650 Honored At Ceremony Here Sunday

More than 650 students heard Tech President R. C. Goodwin urge them to be aware of the necessity of self-respect and satisfaction as well as scholastic excellence at Sunday's All-College Recognition Service.

Twelve students received the Gold Key Award, indicating they have been recognized four years for outstanding work.

They included Michael Bogda, Emily Croom, Sandra Fry, Rita Harrell, John Hoestenbach Jr., Clark Huff, Eugene Jones, Lynn McElroy, Stephen Magee, Barbara Sperberg, Claude C. Willis and James Woodward.

Dr. S. M. Kennedy, dean of arts and sciences, presented 18 awards for third-year winners. Thirty-one second-year awards were presented by Dr. Gerald W. Thomas, dean of agriculture.

Individual recognition for 288 being honored for the first time was given by Dr. John R. Bradford, dean of engineering.

Dr. George G. Heather, dean of business administration, presented awards to the top-ranking students within their respective schools. They are Frederick Koberg, agriculture; Nancy Taylor and Clark Huff, arts and sciences; Samuel Cummings and Rita Harrell, business administration; Larry R. Whitaker, engineering; Nancy Hood, home economics.

Ronnie Botkin, Student Association president, presented awards to 28 students for leadership recognition. These included Tommie Allen, Roland C. Anderson, Mary Behrends, Zafer Cetinkaya, Saralee Cox, Lonnie H. Dillard, Jr., Kay Dudley, Thomas Edwards, Stephen George, Glen W. Hallum, Kent R. Hance.

Bronson L. Havard, Stephen P. Magee, Jack C. McClure, Lynn McElroy, Rebecca Parker, Crillon C. Payne, Jr., Vicki Pharr, Loysann Slaughter, Kenneth B. Snider, Michael Stinson, Wells J. Teague, Garland A. Weeks, Claude C. Willis, Marcia Winkelman, Robert E. Wood and Susan R. Wood.

Botkin also won leadership recognition.

College Awards Board Recognition went to nine students and six organizations. Bill Lee Gunnin, chairman of the board, presented awards to Alpha Epsilon Delta and Pre-Med Society, the cast and production staff for "Romeo and Juliet," Zafer Cetinkaya, Celeste Craig, the crops judging team, Volma Fletcher, Bronson Havard, Vance Hill, the Interfraternity Council, O. A. Keeter, Audra Mitchell, the range plants team, the soil judging team, Lee Steward and Mark Wheelless.

Dr. Willa Vaughn Tinsley, dean of home economics, recognized 199 scholarship and award winners.

Thomas P. Stover, assistant dean of student life, recognized 20 organizations for scholarships.

Dr. J. William Davis, athletic council chairman, presented 104 athletic recognition awards to varsity lettermen.

Music was presented by the Texas Tech Choir, directed by Gene Kenney.

The Rev. Robert J. Hearn, Second Baptist Church pastor, delivered the invocation and Rev. James J. McGrath of Saint Elizabeth's Catholic Church gave the benediction.

Coed Hurt In Accident

Priscilla Riordan, Big Spring senior, is in Methodist Hospital's intensive care unit today in "critical condition" from injuries suffered in a two-car collision Sunday night.

Miss Riordan, who resides in the Home Management House, was riding in a car driven by James Edward Vick, Houston senior, when the vehicle overturned following a collision with another car about three miles south of Lubbock.

Also riding in the car were Janice White, El Paso sophomore, and Ben Faulkner, 2408 Auburn St., also of Big Spring. All but Miss Riordan were dismissed from Methodist Hospital.

300 Marchers Step Up Pace

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Three hundred marchers stepped up the pace of their 50-mile right-to-vote trek to Alabama's capitol Monday and crossed into Lowndes County, described once by a Negro leader as "worse than Hell."

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., led his weary civil rights pilgrims doggedly along U.S. 80 which narrowed to two lanes at the Dallas-Lowndes county line.

The campsite for the second night of the march was a pasture about one mile from Big Swamp Creek, still ahead of the marchers. The site is about 25 miles east of Selma.

Young Demos Corner Four State Positions

Texas Tech's Young Democrats gained four state offices, including the first vice presidency, at the state convention which ended Sunday.

James Simpson defeated Love Johnson of Texas Southern in the race for first vice president.

Committee positions for this district were voted to Robert Dawes, Betty Devours and Joe Sambol.

Speaker for the 750 delegates to the convention was Jeb Johnson, the youngest elected congressman, of Oklahoma City.

Twenty Tech delegates attended the meeting in Austin.

The platform adopted by the group included opposition to any increase in college tuition and endorsement of a state student loan program.

The convention also supported substantial pay increases for teachers, supported the position that graduate students teaching should have free tuition, advised state legislators to leave plans for an eventual free college education and recommended that books and educational material should be exempt from state tax.

On other issues, the Young Democrats included in their platform a recommendation for repeal of poll tax and an endorsement of the federal voting rights law proposed by President Johnson.

Final Tryouts Planned Today For Last Play

Final tryouts for "The Glass Menagerie," the speech department's last major production of the season, are scheduled today.

The tryouts, which started Monday, will be conducted in the University Theater from 3-5 p.m. and from 7-10 p.m. today.

Any student interested in trying out for a role in the play or being on the production staff is invited to attend. No rehearsals are slated during spring vacation.

The Tennessee Williams play will be presented in the University Theater May 6-9. The production will be directed by Ronald Schulz.

tournament at Texas Christian University Friday and Saturday.

With a 7-0 record, they were the only undefeated team in the round-robin contest. They argued the affirmative on the topic, "Resolved: That the Federal Government should establish a program of public work for the unemployed."

Baylor University won the trophy for the best team arguing the negative. Their record was 6-1.

Upchurch, a junior from Kermit, has a 70 per cent record for the year. He is the president of the Forensic Union on campus.

Miss Coats, also a junior, is from Amarillo. She has a 64 per cent record.

J. G. Robbins, director of forensics and debate coach, said the team was probably the best Tech has had. He said Tech has been competing in the tournament each year since it was admitted to the conference, but this was the first year the school has won the championship.

The team has participated in eight tournaments this year. They plan to debate in the Delta Sigma Pi-Tau Kappa Alpha national tournament in April at the University of Indiana in Bloomington.

Panel Says Typical Student 'Nonexistent'

By BARBARA WORLEY
Staff Writer

"There is no such thing as a typical student," was the conclusion of KTXT-FM's "Audio One" panel Sunday night.

The panel discussion, which ranged from the language coeds use in the dorms to intellectual discussions on dates, was prompted by an article in The Daily Toreador March 10.

Panel members were Nancy Miller, author of the article and fine arts editor of the Toreador; Elata Ely, freshman pre-law student; Margaret Eastman, assistant fine arts editor; Tom Ramey, senior government major; and Ken Hendrix, KTXT station representative.

Bill Williams acted as moderator for the group, and began by reading the Miller article in which she quoted such terms as "bubblehead" and "husband-hunter" to describe the typical Tech coed.

Miss Ely voiced disagreement with the article and said, "I hate being classified as typical; everyone does."

She said the use of such terms applied to some coeds, but not to the majority. She stressed that attempts on her part to try to have intellectual discussions with dates had failed. "If you say you're interested in a career, everyone laughs."

Ramey disagreed with this and said nine-tenths of the girls on the campus could not talk about anything else but "who goes out with who and which guy is wearing madras today."

Miss Eastman told of groups of students having intelligent discussions in the Union, and said she learned a great deal from such discussions.

Miss Ely replied "There are more kids with cards in their hands than ideas in their heads."

Ramey interrupted and described the groups to which Miss Eastman referred as pseudo-intellectuals "who wear beards and no lipstick."

"How valid are these discussions?" he asked. Answering his own question he replied, "These people throw out information they don't know anything about."

He said these people make false statements and false quotes.

Miss Eastman retorted "I don't see anything wrong with being a pseudo."

Ramey cited the apathy of the majority of students on campus as a problem and quoted a professor as describing most of the students as "zeroes."

He criticized the students for neglect of such "cultural attractions as the appearance of Eric Hawkins, Jose Greco or Dr. (Walter) Judd."

More townspeople were there than students, he said. He attributed this partly to the lack of finances, but added crowds were probably gathering at some local drive-ins.

He said there is no appreciation of aesthetic values among the students.

Miss Ely said, "We do have intellectual conversations. It is expected of us to discuss common things. The only universal topics in the dorms are sex, boys and dating, because they are the only ones which will affect everyone."

Miss Miller described living in the dorms as "mob living."

Miss Eastman said she moved off-campus to live with her mother after a year and a half in the dorm because she "couldn't take dorm life."

"The language in the girls' dorms is like being in the navy," she said.

Ramey said that sororities and fraternities affect the way a girl acts on dates, and said that these groups are the most lacking in intellectual interests.

Miss Miller argued this point, saying "You can't generalize any more about sororities than you can about other groups."

Miss Eastman then said Ramey was making a "slam on the Greeks. They keep good grades among their members."

Hendrix mentioned that fraternities and sororities stress uniformity among pledges, and Ramey replied that "the element of conformity turns an individual into the organization man."

The discussion turned to marriage and careers; Miss Eastman said tradition makes the coed a husband-hunter. "If you try to have a career," she said, "you won't get paid as much as a man even if you are equally qualified."

Miss Miller added, "A lot of people I know would not be married right now if it were not for the pressure of society. Women have organs to bear children, but they also have minds."

Miss Eastman concluded her part in the discussion, saying "There is no such thing as a typical student, but here at Tech if you have to classify them, I would say the typical female is a husband-hunter and the typical male is a sex fiend."

Miller agreed, and added, "You can tell what a person thinks about himself by whom he dates and associates with."

Hendrix ended by saying, "The terms we have used are typical of some students, but these students are not typical."

Gaston Becomes Charter Member Of Heritage Club

W. Tom Gaston, business manager emeritus of Texas Tech, who can remember when a handsome pair of Percheron draft horses were used to pull mowing machines on the College farm, has become the first official member of Tech's Heritage Club.

Gaston qualified for the honor by donating scores of old photographs depicting early days at Tech to "Pictures for Posterity," recently organized effort to preserve a pictorial history of the College.

"This is one of the most exciting collections I have ever seen," commented Mrs. Gay Wight in accepting the valuable contribution on behalf of "Pictures for Posterity."

Mrs. Wight is chairman of the project sponsored by Mortar Board, senior women's honorary at Tech.

The collection of photographs includes on-the-spot scenes of ground-breaking ceremonies for major College buildings, campus scenes down through the years, group pictures of early-day faculty and board meetings, and all manner of candid shots, some dating back to 1929, the year Gaston joined the Tech staff. He retired in 1954.

One large print is a picture of the Percherons which Gaston remembers so fondly.

Any person may become a member of Heritage Club by contributing to the project, Mrs. Wight emphasized.

Contributions may be actual photographs, or negatives, slides or prints which may be copied. If a donor prefers, an original negative, print or slide will be returned.

Frosh Split Doubleheader With Odessa College Squad

Texas Tech's Picadors scored four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning to take a 4-3 win over Odessa College in the first game of a doubleheader on the Raider diamond Monday afternoon. Odessa won the second contest 13-7 to give the freshmen a 4-6 record.

Trailing 3-0 going into the final inning, Eddie Luig led off Tech's half of the inning with a single and advanced to second on Jerry Kolander's fly out. John McIntyre knocked a single to put men on second and third with one out. Then, Jerry Haggard hit a ball that rolled to the center field fence, scoring all three men. Don Champion iced down the victory with a homer over the right field barrier.

Hall Gains Victory
Mike Murphy opened on the mound for the Picadors. He gave up five hits in three innings. Rob

Hall entered in the fourth and went the remainder of the game, allowing only three hits. Odessa's Harland Hinds held Tech hitless until the fifth inning, and in all, the freshmen made only five hits.

The second game was close until the sixth inning when five Odessa runs broke a 6-6 tie. Odessa went on to get two more in the seventh to assure the victory. The Picadors collected nine hits off two Odessa pitchers—Paul Booher and Jack Mercer. Mercer, who came on in the third, gained the victory.

Bob Weber pitched the first five and one-third innings for Tech and was charged with 11 runs and 11 hits. Tom Wilson entered in the sixth and allowed two runs and three hits.

Haggard Homers
Haggard's home run in the first and McIntyre's triple in the third were the only two Tech extra base hits in the second game.

PICKOFF AT FIRST — Picador firstbaseman Bob Champion waits for the ball while an unidentified Odessa runner makes tracks to safety. The runner was safe. Action was in the second game of a doubleheader Monday which Odessa won, 13-7. Picadors won the opener, 4-3.

Raider Track, Baseball Teams To Perform At Home Friday

Texas Tech's track team and the Red Raider baseballers will perform before the home folks Friday afternoon.

Arlington State and McMurry will round out a triangular track and field meet, and the baseballers are hosts to the University of Missouri, National Collegiate runners-up last year. Another game is also set for Saturday.

Field events are slated to start at noon Friday, running events at 1 p.m. The baseball game, scheduled for the diamond just north of the track, will begin at 2 p.m.

New Track Records

A second school record for this spring was set by the Red Raiders at the West Texas Relays Saturday. In the 880-yard relay a Tech quartet of Richard Vogan of El Paso, Kenneth Coleman, Clark Willingham, and Richard Hardy, all of Dallas turned in a 1:20.3 clocking. The old mark, 1:26.7, was set by Coleman, Vogan, Ronnie Biffle of Anton, and Walter Cunningham of Galena Park at the Kansas Relays last spring.

Established earlier was a new Tech mark for the three-mile run, 14:51 for Ronnie Davis of Brownwood at the Border Olympics. Delbert Spencer of Seminole, with a 16:44.2 at Dallas last year, was the former record holder. After two miles, Davis was only a couple of seconds over the school mark for that distance of 9:46.1 set by Pete Dyson of Fort Stockton in 1959, Tech's second oldest record.

Tech's baseballers are currently 3-2 after dropping games last week to Sul Ross of Alpine, 8-4 and 5-0.
