Dr. Goodwin, VP's 'Report' To SC Forum

The president of Texas Tech and possibly two vice presidents will "report to the college" at the second Student Council-sponsored "public forum" Thursday.

Dr. R. C. Goodwin, president; Dr. William Pearce, academic vice president; and M. L. Pennington, vice president for business affairs, will speak about "the situation in Austin," Ronnie Botkin, Student Assn. president, announced Monday.

Botkin said Goodwin and Pearce have accepted the Student Council invitation to discuss Gov. John Connally's proposals for higher education and Tech's relationship to them. Pennington reportedly may not be able to attend because of out-of-town meetings.

"We felt that the students should be brought up to date on our present situation in Austin and we felt that the person who can best do this is Dr. Goodwin," Botkin said.

Goodwin, Pearce and Pennington recently returned to Lubbock after testifying before House and Senate committees on Connally's proposals and Tech budget requests. The officials also met with the Tech Board of Directors during several days of conferences in Austin.

Concerning the governor's proposals Dr. Goodwin told the Daily Treador Monday, "We agree that we need a stronger coordinating board. To that extent we agreed with the governor and his recommendations.

"The place where we didn't go along was with his systems proposal," he said.

First Step

Dr. Goodwin said he felt that the coordinating board was the first step in improving higher education in Texas, but the board should be established before a systems proposal is made.

He said the coordinating board should then make the systems proposal.

"The primary weakness is that it (the governor's three system plan) has not been given sufficient study," Goodwin commented.

He said that the problems of higher education in Texas are vast and complex and the legislature has dozens of education bills before it.

Goodwin cited three issues that higher education in Texas is being "accused" of. They are (1) unnecessary duplication of work, (2) proliferation of courses and (3) all junior colleges want to be senior colleges and all senior colleges want to be graduate schools.

Budget Requests

Concerning Tech's budget requests, Dr. Goodwin said, "We are growing so fast out here in size and graduate programs that we need to speed up our acquisition of funds and equipment to do the job we would like to be doing."

He said that one of Tech's biggest problems is faculty salaries. Tech's 1963-64 average teaching salary was 11.2 per cent below comparable schools in other states.

About the prospects for the future, he said the key was "keeping informed . . . and watchful waiting."

"There's nothing we can do at the present moment," he added.

The public forum is scheduled for 5 p.m. Thursday in the Tech Union Ballroom. Goodwin and Pearce will each give a short address and then the forum will open to questions from the audience.

Questions will be limited to current higher education proposals, Botkin said.

Connally Plan Gets Hearings

AUSTIN (P) — Gov. John Connally's bill to set up a strong 18-member coordinating board for state colleges and universities will be heard Wednesday by both the Senate and House state affairs committees.

An afternoon hearing is planned in the Senate, while the House committee meets in the evening. Announcement of the house hearing was posted today by committee chairman Dick Cory of Victoria, sponsor of the bill. Sen. Bill Moore of Bryan is sponsor of the Senate Measure.

Theta Sig Talk Slated By Lady Bird's Aide

Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary and staff director to Mrs. Lyndon Johnson, will be the special guest speaker for the Theta Sigma Phi Matrix Table Thursday March 11, in the KoKo Palace.

The Tech student and Lubbock professional chapters of Theta Sig are presenting Mrs. Carpenter at their annual awards banquet, scheduled preceding the opening of the Southwestern Journalism Congress March 12-13.

Confirms Acceptance

Carolene English, Tech Theta Sig president, reported Mrs. Carpenter confirmed her acceptance Saturday morning. Accompanied by Air Force Maj. Gen. C. V. Clifton, military aide to the President and guest speaker for the Congress, Mrs. Carpenter is expected to arrive in Lubbock by military plane March 11.

Mrs. Carpenter, a Theta Sig alumna and honored by the fraternity in 1962 as a national Headliner, will speak on her job as Mrs. Johnson's representative to the press. She has had this position since the assassination of President Kennedy in 1963.

She is a native of Salado, Texas, and a graduate of the University of Texas with a Bachelor of Journalism degree in 1942. Before becoming Mrs. Johnson's secretary, she was a Washington correspondent for several Texas dailies.

Outstanding Position

Because of Mrs. Carpenter's outstanding position, Theta Sig is inviting interested students, faculty or staff members to the banquet and following reception.

Tickets are $3 per person and reservations should be mailed to Miss English at the Journalism Bldg. before Feb. 27. Phone reservations can be made after 7 p.m. weekdays and after 10 a.m. weekends at SW9-4406.

BENEFIT SHOW—Hoang Quynh-Hoa, Viet Nam graduate, Takamine Akemi, Okinawa freshman and Nguyen Thi Bich Lien, Viet Nam sophomore, will participate in an international variety show with students from 15 countries. The show is sponsored by the International Interest Committee, and all proceeds will go for the relief of flood victims in Viet Nam. The show will be in the Union Ballroom at 3 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $1 for adults and 75 cents for students.

-In Viet Nam Action-

'Advisors' Strike Back

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (P) — More than a score of South Vietnamese Skyraiders, with U. S. Air Force jets flying along, pounded targets Monday in Communist North Viet Nam, in the second strike in retaliation for Red blows against U. S. Army installations Sunday.

The Vietnamese air commander reported heavy damage and many casualties at the targets, described as three military camps.

The South Vietnamese encountered heavy enemy ground fire near the border and several planes were hit. All got back but one crashed.

U. S. and Vietnamese forces watched the skies for possible Communist air raiders. The Viet Cong promised to step up their guerrilla war "on all battle fronts" and said the ground attacks Sunday on the U. S. Army at Pleiku were only a beginning.

More than 1,800 wives and children of U.S. government personnel prepared to leave South Viet Nam — many of them with reluctance. President Johnson ordered their withdrawal as a safety measure. The American school in Saigon closed. The first group of dependents leaves today.

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, commander of Vietnamese armed forces, was jubilant about the raid by Vietnamese planes and the Sunday attacks on the Gulf of Tonkin coast by carrier-based U.S. Navy planes.

Khanh said the Vietnamese raids on three villages across the border knocked out 70 per cent of the targets hit.

He said 24 propeller-driven Skyraiders flew the mission and that one was crippled by Communist flak and crashed in South Viet Nam. The pilot parachuted safely.

WWII Planes

Skyraiders are single-engine planes developed in World War II for the U. S. Navy as dive bombers. They since have been modernized to carry heavy bomb loads.

A Communist Chinese radio broadcast claimed three U. S. planes were shot down in the attack and three others were downed later in the afternoon, bringing to 10 the number of American jets the Communists have counted as brought down. Radio Hanoi claimed four American jets were shot down Sunday.

In Washington the Defense Department said no U.S. planes were missing after the Monday mission. One U.S. Navy jet was shot down Sunday and the pilot, Lt. Edward A. Dickson of Wyoming, Pa., ejected and parachuted into the sea. He has not been found.

Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, commander of the Vietnamese air force, listed the target areas as the villages of Leim Cong Tay, That Le and Song Song, all near the frontier and along a route leading toward the border.

Speaking Meet Deadline Nears

Deadline for speech intramural applications is noon today.

Entries in prose reading, impromptu speaking and persuasive speaking should be turned in to James Robbins, Forensic Union sponsor, in room 207, Ag Engineering Bldg.

Intramurals will begin at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Ag Bldg. Auditorium. Registration fee is 50 cents per event and trophies will be awarded to first place winners.

FAC To Air Piper Plans

The Faculty Advisory committee will receive Piper Award recommendations from a subcommittee at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the president's office.

Piper Awards are given annually by a philanthropic group from the South Texas area to the outstanding college classroom teachers in Texas.

Dr. Keith Marmion, head of the civil engineering department, will conduct the meeting in the absence of FAC's chairman, Dr. Paul Prior of the biology department.

Honorary doctorate degree recommendations also will be discussed by the committee. These honorary degrees are traditionally awarded at Tech's spring commencement in May.

Other items on the agenda include discussion of the Student Council-proposed faculty I.D. cards and clarification of the position on the Tech faculty of instructors in the biblical literature department.

A subcommittee on the Tech name change will make a report which will consist of recommendations as to the position FAC should take. Marmion said a decision would be made on this subject.

SATIRICAL REVUE—The four-member cast of "Beyond the Fringe," the British revue that was the idea for "That Was The Week That Was," runs through a rehearsal in preparation for their Lubbock showing Friday. Tickets are on sale in the Tech Union for $1.25 for students and $1.75 for faculty.

Recreational, Religious Center Opened Sunday

Missouri Synod Lutheran students boast a new recreational and religious center at 2615 19th.

The remodeled structure was dedicated last Sunday. The dedicatory sermon was delivered by Rev. Carl A. Heckmann, Austin, president of the Texas District of the Lutheran Church. James G. Allen, dean of student life, represented Tech at the service.

The one-story brick structure, which cost $125,000 to remodel, is located across 19th Street south of the campus. It contains a chapel for religious service, a recreation and party room, a combination library-study hall-lounge, a dining room which seats 50, and a fully equipped kitchen.

The student center is open daily, from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Footnotes

By MILLER

As far as various art forms go, nobody can say that Lubbock isn't in there pitching.

The Tech Speech Dept., Lubbock Theatre Centre and Civic Lubbock add a lot to dramatics. The "Harbinger" gives budding authors a chance to show their stuff. And the Music Dept. is doing an excellent job with its multitude of concerts.

But as for becoming the cultural center of West Texas—well, we're a long way from it. And we will continue to be a long way from it unless there is a drastic shift in the attitude of some of the people who patronize Lubbock art forms.

Nervous Attitude

In the first place, there is a nervous attitude that amounts to old-maidish prudery when it comes to anything that smacks of the immoral or illicit, even though the immoral or illicit may be used to make a point.

A good example of this attitude can be found in a review of "Mr. Roberts" that appeared last week in a local paper, in which the reviewer commented on the "salty" language and suggested that "plays of this nature should be classified, particularly in the amateur local field, to forewarn parents of the insuitability of the fare for the very young, if they wish to avoid this sort of thing."

Fact Of Life

Now come on, people. Let us not be naive. It is a fact of life that sailors cuss. If drama mirrors life, then it should (and does) mirror all of it, not just the nice parts like pretty sunrises. And people (including reviewers) who see drama should look for the point of the play, not spend their time muttering about the "salty" language.

Any city in which a reviewer feels obliged to spend several inches of his review warning people about a few bad words is not a fertile ground for drama. A review is no place for a morals lecture, and people should not expect one. If someone is going to attempt something, let us not, oh wise reviewer, spend them apologizing for it.

Second Place

In the second place, there is a general belief that because an art form happens to be present in Lubbock, nothing bad should be said about it. The reasoning behind this is a little obscure, but it is generally thought that since Lubbock is relatively new to the arts, it is best to praise everything in order to avoid hurting someone's feelings and discouraging someone who might want to experiment.

With this belief, good taste goes out the window, and so does any incentive on the part of performers. Why try to please the reviewers? They're always pleased.

Good Presentations

Luckily, the people who put on plays and concerts here are talented, discriminating and possess high standards. Their presentations are usually very good, but it certainly isn't due to any prodding by reviewers.

And last, there is an attitude about some shows and some types of experimentation that can, at best, be described as small-town. Can anyone visualize a performance of "One Potato, Two Potatoes" or "A Taste of Honey" here? The letters to the editors columns would be filled with the outpourings of irate citizens.

'Don't Understand'

The other day we asked a member of the staff of a local TV station why "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." wasn't aired in Lubbock. His answer? "Lubbock people wouldn't understand it."

Oh well, maybe it's best. If we stick to "nice plays" and "nice" reviews and leave all those nasty plays and reviews to the infidels in New York, we can be safe and avoid controversy.

Instead of culture, we'll have "kulture." And we'll deserve it.

Raiders Meet Ags Tonight At College Station

Texas Tech's league-leading Red Raiders travel to College Station tonight to tangle with Texas A&M in an important conference outing.

Tech, currently leading the conference by a single game, would drop into at least a tie for first if the Aggies are successful tonight. Lodged in second position before tonight's action are Baylor, Texas and SMU, each sporting 4-2 records. The Raiders are 5-1.

The Steers face Arkansas at Austin, while Baylor and SMU will be fighting it out at Waco. If the Raiders lose either Baylor or SMU will be tied with Tech for first, and if Texas wins, all three teams will be knotted for the lead position.

Defending Champs

Texas A&M, defending SWC champions, own a 3-3 mark in conference play and a 10-6 mark for the season. In last week's action A&M nudged Arkansas in an overtime performance and dropped a 65-63 decision to Texas.

The Aggies' main gun is John Beasley, a 6-9 center from Kildare. Last year, as a sophomore, he was second to the great Bennie Lenox in scoring and set a new school rebounding record. He was all-SWC and named "Sophomore of the Year" in the league.

Top Scorer

Beasley is second in scoring for the season behind Tech's Dub Malaise. The Aggie star has poured in 346 points for a 21.6 average, while Malaise has tallied 337 for a 22.5 mean. Beasley has been in one more game than Malaise.

In conference scoring Beasley again ranks second. This time behind Raider Norman Reuther. Reuther has tossed in 129 points for a 21.5 average, and Beasley is averaging 20.3 with 122 points.

Other Aggie starters will probably be Paul Timmons (6-0), Ken Norman (6-6), Dick Stringfellow (6-4) and either Dick Rector (6-1) or Sonny Fethkenher (6-6).

In conference play A&M has scored an average of 77.3 points per game, while allowing opponents 73.1. This compares with Tech's offensive average of 91.6 and defensive mean of 78.2.

Raider Starters

Starting for the Raiders will be Malaise, Reuther, Harold Denney, Glen Hallum and Billy Tapp. Sitting in reserve will be Bob Measels, Dave Olsen, Russ Wilkinson, Trenton Bonner, Royce Woolard and Jimmy Fullerton.

Malaise continues to lead the Raiders in scoring for the season, but a low output of only five points against Baylor last Tuesday dropped the junior into second place behind Reuther in conference scoring. Reuther hit 26 against the Bears.

In Saturday's 102-69 win over Rice, Malaise connected for 19 points, while Reuther had 16. Denney was high man for the Raiders with 20.

Tech's next game will be Saturday at Dallas against SMU.
