Court Curbs SAE

By CECIL GREEN
Toreador Copy Editor

The Interfraternity Council Court fined Sigma Alpha Epsilon social fraternity $100 Wednesday night and placed the group on social probation for the remainder of the semester.

The decision followed an earlier SAE plea of "guilty" concerning the use of alcoholic beverages at a student function. The SAE's reportedly had several kegs of beer available at a party early in February—a violation of college regulations.

SETS PRECEDENT

The Court ruling was announced at an IFC meeting Wednesday night, setting a precedent for cases of this nature in the fraternity system.

THE CHARGE against the SAE's was brought by the Dean of Student Life's Office several weeks ago, and the Court had its first hearing on the case early last week.

"The Court took so long to decide the case," explained Chief Justice Gary Cook, "because there was no Court precedent set for a violation of this case."

'OUR OWN DECISION'

"We had to formulate the decision—and the resulting penalty—from our own decisions," Cook added, "since we had nothing else to fall back on."

THE FIVE JUSTICES on the Court—Cook, Bob Wood, Jerry Gibson, Larry Strickland and Tim Bennett—met "six or seven" times during the last week to work out their verdict.

Under the official ruling of the Court, the fraternity will not be permitted to sponsor any candidate in a campus contest or have or sponsor any function which is required to be placed on the Dean of Women's social calendar.

However, this does not prohibit any member of SAE from entering in any campus contest if he is sponsored by another organization.

PARTICIPATION ALLOWED

Also, the fraternity will be allowed to participate in intramural competition and the Greek Sing-Song later in April.

ACCORDING to officials at the Dean of Women's Office, functions which should be recorded on the social calendar include those specifically enumerated in the Code of Student Affairs.

These include "... teas, receptions, dances, mixers, picnics, or other functions sponsored or planned by organized student groups."

Provided that the SAE's comply with the restrictions and conditions set by the Court, their probationary period will terminate at midnight, May 29.

FINE DUE APRIL

The $100 fine is payable on or before April 10, and failure to comply with the penalties might result in an additional $100 fine and social probation until the duration of next year's fall semester.

THE COURT decision goes on to say that, "... if, before the end of the spring semester of 1965, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity commits a second violation for serving alcoholic beverages as defined in the Code of Student Affairs, the Court recommends a $300 fine and prohibition from rush and interfraternity competition for a period to be decided by the existing Court."

Tech Slaying Suspect Goes On Mock Trial

Glen Hallum, Tech junior, will go on trial at 7:30 p.m. today for the murder of James Ellis, Lubbock junior, killed in a fall from a campus building Monday.

The mock murder was staged as part of the Pre-Law Club's annual Mock Trial.

Police arrested Hallum at 4:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Authorities said that investigation revealed the two men fought in the Tech Union Friday after Ellis accused Hallum of stealing a typewriter.

Saturday Ellis allegedly picked up Hallum's car and moved it to the parking lot, causing the car to be ticketed, officers contend.

A coat which witnesses described as identical to the one worn by the assailant was found by police in the men's room on the second floor of the Administration Bldg. The coat was identified as the property of Hallum.

The case of the State vs. Hallum will be in the Coronado Room of the Union. Audrey Bednarz, president of the Pre-Law Club, will sit on the bench. Clyde Prestwood will act as prosecuting attorney. Charles Gideon is Hallum's defense attorney.

Board Reviews JFK Criticism By Professor

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — Trustees of the University of Illinois made no move Wednesday to unseat a professor who sharply criticized the late President Kennedy, but adopted a report condemning the teacher's lack "of good taste."

The anti-Kennedy remarks were published by Prof. Revilo P. Oliver, 54, a classicist, in the John Birch Society magazine, American Opinion.

He wrote that Kennedy may have been assassinated because he ceased to be useful to a Communist conspiracy to overthrow the United States.

The trustees voted 8-1 to approve the report. They have final jurisdiction concerning Oliver's professional status.

Oliver had no comment immediately.

Houston U. Students To Rate Instructors

The students at the University of Houston have decided to publish annual "report cards" on their teachers, the Houston Chronicle said Wednesday.

The University's Student Senate voted unanimously Monday night to approve the annual reports, to be called the teacher evaluation program, the story reported.

The program will be presented for approval next Tuesday to a faculty committee.

According to the Chronicle, a 20-question evaluation sheet will be distributed on the campus to be filled out anonymously. The questionnaire will evaluate the teacher, his lectures, his out-of-class assignments, his method of giving examination and his fairness in grading.

A member of the Student Senate reported that the object is "to obtain an evaluation on each full-time teacher and to judge, as fairly as possible, how the students feel about an instructor."

The questionnaire will include the grade the student received from the instructor.

IFC Controls 800 Men Students

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of articles explaining the organization of the fraternity system at Texas Tech. This article deals with the Interfraternity Council.)

By CECIL GREEN
Toreador Copy Editor

Regulating the overall actions of Tech's 11 individual fraternities is no light task.

And it is with a sense of responsibility that the Interfraternity Council carries out this job and, in a sense, directly controls the actions of some 800 male students.

"The Council," according to IFC president Gary Lawrence, "is a concentrated area of authority over all the campus fraternities; it correlates action and sets laws that all the group abide by."

Also, the Council is an interesting study in representative government since, both in theory and in practice, it accurately represents the views of the majority of the fraternity members.

Each fraternity is represented on the Council by three delegates—the chapter president and two other members who are usually being trained to assume leadership positions in the future.

"The reason for so many representatives," Lawrence explained, "is to help on committee work. Because the IFC meets only once a week, it is impossible for us to handle all the work we get during that time."

"However," he continued, "we use committees quite extensively to hash out problems and settle the individual needs for each fraternity."

Once a matter is brought out of committee, it is discussed openly on the floor by all the IFC delegates. Then, before the IFC makes any decision on any matter, the proposed question is referred back to the individual fraternities.

HEARS REPRESENTATIVE

There, the matter is reviewed by all the fraternity members and any new ideas or problems are reported to the Council by the representatives. Then, the issue hits the committee trail again, and the committee (oftentimes composed of representatives from all fraternities) tries to reach a compromise to settle any of the arguments that may arise.

Finally, when a compromise is reached, the matter goes to the floor once more and is taken back to the chapters for further reaction. This process is continued until everyone is in agreement and the Council can incorporate it as a new law.

Under this system, it may take several weeks or months to carry a measure from the discussion stage until it is voted on and adopted by the individual chapters.

"We realize that this is a very complex arrangement," Lawrence said, "but it does insure representation for all, and that is our ultimate goal."

But, no matter how long it may take to get a measure through, the IFC still accomplishes many projects and gets a lot of useful work done. For instances, this spring, the representatives are revamping the pledge system.

NEW PLAN READY

Already, the main idea has been discussed at individual chapter meetings and the general ideas are being narrowed to the specific in a special committee. The new plan should be ready to go into effect by next fall when it is time to take pledges again.

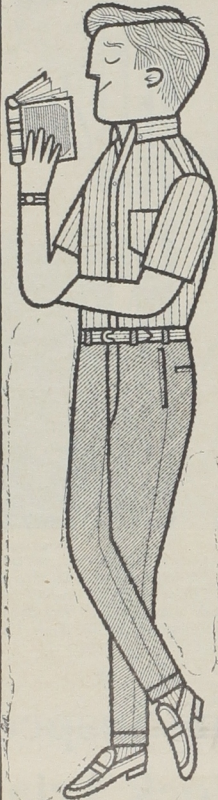

Also, the IFC is coordinating plans for an all-school dance later in the year to raise funds for the entrance marker fund. The dance will be co-sponsored by the fraternity and sorority systems on campus.

In another co-sponsored venture, the fraternities and sororities have planned an Easter egg hunt next week for about 150 underprivileged children from the Lubbock area.

Other IFC irons are in the fire now with special committees working on the housing question and trying to facilitate the building of lodges.

Student Council Seeks Academic Recruiters

By DON FORESTER
Toreador Staff Writer

With the Spring break less than a week away, there is considerable activity in the Student Council Office as the final preparations are being completed for the third annual academic recruiting program.

Originally proposed in 1960 by Amon Burton, student body president in 1961, the academic recruiting program is designed to present the Texas Tech program to high school students across the nation.

Through constant refinement the recruiting program has gradually evolved to attract the better high school students, rather than concentrating strictly on numbers as it did originally.

This contention is borne out by Jerry Gibson, committee chairman, who said, "The program is aimed at getting the superior students—not just more students—to attend Tech."

The program depends entirely on student participation, as the Council feels that former high school students are more successful in communicating with the high school set.

Techsians interested in becoming "recruiting ambassadors" should leave their names in the Student Council Office.

To become an ambassador a student must contact his home town high school and schedule time to speak to high school groups about the advantages offered by Texas Tech.

There will be a meeting at 7 p.m. today for all students who plan to participate in the recruiting plan. At the meeting folders on the Tech campus and academic opportunities offered by the college will be distributed as well as example copies of the Daily Toreador and the La Ventana.

Speaker at the meeting will be Floyd Boze, registrar, who will point out the values of the program to the prospective ambassadors. Representatives of the Honors Council will also speak to the group and show a film pertaining to academic recruiting.

Service Will Recognize Tech Leaders Sunday

Tech's outstanding student leaders will be recognized Sunday at the 18th annual All-college Recognition Service. James G. Allen dean of student life, will be master of ceremonies for the program.

Dr. William M. Pearce, academic vice president, will introduce the speaker, Dr. R. C. Goodwin, Tech president. The Rev. Mark Williams of St. John's Methodist Church will give the invocation. Benediction will be pronounced by the Rev. William Hanly, St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church.

Dean of Engineering John R. Bradford will recognize the top-ranking students within the respective schools, including eight students from the School of Arts and Sciences with equal records.

Leadership recognition of 12 students will be acknowledged by Royal Furgeson, president of the Student Council. Dr. J. William Davis, head of the government department and chairman of the Athletic Council, will recognize 90 Tech athletes who have been awarded varsity letters during the past calendar year.

Tony Masso, chairman of the College Awards Board, will conclude the ceremony with recognition of 13 teams, organizations and individual students whose performance has brought distinction to the College during the spring and fall semester of 1963.

The Tech choir will sing "No Man Is An Island," directed by John Gilbert of the Tech Music department. Following the ceremony an informal tea will be held in the West Lobby of the Tech Union for the students, their relatives and friends.

ABC Rodeo Starts Run In Coliseum

The 22nd annual ABC Rodeo got underway Wednesday in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum. Performances will continue through Saturday.

This year's rodeo opened with a parade through the downtown area Wednesday afternoon and an 8 p.m. performance.

Five events are scheduled for the four day show. They include saddle bronc riding, bareback bronc riding, calf roping, steer wrestling and bull riding.

The rodeo features Dean Oliver, World Champion Cowboy for 1963, Guy Weeks, the reigning world champion saddle bronc rider from Abilene, and the Zoppes, an internationally famous riding act.

Smoking Warning Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the American Cancer Society urged recently that cigarette and cigarette advertising carry the warning that smoking is hazardous.

"EDUCATIONAL efforts against smoking cannot be effective if cigarette advertising continues unimpeded," Dr. W. G. Scott told the Federal Trade Commission, which has proposed such labeling.

But another witness, Gilbert H. Weil, attorney for the Association of National Advertisers, questioned the commission's authority to impose such requirements. He renewed a suggestion, made as hearings opened Monday, that the commission may be assuming more power than Congress gave it.

FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon insisted, however, that the commission would not have made the proposals unless it believed it had the necessary authority.

DANGEROUS HABIT
Scott said the cancer society supports FTC efforts to warn smokers that their habit might be dangerous to health.

A special problem, he said, is the nation's youth. He said those who smoke before the age of 21 smoke more, inhale deeper and run the greater risks.

Council as a very active group. Yet, in comparison with other years, it hasn't been this busy before, according to Lawrence.

WHY MORE WORK?

What's the reason for the outburst of more work this year? "Well," said Lawrence meditatively, "I think the reason for most of the advancement this year lies in the fact that the calibre of the representatives forming the IFC is about at an all time high. Also," he added, "interest is higher this year than usual and it seems like all the fraternities are willing to work harder to get more done."

The overall attitude toward accomplishing more can also be accredited to the changing picture of fraternities—not just at Tech, but over the nation as a whole. More and more, the fraternities are losing their "happy-go-lucky-good-time-for-all" image and are turning more to academic achievement and projects that tend to better themselves.

"Yes, I agree that the fraternities are maturing and growing stronger," Lawrence said, "and as the fraternities grow and gain importance, the IFC will have to take on an even more important role."

"And, I believe," he continued, "that the main point that will make the IFC even stronger in the future is the work of the individual fraternity leaders who will be trying to better the overall fraternity system."

STRONG LEADERS NEEDED

But, no matter how good individual fraternity leaders may be, there is still a need for strong leadership in the upper echelons. This year, Lawrence and other officers have worked long and hard, but a big problem in the future will be to find interested leaders who can give freely of their time and keep the ball rolling towards more progress.

Other officers who have had an important role in carrying out much of the IFC work this year are Bob Wood, vice president; Jeff Zander, secretary; and Larry Strickland, treasurer.

To keep progressing, it will be necessary to find capable replacements for these and other leaders in the next few years. After all, it is a big responsibility to have charge of affairs that affect 800 fraternity members.

Bar Says Belli Ignored Professional Ethics Code

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The president of the American Bar Association declared Wednesday that Jack Ruby's trial lawyer, Melvin Belli, showed flagrant disregard for the code of professional ethics and his oath as an attorney.

Walter C. Craig of Phoenix, Ariz., the bar association head, said Belli's "unrestrained comments" made after Ruby was found guilty and his punishment fixed as death were "a discredit to him and to his profession."

Craig, in a speech prepared for a luncheon meeting of the San Francisco Bar Association, said a number of unethical conduct complaints have been received at ABA headquarters from member lawyers concerning Belli's statements.

Tech Hosts State HS Swimming Meet Friday

Texas Tech will be host to the 28th annual state high school swimming meet Friday and Saturday.

Dallas Highland Park has won the meet the past three years.

A field of about 25 schools is expected by meet director Jim McNally, Tech swimming coach. Early entries have been received from Dallas Jefferson, Dallas Sunset, San Antonio Alamo Heights, Houston Memorial, Dallas Adams, San Antonio Jefferson, Burnet, Midland, Midland Lee, Odessa, Wichita Falls, Abilene, and San Angelo.

Friday's competition begins with diving preliminaries and semi-finals at 4:15 p.m. and continues through swimming preliminaries starting at 7:30 p.m. and diving finals slated for 9:15 p.m.

Swimming finals begin at noon Saturday.

Admission per session will be $1 for adults, 50 cents for all others. Since this is not an intercollegiate activity, Texas Tech students will be charged 50 cents.

Sports— —Briefs

Tech's freshman baseballers, undefeated in three games, tackle the South Plains College Texans in a repeat doubleheader at Levelland Saturday.

Coach Doug Gibbons' Picadors swept two games from the Texans here Tuesday, 5-3 and 14-1, behind the pitching of Eldon Fox and Danny Davis, both of Lubbock. Last week the Picadors edged Odessa College, 4-2.

COACH GEORGE Philbrick's tennis team will have four representatives in the Rice Intercollegiate tournament at Houston today through Saturday.

Philbrick is taking Don Draper, Beau Sutherland, Robert Peterson and Greer Kothmann. Draper and Peterson will play No. 1 doubles, Sutherland and Kothmann No. 2 doubles.

Tech, 0-6 loser to Trinity in its initial dual match, will be host to Northern Illinois March 23 and to University of Corpus Christi March 24.

COACH J T KING'S gridders will hold their second scrimmage of spring football training Saturday in Jones Stadium.

Coaches Attend NCAA Meeting

Tech Athletic Director Polk Robison, a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association Basketball Rules Committee, is meeting with that group in Kansas City Friday and Saturday.

Cage coaches Gene Gibson and Charley Lynch are also in Kansas City attending sessions of the National Basketball Coaches Association convention, held in conjunction with the national basketball tournament.

Biffle Leads Track Team

Senior Ronny Biffle of Anton continues to pace Tech's track team with 21½ points.

Next among the Red Raiders are Richard Vogan of El Paso, 17; Noel Carter of Seminole, 13; Scott Wood of Compton, Calif., 11¼; Jerry Brock of Fort Worth, 11; and Ronnie Davis of Brownwood, 10.

Tech's fourth meet of the spring pits the Raiders against New Mexico and Utah at Albuquerque Saturday. Coach Don Sparks' team so far has participated in the Southwestern Recreation, North Texas Invitational, and the West Texas Relays. Next week they will enter the San Angelo Relays.

Field Events Pose Big 'If' For 1964 Olympics

SAN FRANCISCO (P) — Four years ago John Thomas went to the Olympics as the "cinch" high jump winner and finished third.

Frustrating losses since then to Russian Valery Brumel and failure to equal his 1960 jump of 7-3¾ make Thomas, from a psychological standpoint, perhaps the most interesting of the probable U.S. entries in the four jumping events at Tokyo.

Despite a promising comeback, Thomas still is a gold medal longshot. The likely American winners in the events are broad-jumper Ralph Boston and pole vaulter John Pennel.

Pennel, the only vaulter ever to clear 17 feet, is fairly consistent in his erratic event, but must demonstrate that a winter foot fracture hasn't hurt his form.

Former Oregon Starter Darrell Horn, who closed in on Boston last year, could be the only American to make the team in two field events. He's almost as certain as Boston to succeed in the broad jump and is a consistent triple jumper, though like his countrymen in this event, is not quite up to top world class.

The third broad-jumping spot is wide open. The likely contenders include inconsistent Phil Shinnick of Washington, who leaped 27-4 last year on one of his rare fair jumps and NCAA champ Clinton Mayfield from Central, Ohio, State.
