," and concerns the love affair of a presentable young college man with a great gift for flattery, but who much prefers to sponge on his uncle to doing any hard work.

Miss Harlow, a brunette again, plays as Hattie, a wise-cracking, hard-talking girl who has her own standard of morals and her own unique method of retaining them. Tracy, appearing opposite Miss Harlow for the first time, is Dutch Miller, a bombastic, egotistical, loud-talking fellow who thinks the world is his oyster and that all women in the world were created especially for him. He regards himself as a leader of the waterfront workers, not realizing that they have little respect for him.

These two fall in love, and it turns out to be a dynamic love affair. Every scene that begins with any degree of tenderness ends with a fight; and if it starts with a fight it ends with a demonstration of affection.

The plot of "Riffraff" revolves around Miller's trouble with waterfront labor agitators, his subsequent ousting from the union and his later run of tough luck that lands him in prison. Hattie, bound to him by love, sacrifices much in order to help him out of his difficulties; but her good intentions are misunderstood by Dutch, and it takes considerable maneuvering to bring the two together for the climax which indicates eventual happiness. The efforts of the cannery owner, played by Calleia, to intercept Hattie, make up one of the side developments in the plot. "Riffraff" contains a share of comedy as well as fast-moving drama and vivid romance.

FEATURED IN COMEDY ROMANCE

The Lyric's feature for three days beginning Sunday is a comedy romance called "Brides Are Like That." Heading the cast of the play are Ross Alexander and Anita Louise (above).

breath and Harwell to ride around Tulsa with them, but finally released Miss Galbreath, unharmed, at the edge of the city.

Harwell was then doped into unconsciousness with a hypodermic injection, robbed and dumped out of his machine near Galena, Kans.

He hitch-hiked to Galena, he said, where he was jailed for drunkenness, but police finally permitted him to use a telephone.

He then called M. L. Cooley, Tulsa, a business associate, who wired him money to return to Tulsa.

Harwell then returned to Tulsa by bus, arriving here late last night.

When questioned by police he was still partly dazed and gave only incoherent details.

Police questioned Miss Galbreath who excused herself for not reporting the matter by saying "the men threatened to kill me if I said a word. Even Harwell pleaded with me to say nothing."

When Harwell returned to Tulsa, he was immediately taken to a hospital for treatment.
