THE VENABLE WELL IN.

The Proven Artesian Field Enlarged and all Previous Theories

Advocate to note the flowing of one of the big wells which mean so much to this country and we are peculiarly the valley as the new one. to the one brought in yesterday morning by Mr. Baldwin on the J. Venable tract of land 3 miles and entirely out of the big flow belt as heretofore proven. By many peoflow would not come above the ground that far above the valley, but this received a knock-out blow yesterday morning. The water is yesterday morning. The water is shooting 32 inches above the casing and with, appparently, as much force as any well in the valley. Those skeptics who have placed a small limit on Artesia's ultimate importance had just as well withdraw their bets and get ready to live in the largest and best town in the Pecos Valley. It is now proven beyon question that Artesia is situated in the widest and best portion of the entire artesian field and the town will be forced to expand to suit the demands of its natural trade and producing territory. The new well is six miles back from the Pecos river and, judging by the pressure devel-oped, the great flow of water can be brought above the ground for many miles further out yet. This information, which was secured through the enterprise of Mr. Venable, is the enterprise of Mr. Venabl worth a great deal to the entire ley, and especially to Artesia. He is an enterprising gentleman who moved here recently from Brownwood, Texas, and has 320 acres of as pretty, level land as the sun ever shone upon. Mr. Venable expects to build up an ideal fine stock farm, with least of fruit on the side. With plenty of fruit on the side.

The Advocate job department has this week turned out ten thousand 20-page books, descriptive of the Artesia country and the advantages to be offered by the larger flow of water be offered by the larger flow of water which is only to be found in this portion of the valley. They are paid for by the business men of the town are intended to answer the multitude of questions that are contially propounded by people in the east. The matter contained therein was written by Mr. John Richey, who has been ranching six miles north-east of Artesia for eight years past and every statement contained there-in may be relied upon as absolutely in may be relied upon as absolutely reliable, and not overdrawn in the least. All the Artesia country needs is judicious advertising and this pamphlet will partially supply the demand.

Mr. John Bovard came down from Roswell Thursday evening and spent yesterday. From him we learn that Harry Hamilton is still confined to ceived at the ice factory two weeks ago. His many friends in Artesia hope to hear of his rapid recovery.

The Pecos Valley Irrigation Com A Public Nuisance.

It has suddenly occurred to the people of Artesia that they can even of the Hondo Reservoir above Roswell, alleging that the irrigation com-pany has a prior right to the uses of the water from the Hondo and other streams that go to feed the Pecos. The justness of the claim may be established by a suit, if not other wise. Just now things are in a muss Moral: Move to Artesia, secure land, bore an artesian well and control your own water supply forever.

One of th happiest men seen in some time was J. D. Rawls, when we visited the Rawls and Robertson well yesterday. He was busy making ditches to hold the torrents of water and the smile that had possession of his countenance was one that wont come off.

Dr. J. F. Rhodes, W. E. Baskin Bert Roby, Robert Frazier and J. R. Burton went to the Pecos river fishing yesterday afternoon. Result all the neighbors had fish for break fast. Roby sustained his reputat-tion by catching a 25-pound catfish.

Mr. A. M. Lee, who has been here for some weeks, started home to Pittsburgh, Pa,, Monday, but only got as far as Roswell. He saw the alfalfa fields, the fruit and "Lovers' n back to Artesia to stay.

Mr. H. V. Hart, of Bowen, Ill., has purchased 320 acres of land near town this week and will become a citizen. He was most agreeably sur-prised at the climate of New Mexico, having expected to find it very warm.

Hardin Crutcher found a pocket book containing a ten dollar bill floating in an irrigation ditch Mon-day. Gentleman itch, he instituted a rearch for the owner and he was found in the person of Mr. Cox, a new comer from Kentucky. It is not an unusual thing to find money in irrigation ditches in New Mexico.

Primary election day in Artesia was remarkably orderly. It was the first election in the new country and yet there was not a drunk man to be seen in town nor a public disturbance of any kind. How is that for life in the west? How many castern towns can say as much?
