Valdez Addresses Off Campus Crowd

By CARRIE CHANEY and MIKE WALL

Toreador Staff Editors

Approximately 250 Tech students and faculty members crowded into the First Unitarian Church Thursday night to hear Peter Valdez, national secretary of the Young Socialist Alliance.

Valdez, who was denied use of a campus forum to speak, addressed a hastily-arranged meeting organized by students and faculty members. Students were informed of the meeting by leaflets distributed on campus Thursday morning.

Tech I.D.'s were required for entrance to the church.

STUDENT RESERVES CHURCH

A Tech student who is a member of the church said he called Cliff Keho, president of the Unitarian fellowship, and reserved the sanctuary Thursday afternoon. He also said Tech government professors met Valdez at the bus station and brought him to the church to speak.

Valdez was introduced by Dr. R. M. Lawrence, assistant professor of government.

Lawrence said some of Valdez's ideas might be "repugnant to us," but that "it behooves us to look at them."

Valdez's speech ranged from a defense of the Cuban revolution to criticism of the American foreign-aid policy in Venezuela. At several points he brought strong accusations against the American system of government, calling the Democratic party "the only subversive organization I have ever belonged to."

REFUSES LOYALTY OATH

He said when he was called up for the army he was asked to take a loyalty oath saying he was not a member of any organization on the "Attorney General's subversive organizations list" and refused to sign the oath because "it is unconstitutional."

In reply to questions asked about free elections in Cuba, Valdez said Cubans had not had elections yet because "the mass of people under arms required by the United States blockade wouldn't permit an election." He said mass revolution and chaos would result before elections could be completed.

After the United States stopped buying Cuban sugar, Valdez said, Cuba was criticized for selling it to Russia.

"What did you expect the Cubans to do? Say, 'We would rather starve than sell sugar to you!'"

CHARGED UNITED STATES

He charged the United States with openly trying to "starve the Cubans out." And, he said, "you're never going to win over a group that way."

In a spirited question and answer session, Lawrence asked if he (Lawrence) would receive the same polite treatment Valdez received if he went Cuba to speak. Valdez replied that he would, but added that Cubans suffered so much repression under Batista's regime that "they are full of hatred" for many people.

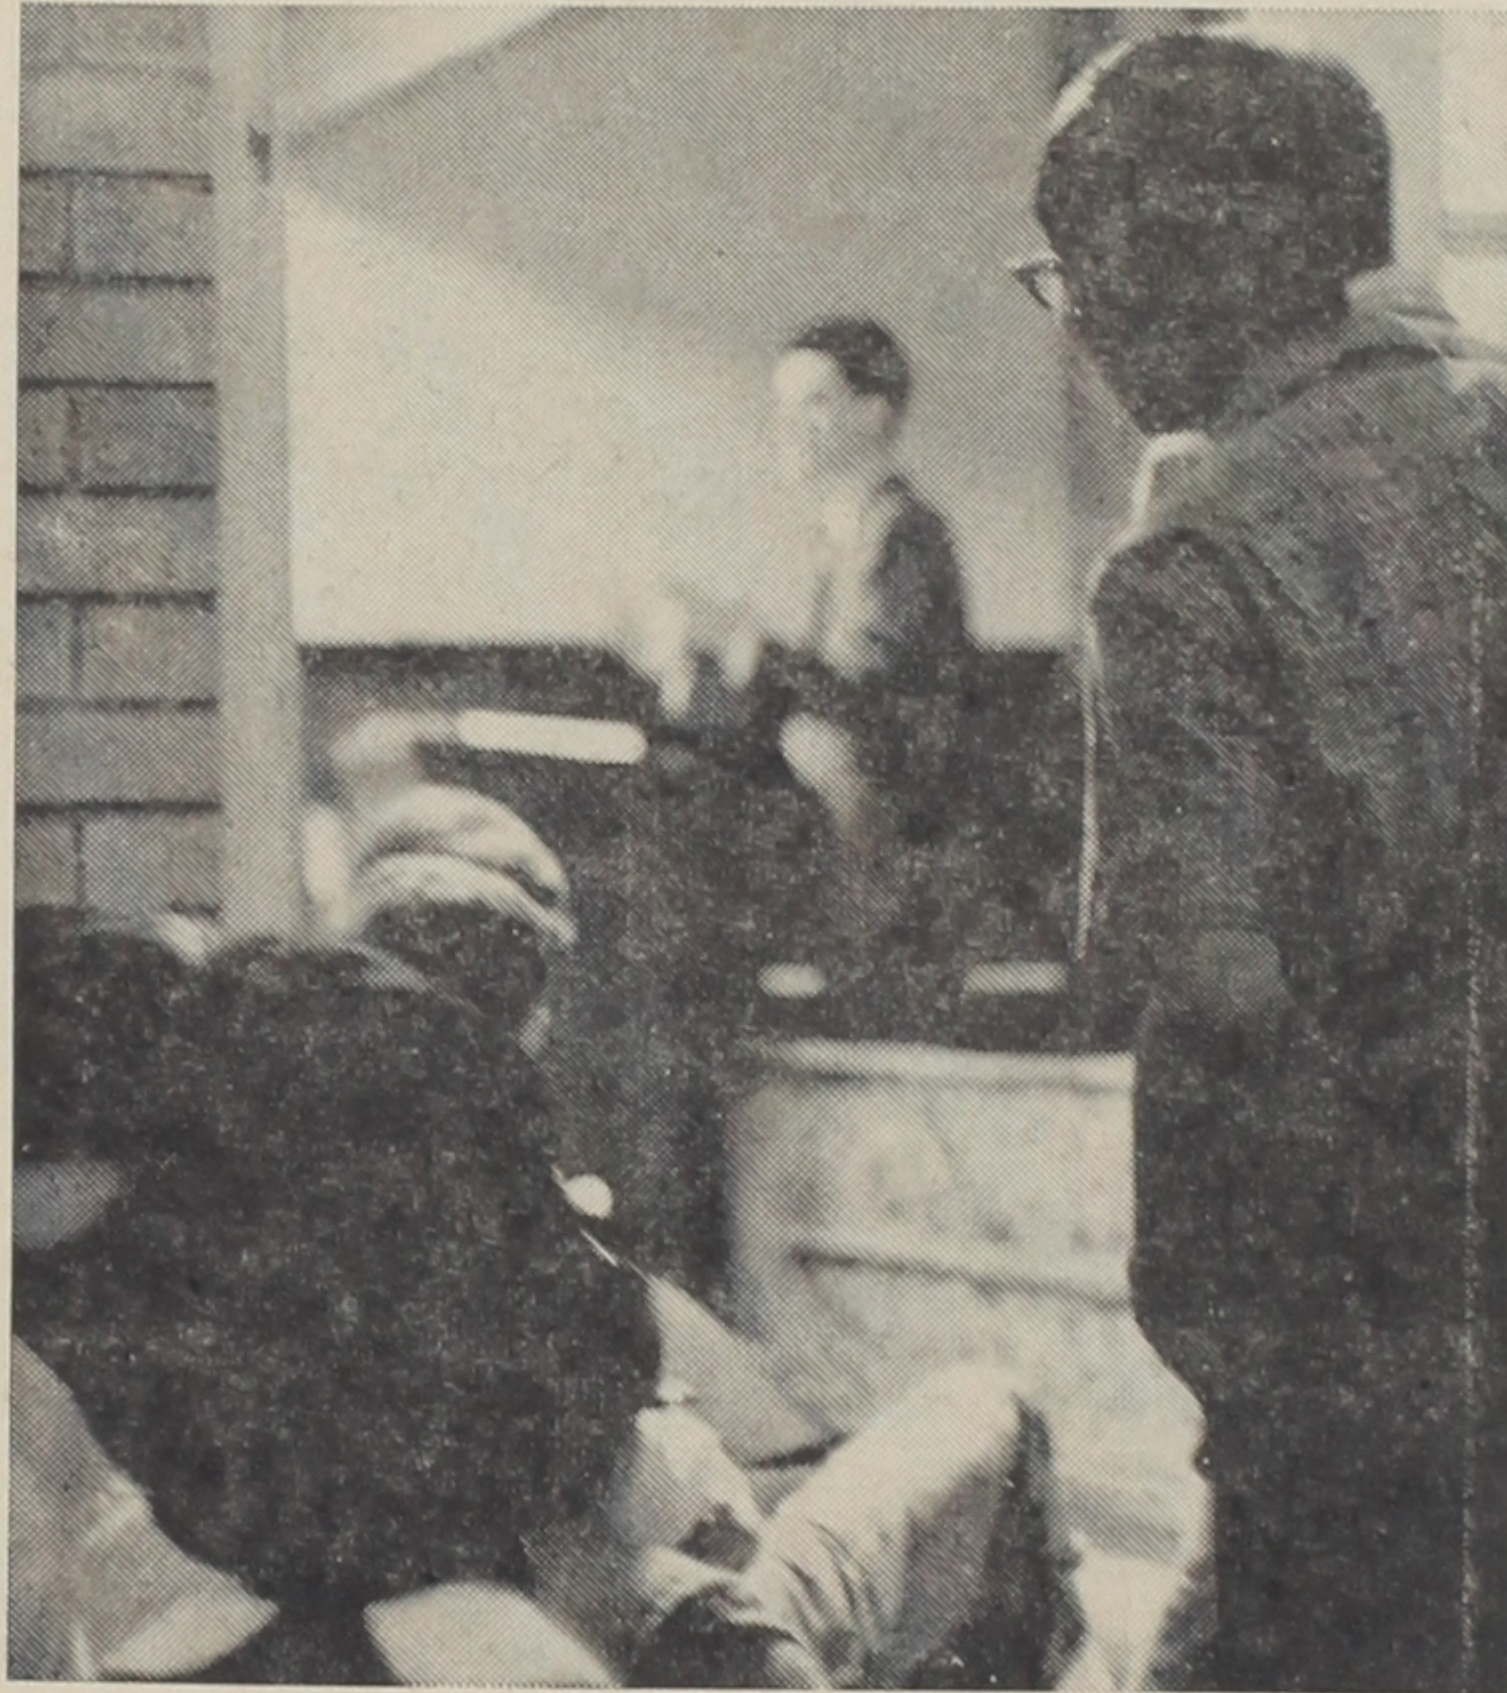

The young speaker told his audience at one point that American Marines have never left Cuba. He said that American newspapers "tell us we have the right to be there."

"The United States thinks she has the God-given right to be anywhere in the world," he added.

CRITICIZES ROCKEFELLER

Valdez, who toured Cuba in 1962, criticized Nelson Rockefeller for the low wages paid workers on his Venezuelan ranch. He said Rockefeller paid workers 15 cents an hour — forced them to live in squalid conditions, and bought up all liquor licenses in the area "so that none of them could drink and ease their misery."

He offered socialism as the answer to labor problems in the United States, and said that workers in this country have "the most violent labor history of any nation in the world." Valdez said he thought American workers would love socialism if they were given a chance to understand it.

Valdez was previously scheduled to speak as part of Tech Union's "Spotlight on Latin America Week" which began Monday.

Students Aid In Research

Five undergraduate students will begin Tech's first program of undergraduate participation this summer on a grant of $10,500 received by Dr. R. L. Packard from the National Science Foundation.

Dr. Packard's program is mainly concerned with research in the biological fields. He went to St. Louis April 23 to attend a meeting of all the directors of similar programs from other colleges and universities in the United States. The meeting was to bring together all the directors of these programs so that they could find ways of improving the program.

Purpose of the program is to stimulate superior undergraduates in the field of research and to teach them the methods and techniques of research. Students will be working along with professors. "It is hoped to stimulate those students interested in biological research to go on to achieve a higher education and attempt more research projects," said Dr. Packard.

The five students will be selected this summer from those who have a high scholastic record in biology and have shown a desirable amount of interest in research.

Dr. Packard has been the director of an undergraduate participation program at Stephen F. Austin. He said the program was very successful there and that he hopes to make it as successful on Tech's campus.

Students selected will receive an honorary fellowship of $600 to do research under Dr. D. W. Tinkle, Dr. V. W. Proctor, or Dr. Packard. The students are obligated to work with the professors for 10 weeks, but it is hoped that this period will stimulate the students to continue their work in the field of biological research, according to Dr. Packard.

Students Vie For Position

Allan Redwine and Mike Stinson of the School of Engineering are vying for the Student Council representative position in a run-off election today.

Polling places will be in East Engineering and the C&O Bldg. The polls will close at 4:30 p.m., according to Pat Hamilton, Student Council secretary.

Wednesday's balloting put 33 students into Council posts.

Elected arts and sciences representatives were Roland Anderson, Sara Cox, Connie Curry, Lonnie Dillard, Mary Gibbons, Jim Hackney, Steve Henderson, Bill Honey, Holly Hunt, Mike Jones, Tim O'Shea, Sue Otstott, Jill Philbrick, Karo Tubbs, Susan Waits, Marcia Winkleman and Ashley Wisdom. Total vote in the arts and sciences race was 904.

With 440 students voting in the School of Business Administration, elected were Scott Allen, Lynn Barbin, David Beckman, Tom Edwards, Jimmy Martin, Bruce Henderson, Mike Sherman and Patrick Stoltze.

New representatives for six of the seven engineering positions are Jim Collier, Bob Filpot, James Gattis, John Miller, Dow Patterson and Collier Perry. A total of 442 students voted.

With 129 votes cast, Kay Dudley and Betty Jo White won posi-

Officials Prepare For Race

Officials of Saturday's "Little 500" bicycle race will meet in the Chemistry Bldg., room 101, at 5:15 p.m. today for orientation and briefing.

Twenty-two men's teams, consisting of four participants and two pit men, will begin their 40 laps around the Memorial Circle and Soapsuds Pavilion Saturday at 2 p.m.

The men's event, highlight of the "Little 500" bicycle race, will be preceded by a women's race at 1 p.m. consisting of 16 teams.

The Dolphins, winners of the men's division in 1962 and again in 1963, stand as top contenders in this year's race. A third consecutive victory will mean the traveling trophy will find a home.

Time trials have indicated, however, that Carpenter Hall has strong hopes of peddling their way to victory, also.

All teams will meet in their respective pits at 12:45 p.m. Saturday for bicycle inspection.

Eight trophies will be awarded. The top three contenders in each division will be awarded a trophy, and one sportsmanship trophy will be presented to each division.

Tech Stays 'Censured'

The American Association of University Professors recently voted to continue censorship of Texas Tech.

The association lifted censure of three schools and continued it on 12 others, including Tech and Sam Houston State Teachers College.

The association places schools on the list because of difficulties regarding either professors' tenure rights, summary dismissals or questionable academic freedom.

Censure against Tech apparently is a continued outgrowth of the action taken following the sudden dismissal of three faculty members at Tech several years ago.

The three schools no longer on censure are Auburn University, North Dakota State University of Agriculture and Catawba (N.C.) College.

Bulletins

A "small fire" in the basement of Municipal Coliseum was reported Thursday night by a coliseum worker.

An emergency unit was summoned about 9 p.m. to put out the fire, caused by electrical wiring, according to the worker.

The NIRA Rodeo in the coliseum and an Interfraternity sing-song in the auditorium was not disrupted by the fire, the worker said.

Dwight Young, 19-year-old Lubbock junior was selected 1964 Community Ambassador by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce Thursday night. Young is an English major at Tech.

His alternate is George Griffin, a history major from Lubbock.

Seniors Give Pancake Feed

The senior class will sponsor a pancake supper at Tech Union Sunday from 5:30 p.m. - 7 p.m.

New cheerleaders will cook, while sororities and fraternities will provide necessary assistance.

Those sorority and fraternity members who plan to help with the supper should be at the Union by 4 p.m., according to Jeanie Gratton, member of the senior gift committee.

Charge for the pancake supper is 85 cents per person, with profits going into the senior loan fund.

A hootenanny will follow the supper.

Plans Scheduled For ROTC Summer Camps

The end of the 1963-64 school year is just around the corner. For some it is the end of a college career, but for others it is the beginning of a new road.

Army and Air Force ROTC cadets graduating in May, or at the end of summer school, will be going into all fields of study.

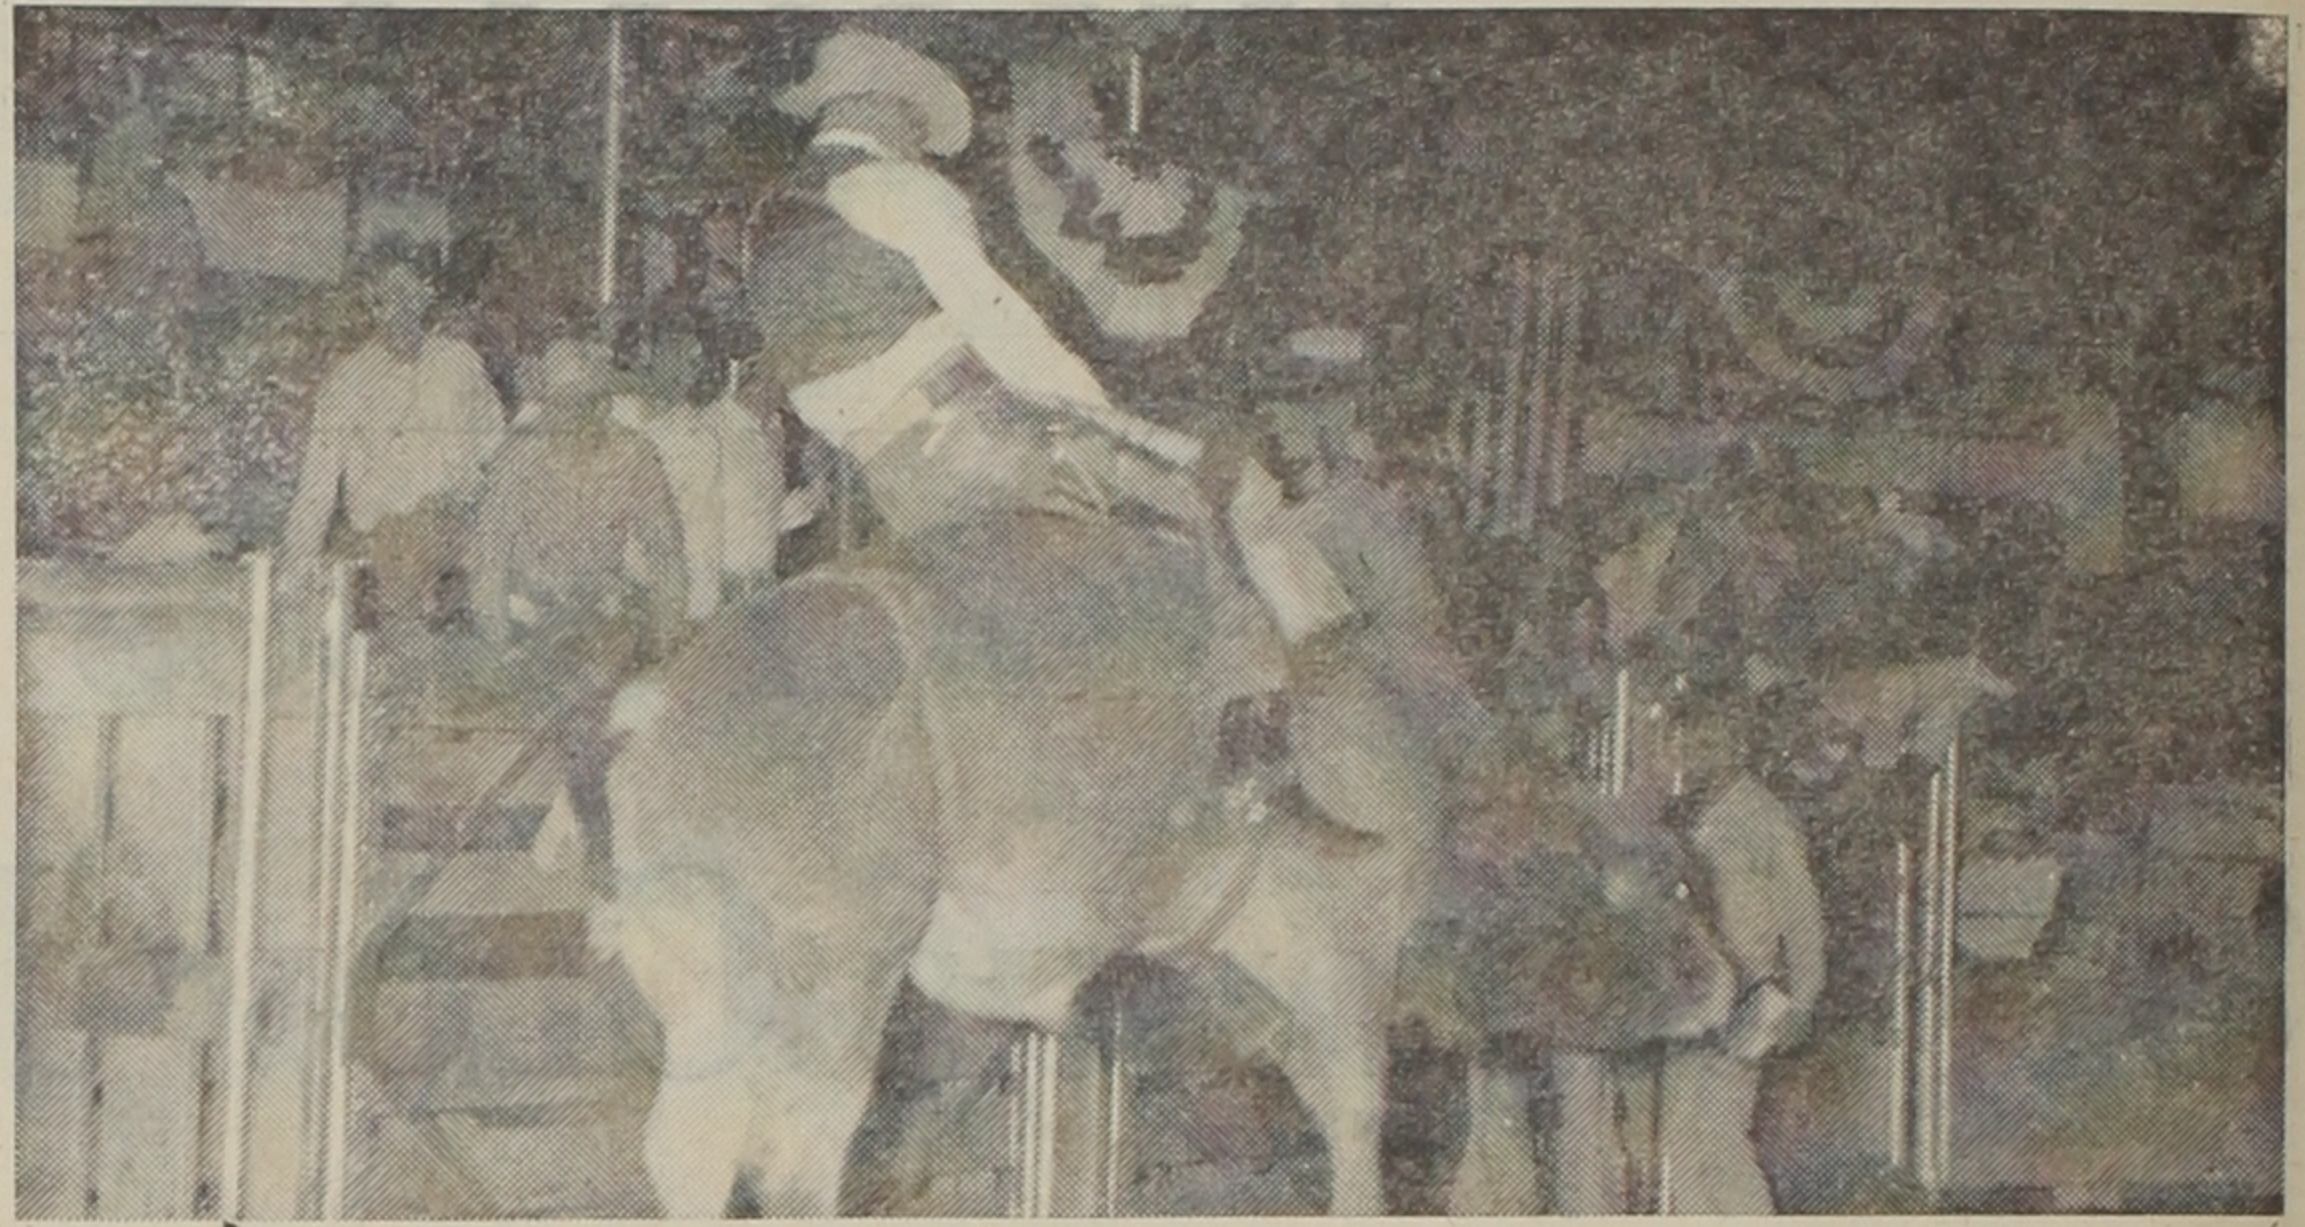

Those who will be MS and AS IV's next year, face the prospect of summer camp as the school year is drawing to a close.

The Cadets in Air Force ROTC will be going to an Air Force base for a period of four weeks. In this time they will learn about the way the Air Force is run.

Army ROTC summer camp will last from June 20 to July 31, or a period of six weeks at Fort Sill, Okla., which is seven miles from Lawton, Okla.

During this time, the cadets will practice the basic battle drill in the field that they have been practicing this year between the Science Bldg., and Carpenter Hall.

And of course, all cadets will learn that most basic of all Army duty—KP.

RIDE 'EM COWBOY! — Bill Barrett, participant in the annual Tech rodeo, tries his hand at "a lot of bull" as he rides out of the chute Thursday night. Added attractions at the event were Michael Landon, star of "Bananza," and Miss Sandi Prati, "Miss Rodeo America." The rodeo will continue tonight and Saturday.

Smoking Branded OK By Parents

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a large proportion of cases, parents introduce their sons and daughters to smoking by their own example, a government researcher Dr. Daniel Horn said Thursday.

Parental smoking, he continued, seems to establish that smoking is approved and expected.

The "losers," Horn said, are those falling behind in classes, taking less demanding courses, and participating in few extra-curricular activities.

Studies Show Advantage Of University Education

Recent university surveys and studies show the many monetary advantages of a college education.

A NORTHWESTERN University survey finds starting pay for male engineers averages $588, accountants average $510 and salesmen — $473. Women's pay, even in the fields of science, is not as high as men's salaries, however.

A University of Illinois survey says average electrical engineering salaries rose in the five years after graduation from $487 to $857. Mechanical engineering pay sees an increase from $473 to $733 and aeronautics engineers see a salary hike from $505 to $812.

Northwestern University surveys find that five years after graduation salesmen and engineers are making about the same amount of money in spite of the higher initial salaries for engineers.

HERMAN P. MILLER, Bureau

of Census, found in a 1958 study that a college graduate sees a 72 per cent increase in salary during the years between the ages 30 and 50.

These studies also show that the average annual income for the college grad is $435,242 while the employee who finished from one to three years has an annual income of about $315,504.

THIS CONTRASTS the annual income of the high school grad which averages $257,557. Students who finish one to three years of high school average $211,193 annually. Those attending school only eight years average $181,695 and those less than eight years, only $129,764.

Miller's studies also show the increased value of the student who received his master's degree. A master's in physics means $100 more a month.

Burton Speaks At Aggie Meet

Dr. Glenn W. Burton, past president of the American Society of Agronomy, will be on the Texas Tech campus Monday and Tuesday under the auspices of the Society's visiting scientist program, according to Dr. A. W. Young, professor and head of agronomy at Tech.

DURING HIS LUBBOCK visit, Dr. Burton will deliver an address on "Crop Breeding and Management for Improved Water Use Efficiency" at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Tech Agricultural Memorial Auditorium.

The visiting lecturer is the principal geneticist for the crops division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Georgia Coastal Plains Experimental Station. He is also chairman of the agronomy division at the University of Georgia. He received a bachelor of science degree in agronomy from the University of Nebraska in 1932. In 1936, he received a Ph.D. degree from Rutgers University, working under Dr. H. B. Sprague, a noted agronomist.

DR. BURTON JOINED the Georgia Coastal Plain Experimental Station in May of 1936. As principal geneticist, he is involved in research on the improvement of grasses for the southeastern states.

In October, 1949, he received the Stevenson Award for outstanding work in crops research at the annual meeting of the American Society of Agronomy in Milwaukee, Wisc. At that same meeting, he was selected as a Fellow of the Society.

DR. BURTON BECAME chairman of the Georgia University agronomy division in September, 1960. That same year, he was given the first annual agricultural award by the Southern Seedsmen Assn.

Saturday is D-Day in Texas.

This is the day Texas voters will trek to the polls for the Primary Election to decide who will be candidates for federal and state offices on respective party tickets in the up-coming election.

Only 2 Remain

Unless one of the candidates receives a majority of votes, only two candidates will remain on party ballots after the primary Saturday.

Then there will be a run-off election early in the summer to determine the sole candidate for each office from each political party. Then Democrat and Republican candidates will vie in the November General Election.

So it's important that every qualified voter go to the polls for Saturday's primary. The candidate you support may be the one nominated or the one scratched from the ballot because you voted, or neglected to vote.

Also you have the chance to make your voice heard in the party of your choice. You can attend your party's precinct convention and help decide the issues and policies.

Party Precinct Convention

"Only members of an organized political party are permitted to participate in that party's precinct convention. You become a member of your party when you vote in its primary election. Your poll tax receipt or exemption certificate will be stamped with the name of your party at that time.

"This stamp is your ticket of admission to your party's precinct convention, which is . . . on Primary Election Day," according to the League of Women Voters of Texas' Voter's Guide.

"Both major political parties having cast 200,000 or more votes for Governor in the 1962 General Election are required by law to hold a primary election for the purpose of nominating candidates for all other State offices to be chosen by the vote of the entire state, Congress, and offices to be nominated by the vote of a county," according to the Voter's Guide.

"Next year Texas Tech will be among the top 5 per cent of the colleges in the nation with regard to the percentage of its students living on campus," said Dean James G. Allen, Dean of Student Life, speaker at the recent Bledsoe Hall annual awards banquet.

Awards were presented to the wing with the highest grade point average, second south, and to the individual with the highest grade point average, Mel Parish and Beau Sutherland tied for this award with 3.8 averages.

Mickey Francis, dormitory athletic chairman, presented the football championship trophy and added that Bledsoe has recently become Tech's tug-of-war champions. John Ireland, Tech sophomore, presented the homecoming decorations award trophy.

Individual awards included the best spirit, Bill Fouts; service contributions, Louis Hurt; outstanding contributions, John Ireland, Gerald Pipkin, Charlie Burdsal, Arthur Standifer, Erin Schmidt and James Smith; and outstanding freshman, Jerry Boatner.

The program came to a close as new officers were installed. Future Bledsoe officers are president, Charlie Burdsal; vice president, Rex Wood; secretary, Jerry Boatner; treasure, David Davis; Men's Residence Council representatives, Bill Boyer and Dwight Reck.

TAKE 7-4 WIN

Frosh Down LCC

Tech's Picador baseball team brought their 1964 baseball campaign to a successful close yesterday afternoon by downing Lubbock Christian College, 7-4.

Danny Davis went the distance for the Pics to pick up the win, while Max Marlin, who went in for the Pioneers in the seventh, was tagged for the loss.

Both teams picked up a quick first inning run and then both went for five innings before hitting pay-dirt again.

In top half of sixth inning, the LCC team exploded for two runs that looked as if they might be all the Pioneers needed to make up for a 10-2 loss to the Tech freshmen earlier in the season.

But the Picadors also found the range in the sixth, and picked up three runs on four hits, an error and a wild pitch.

LCC came right back in the top of the seventh to tie the game up with a single run.

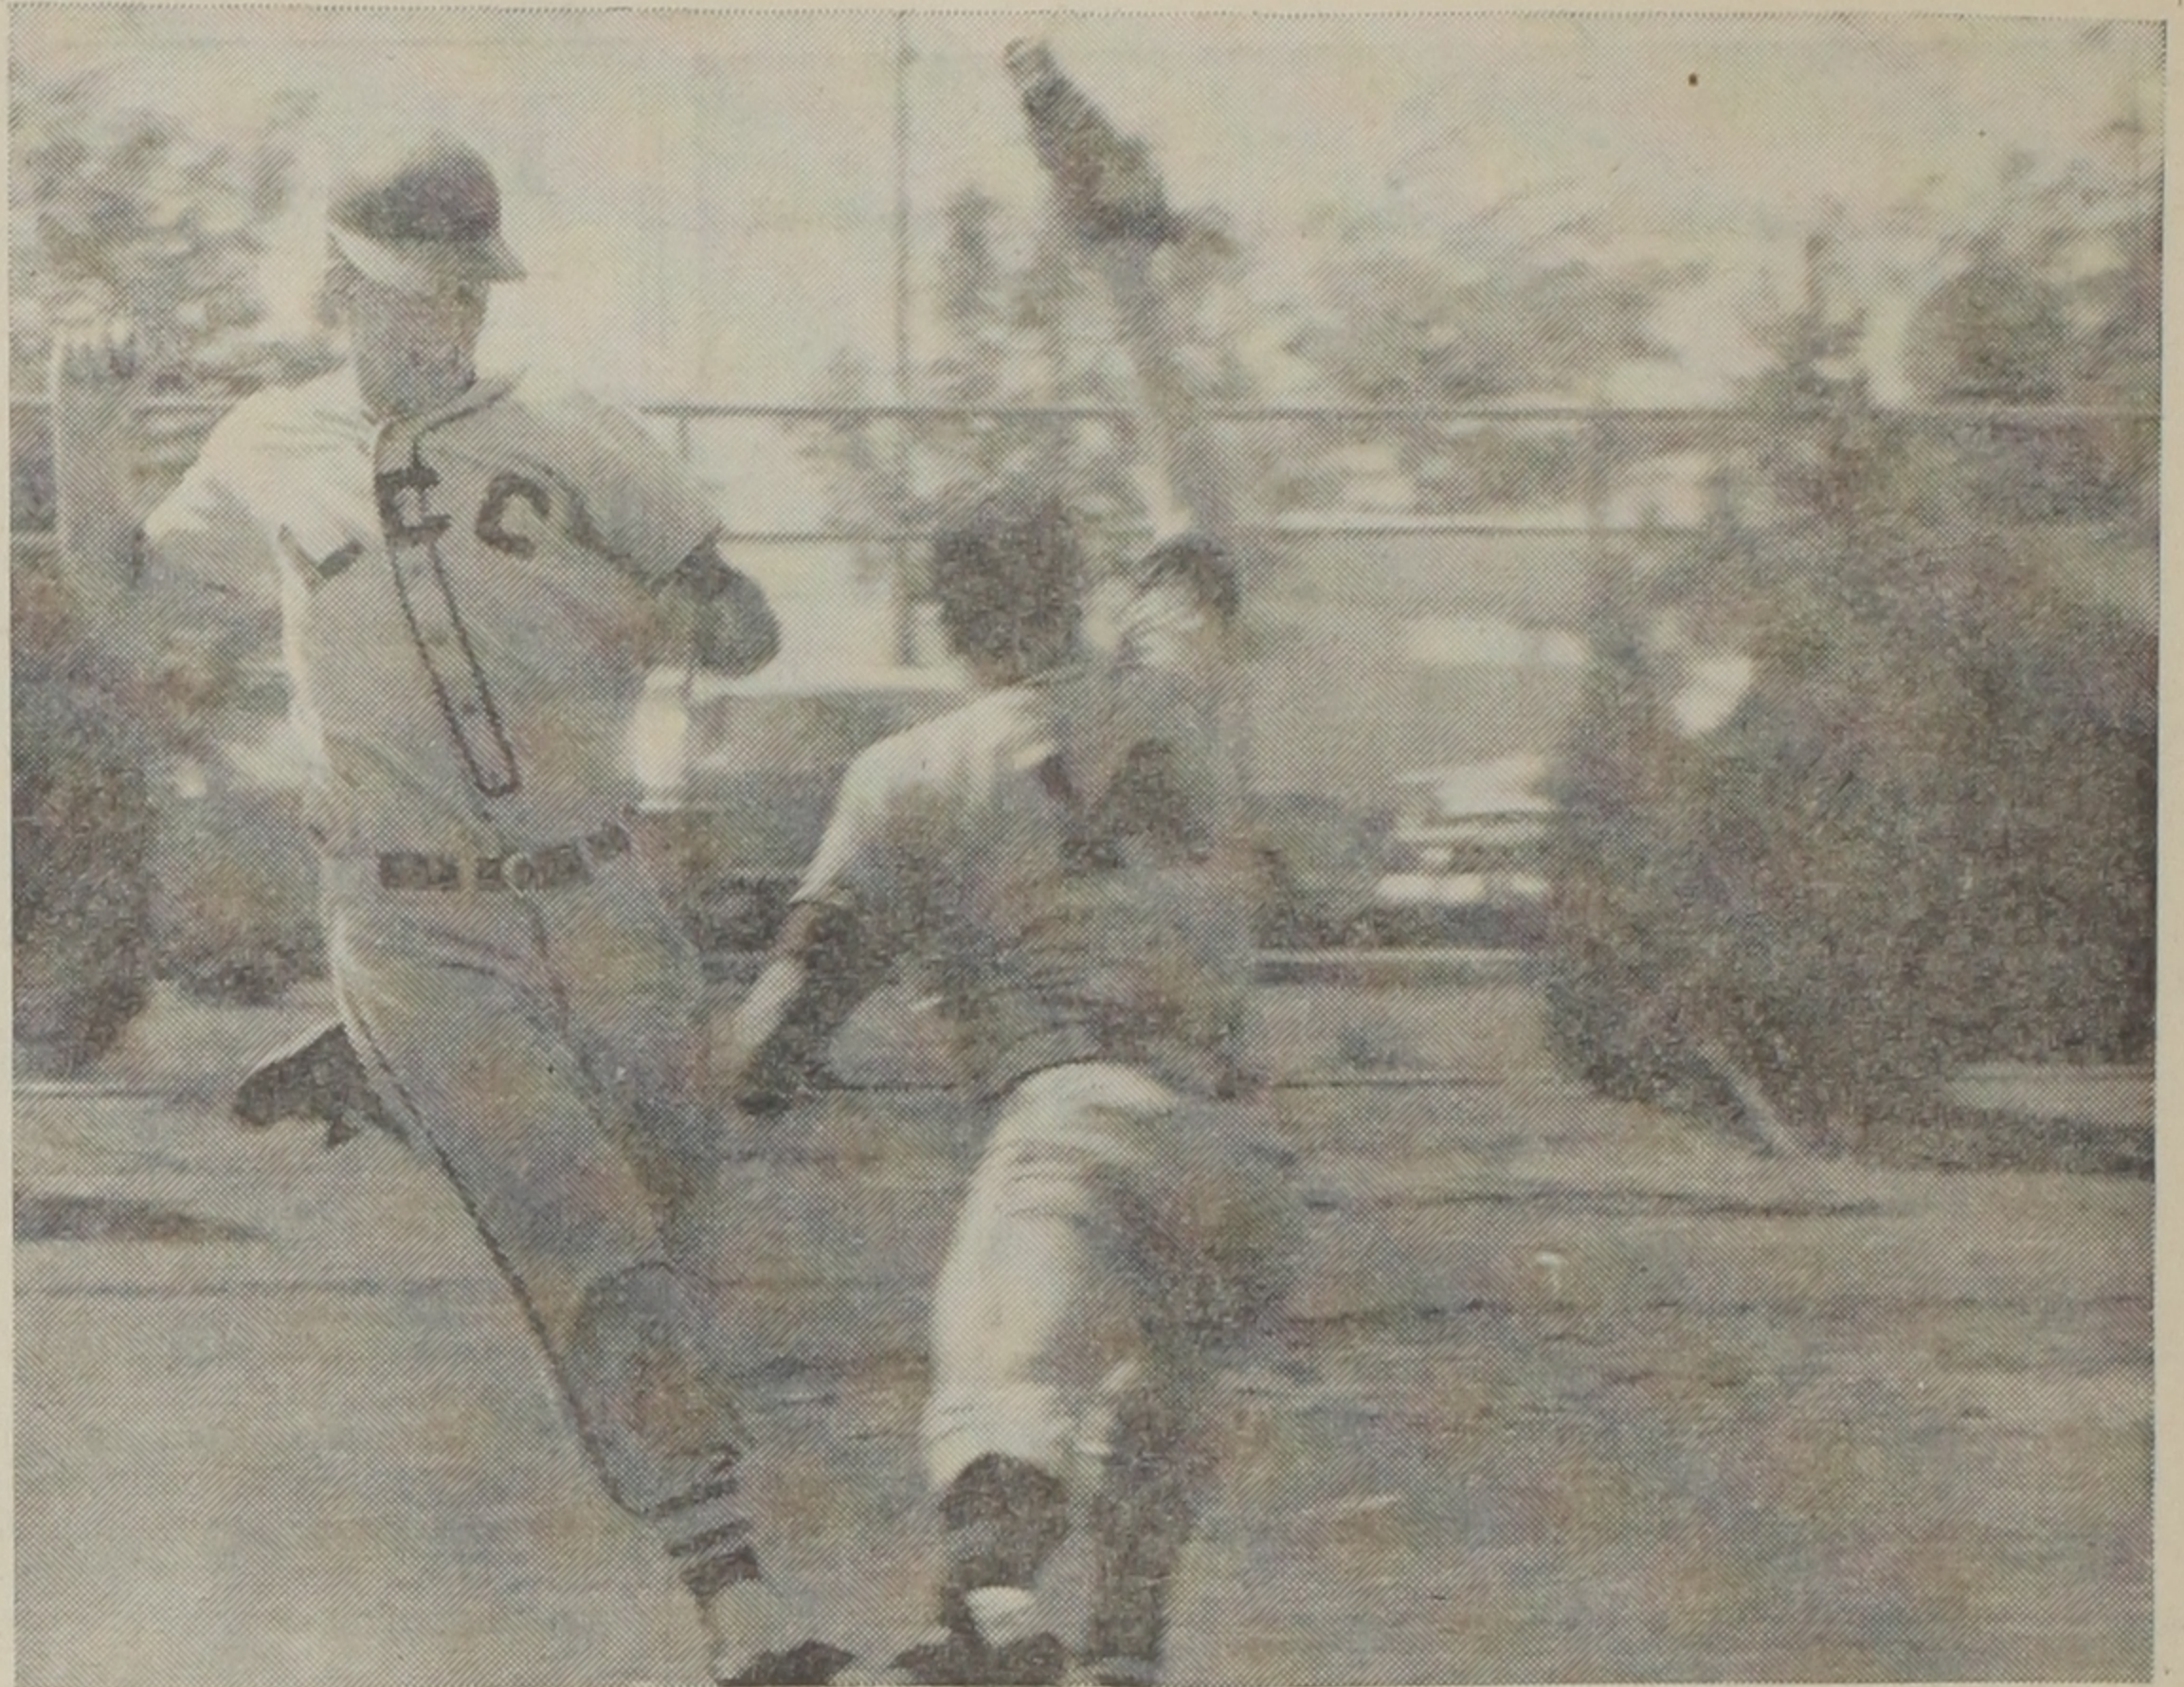

In the bottom of the seventh inning, Lee Watts scored the winning run as he singled and went home on a single by Keller Smith and an error.

The Pioneers were three up and three down in the eighth and the Pics went ahead in their half of the frame to sew up the game.

Chris Galanos led off with a homer before anyone was out. Chuck Worrell added another insurance run when he singled, went to second on an error and home on a wild throw by the LCC catcher who was trying to catch Worrell on an attempted third base steal.

The win by the Picadors left the Doug Gibbons coached team with an 8-2 season record.

INDIANS LEAD AL

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) Cleveland, stymied by Dick Stigman on one hit through five innings, erupted in the next two innings behind the hitting of Leon Wagner and Vic Davalillo for an 8-4 victory over Minnesota Thursday.

The victory gave the Indians a one game lead in the American League race.

YEER OUT! An unidentified LCC batter gets an unwanted call in the game played yesterday between LCC and the Tech freshmen. Both teams had their batting troubles until the sixth inning when the Pics picked up three runs and the Pioneers collected two. Danny Davis went the distance on the mound to pick up the win for the Picadors. The win was the second by the Tech team as they took an earlier decision over the Pioneers, 10-2. The game was the last of the season for the Picadors and left their season record at 8-2.

Texas Tech, battling for a fourth place finish in the Southwest Conference tennis race, engages Texas Christian University on the Varsity Courts at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The public is invited to attend free of charge, said Coach George Philbrick.

Texas Tech stands 5-1-0 in its SWC net rivalry begun with TCU in 1958.

TEXAS TECH'S FINAL track and field tune-up before the Southwest Conference Meet here next week will be at a Quadrangular in Dallas Saturday.

Matched with Coach Don Sparks' Red Raiders are Baylor, Texas Christian, and Southern Methodist. Both the freshmen and varsity will compete.

IM Athletes Continue Fight For Spot On Final Card

Intramural teams and individual contestants continue to fight for berths in the annual Noche de Conquistadores scheduled to un-reel at Municipal Coliseum on May 7.

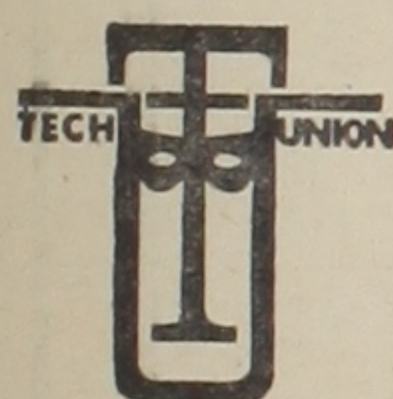

Thus far, finalists in one team sport and two individual sports have won a spot on the final program and participants in all other sports will finish up this week and during the first part of next week.

An added attraction at this year's meet will be the appearance of two-time Olympic gold medal winner Bob Richards, who will act as master of ceremonies for the event.

★ ★ ★ Gordon, PEK Are Volleyball Finalists

Gordon Hall and Phi Epsilon Kappa took preliminary round wins in the play-offs for All-College volleyball champs and will meet in the finals on May 7 during Noche de Conquistadores.

In the playoff games, Gordon defeated Pi Kappa Alpha three games to one, while PEK defeated Kappa Sigma, three to nothing.

★ ★ ★ 15 Men Qualify In Mat Preliminaries

Fifteen intramural wrestlers qualified for the All-College finals to be held on May 7 during the Noche de Conquistadores.

In the 130 weight class, Don Fritsche will meet Frank Austin for the championship. In the 137 class, Ned DeLoach is without an opponent in his weight category.

In the 147 class, Gary Scott and Alan Fetzer won preliminary matches to qualify for the final matches.

In the 157 division, Frank Barker and David Kee will tangle in the final match.

In the 167 class, John Lee and Knox Pittard will be matched in the finals.

In the 177 class, Teddy Roberts and Bill Lewis will fight for the title.

In the 191 division, Bennie Loe and Roger Gill will fight for the championship, and in the unlimited class, Harold Hilley and Mike Mady will meet.

★ ★ ★ 14 Finalists Found In Boxing Prelims

Fourteen intramural boxers qualified for final bouts to be held during the annual Noche de Conquistadores on May 7.

Weight classes are divided according to AAU Golden Gloves regulations and fighters were divided into seven categories.

In the 139-pound class, Jim McCavitt will meet Tanner Mahan in the final bout.

In the 147 class, Jud Walton will be matched against Bob Vandaveer.

In the 156 category will be David Johnson against Carroll Whiteside.

In the 165 division, Bobby Jewett will meet Nick Davenport.

In the 178 class, John Stevenson will go against Tom Chapin.

In the 187 class, Hal Hudson will meet Jerry Skains.

In the unlimited class, Vic Spivey will be matched against Harold Hilley.
