THOUGHT FOR THE DAY—

*Oh, the shrewdness of their shrewdness when they're shrewd.
And the rudeness of their rudeness when they're rude;
But the shrewdness of their shrewdness and the rudeness of their rudeness,
Are nothing to their goodness when they're good.*

Top Campus Women Will Be Announced

By DIANE WEDDIGE
Toreador Staff Writer

Women of Tech, this is your day of review and recognition.

Today is the 33rd "Women's Day" on campus. Thirteen senior coeds and 13 faculty women have been nominated for Women of the Year awards. Woman of the Year and Faculty Woman of the Year will be announced tonight at the annual Women's Day Banquet.

Dr. Bernice Milburn Moore, assistant to the director for community programs and professional education of the Hogg foundation for Mental Health in Austin, will speak at the 6 p.m. awards banquet in the Tech Union ballroom.

She will speak on "Woman: Fallacies, Facts and Future."

Honored At Luncheon

Dr. Moore will be honored at a luncheon today in Gates Hall. Open house for all women students and faculty members will be from 1:30 to 4 p.m. in the dean of women's office.

Women students will replace the deans of the offices of dean of women, assistant dean of women and coordinator of women's residence halls.

Jenny Matthews, president of AWS, will take Florence Phillips' place as dean of women. Joy Cox, president of Women's Residence Council, will work with Dorothy Garner as coordinator of women's residence halls.

Jacqueline Olson's place as assistant dean of women will be taken by Becky Wilson, Panhellenic president.

Nominees Listed

Nominated for Woman of the Year were Tommie Allen, Mary Behrends, Emily Croom, Sharon Kay Dudley, Ann Kollenberg, Nelda Laney, Kathryn Lodal, Lynn McElroy, Betty Newby, Loys Anne Slaughter, Barbara Sperberg, Betty Jo White and Susan Wood.

Faculty Woman of the Year nominees were Mrs. Meredith Aker, Miss Mildred Bettencourt, Dr. Faye Bumpass, Miss Marie Carano, Dr. Mary Sue Carlock, Dr. Mary Dabney, Mrs. Johnny Dorsey, Dr. Mina

Lamb, Dr. Elizabeth Sasser, Miss Margret Stuart, Mrs. Ruth Tracy, Dr. Oliver Wheeler and Mrs. Vera Young.

Serving as general chairmen of Women's Day are Zafer Cetinkaya and Lynn McElroy. Organizational chairmen are Ann Hemphill, tickets; Rita Reynolds, open house and food; Sharon Hill, elections; Ann Nabors, secretary; Miss Croom, publicity; Vicki Pharr, decorations; Betty Roberts, programs; and Nan Faulkner, invitations.

Last year, Mrs. Nancy Boze received recognition as Faculty Woman of the Year. Patricia Hamilton was selected student Woman of the Year. Mrs. Boze is now an instructor in the Education department.

Tech Endorses New Dorm Hours

Tech students endorsed policy changes of extended dorm hours for coeds in a poll taken Monday.

Terry Chalkley, sophomore home economics major from Dallas, said, "I think the change gives us more freedom to choose where we want to go so that we can use the time to our advantage, such as attending campus events, studying and going to the library or dating."

However, Betty Melzer, junior Spanish major from Midland expressed her opinion, "It's not fair to extend senior hours when I'm finally a senior. It's a farce to make this change when it is so different from the proposal; but, that's typical of this school barely to compromise so that they can say they did something about the problem."

Mrs. Esther Olsen, counselor for Hulen Hall, said, "I'm for the change if the girls want it. This would also eliminate some calls from me to the administration concerning late permission and would place this business in the dorm office. This would relieve the counselor from some of that business."

"I am very much in favor of this change," asserts Pat Clancy, junior Spanish major from Tyler. "I believe this will relieve the administration and dorms from the bother of late permission, especially during the basketball season. I also think it will afford more time for studying in the library, going to movies and events on campus that last over the 10 p.m. limit."

Mrs. Dorothy Pijan, Tech Union program director, agrees that "it is a step in the right direction," and she "feels it is good. I hope the hours will encourage students to stay for the entire performance."

Max Volcanser, senior government major from Dallas said, "I do not see the hour change only as a specific instance of administrative liberalization or as a realization of a student right, but rather as a slight recognition or slightly increased student involvement in the campus community. A community

Tech Salutes Women

TODAY IS WOMEN'S DAY.

It's the one day of each year Tech coeds and women faculty members use to rap the heads of men and point with pride to their outstanding contributions on campus besides adding radiant beauty and pleasing companionship.

It's a day that might very well be made national. This country has a special right to be proud of its women—Tech is proud of its women. In a world where many women still share their husbands with other wives, go veiled in the streets and follow meekly behind, the American woman steps with assurance—and success—into the man's world of politics, medicine, law and business. She is now an invaluable asset to this country's economy.

And in most cases the American woman has accomplished these things without losing her femininity.

This is the American woman—Tech boasts thousands of them. Today is their day—We salute them, today and everyday.

Race Deadline Is Extended

Entry deadline for the Bicycle Race will be extended until 5 p.m. today. Entry blanks can be picked up in the Student Council office.

A $5 entry fee for each team must accompany the entry blank.

Coeds Wear White

WHY ARE WOMEN to wear white today?

Websters defines white as "whiteness; fairness of complexion; figuratively, purity; innocence; truth."

It is also defined as an "animal of a pure-white breed distinguished according to size, as large, middle, or small white."

Technically, white reflects to the eye all the rays of the spectrum combined. In other words, it is the opposite of black.

White is a symbol of the fortunate, happy, favorable and auspicious person.

Persons purposefully wearing white are said to have no evil in intent and are relatively harmless.

The verb, white, means to give a deceptive gloss, too.

White is worn for many reasons. For one thing, it is a color of low saturation and of very high brilliance.

White is to be worn today by women students so they will be recognized as women students. (Actually there are some other ways to recognize women students—as distinguished from men students.)

But tradition dictates that today, rain, dust or shine, white should be worn to honor all of the contributions women have contributed to Tech. Now, there can't be an argument there.

Counseling Active Girls Takes Time

Being dorm counselor to 320 active college girls is certainly no mere eight hour-a-day job.

Rather, it's more like a round the clock, 24 hour-a-day job, according to Mrs. Caroline Bosworth, counselor of Doak Hall.

As a dorm counselor, Mrs. Bosworth's duties include acting as counselor, resource person for committee planning, advisor and administrator.

She also guides and trains a dorm office staff of 11 and dining room hostesses, forwards mail and helps residents to understand dorm regulations. "I'm a general flunky," she laughed.

Mrs. Bosworth said she thoroughly enjoyed being a dorm counselor—"Most everything that happens is unusual; nothing is monotonous," she said. "There is such a wide variety of girls to work with."

WATER, WATER — Ann Brown, Lubbock junior, has her problems getting across campus after the rain which fell all day Monday. As if the rain wasn't enough, she has to keep her white dress spotless. This is one of the problems that faces women today as they turn the campus white while splashing toward class or heading for the 6 p.m. banquet that will honor Tech's outstanding coed and woman faculty member.

Storage Is Extended For Summer Season

Hub City Movers has announced the extension of a plan initiated two years ago, providing Tech students with summer storage space.

The firm plans to offer students storage at the rate of $6 per 200 pounds maximum, compared to the normal estimated cost of storage for 90 days at $32 per 100 pounds.

Offered strictly as a service, the plan presented by the Lubbock concern is basically the same as last year's offer. Because of the success with which the program met last year, and numerous inquiries, the plan has been extended.

The plan calls for a pickup of items for storage in the lobbies of dormitories May 21 and May 24. Exact pickup times have not been announced but will be carried in The Toreador when they are made available.

Students desiring to use the service must make arrangements with the Hub City Movers' sales representatives at the Tech Union between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. beginning May 3.

Off-campus students interested in the plan should contact the firm at its Avenue H office before May 15.

The regulations for the service are as follows:

- Students will place items to be stored at each dormitory.
- Van will pick up on the selected dates and return on Sept. 15.
- No access to stored items for the summer period for this rate.

- No partial or early deliveries at this rate.
- Deliveries will be made to the original pick up site, or dorm indicated on tags.

• Students must remove items from that location.

- Sales representatives will collect all charges in advance.
- Warehouse will pack, crate, and ship COD to any student not returning for the fall semester, if notified prior to delivery on Sept. 15.

• Conditions and terms of storage on standard storage contract. Warehouseman's liability, 30 cents per pound per article.

- All items must be boxed or sealed (taped or tied).
- Each item must be tagged or identified with the name and address of the owner and the hall to which the items are to be returned.

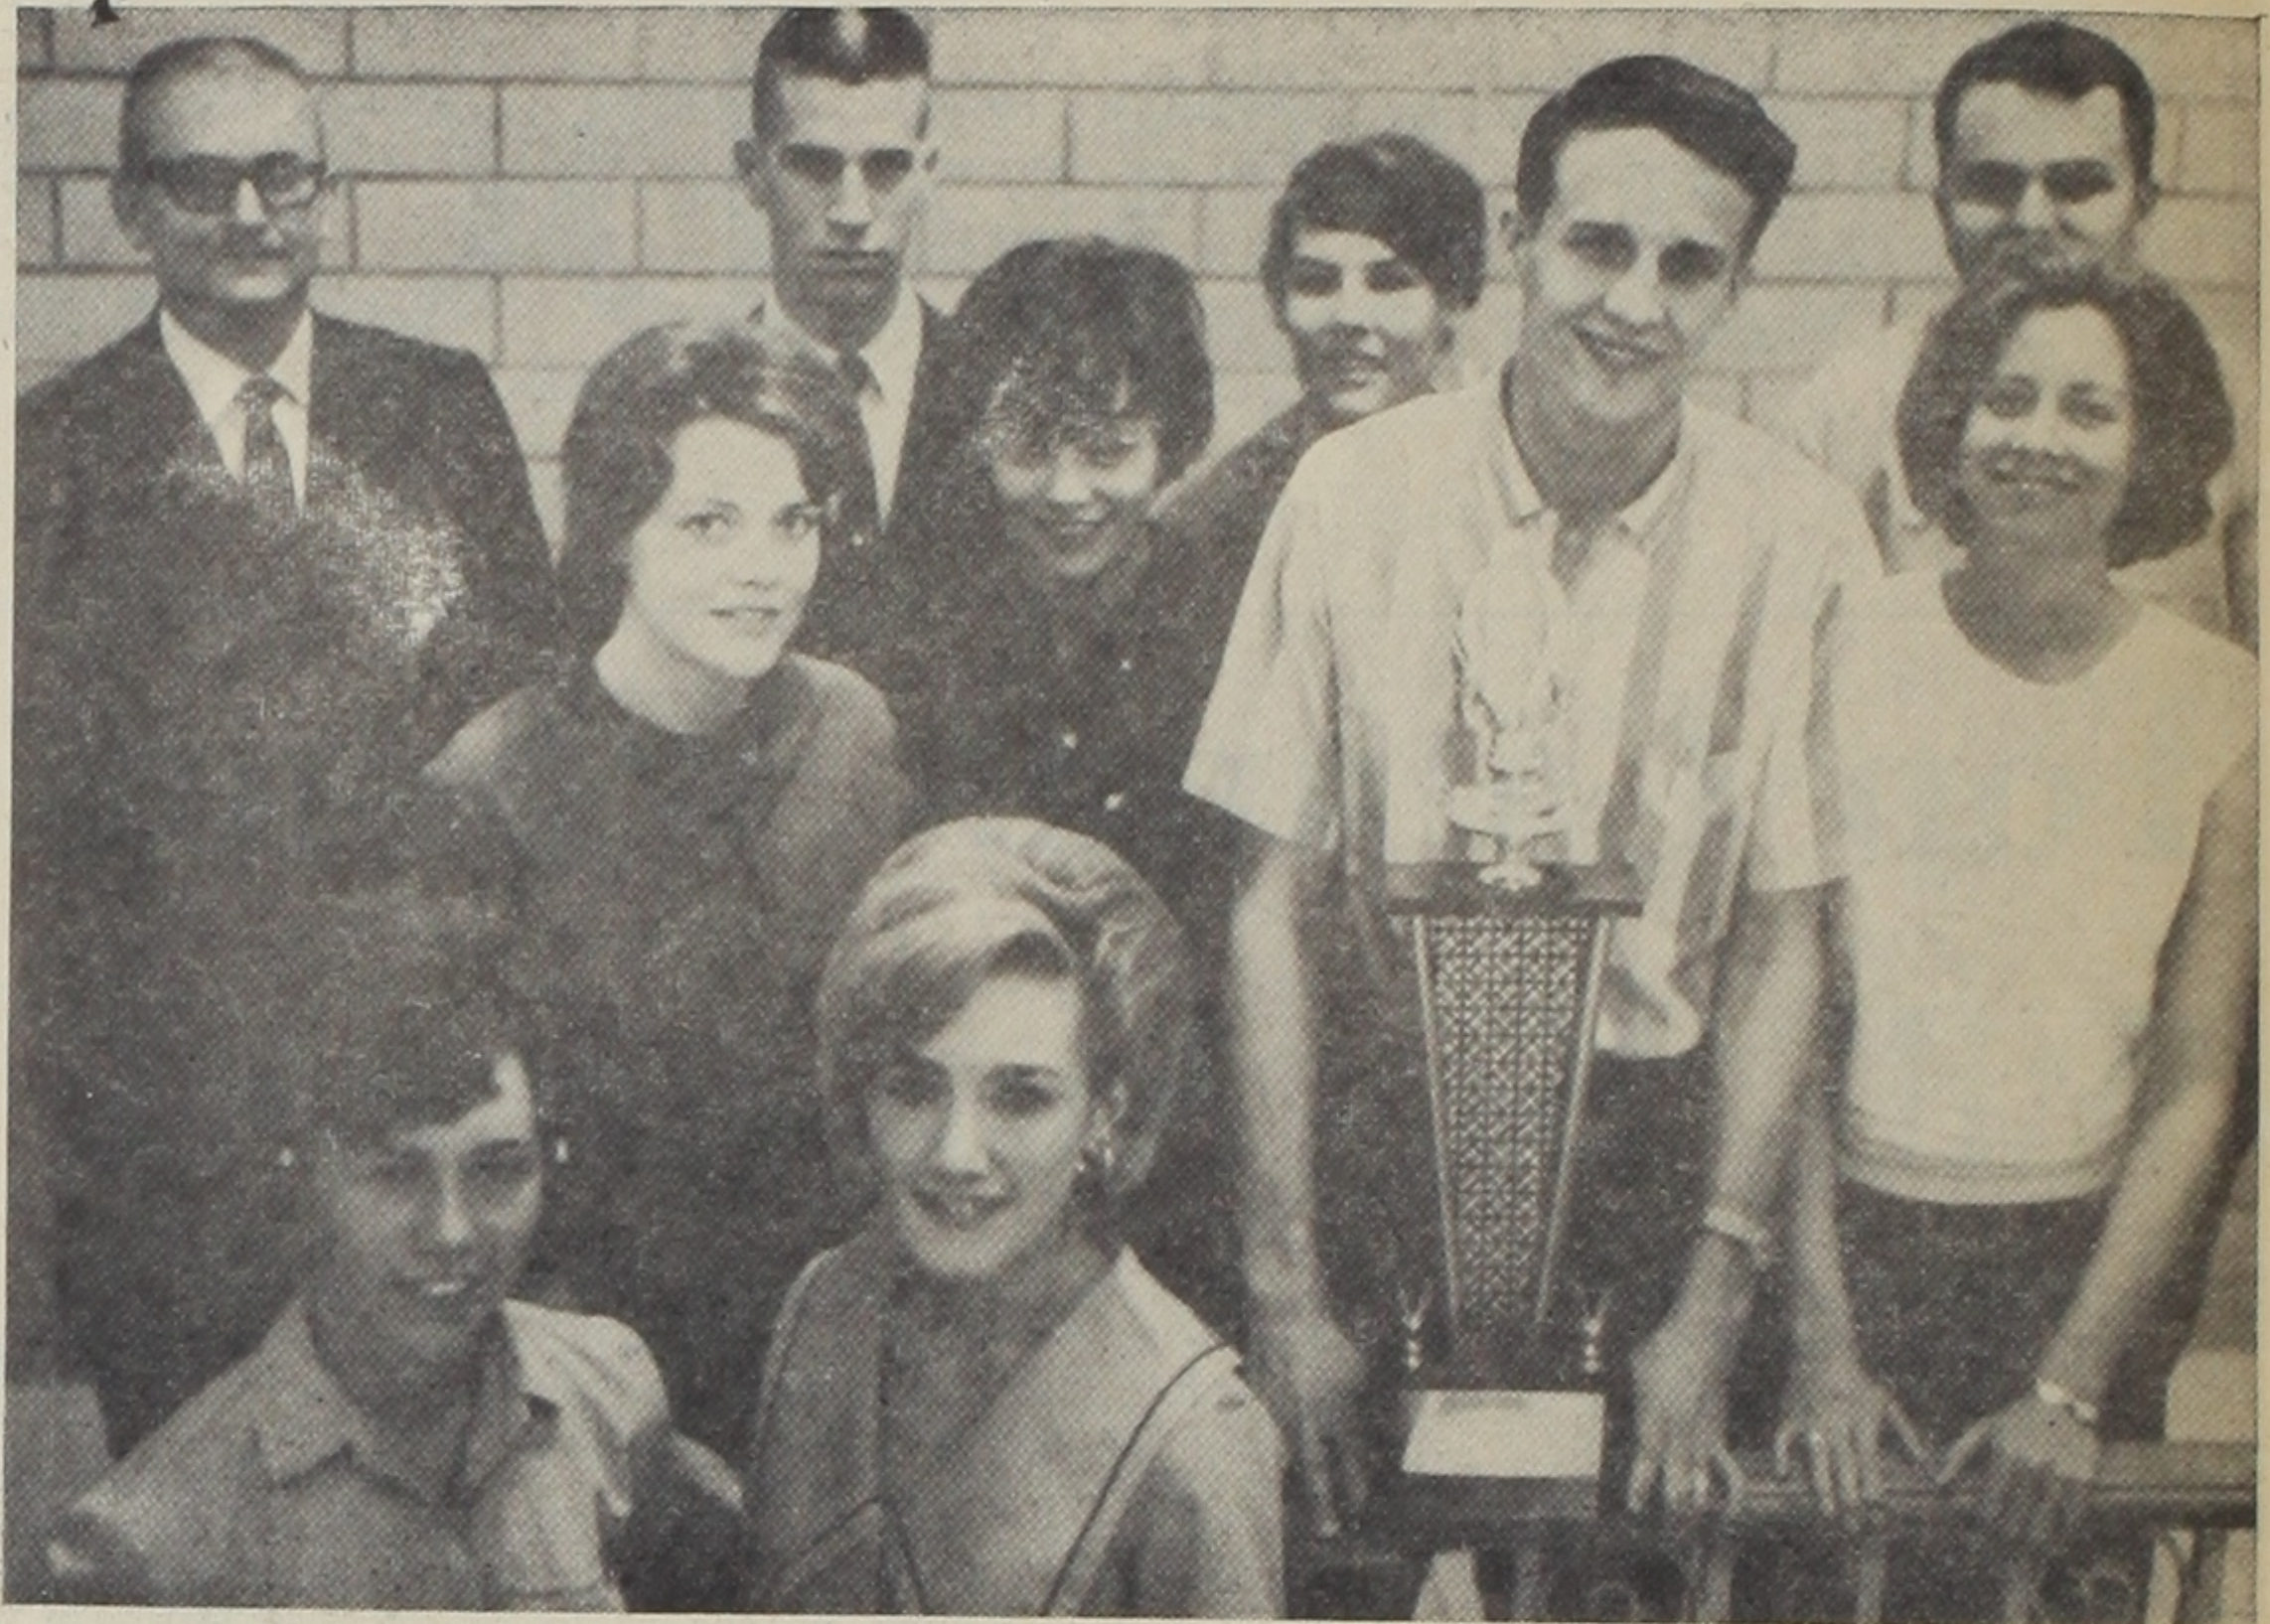

• Furniture, small chests, tables, phonographs, TV sets, etc., must be tagged but not boxed.

- No loose items will be stored such as lamps, breakables, cloths, etc., which are not boxed.
- No items will be picked up without prior arrangements having been made.

• Students may not consolidate storage lots under one name.

— With Desire To Help — Women Add Touch Of Home To Dorm

Certain ingredients are necessary to make a house into a home, and these basic elements are also important in transforming a dormitory into a home when 400 girls are residing there.

These qualities of gaiety, concern, patience and the desire to help a flock of 400 'young uns' are characteristic of the women who care for the 19 campus dormitories and cafeterias. Ann Hicks, Nannie Lively, Bertha Roberts and Pat Rodgers fulfill these criteria, many residents of Hulen Hall feel.

Aside from their duties of sweeping the halls, caring for the laundry and concession rooms, and the formal and informal lounges, these ladies are ready to help any girl whether it be cleaning up the remains of an orange fight or helping a girl buff her just-waxed floors.

"Livey", as Mrs. Lively wishes to be called, explained that she "wants to be a mother away from home and help the girls."

Mrs. Roberts expressed the same desire and said she "loved working in the dormitory."

Tally Sorenson, a sophomore home economics education major residing in Hulen said of the two, "They are very friendly and make everything more cheerful. They even buffed my floor."

Mrs. Lively and Mrs. Roberts, working with the girls in the dormitory, were able to help Frances Carter, a nurse at St. Mary's Hospital, save enough cigaret packages to buy a seeing-eye dog for a young, blind girl.

There are 32 women engaged in caring for the dormitories. The 'never-ending' job begins at 7:30 a.m. and the work continues until 4:30 p.m.

Pat Rodgers, dining room hostess in Hulen Hall, is another woman possessing many "motherly" qualities. Pat, as most of the residents call her, "likes working in the dining room and feels she is a friend to many of the girls." The girls and her co-workers seem to agree.

Lee Rudolph, a senior home economics education major, said, "She is very pleasant to work with and she never forgets a name. She has many, many friends."

"She always smiles, is happy and says hello. Pat always tries to help the girls," Janis Tidwell a junior education major explained.

Judy Fowler, a junior journalism major concluded, "She is very patient, even with the obnoxious ones."

Many women are necessary in a campus society and these "friends" in the dormitories are no exception.

WOMEN'S DAY

Tickets for the Women's Day Banquet are on sale in the Dean of Women's Office, in the Union during the lunch hour and in the women's dormitories during the lunch and dinner hours.

Tickets are $1.50. The banquet will be today at 6 p.m. in the Union Ballroom. Speaker will be Dr. Bernice Milburn Moore, who is connected with the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health. All women students and faculty members are invited to attend.

SOCIETY FOR ADVANCEMENT OF MANAGEMENT

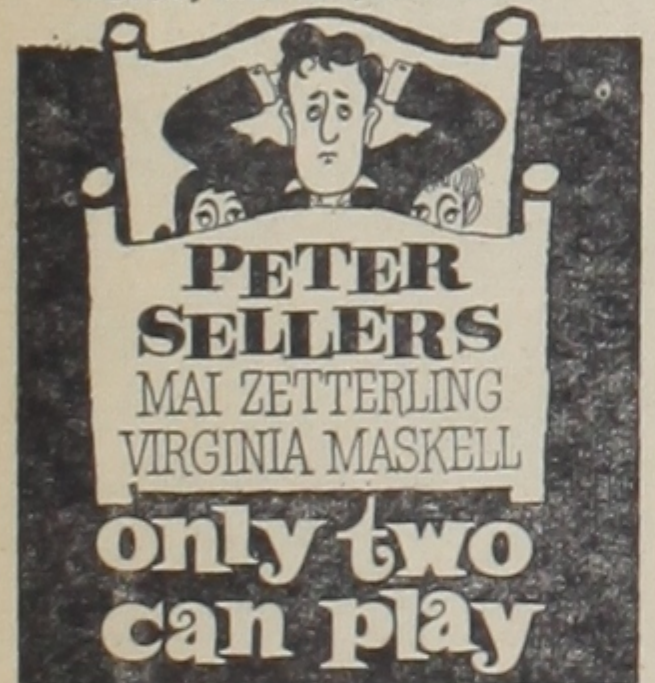

The society for the Advancement of Management will meet today at 7:10 p.m. in the Blue Room of Tech Union. Officers will be elected and La Ventana pictures taken.

Two Records Broken In All-College Meet

Gary Schovajsa and Billy Allison provided the only record-breaking performances in the annual All-College Track and Field meet Saturday and Sunday at the Varsity track.

Schovajsa, representing the Jets, bettered the broad jump standard with a leap of 23-10½. He erased the old record of 22-6, set in 1962 by Amon Burton of Phi Delta Theta.

Allison, running for Phi Delta Theta, clipped .7 of a second off the 440-yard dash record with a 51-flat timing.

In winning the open quarter Allison bettered one of the oldest marks in the intramural books. John Henderson of the Roman Rushers, had held the top time of 51.7 since 1956.

The Phi Deltas won the team championship with 42½ points, far ahead of the 26 points for second place Phi Kappa Psi. The Jets were third with 15½, Dorm 9 fourth with 15¼ and Kappa Sigma fifth with 13 points.

Jeff White was high point man for the meet with 10½ points. Allison was a close second with 10. Schovajsa was third with 9½.

Two other records were almost erased in the two-day meet, sponsored by the Tech Intramural Department.

John Penney of Men's No. 10 and Donnie Anderson of Kappa Sigma finished in a dead heat in the 120-yard high hurdles in clockings of 15.4. Penney was awarded first place.

Anderson and Ross Grief are the current record holders in the hurdles race with 15.3s. Anderson

Anderson and Penney also finished in a dead heat in the low hurdles race and again Penney was ished in a dead heat in the low given first place.

The 440-yard dash quartet of Jeff White, Bill Allison, Paul Young and Harold Nippert raced to a winning time of 44.5, .1 of a second off the old mark.

Other winners included: pole vault, James Moore, West Hall, 11-6; high jump, Lloyd Carrol, Phi Gamma Delta, 5-11¼; shot put, Conrad Schmid, Phi Delta Theta, 51-7½; 100-yard dash, Gary Golden, 10.2; 180-yard low hurdles, Penney, Men's No. 10, 20.9; 220-yard dash—White, Phi Deltas, 23.2; 880-yard run, Arthur Moser, Gaston Hall, 2:11.1 and mile relay, Phi Delta Theta, 3:38.1.

A Raider Rambles

By BARBARA WORLEY
Women's Day Editor

Take a girl with two left feet and coordination somewhat comparable to that of an elephant in a snowdrift and you have the sports editor for this Women's Day edition of the Toreador.

This being the baseball season, that was my first idea for a topic. Of course I haven't seen a baseball game since the Dodgers left Brooklyn, but I have kept up with the progress of the sport.

Probably one of the most amazing innovations to hit upon the baseball scene is the Astrodome, the home field for the Houston Astros.

Not only is this the first $31.6 million dollar indoor launching pad, but it caused the first major occasion of a glare problem since Dizzy Dean went indoors.

It was most reassuring to note in Saturday's paper that the problem of the glare from the 4,956 plastic skylights in the dome has been solved by the architects and engineers who produced the dome. Their solution was to paint the plastic sections with a thin coat of off-white paint. Now the problem is to find a ladder that will reach to the top of the dome.

Of course the rumored solution to this problem is an even easier one. They're getting a paint brush with a 575-foot handle.

The most interesting sports item I could come up with concerns a boxing match between Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay, in which Liston will try to regain his championship from the boy wonder of the pugilist set.
