Mullins Speaks To Honoraries

The president of the University of Arkansas, Dr. David W. Mullins, will be guest speaker Saturday at the annual spring banquet for Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Lambda Delta.

The two national freshman scholastic honoraries will have their banquet at 6 p.m. in the Coronado Room of Tech Union, following the tradition of inviting presidents of Southwest Conference schools to speak.

Dr. Mullins will speak on "The Quest for Excellence."

HONORS NEW PLEDGES

The annual banquet honors the new pledges of Phi Eta Sigma and Alpha Lambda Delta. Both organizations will hold pledge ceremonies at 5 p.m. Saturday, just before the banquet.

Phi Eta Sigma is honoring 42 initiates; nine who pledged in the fall and 33 pledged this spring. Freshmen who earn a grade average of 3.5 in the fall semester of their first year are eligible to pledge in the spring. Those who have a cumulative average of 3.5 for the entire freshman year may pledge in the following fall.

Alpha Lambda Delta is honoring 59 new pledges. They accept pledges by the same method used by Phi Eta Sigma. Joy Cox, president of Alpha Lambda Delta, will preside at the banquet.

Dr. Mullins was born in Sharp County, Ark., and graduated from the University of Arkansas with honors in 1931. He received his B.A. after working in the fields of mathematics, history and political science. Mullins received his M.A. from University of Colorado and his doctorate from Columbia University. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary fraternity.

AUBURN VICE PRESIDENT

The University president began his career in 1941 as associate professor in school administration at Auburn University and then served as vice president of Auburn. During World War II, Mullins was an officer in the U.S. Navy.

Dr. Mullins is active in many educational organizations—he is a past president of the Southern Association of Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities, a member of the National Committee on Accrediting and a member on the Committee for the Advancement of School Administration.

He is on the National Planning Council of the National Planning Association.

He is a trustee of the Southwest Research Institute of San Antonio and a former member of the Board of Directors of the Graduate Research Center of the Southwest.

Tech faculty and friends of members are invited to the banquet. Reservations must be made by noon in Dean Allen's office. Tickets are $2 per person. More than 300 are expected to attend.

Gift Committee Eyes Loan Fund

Plans are now underway to present the college with a Senior Loan Fund, according to Herman Wheatley, member of the Senior Gift Committee.

"There is definitely a need for additional Loan Funds from which Tech students may borrow money to help meet their college expenses," Thomas P. Stover, student loan advisor said.

At present there is a gap which exists in the Loan Funds administered by the college—this Loan Fund would fill the gap. The college has only one loan fund for seniors to use and this applies only to seniors in the School of Engineering.

They use the money to pay for expenses involved in travel connected with interview trips. Students in other schools do not have access to any loan fund and must either pay for the trip themselves or borrow the money from another source.

The Senior Class Loan Fund of 1964 is designed to make small loans to any senior student in need of financial assistance for interview trips, placement service letters, and cap and gown expenses. The loan would be paid back on a low interest basis to insure the growth of the fund.

More senior students would be able to make the interview trips with a minimum of trouble and possibly increase their job opportunities.

"The Senior Gift Committee feels this fund is one that will grow with Texas Tech. We think it is a way students can help each other," Wheatley said.

Stover said that interview trips sometimes cost $300 to $400 or more. Few students are able to meet the travel expenses because the interviewing companies seldom reimburse the student until he returns home.

The loan funds available to students require co-signers and references which take from one to three weeks to acquire. In most cases the process requires too much time and the student is forced to forego the interview. This eliminates the possibility of his getting the job.

"Not all of these students need financial aid and some companies pay in advance," Stover said. "The majority of the interviewees, however are responsible for finding the money someplace. The most convenient source would be the college. We are very anxious to be of service to these students; however, before we can help them we need the funds to do so," he added.

"Our motto is 'Leave A Loan,'" Wheatley said. We urge all senior students to go by the Tech Bookstore and contribute to the Senior Class Loan Fund of 1964."

Jury Acquits Glen Hallum

By PAMELA BEST
Torreador Copy Editor

"We find the defendant innocent beyond a reasonable doubt!" This verdict announced by jury foreman Bob Ford at 9:40 p.m. Thursday brought to a close the trial of State of Texas vs. Glen Hallum.

The jury rendered its verdict in a matter of seconds.

The mock trial, sponsored by the Pre-Law Club, was staged to determine whether Hallum "killed" James Ellis last Monday. Ellis "died" in a fall from the Ad. Bldg. Tower.

Most important witness for the prosecution was Bobo Wilson (Barbara Staton), a dancer at a local night club. She testified that she knew Hallum and that he went to the club often. Miss Wilson said that he was at the club the Saturday night before the murder and seemed very disturbed about something.

She said she assumed he was upset over the fight he had with Ellis the day before.

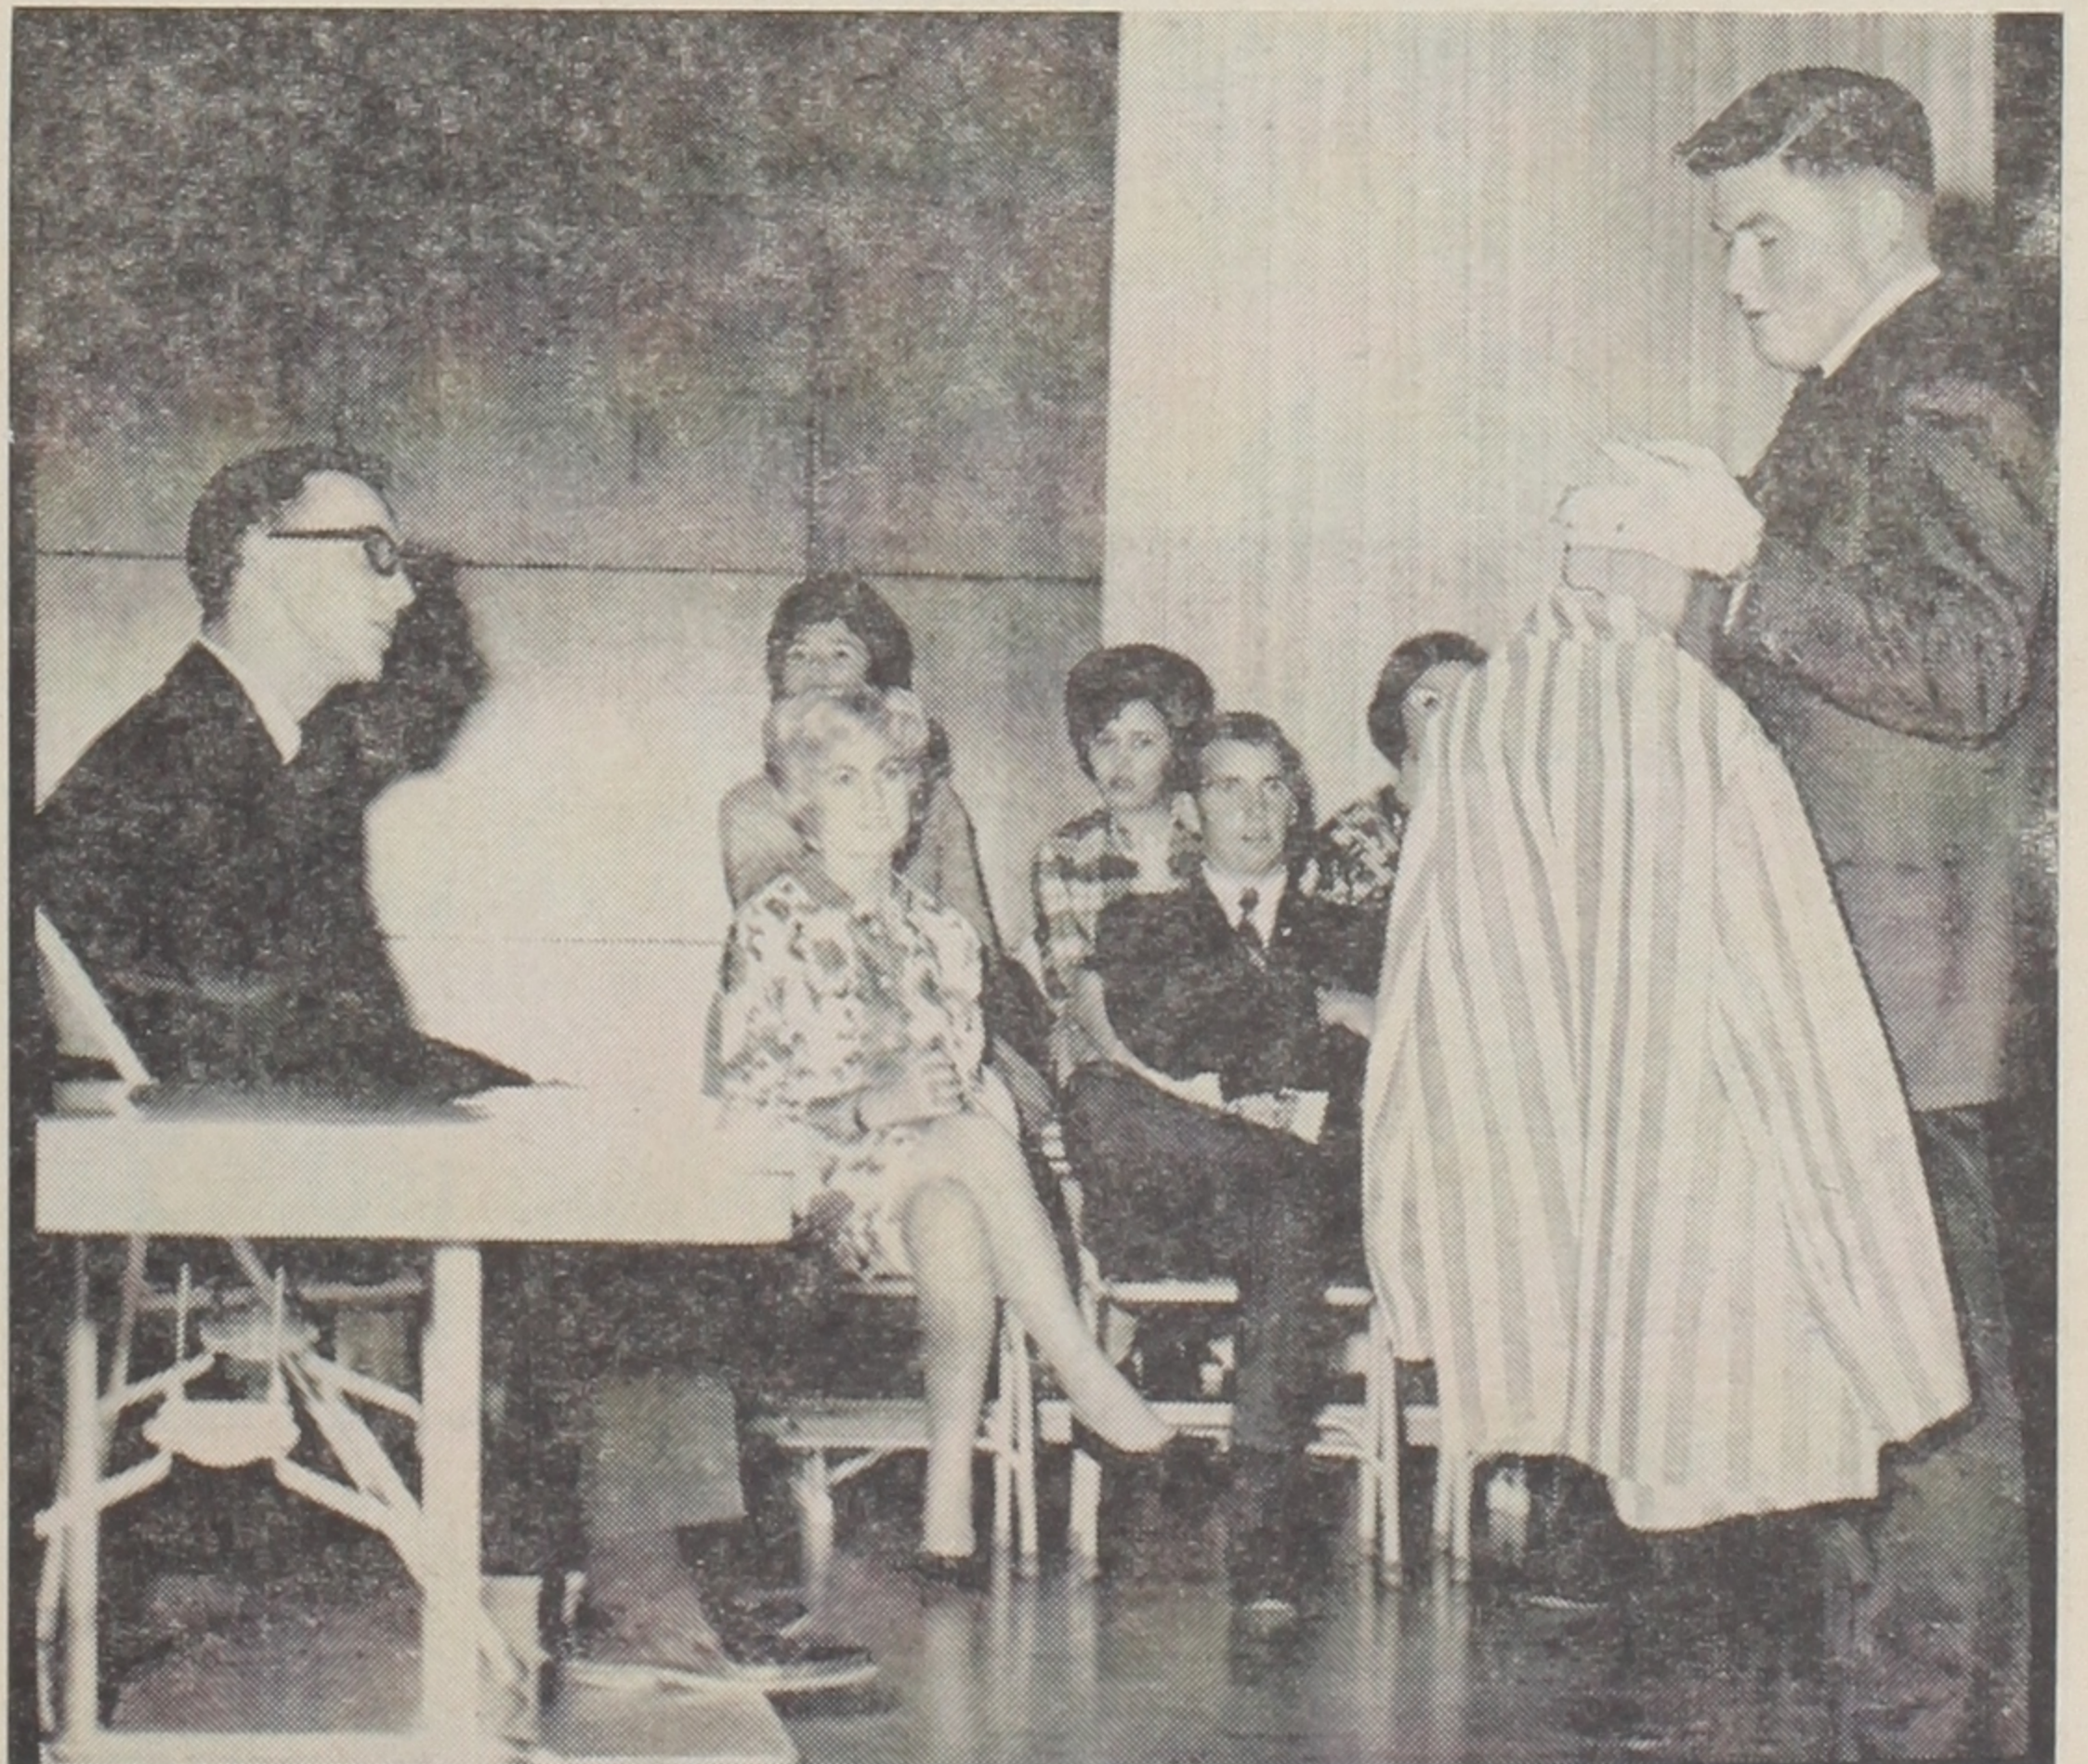

Miss Wilson stated that Hallum took her home that night at 2 a.m. The following Monday, the day of the crime, Miss Wilson said she came to the Tech campus to see Hallum concerning an unpaid bill at the club. She testified that she arrived in time to see Hallum push Ellis from the west tower of the Ad Bldg.

In effect, Miss Wilson's testimony was the basis of the prosecution's case since the other testimonies were disqualified on the basis of sanity.

The defense based its case on the fact that Hallum was not on Tech campus at the time of the murder.

Testimony was produced by the defense to substantiate this claim. Two witnesses appeared to testify that they had been with the defendant at the West Lake Golf Course at the time of the alleged murder.

An affidavit was read by the defense attorney Charles Gideon, stating that there was a syndicate operating in the southwest for the purpose of controlling collegiate athletics. It was brought out that Hallum and Ellis were both approached by members of this syndicate. Hallum and Ellis turned down syndicate offers to throw ball games.

Study Finds Cheater A Pressing Problem

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (I.P.) —The Academic Honesty Committee, set up to encourage the honor system at Bowling Green State University, recently released the results of a preliminary study.

Committee members sent questionnaires to 2,000 students and to faculty members.

Some of the figures released:

1. Have you ever seen cheating in any of your classes? Yes—86 per cent; No—14 per cent.
2. Do you think old tests should be on file in one of the libraries (departmental or University)? Yes—59 per cent; No—41 per cent.
3. If cheating occurred, was anything done about it? Yes—21 per cent; No—79 per cent.
4. Have you ever cheated (a) in class: Yes—41 per cent; No—59 per cent. (b) outside of class, Yes—39 per cent; No—61 per cent.
5. Do you believe it is easier to cheat on (a) outside class assignments? Yes—81 per cent; No—19 per cent.

(b) multiple-choice exams? Yes—66 per cent; No—34 per cent. (c) essay exams? Yes—5 per cent; No—95 per cent.

A suggestion by one critic for the prevention of cheating on examinations: the use of open-book tests.

Fraternities Attacked In MU Report

ORONO, Me. (I.P.) — Fraternities on the campus of the University of Maine contribute little to the academic life of the University, according to a recently released report to the Board of Trustees by the faculty committee on fraternities.

If anything, the report states, through harmful initiation practices and the presence in many houses of a supply of term papers and reports which can be plagiarized, they have a negative influence.

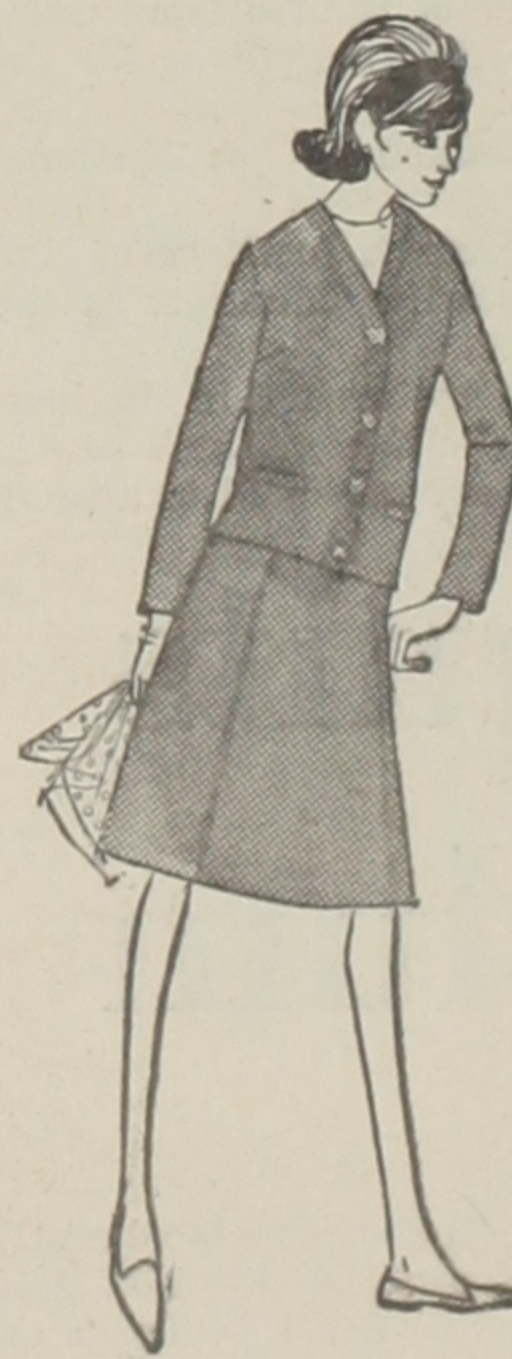

Other excerpts regarding scholastic achievement: It has been generally assumed that the academic level of the fraternity system has also declined in recent years. To some extent this is true.

An analysis of the 59 semesters from the fall of 1930 through the fall of 1962 shows that 80 per cent of the fraternities were above the all-men's average more than half the semesters and that the all-fraternity average was above the all-men average 76 per cent of the time.

During the past decade, only 58 per cent of the fraternities were above the all men's average more than half the semesters involved, though, oddly enough, the all fraternity average was above the all-men's average more than 81 per cent of the time.

Coming to Tech at the beginning of the 1963-64 school year from Korea, Sgt. Tinker assumed his second ROTC tour. The first was with the Army ROTC unit at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

Sgt. Tinker and his wife have two children, a daughter 19 and a son 14. After his retirement from the service, he plans to make his home in either Lubbock or Abilene, but right now he thinks it will be in Lubbock.

Problems A'Plenty

There are 800 young men on campus who deserve a sympathetic word and a recognition button. They are Tech's fraternity men.

These fellows have enough problems to fill an over-sized silo. But the important thing is that Tech Greeks are working diligently to alleviate many of their plaguing "headaches."

They are confronted with such problems as:

- Maintaining high membership ratios in each fraternity
- Interesting prospective pledges in coming to Tech
- Initiating a sound rush and pledge system
- Setting a good Greek image at Tech
- Helping fill a void in Tech social life
- Serving as organizers and examples of student government at work
- Providing adequate fraternity lodges
- Meeting individual fraternity needs

These are just a few of the weeds in the Tech Greek's petunia patch. But through the Inter-fraternity Council the Greeks are slowly X'ing off major problems. But a long up-hill climb is still ahead.

Tech has a young fraternity system. This is only the eleventh year nationally affiliated fraternities have existed on this campus. But during those 11 years great strides have been made.

As has been pointed out in a current series in THE DAILY TOREADOR, the Greeks are running an obstacle course. But the young men themselves are meeting and solving the problems.

The fraternity system is a vital part of Texas Tech. It's an essential part of the hub of the whirl of campus life.

Letters To Editor

Mark Twain, Tech Hath Need Of Thee

Dear Miss Machen:

By dying 54 years too early, Mark Twain missed an opportunity to poke fun at Techsians who forget or ignore basic meanings of words.

In "The Gilded Age" he has sanctimonious old Senator Dilworthy propose the creation of KNOBBS INDUSTRIAL UNIVERSITY. It didn't take a Boston Brahmin to see the ludicrousness, indeed the scathing satire, in his putting together "Industrial" and "University;" even his lowbrow readers were word-conscious enough to think it downright funny. Twain, who quit school when he was 12, knew instinctively that it was a bell-ringer.

Mark Twain, "thou shouldst be living at this hour."

Texas Tech "hath need of thee."
Yours,
Kline A. Nall

It was my good fortune to have had the opportunity of being associated with other faculty members and with the students who participated in the Model U.N. last Friday and Saturday.

I am happy to report that both the degree of preparation and the maturity displayed by the Tech students outshone that which I observed on three separate occasions when I worked with Model U.N. activities at a Big Eight University.

Editor:

What is a university? Is it the launching pad for the intellectuals of the day? Is it an incredibly complex society-orientated device for education in relationships? Is it the road to a "brighter tomorrow?" Or is it a circus—complete with ringmaster, barkers, clowns and freaks?

What are the university's requirements? A great number of people engaged in a great number of activities? Sheer physical size? A popularity based upon reputation? The desire for conformity? Or are the university's requirements really more simple? Are they really a state of mind?

How broad is the university's scope? Is it local, regional or national in nature? Is its influence inertial, vertical, or radial? Are its motives static, methodical or innovative? Are its concepts defined, or does the true university require definitions as such?

How does the university come to exist? A desire for change, or a desire to exist? Is the university instantly created, or must its birth have been planned in every aspect? Is the University a state or a state of mind? The best definition of the university is the university itself.

Dear Editor:

We here at the University of Texas sincerely hope that the student body at Texas Tech will take it upon themselves to actively oppose the recent motion by Tech's Board of Directors to rename Tech, "Texas Tech University."

If this ridiculous title is to be tacked on your school, at least let it be known that the students of Tech do not share the ... judgment of their school's directors ...

It is not yet too late to save Tech from added ridicule and embarrassment in this matter. But you must act together and with determination.

Sincerely,
Dave Williams
UT student

Dear Miss Machen:

I would like to ask a few questions of our School Board concerning the recent decision on the name change.

Why were the students not informed

Members of Spencer Memorial Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn, N.Y., didn't nod, squirm, or even stifle a yawn during the pastor's sermon recently. In fact, most of them—including the children present—were probably sitting on the edge of the pews with wide-open eyes and ears.

CARRIE CHANEY

Subject of the fiery sermon? "Fanny Hill."

Yes, believe it or not, the Rev. William Belle Glenesk read portions of this controversial novel to his congregation to support his argument that the book should not be censored by the state supreme court.

HE ORIGINALLY planned to pass out copies of the novel to be read by the congregation during the service, but decided against that drastic a move when the district attorney told him it would be against the law.

Rev. Glenesk told his flock that he found "Fanny Hill" amusing, and no worse than other novels on the market. He said the ban was "un-American" in that it consisted of "imposing one man's opinion of a book upon the law which removes another man's right to read it and make up his own mind."

I READ IT, AND BELIEVE me, I did make up my mind.

The novel is nothing more than one lurid sex scene after another. They're pretty interesting at first, but by page 100 or so, they become repetitious. Even the subject of "sex" is expendable, and author John Cleland exhausts it by the third or fourth episode.

Cleland's descriptions of the numerous bedroom scenes are quite detailed and, in most cases, quite unbelievable.

THE HEROINE OF THE 18-century novel is a country girl who comes to London, hoping to make an honest living. She makes a living all right (not, of course, an honest one) and quite a few other things, too. Rev. Glenesk thinks she was "seeking an honest, authentic love." Maybe she was, but she went about it in a rather unusual way.

Rev. Glenesk also says that if the "human act of sex ... is wrong or dirty, then let the censor step into the bedrooms of the nation and lay down the law. If not, then let him forever hold his peace."

HE WENT ON TO SAY that the church sometimes has the attitude that sex "is not to be enjoyed. In other words, it is all right to do it so long as you do not enjoy it or describe it."

But sex can be described in many different manners, and the manner employed by Cleland is not at all in good taste, even though he skillfully avoids the use of four-letter words. It's obvious that his purpose in writing the book was to appeal to the "basest" instincts of the reader—and that's the very thing the courts of New York have used to classify the book as pornography. They have, in recent legislative action, prohibited G. P. Putnam's Sons from publishing, distributing or selling the book.

SEX CAN EVEN BE described realistically and still remain within the boundaries of decency, but Cleland's descriptions aren't realistic—they're repulsive. I just wonder how the congregation at Spencer Memorial felt when their pastor used the sanctuary as a reading-room for this type of trash.

as to what percentage of the Exes voted for each name? We were only told that Texas Tech U. was the choice of the Exes and that it was the "best choice" for all concerned.

I just wonder if TTU was the choice of the majority or actually the choice of just a few influential men who contribute much money to our university?

I think the Board should give us the statistics on the voting carried out by the Exes and clarify, at least, this one issue.

Also, I would like to know if the Board even considered the students' votes. It seems obvious that it did not. The students here at this university may be a minority group when compared with the Exes, but I think that the name change would affect the present students and the future students more than it would the Exes.

The Exes should have enough concern for the present and future students of this school, to cast aside their own sentimentalisms and give us a name change which is appropriate for this institution.

I am for the name, "Texas State University," but I would rather maintain our present college status than support a meaningless, so-called compromise name such as Texas Tech University.

AS PARKS HEAD

Gosdin Accepts Position

By PATRICIA WATKINS
Treador Staff Writer

Mark Gosdin, assistant professor of Horticulture and Park Management and Supt. of Grounds Maintenance, is resigning his position at Tech. He has accepted the newly formed position as director of the state park section of the new department, the State Park and Wildlife Department.

THIS NEW department is a combination of the old State Park and Recreation Department and the Wildlife Commission. The combination was a part of Gov. Connally's platform when he ran for governor.

Gosdin's appointment to the new position is partly a result of the two year research project conducted at Tech on the state park program. Gosdin played an important part in the project.

THE DEPARTMENTS of horticulture, park management, history and biology cooperated in the research project. Historical, scenic and recreational aspects of state wide interest in the parks was studied in the state. The present population of Texas was studied and then projected to the year 2,000 to determine the demand, present and future, for recreation within the state. Studies were made of national trends toward more leisure time, income, mobilization and population increases.

The completed report of the state park research study, including park plans and models, schematic plans, models of pertinent area development, cost and substantiating data were submitted to the State Parks Board which was in charge of securing funds for the project.

GOV. CONNALLY visited the Tech campus in March, 1963, to inspect the project. At that time he told the research team, "You are setting a pattern for the kind of job that can be done by an educational institution for the state."

Gosdin received his appointment, due largely to his part in the project, on Feb. 28. He will leave Tech, Mar. 31 and begin his new job April 1. He will live in Austin, but says the position will involve a lot of traveling.

"THE NEW POSITION offers a challenge unequalled in the park profession, especially in the state of Texas," Gosdin said.

The former professor will be replaced by Dr. Bill Kitchen, who has just completed work on his doctorate at A&M University. He received his M.S. and B.S. at Tech.

A SURPRISE COFFEE was given in honor of Gosdin in the Physical Plant building Thursday. Friends of Gosdin and members of the faculty attended.

Salinger Resigns

WASHINGTON (P) — Pierre Salinger resigned Thursday as President Johnson's press secretary and is expected to run for the U.S. Senate on the Democratic ticket in California.

Salinger will be replaced by George Reedy, a veteran newsman who has been an aide to Johnson for the past 13 years.

First public word that Salinger was resigning came from ABC News, which said also that Secretary of State Dean Rusk plans to leave the government after the November election.

Salinger, the third top aide to President John F. Kennedy to quit the White House staff, will fly to San Francisco Thursday night and announce his future plans today.

Johnson accepted Salinger's resignation, "only with the greatest regret" and told the President the decision was made for personal reasons."

Candidates Express Opinions During Young Demo Meeting

Seven candidates in local Democratic primary races spoke to the Lubbock County Young Democrats Wednesday.

Candidates for the 88th district, Place 2, of the state legislature were Houston Boyd, Delwin Jones, Bobby M. Brown and J. Q. Warnick, Jr.

Houston Boyd was the first legislative candidate to speak, and he said that monetary considerations are the primary concern of the state legislature.

Boyd also said, "Something should be done about the outmoded state Constitution."

During the question and answer period, the candidates were asked their stands on the name change for the college.

Delwin Jones said that he felt that "Tech" and "University" were contradictory terms, but he said, "The double-T symbol means something to me." He said that he would favor the retention of the double-T on the basis of school heritage.

J. Q. Warnick said that he felt sure that a bill would be introduced in the upcoming legislative session to name the school Texas Tech University. He said, "Everybody refers to Texas Tech and there is something about that name." He went on to say that keeping "Tech" is important.

Bobby Brown said that on Nov. 16 he wrote a letter, as an ex-student and not as a candidate, to THE DAILY TOREADOR advocating Texas State University. He said that he didn't feel that "Tech" was important to the name of the college anymore. He said that in spite of his personal feelings, he would not introduce or support any bill to change the name of the college until all four groups involved in the dispute were completely agreed on a name.

Fraternities Fill Slots, Set Plans For Spring

Texas Tech Fraternities remain active during the spring months of 1964.

Sigma Chi was among 29 chapters earning $150 scholarships presented by the Sigma Chi Foundation last week.

Alpha Tau Omega, in a March 16 election, chose these officers: president, Ronnie Tubbs; vice president Christopher Rieber; treasurer, Larry Melton; records, Stan Wilson; secretary, Paul Thompson; sentinel, Chad Kersting; ritual chairman, Dan Lowrance; rush chairman, Sam Ray; social chairman, Johnny Jackson; pledge trainer, James Vardy; lodge manager, David Baldwin; athletic chairman, Mike Downing; and scholarship chairman, Paul Thompson.

Newly elected officers for Kappa Alpha are: Ted Beatty, Tim Campbell, John Dougherty, John Griffith, Mike Moore, Wayne Packard and Randy Stephenson.

Mr. Bruce G. Campbell, traveling secretary for Phi Delta Theta, will end his three day visit today at noon. His main purpose on campus was to compare Tech's Phi Delt Chapter with chapters on other campuses.

Kappa Sigs will participate in their annual dance with the Phi Delt tomorrow night.

Phi Gamma Delta will have its annual Dinner Dance tomorrow night at the Holiday Inn. The dinner will be formal.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon will participate in gathering donations for the Lubbock County Society for Crippled Children Sunday afternoon from 3 p.m.-5 p.m.

SMU OK's Added Fee

Southern Methodist University's Board of Trustees has approved a $100 per semester increase in tuition effective next September 1. This announcement was made following a meeting of the Board on the SMU campus.

With the increase, the University's tuition will be $500 a semester or $1000 per year excluding student fees and room and board.

Dr. Willis M. Tate, president of SMU, said, "Southern Methodist University's plan for its academic future is based upon the full utilization of people and programs of the highest caliber."

"SMU's tuition is not comparable to institutions of equal standing throughout the country. If SMU is to maintain the quality it has attained and to provide the kind of education needed by this community and region, it is essential that tuition charges bear a larger portion of the University expense."

Yearly tuition charges at other universities are: Trinity University in San Antonio, $850; Austin College, $800; Tulane, $1200; Emory, $1050; Duke, $850; DePauw, $1200; Yale, $1550; Stanford, $1410; Harvard, $1520; Notre Dame, $1300; and Vanderbilt, $1000.

Workout Displeases King

Coach J T King's Red Raider Football squad ended its second week of regular workouts yesterday on a sour note. "This is the worst we've looked so far," King commented.

King said the poor showing could have been the result of several things. "In Wednesday's practice, we looked very sharp and there seems to be a tendency for a team to have a little letdown after an extremely good practice," said King.

He also said that the field conditions were not the best and the continual shifting around might have contributed to the letdown.

For Saturday's scrimmage, Ben Elledge of Brownwood will probably draw the starting number for the offensive first team. Tom Wilson, the junior college transfer who was scheduled to at least share the position with Elledge may not see much action in the scrimmage due to a sprained wrist.

King singled out Jimmy Edwards for particular praise on the defensive unit. The junior from Royse City was redshirted last season and King said that he seems to be developing into a serious contender for starting defensive halfback honors.

King held hopes that Saturday's scrimmage would be somewhat smoother than last weeks exhibition. "We should have ironed out some of the problems that we experienced last week, and should look real good," said King.

"Then too, we don't know how the lineup is really developing until the seniors are added to the lineup," King added.

Coaches Disagree On NCAA Champ

KANSAS CITY (P)—A sampling of opinion at the National Basketball Coaches Association convention Thursday showed the coaches unanimous on only one point — the NCAA basketball championships is a wide-open affair.

Duke and Michigan got heavy support from the coaches contacted in an informal poll, undefeated UCLA drew a couple of votes and Kansas State was mentioned by two "if it plays the way it did against Wichita."

And Bob Luksta of DePaul said he couldn't make a choice.

"There just aren't any weak sisters in the field. There's nothing to pick."

The semifinals are scheduled Friday night with Atlantic Coast Conference champion Duke, 25-4, playing Big Ten co-champion Michigan, 22-4, in the opener. Top-ranked UCLA, 28-0, takes on Big Eight boss Kansas State, 22-5, in the nightcap.

The winners meet for the title Saturday night in Kansas City's Municipal Auditorium.
