Aerial Measurements, Final Certifications Due Soon

In a recent Bailey County ASCS Committee meeting, 1983 measurement rates were set for aerial, stake and reference, ground measurement, re-measure, reappraisal or appraisal for proven yields and bin measurements. All requests for measurement services will have to be paid in advance of the service.

Aerial measurements for the first plot will be $10, for the second $5 and will have a minimum of $20 charge.

Stake and reference measurements will cost $50 for the first plot; $25 for the second plot and carry a $100 minimum.

Bailey County Ground Measurement, late file certification fee will be $30 for the first plot of land and $15 for the second and carry a minimum of $50. To get a re-measure, reappraisal, or appraisal for a proven yield, the first plot will be $30, the second will be $15 and the minimum is not applicable to this type measurement.

For bin measurements, the first plot will be $25, and the second will be $10. There will be a $30 minimum on bin measurement.

Ground measurement rates will be charged on all applications. However, if aerial measurement techniques are used, excess money will be refunded to producers after the services are performed. The local ASCS office will begin accepting measurement service requests on Monday, April 4.

In other ASCS news, Executive Director Rusty Williamson says that the final date to enter the 1982 reserve or regular commodity loan obtained is March 31, 1983 for wheat and May 31, 1983 for corn, grain sorghum or cotton. A note to grain producers: Grain commodities entering into the reserve loan after January 11, 1983 may not be used for PIK (Payment-In-Kind) purposes. Cotton that is in the loan after March 11, 1983 must be used to satisfy PIK. Quantities in excess of the quantity needed for the PIK program may be redeemed.

FmHA Supervisor Explains Programs

With the final stages of the PIK program sign-up fading from view, only the subject of farm loans and finances remains incomplete to finish out the picture for the beginning of the 1983 farming season.

A good underground moisture for many farmers will mean a lot of savings on pre-watering bills, and the economy both local and national is beginning to dust itself off some.

Henry Taylor, local Farmer's Home Administration Supervisor (FmHA) talked with the Journal on Friday, giving information on new interest rates, new rules and a rundown on various FmHA loan programs available to farmers in Bailey County.

Taylor expressed the tradition of FmHA with the following statement: "The standard FmHA policy remains the same in 1983 as in years past. That policy includes hanging in there with that farmer as long as it appears that they can eventually succeed."

"The FmHA official said that although the actual loan 'season' was not completed, somewhere near 150 processed operating loans have been or are being worked through the Bailey County office. "Farmers are cutting back and borrowing less this year," Taylor stated. He said that the majority of the FmHA borrowers this year were planning on using PIK commodities, either forward sold or as loan collateral, and diversion payments to stretch their already tight budgets.

Reduced interest rates will be a big factor in operating loans for 1983 Taylor said. Farmers financing through the FmHA a few short years ago were dealing with a loan limit on operating loans (OL) of $10,000 at a now meager interest rate of five percent. Then, in 1982, one of the worst years in the history of farming economics, farmers had to pay

Pothole Program Could Help With City Street Repair

Recently the Texas Municipal League released a list giving amounts that area cities in Texas would receive upon passage of a bill, now pending before the state legislature, to establish a state-funded program to help repair local city streets.

The "city pothole control program" is part of a broad legislative package which calls for a $1.2 billion biennial increase in state spending on roads and bridges.

One component of the measure (which includes

S.B. 287 and H.B. 632) would provide an additional $1.2 billion per biennium for repairing and improving the state highway system.

The second component of the bill - the so-called "pothole program" - would appropriate $200 million from the state treasury over a two year period to finance a new city street improvement fund. Under the measure, each city in the state would receive a biennial allocation of $3,320 for every mile of paved street in the locality. A city with 10 miles of street would receive a biennial payment of $33,200 from the fund; one with 50 miles of street would receive $166,000; and so on.

Muleshoe's biennial allocation would be $100,000, with one half being remitted by the state in 1984 and the other half remitted in 1985. In Castro County, the City of Dimmitt would receive $74,400 per biennial allocation, with Hart receiving $26,600. Whiteface, in Cochran County, would receive $10,000 for the biennial allocation.

Crime Prevention Program Planned Here

According to the Bailey County Extension service, crime, or the fear of crime is a major concern to the people of Texas. A recent survey indicated that more than half of the population of the state feared becoming crime victims during the next twelve months. Preventing crime is the role of every citizen and not the responsibility of law enforcement alone, according to officials.

An information program has been planned by the County Extension Service to help residents of Bailey County learn more about crime prevention and how to protect their homes and property be aware of fraud and con games and organize their neighborhood in the neighborhood watch program.

The program will be held on Tuesday, March 29 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Civic Center according to Linda Mullin, County Extension Agent.

Topics to be covered include: --Fraud and Con Games by Greg Taylor, Extension Service Community Development Specialist.

--Home Security by Wayne Holmes, Muleshoe City Police Department.

--Neighborhood Watch by Bert Sinclair, Safety Edu-

City Manager Updates Lions On New Airport

The Muleshoe Lions met for their regular weekly meeting on Wednesday, March 21 in the Civic Center, with several guests present. Among those guests were Marilyn Wilson, Dewayne Haney, Mark Benedict and Steve Wolfe.

Muleshoe's City Manager, Dave Marr was a special guest at Lion's and presented a comprehensive program giving an update on the proposed new airport for Muleshoe. He also showed a film to the group which depicted a town "dying on its feet due to no outlets or opportunities for employment or advancement." While Marr explained that he certainly did not think that was the case in Muleshoe, felt that the point was well-taken.

Marr gave a short history of the airports in Muleshoe, stating that since about 1945, the City had maintained some means of air travel. The first lease was on the current property and was the Edward K. Warren Field. The city leased this land in 1945 with an option to buy the land; and, then accomplished that goal in 1950.

In about 1973, according to Marr, a consensus led citizens and council to the decision that needed improvements to the airport would have to be secured by the use of state funds, if there were to be any improvements. Marr stated, that while some actions were taken at that period of time, the project just did not go anywhere. The only real decision to come out of the 1973 phase of the airport problem was the fact that it was decided that mere improvements and

Banker Discusses Critical Ag Issues

Major critical issues facing Texas agriculture were outlined by a banking official at the annual Farm and Ranch Credit Conference at Texas A&M University Feb. 28-March 1.

Vernon Peckham, a senior vice president with the Republic National Bank of Dallas and a member of the Governor's Task Force on Agricultural Development (established by former governor Bill Clements in 1981) noted seven critical issues identified by the task force that will have great influence on Texas's agricultural industry: water, energy, capital, production efficiency, transportation, land and marketing.

Peckham also listed these general recommendations by the special agricultural task force:

1. Designate agriculture as a high priority sector of the Texas economy.
  2. Minimize government regulations.
  3. Establish incentives for the conservation of natural resources.
  4. Increase state funding for agricultural research and education, which offers a 30 to 50 percent return per annum on dollars invested. State funding in this area is small relative to the size of Texas's agricultural industry and income generated.
  5. Improve agricultural information systems to improve methods of technology transfer to expedite use of new knowledge.
- "We need to develop financing for a continuing water research and education program, and we need to amend the Texas Water Plan to meet the needs of agriculture," Peckham said.
- "We also need to develop and implement new technology in production agriculture, and we need to establish a Research and Education Center for Agricultural Policy."

Regarding transportation, Peckham called for deregulation of the trucking industry for agricultural products, maintenance and expansion of farm-to-market roads, and keeping needed railroads. "Since many of Texas agricultural products are exported, transportation demands are unique," he noted.

The banking official also called for a halting of the conversion of prime agricultural land for urban development and a major emphasis on marketing of agricultural products. "We especially need to improve our markets with Mexico, and we need to improve the development and dissemination of market news," Peckham said.

He encouraged the 150 bankers attending the conference to work closely with their farmer lenders to help them identify risks and to deal with these. "This is a period of stress for all agricultural producers and all want to survive," he said. "We want our agricultural industry to grow and develop because everyone benefits from a sound agriculture."

"In this period of change we need to direct change and not let it master us," Peckham challenged the bankers.

The annual Farm and Ranch Credit Conference was sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas A&M College of Agriculture and Texas Bankers Association.

Tower To Introduce Legislation Designed To Promote Saving, Home Ownership

U.S. Senator John Tower (R-Texas) announced today he will introduce legislation to promote increased savings and home ownership.

"The Mortgage Retirement Account (MRA) Act of 1983 would allow individuals to establish a tax-deferred account to save for a down-payment on a home. Those who own homes could establish an MRA to pre-pay principle on their mortgages. Regulations and limitations on the MRA would be virtually identical to those now covering IRA's," Tower explained. Tower is the new chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Housing and Urban Affairs.

"This legislation would simultaneously encourage savings and stimulate the vital housing industry," Tower said. "Young people who may not wish to save for their retirement would have a significant incentive to combine the tax advantages of an IRA with the opportunity to set aside money for a home. Renters will have a way, under the existing IRA mechanism, to own a home of their own while providing equity for financial security when they retire."

"Current and future homeowners who choose to pay off their mortgages as a faster-than-scheduled rate will be 'saving' as well, since they will be reducing their debt and therefore increasing the amount of money available to other borrowers," the senior Texas senator said.

"This additional savings generated by MRA's would benefit not only individuals providing for their futures, but allow would stimulate the national economy," he added.

"For financial institutions, early payment of mortgages would mean that some of their assets would be freed earlier than scheduled. That, in turn, would give them greater ability to respond to fluctuations in interest rates," Tower said.

"Additionally, the housing industry is such a vital part of our economy that recovery in this sector is vital to the overall prosperity of the nation. This plan would directly stimulate this industry without drawing from the federal budget. In fact, the long-term impact on tax revenues from enactment of this plan could very well be positive, given increased employment and reduced mortgage interest tax deductions," he said.

Student Council Sponsors Movie

The MHS Student Council showed their annual movie for the school on Friday, March 25th. This year's movie was "Paint Your Wagon" starring Clint Eastwood and Lee Marvin. Admission was 75 cents and it was a three-hour movie, so students and teachers got a double treat—a morning out of classes and a fantastic show!

The Student Council is also sponsoring a drawing for a $20.00 Easter basket full of goodies including candy, a stuffed Easter Smurf and money. The price of the chances of 25 cents each and the drawing will be held Wednesday morning, March 30 during 4th period.

Student Council Sponsors Mr. Keith Taylor and Mrs. Lola Pylant announced this week that students wishing to run for a SC office for next year should pick up a petition from them. Petitions must be completed and turned in by Wednesday, March 30. Next year's SC president must be a Junior this year and the vice-president, a sophomore this year. Other officers include the Secretary, Reporter, Treasurer, Chaplain, Historian, and Parliamentarian, and may be from any class.

MHS is fortunate to have such an active Student Council and all interested students are urged to run for an office next year and help keep the MHS Student Council going strong!

SPRING BONUS SPECIALS

END-OF-MODEL REBATES UP TO $5,500 ON 40- to 228-HP JOHN DEERE TRACTORS

The signals are improving: the farm economy is turning up for the 1980s. Reading those signals, consider this money-saving fact: You can now get a new John Deere 40 Series tractor at a model closeout price that will never be as low again. A price that competes with offers on tractors of any make. A bargain price on a tractor that will return you top dollar when traded in.

So, even if you're going into the PIK program to the maximum, you'll be dollar-wise to take advantage of this closeout offer on 40 Series tractors. Because you'll never again be able to match these savings.

John Deere's offering you a maximum cash rebate up to $5,500* (see chart below) on top of our best deal on a 40 Series tractor. And we're discounting from list prices that date back to 1981! Or you can qualify for a cash rebate waiver of John Deere finance charges to November 1, 1983. See us for details.

Special cash rebates up to $8,200 on 50 Series 4WD tractors, too...with the added attraction of waiver of finance charges to June 1, 1983.*

MRS. SCOTT TURNER
(nee Brenda Scott)

Miss Scott, Turner Repeat Marriage Vows

Miss Brenda Scott of Muleshoe became the bride of Scott Turner of Hereford Saturday March 26 at 6 p.m. at the First Baptist Church. Randy Butler of Crosbyton read the double ring vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Scott of Muleshoe. Turner's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Turner of Hereford.

A tree candelabrum flanked the altar along with arrangements of leather leaf and lemon. Arrangements on the pew markers marked the mothers pews.

Vickie Kendall of Hereford, soloist, sang "Love Will Grow" and "That's

The Way."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a high necked ivory gown featuring a bodice of inset lace and satin with a wide lace ruffle. The gathered skirt was trimmed with lace satin and a matching ruffle. Pearl buttons accented the gown. Her head dress was of ivory tating and tating bordered the veil.

She carried the bouquet "True Love," a carefree arrangement of beige, wheat and mauve roses with gypsophyllia. A bow of lace was inset with satin.

Mary Hicks, cousin, of Muleshoe served as matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Elaine Russell of Clovis, N.M. The attendants carried bouquets matching that of the bride.

Ronda Scott, niece of the bride, of Muleshoe was flower girl. She carried a basket of beige and wheat love knots.

Mike Turner of Hereford, brother of the groom, served as best man. Bill Lange of Hereford was groomsman. Ring bearer was Heath Scott, nephew of the bride, of Muleshoe.

Ushers were Troy Scott and Ronald Scott, brothers of the bride, of Muleshoe; Terry Breeding and Allan Zion, both of Amarillo.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the church. Mrs. Ronald Scott registered the guests. Servers were Debby Clark, Vickie Morris and Debbie Magby.

Brass appointments with a canelabra of brass and marble decorated the bride's table. Atop the cake were the bride's chosen flowers. Gypsophyllia and flowers encircled the cake.

In Fashion

Accessories play a big part with new spring fashions. Brilliantly colored bracelets made of wood or Teflon adorn the arm. One can wear one or several of these light-weight bracelets that are shown in various shapes. Large colorful earrings and necklaces are also popular this spring.

The groom's table held a brass samivar for coffee.

The couple will make their home in Hereford.

A rehearsal party was held in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Scott.

BIBLE VERSE

"To everything there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven."

1. Who made the above statement?
2. Whose son was he?
3. What was the theme of the book from which it was taken?

Answers to Bible Verse

1. Most scholars agree that it was Solomon.
2. The son of David.
3. How man may obtain real, substantial happiness.

"Well, I'll tell you what I'm doing. I'm cutting back on my corn acres. How 'bout you?"

"Planting less corn, but more XL-73 and XL-72aa."

"Do you really have that much confidence in them?"

"Sure do. Can't beat them for the way they yield and stand up in the weather. And that XL-73 produces top-quality grain every time."

"Sounds good to me. But do you have any kind of performance data?"

"Right here. And take a look at T1230 while you're at it. It's another consistent hybrid you'll want to try."

"I see what you mean. This is mighty convincing."

"You'll be even more convinced when you plant them on your own farm, and prove it to yourself."

Farm Lending

14.5 percent interest on loans with a $100,000 limitation. Operating loans in 1983 will be made at a 10.25 percent rate of interest, still with the $100,000 limit. Rumors have been that the $100,000 limit will be raised to $200,000, but no solid information is available on this point.

Taylor says that the local office lacks processing about one dozen of its regular annual customers and has increased its number of new borrowers from last year. The FmHA Director told the Journal that he felt the PIK had helped farmers' attitudes and the outlook of the economy. Most FmHA borrowers went into the PIK program in some form or fashion.

Besides the operating loan, several other programs are set up for FmHA loan funds. One of these deals with farm ownership and is used in purchasing a farm and/or improvement of farm land such as irrigation wells, dwellings, etc. This type loan is written with the Federal Land Bank or the seller participating.

Another program offered is that of the Soil and Water and is basically the same as the farm ownership program, except that the borrowed funds may not be used for the purchase of land.

The Economic Emergency Loan program which was put back into operation with the 1982 Farm Bill, went out of the program again for 1983. This program is no longer available in FmHA.

Another emergency loan program that is now available to farmers involves help to farmers suffering from the effects of a natural disaster. Bailey County has officially been designated as a disaster area and this type loan is available to local farmers who can meet the criteria for the loan. The limit of this loan is up to $250,000 at a rate

More than 50 persons attended a reception hosted by WIFE Tuesday evening on a 30-70 basis. Additionally, the entire amount of the city's allocation must be spent for street and bridge repairs; expenditures for new construction are not permitted.

According to TML president, Luther Jones, passage of the state-local road funding measure is the league's highest priority during the current session of the state legislature. Jones further cited a TML survey of Texas cities that showed upwards of 20 percent of all municipal streets currently in need of major repair: applying that percentage to the 61,000 miles of city streets statewide means that more than 12,000 miles of city streets require major improvements, Jones said.

According to Jones, Texas cities are currently spending more than $100 million per year on street repairs—half again the annual amount spent three years ago. "But we are still falling ever further behind," Jones said, "because there is a $1 billion street repair backlog that is snowballing at rates that exceed local spending increases."

Jones believes that the degree of strain that the additional taxes would cause could be alleviated by shifting a larger portion of the financial burden over to the motorists who will be the main beneficiaries of increased state spending on transportation.

So, with PIK and other plans behind the farmers, Taylor has seen less of the "sad-faced, down in the mouth" farmers lately. He estimates that the renewal on life will carry on into the other businesses in town and says that much more "cash and carry" business will be the case rather than the exception in the days to come.

allocation would be $213,200 and for Levelland would be $304,200. Cities in Lamb County would receive various amounts: Amherst - $23,400; Earth $36,600; Littlefield $156,600 and Olton $53,200.

Farmer County cities would receive $46,600 for Bovina, $66,200 for Farwell and $53,200 for Friona.

Each city, according to the rules, in order to demonstrate that good-faith efforts are being made by the city to solve its own local pothole problems, WILL BE REQUIRED to match the state allocation on a 30-70 basis. Additionally, the entire amount of the city's allocation must be spent for street and bridge repairs; expenditures for new construction are not permitted.

Williamson made the statement that the producers of Bailey County had really helped a lot in making his, his office staff and the County Committee's job a lot easier by their good natured cooperation during the PIK sign-up period. He expressed his thanks to everyone concerned for making themselves well-informed enough on the subject to discuss it without problems. "Our sign-up really went well, and we have the great bunch of people, both producers and office help, to work with, which makes things even better," Williamson stated.

Lions...

updates of the existing airport were almost nil. Too many things were against the old site: its location, its proximity to power lines and highways and to residential areas, along with entertainment areas cluttered up the availability of the airport.

In 1980, the Muleshoe City Council, along with other interested members of the Community, decided that the time had come to ask for the outside assistance that Muleshoe so badly needed to build their airport. A plan was developed which allowed Muleshoe to actually "trade-in" their old airport on the new one. A master plan feasibility study was entered into with an Albuquerque firm of engineers and things begin to fall into place in the plan.

Now, 4 miles south of Muleshoe on the east side of State Highway 214, about 400 acres of land has been targeted for the proposed site of the new airport. Over $400,000 in funds has been committed already to the project, and they are for the most part, grants to the City of Muleshoe. Surveyors and appraisers have been at work on the land and at this time, a fair market price is being decided upon, with the hope that it will meet with the approval of the present land owner.

According to the City Manager, the actual length of the land needed for the runway area is 10,000 feet long. "There just aren't that many places in Bailey County that you can find that kind of space, uncluttered with anything else," Marr said. The finished plans will include about 20 hanger spaces when the airport is done.

In closing Marr stated that the surveys and appraisals were in the process and the funds are available. "We hope to be in the new airport by sometime this next fall."

Lions were reminded of the upcoming election of officers scheduled for April 6, with installation scheduled on April 26. Dave Suddeth, Chairman of the Nominating Committee gave the proposed nominees to the group and asked for nominations from the floor. However, there were no nominations from the floor and nominations were ceased.

Lions were also reminded to work their shifts in the Easter Seal project.

The Art Spotlight is on Martha Flores this week. She is 18 years old and a senior here at MHS. She participates in Mighty "M" Flag Corps and she is in the Art Club. She first got into art when she decided to expand her drawing talent. She has enjoyed taking art because it has helped her to widen her interests in the field of art. When asked how serious she is about art she commented, "At the moment it is just a hobby, but I have no idea if I will go to college to pursue it as a career. I guess I will stay here in Muleshoe and work. Of course, I will still paint and draw."

The thing she likes most to do is clay work. She feels happy and excited to know she is molding something out of a hunk of clay. She also enjoys drawing and pastels. The reason she enjoys art so much is that it is fun.

Martha is a very talented, creative young lady, who works very diligently on her own. She has a lot of creativity and likes to experiment in different mediums-clay, oil paint, etchings, pastels, pen and ink, and jewelry. Mrs. Chitwood commented that she enjoys having Martha in her class, and wishes her luck with her talent!

G/T Class Mails Contest Entry

The MHS Gifted/Talented class, Kristi Spies, John Isaac, Tracy Tunnell and Wade King, all breathed a sigh of relief and crossed their fingers Wednesday, March 23rd as they mailed off their Present Problem Solving contest entry to Austin. The Present Problem Contest is being piloted in Texas this year to help G/T students learn to apply the problem solving skills they have been learning all year in the Texas Future Problem Solving Contest. Students choose a problem in their community and using their problem solving skills, they initiate a plan to solve it, carefully documenting their plan and progress for the judges who will select an outstanding senior (grades 10-12), intermediate (grades 7-9), and elementary (grades 4-6) level project. The three winning teams are then invited to Austin to present their project for the Texas Problem Solving Bowl in April.

The MHS G/T class sent the videotape of "A Miniature Proposal - Mission: Impossible" that they made along with a notebook detailing how they are working on solving the problem of completing the miniature golf course. Also in their notebook were descriptions of each step they have taken, the script of the videotape, newspaper clippings about the miniature golf course, and pictures taken of the golf course "BEFORE" and "AFTER" the work day last Sunday, March 20th. Fifteen hardy souls showed up and worked from 2:00 - 4:00 despite the light snow and cold weather, and they earned themselves a free game of miniature golf for their efforts. The G/T class would like to thank them for their help once more and invite everyone to join them on Thursday evenings at 6:30 to help the Kiwanis Club as they continue to work toward the opening date of May 1st. Things are definitely looking up and it won't be long before we can all spend a beautiful spring day playing miniature golf if the contributions of labor and money come in. If you or your organization would like to

Laura Leal Heads For Europe Soon

The Mule's Tale staff interviewed Laura Leal concerning her trip to Europe. The staff asked her the following questions:

Question: How did you get selected to go to Europe?

Answer: Acceptance is normally on the basis of audition tapes sent in by applicants. They waived my audition tape because they accept students who were nominated for "All-American" Hall of Fame Honors. Since I was nominated for these honors I did not have to audition, all I did was fill out an application and then they have to approve it, and they did!

Question: When will you be leaving for Europe?

Answer: I'll be leaving (flying, of course) for New York around July 9th or so. We'll meet in New York and stay for a day or two and then board a jet (intercontinental) and we'll have a Trans Atlantic overnight flight to London England.

Question: How much will the trip cost?

Answer: The cost will be about $1,600 for everything. It depends on if I go crazy and spend too much while I'm there.

Question: Is anyone going with you?

Answer: I don't know anyone else going on the trip. I probably won't meet them until we arrive in New York. I'm supposed to get a list of the other kids going, (with their names and where they're from). But to answer the question, No, one is going with me from here.

Question: What will you do while you're there?

Answer: While in New York we will have pre-tour rehearsals. Following the daily rehearsals we'll visit Radio City Music Hall, and maybe take in a Broadway show and who knows what else. Before leaving New York we'll play an invitational concert at world-famous Lincoln Center of the Performing Arts. We'll go to Paris, La Charx-de-Fonds, Zermatt, Lucerne, Lugano, Milan, Innsbruck, Avenburg, Heidelberg, Amsterdam, and many other little places. We'll play an invitational concert every night at these different places and do a tremendous amount of sightseeing. At Ludenscheid, the Netherlands we will stay with Dutch families for two days. We'll also visit Louis XIV's palace in Versailles while in Paris. We'll also visit Richard Wagner's home along the shore of Lake Lucerne and we'll visit William Tell's Hometown. We'll take a drive along the scenic Rhine River in Heidelberg. These are just a few of the activities going on. I'll be gone for a total of 21 days and then we come back to New York and then I'll come "home sweet home."

Question: This trip is with the United States Collegiate Wind Band. Who will be the conductor of the band?

Answer: The conductor and tour director is Dr. Al G. Wright. His wife Gladys Stone Wright is also a tour director and conductor. We have several counselors and other people who help with the tour.

Question: Will you do anything special the last night you are there?

Answer: Our last night in London we will have an Elizabethan-style farewell banquet. It sounds Sharp!

The Mule's Tale Staff would like to congratulate Laura and wish her a fun trip next summer!

FCA Has

Cookout

On Tuesday, March 15 the FCA'ers had a cookout at Rhonda Dunhams house. The wind blew so hard that the outdoor occasion was moved inside house. Everyone enjoyed chili dogs and chips and cokes. The hot dogs were cooked outdoors even though the weather was bad. After everyone ate, the FCA'ers played word games, such as "A What?", and "Concentration." Afterwards, Stephen Johnson led the group in singing, and those who attended made plans to have another meeting on Wednesday, March 23. Everyone had a great time at the meeting and FCA members are looking forward to having more meetings for fellowship with one another. The meeting on March 23 was at Kelly Bayless's house. Everyone enjoyed munchies instead of a main meal. All are encouraged to attend the future FCA meetings, and a promise is made that it will be a fun time!

'Back A Fighter' -- In Handicap Awareness

Jennifer Jones is nine years old, has a dry sense of humor, golden-blond curls, and a very busy schedule of school and swimming. One of two daughters of Don and Chris Jones of Lubbock, she's an important member of a family that can be described "as all-American as apple pie."

But this apple pie took longer to put together than most. When Jennifer was five, she suffered a health setback that changed the lives of the Joneses from that fateful moment on.

One night the child awoke screaming, with a headache so severe she was rushed to the hospital. It was to be the beginning of two years of serious illness produced by a brain hemorrhage and the tumor that caused it.

After the hemorrhage, Jennifer was comatose for three days. When she regained consciousness, she was paralyzed, like a stroke victim, on one side. She was to have two additional hemorrhages in the next two years, and undergo radiation to shrink the tumor.

At first she could not recognize her family, and had to learn all over again to speak. She had to change from being right-handed to left-handed because of the right-side paralysis, and compensate for right-leg weakness with a leg brace. Thinking about her struggle to walk again, Jennifer reflects, "I falled a lot." Then she corrects herself. "I fell a lot."

Anyone seeing Jennifer now would have difficulty imagining the dark hours she and her family have gone through to get this far. Though she still walks with a limp and wears a leg brace, the little girl, who has been chosen Lubbock's Easter Seal Poster Child for 1983, fully expects soon to be able to walk without a brace and the orthopedic shoes it requires.

"I want a pair of tennis shoes, not like these," as she indicates her brown sandals, "that have Miss Piggy on them."

The years since Jennifer's illness began have been tough for the Joneses, but they are thankful it has not been worse. Chris Jones says, "It's a tragedy when this kind of thing happens to anyone, but it seems even more so when it's a child who has been healthy. Yet we're so lucky. We had excellent medical help and advice, and wonderfully supportive family to back us up. We are Christian, and believed in the power of prayer. Our church family was of so much help during all this--we will always appreciate them for the love and caring they gave. And the grandparents were wonderful."

Chris, who because of Jennifer's experience has volunteered at the Easter Seal Day Camp, has been thinking about Jennifer and all other handicapped people especially this week--National Handicapped Awareness Week.

"To other parents of children with disabilities, I would give this advice: treat your child as normally as possible, because your natural tendency is to protect him or her. But protectiveness often turns to overprotection. Don't do things for them that they need to do for themselves. Help them work on their self-esteem, because that's what they need the most. Give them as many positive experiences as you can--different avenues of positive experience, since some of the regular avenues are unavailable to them. For instance, with Jennifer, we encourage her with art and swimming, because they are options she can choose."

The Joneses observe National Handicapped Awareness Week every week of the year. Their feeling, shared by others with disabled family members, is that every child is special--no matter what his handicap--and can do what someone else can't, in his own way.

Handicaps bring their own special blessing, the Joneses believe. Jennifer, through her own struggles to regain movement and strength in her affected limbs, has developed enormous compassion for others. According to Chris, "She doesn't just reach out to others with handicaps, but to any distressed child. After watching a TV documentary about starving children in another part of the world, she emptied her piggy bank to send to them."

But what about people who haven't had the experience the Joneses have had, who haven't learned not to take good health for granted? Chris Jones urges everyone to become aware of architectural and opportunity barriers that need to be taken down so that the handicapped can "get places" to the fullest extent, and learn to see the special quality that handicapped employees bring to their jobs. "They can teach us appreciation and empathy," she says, "and enhance all our jobs. And they're just like anyone else--they not only need consideration of their needs, but also to be pushed to the limits of their abilities."

Jennifer is well on her way to enjoying her life just as it is, with the full and caring encouragement of her fellow schoolmates, handicapped and unhandicapped, and her family. A cerebral hemorrhage didn't stop her, and it's even more unlikely that a leg brace will.

Because she's got a job to do. As Lubbock Poster Child, she will represent thousands of children and adults in the Lubbock area that also have handicaps-- and need our awareness to work through them. And because of Jennifer's involvement, and the commitment she shares with her family to work for awareness, their busy schedule will be even more crowded than usual.

It's going to be even harder to keep up with the Joneses this year in Lubbock.

Tax Return Preparers Regulated

If you choose to have your tax return completed by a commercial tax preparer, the IRS notes that you should be aware of certain regulations. In brief, your paid preparer is responsible for providing a copy of the completed return to you when you sign the return. Preparers are required to keep copies of returns or a list containing taxpayers' names and identification numbers for three years. These records must be available for IRS' inspection during this period.

Paid preparers are also required to sign completed returns and to provide their employer identification number on the return. Rubber stamps and signature facsimiles are not acceptable.

The handling of your refund check is also regulated. Paid preparers (other than bank preparers) cannot endorse, cash, or in any way negotiate a client's refund check. The preparer can be penalized $500 for each violation. In addition, understating your tax liability can result in the preparer being penalized $500 for willful understatement or $100 for negligent or intentional disregard of rules and regulations.

ATTEND THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

IN MEMORY OF A Leader

Monuments have been erected to great men in all parts of the world. Some are in recognition of Leadership, others for specific brave acts, and others to those who have shown love and compassion for their fellow men.

The Bible is a monument to God. It reminds us of His great leadership, of His compassion and love, and tells of His great gift to us. But it is even greater than other monuments, for it still leads us.

"... that He might make thee know that man doth not live by bread only, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord."

Texans Suffer From Iron Deficiencies

One aim of Extension nutrition programs is to direct Texans toward acquiring knowledge about iron requirements and eating practices. "Food habits that build good health are not acquired naturally but must be learned," says Cooksey.

National surveys show that 11 to 27 percent of all teenage girls are iron deficient or anemic.

Three to 24 percent of infants are anemic and 29 to 68 percent are iron deficient. Among women of childbearing age, five to ten percent are iron deficient.

"Iron deficiency is also a serious nutritional problem in Texas," states Dr. Dymple Cooksey, foods and nutrition specialist. Cooksey is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

A computerized analysis of the diets of 2,500 citizens conducted by the Extension Service produced results similar to the national statistics. In Texas, iron deficiency is most prevalent among low-income ethnic groups, teenage girls, infants, and pregnant and nursing women.

Iron is necessary for the body to manufacture hemoglobin. Hemoglobin carries oxygen to all organs, tissues, and cells.

Iron deficiency means less hemoglobin is synthesized in the body, and a "tired feeling" may result. Severe iron deficiency creates anemia, which may lead to serious health problems.

Workshop Features Micro-computers For Farm

Workshops to help farm and ranch families and agribusinessmen learn more about microcomputers will be held at the Marriott Hotel in Austin, April 4-5, and at the Airport Holiday Inn in San Antonio, May 24-25.

The workshops will deal with the use of microcomputers in farm and ranch management and will include both basic and advanced sessions on using computers, say Lawrence Lippke and Joe Pena, economists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Lippke is coordinating the event at Austin while Pena is handling the San Antonio session.

Advanced sessions will provide some insight into operating systems and BASIC programming procedures (a special computer program for beginners). Use of computers in the home will be discussed, and there will be opportunities for workshop participants to get "hands on" experience. The latest is microcomputer hardware and software currently available for the agricultural family will be displayed, note the economists.

Each workshop will begin at 1 p.m. the opening day with introductory and advanced sessions.

Discussions on micro-computer applications in farm and ranch management and in home and family resource management will highlight the introductory sessions. Also, discussions on computer hardware and software will be featured plus tips on selecting a microcomputer. And participants will be briefed on what Texas A&M is doing in developing software for computers.

Those attending the advanced sessions will hear discussions on operating systems and will get an introduction to BASIC programming, note Lippke and Pena.

Specialized concurrent sessions will also be featured during the two-day workshops.

Workshop participants will be able to take part in one of the six concurrent sessions the first afternoon. These sessions will continue the second day and will deal with accounting systems, electronic worksheets, home and family resource management, farm and ranch financial management, crop and livestock management decision aids, and marketing and policy decision aids.

Further information about the workshops is available from Lippke at 713/823-8011, from Pena at 512/278-9151, or from any county Extension office.

Freshmen Write Poetry

Recently Mrs. Thrasher's English I students wrote poetry in class. Freshman

John Mendoza wrote a beautiful "At" poem using similes called "What Does Snow Sound Like?" that the Mule's Tale Staff would like to share with its readers.

What Does Snow Sound Like?

Snow has a sound like, the blinking of an eye, a moving shadow, a leaf falling from its tree.

Snow has a sound like, the stealthiness of a fox, a coiling snake, the carelessness of a Siamese cat.

Snow sounds like a sprouting plant, a flickering light, lightning flashing.

What does snow sound like? Snow sounds like the moon disappearing behind a cloud, the sun coming up in the morning. Snow's sound is soft, unique. Soft and Slow and low!
